Andy Rogers Se3!

By ANDY ROGERS

State Senator, District 18
Four years in the rough and tumble world of growing Texas House of Representatives—and now we find ourselves in the quiet but expressive dignity of the State Senate, by contrast, from a throbbing arena to a hushed theater.

These two sessions continue their efforts and make now that greater effort every citizen, from birth to death—and afterward, his or her remains.

A story in the current issue of the Senator's Digest leaves the impression that your State Government is rotten. It is not good, good and devoted.

It is all the things we encounter in this world.

The support men who founded our nation did not believe their government would make men perfect. They did believe it would enable men to live peacefully together and prosper—each in his own way and in his own choosing. They are correct.

We have in the Legislature men both the good and bad magnified. We know some are honest Legislators. We know some are dishonest. We know honest men do some bad.

But honest or otherwise, all know that the voice of the people will be heard and heeded—when that voice chooses to make itself heard and known.

Some state government men have done as much in 1932 as in 1920—when REPUBLICANISM was in its heyday. In 1920 the cost of living rose only 200 per cent and our state population only 20 per cent. Legislation strongly introduced and promised to be introduced would nearly double the present cost of spending and taxing and would be nearly six times the 1920 cost.

What is your answer? The man or woman who merely votes has little to do with the formation of law. Let us hear your opinion.

In the long run, the only thing that will keep the Federal Government from becoming more and more powerful is strong State Governments. The year Senator and Representative—They will welcome your advice, support, and interest as your servants. Without this day they are dead, but you are the one who has to pay.

Of nine new Senators, yours was one of two to drop at primary number and get only one-half of a full regular term.

There have been an attempt to do this session for the state in these control and regulation of our underground water—this has been proposed in many circles. Any such move now would cause one of the biggest fights ever seen in the Legislature.

Parkview Baptist Church Treasurer Conference Report

The Parkview Baptist Church met in regular monthly conference last Wednesday night at the church following prayer meeting services. John A. Crawley, church treasurer read the report for January, which included the total receipts for the month of $1,036.76. This is a very favorable report in view of the fact the church is on an $8,300.00 a year budget. A building fund has been started by the church and at the present this fund includes the $70.67 received in January and stands at $357.26. The church is a cooperating Baptist church with the Southern Baptist Convention which places great emphasis on missions. Of the $922.14 paid out in January by the treasury, $295.78 of it went for missions.

The church is planning a building program which includes two new complete departments added onto the present educational building.

Superintendent of Sunday school Reed Yandell, made the report to the church that the attendance averaged 139 for January. Also that average attendance of teachers present was three times that of January last year, and a regular meeting of the Sunday school officers and teachers was begun in January.

Training Union director, Lawrence Massengale reported an increase of average attendance in the Training Union over the month before and a double of the last year's average. For January, the average attendance was 86. He also reported that the Rhythm Band won a rhythm band contest in the East Zone of the West Plains Training Union monthly rally in January. The Training Union also won the attendance banner at that rally and the efficiency banner for a grade of 51 per cent for highest union grade in December.

A new class in Training Union has been started. Rev. John C. Taylor, is teaching, "The New Testament Doctrines of the Church," to all new members of Parkview since January of 1952. This class will be formed into a new Adult Union of the Training Union in March, the Training Union Enlargement Month.

Father Of Olton Woman Dies

C. F. Morton, 76, father of Mrs. O. T. Howard of Olton, died last Sunday at his home in Bridgeport. He had been in ill health the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard were at her father's bedside when he passed away, and remained for the funeral services which were conducted at Bridgeport. Mr. Howard is City Marshall of Olton.

The first practical typewriter was placed on the market in 1874. The first appropriation for what became Harvard University was made in 1636.

'Operation Glamour' Here Saturday; First Appearance Of Lady Wrestlers

"Operation Glamour" comes to the Littlefield Sports Arena Saturday night.

Two of the most beautiful and talented of the professional women wrestlers, Texas Champion Nell Stewart from Birmingham, Alabama, and challenger Ethel Brown from Columbia, Ohio appear in the top match of a double main event.

It will be the first appearance of the "lady" wrestlers in Littlefield since the professional game came back last fall. Stewart, a blonde beauty who looks more like a Broadway model than a wrestler, is considered one of the top five women grapplers in the country today, and a serious threat to the women's world title worn gracefully for 14 years by Mildred Burke.

Miss Brown is coming up fast, and in the two years of her professional career has also become one of the top athletes of her sex. Shapely and red-haired, Ethel decorates any ring she enters, and puts up a terrific fight.

First section of Saturday night's double main event pits Herb Parks against a fellow Canadian, popular Frankie Hart. Although they both come from Ontario, they are bitter rivals for wrestling recognition. Hart is owner and operator of one of the most popular summer resorts in his commonwealth, located at Pine Falls Lodge, near Washagam, Ontario.

Each of the twin main events runs for two out of three falls or one hour.

First event on the Saturday night program brings a couple of veterans together — cagey Gust Johnson of Seattle, Wash., and strong-man Billy Weidner of Amarillo. They are in for one fall or 20 minutes to start one of the most promising wrestling cards ever staged in Littlefield.

FHA Boys Attend Fat Stock Show; Judging Groups Leaving Here Today

Thirty-two tired and happy FFA boys and their sponsor, W. W. Hall returned home Sunday afternoon, after having spent the week-end in Fort Worth attending the annual Fat Stock show.

The group left here Thursday night, by chartered bus, arriving at their destination in time for an early breakfast Friday morning. The first event on their program was a trip through Armour Packing company, where they not only saw the procedure of taking care of meats, but they saw the actual killing of the animals.

Friday night the boys "took in" the big and colorful rodeo, and the following day they went sightseeing over the city of Fort Worth, and they also went back to the stock show and carnival.

Headquarters was at Paschal High school.

