Industries Will Come, Tyler Banker Predicts

Group Seeks To Combine Many Drives

Plans for a county-wide United Fund Drive in 1957 got underway Tuesday morning as the local Chamber of Commerce undertook a project to combine as many separate fund-raising campaigns as possible into a single, whole-hearted effort.

The action came on a motion from Charles Duval, chamber board member, after a breakfast meeting in which the United Fund idea got a thorough discussion.

Explaining the working of United Fund organizations in "Kopre's back yard" district representative for the Salvation Army, told the group that the "only way for the program to run successfully in cities under 25,000 is for the Chamber of Commerce to organize it — then divorce itself from the project."

"The United Fund is the American Way to raise funds," Sharkey said, adding, "It saves time, money and energy."

Sharkey told the group that the Salvation Army would help in organizing the drive as part of its community service.

Some 150 towns in Texas will use the United Fund this year as a means of raising funds. In 1947, there were only 27 towns in the state using the system.

Among area towns now using the United Fund are Levelland, Floydada, Seagrave, Lamesa, Snyder, Colorado City and Andrews.

Immediate plans are for the Chamber of Commerce to poll local merchants on the United Fund, and if the project is accepted, hold a mass meeting next spring in which a steering committee would be appointed.

The steering committee would then name a "United Fund Board," which would operate independently and meet with leaders of various charitable organizations to set up a goal for the county. The board would be a non-profit group. Tentatively planned in a drive which would begin next fall.

OPERATIONS BEGIN IN NOVEMBER

Assembly Plant Slated Here By California Firm

Littlefield will get a new industry in November.

Waterman Industries of Exeter, California is moving an irrigation gates and valves assembly plant to Littlefield, M. E. McClain, company representative, said Wednesday.

The company has rented the J. L. Garlington building on West Delano Ave. and will actually begin operations the latter part of next month, McClain said.

"Our company has had wonderful business in this area and we plan to serve the entire Southwest and part of the Midwest from this plant as the business grows and develops," he added.

McClain said the operation in the Garlington building will serve temporarily, and that the company may buy land in the future. The company has a five-year lease on the Garlington building. "We are here to stay," the Waterman representative declared, adding that the location in Littlefield makes his firm "centrally located" in the company's Southwest trade territory.

Although a $100,000 stock is planned, the local plant will start modestly. McClain said the company will employ two persons besides himself at the beginning. He said the expansion of personnel will depend on future success.

The local plant will assemble irrigation gates and valves for use with irrigation pipe.

The plant's location in Littlefield came after the company's general manager, Don Appling, studied the town for about ten days in a recent visit. McClain said Littlefield was selected because it is "centrally located."

Fall Festival Is History — But

Mahon Eyes Defense Future In Closing Sudan Address

Sudan's Fall Festival of 1956 is history.

But, Congressman George Mahon opened the eyes of about 2,500 spectators to the future Saturday night in Sudan's City Park in an address.

"Unless we expedite our defense program, the USSR will overhaul us in striking power long before 1960," the 19th Congressional District representative declared.

"The picture is not bright," he said, adding that there is no room for complacency when Russia is moving faster than the U.S.

"The U.S. in most areas of preparedness is somewhat ahead, but in some fields we are behind," he said.

Turning to the Festival itself, Mahon declared that there is a greater need for a United Nations than ever before.

"Here you work and pray for a lessening of world tension. You

Be Selective, Pounds Tells Local Group

W. A. Pounds, Tyler's industrious banker and civic leader, can "see no reason why Littlefield shouldn't attract industry, and believes that this city will "succeed far beyond its expectations if you have faith and confidence in its future."

Speaking before about 100 persons in a noon meeting hosted by the Lions Club here Wednesday, Pounds cautioned representatives of Littlefield civic and business organizations to "be selective" in their quest for industry.

"Screen your applications and select only the best," he advised, adding that Littlefield "can attract about as much industry as it wants."

Industry as a whole is aware of the benefits of coming to the Southwest, but the most important thing is "citizenship—the people's loyalty to a town and their belief in the community," he said.

