CITY ATTORNEY BILLS EXPLAINS THE LAW GOVERNING PROPOSED PAVING OF MAIN STREET IN LFD. TO BE VOTED THIS MONTH

Due to the fact that quite a number of the citizens of the City of Littlefield have asked the meaning of the law with reference to street improvement by cities, and especially the provisions of the law involved in the special election in the City of Littlefield on November 15th, some explanation and discussion of the provisions of the statutes should be given to the benefit of the voters, and the Leader publishes herewith such explanation of the statutes as are employed in the proposed paving program, the information being furnished through the courtesy of City Attorney E. A. Bills.

The special election that shall be held in the City of Littlefield November 15, shall determine the question of whether or not the City of Littlefield shall adopt or reject the benefits and provisions of Chapter 9 of Title 28 of the statutes of the state. Chapter 9 of Title 28 embraces articles 1086, 1087, 1088, 1089, 1090, 1091, 1092, 1093, 1094, 1095, 1096, 1097, 1098, 1099, 1100, 1101, 1102, 1103, 1104, 1105, inclusive. It requires too much space to set out in full, word for word, the provisions of the statutes contained in said chapter, however, the following covers the substance of the provisions of this chapter:

Article 1085 provides that cities incorporated under the general law, Littlefield has been incorporated, shall accept the benefits of Chapter 9, shall have the power to pave the highways of the city by paving the streets or building sidewalks, curbs and gutters.

Article 1087 provides that the city shall have the power to select material and methods of such improvements and to provide for the payment of the costs of such improvements out of any available funds of the City.

Article 1088 provides that the cost of making such improvements shall be wholly paid by the city or by the city and partly by the owners of the property abutting thereon. This article especially provides that not more than three-fourths of the costs of improvements, except sidewalks and curbs, can be assessed against the property owners of the property, and that the whole cost of sidewalks may be assessed against the property.

Article 1089 relates to the assessments that can be made by such cities against the property of the owners for all the improvements made on tracts and a certain distance on the tracts on each side.

Article 1090 provides that the city shall have the power to issue assessments against the owners of property abutting on the improvements and to provide for the time of payment and the rate of interest on such payments, which shall not exceed eight per cent, and to fix a lien on the property to secure the payment of such assessments.

Article 1091 especially provides that the city can not fix a lien for improvements upon the home-owners of other exempt property abutting on such improvements; but that the owner of such exempt property shall be held personally liable for the improvements constructed in front of the property, but which are assessed against him personally and not against his exempt property.

Article 1092 provides that the assessments by such assessment may be enforced in the courts in the same manner as enforcing tax liens.

Particular attention is called to Article 1093, which provides that no assessment of any part of the costs of improvements shall be made against any property or the owner thereof until a full and fair hearing has been given to the owner of the property in the city. Notice of hearings shall be published in a newspaper and the city may issue other notices to be given to the owner.

Article 1094 provides that the hearing shall be held before the City Commissioners and that the owners of property shall have the right to demand an assessment, and shall have the right to contest the regular proceedings. A very important provision of this article is that the city does not have the power to assess any costs against any owner in excess of the actual benefit to the owner in the increased value of his property. In other words, unless such improvements shall enhance the value of the property to the extent of the costs of such improvement then the city has no right to assess any of the costs against such property.

Article 1095 provides for re-assessments in case any mistake or irregularity shall have been made in the original assessment.

Article 1096 provides that any property owner who has been assessed shall have the right within 20 days thereafter to bring suit to set aside or correct such assessment.

Article 1097 also provides for special re-assessment. In any case where there has been improvements of the highways as aforesaid, no part of the costs of which has been paid by the abutting property owners, then the city shall have the power to assess such property with its part of the costs of such improvements not to exceed the enhanced value of the property.

Article 1098 provides that no assessment shall be made without at least 10 days written notice and an opportunity to be heard on such question.

Article 1099 provides that such assessment or re-assessment shall create a lien on the abutting property.

Article 1100 provides that such re-assessment shall be begun within three years after the completion of improvements and not thereafter.

Article 1101 again provides that in a city of less than 5,000 inhabitants that the entire costs of sidewalks, curbs and gutters may be assessed against the property as well as three-fourths costs of street improvements, but that the procedure provided in the statutes shall be strictly followed and that no assessment shall be made until the owner is heard, and in no case unless the improvements have enhanced the value of the property to the extent of the amount assessed.

Article 1102 provides that such assessments shall be payable in equal annual installments of not less than 5 in number, and again provides that the owner has the right to appeal from the decision of the city to any court of proper jurisdiction within 20 days.

Article 1103 provides that the provisions of the 6 preceding articles relating to special assessments are cumulative of all powers heretofore granted to any city by law.