Two local FFA judging teams will enter competitions at the show this week, and will leave here today, to return home Sunday. They include Bill Womack, Max Barnett, Derrill Kenemer, Bob Hoover, Ronald Rogers, Walter Hill, Tommy Sisson, Albert Emmons, and James Renfro. The group will be accompanied by James Perkey, Junior Vocational Ag. teacher.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church Will Be Host to Panhandle Missouri Synod

Two rather recent decisions will bring special groups to Emmanuel Lutheran (West 3rd) Church in Littlefield in the near future.

From February 19-21 pastors and teachers of congregations and schools of the Lutheran Church-panhandle will gather at 417 West 3rd for their annual spring conference. The special time is being tried in order to allow the teachers of Christian Day Schools in Amarillo and Wilson to attend without losing much teaching time.

On March 1, a thirty voice choir from Winfield, Kansas, will provide a concert of sacred hymns in 417 West 3rd Lutheran Church for the enjoyment of all music lovers. The choir which travels extensively over Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Texas and other states has over a period of years built up quite an excellent reputation.

HEARS CATTLE CALL FROM GREENLAND — Jim Todd (right) former Texas and Oklahoma rodeo rider, came 4,000 miles from Thule, Greenland, to see the National Western Stock show rodeo at Denver. The call of cattle took him from a construction job after two years in Greenland. He had been riding for the L. G. Kelly-Miller Brothers circus revulously. With Todd here are Billy Hughes, 19, and beautiful FHR Lady Mixer 50, from the Fulwiler Hersford Ranch at Abilene (Tex.). (UP Photo)

NEWS OF ANTON "The Town With A Purpose"

You Can't Keep A Good Man Down

H. M. Coffman has probably operated in the same line of business longer than any other man in Anton.

In 1934 he came here as a partner of Charlie Myers and went in where Laurence Drug now is. He soon bought out his partner and built up a very fine business which was interrupted by a few years in the service.

Mr. Coffman now has a very attractive place and because he is on a strict cash basis can give you good prices.

Harold has not always seen times as good as these. He has gone down several times but never out!

You just can't keep a good man down!

QUIT SNOOPING!

John Laurence says that he has no news because everybody knows what he is doing. Now here's hoping they don't know what some of us are doing!

Elnora Turner and two daughters spent Saturday with the Ashley Cox. The Turners are from Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Jones of Littlefield visited in the Curtis Jones home Sunday. The Jones are brothers and J. Ernest is County School Superintendent of Lamb County.

I BET THE BIG ONE GOT AWAY

M. and Mrs. L. A. McGrew and J. E. Cundiff have just returned from Corpus where they have been visiting F. A. McGrew and family and doing some deep sea fishing. No report as yet on the fish as they are still weighing and measuring them!

Steven Roe the five month son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Roe has been very ill this week.

Virgil Roland of Tulsa, Okla. spent a week in Anton visiting his mother Mrs. W. H. Rowland and the A. L. Roe's.

Faith in Our Town

Nothing speaks more plainly of the character of our people than our cemetery. It is now almost filled and all lots are sold. If we should have a death today, it is possible that we would have to borrow a place to bury them, as arrangements could not be made so quickly. The Lions club is working on this, and I am sure it will soon be worked out, because they do get things done.

When I first came to Anton, there was not one grave there—no fence or anything to identify it from the surrounding grass land.

Tom Newton's baby was the first to be buried there—just one lonely little mound on this vast prairie. Tom and Corrine had courage to place their baby's body there—more than I would have had. But they expressed faith in our town. Let's keep that faith!

Birthday Dinner Honors Mrs. J. I. Kemp Sunday Last

Joe and Jane Bramlett spent Sunday in the J. T. Schofner home at Muleshoe.

The occasion was a birthday dinner, honoring Joe's sister, Mrs. J. I. Kemp. All of Mrs. Kemp's children attended.

...Anton Pioneers...

MR. AND MRS. T. L. KING CAME TO ANTON IN 1924 FROM PADUCAH

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. King and their eight children came to Anton about Dec. 1, 1924 from Paducah. Mr. King and Reuben came on ahead and built the little home in which Mrs. King still resides. Their married daughter, Mrs. Melker of Floydada brought the balance of the family in their new Model T Ford, as she was the only one left who knew how to drive.

They immediately became a part of our town's good substantial backbone, very active in any effort for its good. Now the children are all married and moved away. Mr. King passed away Jan. 18, 1952. He was one of our best loved citizens.

Mrs. King lives alone in her modest, but cheerful little home and goes ahead bravely with her church work and social activities, a good neighbor and friend and no burden to anyone.

She has raised a fine family,

L. T. KING lived a good life and is not looking for her reward in this world.

P. T. A. Stage Interesting Meeting; Several Instructive Talks Made

The P. T. A. met February 3. A discussion by Mr. McLarey and the eighth grade on "We Deliver in Our Community," was the highlight.

Sandra Anderson spoke on "The People of Anton"; Jimmy Johnston on "The Town of Anton"; David McAnally on "The Schools"; Phyllis Oakley on "The Recreation for Teen Aged"; Sharon Couch on "The Different Organizations of Anton"; Richard Howard on "The Religion of the Community."

Mr. McLarey gave a talk on how each individual can help, or hinder a community.

Mrs. Emmett Kerr was elected vice-president.

Next meeting try to see that you, yourself are there to help in the community project.

Mrs. Alvin Crews, Reporter

I'LL TALK TO HIM IN HIS OWN LANGUAGE

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Twilley argues with me that he'd better not subscribe to the Lamb County Leader although he was one of my most ardent readers when I wrote the Anton news—because he says it may take too much time away from his Bible reading. Now being a salesman at heart, I promised to save him money. When I write these pages he won't need any other reading but the Lamb County and the Bible and I believe he will understand the Leader better. I am going to talk to him in his own language!

BEVERLY and WAYNE JONES HAVE MEASLES

Beverly and Wayne Jones have had lots of trouble of late. First it was flu and pneumonia, then Wayne broke his toe and Beverly burned her arm badly.

Now they have settled down to a good case of red measles.

