News Behind The News THE NATIONAL Whirligig

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

Coming—The Roosevelt administration has not deposited all its reform eggs in one basket.

A mysterious cabinet policy committee has sponsored a secret investigation of several major industries for some months.

The reports may be used in two ways: (1) To charge manufacturers and processors with raising prices and (2) to charge that industry could raise wages and reduce hours without suffering any large loss of profits.

Serious—The faces of the G-men are more crimson than the dress of the "woman in red" as she reveals in detail how John Dillinger met his death.

Not all the fantastic yarn of underworld intrigue and betrayal has been old yet. What happened is that when Anna Sage decided to give up the fiction-guessing.

There is another important phase which most people miss. If Purvis promised to prevent deportation of those who have seen it.

Probe—The report on the whisky industry built up since repeal contains explosive material according to those who have seen it.

Several members of congress got wind of this state of affairs just before adjournment in August.

Practical—If anybody still believes that President Roosevelt is depending solely on his record and speeches to insure re-nomination and re-election.

Victory Puts Tigers 1 Game In Series Lead

Lindstrom's Error In Eleventh Paves Way For Tiger Victory

WRIGLEY FIELD, CHICAGO (Sp.)—Schoolboy Rowe, lanky Detroit Tiger pitcher, did a swell job of relief hurling here today as the Detroiters came from behind in the most thrilling game of the World Series thus far and took the series lead, two games to one, defeating the fighting Bruins, 6-5, in a torrid 11-inning affair.

The tall Arkansan, gaining revenge on the pitcher and the club that beat him in the starter, settled after a shaky ninth inning and gained strength to keep the Cubs within bounds while his mates finally found relief flinger Larry French for a run in the eleventh.

STAR IN THRILLING EXTRAINNING GAME

Stanley Hack, Pete Fox, and Lynwood Rowe. Pete Fox helped the Detroit Tigers into the World Series lead Friday by blasting out a terrific double, a single, drove in the tying run and turned in a great fielding game.

Tanks, Planes Lead Marching Italian Troops

Italian Sources Claim Capture Of Aduwa Is Imminent

ITALIAN PLANE IS SHOT DOWN, REPORT

French Cabinet Accords Premier Laval Vote Of Confidence

(By The Associated Press) Premier Mussolini's war machine has smashed further into Ethiopian areas in two columns from Eritrea and one from Italian Somaliland.

Italian sources declare the capture of Oduwa was imminent, with troops reaching into the hills ten miles away.

Bombing planes soared overhead. Tanks, sprayed bullets and were leading the advance of troops. Italians claimed Ethiopians "suffered very heavy casualties."

Other columns were reported ready to drive towards Harar, key city, capital of Harar Province, with the objective to shut off the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway.

The Italians overcame the Ethiopians and occupied Malbaria and Mount Bana.

It was reported Emperor Selassie will leave for the front soon. An authoritative source said British delegates were ready to walk into the League of Nations headquarters in Geneva Saturday.

(By The Associated Press) The French cabinet accords Premier Laval a vote of confidence, giving him a free hand in the League of Nations' consideration of sanctions against Italy.

The cabinet also approved sending Great Britain a note stating France's attitude in event of British Mediterranean attacks, but no announcement was given as to nature of the note.

Emperor Selassie again asked the League to aid Ethiopia. The League council meets Saturday, probably to determine the aggressor. Emperor Selassie reported Friday's battle in an area within the neutral thirty-kilometer line behind which Ethiopian forces were stationed.

It was reported Ethiopian tribesmen in the Tigre province were stubbornly resisting. Bitter fighting was still under way in Ogaden province.

Residents in Addis Ababa feared an air raid, but Italian minister Vinti-Gilmei remained there. He admitted bombing Aduwa and Adigrat, but claimed it was in retaliation for the Ethiopians' heavy ground fire.

Under terms of the deal the assignee is to complete three wells now drilling and a central power plant and warehouse.

L. C. Harrison, Big Spring, signed for the Bond Oil company in the transaction. It is the largest deal consummated in this section in recent months.

House Drys Hold To Advantage In Liquor Law Fight

Parliamentary Maneuvers Aimed At Getting Committee Majority

AUSTIN (Sp.)—House drys maintained an advantage during parliamentary maneuvers aimed at getting a majority on the conference committee expected to write liquor legislation.

The wet's effort to substitute a bill for one prohibition sale by the drink was defeated. Had a wet substitute been adopted the wet would have been entitled to a conference committee majority.

Dry leaders said they would accept amendments permitting the sale of light wines and beers in restaurants and hotels and compromise on administrative provisions.

The senate state affairs committee recommended a general salary bill proposing increases for officers removed from a fee basis.

Commissioners courts would be empowered to fix salaries between certain minimums and maximums for district and county officers in counties of 20,000 population or more.

The house authors said they would accept senate amendments to the chain store tax bill in order to expedite the measure.

Amendments exempting filling stations and public utilities from paying gross receipts taxes as well as ice plants, milk processors and dealers in oil well supplies.

LYON TO TESTIFY—AUSTIN (Sp.)—The senate committee investigating lobbying at the last session of the legislature invited Robert Lyon, Washington, chain store representative, to testify about activities against chain store tax legislation.

Rev. Garnett Called To Uvalde By Serious Illness Of Father

Gaines County Project Begun

First WPA Work In Big Spring District Gets Under Way

The first WPA project in this district was started Thursday noon at Seagraves.

According to reports received here Friday the project was going 75 per cent of capacity. The road improvement and repair job between Seagraves and Loop, Gaines county will require only a few men.

On hand to inaugurate the first project were R. F. Boston, district representative, E. C. Scarborough, district compensation officer, and E. A. Elliott, division NRS representative.

Meanwhile city of Big Spring was getting ready for launching its No. 1 project, that of surfacing park roads, improving grounds, the golf course, building tennis courts, and installing a new and wider concrete culvert.

Machinery was put to work Friday morning breaking ground for drives around the municipal natorium. Monday first group of WPA workers will be put on the job.

C. T. Tucker, head of the local NRS office, posted a bulletin Friday asking all persons, either on or off relief, who have trucks for hire to list them with him.

A $24,943.47 street improvement and paving project for Big Spring was given district approval Friday. Thursday approval was given a Lamesa paving project in the amount of $5,226, a Dawson county dry weather crossing in the northwestern portion of the county for $2,611, and one in Howard county for $40,857.71 connecting the Gail and Cosboma-Vincent roads.

All 91 projects have been given approval in the amount of approximately one and a half million dollars exclusive of state highway work.

