

Zoning and City Planning Necessary to Growth of Littlefield

By MORLEY B. DRAKE

Lowell Short offered the suggestion at the recent annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce that Littlefield should be zoned.

Lack of zoning in Littlefield has caused a number of FHA loans to be turned down by government representatives, Mr. Short informed the meeting.

We are glad to see this lumberman come forward and advocate zoning. He should have added city planning because city zoning and city planning are so closely related.

We have long advocated city planning for Littlefield; in fact, we have suggested the appointment of a city planning board to work in cooperation with the city commission. We have seen this program work out very successfully in other cities. Is there any reason under the shining sun why it shouldn't work to the advantage of Littlefield?

Directed, Regulated Development
City planning and zoning are nothing more than directed and regulated development — something achieved for the present — a plan for future progress.

Through the operation of city planning and zoning the municipality effects economics — a better city is built at less cost — more money comes into the city treasury — every citizen is benefitted by lower taxation — improved living conditions — sustained and enhanced property values.

Under city zoning regulations real estate values are sustained and enhanced. In simple language, a one-room frame house cannot be erected on a lot adjoining a $5,000 or a $6,000 home, or a factory erected adjoining a good home. Zoning is fair to all citizens. It offers the same protection to a man with a $1,000 home as it does to the man with a $10,000 home.

How Cities Are Zoned

When steps are taken to zone a city a very exhaustive study is made and many conferences and hearings are held in order that there may be complete satisfaction and fairness. Some sections of the city are set aside for $1,000 homes, others for $2,000 homes, still others for $3,000 homes, and on up the scale of values. The new Dugan addition is an example of regulated development. This was accomplished through deed restrictions, but virtually the same objective could have been achieved by zoning.

Zoning protects against industrial and commercial development in residential sections.

City planning, while a near relative of zoning, takes in a different field. It has to do chiefly with the municipality as a whole — parks — streets — municipal buildings — many of those developments which are so important to the city of the present, the city of the future.

The appearance of Littlefield five and 10 years hence depends on whether or not we immediately adopt city planning and zoning. WHAT KIND OF A CITY DO YOU WANT TO LIVE IN?

LAMB COUNTY LEADS IN NO. OF SCHOOL BUSES

71 Buses Transport Pupils in Eight Districts, F. O. Boles Reports

With receipt recently of a state check for $22,347 for the first half of the state bus aid, Lamb county again is leader in the amount of money paid for operation of buses by schools, said F. O. Boles, county superintendent.

There are 71 buses being operated in the 8 independent school districts, transporting an average of 3,300 or more pupils daily during the school year.

"As far as I know, this county has more school buses operating than any other Texas county," he said. "That was the report of the state department of education."

"We do not try to handle more than 60 pupils on one bus. Many of the buses do not haul more than 35 or 40 at a time."

Littlefield now operates 17 buses. At one time it operated 26, but with the cutting off of territory to form the Spade district, the number was reduced.

REP. ALLISON'S HOT CHECK LAW PASSED 19 TO 8

Bill Is Designed to Protect Merchants From Worthless Checks

Austin, June 19. — Representative Alvin R. Allison's four month fight in behalf of a "hot check law with teeth in it" was climaxed today when the Senate placed it final stamp of approval on the bill by a vote of 19 to 8.

The bill, designed to protect Texas merchants from the vicious methods of professional swindlers by worthless checks will become effective immediately upon receiving the signature of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, believed to be favorably inclined toward the protective measure.

Allison asserted that under his bill prosecution is provided for giving a bad check in any amount with a maximum penalty of two years in the penitentiary possible.

Business men throughout the State have endorsed Allison's efforts in their behalf, realizing his bill will curb the activities of the professional "hot check" swindler who has been driven to Texas by strict laws of surrounding States.

The heavy rain, which fell over this section Tuesday and Tuesday night, measuring 3.26 inches, will be worth thousands of dollars to the farmers, both to those who had planted cotton feed, etc., and those who have yet to plant.

The moisture will bring the crops that are up along nicely, and will provide abundance of moisture for the seed to germinate in the land not planted when the rain came.

MOISTURE FROM 2 TO 12 INCHES FALLS TUESDAY

Littlefield Gets 3 26-100 Inches; Which Will Prove Beneficial

Littlefield and the entire trade territory were visited by heavy rains Tuesday morning, and again Tuesday night. According to L. C. Cawthon, official weather reporter, a total of 3 26-100ths inches of moisture had fallen.

Rain Is General
The rain was general over the South Plains, and broke a drought of about six weeks duration, during which time dry weather, sand storms and hot winds had prevailed.

The precipitation reported Tuesday by the various other cities and communities in this section were: Valleyview, 5 inches; Fieldton 2 inches, 3 miles east of Fieldton, 3 inches; Yellowhouse Switch 4 inches; Herrings Gin vicinity 4 inches; Spade, 3 inches; Enochs, 5 inches; Amherst, 2 1/2 inches; Sudan 3 inches; Anton, 2 inches; 6 inches at Morton, with from 10 to 12 inches at Bula, with a big rain and considerable hail east of Bula; 3 inches at Hart Camp; and 2 inches at Olton.

This moisture will prove very beneficial to growing crops, as well as enable those who had not planted to plant.

Tuesday morning about an inch and a half of rain fell. About 7 o'clock in the evening, what seemed to be a cloud burst, brought down torrents of rain, bringing the precipitation to 3 26-100 inches. The rain was accompanied by high winds which wrought no damage here in the city, but which caused considerable damage in portions of the South Plains, where tornadoes of a few minutes duration blocked rural roads, crippled communication, causing the death of one man, W. H. Jackson, of Opdyke, about 9 miles east of Levelland, and injuring several others.

Long Residence Damaged

CHILD EATS LYE; IS TREATED AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Condition Reported Not Serious; Released and Taken Home Sat.

Virginia Lee Padgett, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Padgett of near Beck's Gin, was treated in the Payne-Shotwell hospital Saturday after eating a small portion of lye. Her condition was reported not serious and she was taken to her home late Saturday afternoon.

Perhaps the quick thinking of the child's mother saved her life, for Mrs. Padgett, who was doing her laundry saw the child just as she reached for more lye, and she immediately gave her more than a pint of vinegar. Doctors reported that none of the lye reached the child's stomach; it burned only her mouth and throat.

Mrs. Padgett remembered her mother telling about the time when she (Mrs. Padgett) ate lye when she was very small, and her mother gave her vinegar. This might be one of those cases when "like ther—like daughter."