Describing how his city attracted major industries in the past 10 years, the Tyler banker who is also president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce said that Tyler was "scared into it when bank deposits declined and retail dropped 30 per cent right after World War II."

Tyler formed a non-profit industrial foundation, of which Pounds is vice-president and a director, and spent its first money for industrial sites.

"We have always upheld the principle that the foundation's money would be kept in cash or reliable assets," he explained. Pounds said no bonus or premium, such as lower rates on utilities, etc., had ever been made to an industry contemplating a location in Tyler.

"The type of industry you want for your town isn't the fellow who wants a premium or bonus to move into your city," he declared.

"Our first industry leased a building from us with an option to buy later, and we know that they are going to buy since they have expanded and made improvements."

"When industry comes to Littlefield, it will want to use local labor mostly—one plant in Tyler reached the highest rate of efficiency of all the company's plants in just 90 days—with local labor.

"Industries are looking for the type of town that is progressive, that will vote additional bonds, build more churches and schools," he said.

"Your banks have a vital role,"

Football Contest Is Won By Littlefield's Deverelle Lewis

A Littlefield football fan racked up the best guessing record of the year in the Leader's football contest this week to win the contest over two other local competitors.

Cats Travel To Tulia Friday Night

Hornets Are Looking For First Victory

By CHARLES DUVAL, JR.
The Littlefield Wildcats are going to be at full strength this week in preparation for the game with the Tulia Hornets at Tulia. The Cats have regained the use of their injured quarterback, James Pressley, who was injured in the opening minutes of the opener with Plainview.

As far as line strength is concerned, the Cats have a very impressive record. Plainview, Olton and Brownfield learned this one by one in their respective contests.

The Cats have formed a very rocky defense which proved to be the keynote of the victories which gave them a 2-0 record.

After an interview with Head Coach Gene Mayfield, the general outlook for the team is good although a few fumbles are expected as always.

In the backfield, three of the Cats backs have been given recognition by South Plains sportswriters concerning their outstanding play, so in that department the Cats are standing on solid ground also.

As far as Tulia is concerned their first four ball games have been unimpressive but they could always turn the tables on the Cats like Hale Center did on Olton. Overall, however, the Cats are in a fairly good position, statistically for this Friday's game with Tulia.

WILDCAT CO CAPTAINS THIS WEEK are Larry Davis, center, and Leslie Bevel, right. Bevel are ends and Williams is a 220-pound tackle for Littlefield High. The three will be leading Littlefield against Tulia Friday night as the Wildcats try to keep their season unblemished.

LOOKING AT AREA GAMES

AND PICKING THE WINNERS

Olton-Hereford Battle Tops Area Action

Olton's Mustangs, who got hoisted out of the ball park last week-end by the Hale Center Owls, will come back kicking this week when they host the Hereford Whitefaces.

Friday night's encounter in the Mustangs' own corral should be a dilly, with Olton going all out to avenge its 32-27 loss to Hale Center.

Hereford, a AAA club, improving after a slow start, smashed Tulia, 33-6, last Friday night for its first win in three tries. The Whitefaces' two losses include one against AA power Canyon. Olton's record stands at 2-1-1 for the season, will be favored over Class B Amherst, holder of a 1-2-1 season mark. The two Lamb County teams meet in Amherst.

Springlake, along with Littlefield is undefeated, will host Anton, which got into the victory side with a 33-13 win over Lorenzo Friday night. Springlake, the favorite in its district, has four straight wins. The Wolverines took Muleshoe into camp last Friday night, 19-14.

Surprising Whitharral, 2-1-1 for the year, gets Ronesville in Whitharral. Coach Johnny Ussery's club walloned Lazbuddie last Friday night, 46-6.

Spade showed improvement in its 44-30 homecoming loss to Union Saturday and this week takes on Three-Way at Three-Way. Bula clobered Three-Way in its last outing.

Bula's high-scoring Bulldogs take Friday night off with an open date.

This is the way the week's games look from this corner:

LITTLEFIELD OVER TULIA — The Hornets will surprise somewhat, sometime, but they haven't done it yet.

OLTON OVER HEREFORD — Assuming that Olton plays as well against Hereford as they did against Littlefield. The Mustangs to take their vengeance out on Hereford after their 32-27 upset by Hale Center.

