LITTLEFIELD CITIZENS VOTE FOR INCORPORATION OF THE CITY & ELECT THE FIRST COMMISSIONERS

Littlefield is no longer a wide place in the road, but an honest to goodness little city, under the laws of the State of Texas, with a bunch of "City Fathers" to look after her interests, and all the rights and privileges to grow as big as Dallas, Kansas City or Chicago.

Last Saturday, in compliance with a petition previously presented to the County Commissioners' Court and a mandate issued out of that tribunal, the citizens residing within the proposed corporate bounds of Littlefield cast their ballots pro and con.

There were 109 votes for incorporation under the commission form of government, and only four against.

The first set of officers for the new town were also voted on at the same time, the vote being as follows:

For Mayor:
 B. L. Cogdill 71
 E. S. Rowe 34
 A. P. Duggan 4
 W. G. Street 2

For Commissioners
 J. M. Stokes 66
 M. L. Crockett 68
 W. G. Street 45
 A. P. Duggan 39

The men elected to form the first city council are all among the leading citizens of the town all being business men of proven ability, and they have the confidence of the public generally that they will use their very best endeavors toward putting forth means and measures that will be to the advancement of the town and the community at large.

LITTLEFIELD SCHOOLS BEGIN SEPTEMBER 8; GET STATE MONEY

The Littlefield Consolidated District is all set to begin school on September 8th. During the week of 1-5 the teachers of Littlefield and Lamb county will attend institute at Lubbock, the school opening the following Monday.

As the new high school building will not be completed until about November 1, the pupils will have to be crowded into the grammar school building until the new accommodations are available.

It is now estimated that there will be more than 500 pupils to enroll the first day of the fall term.

There will be available for school purposes this year about $46,000 in tax money from the district, plus $7,715 which will be received from the State. Of this latter amount $6,440 is per capita money, based on 460 scholastics, $900 applies on the salary of the vocational agriculture teacher and $375 applies on the salary of the teacher of domestic science.

It is also reported by State Superintendent Marrs that the first apportionment of state money will be paid the schools about September 1, something that has heretofore never been done in the history of the state. The amount of state money this year is $14 per capita, or fifty cents more than was paid last year.

The line-up of teachers for the Littlefield schools this year is as follows:

R. L. Speight, Superintendent.

Ed D. Parnell, Principal of both high school and teacher of Miss Marie Patton, English. Vocational Agriculture.

Miss Patsie Lively, Home Economics.

Garland Lewis, Mathematics. W. E. Street, Principal Grammar grades.

Miss Woodie Light, Grammar and Public Speaking.

Miss Mona Horton, unassigned.

Miss Mae Morrison, unassigned.

Miss Christene Holland, unassigned and Spanish.

Mrs. E. S. Rowe, third grade.

Miss Bess Wallace, third grade.

Miss Vivian Courtney, second grade.

Mrs. Bessie Baze, first grade.

