St. Martin's Lutheran To Observe 25th Anniversary

Sunday, August 16, will be a day of rejoicing and special services at the St. Martin Lutheran Church of Littlefield, located at West 10th and Cundiff. Speaker for the 10:45 a. m. service will be the Rev. C. N. Roth of Seguin, Texas. Rev. Roth is president of the Texas District of the American Lutheran Church. The speaker at the 3 p. m. service will be the Rev. F. T. Sager of Peace Lutheran Church, Rockdale, Texas. Both are former pastors of the congregation.

As early as 1917 the Lutheran Church had made surveys at Littlefield, for the purposes of beginning a congregation. In 1925, when several families of the Synod moved here from Bartlett, Texas, the Rev. Weiss of Slaton was commissioned by the Mission Board to begin work anew. A small group began with zeal to build up a congregation, meeting in homes for the services.

In 1926, the Rev. C. N. Roth of Wilson was given charge of the with 13 charter members. They were: Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Beyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hill and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lueck and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weige and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Piel and daughter. All but the Piel are still members of the congregation. On the second anniversary the membership of the congregation numbered 57. As yet there was no house of worship, the members continued to meet in homes for services. Later, the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Littlefield were used for services.

In 1930, the Rev. E. Herber of Wilson replaced Rev. C. N. Roth, and served until 1933. The Rev. Ziehe then served until 1934, when the Rev. Dimke was installed as pastor of the Posey-Littlefield Parish. Services were held twice a month. A Luther League and Ladies Aid were organized in 1934.

It's All Done With Newspapers

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—Most people throw away their old newspapers, but LaVerne Moritz built a career out of hers.

She tore them to pieces and made papier mache animals, angels, puppet heads, masks, trays and a lot of other things. Painted and lacquered, they proved so amusing that they brought her before the television cameras—and the flood of letters she received prompted her to write a book on how to make paper-mache figures.

Here are her instructions for making a giraffe:

Collect the following materials: five old newspapers, string, sandpaper, pencil, shellac or lacquer, paint (yellow, brown and black) and two cups of paste. Make the paste by mixing one half cup of flour with cold water to a thin cream consistency and stirring the mixture slowly into two cups of boiling water until the paste is thick. Cool it before using.

This is the way to make the giraffe's skeleton: Take a double fold of newspaper 16 inches wide, place the folded side toward you and roll it tightly to a compact cylinder. Wrap it with string the full length to keep it from unrolling. Bend it up in the center to mark the point where the long neck rises from the body.

To construct the front legs, make a second roll the same size, bend it sharply in the center and tie it to the body at the neck bend. To keep the legs from spreading, tie a string around the top of them near the bend. To make the back legs, make a thinner shorter newspaper roll, bend it and tie it to the body at the tail. To make the head construct a small newspaper roll about three inches long and bend down one inch. Overlap this on the end of the neck and tie it with string.

LAVERNE MORITZ . . . With paper sculpture.

Pad the body foundation by crumpling several pieces of newspaper and wrapping them to the skeleton with string. Build the figure to the proportions you want. Twist one corner of this padding to make the tail, and give it a coating of paste so it will remain twisted.

Spread one of the newspapers on the table on which you are going to work. Tear several other newspapers into irregular shapes and sizes approximately one inch by two inches. Cover one of the pieces of paper with a thin coating of paste, using your fingers as a brush. Be careful not to use too much paste. Lay the pasted side of the torn paper on the giraffe.

Continue to spread paste on one piece of torn newspaper at a time and paste the pieces on the giraffe in a close-knit, irregular ev-erlapping pattern until the giraffe is covered. Repeat the process until you have given him four or five coats, taking care to keep the layers of papier mache smooth. Let it dry thoroughly and sandpaper it to smooth off any rough edges. To make ears, fold three-cornered pieces of paper and paste them on the head.

When the giraffe is thoroughly dry, give the entire body a coat of yellow or yellow-orange paint. While this is still wet blend in a very little red on the head and on the tail and ears. When this dries, draw on the spots with a pencil, making them smaller on the neck and legs and larger on the body. Paint the spots brown and the eyes and feet black. When this is dry, finish the giraffe with several coats of shellac or lacquer.