Howard county alone has projects approved to the extent to supply 500 men work for a year and bring an expenditure of about $500,000.

Pep Rally Held At High School

Interest in the football game to be played tonight was running high in the high school assembly program Friday morning.

Principal Geo. H. Gentry gave a brief pep speech saying, "If you have love in your heart for Big Spring high school, yell like you do. When we yell and back the Steers, they always play a game that we are proud of."

The pep squad and its leaders, Judith Pickle, Cleo Lane and Frances Stamper led the student body in several rousing yells while the band played the school song.

Fort Worth Pastor To Fill Presbyterian Pulpit Here Sunday

Rev. D. F. McConnell, D.D., well-known pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church of Fort Worth, will occupy the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church in Big Spring Sunday, both morning and evening.

The public is cordially invited to hear Dr. McConnell, who is considered one of Texas' foremost ministers.

Board of stewards of the First Methodist church will meet this evening in regular monthly session in the parlors of the church. Mrs. G. T. Hall, chairman of the board, urged all members to be present promptly at 8 o'clock for dispatch of business.

SOME CANNOT PROVIDE FOR THAT RAINY DAY
Emergency relief authorities in New Jersey set out a short time ago to learn just exactly what the average family on relief rolls is like.

To do this they made an extensive survey of 10,000 of the 165,000 families who were on relief last winter. Their findings follow:

The average family on relief has native white parents, two children less than 16 years old, and a record of from two to three years of continuous unemployment. The father is between 35 and 50 and has had between five and eight years of schooling.

Before the depression he was an unskilled laborer, regularly employed, making an annual wage of from $1000 to $1200. He is the only member of the family capable of taking a job.

The picture that this survey presents is worth keeping in mind in any discussion of the depression.
It shows clearly enough that the average depression-stricken home was one in which there simply was no human possibility of making adequate preparation for a long spell of unemployment.

A workman who has never been beyond the eighth grade in school, who is strictly an unskilled laborer, and who has to support three other people besides himself on an income that never rises above $100 a month cannot, with the best will in the world, prepare himself to resist a depression.

The thing simply is not possible.
He is at the mercy of the trade cycle as completely as a camper on the Florida keys is at the mercy of the hurricane.

Such men are a small minority of our total population. But they are the great majority of the population on relief in this survey.

As long as they exist in such a defenseless state, any dip-in the trade cycle will put the burden of their support on the shoulders of the public.

It is for this class that such features of the social security program as unemployment and old age insurance are most vitally needed.
We can talk our heads off about individual initiative, American habits of self-reliance, and so on, but it is perfectly obvious that a man in that group can't have more than a trace of initiative and self-reliance.

STEERS MAKE ANOTHER HOME STAND TONIGHT 8 P.M.

Devils Nudge Lamesa Second Team Thursday, 12 To 6

BOWIE HAS SMALL BUT FAST TEAM

Longhorns Still Not In Top Shape; New Lineup For Bears

With a record that far from being impressive, Big Spring high school's '35 grid edition makes another home stand 8 p. m. tonight—this time against an all-Mexican team from the border, the Bowie Bears of El Paso.

Bowie, according to El Paso figures, is a light club without any startling amount of experienced material, but with a backfield brigade noted for deceptive and speedy galloping.

Other than the bare facts concerning the weights of the players, experience and speed, Steer coaches know nothing of the Bear squad, and the local gridder has received no special tutoring this week on methods to keep the Bruins at bay.

The Big Springers will be distinct favorites for the whistle sounds tonight for the kick-off, despite the fact that local mentors will be testing a new line-up. Also, one or two of the regulars have minor injuries that may keep them out of the game.

At least Bristow does not intend to play Baker and Cordill all of the game, and both of the boys are, to a certain extent, main plugs in the Herd eleven. Cordill is the guiding light in the backfield while Baker steadies the forwards at center. Baker almost lost his position early in the season when he tried to coast through after-noon drills, but competition got hot and he has been doing a fine collar man, the small business man—their situation is different. They can lay aside something for the rainy day. When trouble comes they can be expected to carry themselves for a time. And, according to this survey, they have done so.

It is the fellow at the bottom of the heap who is the depression's first and last victim. He is the one who makes a broad, permanent social security program a vital necessity.

VETERANS FOR PEACE
It is an encouraging thing to see the men who did the fighting in the last war providing a forum for anti-war speakers. The annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at New Orleans, was addressed by a number of speakers who demanded that America stay out of the next war. Chief among them was that old irrepressible, Smedley Butler.

"Every war," said General Butler, "from the time of the landing of the Pilgrims, has been fought because somebody wanted to make something out of it—and somebody always did."

No one should have more interest in a statement of that kind than men who have actually gone to war. The Veterans of Foreign Wars do all of us a service by reminding us that it is possible to have a sturdy patriotism and at the same time remain fully aware of the evils of war and of the great importance of keeping America at peace.

24 BOWIE BEARS HERE FOR GAME

Twenty-four Bowie Bear players from El Paso, accompanied by Coach Guy Davidson, assistant Coach Jewel Wallace and Prin. W. W. Wimberly, arrived here early this morning and will meet the Steers here tonight 8 p. m. Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Davidson also made the trip here.

In addition to the 22 available players, Simon Calamia, midget quarterback, who suffered a broken leg early in the season, made the trip.

With a brushing up on passing, additional conditioning work, and a little hot drill and polishing of the straight power to tally the markers, J. W. Coots, who was a safety man in the Pecos and Abilene games, is still out of the Longhorn line-up. He took down with lumbrago just before the El Paso trip. Bristow's tentative starting line-up: Whisenant, re. Hildreth re. Trainer It. Coburn or Harris rt. Madison lg. Wilson rg. Edmonson c. Jones hb. Grey r. Coots, hb. Flowers q.

With Jones in the backfield, having been shifted from an end, coaches will keep a sharp eye on him in this game. They say he has about everything needed, maybe lacking a little in speed. No brilliant play is expected of Jones tonight, however, because of the fact that this will be his first game as a back. The change was made this week after the Austin tilt.

Louie Madison, small but sturdy, has come back strong this season and despite his size, is holding a regular guard position on the Steer team. Madison is somewhat of a scrapper, and is due to go against the Bowie Bears of El Paso here tonight on the Bowie lot.

Oklahoma Presents Tricky Layout For P.G.A.'s '35 Championship Tiff

SLATED FOR ACTION TONITE
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—It takes straight shooting and it takes crooked shooting to go places with par at Twin Hills, the rolling site of the Professional Golf Association championship, Oct. 17-22.