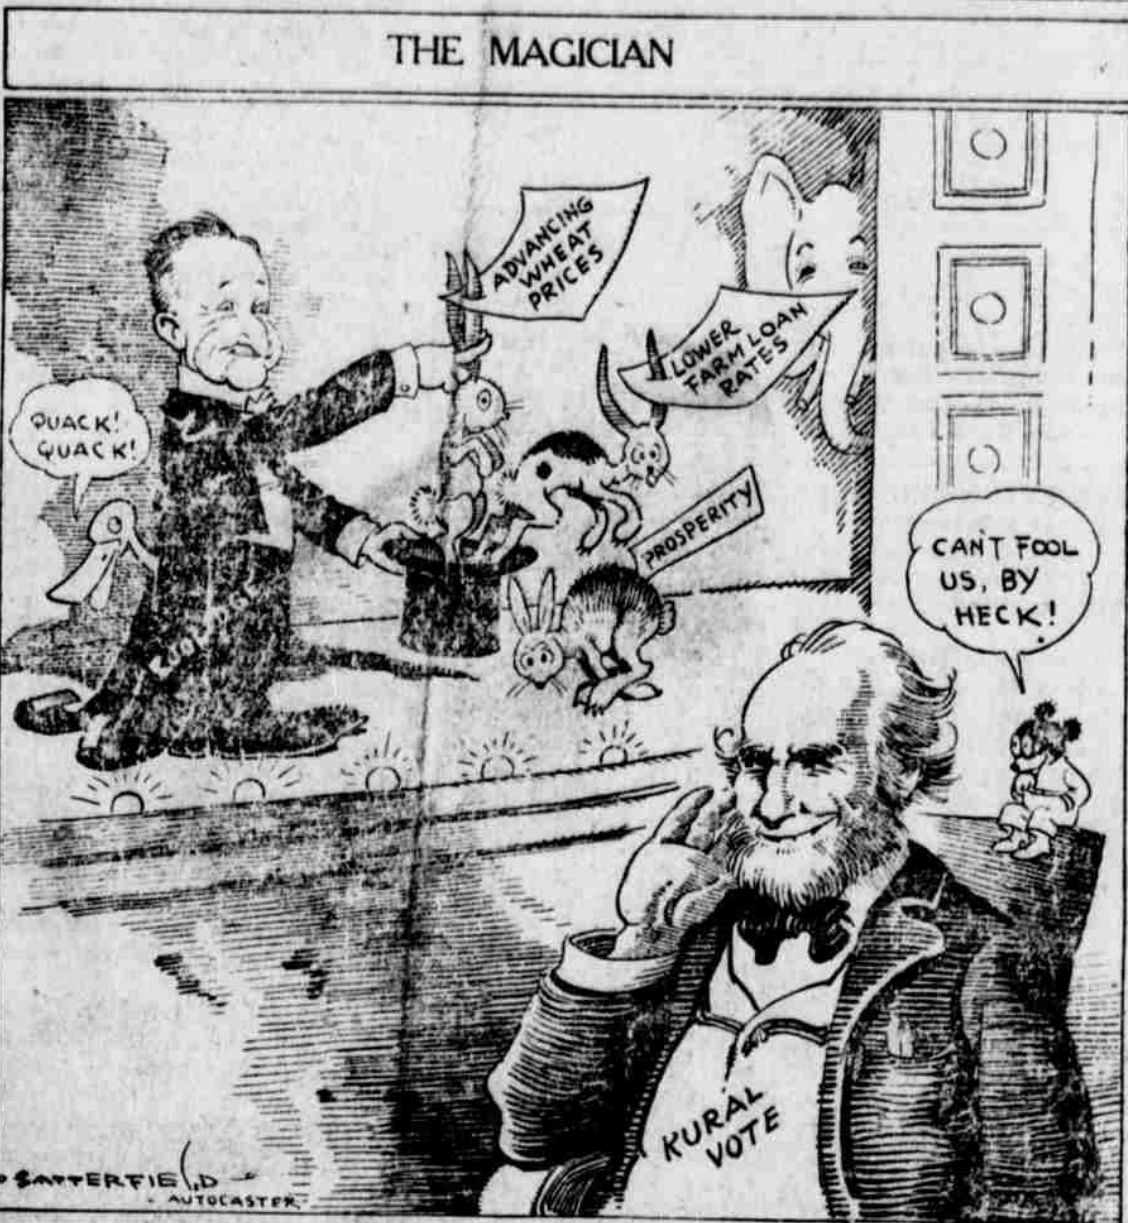

Miss Vada Walden, first grade.

FORT WORTH WILL HELP FARMERS GET HOGS

The Fort Worth Stock Yards Company is now prepared to co-operate with Chambers of Commerce, bankers and county agents, in securing well selected gilts not registered, at meat prices plus the cost of immunizing, freight, etc. There is now an 8,000,000 shortage in the pig crop; there are 200,000 farms in Texas without a pig of any kind; and it is costing Texas over $70,000,000 annually to buy pork products from other states; with a rising hog market, and the prospect of a fair row crop, it looks like it is time for the farmers of the State to restock their farms.

Respectfully yours,
 Porter A. Whaley, Mgr.

