WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

Proving—The President's economic aides are compiling statistics these days to show how high and wide and handsome the Blue Eagle flew before its wings were clipped. The White House has asked for a survey on the gains in production, construction, payrolls and prices which may have resulted from the NRA.

Though the reports may be used for political purposes they are supposed to be factual. They are based on researches of the Federal Reserve Board, the Bureau of Labor Statistics and a private corporation whose findings are generally accepted as authentic. They have been weighted and timed to show conditions as they were when the Blue Eagle first peeped and when it expired from a judicial shot.

It will be some time before they are tabulated. Such unexpected developments as strikes, slashes in wages and prices and market cautions introduce uncalculable factors. But the administration is satisfied with the preliminary reports.

Slender

NRA did not swing into action until August 1933—not for some months thereafter with respect to basic industries. But August of 1933 is accepted as a starting point, and late May of 1935 as the death gasp. Here are the preliminary figures on conditions as they were when the Blue Eagle was born and when it died. Except for commodity prices for which the 100 level in 1926, the others are related to the 1923-1925 basis of 100. In August of 1933 the adjusted and seasonal index figures showed. Manufacturing production, 88; mineral production, 91; all construction, 24; factory employment, 76; factory payrolls, 57; prices, 70.

The index figures when the Blue Eagle died were: Manufacturing production, 85; mineral production, 85; all construction, 25.5; factory employment, 81.5; factory payrolls, 70; prices, 78. There will be endless argument over what these figures mean, but there they are!

Cuts

Chaotic and changeable costs of domestic products caused by the NRA scrapping may play havoc with our relations with foreign countries. The prospective revision of American scales of wages and prices constitutes a threat to several moves toward better trade relations.

The Cabinet committee now investigating complaints against cheap Japanese textile imports may have to report on June 15. But shifting prices and wages resulting from freedom from NRA restriction, changes the whole picture.

Cuban Millionaire Held By Kidnapers

HAVANA (AP)—Kidnapers of Antonio San Miguel, aged Cuban millionaire, made a bold attempt Thursday to contact San Miguel's attorney, Pedro Herrera Sotolongo, with the millionaire's valet, Simon Arieta.

Arieta was seized Wednesday with two other servants when San Miguel was captured, and Thursday reached Sotolongo's home with a letter from the kidnapers. Police took him into custody and refused to reveal contents of the letter.

It was learned today in unimpeachable quarters that business associates of San Miguel sent a messenger to the abductors with $286,000, American money, to meet ransom demands.

IT'S STILL UNSOLVED

(By The Associated Press) In their three battles for the world's welterweight title...

McLarnin and Barney Ross have fought 45 rounds without proving conclusively which is the better man.

Their third setto left the spectators about equally divided as to the winner just as did their two previous bouts.

It so happened that the officials' decision, which after all was all-important, for it returned the welterweight crown to the little Chicago brawler.

About the only way to satisfy the rabid followers of both Ross and McLarnin would be to have the boys share the crown.

A fourth meeting would not be likely to prove anything beyond what has already taken place.

These two gamecocks have learned each other's style so well that another bout would not have any great appeal.

Two Great Little Boys Their most recent affair turned out to be an interesting, bruising fray for the entire 15 rounds...

offered little of the spectacular. At no time was either fighter in serious danger, nor was either able to pull far enough ahead to threaten.

It was the sort of fight that could hardly be appreciated by those spectators behind the south row, and they of course were in the majority by many, many thousands.

McLarnin and Ross are grand little fighters, perhaps even great fighters, as well as two sportsmen of the highest type.

Battling each other with every bit of strength and cunning at their command they have faced each other inside the ropes, have resorted to petty tactics to score a victory.

It is quite amazing to find that not a word has passed between them once the gong called them into battle.

Each has too much respect for the other fellow to offer alibis for a loss or try to belittle the opponent's victory even though, in their hearts, they felt they had deserved a kinder fate.

The squabbling and talking has always been left to their managers.