"Fair Trade" Act Is Approved by Senate Thursday

Comfortable majorities Thursday were rolled up by the Senate proponents, pushing the House approved "fair trade" act to final approval. However, the bill must be returned to the lower chamber for concurrence in amendments.

The measure received 20 affirmative and 10 negative votes after friends had invoked a rule shutting off debate by a vote of 18 to 11.

The bill permits producers and merchants to sign contracts setting minimum retail prices for trademarked articles and commodities. Its board provisions make liable to legal action any merchant selling an item below the minimum price level stipulated in a contract.

Opponents succeeded in attaching an amendment limiting price agreements to a term of two years. Otherwise contracts would have run without limitation and could not have been voided by legislation, opponents said.

The final vote was in marked contrast to preliminary consideration which was splattered with fiery debate.

Foes held tight their lines for six weeks, throwing up a filibuster against floor work on the bill, but a surprising show of power among proponents took it out of its regular order on the calendar and made possible a final vote.

Those favoring the proposal claimed it offered a protection to manufacturer, retailer and consumer by prohibiting unfair trade practices, described to include "loss-leader" sales and other methods.

Foes labelled it a device to jack up prices for "eastern manufacturers" and in contravention to the state's anti-trust laws. It was patterned after the Illinois fair trade act which has been upheld by the Supreme court of the United States.

Providing the House agrees to Senate amendments and Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel does not veto the bill it would become effective in October.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Littlefield Drive
T. M. Cummings, minister.

Sunday services: Bible study, 9:45 a. m.; worship, 10:45; young people's meeting, 8 p. m.; preaching, 8:30 p. m.

Sunday morning the minister will preach on the sin of doing nothing. It seems that some people have an entirely negative view of Christianity; that if they do not do certain things, they are all right. But being a Christian involves much more than not doing sinful things; it means the aggressive doing of many righteous deeds. At the judgement our lives will be tested for what good we have done, as well as for what sins we have not committed. Are you one of these negative persons? Are you guilty of the sin of doing nothing spiritually?

The evening sermon will be: "God's Foolishness vs. Man's Wisdom." Hear this sermon; it will help you understand how and why certain things are necessary to salvation that men commonly reject as necessities, on the ground that they are not logically connected with remission of sins.

A POKE IN THE "SLATS"

A poke in the "slats" beats a kick in the pants.

A poke in the "slats" is friendly; a kick in the pants is, well, jarring to say the least.

By way of explanation we wish to point out that "slats" in a boy's language mean ribs, at least it did in our boyhood days.

This would be a better world if there were more pokes in the "slats" and fewer kicks in the pants.

Some people specialize in pokes in the "slats," others in kicks in the pants. And 99 times out of 100, presently or in the future, they receive in return just what they have given.

An Associated Press dispatch tells us of John G. Draganza of Rochester, Pa., the CCC boy who shook hands with the King of England.

It was during a brief inspection of the camp by the British monarchs. King George asked the youth a number of questions and when the interview was over the King stuck out his hand. A hearty handclasp followed.

And in talking with his associates after the departure of the King, John said:

"I was certainly taken back. I never even shook hands with a Congressman."

"Gee," he said, rubbing his right with his left, "I shook hands with a King. When I get out of the CCC, I sure hope I can find a job."

That handclasp with King George was John's poke in the "slats;" it inspired him to push on to new achievements as witness his statement:

"When I get out of the CCC, I sure hope I can find a job."

EVERYONE OF US SHOULD REMEMBER AS WE TRAVEL THROUGH LIFE THAT THIS WOULD BE A BETTER WORLD, A HAPPIER, CLEANER WORLD IF THERE WERE MORE POKES IN THE "SLATS" AND FEWER KICKS IN THE PANTS.

YOU CAN WIN!

Time was when everything of major importance was accepted without question. People went to church, because they considered it their duty. Now the world is asking, why go to church? Time was that going to school was taken for granted. A lot of young people are asking now, why get an education when so many college graduates are out of jobs? Time was when most young men looked either to the farm or the business house as a certain means of livelihood, and future independence. Now they are asking, why go into business when 93 per cent of all business people eventually fail; and the government has to help the farmer make a living? Most young people have one idea; get hold of a car, drive like hades, have a swell time, and let the government look after you in old age. Living under these cockeyed conditions of the past few years has made most people wonder just which way is the right way. But after all, straight living, honesty, thrift and economy will win, regardless of what may happen in between times.—Canyon News.

Bald Headed Cotton

Because lint cotton seems to be a drug on the market it has been suggested in some quarters that a cotton with less lint and more seed be produced.

The suggestion carries with it the idea that since oils are in world-wide demand (including those states which have totalitarian governments) and cotton fibres are edging up against a very hard competitive condition, it might just as well be that those who are unwilling to try to meet the fibre competition, start raising cotton that will have lots of seed and little fibre.

Bald headed cottonseed they call it. Something might be developed along this line at that.

Under THE DOME At Austin

By Gordon K. Shearer
United Press Staff Correspondent

Austin, Tex., June 20.—(UP)—This week's ending of Texas' longest session of a legislature will be the signal for a quick departure from Austin for members and a host of the employes, lobbyists and other who attend.

The long session annoyingly disrupted vacation plans of many persons. A trip of Texas business men to the North and East was delayed because of the drawn-out session kept Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel and Lt. Gov. Coke Stevenson busy in Austin.

Sen. Rudolph Weinert of Seguin had to cancel hotel reservations he had made in New York for the early part of the month. Others postponed contemplated trips.

A small staff of employes will remain in Texas for varying times after June 21 to finish up the session chores. Clerks will be left behind to finish the journals and make proper disposition of the session's documents.

Prohibition, once the big issue in Texas legislatures, still brings on a merry fight whenever the topic is touched upon by a bill.

Amendments to the state liquor control act sent the Senate into a fuss reminiscent of the days when possession, transportation or sale of any intoxicant was prohibited.

A senator opposing a strict provision was accused of favoring the "dive."

"I never took a drink in my life and I'll bet the other senator (a prohibitionist) can't say that," was his reply.

Sen. Albert Stone of Brenham is reported to be the choice of fellow senators for the post of president pro tem of the Senate.

A president pro tem is elected on the last day of every session and on the first day of a new session.

Stone, a lawyer in his early fifties, is serving his seventh year in the Senate. His district includes Radrup, Brazos, Burleson, Lee, Robertson and Washington counties. Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College is the biggest state institution in the district. Another sizable one is the state park at Washington-on-the-Brazos.