LEVELLAND P. M. IS HELD ON CHARGE OF MISHANDLING FUNDS

B. E. Gunn, postmaster at Levelland, Hockley county, was last week arraigned before United States Commissioner Bollie Scales at Amarillo on a charge of misappropriation of postal funds, and after waiving preliminary hearing, his bond was set at $5,000, which, according to report, Gunn was not able to fill. He was, in consequence remanded to the Potter County jail.

Officers state that several thousand dollars are involved in the alleged misappropriation, and that Gunn has made a complete confession.

The case will come to trial at the fall term of Federal Court, the accused having been bound over to wait the action of the Federal grand jury.

PLAINS GINNERS WILL HOLD A MEET AUGUST 16TH, AT LUBBOCK

The South Plains Ginners Association will hold its regular annual meeting in Lubbock the 16th of this month and advance reports indicate an attendance of more than 100 ginnermen, as against less than 25 three years ago.

Twenty-five new gins were completed in this territory last year and as many new gins are reported to be under construction over the territory at this time. Several communities are asking for gins for the coming fall.

From 86 bales in 1903, all of which was hauled an average of 80 miles to gin, to 153,000 bales in 1923 is a far cry, but is only indicative of what is to come, according to cotton experts who have studied the Plains country.

ADD TO OFFICE BUILDING

Hopping & Sullivan are this week finishing a addition to their land office building. When completed it will be occupied by offices for Miss Grayce Kelley, county health nurse, Miss Birdie Lee Burkhalter, county demonstrator, and E. C. Cundill, county tax assessor.

LOCAL MAN GIVES AN INTERVIEW ON THE LITTLEFIELD GROWTH

"The trade territory of the City of Littlefield will treble this fall."

That was the prediction made last week by Arthur P. Dugan, manager of the Yellowhouse Land Co., in speaking of the prospects of this city and the surrounding country. Those who know Mr. Dugan know that his association with the land and agricultural business in this section has made him a good judge of such matters and that his estimate for the increase in population is a conservative one.

In making his prediction Mr. Dugan was careful to explain that he had reference only to the Littlefield territory and not those sections served by Olton, Amherst, Morton and other nearby places.

Everything in the vicinity of Littlefield points to a bright future and a bumper fall business, Mr. Dugan stated. Eight thousand bales are expected to be ginned in the city of Littlefield alone this fall; such a mark being more than double the ginning done there in the fall of 1923. New gins, more acreage and better yields in the neighborhood point to the great increase this fall.

In speaking of the number of outside cotton pickers needed over the Littlefield territory this year Mr. Dugan estimated the total at two hundred. Estimates made by a number of local men on the number of imported pickers for the entire South Plains, agree at about 2,500, which, according to Mr. Dugan is a good estimate.

Littlefield is sharing the prosperity of the South Plains. Quite a bit of construction is under way at the present time, with more planned for the immediate future. Contracts have already been let for a new brick business structure, which will be 80 by 140 feet in size. A recent census taken in the city showed nearly six hundred residents and the people of the city voted Saturday to incorporate.

The breaking up of the Spade ranch will help Littlefield a great deal is the opinion of the business men of that place. The Spade tract is nearer to Littlefield than to Lubbock, the western line coming only six miles from the edge of the Lamb county to w.n.—South Plains Journal.

LITTLEFIELD VALUATION

According to Tax Assessor E. C. Cundill the City of Littlefield will have about $800,000 assessable property valuation for the benefit of the new city government.

