DIAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM UNDER CONSIDERATION FOR SUDAN, TERRITORY

The installation of a new dial telephone system is now being considered for the city of Sudan, which, if accepted and completed, will be similar to that now being installed in a large number of the towns on the South Plains, by the Southwestern Associated Telephone system.

F. L. Butler, special agent for the telephone company was in Sudan on Wednesday and Thursday of this week in the interest of the new type telephone exchange and stated the following information for the benefit of those who do not thoroughly understand the new proposed set-up:

"A new dial telephone system is being discussed and will be installed if approved by the present subscribers. All telephones will be hand sets, commonly called French type and will consist of only two types of wall and a desk handset. Any subscriber can have either type telephone in either class of service at the same price.

The dial equipment and telephones will be the latest type and design that are manufactured today and all equipment will be installed new giving Sudan one of the best systems that is available.

"The rate schedule will be altered though not increased, only slightly in some cases."

The new system if installed will have a two party selective ringing service that is being used in a number of exchanges at present and gives a fine type of service and at a very nominal cost.

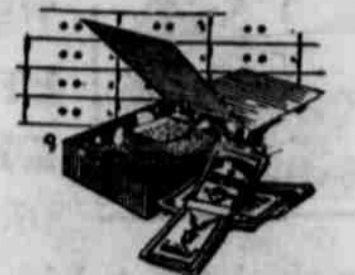

Amherst has accepted the new rate schedule and immediate steps are going forward for installation of the new system. Several other towns have recently been converted to dial systems or are under construction at this time with an early date of completion contemplated."

4-H Club Boys Realize $6,124.43 From Livestock

Lamb County 4-H club boys realized $6,124.43 from the sale of meat animals produced under special federal conditions. The total came from the sale of 140 beef calves, and 253 pigs were sold on the local market at Plainview, but the calves and the lambs were offered at Kansas City. The shipment made up a special train and 37 club boys and eight county agricultural agents and adult leaders accompanied the movement to observe marketing conditions.

Several neighboring counties also contributed to the shipment, and the totals do not include a considerable number of beef calves and some lambs not yet ready for market.

The Hale county plan of production under commercial conditions rather than for exhibit at the various livestock shows, is being followed in a number of other counties, according to State Boys' club Agent L. L. Johnson.

Anne shook her head. "It's probably just an upset stomach. You'd better leave Danny here on the daybed until you get home tonight so I can look at him occasionally," she suggested.

"You're all so kind," said Cathy with a little sob. "I don't like to impose on you, but Grandma Bauer's old and she doesn't hear very well and if— if Sonny got worse—"

Cathy had stopped to pick up her little boy. "Let me," said Jim. "He's getting too heavy for you to carry." He gathered Danny gently into his arms without waking him. Cathy went ahead to open the baby's head resting like a yellow flower on his shoulder, tiptoed after her.

"Some one's bought the house," Janet said.

It was unnecessary to say what mattered to the Phillips family. Anne, who had turned toward the kitchen, paused abruptly.

"Yes?" she asked with a catch in her voice. "Who?"

Vegetable Laxative Makes Happy Friends

Here's a laxative that usually acts thoroughly as harsher ones but is a gentle persuader for intestines when used this way: A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight; a drink of water. There's usually time for a good night's rest, with a gentle, thorough action next morning relieving constipation's headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, bad breath.

BLACK-DRAUGHT is a splendid combination of vegetable ingredients, chief of which is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" that helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. It's economical. 25 to 40 doses: 25c.

The SNOOPER SAYS...

I ask you, girls, are we going to stand for this? ... Four strapping men with bigiceps donned pretty blue shorts Saturday in Dallas and began waiting on the curb trade at a tavern along with a bevy of cutie-pie waitresses in scanties. The men also wore white sweat shirts and cowboy boots.

