Late Crop Late Boost To Sales

Renfro Home Judged Best

Winner Located At 101 East 11th

Raymond Renfro, local grocer, was named first place winner in the annual home-lighting contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Announcement of the winners of the $50, $25, $15, and $10 prizes was made by Mrs. L. M. Massengale, chairman of the project.

Second place winner was the Joe Foltyn home at 440 East 11th; third place, L. D. Preston, 927 West Fifth, and fourth place, Patricia Dillworth, 518 West Second.

The displays were judged by an out-of-town judge who is experienced in the field of lighting. According to Chamber of Commerce officials, the judge spent two and a half hours minutely inspecting the decorations.

Learning that he is winner will be a second surprise for Renfro in regard to the contest. His daughter, Mrs. Stan Aaron, secretly entered her father's name, the first to be entered in this year's contest.

Focal point of the display facing 11th Street is an elaborate nativity scene surrounded by a manger. Over 100 blinking multi-colored lights are arranged on a large fir tree on the front lawn.

Prancing along the Phelps Avenue side of the house are four reindeer, including red-nosed Rudolph, pulling Santa in his sleigh. Blue lights outline the roof of the house on two sides.

This is Renfro's first year to enter the contest and his second year to decorate his house and yard.

Renfro and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Aaron, began three months ago to prepare the nativity scene.

"We worked almost every night cutting the figures with a jig saw and pasting the colored patterns on top," Mrs. Aaron said.

Actually his three grandchildren should be given much of the credit for the display.

"Daddy never was interested in decorating until the grandchildren came along, and do they love it," Mrs. Aaron commented.

An effective nativity scene also won second place for Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foltyn. In a tree above the scene are blue lights with a white star just above the manger.

Multi-colored lights outline the archway leading to the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Preston, 927 West Fifth, third-place winners. Reindeer prance across the yard just behind a tree effectively decorated with icicle.

Mrs. Santa is pictured in her kitchen baking gingerbread boy for Santa and his helpers in a large life-size mural stretching across the front of Patricia Dillworth's home at 518 West Second. In the yard is a miniature Christmas tree trimmed with bright lights.

Stores Show Gain For Week

The lateness of the area cotton crop and a lateness of the cotton crop in late November which has resulted in a pre-Christmas jamming of gin yards now forced to operate on a round-the-clock schedule while it has brought little financial loss, it has caused worry to those most vitally affected -- the farmers.

But the worry neither starts nor stops there. There have been furrowed brows on the countenances of business men purveyors of commodities of all types, of bankers and money-lenders, automobile dealers, and implement dealers.

But the biggest and most prominent furrow of all, was in the business establishments which had invested long hours of labor, and countless thousands of dollars to stock merchandise intended almost exclusively for the Christmas trade -- merchandise which must be sold before Christmas, or sacrificed at cut-prices after the holiday.

The last weeks, especially the past few days has gone a long way in decreasing the size and amount of the furrows in the last mentioned business category, at least.

Humming gins put the bagging around increasing thousands of bales, and paper vouchers have been rushed to the banks to greatly swell bank accounts and cash on hand. The Christmas buying rush had received the only ingredient which could give it impetus -- ready cash -- and the Christmas buying rush is on and despite lateness may crack all previous records and dimensions, by the time the Christmas merchandise remaining is locked behind closed doors next Monday night to bring a true feeling of Merry old Christmas to both purchaser and seller of the ingredients which Santa Claus dispenses.

Last Saturday, again Monday in fact for every day of the past week you didn't have to look for the Christmas spirit atmosphere on faces in Littlefield streets -- it held its hand to greet you if that hand was not too loaded with Christmas packages, which heralded that business was good in local stores.

Your Littlefield newspapers sensed all of that, but we wanted proof that Santa wasn't being neglected or forgotten just because of the late harvest angle. We contacted some of the mercantile high spots in search for that corroboration.

And here are the things we were told by a few very happy See Crop on Page 5.

Negro Dies In Blaze

A 51-year-old Negro man was burned to death in his home near Olton about 9:15 p.m. Sunday.

The charred body of Dave F. Allen was found on his bed when Olton firemen brought the blaze under control. He apparently was at home alone when the blaze started from an undetermined cause.

Since the fire apparently originated in the corner of the room where his bed was located, it is believed he may have set the bed on fire with the pipe he smoked.

Allen worked for Sammy Thomas and lived on his farm seven miles north and two miles west of Olton. The boxed and stripped house was a total loss.

