SOUTH PLAINS FARMERS TO PLANT MORE COTTON

Plains counties seem bent on planting more cotton this year than they did in 1952.

Figures compiled by Fred Parham in the Lubbock office of Wells and Stanton, cotton brokers, show that there will be an estimated increase of 350,000 acres in cotton in 14 South Plains counties this year.

In spite of warning by Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, that cotton acreages must be cut down to prevent over-production and acreage controls which will, almost inevitably, follow, and in spite of the drought which continues to ruin non-irrigated cotton, farmers in the majority of South Plains counties seem bent on planting more cotton this year than they did in 1952.

Special Offering To Be Taken On Mother's Day

To help the church march side by side with her service people, Emmanuel Lutheran's 417 West 3rd Street, members will have a special Mother's Day offering on May 10, together with the other 5,000 congregations of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. The Armed Services Commission, which heads this work of keeping Christ with our service people, has its headquarters in Washington, D. C. To each member who enters the service, the commission sends an initial packet containing a Lutheran identification tag, service prayer book, scripture pocket calendar, and several tracts. The serviceman's name and military address is forwarded to the nearest chaplain or contact pastor of the church. One hundred and twenty-six chaplains and 400 contact pastors are co-operating in this effort. In addition, the commission with the assistance of 142 hospital pastors, serves Lutherans confined to Veterans Administration Hospitals. Each month an order of service with sermon and hymns, Loyalty Christ and County, along with a folder, directory for service people, listing the locations of Missouri Synod Lutheran chaplains, are mailed to the service people. Double Time, a pocket news magazine containing pictures and items of Lutheran service interest, is mailed quarterly. Forty-five Lutheran service centers, located in the United States and overseas, are being supported by the commission for the purpose of spiritual counselling and informal hospitality to the service people during their off-duty hours. This comprehensive program is financed solely through the Mother's Day offerings held in the Synod's churches throughout United States and Canada.

Miss Mary June Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Howell of Hedley, Texas, became the bride of Lt. John Keith Tofte, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Tofte of Williston, N. D. in a pretty double-ring ceremony at the First Methodist Church here Saturday evening. The vows were exchanged before a background of Woodwardia fern and palms, on either side of which were baskets of yellow mums, flanked by candelabra. Miss Trudy McGee played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Guenera Allen as she sang the Lord's Prayer. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin frock of ballerina length, with lace averskirt, lace bolero and sleeves. The fingertip veil of illusion hung from her rhinestone tiara. She wore a single string of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a white bible topped by pink rosebuds. Mrs. Joe Dillard of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an orchid lace dress of ballerina length with head dress of net and carried a colonial bouquet of pink French carnations. Miss Peggy Jobe of Lubbock was bride's maid. She wore an aqua taffeta dress, ballerina length, with matching net head dress, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow French carnations. Ring-bearer was Eddie Joe Dillard of Lubbock. Best man was Sgt. Robert M. Tofte, brother of the groom, of Williston, N. D. Ushers were Lt. Robert Lee of Fort Worth, Ray Rochelle of Amherst and Eugene McNeese of Littlefield. The bride's mother, Mrs. L. E. Howell, wore a navy suit with navy accessories, and a white carnation corsage. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Balford Rochelle and host and hostess. Miss Mary Frances Forkner of Lubbock registered the guests. The bride's table was laid with white cut work cloth, and centered with a crystal bowl of white flowers, from which were served punch and cake. The happy couple left immediately on a wedding trip to points in Colorado and Wyoming. After May 4 they will be at home at Salina, Kansas.

Jack O'Reilly Teams Up With Dory Funk

Jumping Jack O'Reilly, recognized junior heavyweight wrestling champion of his native Australia, teams up with Dory Funk, the questionable southwest states champ, in a tag match against Mexico's Polo Cordova and hereford's Bob Cummings in the main event of Saturday night's wrestling card here.

The tag match style of wrestling is said to have originated in O'Reilly's home country. In any rate, it's called Australian tag team wrestling, and the veteran O'Reilly always feels at home in one of these contests. It has been several months since the balding man from down under appeared in Littlefield. During his absence he campaigned successfully in the south and mid-west, and was brought back to this territory a few weeks ago upon the suggestion of numerous promoters.

Dory Funk, the cowboy from Umbarger, lost a championship match to Roger Mackay in Amarillo last week, but he retained the belt. He was disqualified in the third and deciding fall, but state and national rules contend that a champion may not lose his title on disqualification.