The House of Representatives elects a speaker only at the beginning of a session. Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen is reported to have 80 members already pledged to vote for him for speaker of the 47th Legislature.

Speaker R. E. Morse of Houston is not expected to seek reelection. Some believe he will not seek to return to the legislature but will enter the race for mayor of Houston, or some local Harris county race.

Few new buildings were included in the eleemosynary appropriations of the Texas legislature. These were authorized principally at institutions for mentally defective persons.

While the number of buildings was small and the appropriations permitted no large structures, Sen. Morris Roberts of Pettus, chairman of the Senate finance committee, predicted they will permit removal of all insane persons from jails to state institutions.

Texas Indian Day has been proclaimed by Governor O'Daniel in order that Texans may remember that there still are two Indian tribes living in tribal fashion in the state where Red Men once held complete sway.

The tribes are the Alabama and Coushatti Indians of Polk county.

Their second "pow wow" to be held since the days of the Republic of Texas was scheduled to be held June 16 on the reservation near Livingston.

Group Of Littlefield Men Enjoy Week End Fish At Lake Kemp

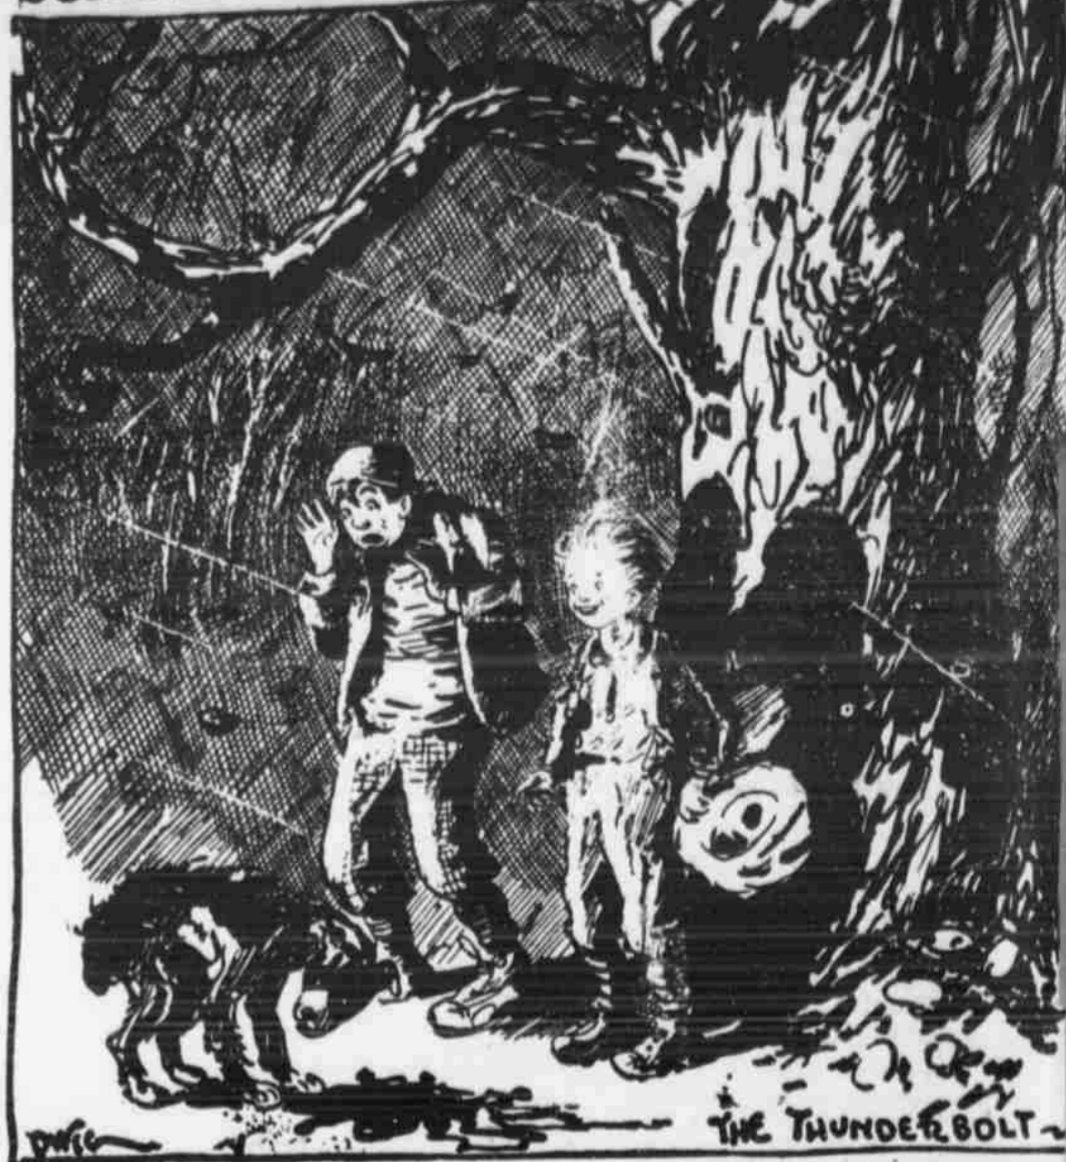

A group of Littlefield men enjoyed fishing at Lake Kemp over the week end.

Clint Griffin, Floyd Coffman, Lon Campbell, Coach Bill Sanders and E. C. Cundiff left here Friday night, while Ben Lyman, J. M. Stokes, Jack Farr and Jim Etter went to Lake Kemp Saturday night. While there they camped in a cabin of which Mr. Coffman is one of the owners.

According to Mr. Griffin they "caught 50 fish, mostly cat, but a few bass, and had a big time."

