Mothers March To Seek Facts, Funds For MOD

"If you can answer no to the questions inside, be thankful! If you must answer yes, take hope." About 30 Littlefield mothers will carry this message to homes here Friday night. The mothers, volunteers in the annual Mothers' March for the New March of Dimes, will be seeking information and support for the National Foundation's fight against birth defects, arthritis and polio. These cripples, initial targets in the campaign to prevent crippling disease, affect the lives of one of every four Americans. The 30 mothers will meet at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the county courtroom in the courthouse. They will begin the march about 7 p.m. Fenn asked that any other volunteers wishing to join the march contact him at phone no. 72, or report to the meeting at 6:30 p.m. Friday. # Saturday Last Chance To Pay Poll Tax; Six Elections Set

Weed Control Voting Only Five Weeks Away

With the first election of a big voting year only five weeks away, Lamb County voters are expected to make a last-minute rush for poll tax receipts before the deadline Saturday night. Actually, taxpayers face a four-way deadline. Saturday is also the last day they can pay city, county and school taxes without penalty.

At least six votes are on tap, beginning with an election on a Lamb County Weed Control district on March 5. The fellow who doesn't pay his poll tax by Saturday night is out of luck as far as casting a ballot is concerned. "We should sell at least 1,000 poll tax receipts in the last three days," County Tax Assessor-Collector Herbert Dunn said Wednesday. Dunn said 3,436 poll tax receipts had been issued by the county office through Monday. Monday was a fairly busy day, with 186 receipts issued. The total for the county through Monday probably was higher, because poll tax receipts were being issued at five sub-stations in the county — at Amherst, Sudan, Earth, Olton and Springlake. Dunn said a total of 11 books — 100 receipts in each — had been issued to the five sub-stations. He estimated that several hundred receipts had been issued at the sub-stations, probably bringing the total to more than 4,000. About 5,400 poll taxes were paid in 1956, the last general election year, Dunn said. The tax assessor-collector estimated this year's receipts would run "about the same," provided the closing rush hits as expected. Dunn's office will be open until 9 p.m. Saturday for payment of poll taxes and county taxes. City and school tax offices will close at noon Saturday. Elections coming up after the Weed Control vote include a school tax increase vote sometime in March, school trustee elections in April, Democratic primaries in May and June and the general election in November. In addition, some area towns will have city elections in Littlefield this year. Taxpayers who wait until after the deadline to pay city, county and school taxes will have to fork (Continued On Page Five)

ALWAYS RUN LATE?

If you're the type who always runs a little late, County Tax Collector - Assessor Herbert Dunn has fixed it so you can pay your poll tax as late as 9 p.m. Saturday. The county tax office will be open until 9 to allow residents to pay both county and poll taxes before the deadline.

Candidates Face Filing Deadline

Political candidates face a filing deadline of Monday — only four days away. The only clear thing right now is that five races for county and district offices will be contested. Latest candidate to announce is Bill Shelby of Hart, who said Wednesday he will seek the post held now by State Rep. J. C. S. Osborn, Osborn had announced earlier. In the county attorney race so far, it's incumbent Curtis Wilkinson vs. Don Chink, Littlefield attorney. Incumbent Bill Sheehan of Fritch is paired with Jack Young, Bailey County attorney, in the district attorney race. For commissioner, precinct 3, it's incumbent Bill Jeffries, J. L. "Roy" Yeager, Skipper Smith and Gene Williams. In precinct 1's commissioner race, A. J. Spain, C. M. Moss and H. A. "Alvin" Hysinger have announced.

Sandstorms will be the topic for a lot of cussing and discussing the next month or two (hope it's no longer than that). I hereby declare that this column won't be used to talk about sandstorms. Sandstorms are dirty, they are windy, they generate a lot of electricity and usually make everyone, especially housewives plenty tired.

This column may get a little windy at times, but I won't dirty it up with crying about sandstorms. Having lived on the Plains since 1933, I've got enough sand in my craw to take 'em as they come. I've always figured a good sandstorm kept the Yankees pretty well thinned out of this part of the country.

There's one good thing about a sandstorm... that's the day after. We have some mighty pretty spring days after a storm has blown its course.

A report from the Baker-Castor Bean Company in Plainview says that the Plainview farmers who planted Castor beans last year grossed around $84.00 per acre. The price will be up 11 cents this year, so Castor Beans may be the crop to take place of milo.