BOY SCOUT ORGANIZATION IN ANTON WOULD BE WORTHY ENTERPRISE

Nothing would improve our juvenile delinquency problem more than a Scout organization and of course along with it, Camp Fire Girls and Cubs.

This training is character building. We have in our community some very able leaders. It would certainly be a fine project and keep our boys and girls interested in worthwhile things.

Anton Bulldogs Downed By Brownfield Cubs

The Brownfield Cubs edged by the visiting Anton Bulldogs at Brownfield Monday night on a fourth-quarter point parade, 61-52.

The home club was ahead three points, 17-14, at the end of the first quarter, but Anton tied it up, 27-27, at halftime. The lead then changed hands several times before Coach Farris Newell's Cubs went ahead, 41-40, at the three-quarter intermission.

Jack Lucas, who led the scoring with 16 points, got hot in the final period and racked up 10 of his points to give Brownfield the win going away.

Kenneth Hice was the game's top point-maker with 19 points, with Bulldog teammate Johnny Hooper adding 13. Jerry Bailey and Max Proffitt also had 13 for the winners.

Besides being a touch-and-go affair, the game produced some excellent shooting percentages. Coach Joe King's Anton cagers hitting 60 per cent of their field goals and Brownfield, 51 per cent.

In a preliminary game, the Brownfield reserves defeated Anton's B team, 44-32. Jimmy Johns and James Meeks divided scoring honors with 14 points each.

Brownfield will entertain Muleshoe in a District 7-AA game Friday night.

FIREBOYS STAGE STEAK SUPPER

The fire boys had a steak supper at the Anton Coffee Shop Tuesday night. Fourteen attended.

THIS WAS STOLEN FROM ED HART'S OFFICE!

A friend is not a feller
Who is taken in by sham—
A friend is one who knows our faults
And doesn't give a DAMN!
Maybe that's Ed's Creed!

THESE MEN CARRY WEIGHT IN OUR TOWN

Rev. Nelson Stark and our new banker, Wallace Barnett were seen walking toward the post office Tuesday.

The preacher seemed to be patting the banker on the back a little—or so it seemed to me. Now I tried that once. Started complimentary Hobart Lewis in my pages building up for a loan and bless goodness before another paper came out he had pulled up stakes and moved out of the country.

Now we don't want to lose another good banker—so please Rev. Stark you let Mr. Barnett take care of our money and you look after our souls and God knows you have the greater task.

But as I said they were walking TOWARD the post office hand in hand—now when they got to the door they took it single file. If you know why—just look at 'em.

March Of Dimes Games Played

Saturday night at the Anton gym the Levelland first and freshman teams played the same teams of Anton with Levelland winning both games. The score for the freshmen was 41-49 and the first was 58-60, by playing overtime.

The Anton people certainly appreciate the Levelland coaches and boys comin gover to help us raise the March of Dimes money and with their aid, KLUT and the Telephone Co., we were able to raise a little over seven hundred dollars and had a very good time doing it.

ANTON BAND NEWS

The Anton band, under the director of Mr. Brewer, seems to be making headway. I talked to Mr. Brewer Sunday and he is very optimistic. He has far-reaching plans for his band and promises to write them up for me. I have seen a lot of bands come and go, so far all have gone, but here's hoping this one succeeds and it is my opinion that Mr. Brewer is interested in his work and capable.

News From The LIONS CLUB

Monday was ladies night for the Lions Club and a nice crowd attended.

VISIT IN MATHEWS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newton of Floydada visited in the Clarence Mathews home this week. Mrs. Newton is the former Miss Chalones Mathews.

My home and all that I have is here. I expect to good-will and to give you the news that Anton folks are interested in. I expect to present it in a brief way and not waste your time on uninteresting details. It will be like the ladies short skirts of several years back, just exactly short enough to be interesting, but long enough to cover the subject!

We solicit ads from all honest merchants and it is our policy on these two pages that as long as we have one of our own advertisers, we will not accept ads from similar firms elsewhere.

We would rather have a twenty dollar ad from one honest town. But advertising is necessary to support a paper and we must have it from some source.

Since we have no place of our own book store we may occasionally place ads of that nature.

The circulation of this paper will, I am sure, be tripled before this contest is over. Your ads will probably go into ninety per cent of the homes of our trade territory and I believe worth the money.

THE KIND OF MEN WHO MAKE A TOWN

Alvin Crews is one of our town's most substantial citizens as well as being a good business man. He has moved to improve Anton by moving to "pitchin" in to help.

Alvin "pitchin" in to help.

Alvin Williams went in to help but Mr. Crews now owns the business and has five very fine homes—all home town men have been with him for years. They know how to fix things. Mitchell Evert or some of that kind don't know, they at least know where you can "fix" it when you get out on the road. Really they are tops and our town could not get along without men.

"TEXAS BRAGS"

I have always wondered why Texas folks thought they were so much better than anybody else in the world. Well "Texas Brags" explains that—

It says, "Texans have a RIGHT to be stuck up! There are more different kinds of cactus grow here than any other place on the face of the Earth. Why, anybody can get stuck up! The cactus isn't particular. But if you are, you can take you choice.

There is one kind from which Mexicans make tequila an alcoholic beverage considerably stronger than T. N. T. which when drunk will curl your Aunt Matilda's hair eight hundred miles away. Another the Peyote, called dry whiskey, makes you see things in Technicolor."

Now I believe some of these Anton folks have been foolin' with that stuff!

GOOD CHURCH ATTENDANCE

The Baptist Church had a very good attendance Sunday. The house was almost full. Rev. Everett Springfield delivered a fine sermon as he always does.

The National Agricultural Mobilization Committee has established 1953 acreage goals for all states and for Texas that shown in the tables below. Also shown are 1951 and 1952 acreages and the percentage change that the 1953 acreage goal is from the 1952 acreage.

The goals for all states and for Texas emphasizes the urgency of increasing feed grain and roughage production for the large numbers of livestock on farms. At the same time, cotton farmers in all states are asked to reduce 1953 cotton plantings of both upland and extra-long staple varieties.