Open Season For Sandwiches

OPEN FACE . . . crab and cheese sandwiches for summer lunch.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

It's open season for open-style sandwiches. All of summer's bounty to use in their making! Don't invite them look on the plate!

Perfect for warm weather, these open sandwiches, because you can prepare them quickly, vary them infinitely. Just how infinitely we have known ever since we visited the little country of Denmark, where the open sandwich is a national institution, and we counted 172 varieties on the menu of the famous Oskar Davidson restaurant.

The advantage of the open sandwich, we read on the David-son bill of fare, is its one piece of bread. This way there is "nothing to hide in the lovely colors of the tasty morsels of meat, fish and vegetables" that are placed on it. Of course there's nothing to prevent you from eating as many open sandwiches as you like! Here, for instance, are some delectable combinations.

1. Mix a cup of finely chopped young fresh leaves of spinach with a third cup of mayonnaise and a little minced onion; pile on pumpernickel bread. Serve with another open sandwich of a slice of roast beef garnished with sliced hard-cooked egg, mayonnaise and watercress.

2. Pile tuna fish salad on a slice of rye bread, dust with paprika and garnish with green pepper and small sweet onion rings. Serve with another open sandwich of sliced avocado and pimiento strips.

3. Pile soft cheddar cheese mixed with chopped green olives and walnuts and mayonnaise on one slice of white bread; serve with an open sandwich of sliced ham and shredded lettuce.

4. Arrange slices of marinated cucumber on a slice of white bread; serve with another open sandwich of sliced fresh lobster mixed with diced fresh tomato (peeled and seeded) and mayonnaise.

5. Put a thin slice of cold roast pork on a slice of whole wheat bread; serve with another open sandwich of sliced pickle beets and romaine garnished with mayonnaise.

For our last open sandwich we have a special recipe that goes over big whenever we serve it for lunch.

OPENFACE CRAB AND CHEESE SANDWICHES

mix with lemon juice. Blend 1-2 cup mayonnaise, milk and salt; toss lightly with crab meat. Spread half the bread with extra mayonnaise. Cover with tomato slices and top with crab meat mixture. On remaining bread slices place cheese. Broil crab meat and cheese until golden brown. Garnish center of open olives. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Rocking on the verandah, swinging in the hammock, cutting out clothes for paper dolls. Sun peeping through the awning, blue sky stretching out yonder over our front-yard Caragana hedge.

Our Mother's voice from the cool shade-darkened house. "We're having butter cookies and fruit cup, mak a place for the tray!" You run to open the screen door. "Call the other children," she smiles. You're at the front gate, yoo-hooing down the street—the sweet crumbliness of the rich butter cookies already on your tongue.

But that was years ago when we were very young. No one calls them verandahs any more. Most of the rockers are gone, rarely you see a hammock. And will any cookies in the world ever taste as good?

Such! Nostalgia! Time to shake ourselves out of the past! Time to try a new butter cookie recipe someone has kindly sent us. We start measuring and mixing the ingredients, dropping the creamy mixture onto the pans.

Two young friends—ages eight and five—come to play on our rooftop terrace and taste our new recipe. We take the last cookie pan out of the oven, then we're ready with the tray. The little girls run to open the terrace door, move their dolls from the table. They bite into a cookie. Small hands reach for another, then another and another. "These are the bestest cookies!" they say.

"THE BESTEST," kids will say about these fruited cookies.

FRUITED BUTTER COOKIES

Ingredients: 2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 1 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 or 3 drops almond extract.

When In Rome, Eat Veal Or Just Have It At Home

AP Newsfeatures

SPAGHETTI, you know about. That's the most popular dish in Rome. But here's how to prepare a tasty veal roll as the Romans do. They call it "Rolle di vitello."

THE MAKINGS - A thin slice of veal, two or three very thin slices of ham, two eggs, butter, onion, celery and olive oil are on the table. (You can use butter instead of oil if you prefer.)

FLATTEN your veal and lay ham slices on top (left). Make an omelet with the two eggs (right). You know how.

PUT the omelet on top of the ham with some chopped celery and roll everything up (left). Tie with string (right).

BROWN the sliced onion in olive oil or butter. Take the onion out (you don't use it.) Then put the veal roll in the pan as shown left and cook it in a slow oven for an hour. Refrigerate the roll, then slice as shown right. Serve.