Cordova, popular Latin-American from Mexico City who always is a crowd-pleaser here, takes on Funk in one of the special events preceding the main event. Bob Cummings, formerly from Seaside, Oregon, but now a home owner in Hereford, meets O'Reilly in the other pre-main event battle. Each match is for one fall or 20 minutes.

By the time these two matches are finished, there should be some blood boiling between the opponents in the tag team match. In other words, they get a second chance at each other. Biggest job in a tag match falls to the referee, who is hard pressed to keep all four men from going after each other at the same time, which is against the rules.

Farm Bureau Delegation From Area To Discuss Cotton Classing At Capitol

Plans for sending two South Plains representatives of the Farm Bureau to Washington to discuss cotton classing, split grades and other problems concerning the cotton industry in this area, were made at a meeting Saturday in Hotel Lubbock.

Balford Rochelle, of Amherst, Lamb County, and Raymond Akin, Hale County, with Jake Fulford, Terry County, and Wilmer Smith, Lynn County, as alternates, were chosen to make the trip.

Some 40 Farm Bureau representatives from 10 counties agreed that the trip would pay for itself many times over if the representatives could get the Commodity Credit Corporation to recognize the spot and light spot classifications in making cotton loans. This would mean a considerable difference in payments to cotton producers, he said.

Each county Farm Bureau in 22 counties will be asked to contribute $40 to help send the two representatives to Washington.

These men will also talk to as many responsible officials as possible about getting uniform lighting and humidity conditions for all Smith-Doxey cotton classing offices. That would, those at the meeting seem to believe, eliminate much of the present troubles about changes in staple length between cotton classed here and cotton classed at other offices where the air is more moist.

A permanent committee to draft resolutions to be sent to representatives and senators, as well as to other persons who might be able to help in the present situation, was selected.

Members of the committee are Dean Harmon, Tulla; L. C. Crews, Lubbock; Balford Rochelle, Rocky Ford; Jake Fulford, Meadow, and E. L. Turner, Floydada.

The resolutions will be sent directly to the various persons on their list. Copies also will go to the individual county Farm Bureaus, which will write their own letters, using the resolutions as a base.

Members of the resolutions committee made general recommendations for the resolutions, and these were accepted by the Farm Bureau representatives at the meeting.

These recommendations include: "Why we feel the Lubbock cotton classing office, under its present staff and facilities, are inadequate to furnish the service required in this area.

"Why we feel that the loan scale should be changed to include split grades.

"Emphasize the necessity for standard lighting and humidity throughout all Smith-Doxey classing offices."

Harmon presided at the meeting. Counties represented were Swisher, Hale, Floyd, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Lubbock, Dawson, Hockley and Lamb.

In 1950 Canada had 57,996.6 miles of railway track.

New Ironite Automatic Ironer That Rolls Into Closet Is Now On Market

A new Ironite automatic ironer that folds up and rolls away into a closet for storage is being handled by Nelson's Hardware. The new ironer, called the Portaway, weighs 62 pounds, making it easy to handle and roll from room to room on its casters. When folded, it takes only 15x17 inches of floor space. Equally important, it is less expensive than deluxe models. Nelson Naylor, owner and operator of Nelson's Hardware, said "The new Portaway will put automatic ironing within the reach of almost every homemaker, because it is so easy to store, even in small homes and apartments, and because the price makes it easy to buy. The ironer is operated by a knee control, leaving the woman's hands free to handle the clothes. It has two completely usable open ends and ironing points that allow the user to iron tucks, ruffles and gathers. Said Mr. Naylor, "The manufacturer points out that this ironer can iron everything in the wash basket, leaving nothing to finish by hand."

Victim of Polio Establishes Personalized Recording Business

Example of how well a life can be arranged... of this tragic disease... well as for those whom... war and other causes... completely change their... everyday living is mirror... B. K. Rodgers of Grants... who is a sister-in-law... of this city, own... of Rodgers Furniture... who knew Mrs. Rodgers... was stricken with polio... of 1948, remember her as... attractive young matron... her husband and young... had so recently learned... and contented with her... and motherhood and... helping her husband at... store, which he operat...

and doing all the house work alone. Her husband, who Mrs. Rodgers will argue, is the most considerate and perfect husband and father in the world, soon learned to not try and help her with anything about the house excepting those things that were impossible for her to do herself. By the fall of 1950 when her small son entered school, she had devised ways and means to do her house work in almost the same time as before polio struck, and while her son was in school she accompanied her husband to the store to assist him in his business and to aid in every way possible to recuperate the financial expenses that had been such a burden during her long period of convalescence. By this time she had happily discarded one leg brace and was getting around marvelously well with the aid of crutches and was living an almost normal family life. In June, 1951, she had a bone operation and in a very short time she was up and around, and she and her husband acquired the "Western Shop" at Grants from Amos Leach, and combined it with their variety store, and the prospects for the future seemed bright. Then, in February, 1952, another rebuff came. She was taken ill, and was again a patient at a hospital, this time for a major kidney operation. Upon returning home again, she went back to helping out at the store, although this time her activities were more limited as she could not stand on her feet for too long a period of time.