There's just one thing I know for sure about Castor Beans, and that is don't haul milo or cotton in a truck where they have been hauled. The Castor Bean odor has ruined a lot of good milo for marketing. Hal Boyle comes up with some pretty funny expressions which he says a group of policemen have designated as some very tiring remarks which they hear day after day: "Don't try to push me around, sonny, I've got friends at city hall."

"Officer, would you mind watching my child while I go into this store? I won't be gone but a minute."

"First of all, let's just get one thing straight: Are you a public servant or not?"

"What if I did belt her one? She's my wife — not yours."

"He couldn't be very smart. He's still on foot."

"Do you have any idea whom you are arresting?"

"Where do you fellows hide out? You can never find a policeman when you really need one."

"Why aren't you out catching bank robbers instead of annoying law abiding citizens?"

"Whaddaya mean I was doing out? If this buggy ever got over 50, the engine would fall out."

"I was halfway across the street when the light turned red."

"You must be mistaken, officer. My boy wouldn't do a thing like that."

"Do you guys get a medal for handing out the most parking tickets?"

"I tell you it was those new cold tablets that made me woozy. I haven't had a drink since New Year's Eve."

"There's a ten spot in it for you if you just forget all about it."

"Somebody must have pushed my car closer to that fire hydrant. I was 20 feet away when I parked it."

"He wouldn't talk so tough without that badge and gun."

"I bought five tickets to the policeman's ball, and this is the reward I get."

"Please don't give me a ticket, officer. My dad will never let me drive the car again."

"What stop sign? I thought it was a shaving cream ad."

"Give a guy a whistle and a tin badge and right away he thinks he's Napoleon."

"When's the last time you paid for an apple?"

This May Do Us Good

Nikita Khrushchev's grandstand play before the Supreme Soviet—the announcement that the USSR as the most formidable military force in the world would cut its armed forces one-third and add "incredible" new weapons to its arsenal—achieved the necessary headlines to rock the free world.

But the purpose or purposes of this tour de force and evaluation of the Kremlin master's boast of strength are still to emerge. That this was an elaborate bit of window dressing to impress his fellow conferees at the forthcoming summit is a reasonable surmise. That Khrushchev expects this massive gesture to be accepted as an honest and forthright move to end the cold war or to lure the western powers into disarmament on his own terms is less likely. To say that these men are not needed in view of the mysterious new super-weapons, however, could be a persuasive argument.

What we may be sure of is that there will be no unemployment among the 1,200,000 Russian soldiers, sailors, marines and flyers if, as and when they leave the services. Despite the Khrushchev boasts that production of both industrial and consumer goods are exceeding the quotas of the Seven Year Plan, critical shortages are reported and it can be assumed that those separated from the military will be deployed into the factories and farms. Nor should we forget that the faceless Russian is no more his own man out of the army than in it. If and when the Kremlin wants him back in uniform, back he goes—quick. We might recall, too, that similar manpower cuts totaling about two million have been announced before, but there has been no way for the allies to know what reductions, if any, were actually made.

The Khrushchev boasts are grim. Their effect on the peoples of the world should not be discounted. We in the US should be concerned over Soviet gains in labor productivity over our losses: a 1958 crop of 94,000 engineers in Russia against 35,000 here. We doubt Soviet military supremacy. But we'd better work as if the Russian were ahead—assuming that any time they are sure they can take us over, they'll try.

Nobody Won

The settlement of the steel strike—which gave payroll increases of 39 cents an hour to the steel workers—is surrounded by a very big IF.

The IF has to do with whether the settlement will be followed by increases in steel prices that will set off a new round of inflation. That question, apparently, will be decided by the union attitude toward proposed changes in work rules designed to increase productivity and so offset the wage boost in whole or in part.

An observation made by the Portland, Oregon, Journal, is very much in point: "On the surface labor can say that it won this strike, but really, nobody won. The steelworkers will never recover what they have lost in wages. The strike has lost markets for U. S. producers to foreign competitors which they may never regain. And if it proves to be the stimulus of a new inflationary spiral which runs throughout the economy, the cost to all segments of our people will be incalculable."

Fact And Opinion

Fortune says: "Wage increases that exceed productivity increases are pricing some U. S. goods out of world markets, and inviting the successful competition of foreign goods in the U. S. market. Already the clamor of protectionism is rising; another shove to the cost-price push in manufacturing will tilt the U. S. balance of payments further, bringing demands to close the U. S. economy. If we raise tariff walls we will abandon whatever chance the non-Communist world has of organizing itself on a basis of free cooperation. A few years ago the public mind would not have made the connection between labor's wage demands and the world position of the U. S. Now that it does, the unions seem to be working against the national grain."