Article 1104 provides that the benefits of the provisions of Chapter 9, which includes the articles above discussed, can not be taken advantage of by the city until an election is held and such Chapter adopted by the property tax paying voters of the city by a majority vote.

Article 1105 merely provides that the articles above discussed shall be cumulative of existing laws pertaining to making street improvements.

The above is a brief, and at the same time, a thorough statement of

MRS. JOHN WOOD DIES

Mrs. John Wood, wife of Judge John W. Wood, attorney at Amherst, died Monday afternoon of cancer.

The funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon by Rev. D. B. Doak, Lubbock, assisted by Rev. C. H. Ledger, of Sudan and Rev. J. E. Anderson, of Amherst.

The deceased was 55 years of age and is survived by her husband and four children. Interment was made in the Amherst cemetery.

BROOM CORN WILL BE ANOTHER GOOD CROP FOR SECTION

Lamb county on the South Plains, already recognized as one of the leading counties of the western portion of the state in the production of cotton, grain and sorghum crops, now bids fair to add another leaf of laurel to her crown of agricultural victories in the production of broom corn, this being the second year of its successful growth in this county.

Several tons of it are being produced in the Littlefield vicinity this year, of which four carloads were shipped from here to the eastern markets last week, and there is much more to follow. Buyers say the bush grown here is excellent, some of it selling as high as $145.00 per ton and yielding on an average of one-third ton per acre.

Farmers who have been raising broom corn here during the past two years are all highly gratified with their successes, some of them declaring it is a much more satisfactory crop to grow than cotton could ever be. On account of the general conditions prevailing in this section during the brush growth there is no danger from hot winds, consequently little if any bleaching; the straw retaining its natural green color thus demands a higher price. Invariably the season for harvesting in this section is ideal.

In all probabilities the broom corn crop grown in this section next year will be much greater than during the past two years, as numerous farmers of this vicinity are planning on this crop. It is also understood that the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce is now taking steps toward securing a broom corn factory in Littlefield.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE BOYS MAKE FINE SHOWING OF GRAINS AND LIVE STOCK IN EXHIBIT HELD LAST WEEK

As the Littlefield community was unable to put on an agriculture fair this year, the Vocational Agriculture class and the Pig club boys put on a fair of their own, with the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary club and the Vocational Agriculture teacher.

The farm crop exhibits were very good and showed practical value of teaching high school students how to select field heads of grain sorghums and cotton. Each exhibit of grain sorghum consisted of 25 mature heads and each exhibit of cotton consisted of 25 open bolls and two cotton plants of the type that can be most successfully grown in this section.

In the live stock division there were about 25 pens of chickens, consisting principally of White Leghorns, Barred Rocks and Rhode Island Reds, with one coop each of Silver Laced Wyandottes and Buff Orpingtons. There was also one pen of capons shown by O. A. Woody, who did the caponizing himself. Two pens of rabbits were shown by both J. G. Berryman jr. and Parker Burford.

The Pig club boys exhibited most of the hogs shown, two other pens shown consisted of a Chester White brood sow and a litter of pigs shown by J. G. Berryman jr., and a small bone Poland Gilt shown by Royce Beebe.

Following is a list of the Vocational Agriculture students who won first prize in each of the different exhibits:

- Farm Crops
Milo Maize—Parker Burford.
Higora—Guy Blevins.
Kafir—J. G. Berryman, jr.
Corn—William Reid.
Cotton—David Mitchell, 1st, J. G. Berryman, jr., 2nd.
- Poultry
White Leghorns—William Reid.
Barred Rocks—Witty Davenport.

JUNIOR HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The Junior Christian Endeavor society enjoyed a Halloween party in the church basement last Saturday evening.

It was hard to say who wore the most attractive costume.

After playing quite a number of games, ghost stories were told, then refreshments of apples, candy and cocoa were served to 29 members and guests.

A LOWER RATE ON STREET LIGHTING GIVEN BY KELSO

Judge I. R. Kelso, of St. Louis, Mo., accompanied by Mrs. Kelso, H. L. Allen, manager at Lubbock, and Mrs. Allen, were in Littlefield last Saturday afternoon, and, in company with local Manager R. E. McCaskill, were making an inspection of the company's property in this vicinity.

While here Judge Kelso made a Thanksgiving present to the City Commissioners in the form of reducing the rate on street lighting.

The city is now operating 57 street lights at a cost of $128.75 per month under the new schedule, the city will be able to operate 16 more lights, or a total of 73 for $127.75 per month, adding much to the general luminosity of the municipality and at a decreased cost for the considerably augmented service.

While here Judge Kelso broke the information that, following a survey made of the entire state of Texas, the Texas Utilities Co., was giving to the public a lower lighting and power rate than any other similar corporation doing business in the state.