In the meantime, Mr. Rodgers had purchased a recording machine for use at the store. After a time he took the machine home to make some voice recordings of their son, Larry. In February, 1953, Mrs. Rodgers got the idea of making recordings for children, personalized records. She started the project and it has been received very enthusiastically. She writes her own stories for different occasions. She is much interested in her new project.

It is something she can do and likes to do, and she hopes to be able to help her husband financially, thereby gaining a little more personal self confidence and independence.

Inasmuch as this is a very specialized service, it is believed that many people, should they learn about this worthy woman working out such clever ideas in personalized recordings for children, would like to take advantage of this service.

In an interview with Mrs. Earl Rodgers here, she stated that her sister-in-law would be happy to receive any orders from readers of this newspaper for personalized recordings. Should any mothers wish to order recordings for their children, they are reminded that Mrs. B. K. Rodgers' address is P. O. Box 36, Grants, New Mexico, or phone number, 102-N. M., Grants New Mexico, and that she will need the following information: Name and age; Occasion; Names of other members in family; names of special posts. The records sell for $1 postpaid.

"ANDY" ADAMS TO HANDLE FIELD COURSE FOR EUROPEAN VISITORS

D. A. "Andy" Adams, staff assistant for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been granted leave for the period from April 24 through July 5 and will serve as a special field service consultant for the Mutual Security Agency. In making the announcement, Vice Chancellor D. W. Williams to the Texas A. & M. Eystem says, Adam will handle a special field short course for a group of some 25 radio farm directors from Europe. Adam was selected, adds Williams, because of previous experience in handling such groups and his knowledge of farm radio work.

The visiting radio farm broadcasters will come from Austria, Denmark, Germany, Norway and Yugoslavia. Adam will meet the group in Washington, D. C., on May 4. They will spend few days in the New England states and then go to Chicago to attend and participate in a clinic on International trade.

Some two weeks will be spent in the midwest where the group will be divided into small squads for intensive work with commercial radio stations and their farm editors.

They visit Texas A. & M. College from June 1 to June 4 and will be the only stop the group will make at a land-grant college. They will study in Texas, the work of the extension service editorial office as it relates to the use of radio as a means of disseminating information on agriculture and home economics.

The group will be in Houston from June 6-11 and will participate in a two day clinic on European farm radio and will take an active part in the summer meeting of the National Association of Radio Farm Directors which will be in session for part of the time the group is in Houston.

will return to Washington from will return to Washington from Houston, but will make several stops with radio farm directors.

The visitors will begin the return to their home countries on June 23.

Adams says the special training field short course is part of the technical exchange program and its purpose is to give training to men who are charged with the responsibility of improving the use of radio in getting agricultural and home economics information to the rural people of Europe.

Water Bill 126 Approved By House

AUSTIN (Special)—West Texas state representatives have high hopes that Senate Bill 126, allowing the construction of the Canadian River Dam Project, will perhaps now sail through the State Legislature without opposition. Last week the $85,000,000 project made its way through the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee—but only after it was amended by four South Plains representatives.

Senate Bill 126 drew fire in its original form from West Texas farmers after it passed the Senate. The Senators failed to notice that the bill allowed the Canadian River Dam Water Users Association to control the underground water in cities along its 12 city route. For example, if the dam didn't come up to par, member cities could have been forced to supply water to the project from their own underground watersystems.

This would have meant that one city could have been imposed upon to furnish water on a large scale basis to the project, and thus defeat the purpose of the entire project. Farmers in the area along the Canadian Dam route voiced heavy opposition to this part of the bill—explained that this measure would virtually cause an acute shortage of water in irrigated districts.

Committee Accepts Amendments
Representative Jesse M. Osborn of Muleshoe, was one of the South Plains' representatives that opposed the bill in its original form, and with Representatives Saul Kress, Reeves of Matador, and Gillham of Brownfield, offered five amendments to the bill—taking away the powers of underground water control from the water pact. Members of the House committee consented to adopt the amendments and passed the bill through its meeting as amended.