"Industry will be vitally affected by the decisions Congress makes on a far-flung variety of legislative proposals during this election-year session. Serious threats are presented by a number of anti-business measures which would increase the difficulties of operation—and also of providing the jobs and products essential for the nation's economic growth."—No comment.

The American Medical Association polled the deans of the 84 American medical schools on what they thought were the greatest medical achievements of 1959. A plethora of divergent viewpoints resulted, but nearly all the deans agreed on one point—intensive medical investigation is now going on in many quarters in the field of biochemical genetics. This field deals with man's origins, his mode of development, and reproduction of characteristics.

The New York Mirror sent an investigator to a camp where convicted juvenile delinquents live and work out their terms. Interviews with these boys produced three steps which, according to them, would have kept them out of trouble: 1. Firm and fair discipline regarding habits, hours and friends. 2. A happy home of which they are a respected part, and into which they can proudly bring their friends. 3. Instruction in how to make a living and get along with other people—that is, preparation for the basic economic relationships of adult life.

AUSTIN, Tex. — With the filing deadline (Feb. 1) drawing near, the political ring is filling with hats — most of them familiar to Texas voters.

Since there's to be no wholesale re-shuffling among top state offices, liveliest interest is focused on legislative campaigns.

Texas Legislative Service's compilation on legislative races indicates about six of the senators running for re-election have opposition or prospects of opposition. Usually the opponents in the race are from the same party as the incumbent.

Entered the race in 1959 were 50 of the House districts. In 19 of these the present representative is not a candidate for re-election.

Besides the usual preponderance of lawyers, there are a number of school teachers and former school teachers among the newcomers.

Campaign platforms rest mainly on these issues:

- (1) Betterment of schools and improvement of teachers' salaries.
- (2) Revamping or doing away with the new merit plan and auto insurance rates.
- (3) Providing medical payments for persons on the welfare rolls and raising old age pensions.
- (4) Enacting stiffer highway safety laws.
- (5) Developing a comprehensive statewide water program.
- (6) Solving the state's fiscal problems. This is generally covered in some broad, fairly vague statement, such as "modernizing the state tax system," "eliminating unnecessary expenditures" or "finding an equitable method of taxation."

ENOUGH ENOUGH — Presidents of Texas tax-supported colleges and universities have come out against adding any more schools to the state's higher education system.

Their reasons: (1) we've got enough already and (2) there is not enough state money to go around.

University of Houston is seeking admission. Its case will be heard by the Commission on Higher Education in April. Commission will report to the Legislature, which makes final decision in 1961.

Del Mar College of Corpus Christi, a municipally-supported junior college would like to follow the course of Arlington College and become a state-supported four-year college.

Council of State College Presidents joined unanimously in a statement that to add more schools to the state system now or in the near future would be "a grave mistake."

Texas, said the Council, supports more colleges and universities, and contributes to the support of more junior colleges (22) than any state except California.

Ninety-five per cent of our people live within 100 miles of a state college now, the Council advises.

CHILDREN'S AID REFORM URGED — Texas' aid to dependent children program seems to be creating more of the same social ills it was supposed to alleviate.

This is the verdict of the Texas Research League after a two-year study made at the request of the State Welfare Department.

It seems that these abandoned children — those whom the parents refuse to support, or can't — often grow up to have children they too won't or can't support.

Welfare workers are seeing more and more second and third generation cases, said the League.

League recommends re-shaping the whole program to put the emphasis on rehabilitation. At present, says the League, the program does little or nothing to help families help themselves or to get at the problems that caused them to be in need in the first place.

ADC payments go to about 105,000 persons in Texas — 80,000 children and 25,000 parents. Cost: $21,000,000 a year, of which 80 per cent is federal money.

LEGISLATIVE EXPENSE RULING — Legislators who carry out between sessions committee assignments are entitled to $8 a day and 8 cents a mile for travel, according to an attorney general's ruling.

A special law covers the expenses of members of the Legis-

Sandhills Philosopher

Kids, Not Parents, Usually Throw Budget Off Balance

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm comes to the defense of parents this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor: Like most people, I haven't spent much time worrying about the national debt, it's sort of life states away while the kind you've got at home is giving you fits but I'll admit this isn't exactly far-sighted or statesman-like.

What set me to thinking about this though was an article I read in a magazine last night which some publisher sent me in the hopes I'd subscribe to it. This article quoted President Eisenhower on the importance of holding the national budget down. "I believe our people have the determination to hold expenditures in check, to pay their own way without borrowing from their children," the President said.

