Border Strips To Protect Fields From Wind Erosion Damage

Border strips will be used by many farmers in the Panhandle this year to protect their fields against wind erosion damage and also to provide food and shelter for wildlife, according to H. B. Wallin, J., Agronomist of the Soil Conservation Service CCC-SCS-15-T located near Littlefield.

Areas where border strips will be planted usually are those especially subject to wind erosion, Wallin points out. A narrow strip of Sudan grass or grain sorghums along the field borders will check soil blowing from adjacent fields or roadways and at the same time will favor development of desirable species of birds and animals.

The clean cultivation of large areas of farm land has been an important factor in the depletion of wildlife, and thus favored the increase of insect pest which native birds and animals on the farm tend to keep under control, Wallin points out.

From a wildlife standpoint, the development of border strips of protective vegetation is more desirable than the small area of vegetation in a compact block, he says. Such strips provide travel lanes for birds and small animals and afford more extensive range into adjoining fields.

Gullies and other severely corded areas also provide ideal sites for the use of plants and shrubs that will serve the dual purpose of controlling erosion and improving wildlife environment on the farm or ranch, Wallin says.

Choir Boys Sing For Lent

Hills Of Destiny— (Continued from Story Page)

He recalled feeling something stiff in an inside pocket of his coat as he had swung himself over the edge of the cave floor.

The paper that he drew out was puzzling. It was a neatly folded legal looking document, with printing on the back and a single word standing out boldly: Deed. Other words caught his eye—"Matthew Blair"—"Lee Hollister."

Beneath the word Hollister was the blurred imprint of a bloody thumb.

Panic swept over Lawler. Fire and slaughtered cattle, and in his possession the blood-smeared property of a murdered man. What little head Lawler had, he lost. Cursing Slanty Gano and his horse, he hounded hastily and boited for deeper shelter.

As he rode he caught sight of a dozen men pounding along behind him. He crouched low over his horse's neck, cursing. All he could do now was to ride. Then the grade dropped suddenly. There was a lurch and a stumble. The horse went down and lay there. Lawler was flung free and staggered to his feet. He ran like a panic-stricken animal.

A few moments later the foremost of his pursuers flung themselves off their horses and looked down. Many feet below them a human fly clung to a rock wall. One man drew a gun.

"Hold on! He won't get away. He's done for!" They watched him fall, turning, swooping, head down.

They stepped back and looked at one another. One of the young deputies spoke.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering! It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

white thing he dropped?"

Someone found it in a clump of scrub. They crowded together looking at a blood-stained deed, and exchanged hard glances.

"No doubt about it now," said the young deputy slowly. "The search is over."

Each day Virginia had stopped for a little while at Lee's empty cabin, opening the door with the persisting, unreasonable hope that he might have found his way back there.

For that very reason the blank finality of Curly's news about Lawler seemed crueler and harder to comprehend.

He saw that she wanted only to be alone, and he left her. She could hear him riding down to the mouth of Turkey Gulch, and then it was quiet again. She hurried toward her horse.

As she mounted, her little first aid kit bumped uselessly against her side. She had packed it carefully—bandages, iodine, restoratives, matches for a fire, a tin of broth, fresh every day. In one pocket was a flashlight for dark places, in another a policeman's whistle to call help to Lee. Futile little toys! She gave Black Lightning his head, riding blindly.

The ragged scar of the Bonanza came into view, and Virginia remembered Joey, searching patiently and futilely for evidence in the loneliness of the old tunnel.

She snapped on the flash as soon as she had gone a little way in.

The pencil of white light flickered over the rock walls and rubble-strewn floor, but there was no sign of Joey.

Just ahead there was a darkly looming bulk which must mark the spot where the big cave-in had all further ingress to the mine. The white beam danced along the wall of the slide. Earth, stone, rubble. It switched down, up, jerked wildly and came back, searching piling earth and stone, rams torn, blood-crusted and earth-stained, motionless, was a human hand there! Yesterday that hand had not been there!