David Maxey, Olton coroner, sent the remains of Allen's billfold to Austin before making a report.

Funeral services were held in the Bohner Chapel, Olton, at 1 p.m. Tuesday. He is survived by his wife, Lurline and a son and daughter, all of Olton.

Gin Fires Too Much For Old Fire Truck

A succession of three gin fires in the area, and a resulting series of as many calls for help to the Littlefield Fire Department, proved too much for the city's old and recently replaced fire truck on the fourth call of a 2-day period.

Half-way to the scene of the reported fire at the Paymaster Gin at Spade, the motor in the fire truck gave up by "throwing rods" from the motor. The truck was towed back to its home garage, and will receive a Christmas present of a new motor.

The Anton fire department tried to fill the gap caused by the motor failure, made the run, but were unable to render only limited assistance.

This gin fire, which was not actually in the gin, but in the burr pit adjoining, was subdued by gin hands, and volunteers of the community, but required an all-night watching vigil.

Tuesday morning, the local fire department was called to Burke Bros. gin at Lum's Chapel at 8:00 a.m. This fire was in the lint house. It was quickly brought under control apparently out, but about 1:30 p.m. blazed up again, and the local fire boys made a second run to the scene.

Still a third gin fire called for help from the local fire department, when a trash fire got out of control at the Hampton Gin at Spade.

Damage was negligible, except to the fire truck, in all three instances.

Four Cases Heard By Court

Four cases were heard in County Court Monday with Judge Pat Boone presiding.

Olivia Shaw of Littlefield pled guilty and received a fine of $1,000 plus costs.

Mrs. Naomi Ogle, Littlefield, pled guilty to a check law violation and received $30 and cost.

Sanders Heads New Committee

Jerry Sanders, owner and manager of Radio Station KZZN, has been named chairman of the Industrial Development committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Sanders' appointment to the office, which promises to be one of the most important posts in Chamber of Commerce work this year, was made by Arnold Neumann, a member of the new five-man executive committee in charge of the industrial development area, at a meeting of the executive meeting Monday night.

The committee also considered the new policy presented to the board by the Priorities Committee. The group voted to recommend that the board approve the program.

They also agreed on a method of setting up a program of work for next year.

Regular meetings of the committee will be held at 7 a.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

A call meeting was slated for 7 a.m. this morning, primarily to do further work on industrial plans and to consider personnel for other committees.

Sanders moved to Littlefield from Lubbock in August. He is the incoming president - elect of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Rotary Club and the First Presbyterian Church. While in Lubbock he was president of the Jaycees and state vice president of the organization.

Council Has Light Agenda

City councilmen will have a light agenda when they meet tonight for their regular semi-monthly meeting.

The group will consider installing a street light near the Boy Scout hut in Laguna Park and the relocation of the proposed water well on the city farm northeast of the city limits.

Bids will be opened on the lift station compressor and a group of central store items.

The council will consider a new speed zone ordinance on Highways 54 and 84 which is recommended by the State Highway Department.

Also on the agenda is the setting of closing days for the city hall.

Larry Cox In Hollywood Movie

It is probably a little premature to say "local boy makes good," but Larry Cox has gotten a toe hold on success during the six months he has been in Hollywood.

Larry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Bussanmus, has written several popular songs that have been accepted by publishers, played an extra in a Hollywood extravaganza, and is slated for a bit part in another, and gotten a celebrity to sponsor him in the Pasadena Playhouse, one of the finest dramatic schools in the country.

However, Larry's friends and teachers will not be surprised at his success. In school he was always a winner and a "doer." He was always a class officer, a class favorite, and had there been such an election, he no doubt would have been chosen the one most likely to succeed.

Neither will his friends be surprised at the direction he is going. They thought he was about the best drummer Littlefield high school ever produced. He had trouble his last year "sandwiching" his classes in between trips around the country with a dance band. And for years he was their favorite disc jockey on both the Littlefield radio station and KOBK in Lubbock.

After two rather unsuccessful years at Tech (he flunked music) Larry left for Hollywood last June.

"I had met a girl at Tech that said she could get me a job. She went out three weeks ahead of me and when I got there, she didn't even have a job for herself," Larry recalled.

"However, the first night I was there she introduced me to a young song writer named Johnny Cole. This was my first break.

"Johnny taught me the basic rudiments in writing songs. We bought a piano and I spent hours and hours learning to play and working out unusual chords.

"I have been writing serious poetry ever since I wrote my first Mother's Day poem when I was six years old. Writing verses for "pop" songs is really a snap."