It was also intimated by the Judge that electric service would probably be given to Whitharral in the near future.

ENLARGE HARDWARE STORE

ROTARIANS GIVE AN ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE TEACHERS

One of the most outstanding social affairs of the fall season was enjoyed last Wednesday evening when the Littlefield Rotary club entertained with a banquet honoring the faculty of the public schools in the banquet hall of the Presbyterian church. A short reception was held in the vestibule of the church after which the guests entered the beautifully decorated banquet room where an elaborate menu was daintily served.

Rotarian Andy Bills, as toastmaster presided in a most efficient manner. He introduced A. P. Duggan, who gave a welcome to the teachers and led the club in singing songs of greeting. Responding to this splendid talk Mrs. E. K. Allen and N. A. Donges made pleasing talks. Unusual entertainment was offered by Mr. and Mrs. Wells, of Los Angeles, California, artists who appeared in a lyric musical number at the Palace Theatre later in the evening.

Guests enjoying the hospitality of the Rotarians on this occasion were the entire faculty of the Littlefield public schools.

Rotarians and Rotary Annes present were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Bills, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Allbright, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hilliard, Mr. and Mrs. John Arnett, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Duggan, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Willis, Max McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Romback, Mr. and Mrs. Sad Sadler, Mr. and Mrs. Van Clark, Mr. and Mrs. T. Wade Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Clements, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Perkins, Rev. and Mrs. Neal Dugger, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCaskill, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Street, Mrs. Frances Tolbert.

TECH. DEBATES CAMBRIDGE

Lubbock, Oct. 31.—A debate has been arranged between Texas Technological college and the University of Cambridge, Cambridge, England, to be held in Lubbock on November 19.

The visiting debating team from England are to debate at a number of the leading colleges and universities during this tour of America. Two subjects have been submitted: "The Power of the Press Has Increased, Is Increasing, and Should be Diminished" and "This House is Opposed to Women."

Preliminary contests are being held in Tech now to secure the school's representatives.

SERVICE STATION ROBBED

The Hi-way service station, located on the state highway was robbed Saturday night of about $50 worth of inner tubes.

No clue of the persons committing the crime has as yet been discovered by the officers.

Every week the Leader carries in its columns personal items of local citizens who go to a larger nearby town to do some of their shopping; but that the tables are now beginning to turn is the statement of a Littlefield business man made this week to a Leader representative.

"Somehow folks have an idea they can get goods cheaper in a larger town," said the Littlefield merchant, "but such is seldom the case. There are two major things to consider in the retailing of merchandise," he said, "volume of purchase and overhead in disposal. Most of the Littlefield stores are able to purchase in practically the same quantities as do the stores in some of the larger surrounding towns, and their overhead expense, such as rent, sale clerks, etc. is considerably lower, thus enabling them to sell at a lower rate. The difference in freight charges on a shipment, for instance, between Lubbock and Littlefield is negligible."

Littlefield stores are carrying big stocks of merchandise this year. Business in this vicinity demands it. There is also a wide variety of selection for the customers, including many bargains that can scarcely be duplicated elsewhere. And that people are coming to realize the value of trading in Littlefield is evidenced not only by the local citizens but by many customers who come here from 50 to 75 miles distant to do their shopping. In fact there is seldom a week goes by but there are people from Lubbock who, realizing the greater values to be obtained in the smaller towns, come here to do their principal shopping. Some of these customers are now classed as "regulars" by Littlefield merchants. Yet, strange to say, there are some folks here in their home town, who have not yet learned the wisdom of trading at home.

A SLUMBER PARTY

The Rainbow girls enjoyed a slumber party Saturday night in the Masonic Hall with Mrs. Pat Boone as chaperone.

Various Halloween games and pranks were played and a midnight supper was served followed by other games until five o'clock when all lights were out, each made their bed and slept until 7 o'clock, arose and prepared their own breakfast.

The following rainbow girls attended: Vesta Henson, Maurine Irvin, Josephine Glenn, Lora Arun, Lydia Crockett, Bernice Wales, Freddie Horn, Bonnie Barber, Addie May Hemphill, Fern Thornton, Ellen Crockett, Lois Greene, Winifred Willis, Catherine Yohner, Kathleen Yeager, Myrtle Marion Shaw, Fern Hoover.

TECH MATADORS IN A. & M. GAME AT LUBBOCK, 47 TO 6

Nearly 100 people from Littlefield and vicinity witnessed the celebrated football game between the A. & M., day afternoon.