Attend the Church of Your Choice!

March Has Been Designated In Littlefield As A Special Go To Church Month ----- March In March To Church

Many are asking why go to Church?

Why this drive to get everyone to Church?

What good will I derive from attending Church?

No one would want to live in a community where there was not a Church, because the Churches stand for the higher things of life. They are trying to help men to a better way of living. There is not a lodge or club of any importance that does not depend on the churches to train men and women in the ways of life, so that they can carry on their work. The Churches take the small child and teach him to love, to trust in God, to be kind, to be charitable, etc. Without these things no lodge or club could live and yet it is the Church that starts the small child off in these things.

Beware Coughs That Hang On

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the infection to loosen germ laden phlegm, stimulate secretion and aid nature to heal raw, tender, inflamed mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried your druggist to sell you a new one of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to like the way it allays the cough or you are to get your money back.

Both men have rendered excellent service to the schools of this district, and they are being urged to permit their names to be placed on the ballot for re-election. They will consent to again offer their services to the schools of this district, it is expected.

The annual school election is held on the first Tuesday in April, which this year comes on April 2.

Chemurgist Eats Own Cake Baked From Yam Flour By Denton Teachers Co-Eds

DENTON, Texas—Sweet potato flour has been used to make 21 fancy food products ranging from waffles to fritters by an advanced food class in the home economics department of North Texas State Teachers college.

NTSTC Chemurgist Gilbert C. Wilson started the yam-glamorizing with the perfection of the dehydration process of the sweet potato. This process has been termed many times as the "missing link" in the commercial utilization of the sweet potato and has been the subject of extensive research by Wilson for several years.

Shown above are the home economists displaying results of experiments under the direction of Miss Jessie Acker. Twenty-one recipes were checked covering the wide range of sweet potato biscuits, puddings, pies, custards, caramel squares, cake, waffles, patties, fritters and many other delicacies to tempt every palate.

Perfection of a small commercial plant is now in the process of development in Denton, and soon the flour will be on the shelves of many Texas grocery dealers.

SYNOPSIS

Lee Hollister returns unexpectedly from a trip abroad to find Matt Blair, his foster father and owner of the Circle V ranch, dead by his hand. The ranch is going to Matt's daughter, Virginia, and Matt's daughter, Virginia, in New York with the Archers, her uncle and aunt. Her uncle wants to sell the ranch to Milton Bradish, one time Matt's associate. Lee persuades Virginia to return to the ranch. Her aunt follows her, accompanied by Stanley, son of Milton Bradish. Stanley tries to discredit Lee in Virginia's eyes. One evening she is in Virginia's room, dances with her and throws herself into the arms just as Virginia rides past. Stanley. Stanley visits Josefa, who is shot from ambush. Virginia comes jealous of Lee and sells the ranch to Milton Bradish. Lee poses to Virginia and she is convinced she sold the ranch. Lee tries to get it back and tells Bradish that Matt Blair gave him a half interest in it, making Virginia's sale null. Lee disappears and a search is begun for him.

CHAPTER XIII

By the time she had reached a door and flung it open the sounds of activity were already coming from the bunk house. There a man there on a horse—it looked like Brimstone—and other were tumbling out of the door dressed and gathering around him. She herself was running now with leaden weights dragging at her feet. It was Brimstone, glistening with the sweat of hard riding, but the man just dismounting from him was Francisco Ramirez. Curly came running. He talked rapidly, giving her the blunt truth. "It's Lee. Francisco was goin' home late and he saw Brimstone in front of the cabin all saddled, but no sign of Lee. Francisco went up and found the cabin empty and blood on the saddle."

"Do you suspect anyone, Curly?" "We're lookin' first for Lawler" and Slanty Gano. They both held grudges against Lee, and they'd better hunt up their alibis right now."

Below them a human fly clung.

Bradish and Stanley had hurried out and were at her elbow. Stanley had a sickly look in the paling moonlight. The riding men streamed down the valley. Virginia turned to Stanley.