Larry and his partner turn out as high as three songs a week, some of which sell and some do not. Cole has recently done one for Connie Stevens and together they have completed one for Bobby Vinton and Dobbie Gray.

"It's hard to believe, but we actually have publishers knocking on our doors now wanting more of our stuff. I've been commissioned to write a song for Cathy Young while I'm at home.

"What I really want to do is act. But I don't want to starve for years while I'm training and waiting for a break. Song writing will take care of that. About fifty percent of what we write now is rock and roll which is the most profitable and easiest to write."

Another song writer, Wayne Shanklin, (he wrote Jizzabel) has offered to sponsor the creative, sensitive youth at the (See Cox on Page 8)

Cuba Tops Mahon Olton Talk

One of the most vigorous and influential organizing groups in Lamb County, and in the area of half the area counties, centered in Lamb, the Olton Young Farmers Association played approximately 200 farmers from over the area Monday.

Representative George Mahon Olton, guest speaker, was addressed by Willie G. Green, president of the organization. The Congressman had only returned from an official tour of Cuba, and our big air-naval base, Guantanamo, three days before, and the Olton Farmers and their guests received very first public report of conclusions he had reached in the picture of the Cuban situation as he observed it, and his observations.

At 7:30 p.m. members of the group and their distinguished guest were served dinner in the Legion Hut, after which they proceeded to high school auditorium where the meeting was held.

The purpose of the meeting was to give the farmers of the area an opportunity to ask questions, and receive answers to come from the man who represents them in Washington, on matters which vitally affect them, and this entire farming area now in focus, lowered the price of cotton.

Services Held Tuesday For Gus Shaw, Area Pioneer

Funeral services were conducted from First Presbyterian Church, of which he was a long-standing member, for Gustavus (Gus) Marion Shaw, aged 75, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, who died at Littlefield Hospital at 3:15 p.m. Sunday, following illness which had afflicted him for the past two or more years.

No person in Lamb County was wider or better known than was this county pioneer. He was one of Littlefield's earliest day business men, conducting one of Littlefield's first mercantile establishments with two partners, John T. and W. G. Street, both of whom preceded him in death.

Through the years "Gus" had been identified with countless civic and business activities. At different times he was store manager for Ware's here and at Kerrville, Dunlap's, Replin's for Sudan Mercantile establishments, and in later years was identified with various publicity activities. He served as first president of Lamb County Pioneer Association, and played a major role in organizing that association.

Active in Rotary and in Masonry, being a charter member of both organizations, and both had an active and honorary part in conduct of the last rites. He was also a Charter member of Eastern Star Chapter.

G. M. (Gus) Shaw

He prided himself on being an outstanding expert at the art of barbecue, and to intimates expressed a deep pride in presiding over the big barbecue which was a feature and highlight of the ground-breaking ceremony at Texas Tech, Lubbock.

This declaration was the 32nd semi-annual dividend paid, and will approximate $100,000.

Two Cars In Minor Accident

A minor accident resulting in approximately $25 in damage to both cars, occurred Sunday on Phelps near the corner of Fourth Street.

A 1960 Ford, driven by Bernice Bruce Brown of Littlefield was hit from the rear by Royce Dan Morris of Lubbock, driving a 1956 Chevrolet.

Brown was stopped behind a line of traffic that extended one full block. Morris drove through the intersection on a green light and hit Brown's parked car, according to police records.

James Lee, local banker, was presented a plaque for outstanding service to James Lee, treasurer of the organization.

From Your Chamber Office

GENE GARRISON

The latest issue of Nations Business reveals a study showing how NEW INDUSTRY can bring our area many tangible benefits:

"A new study finds industrialization is accompanied by a rise in incomes, retail sales, bank deposits; a rise in non-manufacturing jobs; and in many instances increases in population and school enrollment.

"Communities benefit most from industrial additions which remain stable through business fluctuations, achieve steady growth, have financial responsibility, mature employment and wage policies, high tax yields, and a minimum of nuisance-producing effects.

"These findings are highlights of a study by the Economic Research Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The study brings up-to-date and eight-year-old analysis of economic and social effects in nine countries which industrialized in World War II and the immediate postwar period.

"The study -- comparing changes in 11 countries which industrialized between 1950 and 1960 with the same number that did not -- shows that 100 new factory workers increased personal income by $660,000 per year. Bank deposits by $299,000. Non-manufacturing employees by 65.