The men in shorts were hired after Dallas women took up the cry of Mrs. H. L. Hungerford and others that women were tired of seeing half-naked girls at the roadside taverns and had rather look at men in shorts. Mrs. Hungerford said she had received many telephone calls from Dallas women commending her on her stand, that women "are sick of looking at girls' legs; we'd rather look at men's. It's time this disgrace to womankind brought about by half-naked girls waiting on cars was stopped."

What if this fad should start in West Texas? Sounds awful!!! Imagine ordering food at one of these wheel-in restaurants from a man in shorts!!! And most men in West Texas are bow-legged—wouldn't be typical West Texans if they were not—and if they aren't bow-legged, then their legs aren't exactly shaped to be good to look at! Dear me! Maybe men in Dallas have pretty legs... we wouldn't know.

And—besides... most men take their girl friends to a place for a bite to eat where the attractive girls are. Places where the men hop cars stand a chance of losing customers.

Best cartoon I've seen in a week was one of those "Hold everything" by Clyde Lewis—two men cleaning a street, and one saying, "Spring always hits me like this—no ambition, no ideas, no concentration—just utter nochalance."

Even Stacy Hart has had spring fever, but he is ahead of some of the rest of us. He is planning a trip to Fort Worth the last of May.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sandidge went to Lubbock last Sunday to visit their niece, Miss Jarene Verner of Rule, who is a student in Texas Tech. She stays in the dormitory, so they all had lunch in the dining room. Mr. Sandidge said, although they had a private table, he felt like a man "without a country" in that dining room with those 325 girls! And all the girls call him "Uncle," too.

I'm willing to wager that within five years, Helen Heathman and Viralyn Patrick are singing in opera. If you have not heard them sing, you have missed hearing two of the most accomplished voices of High school girls, on the South Plains! They are frequently called upon for after all, it's the man who usually pays for the food!

The dimples do it. That's what the American Physical society heard last week in Washington—but the discussion was about golf balls—not pretty girls.

A golf ball's dimples step up the speed and length of a drive, J. M. Davies of the B. F. Goodrich company reported. He told of testing golf balls in a wind tunnel in which they sun 8,000 times a minute in an air stream of 105 feet a second. Undimpled balls showed they did not get as much lift as the dimpled ones. Davies then carried his scientific experiment outdoors to the golf links. The results, he said, were the same.

The head for the story above that appeared in a daily paper was "It's The Dimples on Golf Balls That Add Speed and Distance."

to sing for various entertainments, and everyone who has heard them always wants to hear their voices in song again.

Helen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heathman, and Viralyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Patrick.

Inspiration for the above paragraph came Sunday morning when I attended the Baptist Church. Yes, Brother Sharp... a confession!

Men, the millenium is at hand—a member of the fair sex says women's hats are "terrible." Hark to this indictment by Mrs. Ava Hamilton Seabrook Singer of Jacksonville, Fla., big game hunter and writer who had just returned from four years in Africa.

"The first thing I noticed when I got back to so-called civilization was the terrible hats women are wearing," she told the American League of Pen Women. "I'm still amazed. Nothing I had seen in darkest Africa compared to the headgear smart women affect."

Well, Mrs. Singer, hats have advanced with the times... advanced to practically nothing... and after four years in Africa, where the natives are about one hundred years behind in customs and styles, you should not be surprised at the styles in America.

Time for me to go.

HOME FROCK

One of the very best of our new daytime styles, this design (8659) makes up beautifully in such street materials as flat crepe and spun rayon, as well as in home cottons like gingham or linen. It's a joy to get into on busy mornings—just button the three buttons and fasten the belt in the back and there you are. The generous wrap-around makes skirt buttons unnecessary. Fullness in the back is confined by the belt, so that it is becoming to women's sizes.

The bodice turns back at the neckline, in pointed revers to match the flaring cuffs and, like the wedge-shaped pockets, the revers and cuffs are trimmed with braid. Pattern No. 8659 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48.