Vocational Agricultural Course Is For Benefit of the Farmer's Sons

By Prof. R. L. SPEIGHT

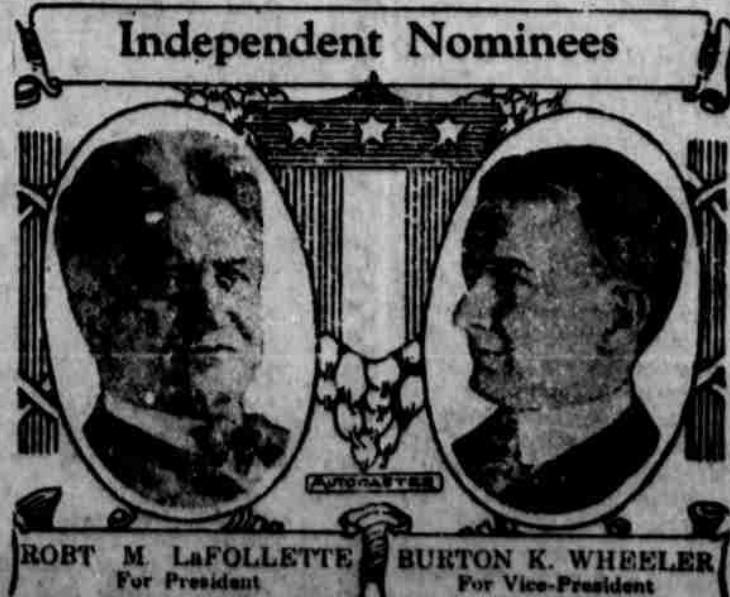

The course in Vocational Agriculture has been installed in the local schools to help build the greatest industry in Littlefield. The hope of this town is in the farms surrounding it. It has good farmers now; it will need better farmers in the future. Its farmers are intelligent men but they need to be learned in the art and science of farming.

The fact that some are failing while others are succeeding shows that all are not using the best methods. If some succeed it is proof, that with the proper amount of intelligence and hard work all could succeed.

So, fathers and mothers, the public school is seeking to help your boy make a success of farming. We are, through the vocational agricultural course, giving them a training which will make them want to stay on the farm, thus carrying on the work you have begun, and bringing to their parents renewed hope and inspiration.

At least nine out of every ten boys living on the farm will be farmers, so why not have these boys trained in their work, so they may be entitled to its greatest success? When your boy comes home and wants three or four pigs, a calf, a dozen hens, or an acre or two of ground for his home project, encourage him, help him to do his planning; someday he will grow up a successful young man of which you may well be proud.

Teachers of South Plains Will Be In Fall Session September 1 to 5

The South Plains Teachers' Institute will convene September 1-5, inclusive. A great get-together inspirational institute is planned. Besides the regular sectional leaders there will be with us prominent educators who will bring to us practical messages that will help us in the solution of the problems peculiar to our section of the state.

Dr. Hill will be with us for an address. Dr. Horn, though scheduled for work in another part of the state will stay over with us for at least a day that he may welcome this great body of teachers with whom he will be more or less associated and upon whose co-operation he wishes so much to depend. Each of the following will send representatives to us for ad-resses: The State Department of Education, The Vocational Department of Education of A. & M. College, State Teachers' Association, and the International League.

A continuous treat throughout the five days will be the work of Dr. Frederick Eby of the University of Texas. All interested in education, whether teachers or private citizens, are invited to enjoy this opportunity of hearing Dr. Eby.

The institute will be opened each morning by the various pastors of the city. Miss Dunn has been asked to arrange suitable music for the institute. County and city superintendents are asked to co-operate as fully as possible to make this institute a great help to their schools and teachers.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN

P. T. Barnum said there was one born every minute. But that was in the day before modern advertising methods were devised.

There is no occasion for being fooled when it comes to spending your money in this day and age. Patronize the merchants who have a name for fair dealing and honesty. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his patrons.

The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his goods. He knows they are good—he backs them up because he thinks they will satisfy. Only merchandise which is consistently good can be consistently advertised. So advertising protects you against fraud and inferiority. It tells you what is new and good, making you a wise buyer. It saves you money by pointing out for your consideration only the best products and the best place to buy them.

Thrifty men and women read the advertisements. To them, it is a plain, every-day business proposition—a duty they owe to themselves and to their pocket books.

Don't spend your money blindly. Read the advertisements in this paper and save money.

ANYTHING MIGHT HAPPEN

The South Plains is today enjoying the brightest crop prospects in all its agricultural history, yet with all of this, every day or so some pessimist persists in throwing cold water on the predictions of those who are hoping for the best. Some suggestions we have are as follows:

An August drouth or hail storm or any early frost may reduce the yield below the point where it would pay.