The veteran Pop Foster, McLarnin's manager, made a lot of threats and said many things hard on the decision which took his boy's title away from him.

He will no doubt regret when he has had time to "cool off" and think things over.

Foster was so hurt by the decision that he vowed over and over again in the dressing quarters that McLarnin would never again enter the ring.

He insisted that he would not sign Jimmy for another bout and since he held the contract for the former champion's services that meant retirement.

Retire? Not Likely McLarnin himself would not say immediately after the fight whether or not he would seek a return bout with Ross.

More than likely he will, for Chicago beckons with the promise of a lucrative return.

It was quite surprising to many at ringside that McLarnin finished the bout in such fine shape. He appeared by far fresher than he more youthful opponent.

Any man capable of the fight Jimmy showed against Ross is hardly ready to retire.

Of course McLarnin is fairly well fixed financially as the result of 10 profitable and frugal years in the ring and does not have to continue in the game to insure financial independence for the future.

It might be well not to take McLarnin's "retirement" seriously—he'll very likely be ready to carry on in his chosen profession after a bit of a vacation.

Music Features Lions' Program

Lions club got away from the stereotyped program with vocal and musical attractions Wednesday.

Charles Seegin, tenor, favored the club with two melodies, "I'll Take You Home Kathleen," and "Little Church in the Valley." Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick accompanied.

Miss Evelyn Jackson, who has opened her violin studio here for the summer, was vigorously encouraged after her interpretation of Kreisler's "Old Refrain." She obliged with a fanciful accompaniment. Miss Roberta Gay was accompanist.

During the meal, Lions and guests were driven to delicate table manners by a wire which was charged with electricity at times.

Charles Landers of the Empire Southern Service was introduced as a new member.

Guests were Joe Ogden, Miss Roberta Gay, Miss Evelyn Jackson and J. C. Sewell of Wink.

Doctor Told Hea How To Lose 17 Pounds Of Fat

Gossipers Peevish

Mrs. Robert Hickey of Roseville, Calif., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I've lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth its weight in gold."

Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no safe way to reduce—envious women who don't like to see others youthfully slim. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't YOU?

Get a jar of Kruschen today (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle) and if you don't lose 12 lbs. and feel years younger and healthier—money back. Simply take half teaspoonful in cup of hot water every morning (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added). Collins Bros., drugs, Cunningham & Phillips sell lots of it—adv.

EDWARDS GRABS AT BIG TIME

Former Big Spring Hi Athlete To Qualify For National Meet

By WARREN COOPER
Austin American Sports Writer
When the cream of the nation's track and field talent gathers in Palo Alto, Calif., the latter part of this month to compete in the national collegiate meet at least two and maybe three members of Coach Clyde Littlefield's Southwest champion Longhorns will be present.

Harvey (Chink) Wallender and Forrest Wilson are the two Texas tracksters definitely eligible for competition in the big event. The third man, if there is one, will be Capt. Buren Edwards. It was revealed that Edwards is working out with Wallender and Wilson at Texas Memorial stadium, and will try to make the grade in the 880-yard run.

Edwards captured the event in the conference meet at College Station with a time of 1:57.3 which may be good enough to draw recognition from the national track board, but the Longhorn captain is bent on bettering his chances with a faster race at the southern division of the A.A.U. meet this week-end at Houston.

Edwards, Wallender and Wilson will be at the Bayou City Friday and Saturday for competition along with other stars of cinder and sod.

JUMPING ACES OUT

TOKYO, (AP)—Japan's chief track and field point winners in the 1932 Olympics, two of the greatest jumpers that ever donned a spiked shoe, will be missing from the phalanx of athletes that will march under the Rising Sun at Berlin next summer. Shuhei Nishida will be carrying an army rifle instead of a bamboo pole, and Chuhel Nambu probably will be in the press box. However, Oshima may make a strong bid in the hop-step-and-jump.

from Southwestern, Southeastern and Southern conference schools and should the Steer leader come through the finish tape at a faster clip, then the U.T. contingent at the national carnival will number up to three.