After issuing the challenge, "We're not looking for much sub-par shooting," Dorset Carter, Sr., "daddy" of Twin Hills, has been setting the course in order for what he calls "the world's greatest golf tournament."

"I've always believed the P. G. A. was the world's greatest," he says, telling of his successful negotiation with the association officials at Louisville for an invitation tournament last October. "I went after it and got it. I guess that's about all there is to it."

Walt Emery's Training Ground
The guarantee was for $10,000 to be divided as prize money among the contestants.

At Twin Hills, the defending champion, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Olin Dutra, and others of the "world's greatest" golfing generation will see traps, crooks and black-jack woods that gave Oklahoma's Walter Emery the daily roughage that enabled him to toe the mark with the best of them in the national amateur at Cleveland, where he out-stroked all but the unbeatable Lawson Little, Jr.

Twin Hills is Emery's "home" course. Also it is the spot where Oklahoma City's Zell Eaton won the Western amateur last year.

The senior Carter (his son, Dorset, is the Twin Hills professional) has been giving the layout new finery for the tournament that gives Oklahoma another sparkle for its recent rapid rise to a place in the golfing sun.

Course Is Conditioned
Ten thousand tons of fertilizer have been strewn on the fairways, and the clubhouse, of new sandstone, has a new $5,000 addition.

Carter says the course has had a meticulous rimming the month preceding the tournament. A month previously, he said, "The course is now and will be in fine condition," and invited contestants to "come down anytime before the tournament."

Carter acquired Twin Hills in 1927, for his son Keefe, who won the Western amateur in 1925. Keefe was virtually retired from active competition, so the father holds the course as the major domo.

The course was laid out and built by Perry Maxwell, Ardmore, Okla., golf architect, who sold it to Carter. Carter erected the clubhouse.

Dutra tackled Twin Hills' traps and blackjacks this summer, snags a record low of 68 from the championship tees, and paid a tribute to the beauty of the layout. "The premium will be paid on tee shots," he said. "You can't permit your drives to go astray and hope to score. The greens also require great amount of study on each putt." Dutra called the par-3 holes "as beautiful as any I have seen in America."

THE TEMPLE Texas Aggie game in Tyler Saturday will be the first time a football game has been dedicated to Texas' governor.

THE TEMPLE Owls, contrary to general conceptions, of "Pop" Warner's formations, have grown wings. They passed their way, in a large measure, to their 25-13 victory over Centre the past Friday night. Three of their four touchdowns came from forward or lateral passes.

Jersey No. 13 has appeared in the T. C. U. line-up after a lapse of several years. The number is being worn by Charley Needham, sophomore end. "I'm not afraid to wear No. 13," Charley says, "but I wish it was something else!"

The 1935 football schedule of T. C. U. is exactly the same as the 1934, with the exception of the opening game. The same teams are played, and in the same order. The 1935 season opened with Howard Payne while the 1934 curtain raiser was Daniel Baker.

Two "little" brothers of varsity players are due to strengthen Frog squads of the next three years. Clifford Kellow, brother of Tracy Kellow, senior two-letter guard, is a guard on the freshman team. Clifford outweighs his big brother by some 25 or 30 pounds. He played high school football at Lufkin. From Gregory comes Forest Kline, brother of "Dutch," two-letter varsity half. Little Kline weighs 220 pounds and is playing tackle for the Frog.

Bob Jordan, who lettered at half last year, reported for practice this week. He had at first intended to lay out of school for a year, but couldn't resist the call of the gridiron. Incidentally, the varsity may have two Bob Jordans next year, for there is one playing end for settle and ready for action. The starting lineup more than likely will be the same as that which started the other two games, with Tipton and Stewart at ends, Spain Henderson at tackle, Wetzel and Stamps at guards, Johnson at center, Sprague at quarterback, Shuford at fullback, Wilson at left halfback, and Burt at right halfback. Finley and Jackrabbit Smith are due to see a good deal of action in the backfield; Raborn at center and Baker and Scottino at guards will more than likely be used often in the game. J. C. (Ironman) Wetzel, one of the Mustang tri-captains, will be the head captain for the day.

The Mustang coaches have been fairly well satisfied with their team so far. But this Tulsa fall is their first real test and will prove to the coaches and experts whether or not the Mustangs will be a real threat in the Southwest conference race. So much interest is being shown in the game, and many people will watch the outcome with interest.

Adopting a policy this year of giving the younger boys a good deal of football coaching, Gene Gardner has a large number of junior high school boys out for practice each day and will send his Bronco players into their first game Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the stadium against a pick-up team of young players.

Gardner has out two full teams with five or six sub.

NO WRESTLING BOUTS BOOKED
No wrestling matches will be staged here next week, promoters of the Big Spring Athletics club said today.

The promoters are searching for an indoor location and will resume grappling here just as soon as a place can be located.

BRONCOS PLAY GAME SATURDAY
Adopting a policy this year of giving the younger boys a good deal of football coaching, Gene Gardner has a large number of junior high school boys out for practice each day and will send his Bronco players into their first game Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the stadium against a pick-up team of young players.

Gardner has out two full teams with five or six sub.

MGEE AND W. BIGONY GO OVER

Daniels Boys Outplay Foes In Second Game Of Season

LAMESA (SpI)—The Big Spring Devils, who will eventually wear the colors of the Big Spring Longhorns, decided the Lamesa Tornados here Thursday afternoon, 12-6, when Johnny McGee went over on a short plunge in the first quarter and Weldon Bigony crossed the pay stripe in the third period.

Showing a marked superiority throughout the game, the Daniels' boys time and again showed their way past the Lamesa 20-yard stripe, only to be repulsed.

Both of the Big Spring scores were made on short dashes through the line, McGee traveling about six yards for his r-arker, while Bigony went over from the five-yard line.

The Devils lined up, with Settles and Anderson at ends, Creek and Humble at tackles, Greenwood and C. Smith at guards, Brigham at center, Womack at quarter, Bigony and McGee at halves and Bigson at full.

Rival For Jack's Beanstalk
SPOKANE, Wash. (UP)—Jack of beanstalk fame had little on Nick Caferro of Spokane. Caferro purchased seeds of a vegetable called Taimanian bean and planted them. The vines climbed beyond the trellis arranged for them, then over a 25-foot apple tree. One pod was more than four feet long.

Soviet Gold Refined In U. S.
TACOMA, Wash. (UP)—Shipments of gold are from Soviet Russia to the United States, for refining in the Tacoma smelter, have exceeded $6,000,000 in the past year. Six more vessels due this year with cargoes of gold ore will raise the total to about $10,000,000.

this year's freshman team. These two Epps are not related.