Cattle numbers reached an all-time high of over 88 million head on farms on January 1, 1952 and it is expected that there will be a record 93 million head on farms on January 1, 1953. Obviously, more grain, hay, silage and pasture production is needed to support these increasing numbers and to maintain hog, sheep, and poultry numbers. In addition, increased production is needed to restore reserve stocks of grain and roughage to desirable levels.

It is expected that carry over of all cotton will be about 4,100,000 running bales on August 1, 1953. Domestic consumption and exports of cotton for each of the 1952-1953 and 1953-1954 marketing years is now forecast at about 13,500,000 bales. Therefore, in an attempt to avoid the creation of burdensome surpluses in the near future, the National Agricultural Mobilization committee has set 1953 goals for cotton at an acreage which is calculated will produce 13 million bales. Only 3,000,000 bales of this total is American Egyptian cotton. If 1953 production is held at this level, prices of cotton should be strengthened and marketing quotas on the 1954 crop should be avoided.

The cotton production goal of 13 million bales has been converted to acres that are shown in the above tables.

Prices of the 1953 crops of wheat, corn, cotton will be supported at 90% of the effective parity price as of the beginning of the marketing year. The National Average price support for grain sorghums is $2.43 cwt for No. 2 or better.

Assembly of God Will Build New Church at Highway 51 and College

Preparations are underway by the Littlefield Assembly of God for the building of a new church at Highway 51 and College Avenue.

This property is across the street and north of Elkins Grocery. The Assembly of God is now located at Morse and Weidel, on the west side of Littlefield. It is planned to sell the present church and land and move the parsonage to the new location.

At the new location, the church will have extensive frontage on highway 51 and approximately 200 feet frontage on College Avenue.

The church will erect a building 46 x 90 feet and of brick construction. The congregation has chosen a light colored glazed brick. Laminated arches will be used in the construction. This arch is used both for roof support and in determining the interior design of a building.

The sanctuary will be 14 x 66, and will seat approximately 400 persons. The remainder of the building will be used for educational purposes.

Plans provide for starting construction within six months.

The members of the board of deacons are A. L. Massey, J. C. Dutton and V. W. Christensen. Rev. M. A. McDonald is pastor of the church.

important in making all underground water last longer.

It was pointed out that placing a new well too close to an existing well will result in interference between the two wells, with the final effect that the new well owner will really be throwing away part of his money invested, will cause the old well owner to spend more money to make his well continue producing as much water as before, and will cause the water level in the immediate vicinity to drop more than it should.

Ten applicants, all that had been received, were approved by the committeemen, the first being E. J. Akin of Amherst.

Olton Meeting Announced
A second meeting was announced, to be held in the Olton office of Eldon Franks at 8 o'clock Tuesday of Wednesday night, February 3 or 4.

Committeemen advised they want the public to understand that everything done is to be for the benefit of the water users in general and that no hardship is to be imposed on any one intentionally.

The whole program is intended to make the underground water last as long as possible, and to insure fair play among all water users. It is absolutely necessary that local water users work out their own water problems, or else Federal or State authorities will be forced to regulate use of underground water.

Teeth in Proposed Law
In a big step toward stopping narcotics traffic among Texas high schools, Rogers' proposed bill states that a violation to this effect shall be considered a felony, and persons convicted shall be confined in the penitentiary for life, or not less than five years, and that the benefits of the suspended sentence law shall not be available to a defendant convicted for violation of this Act.

The present law provides that selling narcotics to minors is punishable by not less than two or more than ten years' imprisonment.

In the last section of his bill, Rogers stressed the importance of immediacy in putting the bill into effect by stating, "The fact that the public interest requires that the Legislature prescribe a more severe penalty for persons convicted of (this violation) creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity that... this Act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage."

Large Delegation Of Lamb County Farm Bureau Members Attends State Meeting

EARTH PAVING COMMITTEE MEETS

A committee of five Earth Business men met at 1 p. m. Friday in the offices of the Citizens State bank in the interest of city paving.

The meeting stemmed from activities in the Earth Business Men's club which gathers every other Thursday for a noon luncheon at the Earth Community House to discuss city problems.

Members of the paving committee are Roger Haberer, D. E. McCarty, Bill Pope, Gene Brown, A. D. Taylor and Roy Neal.

A group of men was also selected to recommend a City Health Officer at Earth.

ventive of polio is available to the public they should not discontinue their efforts toward maintaining sanitary surroundings.

Sanitation efforts should be carried out every month and every day in the year. Householders, business houses and industry are responsible for keeping their property in a sanitary condition. Cities must furnish an uncontaminated water supply, maintain an efficient sewage disposal system and proper garbage collection and disposal.

Dr. Cox placed the responsibility on the individual when he said, "Insanitary places do not make the person but the person makes the places. If you have been lax in maintaining cleanliness of your surroundings during the past few months, now is a good time to start an intensive clean up. Texans can help prevent disease and assure themselves of better health by maintaining a high standard of sanitation."

In the meantime, Dr. Cox advises that everyone observe the known rules of sanitation. These practices have proven their value not alone in the prevention of polio, but of other diseases such as typhoid fever, dysentery and malaria. Even when a definite pre-

SECOND MEETING TO BE AT OLTON

Water District Regulations On Well-Drilling Discussed

Effective last Sunday, February 1, farmers and land owners in this area which incorporate the High Plains Underground Water District, first to be organized in the state of Texas were faced with a complete new set of laws appertaining to the drilling, deepening or moving of any underground well on any farm or land, probably including even windmills. This latter phase has however, not yet been clarified.

To explain and hear, as well as study the ramifications of the new law, farmers, committeemen, pump men, drillers and others gathered in Lubbock last Thursday for an all day meeting, which took up various phases of the new district and the laws which have automatically gone into effect.

Officers and directors present were unable to answer all of the questions asked, but did supply answers to the majority. At this meeting it was announced that another meeting will be held at Olton within the next 30 days, and all phases of the new regulation not yet clarified can and will be then explained.