A cyclone (something never heard of on the South Plains) might come along and wipe everything from the face of the earth.

The insects, having cleaned up every thing below the Cap Rock, might take a sudden notion to swarm over the Plains country.

A circus might come to town and the elephants break loose and ruin every crop in sight.

And again, the world might come to an end before harvest time. So what's the use.

Notwithstanding all of this, most people are still happy over the crop prospects.

THE SPIDER'S MISSION

Mark Twain when editor of a small town paper received a letter from a superstitious subscriber, saying he had found a spider in his paper and asking if that was a sign of good luck or bad. The humorist printed the following answer:

"Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over the paper to see which merchant is not advertising so he can go to that store, spin his web across the door and live a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."—World's Work.

KEEP ON MOVING

There are some people who have come to the South Plains because they have heard crops can be raised here with very little work. There are still others who, along about this time of the year, when the sun begins to get hot and the weeds to thrive, will quit work in the fields.

Forming requires as intelligent action as any other kind of business, and it pays in the long run. No doubt crops can be raised in this section with less effort than many others, yet the farmer must keep on moving.

The smaller the town, the more girls that can crowd into a jitney.

Still the men who long for the old days would hate to go without socks.

If you please, it is now the City of Littlefield. Alright, let's go!

Now for a bigger, better and more beautiful Littlefield. We can have it.

The Lee Theatre this week installed another high power Motograph projecting machine to take the place of the Powers 3-A machine which was unsatisfactory.

During the short time the Lee has been operating here it is a noticeable fact that they have been showing a high grade of pictures that meets with the approval of the public generally, and the management is sparing no expense whatever to give the public the best pictures the market affords.

There will be a poultry show and big agricultural exhibit, and all the exhibits must be in place by nine o'clock, the morning of the 25th, as the judging will begin 30 minutes later.

Tents will be stretched for the community exhibits, and there will be a big tent for the individual exhibits.

Have You This Habit?

APPRECIATION

THE most vivid remembrance of Adam Everyman's childhood was the melancholy occasion, the climax of many other such occasions, on which his mother, breaking down and weeping, had expressed the resentment of years of married life as she cried to his father, "If you only didn't always take things for granted!"

When Adam grew up he promised himself that at least he would never give his wife that cause for bitterness. So during his early married life he made a point of seeing and appreciating her efforts and sacrifices.

The years passed. When the eldest of their three children was fifteen, Adam realized that their actual income, though ample, was not equal to the income he had planned for this point when contemplating matrimony.

Then one evening he pursued what now was his custom, and retired immediately after dinner with his newspaper and his cigar to the room that was called his "den." Contrary to custom his wife followed him. Then he knew suddenly how much water had flowed under the bridge since they had been married. For to her new dress that she had made herself, and to the fact that this was the anniversary of their wedding—to all this he had been dully blind. He asked himself if a little appreciation might not help all round.

The next morning at the office Adam found his best salesman waiting for him. He made a point of mentioning an intelligent piece of business of the preceding month. The man looked pleased, but it was only later that Adam learned that this expression of appreciation had actually influenced the man not to accept the offer of a change from another firm. That same day Adam took pains to thank a customer for prompt payments, and the next morning a new order came in the mail. On another evening at home his small boy brought in a good report from school. When Adam put his pleasure into words his son looked surprised, but the next month there was a better report still. He became conscious above all of what life would have been to him without his home, and of the impossibility of his home without his wife's dull daily routine. After that there was no question of his appreciation, and with appreciation it seemed as if a miracle had happened—so stimulating and successful was his work, so happy and full of pleasant possibilities his family.

The cause of the war among nations and of friction among individuals is egotism, and Adam Everyman had discovered one of the habits that save from egotism—the habit of appreciation.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES OF WOMAN'S ROUTINE

Facts on How Housewife Spends Her Time.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To obtain first-hand facts on how the housewife spends her time from the hour she arises until the last light is out, the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture devised some time ago a chart in the form of a clocklike diagram on which the various activities of a woman's day could be readily recorded. These charts were issued to a great many women who agreed to fill them out properly for a week or more and thus furnish records as to how many minutes were usually spent in such activities as dishwashing, dressing children, laundry work, sewing or any other home tasks.