MARGIE Goes Snooping

The Littlefield organization of the Junior Musicians of America received recognition in the May issue of the official National Magazine. . . . We are grateful to Durward Howell for the baseball stories that appear in the paper each week. . . . Curtis Lebow, that Abernathy flash, who won the district Golden Gloves flyweight championship, and who was defeated in the state by a Mexican fighter, will be seen again in the ring at Slaton this week end, when the West Texas Amateur Boxing Tourney will be in progress Friday and Saturday. . . . We are going to miss Rev. and Mrs. Luecke, who are leaving next week for Friedheim, Indiana.—Rev. Luecke has done much to promote the softball league each summer, and the teams will miss him.—We like to think of he and Mrs. Luecke as being "jolly good fellows." . . . Jack Farr and W. H. Madden are now enjoying their checkers in Dr. Wood's office. . . . Mrs. Chester Hufstelder and Miss Josephine Wells haven't had the mumps the past few weeks, they've been suffering from a malady, cuttin wisdom teeth—I know just how they feel, too, for the last time I voted, I cut a wisdom tooth. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Brittain and Jim Tom have already made reservations for a cabin in the mountains near Red River, New Mexico, for a two weeks vacation. They will leave here about July 26, and Mr. Brittain and Jim Tom report that they have already purchased some A-1 fishing equipment.—Now we'll have to wait at least six weeks for some good fish stories. . . . Some girls make careers of getting husbands.—Others just make careers. . . . Old man weather keeps playing tricks.—After all those scorching days recently, it's cool enough to wear a light coat early Monday morning. . . . Submarine tragedies are about to become as numerous as airplane crashes. . . . Wonder why someone doesn't teach a swimming class? Mrs. Correl, owner of the Rainbow Swimming Pool will be glad to cooperate with a teacher. . . . At least three fourths of the cars we met between Littlefield and Lubbock late Sunday afternoon were Lamb county cars. We'll wager that most of these people had been to the park in Lubbock for an all-day outing. Why can't Littlefield have a beautiful city park, so you and you and you won't have to go to Lubbock or elsewhere for a Sunday picnic?—And if the park was made very beautiful, then part of Lubbock might come to Littlefield, instead of most of Littlefield going there. . . . Sue Payne returned last week ago Wednesday from a two weeks vacation. She visited N. Wayne Carlisle in Dallas and attended the Tomato Festival at Jacksonville, before visiting her sister in Tulsa. Then she lost count of the number of days she had been gone and returned to her work one day early. Was she mad when she realized what she did. . . . From present indications, it now seems certain that Hockley county will have no Rural Electric Cooperative of its own, and that the southern part of the county will be served by the Lyntegar Corporation with headquarters at Tahoka. The line of Lubbock and Lamb county organizations are being extended in the northern parts of the county. . . . boys' choir has been organized. Earth, and we'll probably be hearing from those 35 young voices in the near future.—Woodrow Montgomery is sponsor.

He Points The Way

In the June 2, 1938, issue of the Scurry County Times, Snyder, Texas, there appeared a poem contributed by J. F. Woodson of Route 3 entitled "The County Agent." It went like this:

If there's anything you wish to know,
Go ask the county agent.
For he's the guy that runs the show,
Our local county agent.
When you start out to make a crop,
If you don't want to make a flop,
Before you start you'd better stop—
And see the county agent.

No matter what you wish to plant,
Go ask the county agent.
He'll tell you if you can or can't,
For he's the county agent.
He seems to know what's best for us,
And there's no use to raise a fuss.
Just grit your teeth and grin and cuss—
For he's the county agent.

He gets his dope from up the line,
I mean the county agent.
So smile as though you liked it fine
When you ask the county agent.
Be ever humble, mild and meek,
And always turn the other cheek.
And three days out of every week
Go see the county agent.

If you find a hopper in your crop,
Go tell the county agent.
And poison until he says stop,
For he's the county agent.
If you think that has become a shame,
And you don't like to play the game,
It's you and I that are to blame—
And not the county agent.

THIRD INSTALLMENT
SYNOPSIS

Barry Haveril leaves his Texas home to see the country, meets a man who has just been shot who turns out to be a cousin of his, Jesse Conroy. Barry helps take care of his wounds and Jesse gives Barry his gun, a very unusual one. When they part Barry leaves for home but finds the family is no longer there. When he is leaving he suddenly comes across a dead man who turns out to be his brother Robert. Barry starts searching for the murderer and goes into the mountains to find gold to use for continuing his search. He finds a good spot, gets gold and goes to Tylersville to get money for it. There he meets Judge Blue and his daughter Lucy, who help him to get $450 for his gold. Judge Blue also tells him that the gun Jesse gave him is the gun of a murderer known as the Laredo Kid.

a corner and come speeding down the street. "Just a minute, Sheriff!" he said. "I've got some business with the Judge." The Judge saw him and pulled up in such fashion as almost to set his two boys on their haunches. Barry stepped into the road and with one ing this young man over to me? I know all about his people. His father and mother are running my new place for me; his sister Lucy is married to my assistant Zach Blount, and she and my Lucy are like two sisters. I'll be responsible for him, Ed. hand on a wheel looked up into the Judge's steady leaf-brown eyes.

"I forgot to pay you for my lunch today, Judge," he said. "How much?"

The Judge laughed and said, "Shucks," and then, seeing the look in Barry's dark eyes, no less steady than his own, said, "I gave the man a dollar."

Barry, fishing among coins in his pocket, brought forth a silver dollar and proffered it; the Judge, whip and reins in one hand, extended the other and accepted the money.

"There's one more thing," Barry added. "I guess you can tell me where I can find my folks. My father's Ben Haveril, and my sister Lucy married Zachary Blount and—"

"Well, well!" exclaimed Judge Blue. He turned toward the sheriff. "Haven't got my young friend here in town, have you, Ed?" he asked blandly.

"Sort of," said Brawley, very blunt. "There's some questions—"

"About that gun of his maybe?" suggested the Judge. Brawley nodded. "Well, then," said the Judge. "There's more guns than one with a fancy butt, Ed. How about turn-with him. Say, come up for supper!" The sheriff looked doubtful. "If it was anybody but you, Judge—"

The Judge laughed. "But it happens to be me, Ed." To Barry he called cheerily: "Hop up, Haveril! There's room here for the three of us."

Barry looked at the sheriff; Brawley drew back to the sidewalk.

"Go 'head," he said briskly; and to the Judge: "I'll take yuh up on that supper invite, Judge. Got the same cook?"

Never in his life had Barry traveled with such breath-taking speed; he began to think that horses were all right after all. They came to the wide open gate. It didn't miss two inches. Then the big bright house loomed above them; the horses kept on around to the right and were pulled up again in front of a stable that might have been a hotel.

The Judge threw his reins and sprang down nimbly, arms outstretched to Miss Lucy. She jumped into them with that gay little laugh of hers that was all tinkly music.

But Barry did not hear it. He sat rigid where he was, making no move to get down.

"Well, young Haveril," called the Judge. "Light down and make yourself at home." Still Barry sat, as in a daze. The Judge looked at him in perplexed fashion as did Lucy and the two men. "Well, Haveril?" said the Judge again. "What's up? You look like—"

"Oh!" said Barry, and climbed down over the wheel then.