SUDAN OVER AMHERST — The Bulldogs have surprised everybody by being Whitharral and beating Kress, but the Hornets have too much ground power.

SPRINGLAKE OVER ANTON — The Wolverines to continue their winning ways, but it may not be easy.

WHITHARRAL OVER ROPESVILLE — Probably close, but Whitharral gets the nod on its home field.

SPADE OVER THREE-WAY — Spade is improving, and Bula showed Three-way it didn't have anything last Friday night, 46-6.

Other games at a glance:

Phillips to take Perryton into camp, Dumas to edge Canyon in a squeaker, and Levelland to edge Snyder at Levelland in a close fight.

Texas Tech Takes on A&M In Cotton Bowl

LUBBOCK, Oct. 1 — Texas Tech's sophomore-led Red Raiders play their second Southwest Conference foe in as many weeks as they meet Texas A&M in Dallas Saturday night.

Baylor University flashed a fine all-around attack in drubbing the Raiders 27-0 last week.

Texas A&M, 9-6 winner over Louisiana State last week, is heavily favored to avenge a 41-9 defeat the Raiders handed the Aggies two years ago. A&M holds an 11-3 margin in the rivalry begun in 1927.

Tech emerged from the Baylor game without injury. Halfback Duke Frisbie of Memphis, held out of the game with a shoulder injury, may still be sidelined, however.

Next week the Raiders are hosts to West Texas State's, a favorite for the Border Conference championship, in a night contest Oct. 13.

After sitting on the bench for two years, bonus pitcher Tom Qualters has been optioned by the Phillies to Reidsville, N. C., in the Class B Carolina League.

Several Area Farms Have Sheep Feeding Out Plans

By MORLEY B. DRAKE

Numerous lamb feeding out projects, together with an increasing number of farmers who are raising sheep as part of their farm program, make up the picture today of the sheep industry in Lamb County.

Increased interest in sheep among farmers and feeders has made an appreciable contribution to the agricultural economy of the county.

Two Projects Reviewed

Examples of feeding out projects are the L. C. Grissom program on a farm four miles south and one mile west of Littlefield, which he purchased from J. M. Roberts, and the Thomas F. Fullbright-Ray Smith activity on a farm owned by Fullbright three and one-half miles south of Eldon.

This is the third year in succession that Grissom has fed out lambs, and he is carrying out about the same program this year as in the two previous years. He feeds out on combine feed that has failed to make sufficient to harvest. This year he is grazing on hygeria.

Feeding More Lambs

The first two years he fed out 1,000 lambs each year. This year he has a flock of 1,500. Grissom uses a removable barb wire fence of four strands. As the sheep clean up the grazing under fence, the enclosure is moved so that they will have good pasture at all times.

The use of the removable fence has been found by Grissom to be an excellent plan for conserving pasture and for putting weight on the lambs.

Using Several Needs

The Fullbright-Smith feeding out project is being carried out on irrigated land totaling approximately 65 acres. There are 17 acres in Alfalfa from which three cuttings of 500 bales to the cutting, have been made, and 12 acres of hygeria and 36 acres of corn, neither of which will be harvested.

More than 400 head of lambs were first put into the project, and these were followed by approximately the same number. How many lambs will go into the project this year depends on how far the feed goes. Whatever number of lambs are fed out, Smith and Fullbright expect to be through with the project by February.

Sheep Like Variety

Smith and Fullbright have 1,000 bales of alfalfa, and they plan to give the lambs some dry feed.

"Sheep like variety," Fullbright commented.

The majority of the lambs that are being fed out in Lamb County are ranch lambs from the San Angelo section, which has been very dry.

Lambs to be fed out usually go on the feeding out program at from 55 to 60 pounds. They generally reach weights of from 90 to 100 pounds in 90 days, and are ready for market. Sometimes it takes 120 days to get the lambs ready for market, but feeders generally figure 90 days.

Compensation to farmers for reducing their 1957-crop winter wheat acreage below their wheat allotment designating such acreage for inclusion in the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve program, will be in the form of negotiable certificates. The certificates may be redeemed in cash through regular banking channels or in grain by the producer to whom they are issued.