A breakdown of annual retail sales increases -- totaling one third of a million dollars -- includes: grocery stores, $72,000; automobile dealers, $47,000; eating and drinking establishments, $25,000; service stations, $24,000; department stores, $22,000; clothing and shoe stores, $21,000.

Identical results from industrial growth cannot be expected in all communities. Economic effects will depend on many factors, including the type of factory, characteristics of the labor force, and the nature, size and utilization of community facilities.

If the community has unused labor supply, buildings and other resources, there will be less impact than in a community with fully realized resources.

There was a net population gain of more than 68,500 for the counties that industrialized between 1950 and 1960, compared with a drop of $1,000 for those that did not.

Four of the counties with industrial growth had population losses, but the study notes that the declines in these rural areas would have been much greater without industrialization. All of the 11 counties which did not industrialize showed population deficits.

The industrialized counties studies are: Washington, Ark.; Canyon, Idaho; Iroquois, Ill.; Sanilac, Mich.; Newton, Mo.; Platte, Neb.; Gray, Texas; Lamar, Ala.; Monroe, Miss.; Ashe, N. C.; Henderson, Tenn.

While the study cites numerous plus factors, it also lists potential costs emanating from industrial growth. The new firm and its employees often require the community to provide new and enlarged facilities. Water supply and sewage systems may have to be expanded. New streets and highways may be needed. Traffic control expenditures may increase. New police and fire protection may be needed. One community even had to build a new jail.

The chamber study stresses that results can be estimated only by a careful analysis of community facilities and demands created by new industry.

Criteria for analyzing the

Both Littlefield squads tallied over Friona as they were hosted by the Chiefs Tuesday night. Larry Coffman hauled in a total of 12 points leading the locals to a 47-39 victory over Friona.

The "A" teams tangled in the second contest with the locals hauling Friona down by a score of 43-39. This is the third win for the cats this season.

For Littlefield Paul Roberts and Larry Wood showed up, with Roberts hitting for 13 and Wood for 12. Gary Fitzgerald scored 10, Billy Thompson 6, Quinton Hodge 2.

Friona's Larry Burkley led both teams with 17 points.

Mrs. Laura Reddell, 94, a longtime resident of Spade, fell in her home in Idalou Tuesday morning, breaking her hip.

Committee Entertains Members

Members of the Chamber of Commerce who have joined the organization during the past year were guests at a breakfast held at 7 a.m. Tuesday in Thornton's Cafeteria.

Members of the Membership-Selling committee, were hosts. Twenty seven persons attended. Bob Manley, chairman of the committee, presided.

Kenneth Ware, president of the Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the members into the group, explaining that most of them had joined after this year's program was complete.

Incoming President Troy Arnes told the new members that he hoped they would assist him next year by taking an active working part. He invited them to give recommendations on next year's program of work and to choose what committees they would like to work on.

An explanation of the series of meetings to be held next year was made by Gene Garrison. The Chamber of Commerce manager pointed out that meetings of six to eight members would be held for the purpose of explaining this year's work, and give a report on the economic status of the community. Members will then make recommendations to the Program of Work committee.

and optimistic local purveyors to the loading of the Christmas trees:

Kenneth Ware of Ware's -- "Business is good this week, which will catch us up for the year. The season got off to a slow start but business has really come to life this week. We still have lots of stock left, however."

Jim Joyner, J. C. Penney -- "After a very slow start, business spurred ahead Saturday and we had the biggest day of the year. It was followed by a good Monday which was the biggest Monday, including Dollar Days that we've had this year. We have been ahead for the year but behind for December. I believe this last minute shopping will catch us up for the month. I'm surely looking forward to a good January, the second largest month of the year."

Dan Staggs of Staggs Drug -- "We're having the best sales in all gift items we have ever had. This last week is terrific. They are definitely 'Mad Rush Days.'"

J. M. Brittain of Brittain Pharmacy -- "Our business is good and has been good all year."

Amos Ward, - Anthony's - "This week we're running ahead of a year ago. Since we'll have an extra day Monday, I think we will make our month. We're ahead for the year but the late crop has caused us to be a little behind for the month. We have a good stock left and should do well this week."

Yes, everything combined has brought smiles and glows, to farmers, ginners, bankers and merchants alike.

And it's so much nicer -- that way -- so much easier to put the grand old spirit into the joyous greeting: "Merry Christmas."

"My voice is not good. I must develop more resonance and get rid of more Texas," Larry commented.

He was one of 600 extras in a mob scene in the upcoming comedy, "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" starring all major comedians of the day.