Noted Hostess Likes Modern Informality

Here are tips from a man on how to give a party with the least work.

They come from Russel Wright, one of America's most widely known industrial designers, who has pioneered in the development of products that aim at an easier and more informal way of living. With the late Mrs. Wright he co-authored "Guided to Easier Living"—tips on how to cut time and labor running a house. He says:

"In these days, when many households are servantless, entertaining should not revolve around food as much as it used to.

"But if you must entertain your guests at dinner, keep it simple and let the guests help. Servantless living has been going on for many years, but people still cling to the stuffy old-fashioned idea that if you are a guest you don't do anything and if you are a host, you are just a kind of servant. It's pretentious.

In a servantless household the host and hostess shouldn't hesitate to ask for help in a nice way. I do. People look startled, but they do it and always return and ask if they can help more. Often it adds to the fun."

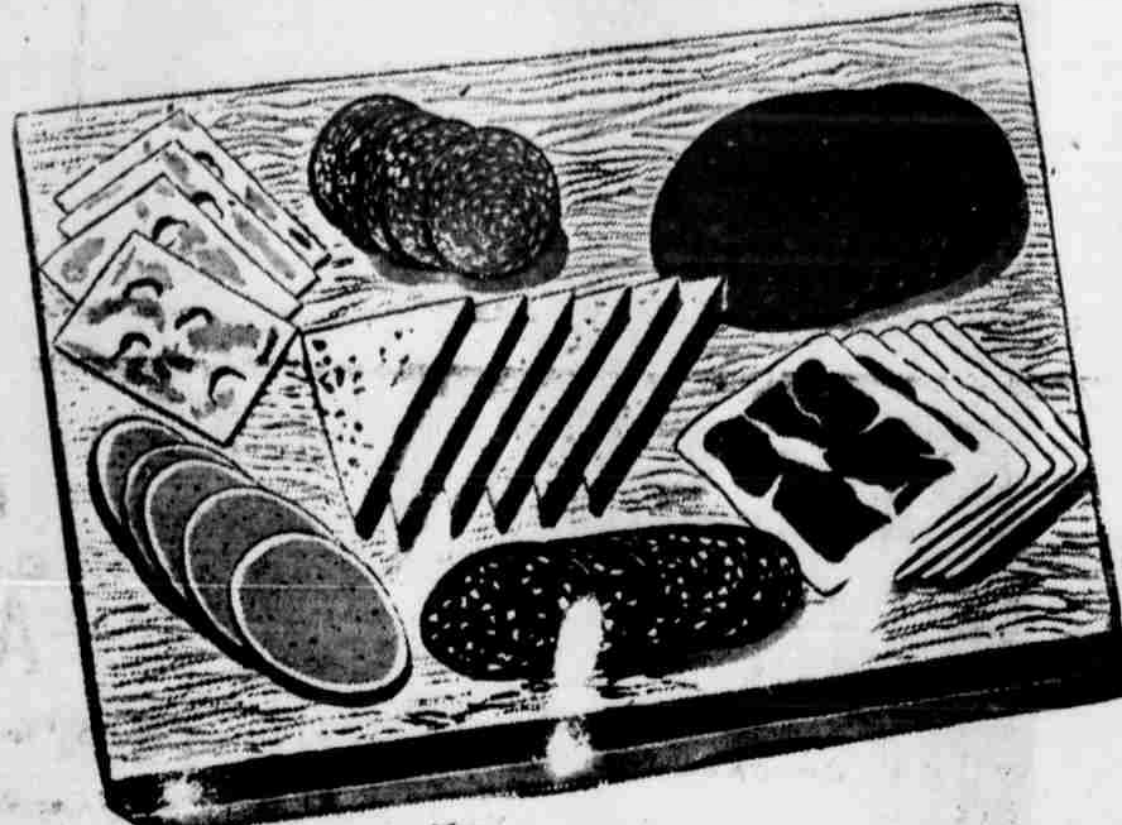

A kitchen cafeteria is one of Mr. Wright's formulas for entertaining dinner guests with the least work. His favorite menu stars Brunswick stew—a casserole dish combining fowl, canned tomatoes, corn, lima beans and potatoes, seasoned with herbs and laced with a cup of red wine. Spoon bread, salad and ice cream dripping with black cherries make the rest of the dinner.