Coach Francis Schmidt never, never wrote that article in the current Saturday Evening Post, exclaimed one "Frog fan" who had known him well in the T. C. U. days. "Not once in the article does he refer to a player as 'you guy!'"

Three men who won all-state honors in high school last year are playing this season with the T. C. U. Pollwogs. The three are: Al White, three times all-state tackle from Masonic Home; David O'Brien, all state quarter from Woodrow Wilson of Dallas, and El Al-drich, all-state center from Temple.

THE TEMPLE Owls, contrary to general conceptions, of "Pop" Warner's formations, have grown wings. They passed their way, in a large measure, to their 25-13 victory over Centre the past Friday night. Three of their four touchdowns came from forward or lateral passes.

Jersey No. 13 has appeared in the T. C. U. line-up after a lapse of several years. The number is being worn by Charley Needham, sophomore end. "I'm not afraid to wear No. 13," Charley says, "but I wish it was something else!"

The 1935 football schedule of T. C. U. is exactly the same as the 1934, with the exception of the opening game. The same teams are played, and in the same order. The 1935 season opened with Howard Payne while the 1934 curtain raiser was Daniel Baker.

Two "little" brothers of varsity players are due to strengthen Frog squads of the next three years. Clifford Kellow, brother of Tracy Kellow, senior two-letter guard, is a guard on the freshman team. Clifford outweighs his big brother by some 25 or 30 pounds. He played high school football at Lufkin. From Gregory comes Forest Kline, brother of "Dutch," two-letter varsity half. Little Kline weighs 220 pounds and is playing tackle for the Frog.

Bob Jordan, who lettered at half last year, reported for practice this week. He had at first intended to lay out of school for a year, but couldn't resist the call of the gridiron. Incidentally, the varsity may have two Bob Jordans next year, for there is one playing end for settle and ready for action. The starting lineup more than likely will be the same as that which started the other two games, with Tipton and Stewart at ends, Spain Henderson at tackle, Wetzel and Stamps at guards, Johnson at center, Sprague at quarterback, Shuford at fullback, Wilson at left halfback, and Burt at right halfback. Finley and Jackrabbit Smith are due to see a good deal of action in the backfield; Raborn at center and Baker and Scottino at guards will more than likely be used often in the game. J. C. (Ironman) Wetzel, one of the Mustang tri-captains, will be the head captain for the day.

The Mustang coaches have been fairly well satisfied with their team so far. But this Tulsa fall is their first real test and will prove to the coaches and experts whether or not the Mustangs will be a real threat in the Southwest conference race. So much interest is being shown in the game, and many people will watch the outcome with interest.

District Teams In Action Today

All members of the district 2 grid circuit, Big Spring, San Angelo and Sweetwater, resume their title wars today. Sweetwater's Ponies scheduled for a bout this afternoon while Big Spring's Steers and the Comcho Bobcats are due to play tonight under the lights on their home grid.

The Bobcats, undefeated thus far, and rated by the strongest grid dopsters as the strongest contingent in West Texas, will meet their toughest foe tonight in the form of the Brokenridge Bucas. The Breck club is favored to have it out with Abilene this year for the Oil Belt title.

Heavier than the San Angelo team, and believed to be faster, the Bucas are favored to topple the Cats tonight, but Taylor's crew has a very good record. The Bobcats wallowed in West Texas, were taken out because of an injury. Roy is reported ready to go again. Coach Hennig is banking on an aerial attack to give his team victory.

Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg said his inquest verdict would be "suicide because of business worries."

Burrus, who served four years as a commissioner, was found, shot through the head, in a washroom of the city hall shortly before 4 o'clock. He and Mrs. Burrus had been serving as clerks in the city gas bond election.

Burrus, who had been owner of an insurance company here, left the election room, going to the washroom. A few minutes later a shot was heard.

H. C. Burrus and Mrs. J. E. Kuykendall, brother and sister of deceased, accompanied by J. E. Kuykendall, left Big Spring late Thursday for Lubbock, after being notified of his death. Funeral services were to be held in Lubbock this afternoon, with burial in Lubbock.

Braggart Brady Gets The Laughs

In the opinion of Robert N. Bradbury, who directed the latest Hackel western, "The Rider of the Law," starring Bob Steele, now the leading attraction at the Queen theater, a melodrama devoid of humor is as tasteless an entertainment for movie patrons, as an egg without salt. That he carries his theory into practical use will be admitted by anyone who has responded to the alternate thrills and laughs conveyed by the new picture. For its comedy relief the film depends on the antics of Bufalo Brady, an elderly sheriff of the mining town where most of the action takes place, and Brady is a host of humor in himself.

He can shoot to perfection at any target, providing it isn't a human one also wielding a gun, and in fact, it is his marksmanship proficiency, as shown in his favorite action hangout, when he shatters a glass in midair with a bullet that wins him the sheriff appointment. He is a loose hound and decidedly a coward, but his bluffing is so magnificent that he wins an audience from the start, and keeps them in gales of laughter with his absurd boasting and readiness to duck out of danger.

Claude Burrus To Be Buried Friday

LUBBOCK (AP)—Claude A. Burrus, a former Lubbock county commissioner, died at 5:55 p. m. Thursday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg said his inquest verdict would be "suicide because of business worries."

Burrus, who served four years as a commissioner, was found, shot through the head, in a washroom of the city hall shortly before 4 o'clock. He and Mrs. Burrus had been serving as clerks in the city gas bond election.

Mustangs Off On Tough Schedule

DALLAS (SpI)—The Mustangs of Southern Methodist university have put in three of the hardest days of training for the first real test they have had for the 1935 season. Their game this week lay with the University of Tulsa at Tulsa Saturday afternoon. This will start off the Mustangs' real schedule of the year, and there isn't a let-down until after the Texas A. & M. game at College Station on Dec. 7.

Coach Matty Bell scouted the Tulsa Golden Hurricane in their game last Friday night against the Central Teachers and came back singing their praises, even though they were surprisingly beaten. He reports them as big and fast and the possessors of everything that it takes to make a real football team.

So the Mustangs have really had a hard week of preparation, because Coach Bell is generally worried about his team's chances. Between Gloomy Gus Henderson of Tulsa, and worried Matty Bell, it would seem that neither team has a chance to win; but when the gong sounds for the two teams to clash, the fur is every likely to fly bitter and yon.

Approximately thirty-three Mustangs, together with their coaches and managers, will entrain here Friday night at 11 o'clock and will arrive at Tulsa early Saturday morning. Coach Bell isn't taking any chances of not having plenty of men on hand for this battle.