Since Edward started his track career at Big Spring some six or seven years back he has traveled all the races in good time, but has never reached the peak in any. If there is such a thing as an utility track man, then Edwards should have a place among the leaders.

A Whole Team
He ran all the races including the hurdles during his time on the Big Spring high school team and a story off repeated Edwards' "home towners" is that the high school coach suspended practice for three weeks once when Edwards was out on account of illness.

At the university he was mostly recognized as a quarter and half competitor but has had his share of work on the relay squads the last three seasons. During the '34 season he concentrated on the 889 but without the services of Alex Cox, holder of the conference 440 record. Littlefield this year shifted Edwards to the quarter. He had not run the 880 in competition once this season before he took off in the conference meet. He finished third in the conference 440.

Ruth Reveals His Definition Of 'Double Cross'

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—"Double-cross" that choice bit of underworld patois, can, like virtue, mean many things to many people, but it was becoming increasingly clearer today just what our Mr. Ruth had in mind when he employed the term. The great man, it appears, believes firmly that some three weeks ago while he was being lauded publicly by Judge Emil Fuchs, his Boston boss was at the same time letting slip in certain circles, where it would do the most good, an intimation that his (Ruth's) days with the Braves were numbered.

Our Mr. Ruth subscribes to the naive notion that a slap on the back should be a slap on the back; never a punch in the nose. He's funny that way.

Reasonably enough, the big "fellow points out that only three people knew he contemplated quitting, the same being Fuchs, Bill McKechnie and the great man himself. Yet—the news gets out and into the metropolitan press, Ruth insists he himself told no one and he feels sure it wasn't McKechnie. By the simple process of elimination this leaves Fuchs as the lone suspect.

Perhaps there's something analogous in the situation to the case some years back of a reporter and a famous metropolitan editor. The editor hired the reporter solely because he wanted the satisfaction of firing him.

It doesn't take a Sherlock Holmes or a Philo Vance to discover that big league baseball has no place for the most glamorous figure of its long history and the sooner Ruth himself recognizes this painful fact and recognizes himself to it the better it will be for his peace of mind.

I might add that the better it will be for big league baseball's peace of mind.

Ruth himself probably knows better than anyone else why the magnates, to a man, have turned thumbs down on him.

Maybe it will all come out in the wringer some day.

Wheeler-Rayburn Bill Violates Spirit of New Deal...

DOES the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, which would injure and handicap local electric companies, follow the spirit of the New Deal? This bill, now pending in Congress, has caused a nation-wide protest because it arbitrarily abolishes holding companies and usurps local control of privately-owned electric companies, passing that control into the hands of political commissions in Washington.

As generally understood the New Deal has these three main objectives. To:

- 1—Create employment
- 2—Bring back prosperity
- 3—Establish greater social security

Let's test the Wheeler-Rayburn bill as far as the New Deal is concerned:

Would the Wheeler-Rayburn bill create more jobs? NO! By abolishing holding companies it would put many more thousands into the ranks of the unemployed and on relief. Also the drastic and unfair restrictions it places on local companies would discourage greater payrolls and expenditures. It would spread fear to other employers of labor because of its socialistic trend. This would create greater unemployment.

Will the Wheeler-Rayburn bill aid in the return to prosperity? NO! It would delay our return to better days because it would cripple and in many instances actually destroy large segments of one of the largest industries and one of the largest taxpayers in the country. The investments of ten million people would be endangered and in many instances, destroyed.

What business can prosper with its control and its very destiny in the hands of political commissions?

Will the Wheeler-Rayburn bill establish social security? NO! For reasons already given the Wheeler-Rayburn bill would undermine security.

It would undermine the security that now exists among the half million employes of public utilities. It would make of these employes political office-holders!

It would cut loose the security of the thousands employed by holding companies, sending them out to look for jobs.

It would invade the homes of millions and destroy honest investments.