"I took the part hoping I would make some connections. Sure enough it worked. I met an assistant director who helped me get a bit part in the religious spectacular, 'The Greatest Story Ever Told,' the young actor said, explaining that it was for this bit part that he is growing a beard.

"It certainly hasn't been easy," he'll admit. "We decided to put up a good front and rented a rather swank apartment just across the street from the recording studio. At time paying the rent has been pretty rough but we feel it's worth it."

Except for money he borrowed on his insurance policy, in the beginning, Larry has been able to make his own way which is in itself no mean feat when getting started in creative fields.

This portion of the program followed the introduction of the guest, by President Green, and his subsequent talk dealing first with the Cuban situation.

In his talk, the Congressman mentioned his very recent return from Cuba and impressions obtained there -- and summed it up by saying that Castro will just have to go, because the Western Hemisphere cannot operate efficiently and safely with a separate Communist government in our midst.

He mentioned personal talks with officials of other American Hemisphere governments and stated that generally they expressed disappointment that we paused or quit the blockade leaving Castro still in power. "They are not so afraid of missiles as of Castro," Getting away from Cuba, and taking up the area farm problems, he expressed an optimism on the agricultural problem as a whole, but thought Congress was in a mood to insist on a price belt -- tightening program, and a more efficient farm operation, geared more and more to a "supply and demand" basis of reality.

To expressed criticism of restricted farm economy he bluntly compared it with a 60% production for steel mills, and the 8-day producing allotment for domestic oil production. Actually there is some sort of restriction for practically every facet of production, and this is not going to lessen under the impetus of the new European Common Market.

He stated that there definitely will have to be further changes in the cotton program, and that the thinking in Congress seemed to possibly increased production and definitely lowered price.

Somehow and somehow domestic textile mills will have to be compensated for the 8 1/2 cent subsidy that foreign mills now receive on a lower purchase price for American grown cotton. The cotton industry is in a fight for survival with the expanding synthetic industry, was expressed with firm conviction. The meeting furnished a highly successful exchange of ideas and was held in a cordial social atmosphere, devoid of political implication, following his return to Washington, with the favorable vote support of each of the 19 counties which he represents.

Ricky Romero to Meet Miphisto In Next Saturday Night Bout

After witnessing some of the best wrestling the local fans have had the privilege to see in some time, Saturday night every one was satisfied with the outcome of all the matches.

After a lot of hard wrestling Romero came out the winner of Killer Karl Cox, Cowboy Carlson defeated Jim Dalton after they each won a fall, Cowboy returned to win the third and deciding fall. The Lawman won the opener over Gypsy Biviano in their one fall match.

Last week your local wrestling promoter, John Usery, misinformed the local fans when he said this week was the last of the wrestling matches until after the first of the year. We will have wrestling this week, December 22. This will be the last match until January 5, 1963.

Wrestling fans this week will see the return of Popular Ricky Romero as he meets the big masked giant Miphisto. Miphisto and Romero have met once before in a main event of a one hour time limit. Romero won that match with only one minute remaining in their match.

The second main event will feature jolting Joe Scaperello, the great amateur of his college days meet Ali Ali in the first main event of the night. A two out of three fall match and a one hour time limit. There is a funny happening in this match, nine years ago Joe Scaperello wrestled Ali Ali in the Olympic games, Joe wrestling for the United States and Ali Ali for his native country, Turkey. This should be a wonderful match.

In the opening Match Cowboy Carlson will meet The Lawman in the opening event, a one-fall twenty minute match. Matches will start at 8:30 sharp.

Mrs. Kisner Chosen Teacher Of The Week

"What I enjoy most in teaching is the association with the young people."

This was a statement made by Mrs. B. T. Kisner who has taught here the past eight years. She is the first year typing and shorthand teacher. She is also the sponsor of the Student Council, which she said she thoroughly enjoys.

She is a member of the Delta Kappa Gamma and is attending class at Tech working towards her Masters Degree.

"Who has pastime???" replied Mrs. Kisner when asked what she did in her pastime. For a hobby she enjoys reading and sewing.

Mrs. Kisner thinks we could improve this world if everyone tried to have a better understanding of their fellow man. "Make the best of each experience that comes along" was Mrs. Kisner's philosophy of life. Her pet peeve is people who play with their typewriters when she is explaining.

Mrs. Kisner's most embarrassing moment was the time when she thought she was late for class. She barged into a class and sat down and the class wasn't quite over. The teacher said, "We are always glad to have visitors."