Several injuries have cropped up in the Mustang camp during the last ten days. All of the trouble so far has been in the backfield. At the present time Meyers, Gore and Goodson are on the inactive list. Neither Gore nor Meyers is likely to see service in the Tulsa fray, but Goodson might possibly be ready to see action. The remainder of the Mustang squad is in fine settle and ready for action. The starting lineup more than likely will be the same as that which started the other two games, with Tipton and Stewart at ends, Spain Henderson at tackle, Wetzel and Stamps at guards, Johnson at center, Sprague at quarterback, Shuford at fullback, Wilson at left halfback, and Burt at right halfback. LONGHORNS OFF TO TRY TIGERS

AUSTIN (Sp)—Thirty-seven University of Texas Longhorns, their coaches, trainer and managers boarded a train here Thursday night at 10 o'clock for Baton Rouge, La., where they will meet the powerful L. S. U. Tigers Saturday night in the first real test of the season.

The following men are in the party that will arrive at Baton Rouge Friday noon:

Centers: Harold Griffin, Bill Hughes, Roy Baines and Bill Dunne.

Guards: Capt. Joe Smart, Moreland Chapman, Woodrow Welz, John King, John Henderson and Milton Curtis.

Tackles: Clint Small, James Tolbert, Hagan McMahon, Robert Keeling, Nick Frankovic, Howard Terry and Tarleton Jones.

Ends: Jack Collins, Harris Van Zandt, Walton Launey, Homer Tippen, Nick Wheeler and Bill Huff.

Quarterbacks: Charles Johnston,

Ney Sheridan, John Morrow and Frank O'Rourke.

Halfbacks: Buster Jurscha, James Hadlock, Morris Sands, Ed Street, Irvin Glibreath, Jay Arnold and Mike Collie.

Fullbacks: Bill Pitzer, Judson Atchison and Henry Klittemayer.

Coach Chevigny said that every man on the squad was in good condition for the only night game on the Longhorn schedule. Two practice sessions this week under the lights at Austin high school field was calculated to be sufficient to accustom the men to the area at Baton Rouge.

No workouts are scheduled en route, since the major portion of the trip will be made at night, but a light session is slated for Friday night.

Coahoma Plays Dunn Hi Today

COAHOMA (Sp)—Coahoma high school, resuming football wars after a lay-off of several years, will play their second game of the season here Friday afternoon, entertaining Dunn Hi.

The Coahomans measured Dunn last week, 14 to 0, Coker and Echols pushing over the counters. Four other games are scheduled, two with the Snyder second stringers, one with Lorraine and another with the Colorado Jackrabbits. Coahoma may play the Big Spring Devils some time next week.

Coahoma regulars are: Echols, Brown, Patton, Marshall, Collins, Myers, Glass, Coker, Patterson, Arthur and Adams.

Menus Of The Day

AFFORD CHICKEN?
Yes, you can provide you purchase a "stewer" (4 to 6 pounds) and cook it properly. The trick in cooking the chicken is to simmer it (cook very slowly) until chicken falls from bones. Remove chicken from stock and chill later. Fat will collect on top stock and this can be substituted for butter in cooking. The flavorful stock can be used in soups, stews or sauces. The cooked chicken can be used, browned, creamed, in stews or pies. Dinner Serving Four or Five Chicken Pie, Family Fashion Spiced Beets

Has Helped Many
Thousands of women have avoided useless suffering because they know about, and used Cardui—recommended by mothers to daughters for the relief of functional monthly pains for more than fifty years.
"I am glad to recommend a medicine that has been used by my mother with good results and then taken by me by her advice," writes Mrs. Annie Mae Powell, of Robertsdale, Ala. "I am glad to say it has helped me as she thought it would. I suffered with pain and cramping and irregular trouble. This would unfit me for work at times. I took Cardui and it surely did help me." Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—adv.

H. D. C. News

Mrs. G. T. Palmer, farm food supply demonstrator for the Soash Home Demonstration Club, is planning on improving her shelving space in her cellar. She intends to arrange it so it will hold all of her canned goods. Her canning budget is almost filled and she is now ready to arrange all containers in systematic order.

For a family of five the canning budget should have 120 pints of leafy or green colored vegetables. Other items are: 100 pints of starch, 100 pints of other vegetables such as carrots, okra, soup mixture, pumpkin and freshly shelled peas and beans; 150 quarts of fruit and fruit juices; 125 quarts of tomato and tomato juice which are classed as fruits. There should be 100 No. 2 cans of canned meat.

The Vincent Home Demonstration club found it necessary to substitute a new farm-food supply demonstrator. Mrs. Guy Guffey, the new demonstrator, has her pantry budget more than filled in all but one item. This will be completed at an early date. To an already large supply she is planning a well-filled shelf of canned beef, pork and chicken. She has quite a bit of canned fruit and lard left over from last year.

Mrs. J. G. Hammock of Fairview is also a new demonstrator in farm food supply. She has her pantry budget completed with the exception of the meat canning. This comes later in the fall when the weather is cooler.

The work of the 4-H pantry demonstration is showing definite results.

Although Mrs. C. C. Spencer of Luther is not a demonstrator, she is a co-operator who does things on a large scale. She has 1,200 cans of vegetables, fruits and meats. She has jellies, preserves and relishes in corresponding numbers. From six vines of cucumbers she canned 88 quarts of cucumbers of excellent quality. From two 4-cent bunches of Bermuda onion plants she grew over 100 pounds of sweet Bermuda onions. Many of them measured over four inches in diameter.

Recruits Are Sought For 77th Field Artillery

How would you like to be able to hurl a hundred pounds of steel a distance of approximately seven miles? "Impossible" or "some feat" you'll say—but 460 young men of the southwest, principally from the states of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona, will soon be afforded the rare opportunity to be instrumental in performing such a feat regularly and be well paid for doing so.

The reconstitution of the 77th Field Artillery, equipped with 155-millimeter howitzers, at Fort D. A. Russell, Marfa, Tex., about Nov. 1, 1935, will provide the opportunity. Commencing on Oct. 20, 1935, the first 460 qualified young men applying for enlistment at stations authorized to enlist for this newly reconstituted organization will be sent by rail at government expense to Fort D. A. Russell where they will commence training under a schedule especially adopted for the 77th Field Artillery. Applicants to be accepted, must be fully qualified as to physical condition, age, requirements, marital status and educational qualifications, and must come well recommended by well-known citizens of their community. Full details as to requirements for enlistment may be obtained in person or by mail from any Army Recruiting Station without obligation on the part of the applicant.

