

Commissioners Ask Local Courthouse Equipment Bids

Judge Kirk Signs Order For Sale Of Last Bond Block

Lamb county's new courthouse came in for a major share of discussion at Monday's seven-hour session of commissioners' court.

Commissioners signed an order concerning sale of the last $280,000 worth of courthouse bonds, and talked about furniture and equipment for the new building to be completed by July, 1954.

The court approved, and County Judge Robert Kirk signed the order for sale of the bonds. The court earlier had accepted a bid from a Dallas bond firm and the order signed Monday made sale of the bonds official pending approval of the state.

Education Agency Buyer Under Texas law, the state has first opportunity to buy bonds after a bid has been accepted. The Texas education agency, which invests its funds in such bonds, met in Austin Monday and voted to take the Lamb county bonds at the price offered by the Dallas bidder. If the agency had rejected the bonds, they would have been sold to the private bonding company.

Furnishing Plans

Representatives of the Baker Company of Lubbock offered to have an architect meet next week with county officials and prepare complete plans for furnishing and equipping the courthouse. The Baker representatives promised the plans will be drawn without obligation and can be used by the county in asking bids from various firms. The plans will be shop plans drawn to scale. Judge Kirk asked if they could be split up so that bids can be received on various parts of the furnishing as well as for the entire job.

Local Firms Can Bid

He said splitting the furnishing job into small units would serve a double purpose. It would allow local people to bid on parts of the job they can handle, and it might save money by eliminating sub-contracts. "You bigger companies that specialize in some lines would have to sublet for the things you don't handle," Kirk said.

"We'd rather the fellow you'd have to sublet to would come to us with his bids himself and eliminate that little extra you'd have to figure in your bid."

Of the $600,000 in bonds issued by the county for the courthouse, $499,000 will go for actual construction of the building. The remaining $101,000 will be used for furniture and equipment, for landscaping, and for building the jail. Although the jail will be part of the courthouse building, contract for its construction was let separately.

Airport Lease Signed

Commissioners Monday also signed an airport lease contract with O. G. Bell, operator of Duggan Field. Under the city-county contract with Bell, he will pay $1 per year rental and 2 cents into the airport fund on each gallon of gas sold there. The agreement runs through December, 1954. Judge Kirk praised Bell's operation of the airport.

Commissioners also approved Court Clerk Treva Quigley's request that Mrs. Jean Smith be allowed to continue as deputy in the court clerk's office.

The court heard routine reports from County Agent Dave Eaton and his assistant, Lonnie Cole, and from Mrs. Lyle Brandon on county welfare work.

"Hardy Shelby has served our company well as manager of the Littlefield district. Pump Set To Produce On Discovery Oil Well Fourth Lease From Jones Is Announced

Activity in Littlefield and area received new impetus today with the announcement of a new location on the side of the city, outside city limits, immediately adjacent to Radio Station KVOW.

The shallow semi-wildcat well drilled by Paul J. Penny, of Dallas as the No. 1 Ar- nes. Projected depth is 100 feet. Work is progressing rapidly at the city park Texas Company location preparatory to spudding in Wednesday night. This is expected to be a very quick drilling project in view of the shallow depth unless unforeseen difficulties are encountered.

Anticipated depth of this well is in the neighborhood of 4,000 feet and drillers expect to reach that depth in about 10 days. The city park well is known as the Texas Company No. 1-62 Sallie E. Duggan, in Labor 18, League 664, State Capitol Lands Survey.

Pump Set On First Well
The pump has been set, lines completed and storage tanks are in place at this Littlefield discovery well. The pump is scheduled to go in operation Friday and an official announcement gives Monday as the likely time at which it will be known what the discovery well will produce.

The discovery well is known as the Texas Company No. 1-98 Union Compress & Warehouse Co., and is situated in Labor 12, League 664, State Capitol Lands Survey.

Permit Asked For No. 3
Rhenard McCary has requested from the City of Littlefield a permit to drill on the west side of the city. This location has been made about one block north and eight blocks west of the city park test.

Mr. McCary has signed a contract with the George P. Liver-more Drilling Co., of Lubbock to drill a well immediately on this lease. The Livermore Company drilled the Littlefield discovery well. Mr. McCary's lease contains 88½ acres located in the west half of Labor 17, League 664, in Littlefield city limits, on the tract of land known as the Griffin addition.

The drilling location has been made on the northeast 20-acre block.

Four locations for Littlefield have now been announced, and important new developments in the expansion of oil activity in this city and immediate area are anticipated in the next few days.

Mr. Pennybacker, who announced the fourth location, was one of the first oil men to come into Littlefield for leases. He was first here in 1950, when leasing began in this area.

Eaton Predicts Cotton Crop Should Hit 150,000 Bales

Lamb county's 1953 cotton crop will hit 150,000 bales, County Agent David Eaton predicted Wednesday.