"The ranch car is in the repair shop. We'll have to take yours. I'm going to drive it myself."

In a few moments Virginia had the grey car out and was slipping into the driver's seat. Curly started to protest against her going, but stopped as he looked into a stony little face. He took the seat beside her. Bradish, on a restless impulse, got in also, followed by Stanley.

From far away Slanty Gano saw the rolling crowd of dust speeding out from the Valley of the Sun and resolving itself into a racing car.

Slanty had the eyes of a hawk. He saw that it was young Bradish's car, but what was it doing there at this hour, and going at that rate of speed? And it was full. He turned back to deeper shelter, caught a sound and stiffened.

Horses! He dismounted, wormed his way to a point of vantage and peered.

Coming out of the mouth of Turkey Gulch were men. They were Circle V men and they rode with a purpose, scanning trail and hillside.

Crouched low in his covert between the rolling dust cloud and the riding men, with a deed in his pocket bearing the smeared imprint of a bloody thumb, Slanty knew that he was a fugitive.

At the ranch house relations between the inmates were noticeably strained, but Virginia saw little of the others. They would all have departed gladly, but to leave just now might create an unpleasant impression or even definitely arouse suspicion in this place where feeling was running so high. The Archers fussed around anxiously. Bradish was bluntly rude to his now useless agent, and Stanley was nervously on edge. There were several matters that were worrying him badly, and one of them was a thousand dollar bill. If they should catch Gano and find that bill on him, Stanley Bradish was going to have a bad time trying to explain it.

The second day dragged out to ghastly length, but there was no trace of Lee, and no sign of Slanty Gano or Lawler. Men began to shake their heads. There were plenty of places around here where a man's body might lie hidden for a score of years.

Only Virginia and one other refused to believe that Lee was dead. The other came at dusk and touched her arm shyly with a little brown hand.

"I not hate you any more. My heart it break for you, and for Lee. I help you fin' heem."

"Thanks, Josefa." Virginia held the small hand closely. In the black tunnel of the Bonanza a gaunt shadow of a man lay. Years ago Don Luis' reckless mining had turned his own claim and Matt's into a maze of intersecting tunnels, and through these Lee staggered and crawled, now fainting, now stumbling to his feet again, but somehow keeping a sense of direction in a head which one moment felt like a lump of lead and the next like a floating feather. He was hunting for a gleam of light or a breath of cool air, but neither came.

Presently he lost all sense of time. He did not know that it was the noon of the second day which found him back at the place where Slanty had left him.

Even as he worked, men were passing through Turkey Gulch, less than a hundred yards away. One of the deputies looked up at the yawning black hole.

"No chance of anybody riding in the old Bonanza, is there?"

Curly shook his head. "I was up there yesterday with the sheriff. Ye can't get but a little ways in. Both tunnels is blocked by cave-ins."

They rode on. Back in the rubble-choked tunnel the digging hands had stopped. Lee was sinking down, down, into that deadening coma of weakness and exhaustion.

Long hours of hiding had not improved Slanty Gano's temper, and Lawler also was visibly soured. He was stretched out indolently, half sitting, half sprawling, just inside of a narrow crevice some forty feet above the floor of a secluded little box canyon. It was a perfect hide-out.

From where he lay on a pile of boughs, Slanty sent a jeering taunt at his fellow fugitive.

"Ye talk big, but I notice ye keep on skulkin'. The Circle V boys has found out that ye set that fire."

"It wouldn't have done nothin' but burn off some grazin' if the wind hadn't freshed up," retorted Lawler sullenly. "And I notice there's two of us skulkin'. It's you them boys are after. You've done for Lee Hollister. Didn't I hear what they said, passin' not twenty feet away from us—"

"Maybe ye'll remember that yore name was mentioned as well as mine." Slanty arose deliberately and faced his partner with a hard stare. "Where was ye Wednesday night, Lawler? Got an alibi?"