It was a bewildering aerial attack, and Tech teams, at Lubbock last Friday by Captain Joel Hunt and carried to completion by Petty and Sikes, ends, and Halfback Alsbrook, that brought triumph to the visiting team of farmers, but not before the inspired Tech Matadors had first paced the scoring and held the visitors to an 8-6 tally during the first two periods.

Between eight and nine thousand spectators, many of them former Aggie students who had traveled hundreds of miles to witness the fray, were on hand to share with the Tech squad its first taste of big game football in West Texas, where the score ran 47-6 at the finish.

Commenting upon the features of the game the Lubbock Avalanche stated:

"Although from a scoring standpoint the margin of victory was a wide one for the visitors, the setto was certainly not without its moments for the Tech Lads. Throughout the first half the final outcome was always in doubt and for a time it appeared that the flaming-jerseyed Matadors might woo the Goddess of Fate and set back the famous fighters from the College Station.

Tech Line Is Great.
The vaunted Freeland line, always the strong point of the Matador machine, ran true to form and early in the tilt taught the Farmers to respect it. The fighting forwards, led by De Witt, Vermillion, and Captain Bruce "Ox" Reed, repelled the smashes of the Aggie backs and on no less than three occasions in the early part of the game, repulsed their attacks and staved off impending touchdowns. When the Farmers finally crossed the goal line for the first time it was Joel Hunt—the mighty triple-threat star who has few equals in the South—who after being set back on two straight efforts, finally twisted a yard through the line for the coveted points.

The redoubtable Dana X. Bible, dean of Southwestern Conference mentors, evidently convinced his team between halves that its only avenue of victory lay in the air and in speedy slashes around the wings, for immediately after the third period began Quarterback Hunt changed his tactics entirely and wrenched first a commanding lead and then an overwhelming victory by means of the pass and the 'round end play.

Nichlaus Is Star.
"Aside from the occasional wing-skirting gains of 'Handsome Ramsome' Walker the only bright spot of the Matador offense was the brilliant line plunges of Winfield 'Windy' Nichlaus, who does the full-backing for the Freelandites. Throughout the first three quarters, until injuries forced him from the field of battle, the husky Amarilloan pounded the Farmer forwards for gain after gain and his smashes across Right Tackle Sprott, an all-conference selection in 1926, resulted in Bible's calling the latter to the sideline in the second period.

Coaches Freeland and Bible both called upon numerous reserves throughout the game, the former due to injuries which forced Nicholas, Reed, Carpenter, Corley, Dewitt, White and Walker into retirement and the latter evidently set upon saving his men for the coming tilts after a safe score had been pilled up.

"In the brilliant Aggie machine fans from all over West Texas saw the finest aggregation of Lone Star gridmen to ever invade this section and in Joel Hunt, Alsbrook and performers now doing duty in the Sikes visioned three of the flashiest South."

ENTERTAIN YOUNGSTERS

The Hallowe'en party given Thursday evening to the Junior boys and girls of the Baptist church was a great success if one may trust the verdict of 50 hilarious participants.

The teachers had taxed their ingenuity to the utmost in decorating the church for the event. Witches black cats wise old owls flying bats, graceful orange and black festoons transformed the Junior room into a abode worthy of the spirit of Hallowe'en.

The children came in pretty costumes fitting the occasion, and the joy and enthusiasm manifested by the present gladdened the hearts of the teachers.

After several hours spent in spirit games and contests, the guests were lined up for the supper table, where they were served the good things the children love.

no matches are struck around the oil can.

My father and mother will not let us carry matches in our pockets. We keep plenty of oil in our lamps, and not too much. When there is a fire built outside we are sure it is put out when we go to bed. The fire is put out in the stove and the lamps are blown out.

Ways to prevent fire are to not let anyone keep oil close to the stove; not let anyone throw matches in the waste basket, and when you are riding and strike a match, don't throw it on the grass, and the same way with cigars. If you have electric lights, be sure there is no shorted wire if so, be sure to fix it. If you see a little boy or girl with matches take them away from it. It might strike them on a home or barn and set them afire. If you see any matches lying around, pick them up so rats or mice may not strike them. If you see a little blaze anywhere be sure and put it out.

Ways to put out fire: If a house gets on fire first thing to do is to close the doors and windows. Next phone for the fire wagon. Next pour water on it. If you get afire, or any one else, get down and roll in the sand, and don't run and jump in the water. If a car gets afire throw sand on it.

By RUBY YEARY

The fire condition in my home is all right. The flues are brick. The matches are kept in a match case, and we burn the oil rags. We have never had a fire in our home. We do not put matches where mice can get them, do not let children play with matches. We do not keep oil in the house. We have our floors covered around the stove, don't pour kerosene on fire or hot coals, keep stove pipes and flues clean, for soot is dangerous, do not put hot ashes in anything that will burn. We do not wash clothes in gas in the house, and do not hang any cloth around the stove.