It would spread unrest, and make business afraid. This fear would retard prosperity.

The Wheeler-Rayburn bill violates the very spirit of the New Deal.

Hearst Papers Are Scored By Brotherhood

CLEVELAND, (UP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in convention here was on record Wednesday with criticism of all publications of William Randolph Hearst.

A resolution adopted yesterday described these publications as "repugnant to the best interests of this brotherhood, contrary to the general welfare of the American people and constituting a serious threat to American democracy."
 Brotherhood men said the adoption of the resolution was inspired by an editorial in the Los Angeles Examiner of April 20 praising Governor Frank F. Merriam for vetoing a bill limiting trains to 70 cars. The editorial had said the bill was advocated by "dull demagogues who knew nothing about business or anything else of value to the community, but who insist upon wrecking the machinery of industry in the imbecile belief that in such manner employment can be increased and recovery assured."

Traffic Rerouted Over Scenic Drive

Traffic over the Scenic Mountain state park drive is now being rerouted over a major portion of the descending drive.

What many have termed the most beautiful part of the entire drive has been filled in and opened, giving a shorter, safer descent from the mountain top.
 Its massive, native limestone rock retaining wall bending around a hill presents an impressive sight. Part of the old road must be followed down.

The bridge across a ravine near the park entrance has also been opened to traffic. Made of native stone, it is a sturdy structure as well as striking in appearance.

The pavilion, visible from town, has been completed but for an outdoor extension on the south side. Masonry on the concessions building, largest structure, has been completed to top of window sills. It will be finished before long.

The rock crusher has been laying by a large store of chert to be placed on the drive around the mountain.

With spring rains washing the mountain clean and giving it a verdant cover, the drive is now at its peak for beauty.

Texas Historical Articles On Wane, Says A. G. Adair

AUSTIN, (UP)—Texas, once rich in museum material, is being rapidly depleted of interesting historical articles, according to A. Garland Adair, chairman of the American Legion Texas Centennial committee.

The reason for this, according to Adair, is that Texas has no adequate museum in which to store its historical objects.
 "The great museums in the United States are exclusively in the north and east," he said. "Expeditions from these museums are constantly securing the state to dig up and carry away interesting museum pieces."

The American Legion, through the sale of Centennial half dollars is endeavoring to raise funds for the erection of a museum to house Texas historical objects.
 It is planned that the museum will be completed in time for the 1936 Centennial celebration.

Fuel Records Made By T&P Train Crews

Excellent Ratings During 1934 Reflected in Report From L. E. Dix
 Crews on the Rio Grande division of the Texas and Pacific Railway made some excellent fuel ratings during 1934, according to figures released by L. E. Dix, fuel supervisor, here last week.

The run between Toyah and Big Spring on a through freight with E. L. Deason, engineer and I. Slusser, fireman, set a record for freights with only 3.4 gallons of oil per 1000 gross ton mile. The engine consumed 1,631 gallons on the run with average tons per mile at 3,116. Other members of the crew were L. B. Hagerman, C. Spillman and A. W. Page.

Two through passenger crews tied at 8.7 gallons of oil per 1000 gross ton miles. On the Toyah to Big Spring run J. D. Berry and J. D. Barron accomplished that feat after J. R. Kennedy and A. M. Ripps had done it about twenty days before.

Kennedy and Ripps used 763 gallons while Berry and Barron used 792. The latter's average ton per mile was 592 as compared to 688 for their rivals.

Charles Vines and O. T. Arnold were next in through passengers on the Big Spring to Baird run with 9 gallons of oil per 1000 gross ton miles.

L. J. Sullivan and F. B. Wilson were next to Deason and Slusser for through freights with 4.1 gallons per 1000 gross ton mile. C. W. Crader and C. S. Caylor were next on a through freight between Baird and Lancaster with 4.2 gallons of oil per 1000 gross ton mile.

A majority of the excellent records listed were for runs between either Big Spring and Baird or Big Spring and Toyah, using Big Spring crews.