Slanty's voice was menacing, his head was thrust forward and his eyes bored into the stupidly staring ones of his slower witted companion.

"Better get your own alibi," snarled Lawler, but his voice was uncertain. Sticking doggedly to his one idea of ingratiating himself with Milton Bradish by piling up discouraging losses on the present owner of the Circle V, he had spent the night cutting out a bunch of Virginia's cattle and wantonly slaughtering them in a remote coulee. There had been a splash of blood on his shirt when he had returned in the early morning, to flee at the sight of those riding men. He wore his coat buttoned now to cover the stain.

Presently Slanty went to where Lawler lay and put a hand on his shoulder as if to shake him awake. The sleeping man did not stir. From a hiding place inside his shirt Slanty took out a folded paper and slipped it cautiously into Lawler's inner pocket. Then he arose lightly and went to the crevice that served them as a doorway.

Morning sunshine brightened the secretive little canyon. Down there two horses were picketed, well hidden from any casual eye, but only one of them was fit for travel. Lawler had ridden his horse lame on Wednesday night, and the foot was getting bad.

But Slanty knew what Lawler did not. There were two other horses not far away in a hidden corral. Slanty had more than once found it expedient to change mounts quickly.

When Lawler awoke, hours later, the sun was slantly westward and

"A program of industrial development centers around the manufacture of raw materials into finished products"

LOCATED in all sections of Texas, 141 refineries manufacture into finished petroleum products 80 per cent of the State's crude oil production.

In contrast, Texas processes only 3 per cent of its cotton production and none of its wool or mohair.

Petroleum refining now constitutes 41 per cent of the value of all Texas manufactures.

Of the 225,000 Texans regularly employed by the oil business of the State, 25,000 skilled workmen and 5,000 office employees (a $50,000,000 annual payroll) are employed in this one division of our oil industry.

All of the Texas oil refined in our State, whether used in Texas or shipped to other states, paid last year in taxes an average of 9.8 cents per barrel.

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports the opinion of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

"Young Tom Edison" To Be At Palace This Week End

Giving Mickey Rooney his first portrayal of a real life character, a role in which the boy star has an opportunity to prove that he is a genuine actor, "Young Tom Edison" opens at the Palace Theatre

Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday.

This is positively Texas' premiere on "Young Tom Edison" as this attraction is set for release March 15.

Not only does this picture present Rooney with his first biographical role but it is the first such role ever given a juvenile player, despite the fact that many adults have played real-life characters repeatedly.

"Young Tom Edison" also marks the second teaming of Mickey with Virginia Weidler, who scored as his nemesis in "Out West With the Hardys." She plays his sister in the present picture, a role which Hollywood believes will definitely make her a star. In the two other stellar roles of the picture, Fay Bainter plays Mrs. Edison and George Bancroft, Mr. Edison. Others in the cast are Eugene Pallette, Victor Killian, Bobbie Jordan, J. M. Kerrigan, Lloyd Corrigan, John Kellogg, Clem Bevans, Eily Malyon and Harry Shannon.

Perfect For Cameras

County Club Women Add Cotton Products To Their Homes

The Lamb County Home Demonstration Council reports that the following articles made from cotton have been added to the homes of some demonstration club women during the month of February: 76 sheets, 104 pairs of pillow cases, 6 table cloths, 110 towels, 89 tea towels, 37 curtains, 7 new mattresses, 49 wash clothes, and 4 bedspreads.

Lamb county women are cooperating with other organizations in Texas, in the "Use More Cotton" program, and through this year, their homes will be supplied with many needed articles made from cotton.

The Whitharral senior class will present their second and last play of the year, "Antics of Andrew," in the High school auditorium at Whitharral Friday night, March 15. This play consists of mystery, romance, and comedy—especially comedy. A combination of 14 of the best amateur actors on the South Plains, and the "Antics of Andrew" will show anyone a good time. Noted for its comedy, this play has a darky cook, a French valet, and two female impersonations that will drive you mad with laughter.