Before leaving home see that all the oil stoves are out and see that the coal stoves have been closed good, and do not leave too much fire in them; do not build a big fire of pine, it burns with too much flame and causes too many sparks. Should have a fire screen, so sparks will not fly. Do not use fire works on Christmas time in the house, always be careful not to leave fire in the yard, throw water on it and put dirt on it.

If your clothes catch on fire do not run and get out in the air, wrap something heavy around it and smother it out. When oil gets on fire in the house get something and smother it out, sometimes when water is put on fire it spreads more. When fire starts out in the open beat it out with some sticks or some old rags.

By BLANTON COGBURN

We keep our matches in a tin can. Our flue is all right. My mother don't use oily rags in the house. My mother is careful with her oil stove. You should keep your matches in a tin can with a lid on it. You should look at your flue before you put your stoves up. Don't put candles on a Christmas tree for they might catch on fire. Oily rags should be kept in a tin can with the lid on. Men ought to be careful with cigarettes. When fires are little try to put them out by putting water on them. If it is a big one send for the fire boys, they can put it out.

By LOUISE CONDRA

The flue in my home is the bracket type made of brick and covered with sheet rock that is fireproof. We do not use gasoline or kerosene to start fires. My mother keeps her matches in a metal box with a lid, and the oily rags the same way. Matches should be kept in a tin box with a lid on it.

Do not let trash and rubbish accumulate around the house. Do not build a fire close to the fence or the house. Do not put candles on the Christmas trees. Men should be careful with cigarettes and cigars.

Try to put out fires before they get big. Fires are easier to put out when they are small.

If the fire is big when you find it, call the fire department.

the provisions of Chapter 9, Title 28, of the 1925 Statutes, relating to street improvements. The election that shall be held in Littlefield November 15 shall decide whether or not this city shall adopt the provisions of this chapter. If the majority of the property tax paying voters vote in favor of the adoption of this chapter, it means that the city authorities shall have the right to pave the streets and to charge three-fourths of the value of the costs of such paving against the abutting property and that the city may construct the sidewalks, curbs and gutters and assess the entire costs thereof against the abutting property. Of course, if this election carries, the city shall not have the right to assess any such costs against either residence or business homestead property.

"While, in case this chapter is adopted, the City of Littlefield would have the right to assess three-fourths of the cost of paving against the property owners, it is generally understood that it is the intention of the city authorities to not charge that much of the costs against the property owners. It is the intention of the city officials to pave Main street and all cross streets one block on each side of Main street and to charge up to the property owners two-thirds of the value of the paving of Main street and the City to pay the other one-third, and the City also to pay all the costs of paving cross streets and intersections.

"Attention is called again to the fact that the property owners have the right to be heard before any assessment or charge is made and that if it can be shown that such improvements will not increase the value of the property then the city would not have the right to assess the costs thereon to the property. Further, the property owners have the right to contest any such assessment in any court of proper jurisdiction.

"Some have asked the meaning of this election, and especially the meaning of the expression in the notice relative to the construction of permanent street improvements and other matters. And the words, 'other matters,' have caused some to wonder what such 'other matters' were. The form used in the notice is the form that has been approved by the Attorney General of this state, and since it is impossible to print the entire statutes relative to street improvements, the words 'other matters' are included, have reference to all the provisions of the different articles of Chapter 9, above referred to.

"Any attorney in the City of Littlefield will be glad to furnish a copy of the statutes to any person who desires to read for themselves the provisions relating to street improvements as above discussed, and will be glad to explain the meaning of the chapter."

A MASKED PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Spinks, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McCaskill, entertained the young people's department of the Baptist church at the school cafeteria last Friday night.

Each young person that came wore a costume and all had much fun guessing who each was. Many games were played, all visited Chisnolm's unoccupied store which was very dark and here received the thrill of a life time for everything was covered with electric wires, and owing to darkness no one realized what it was all about until the shock came.

Embert Mueller underwent an operation for palpitation of the heart, appendicitis, fractured knee and a few other minor operations which Dr. J. P. Spinks successfully attended to with a well sharpened meat saw, while Miss Lillian Busher was special nurse overseeing the case.

Many pranks were played, then everyone took off their masks and refreshments of hot chocolate and sandwiches and nut cookies were served.

STILL HOPING

If we are to believe reports the farmer's worst days are over. The season has been good, taking the country as a whole, even though it had an unfavorable beginning. Late harvests are redeeming early disappointments. Prices as a rule continue to hold firm, and even though the farm dollar will buy more now than during the inflated war years, the farmer still has to pay entirely too much for many of the things he has to buy.