Mrs. Kisner enjoys being with people.

She was born in Okla. and went to high school at Strong

City, Okla. She attended college at East Texas State, Commerce. She resides at 217 East 16th Street, and attends the First Methodist Church here in Littlefield.

Band and Choir Plan Assembly Friday

Band and Choir will join together to present a Christmas Assembly Friday. The music will consist of familiar Christmas carols.

The first number will be the band playing "Christmas Festival" followed by the Madrigal Singers, singing two selections. The band will then accompany Mr. Burge while he sings "White Christmas."

The student body will be invited to sing along with the band and choir on some of the more familiar carols.

The assembly will end with the band and choir joining together on "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Lions Hear LH Pep Band

"Pep Band" consisting of members of the Wildcat Band entertained the Lions Club Wednesday December 19. The program consisted of Christmas carols.

D. E. SPOTLIGHT -- This week's D. E. Spotlight is Anne Rodgers. Anne's favorite color is blue. Food - anything that wont make her fat. Pastime - trying to talk Dr. Showell in getting her a new Corvette. Her hobby is working. Anne works at Medical Arts Hospital for Dr. James Showell. He likes the D.E. program and thinks that it is good for everybody in general and likes to know what's going on in school.

Thompson, Pollard Are Students Of The Week

operative, if you want to know that. At least the interest was completed and the results taken, I think. All kids inside they are nice people to talk with.

The people I am speaking of are Rhonda Thompson and Lamar Pollard, Rhonda, a Fresh-Chorleader, is the daughter of Mrs. Leveta Thompson 35 Northwest Side Avenue.

When asked about her pastime she said she thinks everybody knows and she also enjoys talking on the phone. Rhonda says chicken is her favorite food and blue is her favorite color. Her motto of life is "live and let live" and her pet peeve is "people who lie." Rhonda stated that the happiest moment in life was when she met a certain boy and her most surprised as when she saw her Algebra grades. Rhonda belongs to the First Baptist Church.

Lamar Pollard, a sophomore, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.

E. Pollard of Route 1, Sudan, Lamar, a member of the basketball team, says he enjoys basketball more than anything. His favorite food is steak and color is purple. When questioned about his motto of life he said "I'll leave that chapter out." His pet peeve is "people who kid him about how he talks." Lamar says his most surprised moment was this morning and his happiest "I don't think of one." Lamar belongs to the Baptist Church.

And that is your Students of the Week.

BY PAULA

This will be the last week of school this year. It hardly seems possible that nearly half of the year is already gone by. This week has passed fast because of the many parties and activities of Christmas.

To me, Christmas is one of the most impressive holidays of all. And also the most important because it is when our Christ Jesus was born. I hope we will remember this year that we are celebrating Christmas because of His birthday and not just a time to exchange gifts. For once, let's all try to keep Christ in Christmas.

If any of you are going out of town for the holidays, be sure and drive carefully and return home safely. Even if you stay home, we want everyone to be careful so we can return back to school in one piece.

When we return to school, we will be beginning the most important part of the year for some students. Especially the Seniors because then graduation is not much farther away. The Seniors have already gotten the blanks to order their invitations and caps and gowns. Be sure you fill them out and return them before the deadline.

Have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Last Bell Friday Starts LHS Holiday

What a thrill it will be to hear the 2:00 bell ring Friday! No more school for eleven days. Can you imagine no questions to answer, no reports to get or problems to solve and no grumpy teachers to report to for that many days?

Actually it could be a world of fantasy. The alarm clock can take a rest and we can turn over, take a deep breath, go back to sleep and say, "Oh, boy! No school today!"

Then there'll be the excitement of buying gifts, going to parties, having fun with our friends and there is always the delightful anticipation of the coming of Santa Claus. I still believe in Santa Claus and I hope I always will. It'll be fun to go to Grandma's house and see all the folks and eat loads of turkey and dressing and all the trimmings.

NEW STUDENT -- An El - Beaumont student is this weeks New Student of the week, Suzanne Thornton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thornton, lists her reason of liking L.H.S. as because the school is a small friendly one. Suzanne is a 5 foot, 5 inch, brown eyed, brown haired Sophomore. Her favorite pastime is riding around and boys, favorite subject as World History and teacher, Miss Morton. Suzanne and her parents reside at Route #1, she is a member of the Church of Christ.

Then there'll be a week just to be lazy and relax with hobbies, playing records, dragging Main, and doing what one likes to do in vacation. Maybe there'll be trips and places to go.