This play has been staged very successfully on most of the High school stages over the South Plains area, and many people who have already seen the play will drive out to Whitharral in order to see Louis Hughes as Dean Boynton "take a nose dive after being took in" by Aunt Prunella.

The senior class extends a hearty welcome to all.

So you'll get what we mean when we ask, right out, why drive a car that's along just for the march—when you can pilot a Buick and show the others the way?

Maybe someday the others will have engines like velvet because they're electrically balanced after assembly; but Buick has them now.

Maybe tomorrow they will have coil springs all around that never need greasing—but Buick has them today.

Maybe sometime you'll get the five-foot front seat room and Foamtex cushions of the SUPER—maybe you'll get direction signals with automatic cut-off as standard equipment—but you can get those things and a lot besides on Buick this year.

Maybe someday you'll get a car as long as Buick for the money, or with a frame as heavy without paying more; maybe sometime there'll be another eight as big and roomy and powerful that's priced like a six.

But why take a chance on those maybes when this honey's here, ready for you to take over right now?

Fact is, when you step into this Buick you take over a car others will be trying to equal for years to come.

PLUMBING AND SHEET METAL WORK

We are all proud of the great work the 4-H Clubs, the Home Demonstration Clubs, and the Future Farmers of America are accomplishing in Lamb County. These organizations are indeed a credit to our industries, and represent outstanding contributions to the welfare of this section.

The future of our country lies in our youth. It is in their hands that the security and future of this great democracy rests.

The achievements of these organizations do not make impressive statistics, but they have made contributions of untold value to the lives of hundreds of our farm people in Lamb County. These enterprises have developed practical, progressive examples of improved farm management and homemaking.

agent in staging the Calf, Pig and Sheep show. More than 400 boys are expected to participate in the exhibit, which promises to be one of the best ever staged in this vicinity.

Cash prizes and premiums will be given to the owners of the best animals, including sheep, hogs, and calves. The animals will be judged by a representative of the extension service at College Station.

Higginbotham-Bartlett company, furnishing the materials for the pens, and other local firms have made generous donations.

W. H. Frazier is vocational agriculture teacher in the local high school. Four other schools in the county have FFA clubs: Sudan, with H. C. White advisor; Spring Lake, with R. L. Hicks, teacher; and Olton with Truett Sides, teacher.

Special Exhibit Of Lambs
One of the outstanding entries in the Calf, Pig and Sheep show will be several lambs, shown by I. J. and Tommy Rice of the Hart-Cox community.

These 4-H club boys have been feeding 17 lambs since last fall, and will have available for buyers five black faced lambs, five mutton lambs, and five fine wool lambs. L. H. McElroy, assistant county agent, who is in charge of the 4-H club work in the county, reported.

Other 4-H club boys who have outstanding projects this year are Billye Ray Pool, who won a Hereford heifer in an essay contest in 1939;

J. R. and Elton Nixon, Spade, who have several pigs, and will show one fat barrow in the show;

Leon Brown, Spade, who will show a chester white gilt;

Jack Packard, Spring Lake, will show a litter of pigs;

Earl Scott, who has used his profits from pigs, and purchased a shorthorn heifer.

Approximately 289 boys are members of the 11 4-H clubs in the county. The clubs are: Littlefield High school; Littlefield Junior club; Olton High school; Olton Junior club; Spade; Amherst; Amherst Junior club; Fieldton; Hart Camp; Spring Lake, and Sudan.

These boys will exhibit 10 barrows, six lambs; three calves, four gilts, two sows, and one litter of pigs in the show, Saturday.

Will Demonstrate Cotton Uses

Features of the Cotton Exhibit will be the uses of cotton in the home, displayed by members of the County Home Demonstration club and Girls 4-H clubs.

Articles made from cotton sacks, a homemade mattress, bedroom accessories, dining room linens and kitchen linens will be among the displays. Also several beautiful quilts will be shown.