Pep 4-H Club Holds Meeting Monday Night

The Junior boy's 4-H meeting was held Friday night at the Leonard Albus residence. The president Leonard Albus, opened the meeting. Daniel Schlottman, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll. Albert Simmacher, a Junior leader, discussed projects with the boys, that included swine, calves and turkeys. They were given a demonstration on brushing a calf by Ralph Simmacher.

Refreshments were served. Boys who attended were the Junior leaders, Albert Simmacher, Buddy Greener, and Paul Meyer, and the members, Billy Witt Jungman, Daniel Schlottman, Mitchell Schlottman, Mitchel Schlottman, Ralph and Gerald Simmacher, Leonard and Johnny Albus, Clarence Albus, Leonard Diersing and Buddy Diersing.

Pioneer Preacher Is Buried Tuesday

Funeral services for pioneer preacher, James Oscar Gore, 87, were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Hammons Chapel. The Rev. Roscoe Trostle, pastor of the Alder-gate Church of Lubbock, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. W. H. VanCarpool, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Gore, who was born in the Indian territory of Oklahoma moved to Texas in 1904. He built the first church in Tahoka and preached the first sermon in Lamesa.

He went to San Jon Valley in New Mexico in 1907. He later returned to Texas and built a new church in Hill County. He continued to preach in Texas and New Mexico until retirement. Death came to the veteran minister Saturday morning at his home.

Survivors include his wife, Mabel; two sons, Griswald of Littlefield, and Horace of Hondo; a sister, Mrs. Pauline Thomas of Sulphur Springs.

Gore was buried in Littlefield Cemetery under the direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

The idea that souls of the dead are born again in the bodies of other people and animals is very widespread among the peoples of the world.

Byers Brothers Have Caged Layer Project

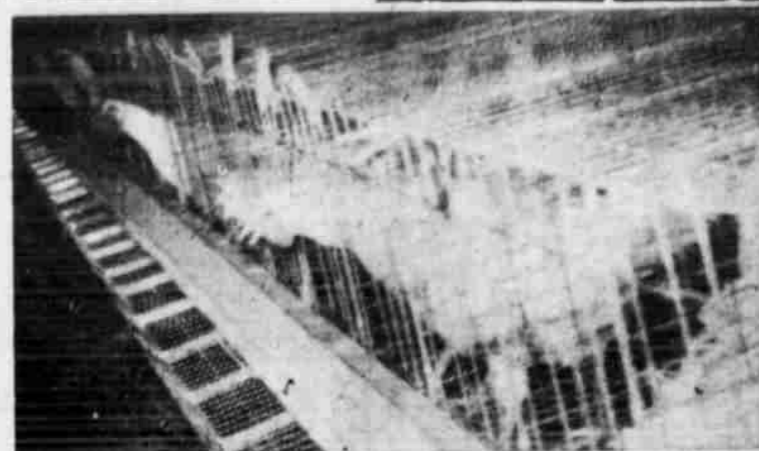

By MORLEY B. DRAKE
The caged layer program is fast becoming one of Lamb County's outstanding industries. One of these projects is located in the growing young city of Springlake, located 23 miles north of Littlefield at the intersection of Highways 51 and 70. The owners are R. L. Byers, Jr., and Z. T. Byers, operators of the Springlake Elevator. According to R. L. Byers, Jr., they started the project with 2800 sixteen week old DeKalb 101 Hybrid white Leghorn pullets which they have continued to maintain. This DeKalb Hybrid white Leghorn is an improved bird over the regular run of Leghorns. The layers, one to a small cage, are housed in two buildings, 32x142 feet, which are of metal construction with aluminum roofs and ventilating swing windows. Both at the roof and lower down, which adds greatly to the coolness of the buildings.