But when the morning of January 2 rolls around maybe it won't be so bad to report back to school. Can't you just see a smile on every rested teacher's face? Why did we ever think they were cross and irritable anyway? And as the old saying goes in reverse, "All play and no work will make Jack a dull boy," let's get back into the swing of things and like it whether or not.

tomorrow night the Wildcats try to get revenge on the from Floydada. The Wildcats beat the Wildcats in Plainsview tournament. The Wildcats were ahead of Floydada four points at the half. Two boys fouled out and we had to have any replacements from Floydada beat the Cats. The game will start at 6:30 and end at 8:00. The Wildcats now have a 3-4 record and will try to even it out on Friday night.

WHO -- This week's student who is a 5 ft. 7 in, 110 lb senior. She says her pet is boys who don't know to tell the truth. Her favorite pastime is riding around in a green and white Ford Mustang. (Last week's guess was Doniece Reast)

of C Reorganization Complete

complete reorganization of executive branch of the Chamber of Commerce was completed last week with the appointment of four vice-presidents by upcoming president, Arthur Duggan. (See chart below) an effort to get more people to assume individual responsibility for community development, the Priorities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce worked several months perfecting a major change organizational structure.

"Although this Chamber of Commerce has made giant strides in the past two years, a study indicated the Presidents and a handful of members have borne the brunt of the work load, without the maximum team effort that could produce striking improvements. Also, the time of the Manager has been overly taken up with details, which prevents the organization from getting from the Manager all he is capable of producing for the Chamber.

"Your attention is called to the fact that Presidents have been so overworked that as soon as their terms of office have ended they have not been available for further work, and thus much of their valuable experience has been lost to the organization.

"In order to render more productive the time of the president, and manager, and in order to bring about a better team effort, the attached suggested changes in organization and procedure are recommended to you. The end in view is the building of a better, happier and more prosperous community."

Under the new set up, source of all authority and action begins with members who elect a Board of Directors to represent them in directing operations.

The Board forms policy and supervises a working organization. They elect a president, a president - elect, treasurer, and approve the appointment of four vice presidents, by the president.

These seven people, the president, and four vice presidents will make up the new executive committee.

Each vice-president will head one of the four divisions of work which will be made up of several committees. Each division head will have the duty of seeing to it that the chairman of each of his committees causes his committee to perform its assigned task.

This will free the president and manager to spend more time on over all planning, concentrating on more important projects, and representing the Chamber of Commerce as a whole.

The new structure, it is believed, will give dynamic leadership a freer hand, will pinpoint responsibility for action, and will improve communications.

Duval's Conclusion of Russia Trip

Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of six articles written by Charles Duval, Jr., about his extensive tour of Russia this past summer. Duval is a senior student at the University of Texas and hopes to work in the foreign service department of the State Department. He speaks and reads the Russian language fluently.

The most wonderful time I had in Russia came a day before we departed from the Soviet Union. After buying propaganda posters and a balalaika (Russian three-stringed instrument which sounds like a mandolin), my room mate and I went to the Winter Palace again to look at some more paintings. There we met two charming girls, who were attending school in Leningrad. They were especially attractive because they looked clean. Most of the Russian girls don't shave their legs or their under-arms and this gives them to me a non-feminine impression. But these girls did and were nicely dressed. One girl had to go home because she had a cold, but my girl and I walked all around Leningrad (we walked at least fifty miles) talking about Red China, Marx, Lenin, war, America, Khrushchev, her life and mine. It turned out that she was actually an Estonian by birth and her father was the manager of a factory in Estonia.

She listened to me and I listened to her and a four-hour long conversation ensued while walking the streets. The streets in Russia are the most private place you can find, since anything can be said and there is no one to eavesdrop on your conversation. What impressed me in this conversation was that she didn't know about many of the problems in the world. She didn't know about the conflict of ideology between Russia and Red China, nor did she know about Soviet testing of atomic bombs. There were a lot of questions I asked her that she simply couldn't answer because she didn't have the information or the background.

I met this Russian "deвушка" at noon on my last day in Leningrad. Before we knew it was dinner time and although she kept refusing I finally managed to take her to dinner. The first restaurant which we stopped seemed alright to me, but she said that it was a poor restaurant and that it embarrassed her to have me eat in such a restaurant. So we changed restaurants. She wouldn't eat anything but some Russian cookies and ice cream.