"Anything wrong?" demanded Judge Blue.

"No, sir," said Barry. "I just sort of got to thinking, that's all." And he still was thinking as he followed the Judge and Lucy into the cool, imposing white palace trimmed in its bright bluebird blue. He knew that queer things did happen now and then, but he had never known a queerer than this: Here in Judge Parker Blue's stable was Tex Humphrey's fancy saddle from which his brother Robert had been shot. The saddle looked at home here, too, with a man shining it up.

"You youngsters amuse yourselves for a while without me," said the Judge. "I'll be with you shortly."

"When are we going out to the ranch where my folks are?" asked Barry.

"Right after supper, son. Meantime you can see your sister; I'll send a man with word that you're here."

"Do you want me to show you around the place? The flower garden and the vegetable patch and the corrals and barns—"

"Yes," said Barry, and added, "I liked your stable."

So first of all she carried him away to the stable. Barry led the way inside, stalking straight to the harness room where the man who had been doing something with a saddle was back at his work.

"That's a pretty fine saddle," said Barry.

Lucy, noting it for the first time, said, "Why, it's the loveliest saddle I've ever saw! Whose is it, Andrew?"

"Belongs to a stranger," said Andrew. "The Judge mebbe knows him. He come in late las' night, changed saddles account the cinch of this one bein' ready to bust; rode on. Said he'd be back tonight."

"A man ought to have a pretty fine horse to match up that saddle," suggested Barry.

"Let's go see it," invited Lucy. "Is it in the corral, Andrew?"

"It must be that one," said Lucy pointing. "That high-headed black with the white sadd's marks. It's not one of ours, I'm sure."

Barry didn't say anything. Lucy

"I thought I knew all about automobiles!"

A LOT of folks have had their eyes opened wide by a ride in a 1939 Ford V-8. They just didn't realize how much more value and how many improvements we've put in this car the last few years.

Today's advanced Ford is a product of progressive engineering, fine materials and honest construction. It is backed by an experience of building far more cars than anybody else in the world.

One ride in today's Ford — with its smooth 8-cylinder engine, stabilized chassis, hydraulic brakes — will prove it's the modern car in the low-price field.

was right. That was Tex Humphrey's pride among his saddle horses. That was the horse which, only a few days ago, had carried Robert Haveril to his death.

The Judge had a scrap of paper in his hand. He waved it toward Barry, saying as he came on: "I'm sorry you won't be able to see your sister today, young Haveril. There was a note on my study table, sent over by Zachary Blount; he went to Pride's Valley this morning on a bit of business for me, something that looked funny about the deed to a new ranch I just bought. He took his wife along. But they'll be back tomorrow or next day."

Barry was looking at the horse again.

"You're looking at some high-class horse flesh there, Haveril," said the Judge.

Barry nodded. He wanted to ask about that high-headed black, but hesitated. Blind instinct, subtle intuition—he didn't know what—made his move as cautiously as all his true kindred, forest wild things moved.

Lucy asked "Who's the stranger, Daddy, that owns that one? He's got the most gorgeous saddle I ever saw."

The Judge looked the horses over. "That black?" he said. "Oh, yes. It belongs to a young cowboy who rode in late last night. He had to go on and asked to leave his horse here until he came back. Where'd you see his saddle?" he asked.

"Andrew was fixing the cinch. It's a fancy Mexican saddle, and Andrew gave all the silver work a polish; it hurls your eyes to look at it."

"Let's go to the house," said the Judge. "It's most supper time."

But it was not supper time, and they loafed comfortable on the shady front porch looking down over Tylersville.

"How far is it out to the ranch where my folks are?" Barry asked without withdrawing his expressionless gaze from the melting distances.

"It's inside 30 miles," said the Judge. "That little span of mine will do it in less than three hours. We start right after supper."

But they didn't go right after supper, nor did they go at all. The three were dining at a long table that would have seated a score when a man rode up from Tylersville for word with Judge Blue. The Judge went out to him, and returned almost immediately. "I've got to see a man in town," he said. "Go ahead with supper; I'll finish when I get back. I ought to be with you in half an hour."

After an hour of waiting Barry was more the sniffing bear than ever. Lucy had conducted him to a pleasant room where there were books and a piano and sofa and easychairs, and at first had chattered like a magpie. She had sung for him a little, too, and at first he had listened enrapt and had looked at her admiringly, thinking her the daintiest and sweetest and cleverest little thing in the world.

When the Judge's voice said, "Sorry I'm so late," both of them jumped, for they had not heard him come in. He tossed his hat to the piano top and looked at his watch. "We'll go first thing in the morning. All right, young Haveril?"

Ten minutes later Barry was alone in his room. He extinguished his lamp and went to his window; he stood there a long while looking out at the dim bulk of the mountain under the stars.

Something was wrong and he knew it. It was no longer a mere uneasy suspicion but a positive certainty. "I reckon no one will hear me now," decided Barry, and crawled out through the window, dropping noiselessly to the ground.

He stepped softly through the dark, making a guarded circle of the house to assure himself that the rooms were all dark. He reached the stable. Near the big double doors was a bench under a tree. He sat down and waited. He slid his hand down to the butt of the new six-gun; he dozed, started wide awake and dozed again a dozen times before the soft beat of shod hoofs stiffened him into alertness.

He saw the dark form of man and horse coming on from beyond the stable, a single silhouette dim against the mountain flank.

The rider came down with a subdued jingle of spurs at the stable door; he was whistling softly and didn't turn Barry's way. When he got the door open and led the horse inside, Barry rose quietly and followed.

When the lantern at the harness-room door was lighted and swung up on a nail Barry saw that it was Jesse Conroy.

"Hello, Cousin Jesse," he said in a quiet voice.

SOFTBALL GAMES ARE POSTPONED IN 'WET' WEATHER; DOUBLE HEADER FOR TONIGHT

No one has regretted the fact that the softball games had to be postponed Monday and Tuesday nights. They were too elated over the rain. Neither could the boys play very good Thursday and Friday nights, in the terrific sandstorms, but the Jaycees didn't let the sand interfere with their winning over the Phillips '66' team, 17 to 7, before a large number of fans who didn't mind, "sand in their eyes."

Friday night, the Round-Up team came over for a scramble with the Fireboys. The Fireboys did some hard, fast hitting to keep the score one ahead, and in the end, the Fireboys 17, Round-Up 16.