"Now we all are satisfied with S. B. 126", Osborn pointed out. Our farmers and ranchers certainly realize the need of more water for municipal purposes—but we must watch every course of conservation of water in our area. If the bill had passed an originally set up, farmers in the irrigation would have hindered our area's progress instead of being all we hope it to be in helping us".
Osborn stated that he and the

Safe Home Use of Insecticides

Use common sense along with insecticides for home safety and insect control. According to N. M. Randolph, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service insecticides have a place when properly used, to prevent damage by household enemies as roaches, ants, silverfish, flies and clothes moths. Carelessness can cause serious accidents.

The entomologist says insects which bother man, his food or his belongings, thrive especially in cities where households are close together. But generally in homes today, household insecticides have become as necessary as cleaning fluids or furniture polish, and should be treated with the same caution. Most insecticides are toxic, but they are no more dangerous than any other commonly-used household items. Safety rules for using insecticides are listed in Federal and State bulletins on insect control. Precautions, as well as instructions for safe use, are given on the labels of insecticide containers. If you follow these instructions, you can feel assured of safe use.

Some specific precautions, the specialist says, are to keep the insecticide away from food, dishes, silverware or cooking utensils. If you spill a concentrated insecticide on yourself, wash it off immediately with soap and water. Don't expose yourself to dust or spray mist in the air. Provide extra ventilation by opening doors and windows when extensive spraying or dusting jobs are done. Don't spray liquid insecticides into electrical outlets or on exposed connections where you might create a short-circuit. Don't apply oil-base insecticides near fire, flame, or sparks, and don't smoke while applying them. When you have finished applying an insecticide, dispose of the unused portions or return them to the original container. Clean the sprayer or dust, then wash with soap and water. Change your clothes if you have spilled insecticide on them.

And, one of the most important precautions—keep insecticides where children or pets can't get to them. Don't store them with foods or where they might be mistaken for food items.

Time to Start Fly Control Program Is Now

Early spring is the best time for a community to start a fly control program, declared Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer. That is before the fly population has a chance to multiply. It is estimated that one pair of flies, under favorable conditions, could have countless ancestors before winter.

Every time you kill a fly early in the season, and destroy breeding places, you stop whole colonies of flies before they can start. The most effective way of preventing swarms of flies is to destroy or make inaccessible to flies the organic material which attracts flies by their odors, and which are essential to them as food and breeding places.

Individual householders should make it their responsibility to clean up their own back yards. Garbage cans should have a tight fitting lid and they should be leak-proof. Inadequate facilities for storage of garbage and refuse usually result in widespread fly breeding. Uncovered or partially covered garbage containers produce odors that attract a large number of flies. Good window screens will do a lot to keep flies out of buildings, thereby protecting food from contamination by flyborne disease organisms.

There is no substitute for good sanitation in fly control. Every spot in town must be cleaned of garbage and trash. If a few places are left, swarms of flies will breed. A neglected stable on the edge of town will furnish a plague of flies for the entire neighborhood. After garbage and trash have been removed, insecticides will help to reduce the fly population in local spots. It is a temporary protection, however, and should be regarded only as a supplemental or emergency means of control. Insecticides spraying will be effective only if sanitary conditions are maintained throughout the summer.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

With experience, the young mother learns she doesn't have to call the doctor every time her child stubs a toe or skins a knee.

Wounds are of several kinds. Skinned places (a skinned knee or barked shin) are known as abrasions; irregular tears (as from a thorn) as lacerations; clean, regular cuts (as from a knife) as incised cuts; and a hold or stab wound (as from a nail) as puncture wounds.

In all but the last type, the wound should be washed thoroughly with soap and water, and an antiseptic and sterile dressing applied. Some bleeding is good, as it washes germs out. Puncture wounds which don't bleed freely are more likely to be serious, because they may become infected or cause lockjaw. They should be covered with a sterile dressing and treated by a doctor. Other wounds which should be treated by him are extensive wounds of the face, injuries to the eyes or ears, and any wounds treated at home which shows signs of infection (such as fever, swelling, redness, or a lump in the arm or groin).

Burns and scalds may be of varying degrees. A first degree burn affects only the top layer of skin, which becomes red. In second degree burns, blisters appear, and in third degree burns the deeper tissue is involved; it may be possible to see destroyed tissue.

