Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging back-ache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

WHEN Your Boy Grows Up!

ALL mothers and fathers want their children to have worthwhile employment when they grow up.

The Texas oil business is manned by Texans . . . the Texas boys and girls of yesterday. 225,000 of them earn good livings for themselves and their families—a yearly payroll of $271,000,000.

Oil pays good wages . . . maintains reasonable working hours . . . and offers opportunity for promotion.

Old age retirement and unhampered development of the oil business will provide many new jobs each year for our young Texas workers.

But the growing tax burden is a serious factor in wages and employment, since the Texas oil industry now pays taxes equal to 36 per cent of its labor payroll.

Unwise laws and excessive taxes can retard and stop the growth of this industry which means so much to the future employment of our boys and girls.

Castor Beans Being Tested For South Plains Production

Yields of 49 different types of castor beans grown on Texas Technical college farm last season ranged from 24.6 to 37.6 bushels per acre. Seven types yielded more than 20 bushels to the acre, seven yielded 15 and 20 bushels, and less than 10 bushels per acre. Content of the different types ranged from 49 to 59.5 per cent of weight. Some with lower yields, however, showed higher oil content than other producing more bushels to the acre.

"These yields are under dry land conditions," said Earl T. Duke, agronomy instructor in charge of the experiment. "Irrigation might increase this yield enormously."

Planting this week of promising types and some new types from South America will begin the fourth year of experimentation with castor beans on the college farm. Object is to find varieties of good quality beans that will produce satisfactory yields on the South Plains, and also to increase knowledge of the cultural requirements of this plant. Eight varieties tested thus far, Duke said, appear suitable.

Eventual aim of the Tech agronomists is to produce a short plant with comparatively little vegetation that can be harvested with a mechanical harvester.

Many Interesting Subjects Scheduled For WTCC Program

Glitter pageantry will not be lacking at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Big Spring May 16 to 18. The "buttoning up" of extra features is under way now, with heavy attention given to the Youth parade at 2 p. m. Friday May 17, and the Americanization mass meeting immediately following. Other subjects stimulating interests are the Typical American Family contest, the girl's sponsor contest and the Home Town contest. A large number of bands from West Texas towns will be entered in a parade.

Assemblies and directors' meetings have been planned. The West Texas chamber is holding one special conference devoted to transportation and the fight for freight rate equality. This is set for Thursday afternoon at 2:30, opening day of the convention, and is an open meeting with expectations of a packed house to hear the address by Jerry Sadler, member of the Railroad Commission of Texas. With this conference will be held the annual meeting of the Freight Rate Equality Federation, affiliated with the WTCC, with talks by Jess L. Showers of Vernon and G. H. McKianey of Fort Worth. New officers of the FREF are to be elected. As the "Raw Materials Capital of the World," West Texas will be vitally interested in the producers' general assembly set for Friday morning. The program will deal with three major resources of the region—livestock, cotton and oil—whose problems will be discussed by Jay

Taylor of Amarillo, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. H. G. Parr, Fort Worth member of the State-wide cotton committee of Texas; and Joe E. Clarke of Albany, president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Ass'n., J. S. Bridwell, WTCC vice-president of organization, will preside at this meeting, other features of which will be the introduction of the winning West Texas Typical Family by Amon G.

Carter; four-minute talks nominating towns for the 1941 convention; and music by the WTCC official band from Sweetwater High school. The concluding general assembly Saturday morning, last day of the convention, will examine the WTCC's newest major activity, public expenditures by local governmental bodies and analysis of their budgets. Outstanding speakers will appear on this program.

"Sunbonnet Jane Of Sycamore Lane" To Be Shown At Spade

If you want to be in the swim you'll simply have to follow the crowd that is going to attend the performance of "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane," written by the popular dramatist, Wilbur Braun.

The play is to be presented on Thursday May 16, at 8:30 o'clock at the Spade High school auditorium under the auspices of the Senior class.