Now I don't know about the national budget, but what throws most people's budget out of balance is not the parents, but the children, and the number of parents who are borrowing from their children is mighty scarce in this vicinity.

Of course, I understand what the President is saying, he means the debt we run up will have to be paid off by our children and grandchildren, and he's right, but just in defense of us adults I'd like to underscore the fact that a lot of these debts we're running up can be traced directly to the children.

Take schools. When you go into debt to build a school, it's not for the parents' benefit. Most parents I know are already educated about as far as they intend to go. It may not be far enough

THIS WEEK In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

Many great Americans have served in the Congress of the United States, but none with greater loyalty, dedication and distinction than Rep. Sam Rayburn, a man we are proud to have as a friend and fellow-American.

To millions of Americans in and outside his district in Northeast Texas, most of whom have never seen him, he is Mister Congress. To his fellow congressmen and newsmen he is affectionately called Mr. Sam.

On the opening day of the present session of Congress the House paused to pay tribute, from both sides of the aisle, to a great American on his 78th birthday. The sincere admiration and affection expressed by his fellow congressmen brought lumps to the throats of spectators.

Mr. Sam, without doubt, has more friends and admirers in Congress than any other man. I have a single enemy we haven't, in more than 25 years of serving and reporting Congress: seen a hint that such a man exists.

On the Record
The Congressional Record, which reports the activities of Congress, included on Jan. 6 a statement of the remarkable record of achievement of Rep. Sam Rayburn from Borham, Texas.

He has been a member of the House of Representatives for 47 years, longer than any other man since this democracy was born. He has been Speaker of the House in 17 of those years, longer than any man in history, and almost twice as long as Henry Clay.

The record of his legislative achievements would, if assembled in one volume, make a good-sized book. The laws which he has personally sponsored affect the lives of every man every day. Because he was born on a farm and lived his life in a small town, he had a close interest in helpful to farmers and of small towns.

Some of the most important legislation Rep. Rayburn has introduced include the REA, brought electricity to the farm in the nation; the SEC Act to protect millions of people in stock and bond markets and veterans disability and soil conservation and soil measures to protect priceless national parks.

Sam Rayburn
Little is generally known about Sam Rayburn, the man who has shunned publicity. He has never been a "public man" on his own and he has steadily written the history of his life.

Well, what kind of being is Sam Rayburn? First, he is a simple, fashioned man. He is servatively, hates hats and ties. He is never having married, and he has lived in a small comfortable apartment more than 30 years.

He has enjoyed an unusual business of health. He has been in a hospital for his tonsils removed. He had a headache for at least two miles a day very temporarily.

Rep. Rayburn is a usual candor and straightness, a fact that has built his reputation for being "Tell the truth and nothing but the truth, and nothing but the truth." He tells people over.

He has never traveled when Congress adjourns only one place he goes and does go — home.

over extra for penalties. As of Monday, the city and schools had collected about 75 percent of their tax rolls. About 30 percent of the county's taxes were in.

The city tax roll is about $119,000, the county's is $465,188 and the schools' is $205,776. Both the city and school tax collections were running behind the pace set last year.

It'll cost 1 1/2 per cent more on county and school taxes in February. If taxpayers wait until February to pay city taxes, it'll cost them one per cent more. And if they wait past February, it'll cost even more. That's the case at all three offices — city, county and school.

1960 Census To Be By Do-It-Yourself

Government statisticians have released only a few details of the new do-it-yourself technique to speed the task of counting some 180,000,000 Americans in the 1960 census.

Beginning late in March, forms will be mailed to all households and institutions under the U. S. flag. Recipients will be asked to fill in the blanks; name, address, relationship to head of household, date of birth, race, sex, marital status and type of dwelling. For one thing, the figures are expected to show almost two million more women than men in the country.

A second form will be delivered to every fourth home. This one designed to give a statistical picture of how Americans live, will have 45 questions on such topics as education, occupation and income; number of times married; number of bedrooms in the home; the presence or absence of running water - hot and cold; telephones, television, washing machine.

All answers remain confidential by law. The information can be used only for statistical purposes, and is not to be made available to any individual. The census taker will be instructed to cover the Spanish-speaking population of the country. In 1950, an estimated 4 million people were being covered by census takers. The new do-it-yourself census will be conducted by mail. The hardest part of the job will be microfilmed and processed through automatic machines. Statistics from the 1960 census will be available in 1961.

Our fireplace heats the living room well - almost too well. The rest of the house, however, takes on a pall-like chill when the fire is burning because the thermostat for the central heating is about eight feet from the hearth. But we love it anyway. It beats an appetizer for putting guests in the mood for a pleasant evening. It says "Welcome" more gaily than the warmest handshake it enchants grandchildren with its crackle-and-pop, and its dancing flames.