That compares with 177,000 bales ginned in the county during 1952, according to J. D. Jordan, manager of the local office of the Texas Employment Commission.

Some county farm observers don't agree with Eaton's prediction. Their estimates of the 1953 crop range down to 125,000 bales.

Through Tuesday, Jordan said, 42,632 bales had been ginned by Lamb county's 35 gins. That's about one-third of this year's crop, according to the most conservative estimates.

Cotton this season is selling and going into loan at an average of about a cent a pound higher than last year, buyers said Wednesday.

It's been going into loan this year at 32.48 cents per pound, compared to 31.71 in 1952. Best-grade loan cotton has brought a top of 33.50 during this season.

Average selling price right now is 27½ cents.

Eaton said the frost this week will defoliate cotton plants and farmers will be able to get strippers into the fields within the next two weeks. Some stripping machines started operating this week.

Jordan predicted machine harvesting will be in full swing by Nov. 23. He estimates one-third of the 1953 crop will be machine harvested.

In the 4-county district served by his office (Lamb, Bailey, Castro and Parmer) there are 15,000 workers employed in cotton harvest. 7,500 of these are foreign laborers and 7,500 are domestic (American) workers. The American workers have come from states as far away as Michigan.

Six-week labor contracts on foreign workers begin expiring Nov. 15 but, Jordan explained, some of them will be extended and all have a 2-week grace period, so most foreign laborers will be working here through Nov. 30.

NEWS ABOUT THE Farm

From The County Agent's Office

It's The Law In Texas

RESPONSIBILITY OF DIVORCED FATHERS EXPLAINED BY BAR

A father always is responsible for the support of his minor children. This is true even though the father and mother are divorced, and either or both have married again.

For example, take the hypothetical case of a man named John Smith. When he and his wife Susan were divorced, the decree contained an order requiring John to pay Susan $100 each month for the support of their two minor children, both of whom were under 16 years of age.

John paid the money every month for a year. Then he heard that Susan had married again, so he discontinued the monthly payments. Six months later he was served with an order citing him into court for failing to pay the money. He also was arrested and charged with family desertion, which is a felony and punishable by imprisonment.

John protested bitterly to his attorney that his former wife was married again, his children had a father, and that he no longer should be held responsible for the children. But John learned that his understanding of the law was faulty.

The attorney explained that John still was the father of the children and was as responsible for their welfare as he had ever been. This would continue until the step-father or some other person should adopt the children, or until the children became of age. But because Susan's second husband had not adopted the children, John still was liable for the support money payments and could be punished by the court, even by imprisonment if necessary, for his refusal to comply with the court order. Equally faulty in his conception of the law was another fictional father we shall call James Jones. A Texas court awarded his divorced wife $75 per month for support of their minor child. Jones paid the support money each month for some time.

Recently, however, Jones remarried, and, in the financial strain of establishing a new home, decided to cut down on the payments. Instead of sending his former wife $75 each month, he sent $10. He thought he was staying within the law because he was, after all, giving something toward his child's support.

Jones was dismayed, therefore, to learn that he not only was liable for the back payments under civil action, but that his conduct was found to constitute contempt.

Other reluctant fathers have learned that in 1951 the Texas Legislature adopted the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act which is designed to make it possible and practical to enforce both the civil and criminal provisions of our law relating to the support of children against fathers who leave Texas in an effort to avoid their legal and natural obligation to support their children.

(This column based on Texas law, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Q—Through an oversight, I paid my GI insurance premium just before the thirty-one day of grace period became an end. But I'm afraid the premium won't reach VA until after the grace period expires. Will my insurance lapse?

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Free of Pleasant Valley are the proud parents of their first child, a daughter born Oct. 31 at West Texas Hospital in Lubbock. The baby weighed 7 lbs., 1 oz. at birth. Grandparents are Mr. Mrs. A. F. Wedel of the York house community, and Mrs. Mrs. Leland Free of East.

The rains of the past two weeks have put a subsoil moisture in the ground for a winter crop. Wheat, barley, and rye will make a good cover and will also give pasture for your livestock.

We may be in for a wet winter, and if we are, will the fall and winter rains be beneficial or detrimental to the soil of your farm? If soil is unprotected its need weatherproofing by conditioning the soil to soak up rainfall or at least slow the runoff rate.

Soils can be "proofed" against erosion losses, by providing a green blanket of protection. That blanket can be made of any closely woven cover of growing such as winter peas or one of the other adapted legumes. Of if you do not prefer to plant legumes, any compact growing crop like rye, barley or wheat will provide weatherproofing against damaging erosion.

Few people question the value of weatherproofing the soil in the long run, but some ask if it will pay off next year.