The players who are taking part in this bright and highly amusing comedy have whispered to their friends that there are going to be great doings on the night that the curtain goes up on this merry play. Our town has always enjoyed the reputation of being a fine show town, one where clean and wholesome amusement is greatly appreciated and for that reason a tremendous crowd is expected to attend this performance of Mr. Braun's latest and most successful work. Pretty Miss Sis Chamberlain has been cast for the part of "Sunbonnet Jane" and everybody agrees that she is an ideal choice for the role. There is nothing high-falutin' about "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane." It abounds in the sort of comedy that everybody loves to see, with a slight touch of sentiment thrown in to give the play added zest. The cast includes the well known names of:

Jane Jasper—Sis Chamberlain; Miranda Jasper—Joanna Reid; Grace Jasper—Doris Kendrick; Ollie Dinkleberry—Wanda Fern Parkey; Nola Miller—Maurine Hall; Crystal Cluett—Gladys Fowler; Schuyler Pell—Elvin Hairston; Jason Gouch—Bill Leonard; Douglas Smith—Lefty Hall; Marion Marsh—Marie Lynch; Toby Simpkins—George Farrington, and all of these local folks are having the time of their lives rehearsing and preparing this play for your amusement. Just ask any of the above-mentioned group what they think of "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane," and you'll want to drop everything and rush over to the Spade High school auditorium and get your front sets. Don't miss this grand entertainment and bring as many of your friends with you as you can.

ENROUTE TO NEW MEXICO PASTOR HAS PERSONAL EFFECTS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Rev. G. W. Pitts, pastor of the local Assembly of God church for the past 18 months, had the misfortune to have his entire personal belongings destroyed by fire early Saturday.

Rev. Pitts had accepted the pastorate of a church in New Mexico; had the family's personal effects on a trailer attached to his car, and were enroute to New Mexico when fire broke out in the trailer about seven miles west of Sudan, destroying everything with the exception of his boy's bicycle, some small chickens and a number of empty fruit jars.

The cause of the fire was not known.

Rev. A. J. Williams, former Assembly of God Pastor here, but who has recently been pastoring a church at Shamrock, arrived in Littlefield last week, and occupied the pulpit here Sunday.

CHAPTER VII

SYNOPSIS

Life grows complicated for the plucky Anne Phillips by working in a department which has supported them since her father's death. Her married daughter, Berenice, quarrels with her mother, Bill, Jim, the son, is in love with the rich Helen Sanders, although Anne suspects that she, the widowed little dancer in the apartment across the hall, is in love with him. And Janet, Anne's younger daughter, is unhappy because her well-to-do friends neglect her and insist on believing that she is annoyed over Gordon Key's refusal to marry Priscilla Leigh. Janet is busy interior decorating at normal school summer classes and is assisted by Tony Ryan to help restore the old Phillips estate which he has bought.

His name is Tony Ryan, and he is born in Shanty Town. He's helped me to help restore the place. Incidentally he's going to marry Priscilla if he can, and I can't be can."

"He's in love with her?" "Yes," exclaimed Janet with a laugh. "Now where have I heard that word before?"

Her mother flinched. "I don't like you to jeer at the eternal verities. If it's Gordon who has seduced you, he isn't worth it. It's only Gordon," said Janet, blinking her eyes to drive back tears. "It's a combination of things." She smiled uncertainly. "Perhaps it's good for me to have my head pulled down out of my ears."

It was before Berenice and she came in just as the others were sitting down to the table. "Darling," exclaimed Anne, "how did you know I was wishing for you? Haven't eaten, I hope."

"I'm not hungry," said Bill with a flush. "I noticed that Berenice ignored his remark quite as if he had spoken. 'Are you sure you have time to go around?' she asked rather."

"She laughed. She and Janet were scurrying about setting extra chairs."

"I had another salary cut," Berenice said. "We thought we'd give up the apartment and go back, simply sick, and all my friends said it was a shame. So I called up Guy and he could use me as a file clerk in his office. The salary isn't large, but it's more than what I had near the office when I was to get married."

"Black flush crept to the roots of her hair."

of Bill's black hair. "I think a wife ought to be willing to make the best of her husband's earnings. I suppose that's what it meant when we went through all that for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, for worse, for richer, for poorer stuff."

Berenice glared at him. "You've always thought Mother perfect, and she works."

Anne winced. "I've been compelled to," she said. The telephone rang and Janet jumped up to answer. "It's for you, Jim," she said.

Jim went into the hall and picked up the receiver. "That you, Phillips?" inquired Howard Leigh. "I have a message for you from Miss Sanders."

"Love!" exclaimed Janet with a cynical laugh.

Jim's hand tightened on the edge of the telephone stand. "All right," he said. "Fire."

"She has decided to join her father for a cruise on his yacht." Jim's heart felt like an exposed nerve. "So what?"