To supplement the information obtained by these charts, two additional blanks have been prepared for the housekeeper to fill out. One blank will show how much help the mother received in doing each kind of work, and whether the help was paid or unpaid. Space is arranged for showing how much assistance the husband and children contribute, even indicating whether the help was given by boys or girls. This record will provide conclusive evidence as to who pumps the water, tends the fire, disposes of the ashes, fills the lamp or cares for the children, as well as who attends to preparation of food and clearing it away, to bed-making, cleaning, laundry work, and mending. Undoubtedly some interesting facts will be thrown on the part of the masculine member of the household

PROTECT FOOD FROM VERMIN AND RODENTS

Rats Are the Most Destructive Animals in the World.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Insects, rats and mice and other household pests not only destroy and pollute foods in obvious ways, but they may also infect them with micro-organisms dangerous to health.

The rat has been called the most destructive animal in the world, partly because it spreads tubercular plague, and the common house fly fully deserves the epithet "typhoid-fever" fly, and is also a known carrier of the bacteria of cholera, dysentery and tuberculosis. Even the so-called "fly specks" often deposited on food and dishes may be infected with disease germs and the eggs of dangerous parasites.

Methods of Control.
Methods of exterminating or controlling rats and mice, flies, ants and other household insects that damage foods are given in various bulletins issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. Food more than anything else draws these pests to a house, and their visits are at least discouraged by keeping supplies covered or in closed containers and by disposing of garbage promptly.

In a new Farmers' Bulletin 1574, "Care of Food in the Home," attention is called to the need for storing food in such a way that insects, rodents and pet animals cannot reach it.

Fly Most Dreaded.
Sometimes, in spite of all the housekeeper's precautions, weevils or worms develop quickly in apparently sound cereal products, dried vegetables and fruits or nuts. In reality, these pests come from minute eggs deposited by insects either in or upon grains or other seeds or in the flour or other material itself or in the crevices of the box or container used in storage. Such infested food materials should be destroyed promptly and the containers thoroughly washed and scalded before a new supply is stored.

Observe new pastures and plan to seed the poor grass spaces next year.
Cream separators and other dairy utensils should always be cleaned properly immediately after use.
All utensils which come in contact with milk and cream should be kept clean at all times.

HIGHWAY THROUGH LAMB & HOCKLEY A CREDIS TO STASE

The many Lubbock people who went to Amherst Friday to attend the picnic were impressed with the condition of Highway No. 7 through Hockley and Lamb counties.

The highway was put in fine condition by the highway department engineers working out of the office of Division Engineer Baker, of Lubbock, and as sufficient rainfall has been received through that section since the road was built it has been possible for them to maintain the roadway according to highway specifications.

The highway department is doing some splendid work in the district composed of more than twenty counties that make up this division, and with all the county commissioners of that division co-operating with them it will be but a few years until the division is traversed from every direction by well built and properly maintained highways, that will save in wear and tear on automotive machinery hundreds of thousands of dollars to the taxpayers of this section of the state.

One local man who is familiar with the condition of the roadway through Hockley and Lamb counties and who realizes that it was built under highway department engineers' instructions, heartily favors their being given the heartiest co-operation of the commissioner's court of Lubbock county in order that they may be able to put the highways in this country in as good condition as those to be found elsewhere.—Lubbock Avalanche.

COWBOYS' REUNION

Men who were cowboys on the T-Anchor ranch during the years 1881 to 1890 will meet for their annual reunion at Canyon August 28th. All of the old cowpunchers of the Panhandle-Plains region have been invited to the reunion. Last year, with the invitations limited to the T-Anchor group and their families there were more than one hundred present. This year the attendance will be much larger.

Gus Lee, negro cook of the T-Anchor headquarters in 1881 will be here and have charge of the feast. The old cowpunchers will come farther to see Gus Lee than to see any of the white men who were associated with them in their cowboy days. The executive committee of the T-Anchor Association will meet in Canyon August 14th to make final arrangements for the big event.