Pattern 8674—Busy mothers with lively little girls in the 2-to-8 size range can solve several important problems with this one clever, very complete pattern (8674). It includes a puff-sleeved blouse with drawstrings, panties, and a pinafore frock that can be used, without the blouse, as a sunback outdoor fashion for summer play, to.

A linen or gingham pinafore, with mull or dimity blouse, will be pretty for general wear. Plaid or striped seersucker will be practical for the pinafore when your little girl wears it as a sunback frock—can be tubbed easily, and needn't be ironed. The step-by-step sew chart gives complete, detailed directions.

Pattern No. 8674 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8 years.

CHAPTER VI

SYNOPSIS
 Phillips resents her family poverty when her wealthier friends come home from college. She Leigh, whose family has money has appropriated the light in Bay City and along with Janet's friend, Gordon Phillips, Janet's brother brought her to the dance to Gordon had promised to take and has fallen in love with red-headed Helen Sanders, Jim Phillips, Janet's brother-in-law, who offered to give Miss Sanders a lesson. Janet meets Tony at the dance and agrees to go to the old house which she has just bought. In the meantime and Bill Carter, Berenice and her brother-in-law, come home from a wild party. Bill hasn't enjoyed. "If I'm crazy about you I wouldn't what you did." Bill has just son only to disappear, he considered it extremely unlikely that she would keep her promise and appear for the promised golf lesson. Nevertheless, knocking golf balls idly against the side of the eaddy house, he kept his eyes steadily on the drive leading down to the gates and when the Leighs' scarlet and white coupe turned in at the club entrance Jim's heart gave an agonized bound.

 "Hello," murmured Miss Sanders, bringing the machine to an abrupt stop with a scream of brakes and a flurry of gravel.
 "Hello," said Jim in a voice that did not sound like his.
 She was alone in the coupe except for the elaborate bag of golf

Her glance smoldered. "Maybe I'm not so soft as you think. Anyway, I'm going to play around this afternoon, Charley-horses or not," she announced defiantly.
 "I don't want you to set foot on the course until you've had four more lessons," he said. "If you continue to pick up you can play Saturday."
 "I'll play when I like."
 "That's up to you," said Jim. "Only if you do I've lost a pupil."
 Their glances tangled and her eyes fell first. "All right," she said. "You win. I'll play Saturday." She gave him a rueful glance from under her lashes. "No one was ever mean to me before. I ought to hate you." Jim could feel himself growing clubs which Howard had procured for her the day before. She was wearing a backless blue silk blouse with a halter neck tied under her chin and a pair of blue shorts. A blue silk bandana handkerchief caught her bronze hair back from her face. Her slender golden limbs were bare. She looked disgruntled and sleepy and she smothered a yawn as she climbed out of the car.

 "Of all ungodly hours to get up!" she complained. "I left everybody else fast asleep."
 "That's why I didn't expect you," said Jim.
 She gave him a sultry glance. "Maybe that's why I came, to prove you can't be right all the time."
 Jim led the way without comment toward the big canvas curtain tacked up at the end of a wire enclosure behind the caddy house.

white. "Don't you?" he asked unsteadily.
 She had come nearer, so near he could not get his breath.
 "Maybe it's because you're different," she whispered, "but I wish you didn't despise me."
 Jim could think of nothing except her seductive face lifted alluringly to his.
 "I don't despise you," he said hoarsely. "I think you're the prettiest thing I ever looked at."
 "Honestly?"
 "Honestly," repeated Jim with a painful flush.
 "I have a feeling, given a proper chance, we could go for each other in a large way," she murmured, then turned abruptly toward the car. "See you tomorrow morning, Professor," she said and drove rapidly away.