"We're leaving at midnight for New Orleans. I'm invited to go along."

"Think of that!" said Jim with a bleak laugh. "It seems she owes you for a golf lesson. You can send the bill to me."

"And you can step to hell," said Jim banging up the receiver. He was scowling when he returned to the table. Something in the set of his lips forbade questions as he jerked out his chair and sat down again.

July that year ran true to form. Torrid days with pavements sticky under the glaring sun were followed by sultry nights when the leaves on the trees hung motionless.

Jock McCall returned to his duties at the golf club and Jim went back to his regular routine in Judge Hetchcote's office. Apparently Jim was the same as he had ever been—conscientious, steady, level-headed. He worked nearly every night, studying or going over briefs. After dinner each evening he romped with Danny. Later Jim drove Cathy over to the night club. Sometimes he stayed at the office late enough to bring her home. If he had suffered a wound, he said nothing. Only his mother's eyes could have detected the faint lines that tightened about Jim's mouth and even she could not be certain of his unhappiness.

In the same fashion Anne had no adequate excuse for her anxiety in regard to Berenice. She seemed more contented after she began working in Guy Shelton's office. Her mother thought it a good thing for Berenice to have less time to play around with her idle and sophisticated women friends and Anne was positive that was why Bill had yielded the point.

To Janet also those four weeks had a sinister quality, like the dead calm preceding a hurricane. Nevertheless, the work on Tony Ryan's house was progressing apace.

Mr. Busby was a short, stocky, middle-aged man and a fine workman. She was self-conscious the first afternoon she reported to Mr. Busby at the Radcliffe house.

"As near as I can make out, you're the court of last resort," he said. "If there's any doubt in my mind about how to go ahead I'm to trust your memory."

He took it for granted that she would be on hand every afternoon from two to five.

Janet was eager to know if their employer was pleased so far as they had gone, but Mr. Busby volunteered no information and, in view of Tony Ryan's attitude toward herself, Janet was determined to betray no interest in the man. He never came near the Radcliffe place while she was there. Janet thought she understood the pointed way in which she was being ignored. Priscilla was a jealous goddess. She demanded undivided attention, and although during July Janet avoided her old crowd, she did from time to time run into one of them on the street. The absorbing topic of their conversation was Priscilla Leigh's crush on Tony Ryan.

She was startled one afternoon on starting out the great bay window of the master bedroom, to discover a young colored man busily engaged in removing the barbed wire which for years had replaced the wide gate between the big house and the cotton fields behind it.

Janet ran down the back stairs and out the rear entrance. "Aren't you making a mistake?" she inquired.

The man paused to wipe the sweat off his brow with his sleeve and smiled, shifting his feet. "No'm. Mr. Tony ordered me to get this wire out of the way. He says he done sick and tired of snagging himself ever' time he want to go over to his farm. He done bought all de land dis way and dat."

He gestured vaguely in a circle which took in both cotton fields and woods to the east and south. "Mr. Tony 'low he going to have the finest stock farm in dis here state," announced the small darky with a broad smile, "and I ain't never knowed him to make a mess of nothing he started. I'm Deke, Miss. Maybe, Mr. Tony done told you about me."

She shook her head. "I'm merely an employee here."

"I was a jockey, Miss, before I got jammed at the quarter and cracked my ankle. I grewed up in Kentucky and I don't know nothing 'cept horses, but you can't ride no races with a bum foot. I guess I'd have starved right on the sidewalks of New York if I hadn't run across Mr. Tony."

He glanced over his shoulder to the rambling farmhouse which stood on the slope of the hill where the fields met the woods. Janet frowned. A couple of men were sitting on a scaffolding at the side, lavishly applying whitewash. "Dat's Rufe and the Earl of Jersey," volunteered Deke.

One afternoon Janet discovered more activity near the rear wall of the estate, and when she strolled down to investigate she found a large, muscular man engaged in painting the new plank gates while a small elderly man in worn tweeds directed proceedings.

"How do you do, Miss Phillips?" he murmured. He had an impeccable British accent and a monocle and one of the tiredest and most civilized faces she had ever seen.

"Evening, Miss," mumbled the man astride the gate. Again Janet started.

"Don't mind Rufe," said the little Englishman quietly. "I remember when he was a superb physical specimen. Now he's a little blab as to mental awareness, but quite harmless. I recall when Rufe could scarcely force his way through his admirers. Tony Ryan came across Rufe four years ago in the breadline. Since then Rufe has fared very well."