Day by day, we're thankful for modern heating know-how. But for those special occasions, give us an open fire!

Rancher-Farmer
Land Damage
Suit Settled

An $8,950 damage suit, filed by Lamb County rancher Frank C. Daugherty against a neighboring farmer, George Brown, was settled here Tuesday during its trial in 154th District Court.

Brown's insurance company agreed to pay Daugherty a sum of $300.

Trial got under way Monday and six witnesses had been heard in the case before it was settled.

Daugherty sued Brown claiming the farmer plowed up land in the Sandhills area, resulting in the land blowing and covering the rancher's land.

Daugherty asked damages of $3,200 for loss of 16 head of cattle, $2,500 for damage to 50 acres of Sandhills land damage, $1,250 for damage to another 50 acres of Sandhills land and $2,000 for damages to a fence.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

We're grateful these cold days for man-made heat. Not the old-fashioned depot-stove variety, but modern, scientific, gas-and-electric, automatic - controlled heat, so even and so clean. We're thankful for it, but not the least bit excited about it. What really excites us is that relic of another generation, the open hearth.

It's true that a fireplace heats the front side to boiling while the hind side shivers. Bringing in wood, laying a fire, and taking out ashes is messy; it spreads another fine film of ash over the furniture as soon as the last one is dusted off. But an open fire warms the cockles of one's heart through and through.

A woman who lives alone told us the other night she has a fire in her fireplace every chilly evening: "It's like having another person in the room. I never feel lonely or nervous when there's an open fire. I'd much rather have it for companionship than a dog."

Our fireplace heats the living room well - almost too well. The rest of the house, however, takes on a pall-like chill when the fire is burning because the thermostat for the central heating is about eight feet from the hearth. But we love it anyway. It beats an appetizer for putting guests in the mood for a pleasant evening. It says "Welcome" more gaily than the warmest handshake it enchants grandchildren with its crackle-and-pop, and its dancing flames.

Day by day, we're thankful for modern heating know-how. But for those special occasions, give us an open fire!

Madrid, capital of Spain, is on a high, windy plain.

Impala Roper Going Up Big-Time Rodeo Ladder

By MRS. JOHN BLACKMAN
BULA — Jake Bogard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bogard, of Bula, became a national TV personality for a night recently.

Jake, who has been a rodeo fan all his life, took part in the finals of the national RCA rodeo in Dallas. The finals were televised nationally.

He came out winner in the first and third go-rounds in calf roping, with a time of 15.2 seconds in the first one and 13.8 seconds in the third.

Jake has entered TCA rodeos throughout the U.S. and Canada for the past few years.

The slender cowboy, who's 24, says he's often wondered why he started "rodeoing."

Maybe it's because his ranch-dad shoved a rope in his hand when he was about 9, put him on a trusty pony and sent him after a calf.

Whatever the reason, the Bula roper has hit the top in the cowboy contest that draws the largest entry lists and the most intense practitioners.

Jake placed in 27 rodeos in 1959 as a one-event specialist. Other cowboys say he's a tough competitor.

Bogard entered his first RCA rodeo in 1955 and in the next two seasons quietly won a name as a "comer."

Only the sensational successes partner, Glen Franklin, kept Jake from being dubbed the top man on the tour in his specialty.

Bogard missed the entire 1958 season, doing a hitch in the army, but he came back easily. He started 1959 by tying in 13.9 at Fort Worth in February, good for $1,545 in prize money.

Fans who watch the Bula roper, along with rodeo officials, put the tag of "comer" on Jake.

At calf roping, they feel he's going to be one of the best.

STAR—Bula's Jake Bogard is proving himself a tough competitor in national rodeos. The 24-year-old calf roper started when he was 9.

OPEN DOOR

One of the disturbing discoveries of life is that the truth one man cherishes seems a mystery to another.

But is that surprising? We live in a world of doors and locks. To the man with the Key a door opens. To another it remains closed.

Among the keys to spiritual truth is one called HUMILITY. It accounts for many of the millions who worship God every Sunday in the churches of our land.

An American President once said, "I have been driven many times to my knees by the knowledge that my own strength, and that of all around me, was insufficient for that day."

He ruled a nation divided. But neither Blue nor Gray ever questioned the humility of the man who signed his name, "A. Lincoln."

Not only the portal, but the Truth of God's House, is every Sunday an Open Door to humble men!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