Enlistments are authorized only for a short period—subsequent to Oct. 20 after which time vacancies will cease to exist and the opportunity to become a member of the southwest's own heavy artillery will be limited to the few men needed to fill vacancies that will occur in the regiment from time to time. Applicants should, therefore, act promptly.

The 77th Field Artillery, a World War unit of the 4th Field Artillery Brigade, 4th Division, was originally organized at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, June 13, 1917, as the 19th Cavalry which was redesignated 77th Field Artillery on Nov. 1, 1917. It served overseas with the 4th Division from May 19, 1918 to July 29, 1919 and participated in action at Aisne-Marne, Meuse-Argonne, Vesle (Champsagne) and Rupt (Lorraine). The 77th Field Artillery was made inactive on Sept. 21, 1921 in which status it has remained until its current reconstitution.

The guns used by this organization, known as "heavy field artillery," together with their carriages each weigh about 8,000 pounds and fire a projectile slightly less than six inches in diameter and weighing about 100 pounds. The range is approximately 13,000 yards. Present plans call for eight of these "heavyweights" for the 77th Field Artillery. As might be expected, these

Catholic Mission To Close Sunday; Sexton To Preach

A very appreciative audience listened to Rev. George F. Sexton last evening, at the Catholic church, in his lecture on "Christ and His Home." Taking as his text, "Unless the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it," Psalm 126-1, he pointed to the need of recognizing and accepting the doctrine of Christ concerning the sacredness of marriage and its obligations. "No nation," he said, "is better than its homes. The shadow of a national decline is upon us when we trifle with the stability of the home and the home virtues of loyalty, love and self sacrifice." He then proceeded to treat of the evils attacking the home and the remedies for these evils. Faith alone is the remedy for the divorce evil. Religion can lift the marriage bond from a simple mutual contract to the sacredness of a divinely ratified bond. Religion alone can cure the evil of quarrelling and dissension in the home, for it alone can supply the power, the help and the appeal to overcome petty selfishness and learn how to be self-sacrificing. The church holds before us this truth that sacrifice is the proof of love, it is the indispensable condition of love; there can be no genuine love without self-sacrifice. An incentive and inspiration to rise superior to the petty weaknesses of selfishness, the church holds before her children the example of Jesus Christ in his sacrificial love for men. . . . The home that God has blessed with children becomes for the children their first school. Here they learn their first lessons of virtue, love and loyalty. There is no substitute for this school in the child's life. Whatever other schools they may go to, no matter how many church services they may attend they are missing the finest influence in their life if they have not the advantage of a truly christian home.

Services take place every night at 7:30. The mission will be brought to a close Sunday, Oct. 6 with a special service at 3:30 p. m.

The Big Bend section stands out prominently as a vacation land, and for the sportsman it offers more allurements than perhaps any other section of the southwest. In this section are the last of the famous black-tail deer, Mexican quail are present in abundance. The nearby Davis mountains are still the home of the bear, cat and mountain lion and other big game.

This section is also noted for its rugged scenery, the Santa Helena Canyon of the Rio Grande being one of its most awe-inspiring spectacles. But leisure moments need not be devoted entirely to admiration of the Big Bend's scenic beauty. Tennis, golf, swimming, horseback riding and many other forms of amusement and sport can be had in Marfa. The angler can be accommodated at the Lake Club as can the canoeing enthusiast.

And in this country—west of the Pecos—is still found the warm handclasp and the inimitable atmosphere of the "old" West.

male conditions is just enough to add zest to living.

Marfa has a population of 4,000, is well served by railroad being situated on the main-line of the Southern Pacific 200 miles east of El Paso and 400 miles west of San Antonio, and by highway—United States 90 and 67 and State 3 and 17.

Advancement for the ambitious should be especially rapid in this newly organized unit as all vacancies in the non-commissioned officer grades will not be filled by transfer of men from other units.

Fort D. A. Russell, at which post the 77th Field Artillery is to be regularly stationed, is located at Marfa, Tex., the county seat of Presidio county which lies in the heart of the Big Bend country on a high table-land or plateau having an average elevation of 4,980 feet. This elevation and the geographical location creates a happy combination for delightfully cool summers, when one sleeps under one or more blankets, and temperate winters with minimum extreme of 12 degrees above zero. The variation in climate

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter 27
NEW CRISIS

Emily was struggling with the servant problem. She had the uncomely negro girl who sat before her on the edge of a kitchen chair.

"You say Aunt Mandy sent you?"

"Yes, she said you had some good ideas to do for me to get a talk to you."

Emily had infinite confidence in Aunt Mandy. "Can she recommend you?"

There was a slight hesitation.

"Yes."

Aunt Mandy's recommendation carried some reservation. Emily felt sure, "All but what?" she proceeded with a smile.

"She says for me to tell you I wuz a good cook, an' I wuz faithful, but I wuzn't very clean. It ain't my fault, Miss Emily," the protest burst from a full heart. "I jus' ain't got no clo'es much. It takes all I kin make to pay for my victrolas an' feed me an' Rosebud. She's my baby," she explained.

"But, doesn't your husband help take care of you and Rosebud?"

There was another hesitation, longer this time. "Aunt Mandy say to tell you I ain't ma'ied," Narcissus confessed. "Me an' him wuz aint to get ma'ied, but his wife came back from Chattanooga an' commenced raisin' Cain an' he had to go live with hah to keep hah quiet. An' hah's Miss Emily, she heahs the only outside baby I ever had in my life."

Emily bent her head suddenly. When she looked up her face was grave. "I can overlook that. And I have uniforms I'd want you to wear, anyhow, but you must keep them very clean. We'll try it for a week and see how we get along."

Then Narcissus had departed.

Emily thought how much she would have enjoyed, in spite of her resolution, telling Charlotte about this servant. She told Edwin instead, that evening after dinner.

Edwin looked startled. "And you've hired her?"

That was what he had gotten out of the story. She realized regretfully that he didn't consider it either funny or tragic. It can make an excellent servant of her."

He put down his newspaper. It was quite an occasion when Edwin put down his newspaper; reading it was becoming his evening ritual.

"I'd rather you wouldn't have a servant of that sort, dear."

She smiled at him. "Already she was learning shamelessly how to handle" Edwin, and smiling that way was one of the most successful methods. He hadn't yet gotten used to it.

"But they're nearly all 'that sort,"

And I'd much rather help her to make a living than have her acquire a second Rosebud in the process of keeping up the first one."

He looked at her very hard. He said gravely:

"You say astonishing things, sometimes."

She waited until bedtime, and then returned to the topic. "Edwin, why do you shy away from the subject of babies?"

He was meticulously hanging up his business suit. "I don't, except when you joke about it. It's just that the whole subject is rather sacred to me."