Mrs. Ruth Perry, home demonstration agent, has planned the exhibits, and with the help of the 300 club women in the county, the displays will encourage people to use more cotton, in order to use up the surplus cotton that is now on hand. "We have enough cotton stored to supply the American nation for more than two years, so it is up to us to use as much cotton as possible," Mrs. Perry said.

Local dry goods stores will exhibit uses of cotton in the home and cotton clothing for the entire family.

Hattie's Shop will exhibit smart cotton clothes for women. Replin's will show "how to use cotton in the bedroom," Hart-Thaxton will set up a bedroom suite for this exhibit. Cobb's will show gay cottons for the dining room, and dining room furniture will be shown by Hammons; Pink's Store will have an exhibit of cotton clothes for men and cotton gifts for men; and Ware's will show children's clothes in cotton.

Home Demonstration club members in Lamb county have achieved much in helping the progress of the county, and they continue to do things that includes the entire farm and home from the "front gate to the back field," with long-time planning for all enterprises and improvements.

Names and presidents of the clubs in the county are as follows: Amherst, Mrs. Harry Phelps; Blue Bonnet Club, Mrs. Fred Morrison; Circle club, Mrs. Ada Crawford, Olton; Fieldton, Mrs. Elmer Thompson; Littlefield, Mrs. M. J. Wilson; Hart Camp, Mrs. H. V. Lynch; Oklahoma Avenue, Mrs. O. C. Fox; Sunnysdale, Mrs. Beryl Wingo; Sod House, Miss Willie White; Spring Lake, Mrs. Robert Hite; East Spring Lake, Mrs. Watson; Westbrook, Mrs. W. B. Williams; Perry club, Mrs. V. H. Jennings; Yellow-house club, Mrs. Bob Askew.

There are eleven girls' 4-H clubs in the county, with a membership of 230 girls, Mrs. Perry said.

Local Boys Have Many Exhibits

Littlefield members of the F.F.A. chapter are looking forward to the 4-H and F.F.A. Calf and Pig show, which will be held here Saturday. Sixteen boys will show pigs and calves that have been their projects in vocational agriculture work this year.

The boys are not so interested in sheep, W. H. Frazier, advisor, stated, but the reason, he said, was due to the fact that West Texas has been a cattle country since the boys' forefathers came here. He plans for the boys to have more interest in the raising of sheep next year, and by the time for the next annual livestock show in Lamb county, they should have some fine lambs for display.

In the show Saturday, Calvin Carpenter will have a fat barrow that he purchased from his father, and has been feeding all winter. John Pace will show a purebred chester white gilt.

Chester Toney will have a medium-boned Poland China gilt. Gerald Wedel Williams will have a Poland China gilt.

Kendrick Williams will have a Poland China gilt.

These boys' fathers had these pigs on their farms for the boys' projects.

A. V. Wood, who will show animals in the F.F.A. and 4-H group, too, will have a big-boned Poland China sow, that he won in the 4-H club show last year. He will also have a chester white sow. Both of these animals are registered.

Hugo Beyer purchased two white-faced calves from the George White ranch, and will show them Saturday, after feeding them through the winter. He will also have a registered spotted Poland China sow that was part of last year's project.

Luther Cunningham will show a registered Hampshire sow, with one of her pigs as a fat barrow.

Neil Landrum will bring to town a litter of five small-boned Poland China pigs.

Paul Odell will show a chester white boar that he raised from a registered sow last year.

D. H. Brewster purchased a registered Poland China gilt from Travis Dyer, and will have the gilt in the show.

Leon Langford will show a Poland China gilt.

Tommie McKinnon has a white-faced calf that came from his uncle's ranch near Muleshoe. He will bring it to town Saturday.

Bill Swindle and Jack Swanner each have registered chester white gilts for the show.

Reed Tomlinson will have a Poland China sow, a registered and a boar in the show. These came from the show last year.

All of the animals to be shown by the Future Farmers of America are either registered, or thorough breds. They should bring prices from buyers at the show Saturday.