A first degree burn that doesn't cover a large area may be treated by applying a burn ointment (such as petroleum jelly) and a bandage. If larger areas are burned or burns are deeper, a doctor should be called. In the meantime a clean sheet dipped in baking soda solution may be placed over the injured area. Clothing over a burned area should be cut away; if it sticks, only as much as will come off easily should be removed. Since burned skin is susceptible to disease germs, it is important to keep germs out.

Acids or alkalis (such as sulfuric acid or lye) should be washed off the skin immediately with large amounts of water. With any kind of burn pain should be relieved with aspirin or prescribed medicine.

Falling or wrenching a limb may cause a sprain, a strain, a bruise (contusion), or a broken bone (fracture). A sprain means cord-like attachments at joints (the ligaments) have been torn or stretched. A strain means muscles have been hurt. A bruise means blood has escaped into the tissue, causing "black and blue marks". For any of these the injured part should be put at rest. It should be raised, as with a sling for the wrist or a pillow for the foot or ankle. By applying cold (ice bag or cold cloths) some swelling may be prevented.

If (1) the patient feels or hears the bone snap, (2) there is pain or tenderness, (3) the limb bends or angles where it shouldn't, (4) there is loss of motion, or (5) swelling and later discoloration occur, the injury should be treated as a broken bone. If the patient must be moved, splints should be used. A splint is some kind of stiff material—wood, sturdy cardboard, cane, umbrella—placed parallel to the injured part and tied to keep the bone from moving. No effort should be made to put a misshapen limb back in place. The doctor will want to take an x-ray to determine its right position, then apply adhesive tape, a cast, or whatever he considers necessary.

By TED GOULDY

FORT WORTH—The likelihood that Southwestern cattlemen may well consider supplemental feeding of this year's calf crop to enhance the chances of selling many as beef calves loomed on the basis of the way the stocker market behaved in the opening session of the week at Fort Worth. Indifferent demand for stockers except cows and high grade calves and yearlings was notable. Reports from the Corn Belt points indicated feeders there aloof. A recent survey of the Corn Belt feeders intentions by the Wall Street Journal summed up the intention of many feeders to put their corn in the loan instead of into cattle feeding.

Some 200 head of high grade thin stocker steer yearlings from the Fort Davis country sold at Fort Worth Monday averaged 497 pounds at $19 per hundred. Most observers agreed these yearlings probably would have sold around $40 last year at this time. Stocker cows sold from $14 to $17, some had small calves at side and the calves sold around $17 to $20.

Slaughter cattle and calves were steady. Good and choice fed steers and yearlings topped at $18 to $23, some club yearlings from Knox County at $22 to $23, and plain and medium butcher cattle sold from $13 to $17.50. Fat cows drew $12.50 to $14.50, and canners and cutters sold for $9 to $12.50. Bulls brought $10 to $15. Good and choice fat calves sold at $18 to $22 and cull, common and medium grades sold for $10 to $17. Stocker calves and yearlings ranged from $15 to $20. Hogs sold at the highest price with soap and water and apply rubbing alcohol. Hold a rust-free needle (sterilized by passing the point several times through a flame) almost parallel to the surrounding skin and barely puncture the blister. Gentle pressure around the edges may be used to empty it, and a sterile dressing applied.

A beginning boil may be "brought to a head" by applying compressed soaked in a hot solution of Epsom salts or table salt. If the boil doesn't open, it may be opened like a blister. A small splinter can be removed with a sterilized needle, using a good light.

National Home Demonstration Week Observed May 3-9

40,000 women will be observed during National Home Demonstration Week which is observed May 3-9.

Bonnie Cox, acting demonstration leader, is annually set aside for members to join with friends in paying tribute to the efforts to make "Tomorrow's Home" the theme of the 3,000,000 members of home demonstration clubs in the United States. Mrs. J. H. Williams, president of the Texas Home Demonstration Association, says, "some communities are aware of the workings of home demonstration clubs, others not at all. Perhaps members can spend a little more time this spring to make 1953 the year when several million more Americans find out what extension, through it program for women, is doing for America."

SUPT. A. A. DOOLEY RESIGNS POST

Superintendent A. A. Dooley resigned last week as superintendent of schools, effective July 1, at which time he plans to move to Gruver, Texas, to head the public schools there.

Mr. Dooley and family came to Sudan in 1949 from Happy, Texas, and it is understood that his contract does not expire until 1955. It is with much regret that the Sudan school board yields to his wishes, and relieves him of his duties at Sudan.