Baseball

Littlefield will play Rogers here Sunday afternoon, and all the fans for miles around are requested to be present, as this is destined to be one of the best games of the season.

Littlefield has beat Rogers twice on her home grounds—the only team to beat them during 14 years of playing, and Rogers will be here next Sunday with blood in her eye and determined to take back home the bacon.

Captain Arnold assures the Leader that Littlefield will have a line-up for this game that will be to the astonishment of the natives and all the new comers.

Poem by Uncle John
"I used to have 'the blues' a heap—and never did enjoy 'em. I would of done most anything to hinder or destroy 'em. In fact, there weren't no dread disease, like jandera, fits, or hives, could hold a candle to the 'blues' fer shortenin' people's lives. Old Doc could diagnose 'em, but I've heard him say, by jing—that knowin' how to cure 'em—was a vastly different thing! And, while they had a serum that would jugulate the gout—he didn't know of nothin' that would put the blues to rout! And still—we had the facts of turnin' water into wine . . . and how the devil perished when they changed him into swine! I wonder now—if Science took the only chance she has, by gatherin' all the blues on earth, and mixin' 'em with jazz? We hear 'the blues' by radio—by phonograph an' flute . . . ad libitum—ad nauseum—ad rottenum—to boot! It may be I'm a groucher, or a piece of country cheese,—but I contend, the remedy is wuss than the disease!"

Exercise for Tired Eyes

Lie on your back and roll the eyes now to the left and then to the right, look up and then down. Look straight at the ceiling and then down. This exercises all the muscles and rests the eyes. Use a diluted borax acid eye wash; rest the eyes as much as possible.

DAIRY

HEALTH IS MENACED BY DIRT IN MILK

The cook is as clean as the kitchen towel, and the dairymen is as clean as the dirtiest thing his milk touches, is the opinion of Ben F. Eldredge, dairy specialist of the extension service of the Utah Agricultural college. Unless everything, from the barn, cow and milk to the brush used on the pails, is perfectly clean, the milk is likely to become contaminated with harmful bacteria of filth. One sour rag used in washing a bucket will make an entire milking dangerous. There is no higher art than the production of wholesome human food. Mr. Eldredge believes, and he declares that if dealers who supply even a few families with milk fully realized the responsibility they bear toward the health of their patrons, they would redouble even their greatest care.

The best way to produce clean milk is to keep dirt out of it. Mr. Eldredge says. No amount of straining or clarifying can ever purify milk once infected with dirt or germs. This fact is particularly in evidence in the milk obtained from the single cow who supplies a few neighborhood families. The milk cannot be pasteurized, and too often a tell-tale residue is a common thing in the bottom of the bottle or bucket.

For preventing milk from ever becoming dirty, sunlight and steam are the best possible cleansers. Germs and harmful bacteria can live only a little time, and cannot multiply in the dry sunshine. Vessels properly scalded with steam can never infect milk. A clean dairy barn, dry bedding, a clean, healthy cow, a clean, healthy milker and sterilized utensils are what every producer of milk owes to his family and the community.

Iowa College Outlines

Dairying Fundamentals

Following an analysis of the work of cow testing associations in Iowa, dairy experts at Iowa state college emphasize the following points as deserving of consideration as a guide to increase profits from the dairy cow:

1. The production of feeds best suited to dairying, especially alfalfa hay.
2. The elimination of the scrub or grade sire.
3. The use of pure bred dairy sires from good producing ancestry.
4. The weeding out of unprofitable cows through cow testing associations.
5. Rational feeding.
6. Giving the cows the attention that their importance demands.
7. Regularity of milking and feeding.
8. Providing a succulent feed throughout the year.
9. Breeding cows to freshen in the fall of the year except when one is retelling milk.
10. Supplementing poor pastures in late summer with either summer silage or soiling crops.