When the Wright guests dine kitchen-cafeteria style, the hot food is set out on top of the stove. Trays, plates and silver are placed on a counter and the guests file by and serve themselves, then wander into the dining room and living room and find seats where they please.

Another Wright dinner formula is the party cafeteria staged in the dining room. For this, the meal and all its service is arranged on the dining room table in a T-shape. Along one end are placed the silver (in its regular storage box) the plates, butter, rolls, water and glasses. Placed down the center of the table in a straight line is the food—casserole dish, salad and fruit. Guests pass along the end of the table with the trays and collect their service, then sit down at the sides of the table and serve themselves from the food in the center. Says Wright:

"This kind of a meal served to four people requires 39 pieces to cook and serve. The traditional three-course dinner (soup, meat course and dessert) requires 105 pieces. This is a saving of 64 pieces each meal. In a year it amounts to a saving of more than 22,000 pieces."

Efficiency Is Feature of New Pat Boone, Jr. Home

All Steel St. Charles Kitchen Is Thrilling

By MORLEY B. DRAKE
Expansive, but compact, and embodying all those features which combine for utility either for the immediate family or for the family and guests, truly describes the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boone, Jr., at 702 East Thirteenth street.

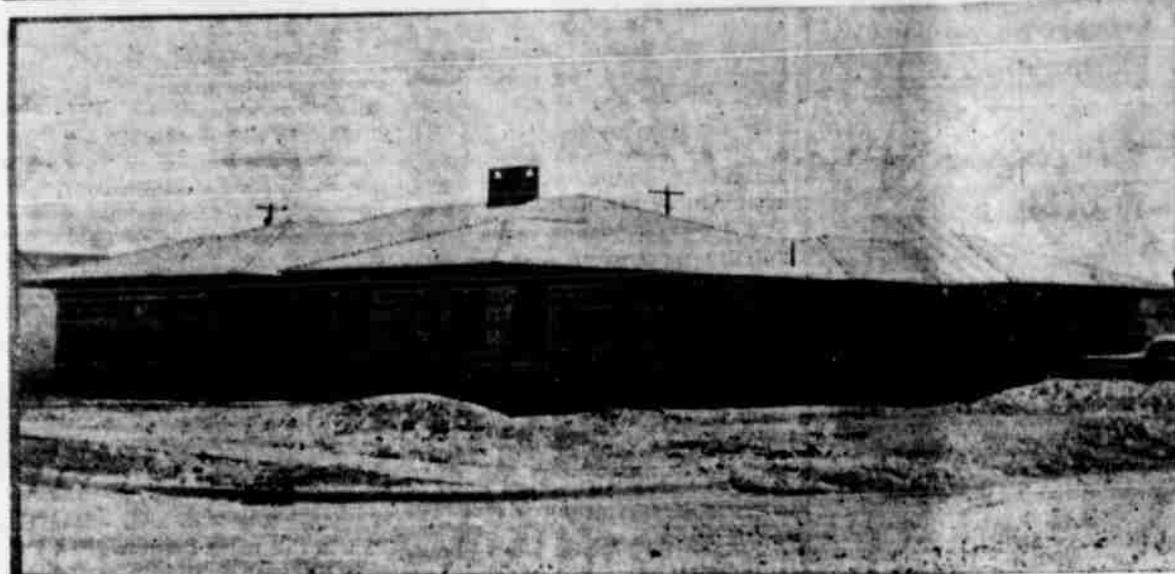

Mr. and Mrs. Boone and their one year old daughter, Elizabeth Janet (Betty), have just moved into their new home; in fact, the furnishing of this lovely home is as yet incomplete.

Modified Ranch Style Design
Modified ranch style in design, the structure blends gracefully into a corner location with a frontage of 100 feet. Entrance to a spacious double garage is from the side street.

Into the new home went months of study by Mr. and Mrs. Boone and the knowledge and skill of men who specialize in the creation of homes that are truly homes... homes that accentuate all that life expresses.

Stone Construction
The exterior is of Leuder's stone, with all woodwork finished in deep aqua, and features metal frame French windows. In fact, French windows are used throughout the home with the exception of a broad expanse of openings looking out in a patio which occupies the central position of this U-shape home.