Two Arrests In Beating Probe In Midland Made

MIDLAND — Developments in investigation of the beating up of an Odessa woman at a tank south of Warfield Sunday afternoon remained secret today as officers reportedly continued the search for men wanted in connection with the case.

Two arrests in connection with the investigation had been unofficially reported, one man making bond at a preliminary hearing yesterday and another remaining in jail here.

Reports said robbery apparently was a motive in the alleged attack. The Odessa woman, after receiving emergency attention at a hospital here late Sunday, was taken to her home and was reported to be recovering.

Local Strike Of Relief Workers Is Ended Here

Their short-lived strike ended relief workers were back on their jobs Thursday, glad to get what they could.

Monday evening they voted to strike when the June relief allotment to this county was sliced by 50 per cent. They protested a 35 cent per hour wage and wanted more.

Tuesday morning none called for his card.
 The same afternoon some weakened and went to work. By Wednesday morning the "strike" was over and Thursday everything was normal.

During the "strike" there were no demonstrations, only small groups airing their troubles.
 Reduced crews were working on the highway project.

Friday a small crew was to go back on the city paving project. With all base placed and most of the new curbing poured, it was expected that actual paving operations would be started within a week.

Senator Answered On Holding Company Bill

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The two-day attack by Senator Hastings, Delaware, on the bill to abolish public utility holding companies brought a reply Wednesday from Senator Bone, Washington, that state regulation of the industry was futile.

Bone, long an advocate of nationalization of the power industry, declared the Wheeler-Rayburn bill essential to cope with the holding company system.
 "State regulation is like a bottled woodpecker trying to take a fall out of an oak tree when it undertakes to bend its will against these utility companies," the Washington Senator declared.

TRAINMEN KILLED IN MEXICAN CRASH

LAREDO, (AP)—Three trainmen were killed Wednesday when the baggage car of a derailed train overturned on them 50 miles south of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.
 Names of the victims, two mailmen and a baggage man, were not learned immediately.

No passengers or other members of the crew were seriously injured. The entire national lines train was derailed and several coaches, including sleepers, were overturned.

Lakes, Ponds To Be Stocked With Fish

Lakes and ponds in Howard county are going to get a good stock of fish this autumn.

Several lakes were fairly well stocked and had large fish until the drought destroyed them last summer.

Kwong, former Chinese consul general at San Francisco, visited the Northwest in interest of reciprocal trade treaties. NOBODY thought Katherine would make a very good wife. She seemed too frivolous. Always made a game out of everything. Hadn't a practical thought in her head—so it seemed.

Maybe that's why she DOES make Ed such a good wife. You still wouldn't think she was serious about a thing. Yet she must be. Because you've never seen a house kept better in your life. Or a budget balanced more neatly.

Most women come home from shopping all tired out. Not Katherine! She makes a grand game of it . . . calls in her weekly "Cook's Tour". She pores over her newspaper like a travel map . . . charts a course that takes her to bargain ports . . . and gets there without one wasted step.

How? She follows the advertisements. Watches them as closely as a sailor watches his compass. And she gets fun out of it all . . . But who wouldn't, with a happy home like hers and her knack for saving up money!

ture before them. Low wages in the Orient may not constitute such a serious threat as they did before our textile industry slashed pay and extended hours.

Secretary Hull's reciprocal treaties may require revision. They were negotiated on the basis of code prices. Widespread price-cutting may prove that somebody made a bad bargain in signing these agreements.

By stating that it is now a question whether the government has power to regulate crop production, the President lines up farm sentiment with labor sentiment in behalf of the New Deal. The farm vote of 4 to 1 in favor of AAA is being emphasized for its effect upon Congress. Roosevelt's remark is calculated to get a rise out of farmers in his defense of the new AAA amendments.

While this is going on, Roosevelt supporters in the House, including Chairman McSwain, are trimming down the TVA extension bill, against White House wishes. The TVA lobby is big and busy. It works with the anti-utility-holding lobby.