W. O. Fortenberry, a director was present and in charge of the program as was Tom McFarland manager of this underground district, and Arthur P. Duggan, attorney for the organization.

"We are here to contribute to the prosperity of the High Plains," Fortenberry said. "We had the choice of taking care of drilling well-spacing problems ourselves, or seeing other organizations move in to do it for us. It is a job that must be done if we are to continue to prosper."

Can't Forbid Well Drilling
"Every land owner can get a permit to drill a well," he pointed out. "Never tell a man that he can't get a permit to drill, for the law says that he can. All that we are to do is to work out well spacing so that one well will not encroach upon the rights of another land owner."

"Normally, we will show a man where he cannot drill, which will be those places which are too close to another well or another piece of property. Then the land owner will have the choice of drilling at any other place on his land that he desires to do so."

Drilling Logs Explained
Fortenberry then pointed out that the drilling logs, which were included in kits given to county

Children's Dental Health Day

More than half of the children in this country have as many as six cavities in their teeth before they begin school.

That's the estimate of Texas dental authorities and state health officials when they announced February 2 as the date for the fifth annual observance of Children's Dental Health Day.

The day was set aside in an attempt to call public attention to these startling facts:

Ninety-eight percent of all 15-year-old boys have one or more teeth missing, decayed or filled.

Over 284 million cavities are afflicting the teeth of American children, with teeth decaying six times faster than they are being filled.

One-half of the children between the ages of three and nine have never in their lives had dental treatment.

"One of the biggest hurdles to be overcome,"

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox says, "is the seemingly widespread attitude that baby teeth are insignificant."

He believes the attitude stems from the fact that baby teeth are only temporary, with most people thinking there is no need for concern until the child gets his permanent set.

But dental scientists say that the care given baby teeth has a direct and vital bearing on the condition of permanent teeth, Dr. Cox points out.

The Texas State Department of Health and the State Society Dental Society are sponsoring the state observance of the day.

They are appealing to all parents to pay attention to the plight of youngsters' teeth. And they make this prediction:

"The children will be grateful, especially when they are no longer children."

Early Valentines Were Handmade

Our modern Valentines have a centuries-old history as fascinating and sentimental as Dan Cupid himself.

They are the romantic heritage of more than 500 years of experimentation by anxious sweethearts and imaginative publishing firms.

In style, purpose and price, however, Valentines have changed from generation to generation. Silhouetted against the background of time, these developments reveal how the Valentine custom has steadily increased in popularity.

The original Valentines, a fact almost forgotten today, were strictly tokens of friendship—for over 1000 years! They were sent to commemorate the kindly spirit of St. Valentine, a young Roman priest executed February 14, 270 A. D., for refusing to renounce Christianity.

Medieval sweethearts began exchanging romantic Valentines around 1400. These early creations were designed with quill pen, pastepot and great expectations.

Cupid's more talented victims peppered their Valentines with amorous scenes neatly drawn in black and white. Later they were made by folding paper and cutting it into very intricate and lacy patterns, which were carefully handcolored.

By the 17th century, the Valentine custom had spread throughout Europe. The style shifted to elaborate ornamentation. Rich noblemen bedecked their Valentines with expensive jewels, and hired ghost writers to pen impassioned rhymes.

In the lower income brackets, love-plagued swains spent weary hours decorating Valentines with turtle doves, pressed flowers, silk ribbons and cut-out hearts. England solved verse-writing problems for a sixpence by publishing the first "Valentine Writer" in 1640.

Similar pamphlets with tailor-made verses, and tips on how-to-build-a-better Valentine, were popular until the early 1800's. Meanwhile, new graphic arts processes had been developed, such as color engraving, lithography and aquatint.

As the 19th century began, English publishers were already selling elegantly printed Valentines. The competition among professional designers was keen, and cleverly innovations quickly followed.

One unusual Valentine pictured a gaily-colored floral bouquet that opened, like an accordion, into what resembled a "flower cage" or "spider web". Inside this scene a tiny cupid and verse appeared.

"Mechanical Valentines" were introduced in the 1840's. They featured movable figures, easily animated by a cardboard tongue. Some would picture a tiny cottage or village church, with sides that opened to reveal a happy domestic scene or wedding ceremony.

This was the so-called "Golden Age of Valentines". In frills and fuss, the Valentines of this period, 1830-60, reached a peak of perfection and beauty that has only been equalled in recent years.

Victorian England exported great quantities of Valentines to America; from here, too, they had been handmade since Revolutionary War days. Envelopes were added for the first time, and when a low-cost postal service began Valentines became more popular than ever.

American publishers began selling their own Valentines in 1840. By 1857 over three million Valentines were sold in the United States, retailing from three cents to thirty dollars apiece.

As the century wore on, humorous Valentines became fashionable. They still are. The 1953 Valentines are evenly divided between the whimsical type and those created in the lace-and-ribbon tradition.

Modern lads and lasses, however, value the verses most of all. For those in love are still seeking some special way to say—"Let's be Sweethearts!"

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

STATE MAY WIN ESTATE WHEN DECEASED LACKS WILL

Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estates of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat", to the State.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British crown. The theory of the process is that the sovereign (or State), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parceled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate, rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

How, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you, better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain. Therefore if you had no will, your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible to provide for such an eventuality.

In this hypothetical case, you would probably want to designate some friends as executor, to take care of all necessary arrangements and then distribute the estate according to your wishes.

On the other hand, if you have plenty of possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And, even if you wish your property to be distributed entirely in accordance with our statutes of descent and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

There's a know-how to give medicines and treatments at home that can spell success in helping the patient to get well and adding much to his comfort.

It is very important that medicines be measured and given in the right way. No matter how old the patient or how serious the illness, the need to use the right measuring apparatus, to be very careful in measuring the ordered dose, and to avoid distractions while measuring it is the same. Life may hinge on such simple things as weather or not an aspirin tablet is crushed before being given to a small child.