What an amazing lot of sanctity there was in the world, then, she thought, and wisely refrained from saying so.

Edwin hung up the suit and came back to sit beside her on the bed. He was glad Emily had brought up the subject, since it gave him the opportunity for which he had been waiting. He had been restrained by this same reticence from forcing the topic upon Emily, but now he felt that he could speak frankly.

"To tell you the truth, sweetheart," he had taken one of her hands and was looking at it thoughtfully, as if he'd never seen before. "I'd like a child more than anything in the world, wouldn't you? I think it would be a good thing for us both."

For herself, she knew he meant; to curb the spirit of levity and bind her irrevocably to her home and him. And for himself, to supply the confidence in his own masculinity that he had always lacked; to make him also a member of the League. She said slowly:

"Let me think about it awhile."

She shelved the problem the next morning for the more immediate one of entertaining her bridge club; of seeing that the creamed sauce creamed properly, and that the rolls rose to feather lightness.

Being hostess left Emily free to wander about during the game, which was really preferable to playing. She enjoyed bridge, but not with the passion that led some of her friends to place it next to their children and before their husbands in importance. Bridge, she felt, should be a game and not a religion.

Bits of disembodied conversation floated about.

"He's getting his stomach teeth now, and it's making him dreadfully fretful. Dr. Galton had changed his diet three times and nothing seems to agree with him. But it's one of those things you have to endure, I suppose."

The voice was complacent, and Emily wondered idly if she herself would ever unconsciously adopt it. She must remind Charlotte not to let her!

Dorothy Shane broke in casually. "I wish to goodness they'd standardize contract rules before I put any more heavy study on them. Bill says they're just like health and accident policies; about the time you think you know what they mean you find a clause that nullifies everything that's gone before."

Someone else laughed. "Joe says he plays by ear and gets along just as well. He does win a lot of money, but the strain on his partner is terrific."

Another snatch, that carried in

FILM ROMANCERS GET LICENSE

That, Emily realized, was what she had been doing throughout her married life; sitting off and listening. Was Charlotte right, after all? And then she realized that she couldn't change now, whether Charlotte was right or wrong.

Edwin waited for the guests to depart before he came home, and then to make doubly sure came in by the back way. He had the timid man's horror of women en masse.

He glanced at the card tables and his mouth grew suddenly stubborn. Emily sighed.

"Did they smoke here?" he demanded abruptly.

It was obvious that they had. "Certainly. Why not?"

"You know how I feel about smoking."

"Yes, I know. But if they smoke anyhow, I don't see why they shouldn't smoke here."

His mouth was still stubborn. "Well, I wouldn't think of having a lot of men here, for instance, and doing something you disapproved of."

Emily looked demure.

"I'm sure you wouldn't."

He realized angrily that she was laughing at him. "I suppose I'm old-fashioned and all that, but I can't help it." His tone was an even blend of apology and complacency.

"And wouldn't want to help it if you could, would you?"

Suddenly she was ashamed of her laughter.

"Dearest, I'm incorrigible. Please forgive me." She kissed him, and his arms closed hungrily about her.

"BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936" GIVEN 4 STARS BY LIBERTY; PLAYS HERE SUNDAY, MONDAY

"Broadway Melody of 1936," four-star extraordinary musical picture, scheduled for the Ritz Theatre in Big Spring Saturday midnight and Sunday and Monday, is given the following criticism by Liberty Magazine:

"Long noted as the studio that could make almost any sort of picture, but musicals, M-G-M, with a somewhat prematurely titled film, Broadway Melody of 1936, breaks its jinx in a captivating array of dancing, singing, beauty and wit. Rather than rely on the established stars from its long list of world-famous performers, M-G-M has entrusted its lavish extravaganza to new faces. New cinema faces are generally new for the simple reason that they have lacked the chance or the ability to be famous. There is no reason why the public should be more than once by excitedly, should get unduly excited just because it doesn't know the performers.

"The players in Broadway Melody of 1936, however, need only the chance to be seen. Headed by Eleanor Powell, whose really amazing dancing should make her the rhythmic sensation of the year, the entire group is grand. Jack Benny, the radio jester, and Sid Silvers, as his lame-witted stooge, wrap up the acting honors; while Robert Taylor, June Knight, Buddy Ebsen, Nick Long, Jr., Una Merkel, and Robert Wildhack—who is, of all things, an expert on scores—give this delightful film all the comedy, beauty, and music it can use.

"Featuring the loveliest ballet ever photographed and Frances Langford's superb rendition of You Are My Lucky Star, the picture has given a plot that would hold the interest even if it had none of its handsome embellishments. The story concerns the feud of a young play producer (Robert Taylor) and a Broadway columnist. Planning to make a chump of the producer, the columnist publicizes an imaginary French actress, and the producer falls for the ruse by announcing that she will appear in his new show. How the boys work themselves out of this spot is told in an amusing, swiftly paced manner that makes this spirited spectacle as entertaining as it is impressive.

"Not only a stunning treat to the ear and eye, Broadway Melody of 1936 is, above all, a smartly contrived merger of talent, music and humor. You don't have to be a tired tire group is grand. Jack Benny, with the sound of their own voices. The "bits" were played, and the ducks began playing up. They answered, and a bit more sound was recorded.

Ducks Answer Own Calls With this as a beginning, Schroer and Stocker soon had the ducks answering their own calls with real "duck-talk" that was truly music to their ears, and the rest was chiefly a matter of selection for the final manufacture of the master record. On the finished product one side is devoted to the calls of a balanced stool of hens and drakes. It requires three minutes to play. The other containing four separate types of call, to be played separately. One is the call of a single hen. The second mimics a pair of drakes. The third part consists of the feeding talk of group of ducks and the fourth may be called a "distance lure," the excited gabble of 50 hens, all chattering and babbling at once.

"But it was a job," said Stocker. "Once we thought we had it down perfectly and found the rumble of a train and its whistle was in the middle of the record. "Again, we were going great guns and a woman came along and asked us if we wanted to buy some fish. That all went into it and of course had to come out."

Any portable machine plays the record, and the volume out-of-doors is ample. Schroer operates a machine tool shop at Kansas City. Stocker is dietitian at a Kansas City hospital.

ly democratic states will withhold their delegations from the president. The number would be few—perhaps not more than 10—but even such a rebellion on the convention floor would hurt. It would furnish the GOP with a talking point, especially if the states holding out rank high among Jeffersonian commonwealths.