Since the restaurant was crowded five more people came and sat down at our table: three Greeks and two Russian women. The two Russians asked me a very popular question after she found out that I was from America: why did Hollywood make Marilyn Monroe kill herself? The story of Marilyn's death has been twisted by the Soviet press to imply that she was a slave of the industry and the robber barons who run it and that she had been cast off by them after they had exploited her to the fullest. To this I replied: why did the Soviet government make Mayakovski, Stalin's favorite poet, kill himself? They got the point. Mayakovski committed suicide in the 1930's after becoming thoroughly disillusioned by the communist movement. After dinner, we danced some in the main ballroom and this seemed to please my date. We then went to sit in a small park not far from the hotel at which we ate and talked some more. Soviet girls neck just like American ones. By the end of the evening about midnight, I had grown quite fond of this girl, so much that I hated to see her go home.

On the way to Nevsky Prospect, one of the main streets in Leningrad, we stopped in the hotel and used their pen to exchange addresses (I bought 200 five-cent pens to give away in Russia, but naturally at a time like this I didn't even have one). I gave her two sets of American-styled earrings, after practically having to sit on her to make her take them. The Russians are proud, proud people and even in such a case as this, where the relationship was closer than ordinary, they want nothing that even resembles charity.

The main objection she had to taking them was that she had nothing to give to me. This old Russian custom of mutually exchanging gifts is so embedded that the little Russian girl couldn't understand that I wanted to give her this present whether she had anything to present to me or not. But, finally, by various means of persuasion, I got her to take them.

In Russia, you don't take a girl all the way home if you're a foreigner. I don't know if the Russian boys do or not, I took my date to Nevsky Prospect where a bus would take her home. The greatest feeling of triumph I had while in Russia of rebellion against the Soviet system with its Puritanical codes was when I kissed this girl goodbye on Nevsky Prospect, one of the main streets of Leningrad, in front of God (Lenin) and everybody, while her bus waited!

She then got on the bus and my last evening in Leningrad ended.

The next day we boarded a train bound for Finland. The mood of our group was 100% different. Everybody was happy, glad to be going. We sang songs all the way to the Finnish border such as "Bound for Freedom" and other appropriate folk songs. We were headed to the land of Coca Cola signs, fat capitalistic cows, free people, a modern society, and an atmosphere of life and we were damned glad of it.

From Finland we would make the trip by air to Amsterdam, where the world famous Heineken's beer is only fifteen cents a bottle, and from there over the water to New York, where, upon setting down at Idlewild International Airport, forty American students would sing "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner" all the way through. We were just as proud to be here!

In conclusion, I think it should be said that any American who is able should visit the Soviet Union. The Soviet government is encouraging tourist traffic and there are many Americans taking advantage of it, for example a Good Will Tour from the U.S. of merchants and city fathers from the state of Tennessee. The Soviet Union is not the place to go if you expect the gay life of the bars or the freedom of Europe.

However, it is also not the land of the prison camps and the danger of being sent to Siberia if you go there. Anyone who believes the latter simply doesn't know what the heck is going on in the world today. The Soviet Union is our principle opponent today and will remain so for a good long while to come. Everyone who is interested in what our policy should be toward Russia, should go and see first hand exactly what the Russian position is.

The "opinion makers" of our society, such as the Rotarians and the Lions, the city councilors and the businessmen, the farmers and the teachers, should sacrifice one vacation's expenses and go see for themselves exactly what the communist movement looks like in Russia. This would add greatly to the knowledge of our enemy on the local level, which at the present time has been so obviously lacking.

For example, anyone who had been to Russia and felt the fear of the Russians of another war would have seen very clearly that the Soviets would not go to war over Cuba. The people who are in policy-making positions on the local level, on the Littlefield level, who still maintain the provincial views of "that's the last place on earth I would want to go" are both shirking their responsibility of leaders in a democratic system as well as burying their heads in the sand like an ostrich and hoping that "somebody else" will sacrifice his time to size up the Russian position.

The Tennessee businessmen that we met have taken a forward step by going as a group to the Soviet Union to see for themselves, the Littlefield Rotary Club by financing my trip to Russia is another good example, and the University of Michigan's organization of a tour for students is still a first one.

Soviet Russia has done some impressive things in their society as well as failed in doing others, but until local leaders take into account both sides of the communist movement and impart it to the rest of the people of their community, the populace of America on the local level will continue to be uninformed, disillusioned, and unprepared to formulate or understand policies which govern our relationship with the giant of the East that they know only as "atheistic communism!"