Phosphorus Is Required

In Ration of Dairy Cow

When the forage fed to cattle, sheep and horses consists of crops grown on acid soils or is of the non-legume type, the lime-carrying materials should be fed at the rate of three to four pounds to 100 pounds of grain. Even when legumes like alfalfa, clover and soybeans are fed the addition of lime-containing minerals will do no harm and may do a great deal of good.

The feeding of wheat bran and middings provides phosphorus which is very necessary in the ration of a dairy cow. While it is true that sodium phosphate added to the ration of a dairy cow while she was dry increased the milk flow in the following period, further experiments are deemed advisable to prove that phosphate feeding can be generally practiced under diverse feeding systems with profit.

Dairy Notes

For the dairy herd soy bean hay is the best annual hay crop that can be grown and it makes a very acceptable substitute for clover or alfalfa when those hays are not at hand.

Oat and pea hay well cured makes very desirable food for dairy cows or for sheep. It is also satisfactory as horse feed, though rather soft for horses that are required to do hard work.

Cows receiving all the alfalfa they care to consume are getting enough protein to permit them to do good work. On good quality alfalfa hay, cows have produced more than 300 pounds of fat in a year.

"then this conveyance shall become null and void; but if default shall be made in the payment of said note, or any of them, or any installment of interest thereon, when the same shall become due, or in the case of the breach of any of the agreements or covenants herein mentioned, or in any case herein provided, then at the request of the legal holder of said note, or any of them, the said Trustee, or his successor or successors appointed hereunder, is hereby authorized and empowered to sell the property above described to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, at the time and place and in the manner and after the advertisement now required by law; and it is hereby agreed that the said Trustee, or his successor, may sell said property together or in lots or parcels, as to him shall seem expedient; and after said sale as aforesaid, shall execute and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers thereof, good and sufficient deed or deeds in law to the property so sold, in fee simple, with the usual warranties, and shall receive the proceeds of said sale, and out of the same shall pay; First, all charges, costs and expenses of executing this trust, including a reasonable fee to the Trustee; Second, the note above described and all sums of money due or to become due hereunder, with interest as agreed; and, Third, shall render the overplus, if any, unto J. C. Baker, or legal representatives or assigns, upon reasonable request.

And it is further specially agreed that if default be made in the payment of any principal or interest on said note, or any of them, or in the performance of the covenants or agreements herein contained, or any of them, then at the option of the legal holder of said note, the whole of the debt herein secured shall become due and payable, and may be collected by suit or by proceeding hereunder.

And it is stipulated and agreed that in case of any sale hereunder, all prerequisites to said sale shall be presumed to have been performed, and that in any conveyance given hereunder, all statements of facts, or other recitals therein made, as to the non-payment of money secured or as to the request of the Trustee to enforce this trust, or as to the proper and due appointment of any substitute trustee, or as to the advertisement of sale, or time, place and manner of sale, or as to any other preliminary act or thing, shall be taken in all courts of law or equity as prima facie evidence that the facts so stated or recited are true."

Whereas the said note is due and has not been paid nor any interest thereon, and that said Security Bank and Trust Company has requested me, C. E. Maedgen, to sell the said real estate as provided in said deed of trust and to apply the proceeds as herein specified. Now, know all men by these presents; That I, C. E. Maedgen, the trustee above named, will on the 2nd day of September, 1924, same being the first Tuesday of said month, proceed to sell such real estate at the Court House door at Olton, in Lamb County, Texas, to the highest and best bidder for cash and will apply the proceeds of such sale to the payment of said note and interest, together with the charges, costs, and expenses of executing this trust, including a 5 per cent fee to the trustee, and will make conveyance of said property so sold to the purchaser of all right, title, claim, and interest as is provided in said deed of trust to the purchaser or purchasers.

Witness my hand this 7th day of August, 1924.

—C. E. MAEDGEN, Trustee.

Desirable Place of Residence

The Land of Cockaigne was an imaginary land of idleness and plenty, in which the houses were roofed with cake, the rivers ran with wine and roasted fowl offered themselves to be eaten. The name was applied in derision to both London and Paris, following the writing of a satirical poem entitled "The Land of Cockaigne," about 1800.