Then the OCC team doubled the score on Morris & Son Friday night, too—12 to 6.

If the weather permits, the games missed Monday and Tuesday nights will be played in doubleheaders with the regular schedule, starting tonight, (Thursday). According to schedule, Grady's Wreckers will meet Phillips '66' tonight.

Friday night, the CCC camp will combat with the Firemen.

Monday night, CCC camp vs. Grady's Wreckers; and Jaycees vs. Morris & Son.

OKLAHOMA FLATS BALL CLUB BAG ANOTHER VICTORY SUNDAY OVER PEP; TO PLAY CLAUENE SUNDAY

In what easily might be termed a "natural" hard-hitting ball club, the Oklahoma Flats team in the alley View community hearded another win Sunday afternoon over the Pep team, who, evidently lost their "pep" on a sour note, the game ending with a score of 15 to 8.

This nine inning game proved to be plenty of excitement to the large number of fans, who will follow the Oklahoma Flats team to Claune for next Sunday's game.

Paul Waters hurled the balls that won the game Sunday for the "Flats" team, but J. Spurgeon and C. Waters each pitched two innings.

Manager C. L. Pryor stated that the team would like to match several games, and he believes that he has one of the fastest hitting "country" ball clubs in this section.

LOCAL YELLOW JACKETS TROUNCE ON MULESHOE COLORED BOYS HERE SUNDAY

Those Littlefield Yellow Jackets, colored team, beat the Muleshoe team's ears down in a game here Sunday afternoon, and the visitors finally gave up in the eighth inning, when the locals were holding a score over them of 21 to 4.

A large crowd witnessed the game Sunday, and Captain Wilmer Lawrence, hurled those balls over that plate so fast and furious that the boys from the northwest just couldn't even see them.

J. W. Dodson is manager of the local colored boys team.

The Yellow Jackets are scheduled to play Brownfield here Sunday, and they are getting ready for another whirlwind game.

Littlefield Losses To Ropesville in Game Sunday, 8 to 7

Entirely too many scores were run up in the Littlefield-Ropesville baseball game Sunday afternoon, when the local Cats played at Ropesville Sunday. But it was a good game.

Tremain pitched for the Cats through the sixth inning, but was knocked out at the beginning of the seventh. The game ended with Ropesville leading 8 to 7.

At Muleshoe, the Sudan Sluggers held the Muleshoe team to a tie of 9 and 9 in the seventh inning, but Muleshoe made a hit in the last part of the ninth inning, ending the game with a 10 and 9 score.

Whiteface took the lead over their visitors, the Amherst Reds, when Short, on the Whiteface team scored three hits. The score was 5 to 1.

Dimmitt and Morton did not play, and the Dimmitt team was withdrawn from the league. The Wilson club, from south of Lubbock, took the place of Dimmitt in the eight club league.

Rumors are that Littlefield will withdraw from the league, since their manager, Dewey Walker, is moving to Acuff, but the players are encouraged to elect a new manager and continue in the league.

Games scheduled for this Sunday are: Morton at Littlefield, Amherst at Wilson, Muleshoe at Whiteface, and Ropesville at Sudan.

Ladies Softball Teams to Match With Other Teams

The girls' softball teams created excitement in their first game Thursday night, and the players were "dirty" when they finished a seven inning game. Most of the ladies can hit balls that mean home runs, and when the teams get better organized, the ladies will probably try to "steal the show" in the local softball league.

Letters and phone calls have arrived from surrounding towns, wanting to match games with the local ladies' teams, so be sure and watch for later news.

Unconfirmed reports are that the ladies will play again tonight, and here's hoping the score won't be 22 and 14 again!

Hart Camp 4-H Girls Will Stage Ice Cream Social

Hart Camp 4-H club girls are staging an ice cream social Thursday night at Hart Camp school house to get money to send club girls to Shot Course at College Station July 3. Everyone invited and a good time promised all.

Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Cassel and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Foster and daughter spent Sunday in O'Donnell, visiting relatives.

Miss Salina Poteet of Spade, returned Sunday from a few days' visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Dixon, and Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Poteet of Greenville.

And Mrs. Thos. Duke Return From Washington Trip

Dr. and Mrs. Thos. B. Duke returned Tuesday from a two weeks trip to Washington and points of interest enroute. On their way to Washington they spent one day at Nashville, Tenn., where Dr. Duke was born and reared and which he had not visited for years. Dr. and Mrs. Duke spent the remainder of the day at the old farmstead, where his aunt and uncle, aged 70 and 80, respectively now make their home.

They visited their sons, Carson and Emory, and their wives at Washington and Baltimore, attended a big league baseball game, in which Chicago White Sox played the Washington Senators; attended sessions of Congress; visited points of interest in Washington and Baltimore; also made a trip to Mount Vernon, Va., visited the unknown soldier's grave at Arlington, Va.; enroute home visited historical points in Georgia, North and South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana.

While in Baltimore their son Emory received a wire offering him a pharmacist's connection in Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Emory Glass returned with Dr. and Mrs. Duke, and will make their home in the Hub City.

Mrs. Carson Glass also accompanied them home, and will spend a few days here before going to Austin to visit her parents, and return to Washington.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Glass will be happy to learn that Carson is making very rapid progress up the ladder of success, and really making a reputation for himself in his work at Washington.

Local Firemen Attend State Meet at Harlingen

Payne Wood, Alph Wright, Carl Smith and Bob Cox returned home Saturday afternoon from Harlingen where they attended the state Firemen's convention, in session last week.

The group reported that many interesting and instructive lectures were given each day, and one of the highlights of the convention was the contest, or races, when the teams from the towns hooked up for a fire. The San Bonita team won the race, stringing the hose, putting on the nozzle, and turning the water on in 17 seconds.

Wednesday night, 2,500 firemen made a street parade, each town represented with a banner, and all the street lights turned out, with each fireboy carrying a torch, which made the parade very impressive. The hosts of the convention took their guests to Old Mexico, including Matamoros and Renosa. A large number of the delegates also made a trip to Point Isabel.

The convention will be held next year at Houston.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS GIVES STATEMENT ON TRANSFER OF PUPILS

County Superintendent of Schools, F. O. Boles, gives the following statement in regard to transfer of school pupils:

In considering the transfer of school pupils from one district to another, the following facts should be kept in mind:

1—The county superintendent cannot refuse a request of a parent that a pupil be transferred, but any school district can protest the transfer of pupils from that district and the County School board may refuse the transfer.