Janet was unreasonably exasperated to discover that a man in whom she was determined to see no good had, it would appear, at least one saving grace.

"Am I supposed to deduce that Tony Ryan is an incognito Santa Claus, or what?" she demanded. The Englishman shrugged his narrow shoulders. "In spite of Tony's modest efforts to elude the allegation, wouldn't you say it takes a somewhat altruistic nature to invest in a farm and a farmhouse in order to provide a home and a decent livelihood for several fellow beings who are to a degree human wreckage?"

"Modest is one word I never connected with Mr. Ryan," was Janet's acrid comment. The Englishman removed his monocle and then absently replaced it. "Tony has been spoofing you, eh, what?"

Janet laughed. "It was you undoubtedly to whom Deke referred as the Earl of Jersey."

"Righto! I no longer recollect who first called me the Earl of Jersey, but it was an attempt at wit I've never lived down. I've become so accustomed to the name, in fact, I answer to no other. I am, don't you know, a cook."

"A cook!" "Rather," murmured the Earl of Jersey in his distinguished and imperturbable manner. "I came to this country sixteen years ago by invitation to play polo on Long Island. Unfortunately I have a re-ich. However, although even in my cups I can be relied upon to act the perfect English gentleman, I am not precisely an edifying model for tender youth. Consequently as a tutor I soon disappeared from the scene. I was, as it happened, quietly starving to death when I realized that a cook can always eat. For years I've been working in one or another greasy spoon restaurant, mostly in Hoboken or other New Jersey ports."

"You mean me to infer that he is running the farm as a home for human dilettas, yourself included?"

gettable habit every so often of going completely blotto. I am what is commonly called a periodical drunkard."

"Oh!"

"At intervals I am distinctly not myself. More than one of those intervals occurred when as a polo player I was expected to do the bright and shining for my side. After I had tumbled off several horses in a quite disgraceful fashion, no more American millionaires turned up who cared to ask me on house parties with free access to mounts, et cetera. At the same time and for the same reason my family decided to wash their hands of me. Finding myself cut off from the wherewithal it became imperative for me to unearth some means of earning my daily bread."

"Economically my only hope was that I might be worth a salary as tutor of the children of the very artistically gridded windows that sparkle in their newness, and in an atmosphere that lives and breathes of progress.

Typical of Littlefield, in which achievement is taken very much as an everyday affair, and new goals at which to strive are set up with startling suddenness, the ceremony marking the launching of construction on the new federal building was a very simple and democratic affair. Word was passed around that Mayor Hall was going to turn the first shovel of dirt marking the starting of work on the new building. A number of citizens gathered. Homer grasped the business end of a shovel with technique expressing experience and over went the first shovel of dirt. As the mayor turned over the dirt, J. E. Chisholm, Littlefield photographer, recorded the event. History was in the making.

Construction Is Underway

With the ceremony over, Arthur E. Strey, superintendent for the Barnes Construction Co., got busy running his lines in preparation for the starting of initial work in the erection of the building.

A steam shovel will be at work this morning in excavation for the new building.

Fred Hawkins, engineer for the Federal government, will arrive in Littlefield Saturday.

Mr. Strey, accompanied by Mrs. Strey, came to Littlefield from Chillicothe, Ohio, where Mr. Strey supervised the erection of two veteran hospitals. Mrs. Strey said that there was snow on the ground when they left Ohio two weeks ago and expressed her pleasure at being in a warm climate. Their home is in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Building To Cost $53,400

Contract for the new federal building was awarded to the Barnes Construction Co. at $53,400. The new building will be located at XIT drive and Sixth street and east of City Hall. The site was deeded to the Federal government by the City of Littlefield.

The design selected was based on one submitted by John E. Miller, Cleveland, Ohio, architect, and was one of the 10 awarded a $1,000 prize in a nation-wide contest for small post office buildings, conducted in June, 1938, sponsored by the Federal Works agency.

The building will be 60 feet 8 inches wide across the front, which will face Sixth street, and will have a depth of 57 feet 6 inches. Ground area will be 3,818 square feet and content 108,490 cubic feet. The lot has a 120-foot frontage, with a depth of 170 feet.

Will Be Modernistic Design

The building will be of modernistic design, with a concrete base, brick exterior walls, concrete trim, cornice and metal windows. It will have a ground floor and one story.

