Bonded Debt Reduced By Dawson Co.

LAMESA, July 18 (Spl)-Dawson, one of the richest farming counties in the state, now has one of the smallest bonded debt.

In recent years, the outstanding obligations of the county have been scaled down rapidly. The state-ment of Eunice Gaines, county treasurer, shows that the indebted-Dawson county today stands at $42,370.21.

Last year the figure was $117.636. said County Judge W. Mr Yates. and this figure was cut to $105,370. Recently the state assumed $6,000 in road bonds.

The almost liquid condition of the county is further shown in the last monthly financial statement which revealed an actual cash balance in all funds of $34,639.48, leaving a disparity between cash and debt of only $7.730. This amount might even be smaller but for the fact that recent machine purchases in two precincts drew on cash re

Military domination has run i ycles in Japan. For example, the army was dominant and idolized by the nation during the Russo-Japanese war which Nippon won.

Then followed a period of selipse, helped by scandals involving army and navy leaders. Came the World war, and the military returned to power once more. But the Siberian campaign against the bolabevists was a costly fallure, both in men and money, and the army gave way to ten years of civilian government. The army bided its time, Along in 1930 the civilian policy of appeasement in China wasn't paying very big dividends, Things were going badly with Japan's Interests in Manchuria, So in September of 1931 the found an opportunity to strike in Manchuria, whis is to say, against the civilian government

This opened the current phase of Japanese history. The entire Chl-nese conquest has been one of military adventuring. The costs have been huge and there have been penods of vigorous civilian outcry but, while governments have changed, the military has continued to wield the power behind the scenes. Now the army feels that the time has arrived to strike hard and fast. That in essence would seem to be the meaning of the new government

Wendell Willkie On 'Information Please' Program At The Ritz

A movie short subject that is pleasant entertainment within itself, but which has the added attraction of a presidential candidate as performer, is a new film release be on the Ritz theatre's Friday Saturday program.

The guest artist is, of course Wendell Willkie, the new star on the American political horizon. He is featured along with nimble-witted Oscar Levant, F. P. Adams, John Fieran and Interlocutor Clifton Fadiman. Willkle, who came into the public spotlight about the time his "Information Please" program was broadcast, provides added sparkle to the program, and shows himself a match for the veterans in the matter of answering questions. He is a good performer and scores high on the questions.

The passing of William Travis Roberts, first white settler in Howard county, is a reminder that we live in a new day one made possible by the purpose of the old.

Many are familiar with the story of Mr. erts, for 61 years ago he came out into a secion of tie country geographers described as a portion of the "great American desert" and as uninha' stable." He had vision to see otherwise

Like other members of the hardy tribe of he found nothing was gained except by hard work. From the beginning he and his ally met with one discouragement after another at their dugout quarters near Moss Springs. Sometimes Mrs. Roberts hid the children under the rock ledge at the spring when Indian raids were eared. Just as Mr. Roberts thought 'no one uld ever want this place," two men secured title to the spring. A few years later, the terrible winter of 1886 and the horrible drouth of the following summer all but cleaned out ranchers

Through all this Mr. Roberts kept plugging sway. Fear did not daunt the family He did sweat of man's brow could any wealth be earned. But underneath it all must have been an abiding faith in the country. He must have been able to see the day when it would be regarded as one of the most productive areas in the state, and when it would be settled and developed.

He had faith in the land, and the dogma of contemporary geographers and economic experts to the contrary made no difference to him.

Today we might take many lessons from the life of the county's first settler, not the least of which is the dreaming of dreams and then going out to prove them even in the face of criticism and discouragement. That's what it took to build the West Texas empire. That's what it took to build America Indeed today we need pioneers on other fronts just as courageous and as bold as business is a certain Willkie policy but no total black out of government regulation of business. The democrats will fight this with the claim that Mr. Willkie is in league with Wall street.

That doesn't shape up as such a big bag of bones of contention, does it?

TO TAKE IT APART

But there is one point, the new deal is standing on its record and the republicans are going to take this record apart piece by piece and try to prove that it is one of inefficiency needless bureaucy, waste and extravagance. That's where the only big fight can come in the light of present circumstances on means, not on the ends to which those means lead, on methods, not the targets at which those methods aim

Of course. Willkie could change his tactics, do an about face on all those writings and speeches he made in his whirlwind rise to the post of G O P flag-bearer. But nobody thinks he will. The republican platform was made to order in its elasticity and he can carry on the Willkie way without ever outraging the party's declarations of policy.

Boiled down, this campaign, in the minds of most convention observers, is going to be a battle of personalities Willkie against Roosevelt. Roosevelt is the new deal and the new deal is Roosevelt and in the minds of the people, say the wiseacres, they cannot be different ated.

If this is so Roosevelt is going to have a distinct disadvantage but don't get me wrong. it has nothing to do with his personality. It is simply that because of the program he and congress have set in motion—the national defense program-it will be impossible for him to take the field. There is too much work to be done in Washington, too much chance of criticism if he turns his back on the capital to wage a political

But more of that phase of it later. If you can believe the folks in the throes of conventionitis. it's a duel of methods and personalities and the millions of voters will do their thumbs-up or thumbs-lown on that basis in November.

ANSWERS ARE READY

Roosevelt and Willkie are in almost perfect agreement on foreign policy. Neither likes Hitler; both believe in adequate defense both approve of the reciprocal trade policy. No president could cut taxes in the face of mounting defense costs (although Willkie undoubtedly will favor revision of the tax system to eliminate some taxes that business men consider a hindrance); On-farm policy Willkie is reported to have told group of farmers to keep what they have until they get something better. As for labor, Willkie will certainly favor some revision of the Wagner act, but just as certainly not enough to allenate labor. Both parties are talking national