The answer comes from records kept by the extension service demonstrators in all sections of the state. Corn following fertilized legumes produced 36 bushels an acre against 18 bushels where corn did not follow fertilized legumes. This method of farming showed the following year per acre increase: lowing year a per acre increase of 71 per cent for cotton, 63 percent for grain sorghum, 56 percent for wheat, 65 percent for oats and 129 percent for sweet potatoes.

Lamb county farms and ranches produce commodities for consumption, but due to declining prices farmers have been caught in a cost-price squeeze.

The purchasing power of farm prices for all products a year ago was 103 percent of parity. Today, the national average is 92 percent. With agricultural prices trending downward it is more important today than before to avoid costly haphazard methods of production.

It is expected that production outlays including cost of machinery, fuel, feed, fertilizer and labor will gradually decline with farm prices. But while this adjustment is coming about the county's agriculturists are suffering a hardship and less efficient operators feel the pinch more than others.

What steps can farmers take to broaden the gap between outlay and production?

First, study market reports and livestock information to benefit from wise selling and more profitable marketing.

Use moderate judgment and look for places to cut expenses. Don't overlook the use of machinery to save labor costs, but buy the design of machine suited to specific needs. Wages now are four times as high as in 1941. In comparison farm machinery has only doubled in price.

Use credit to the best advantage, but use it wisely.

Don't operate your farm with too much labor and machinery. All too often lower unit costs can be gained by handling more land or keeping the maximum number of livestock that can be handled.

Take advantage of price supports where they are available.

Keep a complete set of records. Farming is a business and deserves the best managerial practices.

Don't be afraid to make changes. Don't be the last to accept new and improved agricultural practices.

C-A-C
The annual army of Texas hunters soon will take to the brush and mountainside to seek the antlered buck, both for the thrill of good marksmanship and the satisfaction of ultimately being served a juicy venison steak.

A practical side to the sport after the proud buck has fallen is the preservation of the meat. Don't waste an ounce of it because venison is a palatable substitute for domestic animals. Deer meat may be processed similar to beef or lamb.

Immediately after the animal is shot in the field, bleed and quickly remove the viscera. The carcass should be wiped dry inside with clean rags and if the animal is badly shot up it may be necessary to wash the inside with water. In any case, dry the carcass promptly.

The prize possession should remain dry and be cooled immediately. If cold storage is unavailable, prop open the carcass and hang it from a tree to chill at night and during the day wrap it in a tarp or blanket and move to a shady spot.

Transport the fallen buck inside the car or in the trunk. This is better than on the fender next to the warm inside. The buck should be wrapped for protection, especially from flies. Deer meat is successfully cured, but the thick, plump rounds process best. The most satisfactory method is to have the carcass cut into the desired pieces and placed into a freezer locker.

The shoulder, neck and lower portion of the ribs when boned make good sausage. Two parts venison and one part pork fat is a flavorful mixture, but for a drier product use three parts deer meat and one of pork fat. Season with 14 ounces of salt and three ounces of black pepper to 50 pounds of meat before it goes into the grinder. Some prefer to season with salt only at the time the meat is ground. Other seasoning are added later for meat loaf, hamburger or chili.

If the meat must be transported a considerable distance it may keep better if first frozen solid. Frozen meat must always be utilized as soon as possible after thawing.

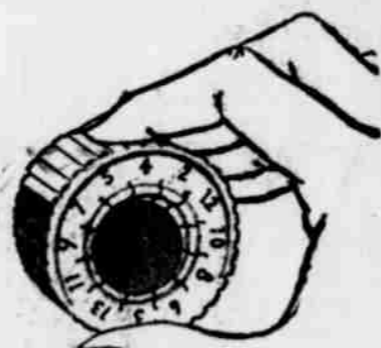

Lesters Have Son

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lester of Jacksonville, Fla., announce the birth, Nov. 4, of a 6½-pound son, Michael Pace. Grandparents are Mrs. Sid Pace of Littlefield and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis of Lubbock.

If any of your upholstered furniture is heavily soiled, don't try to give it a home-shampoo treatment. Such long-time accumulations of grease and soil cannot be completely removed with damaging the upholstery fabric. In cases such as this, it is best to put slip-covers on the furniture.

21 miles of new freight cars added by Santa Fe last year!

Remember when you used to count freight cars as a kid? How would you like to count and stencil the "stamp of newness" on 21 miles of them? That's what Santa Fe did last year—added 21 miles of new cars to its great fleet of modern freight cars. And so it goes—year after year after year—until today there are 84,898 freight cars serving shippers on the Santa Fe.

With this building new program, Santa Fe is meeting the ever-growing need for moving vast tons of wheat, livestock, perishable foods, minerals and merchandise to the markets of America.

And many of these cars are new and special types to serve shippers in new and better ways—like the "MTC 3150" mechanical refrigerator car that works like your home freezer.

It costs Santa Fe millions of dollars—earned dollars—to acquire this great fleet and maintain its own "steel highway."

But it doesn't add a penny to the taxes you pay.