Built from architectural plans prepared by Carl Morrow, the best in materials and craftsmanship have gone into the new Boone home. But without the thoughtful, happy planning of Mr. and Mrs. Boone, the home, no doubt, would have lacked those individual expressions which reflect the individuality of the owners. For example, the den expresses Mr. Boone and the wonderful St. Charles kitchen, custom built of occupying a position immediately at the rear of the breakfast room. A utility room or hallway serves the kitchen, the breakfast room, and provides entrance to the double garage.

Wonderful Den
The truly wonderful den is the same size as the living room, and has as central features a duplication of the living room fireplace, with shelving on both sides of the fireplace and an expanse of windows at the rear looking out into the patio and inviting one in lingsteel, reflects Boone's skill and joy in the preparation of good food and Mr. Boone's appreciation of good things nicely served.

Good Craftsmanship and Materials
Stone from Leuder's Limestone Co.; concrete work by Toby Walker; building materials from Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co.; the wonderful all-steel St. Charles kitchen designed and furnished by the Lubbock Kitchen Center; tile-bathrooms by Architectural Tile Co. Lubbock; plumbing by Bob Cox; electrical work by R. V. Armstrong; general supervision of construction by Ernest Goertz, and interior and exterior decorating, under the direction of Sam Pruett, have all combined in the creation of a home reflecting the best in materials and craftsmanship.

Swinging and sliding doors have done wonders in enhancing the utility and livability of a lovely home. And it would not be right to overlook the wealth of closet space, even to little Betty's own closet with its low rod on which hangs in happy array the tiny lady's pretty dresses. And there comes to our mind at this time the roomy dressing room just off the master bedroom with expansive closet space available within little more than a step or two.

Central Heating System
A Payne central heating system will provide cozy comfort in cold weather, and provision has been made for an air-conditioning system that will dissipate violent sunrays into the refreshing coolness of a lake breeze.

The front entrance to the home admits to a 16x22 living room with huge fireplace of Arizona sandstone, and through a large, graceful archway at the right and end of the living room is a glimpse into a spacious dining room. Immediately to the rear of the dining room is the kitchen and breakfast room with the double garage occupying a setting of yellow walls and ceiling, the kitchen and breakfast room, with its service hall, can most easily be described as "something out of this world."

Men are famous for singing in the shower, and women for their rejoicing over a wonderful kitchen. It seems to us that no woman could refrain from bursting into song, ascending to the highest notes of which she is capable once she had enjoyed the thrill of cutting one tomato or peeling one orange in such a kitchen as that possessed by the Boone family. Two eye level built-in electric ovens, other electric cooking facilities; an electric fan that eliminates odors and heat; garbage disposal; shelves for every use and of every shape and dimension; metal compartments galore; drawers and doors that pop out and pop up; just countless facilities that cannot be described by a man and we doubt if there is one woman in a million who could do much better.

Effective Interior Decorating
Most folks, we understand, adapt the curtains or drapes to the woodwork and walls. But in the new Boone home the method has been reversed. The wall treatment has been carried out to blend gracefully with the drapes or curtains, and wonderful achievements were recorded under the color-conscious eyes of Mr. Pruett and his able staff of decorators, drawn from the best craftsmen of Littlefield.

Occupying a setting of yellow walls and ceiling, the kitchen and breakfast room, with its service hall, can most easily be described as "something out of this world."

This picture shows a corner of the living room with its huge fireplace of Arizona sandstone. At the right is seen a small portion of the archway which leads to the dining room.

How to Enjoy Your Vacation

How to enjoy your vacation by working around the house is no joke. It can be done. In fact most householders seem to get more real satisfaction out of the results of their handiwork in finishing off attic rooms, for instance, than out of their golf score or a heavyweight bass—well, almost as much, let's say.

At any rate, when the family is growing and more rooms are needed and there's space in the attic and workers drive up in sports convertibles to give you estimates out of this world, it isn't difficult to decide how you are going to use some or all of your vacation time.

Finishing attic rooms is getting to be something of a national indoorsport. Around four million families bought or built two-bedroom houses since World War II. Some bankers frowned on these structures and called them birth-control housing because they certainly can't accommodate growing boys and girls in addition to parents.