2—If a pupil is transferred from a district where the pupil's grade is taught, the pupil is not entitled to free transportation to the new school nor does the state allow any transportation aid on that pupil. The law requires that the receiving district, in transportation aid districts, charge the parent approximately $2 per month for transporting the pupil.

3—A pupil who has been transferred is not entitled to free tuition in the receiving district except for as long as the state scholastic apportionment will operate the school, which is approximately four and a half months in Lamb county.

4—This means that if you desire to transfer your children from a district where the grades are taught, you should be prepared to pay approximately $50 for high school pupils and $36 for each grade school pupil. This must be paid to the receiving school.

5—The above facts do not apply to transfer of 10th and 11th grade pupils transferred from Hart Camp and Fieldton districts by action of the County School Board. Parents who desire to transfer other pupils, and are willing to pay the amounts specified above, should see County Superintendent F. O. Boles at 406 West Third street in Littlefield during the month of July and sign the request for transfer.

Home Demonstration Notes

DUST TO KILL FLEA BEETLES

The mustard greens, turnips, cabbage and other plants are being attacked by the flea beetles. These insects, when disturbed, jump away in a manner similar to that of a flea. The plants often appear as though fine shot had been fired through them. To protect the plants, dust thoroughly with a derris and tobacco dust mixture containing 1 per cent rotenone. Thorough applications of bordeaux mixture, either as a spray or as a dust, are effective.

LAWN PLANTED BY 4-H GIRL

Winona Lyon, Olton 4-H club member, has planted her front lawn with a mixture of evergreen grass seed and clover. This was sown this month after the yard had been well fertilized, broken deep and leveled. Five pounds of evergreen grass seed was allowed to one thousand square feet. Two pounds of white clover will cover the same amount of space. These may be mixed or sown separately.

4-H GIRL SODS LAWN

The front and side yard at Roberta Williams' home has been set with bermuda. The roots were planted in rows about 12 inches apart. Runners from these roots will quickly cover the lawn if well watered. Bermuda requires about half of the water that is required by an evergreen or Kentucky blue grass. Roberta, who is yard demonstrator for the Sudan 4-H club, expects to have less sand when the lawn is completely covered.

LAMB COUNTY WOMAN IMPROVES KITCHEN

Mrs. George Harmon of the Amherst Home Demonstration club of Lamb county has with much hard work made her kitchen into an efficient shining white one with storage space for her dishes, food and cooking utensils. She repapered her kitchen, put 4 coats of white paint on the wood work, leveled the floor, added blue linoleum over a layer

Lamb County Is Represented At National Meet

Miss Oleta Cole, home supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in Lamb county is attending the 30th annual meeting of the American Home Economics association, which convenes in San Antonio from June 19 to 23.

Miss Doris Lloyd, home economics teacher at Olton is also attending the convention.

Founded in 1908 there are more than 12,000 members of this organization affiliated with 51 home economics associations in the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada; and about 1,700 affiliated with home economics student's clubs in colleges and high schools.

Lubbock is well represented at this first meeting held below the Mason-Dixon line.

Interesting and unusual types of entertainment for the delegates was planned, and perhaps the high-light of the convention will be a chuck wagon supper and a revival of an old Spanish custom in the form of a "walk" which will center around the old Spanish governor's palace.

The first general meeting was held Tuesday night at the Municipal Auditorium. Group meetings have been arranged for members especially interested in the recognized divisions of the home economics field.

At the close of the convention, of newspapers, made attractive white dimity curtains with trimming of blue rickrack, and refurnished her breakfast room suite in blue and white.

A new corner cabinet was added for storage and an old base cabinet was raised to a more comfortable working height. A new range was installed. Equipment was arranged to save steps and make the work easier. The blue and white makes the kitchen a cool place in which to work during the summer and the small touches of red add a cherry note.

trips to Mexico will be arranged for those visitors who are interested.

WILL REPLANT DEAD HACKBERRY

Fort Worth, Tex., June 21.—
 (UP)—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former president of the United States, has offered to provide a tree to take the place of the one her husband planted on the lawn of the Fort Worth library 33 years ago. The hackberry died last year after it had been transplanted to the Coliseum grounds.

C. M. Herring, local Spanish-American war veteran who received the offer from Mrs. Roosevelt, said Texas survivors of Roosevelt's Rough Riders would be invited to take part in the tree planting ceremony next spring.

 milking cows in their herds.

Detective Claims
 "Dumb Luck" Has Saved His Life

University Park, Tex., June 19.— (UP)—Every policeman knows that he is constantly staring death in the face, and Detective Glenn Byrd of the University Park police department admits that only "dumb luck" has prolonged his life.

Looking back of his record, he recalled several places where he might have died:

In 1927 a tornado swept Garland and killed 14 persons, but Byrd escaped.

In 1928 a high voltage wire hit him while he was stringing lights across a swimming pool, and he was knocked unconscious but was revived.

In 1930, while he was working for the Dallas county sheriff's office, a negro highjacker pushed a 30-30 rifle against his stomach and pulled the trigger—but the bullet jammed.

While he was guarding Mexicans who had been threatened by persons objecting to their presence in the onion fields at Garland, a signal fire set off a stick of dynamite hidden by the anti-Mexican forces, and Byrd was knocked out by the blast, but survived his injuries.

Various Factors Govern Planning
 Soil Conservation

Amarillo, Texas, June 17.—Benefits which can be derived through the use of terraces in holding water upon fields have become widely recognized, but all farmers do not take into consideration the various factors which govern the planning of such work, according to Soil Conservation Service engineers.

Aside from the money invested and the expected crop increase from terracing, there are many other factors to be taken into consideration, it is pointed out. Soil upon which terraces are to be constructed must be considered. If it is a loamy sand or tight soil, water conservation measures are almost certain to compensate the farmer for the expense involved. However, where soils are sandy, benefits may not justify the cost. Sandy soils are porous and absorb moisture rapidly with little run-off resulting, except under extreme conditions, so terraces under such conditions may not aid much in holding water.

Slopes of the fields also must be considered. Run-off from steeper slopes is much greater than from comparatively level fields. Therefore the terracing of steep slopes is not practical in all cases. Adequate control of run-off water must necessarily involve closely-spaced terraces which are undesirable from the standpoint of tillage and harvesting. This is particularly disadvantageous in row crop lands because of the numerous point rows which of necessity must be made. In actual practice land with little slope provides the most satisfactory sites for terracing. A large amount of water can be impounded on slopes of this type, and terraces can be more widely spaced. It is pointed out.

