Hockley County Considers Need Of Junior College

Does Hockley County need a Junior College, and if so, is the County financially able to put the deal over to establish and maintain it afterwards? These are questions which the people of the county will likely be called upon to answer in the near future, according to the Anton News.

Hockley County school officials, together with those who are familiar with the financial status of the county have stated to the News that the county does need a junior college and that the county is amply able to finance such an institution.

It is understood that if the college is established, transportation will be provided to go over the county and bring the boys and girls in to college and return them home in the afternoon. This would give our boys two years of college work with out them leaving home.

With the immense oil wealth of the county, only a small tax would be required to supply sufficient financial support for the school.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

I Have A
"Close Squeak"!

Spent last Saturday morning wandering all over the house. Wherever I went—upstairs or down—I kept hearing a "squeak." Couldn't find out where it was coming from until noon-time when the missus came home from her weekly shopping.

"Listen," I says to her, "hear that squeak?" I started walking real quiet-like across the kitchen and there it went again! "Joe Marsh," she laughs, "that is nothing but your suspender clips rubbing back and forth when you walk!" And darned if it wasn't!

From where I sit, I'd been letting a little thing become a serious problem. Like some little difference of opinion or taste will start off a great big argument. I may prefer a temperate glass of beer with my dinner—while the missus likes tea—but we figure that no two people have exactly the same likes and dislikes. So, why get all "het up" about it?

The moral is, check your suspenders—and check your temper when it comes to little things.

Anton Baptists Plan Immediate Start on Building

The Rev. Everet Springfield, pastor of the Anton First Baptist Church, has announced the offering for the building fund last Sunday totaled more than ten thousand dollars. With the five thousand already in the fund the church has a total of more than fifteen thousand as a starter for the new educational building for the church.

It is expected that action will be taken immediately to get the building under way. Building plans call for a building 40x92, two stories.

A Bow To A Good Fellow

Santa Claus will be in Littlefield this Friday and while he's here it might be a good occasion for both young and old to pay off a long-due obligation.

Wouldn't it be a nice idea when Santa comes to Littlefield for all of us to thank him for the things he has done and is doing for youngsters of this and all generations past to bring happiness on Christmas morning?

Santa Claus is probably little different than most of us common, ordinary humans and he doubtless would like to be told that the gifts he leaves are truly appreciated by the boys and girls he visits while they are fast asleep Christmas eve.

How nice it would make the old fellow feel if the boys and girls who see him Friday to tell him what they would like to have this Christmas would also tell him how much they liked the doll, the train, the little red wagon or the other nice things that he left them last year.

And we of the older generation might also thank him for the Christmases gone by when we tumbled out of bed Christmas morning, in breathless haste to see what he had left us. And if we are among those fortunate enough that our parents still live, we might also tell them that we still remember and appreciate all the things of our childhood days that made Christmas so wonderful.

Maybe they, too, like Santa himself, would be made happy to think we still remember with gratitude the loving efforts and—sometimes—the sacrifices that were made to bring us happiness.

Moral Progress

Material development is not incompatible with spiritual advancement, says the Amarillo News-Globe. On the other hand, according to the noted French philosopher, Jacques Martian, mankind's greatest moral progress has been made in those localities where he has made the most of his environment in the improvement of his physical resources.

Dr. Martian, now connected with Princeton University, says that it is a part of man's moral obligation to make the most of his resources. In that way only can he be of more value to his fellow men, which is, after all, the highest of all obligations.

Such spiritual decadence as modern nations have fallen into come from a misconception of all that is involved in those over-worked words—individual freedom and liberty.

In asking for a fresh and creative philosophy which all can understand, Dr. Martian takes to ask the 18th Century theories of such thinkers as Kant and Rousseau, who over-stressed individual rights and lost sight of the obligations of each to society as a whole.

"The rights of the human person were to be based on the claim that man is subject to no other law than that of his own will and freedom. This philosophy built on solid foundations for the 'rights' because it led men to believe they were objectives in themselves. When men thus instructed clashed on all sides with others because of selfishness, they came to believe in the bankruptcy of the rights of the human person.

"Some have turned against these 'rights' with an enslaver's fury; some have continued to evoke them, while in their inmost conscience they are weighed down with skepticism, which has become one of the most alarming symptoms of our present crisis. A philosophy which recognizes fact alone and rejects the concept of value is doomed to disaster."

A Backward Step

An attempt reportedly is developing in Washington, in anticipation of the new session of Congress which will be convened in January, to restore the enormous powers used—and frequently abused—by the House Rules committee until they were curbed nearly two years ago.

Under the former procedure, no legislation could be considered by the House as a whole without clearance from the Rules group, composed of 12 members. The result was that many meritorious bills, including some which unquestionably had overwhelming popular support, were blocked. As one example, the Rules committee helped to delay the repeal of oleomargarine taxes for many years.