When the doctor prescribes a drug, it should be given in accordance with his orders, which almost always are written on the label of the container. To double check, the person giving the medicine should read the label twice; before taking the container from the shelf and after taking the drug out. If anything in the directions is unclear, the doctor should be questioned before the first dose is given. To be sure that medicines are given on time, an alarm clock may be set.

Furnishing a "chaser" of root beer or fruit juice, chilling the medicine, or giving it with ice water may help to get a bad tasting medicine down. Bitter liquids and those staining the teeth can be sipped through a drinking straw placed far back in the mouth. To swallow a pill, tablet, or capsule, the following method is recommended: swallow a little water, place the medicine way back on the tongue, take a mouth full of water, and throw back the head with the second swallow.

A child who complains of a stomach ache shouldn't be given a laxative before checking with the doctor, who will want to rule out such conditions as an inflamed appendix before recommending such treatment.

Any unusual reactions to medicine—a skin rash, itching, or vomiting, to name a few—should be reported to the physician before the next dose is given; he might want to cut down or stop the drug altogether.

Safety precautions are needed when treatment calls for applying a hot water bottle to the patient. This holds especially true for an infant or an unconscious adult, who is not able to stand much heat as a conscious older person. Very hot water should be mixed with cold water until the right temperature (115 to 130 degrees Fahrenheit, measured with a bath thermometer) is reached. If no thermometer is available, the right amount of heat can be judged fairly well if the person filling the hot water bottle can thrust his clenched fist into the water and bear the heat comfortably for a moment. By laying the bottle on its side and screwing the top in when water appears at the neck, all air is forced out, making the bag light and flexible. It should be covered with a Turkish towel or flannel cover.

A hot water bottle can be used for an ice cap if ice is crushed finely. With either a hot water bottle or ice cap, the patient should be watched for any signs of an uncomfortable reaction such as too much redness or heat. When heat pads or bottles are being used in treating hands because of the danger of shock; cords should be in good condition and the turned too high. A hot water bottle should be kept at a distance from the patient left on too long, his safety are assured.

A treatment often used for hoarseness, sore throat, or difficulty in breathing is steam inhalation. To do this, hot air is breathed in, that gives off vapors of zinc, menthol, or camphor added for its soothing effect. If the doctor thinks it is following equipment used for a steam inhalation, a kettle, a funnel, a double thickness of paper and an enclosure for the head; an opened bottle which is placed a heavy serve as the enclosure. A candle which might start should not be put in, but instead in a small ed to prevent spilling in the kettle.

America Turns To Lincoln Shrines

BOYHOOD ON frontier was spent in Kentucky and Indiana. Maps shows route Lincoln are believed to have taken.

AP Newsfeatures

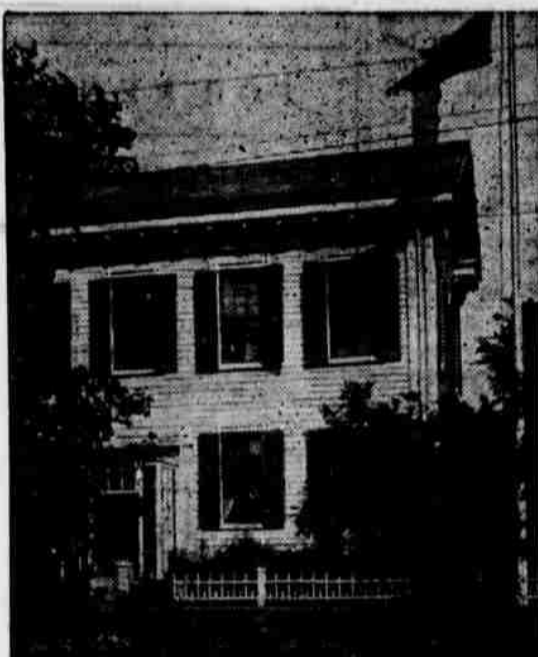

LINCOLN memorials have been increasingly popular points of pilgrimage since World War II. The National Geographic Society estimates that the number of visitors to such shrines has more than tripled since 1946. The "Lincoln country" of Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois is dotted with memorials to the Civil War President. Another great Lincoln shrine is the memorial in Washington, D. C. Pictured here are some of the places that have become linked with the Lincoln story. Part of the stimulus for the increasing number of visitors is the large number of new books about him which have appeared in recent years. They have had the effect of stressing the minute details of his life, some of which have been dramatized in pageants and plays.

YOUTH found Lincoln in New Salem, Ill. It was a pioneer community of rough cabins. It was here that the future President first struck out for himself, living apart from his family. The community has been rebuilt as it was at that time.

Bible Words to Live by JOHN 3:16—"Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us, and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren."

I hesitate to suggest my favorite Bible verse. It is a bit as if some one asked me to name my favorite son or daughter. There are four of them and each has an equal place in my affection. Bible verses are a bit like that to me.

Perhaps John 3:16 stands at the top of the list. No other verse seems to embody so well of the evangel. This verse, sometimes called "The Gospel in a Nutshell" certainly is at the heart of the gospel message. God's infinite love. His supreme gift to man, His inclusive invitation to eternal life, and His promise of redemption through Christ, are the basic foundations on which our salvation rests.

It is for these and other reasons that I cherish John 3:16, as containing a gold nugget of spiritual truth of par excellent value.

on a subject that is so vital to the economic welfare of the people of Lamb County. Every farmer knows that our soil fertility is going down and so are our soils yields, but very few of us are doing much about it."

LCA

Although the snow gave the farmers some relief, the effects of extended drouth are still for-reaching as we are still critically short of moisture. Looks like "rough times" for those operators without considerable capitol reserves. These conditions will test the old timer and the new comer to agriculture in Lamb County, alike.

As if the drouth misery was not enough, other economic clouds loom dark and threatening. The index of prices paid by farmers (cost of production goods) stood at 281 in December, 1952. The index of prices received by farmers (for products sold) stood at 269 for all crops and livestock. The index of prices received for all crops was even lower—at 256 percent of the base period.