The grounds of the old Radcliffe place took up an entire block. A rough stone wall enclosed the property, on all sides. Janet's grandfather had made a gallant effort to retrieve the family fortunes, but he was more statesman than politician and, while he made an excellent governor, he was too honest to manufacture capital from a political career. When he died he left barely enough to settle his debts.
 Tony Ryan drew a large key from his pocket. In fuming silence, Janet followed him up the wide steps to the great brass-studded front door with its delicate fanlight overhead. In the same oppressive silence they made a tour of the old mansion and returned to the double parlors on the south.
 "There's nothing wrong which a crew of high-priced carpenters cannot put right in a hurry. The real estate agency advises me that Busby is the best carpenter in town. You'll work directly with him."

"I'll not be able to get out here often," he continued. "I have a number of loose ends to tie off now that I've finally decided to retire. I'll tell Busby I want everything in this house put back exactly as it was. You will be the judge of what's what. When he's finished we'll take up the question of furnishings."
 "I still feel as if I'd be taking money under false pretenses," she murmured uncertainly.
 "I never allow myself to be cheated," said Tony Ryan, leading the way back to the car.
 By five o'clock that afternoon it was raining and the golf course was deserted. Jim Phillips had no desire to hang around with the crowd which was having cocktails in the clubhouse, a crowd that included Howard and Priscilla Leigh, also Tony Ryan and Miss Helen Sanders.
 When Jim entered the flat Janet was stretched out on the day-bed in the dining room, staring at the steaming window panes with an expression as lugubrious as the weather, and Cathy Wood was sitting on the floor beside Danny who had fallen asleep and was curled up under a faded crocheted afghan like a little bug in a rug.
 "Hello, everybody," said Jim, sounding more cheerful than he felt.
 "Hello," murmured Janet in a listless voice.
 Cathy looked up quickly and smiled. "Hello, Jim," she said softly.
 Dropping down into a big wicker chair Jim leaned his head back and extended his long legs at full new bathing suits all the girls marked.
 Janet's lips tightened. "Some days must be dark and dreary," she quoted bitterly.
 Jim laughed. Cathy said nothing. Jim had noticed that as a rule you had to discover what Cathy was thinking by what she did not say. He watched her slim fingers busily engaged with needle and thread. She was mending a pair of brief silken trunks, part of her dancing costume. She held the trunks up critically between herself and the fading light to inspect her stitches.
 "They're not much bigger than Danny's pants," commented Jim with a chuckle.
 To his surprise Cathy blushed. The color washed painfully into her pinched face, and Jim realized with acute dismay that he had hurt her.
 "At that," he said in an effort to make amends, "when it comes to covering, they're as adequate as the making the best of things as usual," wear."

"The difference is, I draw a salary for exposing my physical charms if any," Cathy explained and added with a short laugh. "You can get by with murder so long as you don't lose your amateur standing. 'S funny, or isn't it, how it's usually the society dame with the least on who sneers at the brazen chorus girl."
 "It is when you're poor but proud," muttered Jim.
 Janet stared at him in astonishment. "It's something new for you to feel like that," she said. "You've always seemed to think we ought to thank goodness for our obstacles because they're supposed to develop character, or what have you?"
 "Anybody home?" called Anne Phillips opening the front door.
 "Heaven help the poor working girls on a night like this."
 Jim grinned. "There you go, making the best of things as usual."
 Anne smiled at Cathy. "Anyway our sons like us," she said. "How's the boy?"
 Cathy hesitated. "He's been asleep for an hour. He feels awfully hot to me and it isn't like him to be so quiet."
 She smiled, knelt down and put her hand on Danny's small flushed brow.

 "Has—has he any fever?" faltered Cathy.
 "Maybe a little," admitted Anne. It seemed to Jim that Cathy's eyes had grown too big for her (Continued On Page 7)

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fall to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.
 You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel generally tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
 Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Victim In Bank—

Persons sat across the street, but saw no suspicious activity, no one leaving the bank, no car driving away and no sounds of movement from the bank.

Persons in the vicinity of the bank at the time of the robbery and murder have been questioned, but their lack of information has made the case more baffling.

Capt. W. W. Legge of the Texas Highway patrol office in Lubbock was in Austin Wednesday checking with headquarters there on possible evidence. He and members of his department have been assisting county officials in the investigation.