With soil and slope conditions satisfactory for terracing, consideration must be given to the amount of run-off water which the structures must control. For instance, terraces on a field down a slope with heavy drainage above cannot be expected to hold this heavy run-off excess in addition to that which falls on the land.

Of necessity then, any plan of terracing which is going to prove successful must take into consideration the complete drainage area of the slope above. For individual small farms the use of diversions to carry the excess water to one side or the other of the field away from the terraced area may allow a farmer whose land is "down the slope" to terrace before complete control of run-off water is effected above. Soil Conservation Service technicians say.

TO BUILD CAN FACTORY
 Arlington, Tex., June 21.—(UP)
 —The R. C. Can company of St.
 Louis is constructing a $35,000 modern daylight factory here, which, when completed, will employ approximately 100 persons.

OVER 60,000 TEXAS FAMILIES HAVE MODERNIZED THEIR HOMES WITH FHA

Dallas, Tex., June 14.—A total of 60,483 Texas families have repaired and modernized their homes with FHA insured loans totaling $21,833,176.000. These home improvements, according to Mr. P. S.
 Luttrell, State Production Manager,
 Federal Housing Administration, have all been made since the Government's better housing program was begun in 1934.

The old human urge for a better looking and more comfortable home seems to have hit Texas families pretty forcibly this spring, Mr.
 Luttrell believes, and he bases his conclusion on the fact that lending institutions which have contracts of insurance with the FHA to make modernization loans have been swamped with inquires and applications during the past few weeks.

"The FHA Plan is really very simple to understand," Mr. Luttrell explained. "If the house needs a new roof, or some repairs to safeguard its value, or if the inside needs new plumbing, heating, paint and wallpaper to make it more comfortable and attractive, these improvements can be made at once and paid for by the month, out of income."

FHA insured loans are not Government money, it was pointed out, but are made by private lending institutions and insured by FHA.

"These loans," said Mr. Luttrell,
 "may be used for almost any type of outside or inside modernization job; as an example extensive alterations, such as a new wing, or repairs such as the replacement of worn floors. Living comfort may also be increased by installing up-to-date wiring, or built-in shelves."

The FHA official advises home owners who want to fix up their property under the FHA plan to first get an estimate from a local contractor. As soon as the estimate is in hand, application for an insured modernization loan may be made to any local lending institution making FHA insured loans.

Defendant In Assault To Rape
 Case Makes Bond

A. W. Coker was at liberty Saturday on $7,500 bail set by County Judge M. G. Miller, in whose court an assault to rape charge had been filed against Coker for alleged attempt to mistreat a 13 year old Muleshoe girl.

Coker waived preliminary hearing about midnight Friday and posted "an unquestionable bond," Judge Miller said. He was taken to Muleshoe from Lubbock, where he had been held since Tuesday previous.

In flight from law enforcement officers, Coker had been hit in the hip by a bullet, but the wound was not serious.

The case will be transferred to the 64th district court to await action of a grand jury to be empaneled at Muleshoe December 4, Judge C. D.
 Russell is, presiding official of the court.

Mother of Homer Baker Passes Away Fri. Night

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for Mrs. John R. Baker, about 51, at a funeral home in Portales, New Mexico, with Rev. E. C. Cantrell officiating. Interment was in the Portales cemetery.

Mrs. Baker passed away Friday night about 8:30 o'clock, following an illness of several months. She had been a resident of Roosevelt county in New Mexico for the past ten years, having moved there from Littlefield.

She was born in Kosciuska, Mississippi, July 4, 1888, and moved to Texas when she was 17 years old. She was a member of the Littlefield Methodist church.

Survivors include Homer of Littlefield and Mrs. Emma Jergin of California.

Child Suffers Injury in Car Mishap Monday

Jimmie Gay Griffin, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Griffin, miraculously escaped serious injury Monday afternoon, when she was struck by an automobile and run over by one of the front wheels, on the pavement near Beisel's machine shop. She was treated in the Littlefield hospital, where attending physicians reported that she suffered bruises and cuts, but was not seriously injured. She was dismissed from the hospital Wednesday morning.

ATTENDS CONVENTION
Charlie Pickerell and Jack Brannen attended the Plateau Singing Convention at Clayton, N. M. in an all day meeting Sunday. A large crowd attended, and a good time enjoyed.

High Percentage— (Continued from page one)

early Tuesday afternoon that an inch and a half of rain at least had fallen in Spade vicinity that morning. He said he planted 70 acres in cotton about a month ago, and had very good looking cotton.

J. B. Minton of two miles north of town reported two inches of moisture fell in the first heavy rain Tuesday morning. He had not planted his crops on account of insufficient moisture, but said he would plant 240 acres to cotton and feed crops as soon as it was dry enough. He reported very few farmers north of his property as having planted their crops.

A. Y. Pinkerton of 2 1/2 miles northwest of Littlefield planted his cotton two or three weeks ago, and reports a "pretty good stand."

Has Crop Knifed Out
G. M. Vann of Spade reported he planted his cotton about a month ago. He said: "I have a nice stand, and have had it knifed out. Crops are pretty good from my place to the county line."

R. E. McCaskill, who owns a farm in Valley View community reported early Tuesday that 1 3/4 inches of moisture had fallen there.

Will Replant
J. F. Albus of Pep said he was obliged to replant his land, and was going to do this within the next three or four days. He said two inches of rain fell in that vicinity Tuesday morning.

Mr. Albus reported that this section experienced somewhat the same dry spell in 1924, when it rained a little in June. He said they made a good stand of feed that year, but not much cotton.

George Neely of two miles south of Amherst was also jubilant over the Tuesday morning rain, which measured nearly two inches, and stated he had not planted, but would do within the next few days.

Dust Ruins 100 Acres
Gordon Bain of Bula reported that the dust storm, which struck previous to the two-inch rain Tuesday morning, killed 100 acres of his cotton, which he said he would replant.

J. R. Knowles, farmer of 3 1/2 miles northeast of Littlefield, said his cotton was all up, and part of his feed, and knifed down, and in good shape. He reported two inches of rain in the first heavy rain of Tuesday.

"I have everything up to a pretty good stand, except some government land that we have to plant, and some feed I have to replant," said A. B. Brown of 5 miles northwest of Spade, (12 miles northeast of Littlefield), who stated that he planted three or four weeks ago. He also reported 1 1/2 inches or more moisture Tuesday morning.