Juvenile Delinquency—

Pointing an accusing finger at "oldsters" in fixing the responsibility for juvenile delinquency, Judge Ernest L. Reeker, of Madison, Nebraska, champions "youngsters" in his current Rotarian magazine article, and suggests that in a majority of cases a warrant should be issued for parents who would place unqualified blame on their children when they get into trouble.

"When people ask me, 'Judge, what's wrong with the young people of today?' my answer is always the same: 'There's nothing wrong with the young folks—the trouble is with their elders,'" he asserts. For 15 years he has been a juvenile judge, he tells Rotarian readers, and has handled 1,560 cases. "In my treatment of juvenile delinquents, I have found that nine times out of ten a warrant should be issued for the parents of the child, charging them contributing to the delinquency of a minor, instead of permitting them to throw all the blame on their offspring."

He declares that he is "sick and tired of having 'holier-than-thou' prosecuting attorneys, rough-and-ready police officers, and hair-splitting judges continue to produce criminals" by sending youngsters to institutions through lack of understanding. Of the 1,560 boys and girls with whom Judge Reeker has dealt, only 50 have been sent to correctional institutions; of these only six continued in a life of crime. He has little use for reform schools since he discovered that officials of one of them took more interest in a prize dairy herd and bull than in the youths committed to their custody. "The bull had better quarters and better care and its diet was more closely watched than were those of the 300 boys in the institution," he charges.

Parental neglect accounts for its share of youthful criminals, but "society itself has a pretty rotten record," Judge Reeker declares. Juvenile courts themselves need cleaning up, lawyers and judges must be trained to investigate backgrounds of children in trouble, and the conditions spawning crime must be eliminated, he reasons.

He concludes by saying he'd like to issue a bench warrant for every citizen, and sentence each to "leave nothing undone that a people might do to make certain that the children of today do not populate the prisons of tomorrow."

AMHERST METHODIST CHURCH

The next quarterly conference for the Amherst Charge will be held at the Amherst Methodist church Monday night, April 1. All officials and heads of the different departments please take due notice hereof and be ready with reports, moneys, and presence.

The District conference for the Plainview district will be held at Tulla, Texas (if the date is not changed again) April 9-10, opening Tuesday morning, April 9, at about 10 o'clock.

The 1939 Discipline, which is the Discipline for the three uniting churches, states that of the local church members who are members of the District Conference, are: church school superintendents in each church school, district steward, district trustee, district lay leader and associate lay leader, charge lay leader (chairman of local board of stewards). Then according to the Standard Rules of the North West Texas Annual Conference these of the local church are also members: The President of the Women's organization, president of each Council of Missions, president of Young people's department, and one elected member for each 100 members or major fraction thereof from the local church, by that church. These two we shall elect next Sunday. We shall elect two with conditional alternates, if the district superintendent will allow this action.

EMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Rev. Wm. Hannusch, pastor.
 Morning worship, English, 11:00.
 Sunday school, 10:30.

 Morning worship, German, 9:30.
 Evening worship, 7:30.

In the 11 o'clock worship a special service of Confirmation will be held. The Lutheran church does not consider Confirmation a Sacrament. This service has a twofold purpose: in it a personal restatement is made of the Baptismal vow and at the same time the individual becomes a member of the Lutheran church. Before a person is confirmed he is instructed in the teachings of the church. This is done to give the individual information as to what the Lutheran church teaches in relation to the Bible. No person is accepted to membership unless he is first told what the church teaches. Next Sunday morning four individuals will personally restate their Baptismal Vow and become members of the Lutheran church. The names of these individuals are Milton Kelm, Wilda Kelm, Erain Friday and Ruth Drager. You are welcome to attend this service.

In the Sunday evening worship a special Reunion Service will be held. The reunion will be on the part of the individuals who have been confirmed in the local church. They will be the guests of honor. A roll call will be taken which will be responded to by a Scripture verse. A special sermon will be delivered for the occasion. You are invited to attend this service.