The entrance will be flanked on each side with windows extending to the ceiling, with metal panels and concrete piers. Doors will be of metal and glass, with a glass window above. Concrete steps and platform with railing in the center and check blocks at each end, extending across the front to the property line on the east.

Inside there will be a public lobby 17 feet deep with five service windows, and 571 lock boxes. The lobby will have terrazzo floor, marble wainscoat, plaster walls, ceiling and cornice, metal entrance vestibule, wood post office screen, and bronze lock boxes of Greek design. The postmaster's office adjoins the lobby on the west side. Workroom will contain 1,570 square feet and the financial section 240 square feet. In addition to windows, the workrooms will be lighted by a large skylight. The workroom will also have a wood floor.

of Lubbock, assistant district supervisor for the census, came to Littlefield Wednesday and conferred with City and Chamber of Commerce officials.

As a preliminary step in rechecking the population figures for Littlefield, it has been decided that all persons who may have been overlooked in taking the census should report to the Chamber of Commerce office or the Lamb County Leader. In reporting, such persons should give their names and addresses and the number of persons in their household. All such information should be received at the Chamber of Commerce or the Leader office no later than 6 p. m. Monday, May 13.

The co-operation of all citizens in obtaining a correct census population total for Littlefield is requested and urged.

Way "Build-up" Helps Will Interest Women

The cause of a woman's periodic suffering from headache, irritability, cramp-like pain, may be functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, a condition that is often helped by CARDUI.

Principal way CARDUI helps is by stimulating appetite and the flow of gastric juices. Thus it may aid digestion; help build up a woman's strength, energy and nerve-force; so increase physical resistance to periodic discomfort.

It also helps reduce periodic distress for many who take it a few days before and during "the time." Your confidence in CARDUI is invited by its 50 years of popularity.

An interesting feature of his project is that when he was born he was given a whiteface heifer calf by W. L. Ellwood (now de- ceased) and this herd is the result of the boy's work.

Churches

AMHERST, METHODIST CHURCH
The cost of education needs to be thought of at this season of the year and here is what the National Resources Planning Board has just issued on how the nation spent its $59,300,000,000 income for the year 1935-36: Food 29% housing 16%, household operation 9%, clothing 9%, automobiles 6 1/2% per cent medical care 4 per cent, recreation 3 per cent personal care and tobacco each about 2 per cent, transportation 1 1/2 per cent education less than 1 per cent which ranks lowest except for a few miscellaneous items.
According to these figures 85 per cent went for current consumption; 10 per cent was saved; 4 per cent was given away to relatives, friends, churches and philanthropies. Almost 6 1/2 per cent of the total consumer's income went for the family car; only 1 1/2 per cent went to all other kinds of transportation; the total spending for autos was $3,800,000,000. Note education received only 1 per cent. Also this board states that 4 per cent was given away to relatives, friends, churches etc. This shows the general trend of too many people toward the church. Oh, that the words give and donate had never been coined towards the church and the work of the kingdom of God. The church is about the only one institution that people want to do without. We get a greater per cent return on all church investments than anything else.

Not all pay for church benefits but all are benefited by the church but only a small per cent of the people make any place for church support in their budgets. Nearly all personal, institutional, state, and national publications of budget plans for the income leave out the consideration of the church entirely. Yet in twenty years of asking, only one man has ever been met that said he had as soon live without church as with it, and we wonder if he were not insincere.
This attitude on the part of so many people is a helping factor to where and what the American people are today, the real mess we find ourselves in.
God never intended to redeem this world free of cost, but through tithes and offerings and human life He seeks to establish the kingdom of God in earth.
Next Sunday is our Commencement Sunday. The subject for that hour at the school building is, "The Supremacy of Christ." The night hour services begin with group meetings at 8, with church at 8:30. This will be a sort of a Mother's Day service.

METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Jim H. Sharp, Pastor
The Methodist Church officially took action, last Sunday, to begin work, toward the completion of the church building. We are going to start raising funds and buying material, and start the construction as soon as possible. We are in great need of more church school room. We greatly need to finish the church building. The church cannot do the work for the community that it should without a building and equipment that is adequate anymore than a mother can do her work for her family without a home building and equipment. What the mother is to the home so the church is to the community. The church is the bride of Christ. It is the mother spiritually to the community.