But reports that things in the agricultural world are improved do not mean that the farmer is prosperous. He is still far from his goal of a good living plus 10 per cent on his investment. He's still deeply in debt, and the red flag of the auctioneer is still hung out quite often in many sections of the country. A combined mortgage indebtedness of approximately $12,000,000,000 has him in the hole and promises to keep him there for some time to come.

Many residents around Littlefield have not felt any lightening of the pressure, and discontent is heard from a goodly number. Only a little more than a month remains until congress will again be in session, and unless signs fall some sort of relief will be forthcoming. At least hope is high along this line, and it should by no means be shattered this time as it has in the past. The farmers and cotton growers have been trying to lift themselves by the bootstraps long enough. They have reached the point where consideration can no longer be denied them.

But whether Congress helps any or not, the fine crops grown here this year are going to put most of our farmers on their feet again.

About six months after judgment day arrives, we suppose some one will want to get out a referendum on it.

ANOTHER BIG PROBLEM

The scientific gentleman with the long lead pencil has been at it again, according to news dispatches from Washington City. Now he figures that the population of the earth is increasing at the rate of 20,000,000 a year—more rapidly than ever before. This means that while you are taking your noonday rest hour 2500 new faces have come into the world. Since this time yesterday old Mother Earth has added about 60,000 new members to her family.

The problem of the future, as this scientist sees it, is to find food enough to keep this rapidly-increasing horde from starvation. It takes a hundred million more bushels of wheat this year than it did last, and a proportionate amount of meat and butter and eggs.

Here's a big problem then for any Littlefield citizen who likes to tackle hard problems. What's going to become of us 50 years from now? It's the same old problem that caused Methuselah to wrinkle his brow. Yet it needn't keep us awake at night. A far more perplexing question with most of us now is how we are going to pay the taxes this year and next year while we are waiting for the population to get big enough to consume the food surplus that this old world now produces every year. Any fool can figure a population increase—but it takes a smart man to figure a reduction in taxes. There is still plenty of land out here in West Texas to accommodate several hundred thousand more people, so we'll confine our worrying to taxes and let the population question take care of itself for a while longer.

If silence is golden, as they say it is Pres. Coolidge would be richer than Henry Ford.

TRUTH IN A NUTSHELL

The editor of the Toledo Blade says money fills our wants, but advertising creates the wants. And he is right.

You might have all the money in the world and buy everything you wanted, only to wake up tomorrow and find you still wanted something else. Advertising creates the demand for something, and a demand creates a supply. So, correctly figured, advertising creates both supply and demand. It sells something to the reader that he did not know he wanted until he read the ad. It calls his attention to something, and sets up a new want. So to satisfy that new want he goes out and buys the thing he saw advertised. Wise merchants know this without being told—and that's why they advertise.

Right now is the best buying season of the year, because people are reading more than at any other time—and the more reading they do the more things they see advertised that they want.

We offer this to the merchant who wants one thing in particular just now—more money.

Distance may lend enchantment, but not to the fellow whose car breaks down when he is four miles from a garage.

FLOWERS DO HELP

We want to speak a little word of friendly appreciation here for the property owners in Littlefield who have contributed to the general welfare of the community the past summer by cultivating flowers about their homes. For not only do flowers give their owners pleasure, but they are a joy to all who live where they can see them in passing. Not only that, but the stranger knows when he sees a well-kept yard, and flowers, that the people who live in that house are proud of their community. It speaks a town in which the people are interested in the better things of life, and not where they have just settled down until they can find a more attractive place.

Everyone should be grateful to those among us who devote hours of their time to the cultivation of flowers. It is to their own interest and enjoyment, of course. But at the same time they are helping to beautify and make happier the entire community, so we owe them a vote of thanks for that if for nothing else.

If you are really looking for something dangerous, make your will and then try joking your wife about her surplus weight.

LITTLE LEADERS

Dr. Frank Crane Says

SOME SCIENTIFIC TALK IS BUNK

And now comes along an astronomer of the Yerkes Observatory near Chicago, and says that there is probably going to be an explosion of the sun which will doom the earth and its inhabitants to extinction and may happen any minute, although again it may not happen for a million years or so.

Another astronomer out in Berkeley, California, says that the universe is 194 quadrillion miles in diameter. One hundred ninety-four quadrillions is all there is—there isn't any more.

Ordinarily statements like this leave us dumb and awe-stricken. We accept them as true because we have no way of contradicting them.

They are like the statements that used to be made about theology, when they argued whether one million or ten million angels could stand on the point of a pin. Nobody knew anything about it anyhow and so the declarers were safe.

We read somewhere in our youth of the story of a man who professed to know everything. Ask him how many fishes there were in the river and he could tell you to the last minnow. There were exactly seventeen million and ninety-six. He also knew the number of nails that went into the bridge and the number of stars in the heavens and the number of hairs on your head and could tell you the number exactly in a minute's notice. This way was all right because nobody could dispute it, but it was simply a bold bluff.