This brings the parity ratio down to 96 or some below the "break-even" point for farmers as a whole. This simply means that the cost-price "squeeze" is growing worse. Better planning and management of all operations are more necessary now than during any year since World War II.

If farm and ranch operators are to expect the best chance for maximum profits they must aim at the following goals:

1. Adopt soil management practices which obtain the highest total yield of crops and pasture.
2. Include enterprises which permit maximum use of machinery and give highest per man.
3. Obtain maximum use of facilities used for livestock—keep number in line with available food supplies.
4. Handle labor so as to keep fully employed — with regular training to care for machinery.
5. Utilize most productive acreage for cash (high value) crops.
6. Make maximum use of fertilizers, insecticides and practices which insure best yields.
7. Engage in a full-time farming (and ranching) program rather than following periodic, "one-crop" operations.

LCA

Even though farmers are carrying more insurance today than ever before, they will carry less proportionately than other occupational groups.

As farming costs increase, especially the cash outlay per acre and per animal, practical insuring

Five Outstanding Young Texans Of The Year

The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce will honor the above five outstanding young men of the year in the state at a banquet in Dallas, Jan. 16. The men, announced at Jaycee headquarters in Grand Prairie, are (left to right): Rex G. Baker, Jr., 32, Houston attorney and business executive; Dayton Harold Walkup, 34, Kilgore ceramics manufacturer; Billy Sol Estes, 27, Pecos cotton farmer and sheep rancher; T. J. Vandergriff, 26, Mayor of Arlington and general manager of Vandergriff Enterprises, and Robert F. Haynsworth, 31, El Paso lumber importer. (AP Photo)

of the risk becomes more desirable. Insurance against all the hazards of farming is not practical, however, since farming is naturally a risky business and it is not possible to insure all or even most of its hazards. Even if insurance against all hazards were available, the premiums for it would take a significant part of one's income and added to already high fixed farming costs.

Each farmer should examine his own operations to determine the risks that are too large to face without insurance or reserves. In general, small and frequent losses should be considered as regular expenses, and not to be insured against. The possibilities of the larger but less frequent losses should be examined to find the most efficient method of protection.

More than half of the people in this country now have some kind of hospital insurance, but a recent survey showed that twice as many city people use hospital insurance as do farm people. One reason for this difference in the amount of hospital insurance carried by farm and city people is its availability to meet city people as group insurance. However, group insurance is available to farmers through their own organization. Group insurance reduces the problem of "selectivity" or the tendency for those to join who are most likely to need hospital care. This group policies cut down the premiums because electricity increases the cost of coverage, and the premium rate the insured has to pay.

C. C. Cox of the Cox and Downs Farm, three miles north and one and one-half miles east of Anton was in the office Thursday. He was showing me some tags that they are putting on some certified grain sorghum seed of the Plainsman and Redbine 66 varieties that they produced. The Plainsman ran 99.72% and pure with a germination of 99% and the Redbine 66 ran 99.86% pure with a germination of 99%. They have new cleaning and equipment and are selling this seed only at their farm in 100 pound bags. Mr. Cox said he liked the Redbine 66 the best and thought that it would turn out to be one of the better grain sorghums for this area. This backs up R. E. Karep of the Lubbock Experiment Station, who helped develop this type. Mr. Cox says that the Redbine 66 stood up better on the stem, had a more open head which allowed it to dry out more evenly, and matured eight to ten days earlier than the Plainsman. It also grows more evenly thereby allowing a much better job of combining, because they could set the platform up higher on the stalk. The yields were about the same as they harvested 4,000 pounds or better per acre on both varieties. They also have some registered seed of both varieties to sell to seed breeders.

MRS. ROBERT HENRY tells the story of her own delightful Paris childhood in "The Little Madeleine," but a great deal has happened to her since then. Some of the rest of the story has been told in other books of hers: "A Farm in Normandy," from which she and her infant fled when the Germans attacked at the start of World War II; "A Village in Piccadilly," or life in London during air raids; "A Film Star in Belgrave Square," about her eight-year-old son Bobby whom you no doubt remember from the movie "The Fallen Idol." There have been still more books, too, from this busy woman, born in Paris, brought up there and in London,

So you want to be beautiful, pretty, charming, adorable, sweet and glamorous to the rest of the world. A small order, but of that's your main wish for 1953, now is the time to wrap the little nuggets of wishful thinking in their glittery sequins and strive to keep your new year's resolutions.

Here's the way to take out that beauty insurance that will pay dividends in the future. So start paying premiums into your glamor bank now. Here's how:

1. Hands and Nails . . . This is the time to train nails to grow in a pretty shape. Every time you wash your hands, push your nail cuticle back gently with the towel. A buffer is a fine idea for smoothing the nails, although some consider this method old-fashioned. If you have the time, it is an excellent way to keep your finger-nails smooth and pretty.

Use an emery board, not a metal file to shape the nails, and do not round them at the corners if you want to avoid hangnails. If nails are brittle, drink more milk and eat foods beneficial to healthy nails.

Keep hands smoothed in winter by remembering to rub oil, lotion or special hand creams into them after washing dishes or after hands have been exposed to cold.

2. Skin and Complexion . . . Bathe often to remove impurities from pores. Use soap lavishly. Use a pumice stone on sole calluses. Rub heels with stiff well-soaped brush.

Wash face with soap in gentle fashion. One skin expert advises rubbing good soap directly in the face. His method is excellent, and he suggests rubbing the soap on face and neck, massaging it in with palms of hands, and then rinsing off with the same soapy water.

At the first sign of a skin blemish, attempt to find the cause. If you've been gorging yourself with candies, pastries, and soda pop, avoid them for a while, along with pastries, gravies and other rich foods. Concentrate on green vegetables, lean meat, salad and potato until your skin looks normal.

3. Your Figure . . . It is easy to take off an extra pound or two, but if you let ounces roll into pounds and wait until your excess weight is the pounds or more, the reducing job will be a miserable chore. If it is just a question of a few pounds, these can be lost usually by giving up starches, fats and sweets for a week or so until your weight is back to normal.