We are beginning our campaign to raise funds, by asking every member of the church and Sunday school and friends, to make a cash offering, a mother's Day offering, to the building fund. Let us make this offering the very best we can. We feel that if every person will do his best under the direction of the Spirit of God, then God will be pleased and the building of his church will go forward. Do the best you can regardless of what the amount may be. We are placing this drive to raise funds, on the highest Christian principles which we know. We are not asking any person for any certain amount but only ask every person to do all that he can for a great cause. We need to raise $9,000 now and it is going to take everyone doing his best. "The work is great for the church is not for man but for God" I Chro. 29:1.
We invite everyone to our Mother's Day services next Sunday. Mother, come and bring all the children, old or young. Let all sons and daughters come with their mother, if you can. We are hoping praying that next Sunday will be a great day for every member and for the church.
Our goal for our church school is 200, let us do our part to reach that number next Sunday, and then go forward to reach our greater goal of 250. May we pray and work for the services next Sunday.

Mother's Day SUNDAY, MAY 12 Our Tribute To Your Mother

We can think of no holiday more in keeping with the American Tradition than Mother's Day. It has ever been "American" to honor the great heroes of our land... is it not fitting, then, that we should set aside a day in honor of our greatest heroine, the American Mother? But Mother's Day takes on added importance when we stop to think of how personal this holiday is. All American mothers of course we honor, to our own Mother we pay special tribute. And what can we compare with that inner joy that comes with giving good gifts to those we love. Remember your Mother!

Open House Throughout the Day at Both Hospitals

Within the walls of the modern hospital and clinic, every foot of space has been planned for this dual purpose: relief of human suffering, and restoration to health. Here, in this little world apart, is the one place where your doctor finds the modern medical and surgical equipment so often necessary to make his efforts most effective.

Under a hospital roof, dark and daylight lose their meaning. Doctors and nurses stand always ready to perform whatever service is in the best interests of the patients.

If you are unfamiliar with the working of a modern hospital and clinic, take advantage of National Hospital Day, Sunday, May 12, to visit the local hospitals. For on that day—birthday of Florence Nightingale—America's hospitals throw wide their doors and bid the whole world welcome.

You will come away with the feeling that a hospital is not only a place of marvelous efficiency, but a haven of friendliness for those who are sick.

Mrs. Floyd Brown Hostess Club Women Thursday Afternoon

"Storage Space" was the subject, Mrs. Perry, Home Demonstration Agent discussed, when the Littlefield Club met in the home of Mrs. Floyd Brown Thursday, May 2nd.

In placing shelves in your cabinet it is well to use strips that are adjustable, so as to make small objects or larger ones fit in them by utilizing as much as your shelf space as possible.

Enamel over 2 or 3 coats of flat paint is an excellent finish as it is easily kept clean.

For ease in handling, the meat platters & trays should be placed on a shelf of their own rather than standing upon their sides behind other dishes.

Among those attending were: Mesdames Roy Byers, B. D. Birkleback, E. B. Will, Wm. Haanusch, Clara Will, T. M. Dorman, E. C. Kemp, M. J. Wilson, L. L. Massingill, W. H. Roberts, M. W. Brewer, L. V. Pierce, Bill Yonny, Jeff Perkins, J. W. Brown, Nathan Thordford, A. S. Bolton, Cherry, W. K. Bagwell, Dewey Hulse, and the hostess Mrs. Brown.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Dewey Hulse Thursday, May 15th at 2:30 o'clock.

The SNOOPER SAYS ...

MY MOTHER

Mother's life is saddened this Mother's Day because the death angel came for her mother last Thursday morning and lifted her soul to the great beyond.

Grandmother was 75 years old. She was born in Madison, Indiana, and came to Texas with her parents when she was a young woman. She was married to H. N. Miller in 1883 in Johnson county, where she reared her nine children and lived until she passed away. She loved her home. She loved pretty things, and everywhere around her home at Burleson, Texas, near Fort Worth, the flowers were blooming during the last days of her life. It was fitting that she went away at such a beautiful time of the year.

She braved the hardships and disappointments that came in her life, and she found assurance and consolation from her Christ when death took four of her children from her, three sons during the past 10 years. Two of these sons were fatally injured in automobile accidents.