A. W. Miller of Amarillo, Federal Bureau of Investigation investigator also is assisting.

An undisclosed source has posted $1,000 for the arrest or death of the killer-bandit.

A $5,000 standing reward of the Texas Banking association is given to any person killing a bank robber. That reward, however, bankers said, would ordinarily be won by some one surprising robbers in the act. Later if a person were sure enough of identity of the robber to risk killing him, it might be possible to capture him alive.

Other officers elected were M. Autry, vice president; M. L. Payne, secretary; Roy McCarty, treasurer; T. L. Batson, C. A. Thomas, H. S. Melton, Lester LaGrange and L. H. Crawford, directors.

With more than $7,000 paid in to the treasury for memberships, the directorate has expressed surprise at the ready response. Goal for the drive is 1,000 members.

Census Gives City Population Of 3,791

The population of Littlefield, Lamb County, Texas, as shown by a preliminary count of the returns of the Sixteenth census, taken as of April 1, 1940, is 3,791 compared with 3,218 on April 1, 1930. The 1940 figures are preliminary and subject to correction.

Annual Opening Buffalo Lake To Be Sunday

Plans for the grand opening of Buffalo Lake, 30 miles southwest of Amarillo, were completed last week for an elaborate two-day program.

Prior to the big day celebration on Sunday, when more than 10,000 people swarm the shores for the water carnival of the Panhandle, the management of the lake has announced two other events of importance.

On Friday evening, May 3, the Lake Boat club presents their annual dinner dance in the recreational building at the lake site. All members of clubs featuring boating throughout the area also are being invited for this attraction.

Saturday, May 4, will be devoted to inspection tours of the lake and accommodations; such as buildings, bath house, cabins, play grounds, picnic units, boat facilities and of course, the Grand Fleet of the Lake Boat Club. Saturday, also, affords some tingling thrills evidenced by races, speed, midget racers, whining cars, spins and chills await the spectators who watch these hell-ers push their craft to the limits of speed first positions when the race starts on Sunday. A dance will be held that evening in the modern recreational club rooms featuring smooth floors, tuneful music and a beautiful view overlooking the lake.

Sunday, May 5, will be a gala day awaited by all. The thrills of boat races starting at 10 o'clock that morning to be followed by surprise entertainment programs presented by the cities of Canyon and Hereford. Tentative plans call for rodeo, racing and field events.

There will be swimming and diving contests; bathing revues and other aquatic sports until 8 o'clock that evening, including boat rides in the most luxurious and fastest boats to be had, when the Water Follies of 1940 presents a stage show such as never seen before in the southwest. Feature, if possible pretty girls, comedians, acrobats, musical numbers, novelty acts and all that make a musical presentation attractive all on a stage mounted over the water in an extravaganza of brilliance and sheer loveliness to be climaxed with the selection of a Queen among Queens.

What does all this cost? Nothing—it is all free attractions and everyone is invited to attend this Playground of the Southwest for the gigantic opening celebration May 4 and 5 at Buffalo Lake.

Annual Banquet To Be Staged Next Friday Night, May 10

The Junior-Senior banquet will be held next Friday night, May 10, at the Methodist Church. Miss Eloise Hanes, junior sponsor, is in charge of general arrangements.

The annual seventh grade banquet will be staged next Friday night, May 10, at the Presbyterian Church. Misses Allyn Lynch and Laura Virginia Bills are sponsors of the class.

Anton Population 548

More Than 350 IOOF Delegates Attend

Levelland was chosen 1941 meeting place and Ollie W. Smith of Levelland was elected president of the South Plains association of Odd-fellows and Rebekahs in the afternoon session of their annual convention here Thursday.

Smith succeeds A. L. Wright of Littlefield.

Other officers elected were M. G. Miller of Muleshoe, vice president, to succeed Mrs. A. L. Carpenter of Circleback; Raymond Gage of Circleback, re-elected secretary; and Mrs. A. L. Wright of Littlefield, chaplain.