4. Your Hair . . . A good haircut and daily hair brushings are important to hair grooming. If your hair is shaped nicely it will be easy to set each evening, and if it is curled every day you should not need a permanent wave. Frequent shampoos are necessary to the health of your hair.

5. Grooming Pattern . . . Fastidiousness is important if you wish to be charming. Stocking seams must be kept straight, anchored properly. Heels can't be run-down; lifts should be repaired at the first sign of strain. Slips should be kept at the length that will never show below dress or skirt. All accessories such as handbags and gloves should be kept clean and in repair. White accessories are prettier if kept crisp and bright white. The little time involved in washing and ironing them shouldn't tempt you to wear them a second time to escape the minor laundry chore.

6. Make Your Time Count . . . Vivacious people are busy people. Don't develop a mopey attitude toward life. Cultivate interesting people and your awareness of others will help stamp you as a personality girl. Be a good listener and you will never bore people. A hobby will keep you entertained and help make friends.

committeemen and others who might need them, are to be filled out by the driller and brought back to the county board.

This drilling log will show depth of the well, casing, location of the well, and the strata which were drilled through, and the thickness of these strata.

Questions Are Asked
In cases where the county board cannot agree on the spacing of a certain well, the case will go to the district board, but the district board is not to get the case unless it has already been considered by the county committeemen, Fortenberry emphasized.

When the general material had been covered, questions from county committeeman and others began to come from the floor.

"Does the district have the authority to make a land owner abandon a well on a common high point if he needs to deepen the well," asked Posey Cunningham of Castro County, referring to a remark by Fortenberry that wells would have to be drilled a fair distance from a common high point.

Starting A Well Defined
Fortenberry didn't think so, but suggested that it was often as cheap to drill the well at another place as it would be to deepen the existing hole, and suggested tact as being helpful.

Bill Childress of the Peerless

Pump Co., Plainview, wanted to know just what constitutes starting a well, for wells which are started before Sunday will not come under the regulations.

"The time the well is spudded in is when the well is started, Fortenberry answered. He added that he had checked with an attorney, and found that drilling a well without a permit could be a cloud on the title.

Can't Consider Windmills
Other questions included those on how quickly a permit could be obtained, and whether or not windmills should be considered in spacing wells. Fortenberry said that the permit could be considered as obtaining when the application has the signature of three county committeemen.

It was decided that windmills should be shown on the application form, but they couldn't be considered too seriously, as "we can't protect every man who has a shallow water windmill country. If we do, we well quit irrigating the way Fortenberry put it.

50 Years Supply

George D. Clyde, Long chief of irrigation research Soil Conservation Service Western states, spoke of about 150 million of water being available High Plains of Texas, that it should last for 50 years.

Permits to appropriate lion acre feet of water streams have been issued Texas Board of Water but only about eight per year is actually he said. About 54 million of water a year flows of Mexico, and he said only one per cent of carried, this was equal of topsoil from 900 of land.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Just a Little "Outdated"

Back in December we sent out our yearly calendar. It listed the last date for renewing drivers' licenses, and things like the dates for registering to vote, when the hunting and fishing seasons open — even suggested you note down the wife's birthday, too.

I figured dates like these were important to keep in mind—and this was a good way to do it. Unfortunately, it now turns out I never really paid close attention to my own calendar!

Not 'til today that is—so here I am not able to drive the car this weekend until I get my driver's license renewed on Monday!

From where I sit, I guess good advice, like charity, should begin at home. I'm always advising all of you to worry less about your neighbors (what they do, or say, and whether or not they should enjoy a temperate glass of beer) and pay more attention to whether you yourself are doing the right thing. Guess I'll "make a note" to follow my own formula!

Under overhead valve engine developing 120 horsepower. Called the "Super Jetfire", this engine, with a compression ratio of 7.3 to 7, is designed to operate efficiently on regular gasoline.

The famous high compression engine which established the greatest post-war record for performance in the grueling LeMans 24-hour sports car race is offered as optional extra cost equipment on the Ambassador model, Doss said.

The new Nash engine is called the "LeMans Dual Jetfire". Doss said, after the LeMans, France, race considered to be the ultimate competitive test in engine performance and durability. Nash scored over all other American-built engines in the 1952 run.

The new six-cylinder overhead valve engine is equipped with an aluminum cylinder head and has a compression ratio of 8 to 1. It produces 140 horsepower at 4,000 rpm. Two side-draft carburetors work in conjunction with an oversized "Sealed-In Iso Thermal" intake manifold. Along with the Super Jetfire engine, it has the only American-built seven-bearing, 100 per cent counterbalanced crankshaft.

Dual-Range Hydra-Matic Drive and automatic overdrive are available on all 1953 Nash Ambassador and Statesman models as optional equipment. Synchromesh transmission is standard on both cars.

Nash power steering, available as optional equipment on Ambassador models only, employ new engineering principles to give new steering ease and safety, Doss said. It is simple but rugged construction, providing direct hydraulic actuation of the steering linkage.

According to Nash engineers, Nash power steering takes about 75 per cent of the effort out of steering, allows the driver to retain the "feel" of the road at all speeds, and gives positive directional control, even with hydraulic power off.

The new Nash models have an advanced type of independent front-end suspension called "Airflex Suspension," providing greater riding comfort and handling ease. Extra long and flexible vertical coil springs are located above heavy steering knuckles which take direct vertical loads, resulting in reduction of unsprung weight. Four direct acting shock absorbers control low frequency spring action. Combined with Nash power steering, this new suspension system provides a new standard of steering ease, stability, Doss said.

All 1953 Nash models feature Nash-pioneered "Airflyte" unitized body construction, used in modern trains and planes. Body-to-frame bolts are eliminated as the integrated body and frame are welded together to form a single unit said Nash engineers to be stronger and more rigid. Airflyte construction substantially eliminates useless body weight and operating economy of Nash cars, Doss said.