If you say there are nine trillion blades of grass on the lawn nobody is going to take the trouble to count them. Your statement goes unchallenged.

A lot of this scientific data is pure bluff intended to awe the common man and it sounds pretty well. We have passed the age when people are stricken dumb by theological dictum but we are in the zone now where people are bludgeoned by scientific data.

Science has done some wonderful things. It predicts an eclipse of the moon to the minute and tells us how electricity will act and all sorts of things, but that is no reason why scientists should lay back their ears and talk lightly about things that are manifestly pure guesses.

The sun may explode tomorrow and again it may not. One man's guess is as good as another's. We have made some progress in finding out about earthquakes and we have elaborate theories as to how they occur, but just when an earthquake is going to hit us we know as well as the scientists.

The best thing we can do is to run along and sell our papers, and if the works blows up we are as well off as anybody and no worse.

hoarded treasures. Along this line it has been said:

The thing that in this life is the most worthwhile,
That costs the least and counts the most,
Is just a friendly smile.

Matrimonial bonds are the kind that pay best when two parties are keeping up the interest.

This Week's Poem

COUNT THE SMILES

It matters not how many years
Of life I chance to see;
It matters not what unknown fate
The future holds for me—
It matters not if every day
I find some task to do,
That sows the seeds of happiness
Where pain or heartache grew.

We should not measure life alone
By checking off the miles,
But where we live our little day
Let's count the friendly smiles.
That mark our path, and let's be so
Considerate and kind,
That love will shed its radiance
On those we leave behind.

—O. Lawrence Hawthorne.

MANY PURE-BRED HOLSTEINS

During Year of 1922 Registration
Made of 113,772 Animals, According to Census.

Last year 113,772 registrations were made of pure-bred Holsteins, and 91,830 transfers. During the year 1,440 new members were admitted to the association, making a total of 23,900. Over a million Holsteins have been registered. Of that number 328,000 are living, according to the United States census.

HANDSOME PROFIT FROM COW
Dairy Animal on Any Farm Will Pay Her Purchase Price in Milk in Six Months.

There is absolutely no good reason why there shouldn't be at least one good dairy cow on every farm. One good animal would pay her purchase price in milk inside of six months and for a good many years would continue to pay a handsome profit over her maintenance cost to her owner.

LESS SUBJECT TO BLOATING

Growers of Sweet Clover Claim Cows Not as Liable to Trouble as Alfalfa.

Many Cows Tested.

Farmers last year entered over 104,000 cows in cow-testing associations to determine their standing as butterfat producers through demonstrations by agricultural extension workers, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Prefer Bran to Shorts.

Dairymen prefer bran to shorts for feeding because it is lighter and improves the mechanical make-up of a mixture of meal.

PINEAPPLE CREAM FROM COWS

"WELL, I see you have a canned pineapple for breakfast," said a guest in a Honolulu home. His hostess looked at him in astonishment, as there was no pineapple on the table.

"It's in this delicious cream," explained her guest. "The dairyman who supplies your cream feeds his cows on pineapple bran."

This is one of the by-products of canned pineapple. Practically all parts of the fruit are used for something in the Hawaiian Pineapple Company's cannery, and pineapple may appear on the table in any one of many forms. The thick, corrugated shell of the pineapple still holds juice and sugar after it has been cut off, and the pie fruit shaved out. These shells go to a department of the cannery where the juice is squeezed out and concentrated for canning syrup.

But some sugar remains in the squeezed shells, for ripe Hawaiian pineapples contain twelve per cent of sugar, and also a percentage of starch. Sugar and starch make excellent food for dairy cows, and for laying hens. So those shells are dried and become "pineapple bran." This is used not only by Hawaiian dairymen and poultrymen, but a great deal of it is exported to the mainland for similar purposes. There are many brands in Hawaii who use pineapple bran in biscuits and bread.

However, most Americans use the juice from the fruit. To get parts a delicate but distinct flavor when mixed into a cake, pudding, ice cream, or candy. As many people like this fruit as an accessory rather than an integral part of a dish, however, the following recipe, suitable for a dessert on a special occasion, is given.

Gala Pineapple Dessert: A round tube pan for baking pineapple sponge cake mixture. Add a half cup of sugar to one can sliced Hawaiian pineapple. Bake for fifteen minutes; cool. Arrange cake on serving platter. Fill with a fork and gently pour syrup into cake until it is permeated with the syrup. Arrange pineapple slices around cake, overlapping the slices. Pile whipped cream on top and serve.