I like to remember Grandmother at the little farm home out in the woods, where I visited her a few times in my childhood. I didn't know her like many people know their grandmothers—I didn't have the privilege of having cookies from her cookie jar every few days, or going to her with my childish problems—but I knew her through my mother. I've lived in West Texas all my life. I remember mother telling me about grandmother as a little girl, when she crossed the Ohio river on floating pieces of ice. How she worked in a bakery with her parents in Madison, Indiana, and took cakes and pies to the wealthy people in the town—hoping that she could be wealthy. But grandmother taught me to be proud, and to love the beauty of the world, and helped me to realize that "all is not gold that glitters."

When Mother was a girl, she had red hair and freckles. Her deep brown eyes have sparkled with wit and humor through the years of her life, and her sense of humor has helped her to carry on despite the hardships that have affronted her. She is a part of me, and she alone has understood my brainstorms and my ambitions.

Why then should I not recognize in her the source of my never failing strength? She furnished power of resistance against the many evils that so easily beset me in this world of harsh dealings and hard living. She controls the flood gates against despondency. She maintains my spirits on the high level of optimism. Like a vine, she feeds the red blood of living faith, which, finding its trellis, always reaches the light of an un fading day.

"No one can live without, or escape from, the influence of his mother."

"The noblest thoughts my soul can claim,
The noblest words my tongue can frame,
Unworthy are to praise the name
More sacred than all other.
An infant when her love first came—

A woman, I find it just the same;
Reverently I breathe her name,
The blessed name of Mother."
MARGIE.

Mrs. Roy E. Hunt Hostess Thursday Luncheon Club

Mrs. Roy E. Hunt was hostess to members of the Thursday luncheon club at the Hunt residence on East Seventh Street Thursday afternoon.

Beautiful spring flowers, including Nasturtiums and Snapdragons, made more inviting the entertaining rooms.

Luncheon was served on the four-some tables, following which bridge provided the diversion for the afternoon. Scoring high in the games were: Mrs. Dennis Jones and Mrs. Jack Henry, while Mrs. Earl Hopping was awarded the bingo prize.

Enjoying this social affair were: Mesdames Jack Henry, Oscar Wilmon, Dennis Jones, Carell Blacklock, Earl Hopping, Wm. N. Orr, F. S. Fowler and Wm. Rumback.

SPORTS OUTFIT

You can solve more than one vacation problem with clever pattern (8542)—and you can look just as gay and young and poignant as you want to look in summer play clothes. The play suit, with pleated shorts and shortwaist top, is mighty comfortable and attractive for active sports. By fastening the separate skirt about your waist, you transform it into a smart new version of the button-front day frock, with puff sleeves, bloused waistline and braid edging. And of course you can wear the skirt with sports shirts too. So you can see what a useful "package" it is.

Choose linen, gingham, calico, pique, or percale for this design. You'll be delighted to see how easy it is to tailor.

Pattern No. 8542 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Pattern 8681—This design includes a scalloped pinafore that goes on over your child's head and ties at the sides (how she'll love that kitten pocket!), a well-ventilated eyeshading bonnet, and straight little panties for modesty's sake.

Each of the three pieces is ridiculously easy to make—the pinafore is cut all in one, you see. And right now you can get a fine selection of pretty prints in percale, gingham, seersucker or calico—just right for play sets like this. Pattern No. 8681 is designed for sizes 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 years.

Freight Rates On Cotton Are Reduced

A new cotton rate for all South Plains points on the Panhandle & Santa Fe railroad will become effective June 20, said R. H. Forbes, division freight and passenger agent Tuesday afternoon, in reporting the Railroad Commission of Texas had approved the plan.

Rate will be 46 cents per hundred pounds, for a minimum car of 65,000 pounds, under consolidation rules, from this area to Houston, Galveston and Texas City. Territory will include all north of Post to Lariat, near the New Mexico line and Tulsa, including the Lamesa, Bledsoe, Seagraves, Crosbyton and Floydada branches.

It will not be necessary for one shipper to fill an entire car, as the compress, at the point of shipment, can consolidate shipments.

Present rate is 50 cents per hundred. The reduction is 13 cents a hundred pounds or 22 per cent. For a 500 pound bale the reduction will exceed a dollar, Forbes pointed out.

Whitharral Cops District Title In H. S. Baseball

For the second consecutive year, Whitharral's husky diamonders demonstrated their superiority in the clouting department to edge into the annual District High school baseball throne Monday afternoon. Friendship's fighting little hopefuls were on the short end of a 7 to 5 that saw the Hockley winners clash the right to journey to Dallas to participate in the All-Texas tournament May 16 through 18. Monday's game was far above the average for schoolboy nines in almost every department of play and easily was the best of the four-day tourney.