Troughs at back and front of each cage with water troughs down the middle of long series of cages. The eggs, as laid, roll down to the front of the cage and are easily accessible to gather. The buildings are also equipped with egg washer, egg grader and egg cooling rooms. The eggs are graded to size and quality and are processed through the Plains Egg Producers Inc. of Littlefield. The Byers caged layer project represents an investment of $20,000, including the hens. R. L. Jr. and Z. T. Byers, both born and reared in Littlefield, established the Springlake Elevator six years ago. They buy and store grain and sell Purina feeds, seeds and fertilizers. Their two brothers, Troy and Clinton, are also in the grain business. Troy operates the Earth Elevator, and Clinton is with his father, R. L. Byers, Sr., in the operation of the Byers Feed, Seed & Elevator in Littlefield.

TWO BUILDINGS, 32 x 142 feet, house 2,800 DeKalb 101 Hybrid White Leghorns in a caged egg project at Springlake. The interior of one of the buildings is shown in the picture. The Springlake project is owned by R. L. Byers, Jr., and Z. T. Byers, operators of the Springlake Elevator.

18 Local Members Take Part Area-Wide Practice Alert Held By GOC Posts Sunday

OKLAHOMA CITY — The seventh practice alert for the Ground Observer Corps in the Oklahoma City Air Defense Filter Center area was held from 2:00 p.m. until 6:00 p.m., Sunday. Major J. W. Caraway, who made the announcement, stated that the exercise involved approximately 2,100 volunteers, who manned and operated about 178 Ground Observer Posts located in eastern New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle, and the western two-thirds of Oklahoma. About twenty-six aircraft flew pre-determined routes with the exercise objective being for the Ground Observers to track them throughout their route by means of priority telephone reports to the Filter center at Oklahoma City.

Four of the aircraft were spotted over Littlefield as 18 members of the Ground Observer Corps here turned out for the practice alert. Dub Gilder, local GOC post supervisor, said his drill went off without any hitches, and that he received excellent cooperation from switchboard operators at the General Telephone Company as his crew reported priority telephone reports to Oklahoma City. Previous exercises have indicated an increasing degree of efficiency in the Ground Observer reporting system. The last exercise, conducted over a four-hour period on August 24th and involving ninety-eight Observation Posts, was a surprise alert, a total of 866 priority calls were received, and the 23 aircraft which were assigned special flight paths for the alert were effectively tracked by the Ground Observer system.

Aircraft for Sunday's alert were furnished by Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico units of the Civil Air Patrol, the Oklahoma Air National Guard, and U. S. Air Force units stationed at Amarillo, Clovis, Altus, and Ardmore. The Ground Observer Corps is an organization of volunteers who have been trained to observe and report all aircraft to the Central clearing point or "Filter Center." There, the information is plotted on a large plotting board and correlated into aircraft flight paths or "tracks." The track information is relayed to the Air Force's radar direction center where identification is attempted. If identification cannot be made, the unknown tracks or flights would be intercepted by interceptor aircraft for further identification. The system has been designed primarily to augment the radar

Post Office Celebrates Birthday Of Rural Delivery

The Post Office Department's rural delivery service today serves more Americans than ever before in history. This observation was made by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield in calling the nation's attention to the 60th birthday of the Service.

Experimental rural delivery began October 1, 1896 with three routes at Charles Town, W. Va., and two routes at Halltown and Uvilla, near Charles Town.

These sites for the initial experimental routes were picked by Postmaster General William L. Wilson, a native of West Virginia. Old records show that in its first week the three Charles Town routes provided for surprised farmers delivery of 214 letters, 290 papers, 33 postal cards and 2 packages. Previously, they would not have received this mail until they went into town to pick it up, often a matter of weeks or even months.

That was a far cry from today's mail load handled by rural delivery carriers. For example, in a recent 12-month period, nearly 8 billion pieces of mail were handled for rural patrons.

Today, there are 31,888 routes serving 34,930,000 mail patrons over more than 1 1/2 million miles of routes that extend into virtually all the counties of the United States, as well as into territories and possessions of the United States. And, during the fiscal year ended last June 30 alone there were 594,900 patrons added to rural delivery routes, while a total of 11,798 extensions of rural routes were made to provide more and better service.

There are 1,600 miles and serving 1,000 families, and extended every day.

Postmaster General said 2 routes were added through the Littlefield Office.

A bill by Congress E. Watson of Georgia, March 3, 1893, appropriated for the on July 16, 1894, was the experimental rural delivery was established October 1.