It was very hard to make progress on New Deal bills before the Supreme Court decision. Remember that this was because of powerful but not always public Democratic opposition. Now these bills face a much rockier road. Roosevelt therefore exerts his political skill in rousing the elements that would gain by passing these bills.

Winner
Secretary Ickes is thanking his stars for his divorce from PWA from NRA. Only a few weeks before the hostile Richberg outfit was sunk without a trace Mr. Ickes persuaded Congress to separate his spending agency from the Blue Eagle's family.

Some back-stage jealousy attended the ceremony. Mr. Richberg fought the scheme for two years. It clipped him of power and it cast a shadow on the NRA. But Mr. Ickes may have had inside information that NRA had only a short time to live. So he demanded a divorce before Senatorial committees, and they gave it to him.

Many imperious gentlemen have tried to cut Mr. Ickes down—Douglass, Richberg, Moffett. But he usually bests them in hidden or open feuds. Some predict that he will still land on top of the heap of work-relievers, although Messrs. Walker and Hopkins outrank him at the moment. Ickes has staying power.

Defined

President Roosevelt's suggestion, in support of his position, that Congress exercise emergency powers during the war without any questions as to their validity has been attacked by jurists and lawyers. They point out that the Constitution says nothing of war powers. The reason was well understood by the farmers, one of whom said that "inasmuch as we cannot tell what danger will confront the nation, we must not limit the government against taking any action that will save the nation."

These commentators also point out that the Constitution says nothing about Supreme Court power or to declare a law invalid, but they explain that it was unnecessary—that the court cannot avoid exercise of that power.

But they insist that these matters have no bearing upon the question of "emergency" legislation that is not based upon clear authority. They clinch this argument by asking: "Why were the powers of Congress limited and enumerated, if the people did not mean 'thus far and no farther'?"

Indicted

Lawyers in the Senate who see rivals popping up back home are fixing up alibis for having voted for laws which the Supreme Court held are rotten. Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith rubbed it into these lawyer colleagues when he said in the Senate:

"I have been amazed and shocked at the conduct of lawyers in this body, those who went up to the Vice President's desk and took the oath of office, who sat right here in this body with a measure so palpably unconstitutional that it almost said so, and then voted for it. Lawyers would say outside the Senate 'the damned thing is unconstitutional' and yet they voted for it here. God knows that I should like to go back and vote in such a way that each one of us would do his duty as he saw it, regardless of any interference or influence. God grant that the action of the Supreme Court may bring us to a realization of our duty under the Constitution. We pass bills carrying billions of dollars for purposes of doubtful constitutionality!"

Not a lawyer in the Senate filed a demurrer to this indictment.

Notes

Oil filling-station industry, particularly, is upset and worried... Joe Choate has told Congress how to keep Alcohol Administration alive by cutting it away from the dead body of NRA... All blue eagles disappear from American newspaper flagstuffs June 17... Chain stores get a black eye if they get a new blue eagle—they're interstate.

Issue

New Yorkers in close contact with Washington predict that FDR will be in no hurry for action to offset the Supreme court's crack-down on NRA. His remarks about the court's nullification of the federal government's power to regulate any form of economic activity except transportation is interpreted in this light.

The only move these sources look for soon is some form of legislation to protect industries which want to continue their codes from anti-trust prosecution. The Federal Trade Commission will undoubtedly be the agency to determine whether performance matches promise in such cases—with freedom to act in the event that it doesn't. If any NRA organization is retained at all it will be the barest of skeletons.

Otherwise they expect the president to stand by and wait for the harmful effects of NRA abandonment into the public consciousness—even if it means confusion and setback. The idea is to allow popular sentiment for federal authority over industrial, labor and agricultural problems to crystallize of its own accord so overwhelmingly that it cannot be resisted. A constitutional amendment to this effect is likely to be a major campaign issue—perhaps THE issue—next year. It will not be introduced now—at least, not under administration auspices.