So Mr. Roosevelt sent for the senator of a certain state—he has done the same with others—and asked quite frankly if the delegation would be instructed for his renomination. The senator, who is also state boss, replied that it would be if the White House made no move to defeat his elder colleague, a renowned and outspoken foe of the New Deal. The president agreed and they shook hands on it. Several incidents like this explain why the move for an insurgent democratic party will get nowhere. It's being fixed.

Money—

New York sharps prophesy that negotiations for international monetary stabilization are about to fail. They understand we have definitely though privately joined France in urging such action and that Britain is at last ready to talk turkey. The war scare has intensified the demand for action from all quarters and several new factors have entered the situation.

France is said to be prepared now to devalue the franc by 20 per cent as a necessary preliminary. Both the United States and Britain have insisted on this—as otherwise the franc would have been too far out of line. The French have been very nervous about yielding the point for fear of political repercussions at home—but have finally figured it's wiser to give in than to take a chance on chaos. The English still hanker to cheapen the pound some more against the dollar before reaching a final understanding—they claim the dollar is undervalued—but they aren't as adamant about it as they were. An agreement with France for a common policy towards Italy—which would be part of the deal—is more urgent.

Uprising—

The diplomatic grapevine discloses that the extent of Great Britain's dread of an Italo-Ethiopian clash is not generally known. The statesmen at 10 Downing Street have satisfactory information that an Italian advance against Haile Selassie may mark an uprising of Moslems in India and blacks in Africa. It might plunge the territory from South Africa to farthest Mongolia into a war of race, religion and color.

Britain's diplomats are understood to have sounded out friendly native chieftains on the two continents. The head men have reported that they could not restrain their tribes in the event of a large-scale white invasion of Ethiopia. Returning missionaries testify that even the most sympathetic white trader or tourist would be regarded as an enemy by the blacks if the drums beat at Addis Ababa.

England fears that India would respond with revolt. It is settling with Mahatma Gandhi's religious and political philosophy, but it might not resort to his weapon—passive resistance. London had to meet Gandhi's politico-religious threat by giving India virtual self-rule and she thinks she knows the temper of eastern races. France is in the same fix and will fight to stop such a fight.

Rails—

New York experts figure that railroad earnings for the rest of this year should benefit from more than seasonal expansion. August and September will show coal loading above normal. Moreover, October was a poor month in 1934—so loading and earnings for October and possibly November of this year will look unusually good by comparison. A majority of important roads should be able to increase net operating earnings for the full year.

Great Northern and Southern Pacific are expected to show great improvement over 1934. Better earnings are also contemplated for Pennsylvania, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Atchafalaya. Nickel Plate, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie and Union Pacific should at least hold their own and possibly come through with slight gains.

Unfriendly—

Bankers in close contact with London learn that Germany has made tentative overtures to Britain for a credit of 10 million pounds. What's more, British banking circles are said to be quite receptive. The feeling among them is that Hilmar Schacht has done a remarkable job of reorganizing German finances. The interest rate suggested makes their mouths water—and they do not consider the risk excessive.

But that doesn't mean the loan will go through. The British foreign office will have something to say about that. France would be sure to construe such aid to the "enemy" as an unfriendly gesture—and it would never do to irritate France at this juncture.

Retrenching—

New York understands that Budget Director Dan Bell will have enormous piles of figures constituting the "estimates" for the next fiscal year ready when the president returns to the capital. In this table must be inserted the item for continued work-relief—or its equivalent.

Perhaps this item will be determined at Cocos Island.

By scaling down experimental and emergency items FDR could go far toward making up a sizeable work-relief appropriation without staggering congress. No one knows where the axe will fall—

Trade—

Whether a war develops in Europe or not, insiders predict a revamping of American trade channels. Even talk of a possible embargo has turned the thoughts of exporters toward new outlets for their goods. Plans are now being worked out for more intensive exploitation of Latin American markets. They will take some time to develop—but it's a safe bet that within five years a much larger percentage of our exports will go to our southern neighbors and a much smaller portion across the Atlantic.

Gesture—

Informed Wall Streeters get a smile out of the report that the Investment Bankers Association through its code committee—is going to give the Securities Exchange Commission a hand with its problem of regulating over-the-counter dealers.

The I. B. A. can doubtless help keep its own members up to scratch. But they aren't the ones who are keeping the SEC awake

Two-Thirds Of A Million Passengers Is The Record Of American Airlines

CHICAGO—American Airlines today became the first air line in history to attain an all time total of more than two-thirds million passengers, according to C. R. Smith, president of the company.

In less than eight years, Mr. Smith said, American Airlines and its predecessor companies, now combined into the largest air line in the country, have transported a total of more than 666,667 passengers—considerably more than any other air transport line.

Of this total, 117,247 passengers (approximately 17.6 per cent) have been carried in the eight months since Jan. 1, 1935, he said, indicating the rapid forward strides this modern and faster method of travel has made in the last year.

"Nearly six years were necessary for American Airlines to reach its first half million mark," Mr. Smith said, "but it appears now that little more than half that time will be required for the second 500,000 necessary to give air transportation its first million passengers by a single company."

"American Airlines in the first eight months of 1935 carried 13.04 per cent more passengers than in the entire preceding year. Present indications point to a gain for the whole year amounting to more than 60 per cent above 1934."

"This is regarded as an unmistakable barometer of improving business conditions throughout the United States and an indication of the manner in which air transportation has become an integral part of everyday business methods."

Gold Rush Adventure Picture At Lyric

The tops in exhilarating adventure pictures is provided by Fox Film, in "Thunder Mountain," a colorful story of the lawless west, now at the Lyric Theatre.

The picture stars George O'Brien, Hollywood's leading player of western roles, as the hero of Zane Grey's newest and greatest novel.

The riproaring action of this new story centers about the excitement of the Idaho gold rush. O'Brien, as a prospector, borrows money from the father of Barbara Fritchie, a lovely and faithless, eastern girl, and strikes the mother lode.

While O'Brien returns for the girl and her father, Morgan Wallace, a western desperado, jumps his claim and kills his pal.

O'Brien is deserted by the girl, her father and even his friends. Only Frances Grant, a dance hall girl, sticks by him. In an attempt to get back his claim legally, O'Brien takes Wallace to the Miner's Court.

But Wallace, afraid to stand trial, flees town and is overtaken by O'Brien. In the midst of their crashing battle to the death, Thunder Mountain itself takes a strange revenge on the malefactor.

The picture is brought to a happy close when O'Brien rebuffs Miss Fritchie's attempts at apology and turns to the girl who has loved him all the time.

Prominently featured in the supporting roles of "Thunder Mountain," which was produced by Sol Lesser, are Edward LeSaint, Dean Benton and William Bailey.