As a "motif" in punch, pineapple affords a distinct and a flavor, as will be found by trying either of the following recipes.

Mint Pineapple Punch: Crush fresh mint leaves to make a quarter cupful and rub into half a cup of powdered sugar. These cups syrup drained from canned pineapple, one-quarter of lime juice, and three cups cold water. Let stand in one hour before serving.

Crisp Pineapple Punch: Crush three handfuls each cold water, grape juice, the juice of one lemon and three cups of canned pineapple. Strain through a fine sieve. Add a dash of lemon juice.

The "dial" pineapple comes from these sources may be in various ways in another

SOME POULTRY HINTS AND SUGGESTIONS

By F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas

After you read this perhaps you will agree with the writer, that the chicken business may now be called by the more dignified name, "The Poultry Business."

In the U. S. each year, over 568,000,000 chicks are hatched. More than one and one-quarter billion hatching eggs are required annually in the U. S. to produce the above number of chicks raised.

At least 30 million breeding hens are necessary to lay the hatching eggs of the U. S.

The total capacity of commercial hatcheries in the U. S. is placed at one hundred million eggs at one setting.

At least 250 million baby chicks are produced each year for sale, by commercial hatcheries. A total of one billion baby chicks are hatched every year. Comparing this with other figures, shows that about 50 per cent of all baby chicks die each year. What a terrible financial loss! What a wonderful field for improvement!

In the State of Ohio there are over 700 commercial hatcheries, with a total egg capacity at one time of 17 million. Forty-six of these hatcheries have capacities of above one hundred thousand eggs.

In Texas, also, we have been making rapid progress. Today we have a commercial hatchery egg capacity of over eight million eggs at one time. We have over 400 commercial hatcheries in Texas, and more going in every week.

Community Hatchery

In every town, there is a need of one or more community hatcheries. Town and cities not having these public hatcheries or community incubators, can well afford to look into the question, looking forward to their establishment. There is nothing that will develop the poultry industry as rapidly as a commercial hatchery.

Breeding Farms

In every community there is a wonderful field for the establishing of from a half dozen to two dozen and more specialized poultry breeding farms. It takes 1,000 hens to supply a 12,000 egg incubator with eggs. In communities, in which public or commercial hatcheries are being established, there is at once created a market for high class hatching eggs.

On Specializing

The commercial hatchery is the first step in the specializing of the poultry industry. The trapnest breeding farm is the second step. In communities with such commercial hatcheries and trapnest breeding farms, there positively does not exist one good reason for the presence of mongrel, duker mixture, crazy quilt, cross-bred just eating chickens. In such places, farmers can buy well-bred baby chicks from trapnests and bred-to-lay hens at reasonable prices, and when they want them. The nearer to home chicks are produced and the less distance they have to be shipped the better.

In such communities farmer can keep 200 to 300 good hens, can replace half of them each year, by buying baby chicks from the bred-to-lay stock. In such communities commercial egg farms, also soon make their appearance.

No Great Competition for These Odd Jobs

Although at the present time almost every profession is overcrowded, there are still a few that have only one follower.

For instance, out of the seven and a half million people in London there is only one moss gatherer. Twice a week this man pushes a burrow to a spot several miles out of the city, where he gathers his moss, and later sells it for decorative purposes.

At the last census taken in England a man stated that he was a walrus mustache collector. The hairs are used for the purpose of making tooth-picks, and as far as is known he is the only person who follows that profession.

There is only one lady veterinary surgeon in England. A British firm employs a man whose job is simply to strike matches in order to test them.

Still another of these unusual jobs is that of toad breeder. There is one man who does this, and he sells his toads to gardeners for the purpose of destroying insect pests.

There is no overcrowding in these jobs!

Layers of Warm and Cold Waters in Lakes

It has been found that some of the salt lakes in Hungary present the peculiarity of a layer of warm, or even hot, salt water between two bodies of colder water. Thus, in the Medoe lake, the surface temperature in summer is about 70 degrees, but at a depth of a little more than four feet the temperature becomes 133 degrees, declining again to 66 degrees at the bottom.

The surface water is fresh, but the warm water beneath is intensely saline, and the explanation of the difference of temperature is that, since the specific heat of salt water is less than that of fresh water, the salt water is more easily heated by the sun, and, having risen to a higher temperature than that of the overlying fresh water, retains its heat, because the fresh water prevents its escape by radiation. It is suggested that some use might be found for these natural reservoirs, or accumulators, of solar heat.

Rats are on the decrease in the United States. However, this decrease is only just becoming apparent and farmers and others who are troubled with the pest should not let up on preventive measures.

The color of canned salmon is no indication of its quality. It indicates variety. There are several kinds of salmon and these vary in color after canning from a bright red to almost white.