WALLACE BEERY AND LEO CARRILLO COME TO PALACE IN "20 MULE TEAM"

Wallace Beery and Leo Carrillo who teamed sensationally as Pancho Villa and his lieutenant in "Viva Villa!" join forces for the first time again in "20 Mule Team," saga of the pioneers of Death Valley, which opens at the Palace Theatre Saturday midnight, continuing through Sunday and Monday. Beery is seen as Bill Bragg, veteran muleskinner of the desert trail driving back and forth through blistering heat to the railroad at Mojave, 162 miles away, while Carrillo appears as his faithful "swamp-er," the Indian Piute Pete. Completing the trio of leads is veteran character actress Marjorie Rambeau as Josie Johnson, owner of the hotel and saloon where Beery is in the habit of "undehydrating" himself.

Mayor Hall Turns First Shovel Of Dirt In Starting Work On Project

With the turning of the first shovel of dirt at 10 a. m. Monday by Mayor Homer Hall, construction of Littlefield's new federal building got underway.

Launching of construction of the new building marked the culmination of a dream of Littlefield's citizenship down through the years. Littlefield is growing up.

Second Unit Of Civic Center More than 10 years ago a new City Hall was erected in Littlefield and through wise planning at about that time provision was made for other structures in a civic center.

The James I. Barnes Construction Co. of Springfield, Ohio, has seven months in which to complete the new post office. But construction may be pushed more rapidly than the contract requirements provide.

Farmers Answer AAA Questionnaire

What changes do you think should be made in the AAA program? Farmers all over Texas and the rest of the United States are being asked that question in community meetings as the AAA makes ready to draft the rules and regulations for the 1941 program.

Questionnaires sent from the College Station state headquarters of the AAA program to the counties are being filled out at meetings of farmers. From the suggestions received in these meetings, each county committee will prepare its recommendations for submission to the state committee, composed of 12 Texas farmers and ranchmen.

The questions asked are limited to changes which could be made without the necessity of additional legislation, George Slaughter, chairman of the state committee, pointed out. The action the national conference takes will depend largely upon the recommendations from the counties.

Funeral Services Are Held Sunday For Loraine Physician

Dr. Thomas A. Martin, 73, father of R. D. Martin of Littlefield, passed away at the family home at Loraine Saturday morning, after a few weeks' illness, suffering from a heart ailment.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Loraine Methodist church. Rev. S. H. Young of Sweetwater and Rev. J. E. Shewbert of Loraine officiated. Burial was in the Loraine cemetery beside a daughter, Mrs. Wyse Cooper, who died in 1918.

Dr. Martin was among the last of the men who knew the horse and buggy day hardships of a physician in Mitchell county. Beginning his practice at an early age in East Texas, he first traveled to patients by horseback and later by horse and buggy.

All Persons Missed By Census Takers Urged To Report At Once

The preliminary announcement, relative to population figures for Littlefield, as disclosed by the recent census, was 3,791 as compared with 3,218 in 1930, an increase of 573.

Many observant Littlefield citizens feel that the 1940 census population total does not indicate the true population increase of this city.

Water connections in the past 10 years have more than doubled and an immense amount of home building and commercial and industrial development has taken place. Large numbers of residents have expressed a desire to have a recheck of the census figures to make certain that no citizens have been overlooked in the gathering and compilation of the figures.

Co-operating with the City of Littlefield and the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, J. P. Woodward will add to the stately appearance of the structure. With the completion of the auditorium, Littlefield will boast of one of the most modern and beautiful edifices erected in a town its size on the South Plains.

WORK TO GET UNDERWAY SOON IN ERECTION OF CHURCH STRUCTURE

Members of the Methodist church officially took action Sunday to start work on the completion of the church building. Rev. J. H. Sharp, pastor, announced this week. A campaign for the raising of funds will start again next Sunday, when every member of the church and Sunday school, and friends will be asked to make a cash offering, a Mother's Day offering, to the building fund. Building materials will soon be purchased, and construction will be started as soon as possible. Tentative plans are to be worked out by the building committee and architect. Approximate cost of the buildings has not been announced. The building will be of white-face brick, with a modernized plan that