SUDAN TO VOTE ON BOND ISSUE

A record number of qualified voters of the city of Sudan are expected to vote on the $20,000 bond issue which has been called for May 8 by the Sudan city commission.

The commission voted unanimously April 16 for the resolution and order for the issuance of the bonds for the purpose of constructing street improvements in the city.

Mayor Harold Close and members of the commission pointed out that issuance of the bonds would not raise evaluations or increase taxes here. "The city is in good enough shape financially that the bonds for the city's part of the paving project can be retired from the sinking fund," said Close.

It is a policy of the city of Sudan to pay one-third the cost of city paving, the property owners on either side of the project paying one-third the cost.

Should the issue carry, it is estimated that approximately 30 blocks of paving in the Ormand and Markham additions in Sudan would be paved.

The city of Sudan now boasts of 62 blocks of city paving, equal to any city of its size in Texas. With 30 more blocks of paving Sudan would then boast approximately 100 blocks of paving.

Sidelights From Washington
By Geo. Mahon

At this writing the decision has not been made as to whether there will be price support program on cottonseed this year. The question has been in the debate stage in the Department of Agriculture for weeks. I have been urging that the price of cottonseed be supported. Under the law, a support program is permissible but not mandatory. A ninety per cent of party support program has already been announced for soybeans, a competitive product.

Under the circumstances, I feel that a support program for cottonseed should be announced, and I think the chances are now fairly good that such a program will be provided. All cotton farmers have a direct interest in the matter. I agree that many complications are involved. A large cotton crop is anticipated and the Government already has on hand 437,500 tons of cottonseed oil.

The Senate has not taken action on the bill which would continue in operation beyond 1953 the law which provides for the importation of agricultural labor. On April 15, by a vote of 259 to 87, the House voted to continue the measure in its present form for three additional years. The law should be amended, but the members of the House Committee on Agriculture who sponsored the legislation were afraid to seek a change, fearing that such action might result in defeat in both the amendments and the resolution to continue the program. In a speech in the House, I pointed out that the present program was lopsided in favor of Mexico and called for a more satisfactory administration of the law.

Some time ago, I joined with members of the Farm Bureau and cotton producers, generally, in urging the establishment of an additional cotton classing office in West Texas. Department of Agriculture officials have now turned down the proposal. On Monday of this week, I appeared before the House sub-committee on agricultural appropriations in an effort to promote the West Texas application. Present prospects, unfortunately, are not good.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby has become the first Texan in President Eisenhower's Cabinet. I joined with others in creating the new position which she now occupies. I think she is a very capable person. I first became acquainted with her during World War II when she was head of the WACS. At that time, she frequently appeared as a witness before congressional committees. Secretary of the Navy Robert Anderson is from Texas, but he is not a member of the cabinet. The cabinet position is occupied by the Secretary of Defense and not by the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

...was the big day for the girls who placed animals at the Lamb County Junior Show.

...at Littlefield at 7:00 a. m. first stop at the Tommy Angus Ranch at Fort San Angelo was spent visiting interest in Austin. Monday had the opportunity to state government with both houses of the legislature a visit with the governor in Austin.

...Mrs. Bob Crowell accompanied the girls on the trip, sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary of Agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, says, "The good cotton crops of the past two years have supplied the needs for domestic consumption and exports, and they also have rebuilt reserve supplies. Export demand has also been falling off from the levels of recent years. It will, therefore, not be necessary, or desirable, for farmers to produce as big a crop this year. A production of 12 to 12.5 million bales now appears to be desirable in 1953."

Planting reduced nationally by about 18 percent from 1952 would, with average yields, produce a crop of 12 to 12.5 million bales.

Farmers of Texas should study the cotton situation thoroughly and decide in their own interest and in the interest of their producing neighbors whether they will decrease the cotton acreage, increase it or leave the acreage devoted to cotton the same as it was in 1952. It is entirely up to them in 1953.

What is done by them will effect returns this year, and also influence the problems of cotton supply, price support and production control in the next few years.

We will attempt through the following QUESTIONS and ANSWERS to point out some of the important factors that should be considered in "sizing up" the cotton outlook in order that farmers may have a better basis to make their own decision.

Question: What are some of the "UNKNOWN" factors that will affect the outlook for cotton?

Answer: The greatest unknown factor is the present war. Which way is the Korean war going? Will it spread into a much larger war? Will the Korean war continue in the present pattern or will we have peace? We don't know. The answers to these questions are unknown. However, if the international situation should become more critical, there would be a larger demand for cotton and more generous buying of cotton for stock-piling, causing prices to rise.