Barbecue lunch was served at noon to approximately 350 delegates, with enough food left for the evening meal. The convention was held at the Rio Theatre.

Speakers at the convention included John F. Ross of Amarillo, past grand master of the grand lodge of Texas, Mrs. Ross, past president of the Assembly of Texas, Mrs. Boyd Howard of El Paso, present president of the state assembly, and Mrs. C. B. Crouch, matron of the Odd Fellows home in Corsicana.

Registration at the convention, which came to a close with a night session featured by competitive drill work among teams of both Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, exceeded 350 members gathered from all portions of the district.

Students To Attend Classes Only Two More Weeks This Term

Only two more weeks and one day of classes will be held at the Littlefield Public schools after this week, Supt. F. A. Hemphill announced Tuesday. Report cards will be handed out Friday, May 24.

Students in the Littlefield school district and surrounding districts who are planning to attend summer school should notify Chas. Fleischer, principal of local high school, immediately, Mr. Hemphill said. Summer school will be conducted under the same plan as last year.

Local Boy Scouts To Attend Circus

The "biggest show on earth" for Boy Scouts and Cubs of the South Plains Council will be staged Friday night, May 3, at Texas Tech stadium football field, starting at 8 p. m. with a mammoth cast of 1,500 boys, climaxing months of training to entertain the people of 20 counties comprising the South Plains.

Approximately 20 scouts will attend from Littlefield, with scoutmasters Darrell Hemphill, John I. Bowling, Orin Dennis and Paul Pharris.

Before the eyes of the 3,000 spectators expected to view the spectacle will be unraveled 15 acts of action and thrills. Scouts and Cubs will come from more than 40 towns to stage this enormous event of one hour and a half. Tickets are on advance sale for 25 cents while they are 35 cents at the box office. Some boxes of six seats, reserved, are to be sold for $3 a box.

Behind the scenes will be some 200 volunteer leaders making the circus machinery "go around."

The program includes, in order on the stage: prologue to "The American Way," theme of the circus; the grand entry march, rope-spinning, whip-cracking, whirligigs; Cubbing, chariot racing and wall-scaling; signaling, first aid, flint and steel firemaking, senior scouting, Indian scenes and dancing; camping, pioneering with a stockade, clowns and the grand finale.

The Texas Tech band will play throughout the program. A loud speaker will emit a monologue while the Scouts demonstrate their wares. Friday the troops and packs will parade at 2 p. m. while a final dress rehearsal is slated for 2 p. m. at the Tech field. The entire field will be turned over to the Scouts that day and properties will be stored for the rehearsal and show that morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wright of Abernathy, formerly of Littlefield, are the proud parents of a fine boy "Leonard, Jr." born at the West Texas Hospital, Lubbock, Friday night. The baby weighed 6 lbs. 14 oz. at birth.

A Larger Kemgas Cottonseed Delinting Plant To Serve You

COSTS ABOUT 10c PER ACRE

It costs about 10 cents an acre to have your seed Kemgas disinfected, and graded. We select the heavy seeds for planting and cull out immature seeds that make weak, sickly, unprofitable plants.

To care for increasing demands for KEMGAS delinted cotton seed from our plant we have spent thousands of dollars since last season increasing our facilities. Leading Cotton farms throughout New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma have brought us hundreds of tons of high quality seeds again this year to be delinted in our plant. Among our customers are many of this section's largest cotton experiment farms, State Agricultural Colleges . . . and we are also in position to give the farmers of this section the same profitable advantages of planting KEMGAS delinted cotton seed!

When your seed are brought for delinting they are culled without additional charge. This means the small withered seed are thrown out and you get only the heavy-weight seed that contain the stored plant food necessary to produce vigorous, rapid growing, disease resistant, high yielding plants. They are also disinfected—absolutely sterilized, killing all disease and germs common in cotton. The world's largest experiment farms demand KEMGAS delinted seed . . . why not profit by their experiments!