The abuses finally led to remedial steps. Chairmen of various other committees now can force bills upon the floor of the House for debate and action if the Rules group refuses to do so.

In curbing the power of the Rules committee, most observers agree, members of the House greatly enlarged one of the worst congressional bottlenecks to expeditious action on pending legislation. A restoration of those powers would be a step backward for the Lower House of Congress, the Lubbock Avalanche asserts. It would re-apply a brake upon legislative processes which deservedly are notorious, in too many instances, for their snail-like pace.

Mo Saves the Animals

BY FAITH HELEN FAUST.

Mo was a bay colt. He stayed in a small pasture in the day time and at night he was put into the barn to sleep with his mother in a big stall. But Mo would not sleep at night. He would always raise a loud noise and keep the animals awake.

One night after he was fed the farmer put him in a pen beside the barn. Mo heard something about being "sold." Mo shuddered. He knew what being sold was.

Mo was terribly frightened. He might be sold to a mean man who would whip him for making noise at night. Mo didn't want to leave his mother either. He was probably being sold for making noise at night. He decided not to make any more noise.

Mo was worried a long time about being sold. Then he went to sleep. About the middle of the night Mo smelled something. It was coming from the side of the barn. The haystack was on fire! Mo could see it from his pen.

Having never seen fire before Mo watched how it burned up the hay and left everything black. The fire crawled up the barn wall. Then Mo realized it would burn up the animals and might burn him up.

Mo danced around and then began running back and forth whinnying loudly.

The farmer woke up and looked out the window. Suddenly he shouted "Fire!" and everyone was awake. Using the garden hose and working very fast all the animals were taken out and the fire was put out.

"Well," said the farmer, "I'm not going to sell Mo now."

Mo was very happy and he doesn't make any noise at night any more.

Workman Sustains Broken Arm in Fall Saturday

Dr. R. E. Maurer set his arm, and put it in a cast. He did not remain at the hospital.

He is getting along nicely, but is remaining in Littlefield to have his arm attended to.

Car Damaged By Hit and Run Driver

In a head-on collision on highway 82 near Henrietta, Texas, the automobile driven by D. W. Holliday, Jr. of Littlefield, who was enroute to Littlefield for Thanksgiving, was somewhat damaged. The driver of the other automobile continued on his way. The left front and side fenders of the Holliday car were badly broken.

Holliday, who is in the Air Force and stationed at Perrin Air Field base at Sherman, Texas, did not get the number of the hit-and-run driver.

Holliday was driving a 1947 Mercury.

He reported the accident to the Highway Department here on his arrival in Littlefield.

BULL LAKE PHILOSOPHER TAKES ISSUE WITH NOTED WRITER'S IDEA

Dear Editor:

I read in a newspaper which fell out of an airplane which passed over my farm yesterday, it's about time I was getting something for the use of the air above my place. I know I didn't put the air there but I come about as close to doin' it as oilmen did puttin' oil under the ground or deer hunters did puttin' deer in the woods and if any of us can cash in on such things I'm in favor of it, where

Louis Bromfield, the celebrated writer who farms, said the other day that higher efficiency in farming will solve all our agricultural ills.

Bein' a farmer who writes instead of a writer who farms, I don't like to disagree with such an expert, but as far as I'm concerned higher efficiency is one of the worse ways on earth of solvin' farmin' problems.

You take the average efficient man, don't make no difference whether he's a farmer or a banker or a business man, and put him in charge and turn him loose out here on my farm and he'd improve it or make a physical wreck out of me tryin'. When most people talk about efficiency, they mean a lot of hard work for somebody else. I know without bein' told that Johnson grass in a crop of cotton or corn ain't no efficient way to grow cotton or corn, but I know what it would take to get rid of the grass and that's where me and efficiency lose interest in each other. Gettin' rid of Johnson grass is efficiency, all right, but it blame sure don't solve no ills, as far as I'm concerned.

Likewise, an efficient farmer wouldn't have no broken down, patched up fences, but since I'm aware of what it takes to get a new fence out here, you don't just go to the back door and order one and go back to your newspaper feelin' efficient, I got sense enough to see an efficient fence a lot more work on me than I could get more than a day from my milk cow her more, but to do that to work more, and after a period of study I have to difference how inefficient suits me, and beyond that it's body else's business.

Efficiency is a fine thing you can sure run it in the biems, but the new ones bring on might be even when I get use to a new swappin' 'em off for a ent ones.

Yours faithfully J. A.

Anton Lions Plan Football Dinner For School Team

The Anton Lions will honor the high school football team of that city with a supper again this year, as is their custom. As an added attraction for the boys, the film of the Notre Dame-SMU game will be shown.

The Lions voted to authorize the purchase of two pictures which will be placed in the local school building. This project is under the sponsorship of the Anton Study clubs.

Also J. G. Greer and Hobert Lewis passed out cards seeking pledges for money to support the Boy Scout Council.