If the international situation should become less critical there would be less demand for cotton, which would bring larger supplies and lower prices.

Another unknown factor is the amount of grants and loans that will be made available by the United States Government to foreign countries to buy cotton in the years ahead. This will have an effect upon our foreign markets.

Still another unknown effecting foreign markets, is the extent to which foreign countries will use their available dollars to purchase cotton produced in the United States.

Furthermore, laws governing acreage allotments, marketing quotas and price supports may be changed at anytime if congress deems it necessary.

Question: Assuming that the unknown factors will not change much from the present, what are some of the more important known factors that should be considered in analyzing the cotton situation in 1953?

Answer: The supply of cotton. The demand for cotton.

The part the government will play, and the trend in prices that cotton producers will have to pay for production items.

Question: Since supply is important, what will be the carry-over in the United States on August 1, 1953?

Answer: The carry-over is expected to be about 4.3 million bales, approximately 1.5 million bales above that of August 1, 1952. This is a 65 percent increase in carry-over compared to the same date in 1952. One reason for this increase is that disappearance (consumption, exports, etc.) of cotton for the year August 1, 1952 to July 31, 1953 will probably be more than 1,000,000 bales less than the year before. As a result of this increase in carry-over, our 1953 harvested cotton will have to compete with increasing supplies.

Question: What is the outlook for the foreign cotton supply?

Answer: It is estimated that in the non-communist foreign producing countries, the carry-over on August 1, 1953, will probably be about six hundred thousand bales larger than on the same date in 1952. The accuracy of date for communist countries is so uncertain that the above information excludes them.

Question: Will total disappearance of cotton increase or decrease in the United States for the crop year August 1, 1953 to July 31, 1954?

Answer: Disappearance of cotton in the United States in the 1953-54 crop year will probably be smaller than in the previous year of 1952-53. Business activity may level off in the last half of 1953, if defense expenditures are stabilized. It is estimated that inventories of textiles on July 31, 1953, the end of the current season, will be adequate.

Answer: Exports during the present season, August 1, 1952 to July 31, 1953, are expected to be slightly more than 4 million bales compared to 5.5 million bales last year or a 37.5 percent reduction. Foreign developments now indicate smaller export markets for the 1953-54 crop year.

Question: What about price supports for the 1953 upland cotton crop?

Answer: The United States Department of Agriculture announced on February 6, 1953, that the minimum level of price support for 1953 crop upland cotton, basis middling 7/8 inch, will be 30.30 cents per pound, gross weight. This is 90 percent of the current parity price of 34.22 cents per pound. In the event that 90 percent of parity on August 1, 1953, (The beginning of the 1953 marketing year), is higher than the level announced on February 26, 1953, the levels of price supports will be increased accordingly.

There will be no marketing quotas on the 1953 cotton crop.

Question: Will the 1953 cotton plantings be considered in calculating state and county acreage allotments and individual farm allotments in 1954 if acreage controls are resumed?

Answer: Under the present law and if acreage controls should be resumed for the 1954 cotton crop, the 1953 planting will not be included in calculating state and county acreage allotments. But the 1953 plantings may have a definite bearing on acreage allotments in 1954 for some individual farms of the state unless the law is changed. However, unless the law is revised, 1953 plantings would be included in calculating state and county acreage allotments for the 1955 crop.

Answer: The price-cost squeeze for cotton producers will probably be tighter in 1953. Labor, machinery, motor fuels, fertilizers and miscellaneous farm supplies will probably average slightly higher in 1953. However, the prices of insecticides will not be much different from those of 1952.

What is believed to have been the first "artificial" precipitation was produced in 1946 by spraying a cloud with dry ice.

It includes, as standard equipment, many features that are optional at extra cost on other trucks.

As a tractor—or as a truck—it can increase your hauling ability, give you impressively better equipment—and save you both purchase and operating money to boot.

Farm Population Note

The population living on U. S. numbered 24,819,000 in April, 1952, says a co-operative report by the Bureau of the Census and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. For April 1950, the (revised) population on farms is 25,058,000. This causes the estimate of farm population to be 15.9 per cent of the total U. S. population as of April, 1952. In 1950 it was 16.6 per cent. Males numbered 12,719,000 and females 12,339,000 according to the latest 1952 estimate. Children under 14 years totaled 8,120,000, and all persons 14 years and over were 16,939,000 on our farms.

A Change for Your Vanity Table . . .