Triumph

An unobtrusive citizen of New York—David Podell—is likely to be very much in the picture as a substitute for NRA is gradually developed. Mr. Podell is a big-time lawyer who had quite a lot to do with drafting the original National Recovery Act. Unlike some of his former colleagues on that job he still stands well with Washington—partly because of the very fact that he has never shown any yen for the limelight.

Podell represented National City Bank stockholders in a suit to recover money for the bank from its officers and directors. The latter were defended by John W. Davis and Joseph Proskauer—two of New York's top hole legal lights. He lost the case as it stood but managed to persuade the judge to appoint a referee to investigate the special question of officers' bonuses. This referee has now recommended that those who received these bonuses should be ordered to make restitution to the bank to the imposing tune of $1,400,000.

If the judge acts favorably on this report it will be a remarkable

SWEATER SIGNAL TO KIDNAPERS?

This sweater, hanging over the railing of a porch of the J. P. Weyerhaeuser home at Tacoma, Wash., was believed a signal to abductors of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, who had demanded $200,000 ransom for the safe return of the lumber magnate's son. (Associated Press Photo) triumph for Podell—one of the very few cases on record where a bank has been legally authorized to recover anything from officers alleged to have been over-generous with themselves.

Lacking

Well-posted utility leaders claim that holding company stockholders will have nothing to worry about even if the Wheeler-Rayburn bill passes. They see an era of prosperity ahead—and with five years to turn around and increase opportunities for investment they figure the security owners will have ample time to move their money into more promising fields if they must.

They further contend that the bill will do most damage to operating companies accustomed to working under a holding company tent. Their point is that this system has developed a type of operating company official on a par with railroad executives under L.

Coalition

William Randolph Hearst hasn't said much yet about this grand alliance between Republicans and conservative Democrats for a Fusion president in '36. But he's very much present behind the scenes. That's why Bainbridge Colby is so active in the movement.

Political realists are confident the sound and fury will come to nothing. They can't see the conservative south going for a Republican. But even though coalition flips, a split-off ticket of right-wing Democrats might still achieve the desired end.

Upset

Japan's ostensible reasons for getting tough again with China are military. But financial insiders say that monetary matters are also an important factor. The Chinese government has recently been laying quiet plans to transfer from a silver to a paper money standard. That wouldn't suit the Japanese industrialists operating in China—who are many and powerful—at all. It's a safe bet they have asked their own government to try to head it off. The Japanese threat of invasion is rated a delicate warning to China that she'd better not try to adopt any policies of her own without her ambitious neighbor's permission.

Maybe

A leading New York trust company is seriously surveying the possibility of abandoning its banking functions and confining itself to trust business. It would then be strictly an intra-state concern and its officers would no longer have to lose sleep over Federal Reserve and deposit insurance problems.

Also there's the angle of reduced earnings from banking operations.

The plan would involve decreasing capital by returning a large part of it to stockholders. An officer remarks: "We can't seem to make profits with the stockholders' money. Maybe they can do better if they handle it themselves."

Yield

Secretary Morgenthau's auction sale of 3% bonds was a success as predicted—but hardly overwhelming. He wasn't swamped with excess subscriptions and the winning bids averaged lower than the previous market prices for the same issue. However, the yield works out at 2.7% to maturity in 1946—which is certainly nothing to weep about.

TRY BUICK "40" PERFORMANCE

T-H-E-N You'll know what to buy

Proof of Buick "40" performance is on the road—with you driving. Just one real drive will satisfy you that here is the greatest performance on the road. You'll see that in Buick you get more than mere speed and flashing pick-up. You get stability and security, because you've got something substantial under you. There's the confidence and safety of proper balance of weight to power, with the finest brakes available today. You get a restful, gliding ride not to be expected of lighter weight and shorter wheelbase, nor without Knee-Action as engineered into Buick. Put the Buick "40" to your own test. Then you'll know it is the car for you to buy.