Some time before January 1, the Lions Club will select the Man of the year for Anton. A committee composed of J. G. Greer, K. W. Wells, and H. G. Richards are to select outstanding people to be nominated for the honor. The club will then select the most useful citizen for 1950.

Car Crash Fatal To Negro Worker

Willis Gray, 33, itinerant Negro cotton field worker of Tatum, Texas, was killed when a car in which he was riding with two other Negroes overturned Sunday morning in the Oklahoma Flats area.

His two companions, O. B. McClendon and Clifton Mask, both of Sudan, were in serious condition in the Amherst Co-Op hospital.

The accident near Amherst occurred as the 1941 Ford in which the men were riding hit a soft shoulder and overturned at least four times, according to highway patrolmen.

Gray's body was taken to Lubbock to the South Plains Funeral home where efforts were being made to contact relatives in Tatum, Henderson or Longview.

Hospital attendants said McClendon sustained fascial laceration and a possible skull injury while Mask suffered fractured arms and several severe lacerations.

Goldsmith, 3024 Curran, Louisville, Ky., owner of State Store at 935 West 1st, says there just aren't words in the English language to praise HADACOL. He says he knows most people realize what a change HADACOL can make in their life systems are deficient in B, B₁₂, Iron and Niacin.

Mr. Goldsmith's statement: "I started taking HADACOL and I feel like I've run down and nervous and a hard time sleeping. I do my work in the store and spend sometimes 14 hours on my feet. Since I am in business I saw how many people were asking for HADACOL and I decided to try it myself. After a couple of bottles I could feel a definite improvement. Now I feel the pep and energy in the system. I really do get a good rest. HADACOL is wonderful. It not only takes it, but it gives it to all my customers. I put HADACOL on the shelves."

HADACOL Is So Different — HADACOL is so different from other products whose systems lack B₁₂, B₆, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL is so wonderful because it helps build up the content of your system (iron is needed) to give you great Vitamins and to every body organ — part of the body. Remarkable HADACOL and if you don't feel better after a few bottles you take your money back. Only Trial Size, Large Family Size, $3.50. The Labrador retriever is not a native of Labrador but was brought to Newfoundland by early British traders.

The exceptionally thick hair of the Labrador retriever makes it a good dog for hunting water fowl in cold weather.

The Levelland Lobos and Shamrock Irish will clash at 2:30 Friday in Amarillo in their regional playoff game.

Representatives of the two schools met at the Snyder hotel in Pampa following Shamrock's 20-6 bi-district victory over Hereford and the Lobo 45-21 win over Spur.

Representing Levelland were O. W. Marcom, superintendent of schools; and Coaches Truett Rattan, Pat Bailey and Gano Tubb. Shamrock was represented by Superintendent Elmer Moore and Coaches Scott McCall, H. W. Callan and Clarence Morris.

Officials designated to cover the game are Joe Holmes, referee; Bill Feren, umpire; D. O. Cornelius, head linesman, and C. E. Smith, field judge. Alternates are Bob Greer and C. E. Jernigan.

The wearing of tartans was illegal in Scotland two centuries ago because they were the symbol of clan authority, which the British were trying to wipe out.

The design of Scottish tartans tells the wearer's family, home district and clan leader.

CHIROPRACTIC

SCOPE OF CHIROPRACTIC:

Dr. H. C. Lewis

It is a mistaken idea that the Chiropractic is of service only in those sicknesses where pain is in the spine. The great majority of human ailments have their origin in the spine even though they are manifest in remote parts of the body. Nor is it a well-founded belief that Chiropractors only care for those cases which are chronic in form and upon which all other methods have failed. He is equally efficient in eliminating the cause of acute conditions; and when one sees an acute condition disappear, under the Chiropractor's care, it should be remembered that there is nothing mysterious or unusual in this fact. It is merely the expression of a normal, reasonable law of health upon which Chiropractic is built. Chiropractic stands upon its merits alone. In the past fifty years it has grown from an unknown system to one in which millions have absolute faith because of its achievements built upon the sound foundations of logical reason.

"Can We Ignore Such Amazing Results?"
(CASE HISTORIES TAKEN FROM TCS FILES)

High Blood Pressure:

CASE NO. 29, female, age 45. This patient came to our offices suffering from high blood pressure, was dizzy and felt weak, and had severe headaches. After completing analysis this lady was adjusted, and after the first adjustment her blood pressure came down to normal—when this lady was diagnosed all symptoms had disappeared.

Convulsions:

CASE NO. 356: A young woman who for 17 years had been having as many as ten to fifteen convulsions daily. Treated for epilepsy without avail. Under special treatments for years without benefit. All hope for recovery had gone, when a friend advised Chiropractic. A Spinal X-ray revealed a marked disarrangement of the neck, the result of a fall suffered when a child. Adjustments were commenced and after only a few months she was 95 per cent better.