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Beauty Editor

It's normal to primp and pamper yourself. That's the fun of being a woman. So don't let the boys intimidate you into shy peeks in the looking glass.

Go all out with your feminine traits. Seek flattering coiffures, chic hats, glamorous makeup. Women have been stressing their femininity since the fig-leaf era.

Spring is the time for the fancy doo-dad, the glamorous gimmick, and perhaps even a new or that first vanity table, or the refurbishing of an old one.

Neophytes to beautyland should know that a pamper corner in the bedroom is absolutely essential to their charm.

It's all done with mirrors. Here's how:

1. If you don't own a dressing table, consider these suggestions for assembling one at little cost and effort:
  - (a) Take two small cardboard or wood chests, nail a sturdy board across them leaving several feet in between. On top of the board place a mirror to exact size. Hang another mirror on the wall, put a frilly dressing table skirt around the table . . .
  - (b) Put a narrow shelf-type ledge along a wall, perhaps in the bath room if there is no other space. Cover it with a mirror. Hang a skirt from it. The underneath part can be used to conceal cleaning implements, etc. . . .
  - (c) Take an old fashioned vanity table, perhaps one found in the attic or second-hand store (the kind that used to be available with 5-piece bedroom suites), rip off the triple mirror, pickle or antique the table, hang a modern or framed mirror above it.
2. If you own a primping table, give it a good facial occasionally. Clean the drawers, discarding old bits of lipstick, eyebrow pencil and other dated cosmetics. These are likely to become stale, faded and scentless, and you may be tempted to use them sometime.
3. Keep your supply of cosmetics in your vanity drawers. Powder and greasy jars can mess up table surfaces.
4. A beauty bib kept in the vanity drawer will come in handy to protect your garments from flying specks of powder, flecks of dandruff or hair when you are grooming yourself.

5. Keep bobby pins, hairpins, and other small objects in little containers. Wash your comb and brushes at least once a week.
6. The dressing table skirt should be laundered whenever it seems to lose its zip or look dusty. If the skirt is made of sturdy washable materials, it will be easy to care for.

7. If you have the space, have an enormous Hollywood-style vanity table. Put it near the window for good light. Top it with a pretty lamp and a vase for flowers.

Every time you feel depressed, sit at your vanity table and do something to yourself in the interest of beauty. Pinurl your hair, give yourself a face mask, tweeze your eyebrows, try on a "new mouth" with your lipstick, manure your nails.

There are charming vanity table accessories available to any girl to put her in a completely feminine mood. Some new dressing table containers are fired of glass in the opaque blue of Wedgwood Jasperware with the famous "Dancing Hours" motif.

PAMPER YOURSELF . . . A pretty vanity table can lift the spirits. The Wedgwood jars with "Dancing Hours" motif are new, in the blue.

What You Should Know When Buying Nylon Hosiery

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

There's news in the nylons this year, important to the woman who wants to get the most for her money. New manufacturing techniques have produced hosiery sheerer than ever before, and also long-wearing qualities in slightly heavier stockings for everyday wear.

Experts of the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers advise women to buy several weights and styles of hosiery for different purposes—the glamorous ultra-sheer kind of dress-up and evening wear, the sturdy, long-wearing kind for around-the-house and for sports. In addition there are "knee-high" stockings for summer wear.

Newest in the glamor stocking brigade is a crepe finish achieved by a new twist of the yarn which adds to the wearing qualities and produces a soft, dull finish instead of the high shine common to many nylons. The yarn is prepared by a highly complicated process which first twists nylon with silk, crimps it, then dissolves the silk, leaving a crepey nylon thread from which the stockings are knitted.

Know your nylons before you start to shop, and look for the right hosiery for the right purpose.

INSURED STOCKINGS . . . For long-distance wear, snag and run-resistant. (Ironwear)

KNEE-HIGH . . . New sheer nylons which stay up without garters, for summer. (Holeproof)

DE-SHINED NYLONS . . . A new twist gives dull crepe finish to cobwebby nylons.

NO MONTHLY CRAMPS... not even on the VERY FIRST DAY!

Doctors' tests show amazing preventive relief of pain, backaches, nervous feelings

Women and girls who suffer from the functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches due to menstruation—who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" every month—may be suffering quite needlessly! Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stopped or gave amazing relief of such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases... even on the very first and worst day of the period! Real medical evidence goes to show that Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, with added iron, is wonderful for "hot flashes" and other functional distresses of the "change of life" type.

Lydia Pinkham's Compound has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (menstruation) which may often cause menstrual pain.