Germinates MUCH FASTER

For several years on the Plains Kemgas delinted seed has germinated faster than fuzzy seed and with the aid of less moisture.

Kemgas Delinted Seeds Are Planted With Any Planting Machine That Has Corn, Cowpea, or Feed Plates.

 We had the best Church School attendance last Sunday that we had this conference year. We hope that more people will be interested enough in the Church to give their support to the Church in the matter of attendance. We are thankful we ought to be that we have the chance of attending church service in a country like ours.

Will you stop and think what the Church means to our country? I hope if you will that you will give the Churches at least with your presence.
 We welcome all people to attend church services.

 This year we are to major in the study of Christian Stewardship and in some Churches the laity will take the lead. When many people think of Stewardship they say, "Hem, that is getting the tenth out of every dollar," or refers to the tithe. If Stewardship was ever so circumscribed and hedged about it has lost this now. That is why we desire a study of the real meaning of Stewardship. There is a vast difference in the old fashioned revivalism and the modern meaning of Evangelism.
 Stewardship deals with all life and its proper relation to God and the world and all other people, what we make we keep. It deals with time, talents, opportunities, associations, influence, disposition and conservation of life and bodily energy.
 Stewardship says it is not enough to be just good, but we must be good for something. Not enough to be good but intelligently good. The term good changes from age to age. Good men used to own human slaves, so called good men used to challenge each other and fight duels. But today these would be called murderers.

 The man with one talent was not condemned because he did not use intelligently what he had with all its limitations. He was a good person, no doubts as Jesus does not call him bad, but what was his good for? Jesus commended them to. Let us get into the study of Stewardship in this light and see what we shall find.

One Variety Goes To Town

Farmers are "going to town" with the one-variety cotton movement as the acreage in the cotton producing states increased from 394,000 acres in 1931 to nearly 3,000,000 in 1939.

In 1931 about 90 per cent of the cotton planted in one-variety communities was located in the irrigated valleys of California, Arizona, and New Mexico.

Texas led the parade in 1939 with 415 of the 1,486 one-variety communities and almost a third of the total acreage.

In 1938 USDA marketing specialists selected 3,854 bales of cotton from one-variety communities in an export demonstration program to show foreign spinners that America was re-entering the quality cotton field.

Last year 12,602 bales were selected from five one-variety areas, of which more than 5,000 came from the Victoria section.

The big development in Texas during 1940, according to M. C. Jaynes, specialist in cotton work with the Texas A. and M. Extension Service, will be the establishment of a number of central marketing points where even-running lots of cotton from one-variety communities will be offered to buyers.

Helen Louise Woody Wins Third Place At Future Homemakers' Rally

Mrs. Nina Young and Misses Rose Ancineo, Helen Louise Doody, and Celeste Lueck returned to Littlefield Saturday night from Dallas, where they attended the annual state Future Homemakers' Rally last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Helen Louise Woody, who entered an all-purpose dress in one of the contests, received third rating or excellent. She is in the second year class at the local high school. Thursday night the girls participated in the Choral Singing Contest and Friday night was Fun Night. Thursday, contests were held and Friday, panel discussions and viewing of the exhibits were part of the program. Dr. L. A. Woods, state school superintendent, was a guest speaker for one occasion. Topic for discussion during the entire meeting was "Democracy." Mrs. Young reported, Democracy in the home, school and community. Friday morning a style show was given by the girls winning in the dress contests, and a motion picture was made of the group. Mrs. Young attended a luncheon for teachers at noon Friday, at which time judges for the dresses reported on the entries, offering criticism, and stating that the girls this year had better reasoning, better posture, and grooming than in former years.

One of the outstanding features of the meeting this year was the attendance of a group of boys from various schools in the state who are enrolled in homemaking classes. A club was organized this year for the boys, and will be a part of the Future Homemakers' Club of Texas.