But these houses got built and now the problem of enlarging them arises. Those with attics, planned originally for expansion, offer the easiest out. Lumber dealers, building supply houses, paint and hardware stores often are stocked with helpful pamphlets including instructions on how to use the various materials needed for such jobs.

One attractive and easy-to-install material is the new woodgrained gypsum wallboard. This is regular gypsum wallboard, 3/8 of an inch thick, predecorated with late knotty pine, bleached walnut, bleached maple, plywood and other finishes. The color of the wood are reproduced on the faces of the 4 by 8-foot photographic and processes.

This wood grained material can be waxed occasionally to the finish. Or a deluxe finish can be attained by applying pure white shellac, sanded, then a coat of wax finish. A coat of clear varnish on the other hand will afford a finish. When wallboard is in any of these ways it can be cleaned simply by wiping with a damp cloth.

GET THE BEST OF THE BARGAIN AT A COUNTRY ANTIQUE AUCTION

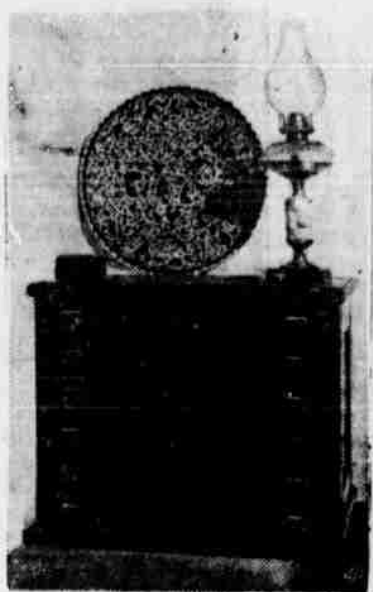

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You can spend a delightful vacation at summer auctions. And don't let your husband talk you out of it. Better still, don't let him in on it until you arrive at the vacation resort. When he's planning the vacation (or thinks he is) take a good look at the road map. Make sure that the road he chooses is on the "antique circuit." And invariably you'll find you're on the country auction beam.

When you team up with the going-going-gone set you'd better learn what gives. Neophytes can be gypped. Some of them pay more for a used item than it is worth new in the store today. It will take lots of visits to auctions, antique shops and junk shops to recognize old things. But in the meantime you can have fun if you remember this: Only buy what you can use, what is cheap at the price you must pay and is sturdy enough to hold up for resale eventually if you decide to part with it. Here are some general tips to remember:

RARE FIND—A Sandwich glass candlestick.

MODERN END TABLE—An old spool chest.

TEN DOLLAR BID—Marble and wainut washstand.

1. Unless you are an expert, never buy anything on which you expect to make a profit.
2. If an auctioneer describes an article as being "of the period" and he is asking "antique prices" don't bid.
3. In spite of all you hear about knotty pine, old pine pieces have few knots in them.
4. Unless you have an excellent eye, never buy anything you haven't inspected closely before the sale.
5. Old chairs should look it. Slat back and ladder back chairs should be worn where the chairs have rubbed against the walls for years.
6. Pressed glass is being reproduced and even the popular daisy-and-button pattern is hard to distinguish from old glass.
7. Old Dresden and Staffordshire is being faked so that only an expert can tell the difference.
8. China stamped with a country origin is not antique. The marking of imports was begun only a little more than a half-century ago.
9. Backboards of 18th century chests should not have modern-type circular saw kerf marks.

10. Old lacy Sandwich cup plates, tiny as they are, have a resounding ring when tapped with the fingers.

You can corral interesting pieces which are not antique but will give you great pleasure and take your home out of the ordinary class.

Several of my most cherished pieces were very inexpensive. An old-fashioned spool and cotton case bought for $10 (the kind that graced trimming store counters) was refinished to reveal a lovely walnut inlay and shiny greenish gold brass. It is a perfect complement to the new French love seat it serves as an end table. Its 6 shallow drawers are perfect for housing living room paraphernalia.

Two interesting walnut washstands with red marble tops serve as bureaus in a dainty guest room which was furnished in its entirety for $85 less mattress and spring. That includes a blanket roll bed, serpentine-front bed table, rose rocker, Victorian chair, a small collection of cranberry glass.

You will not want to keep all that you buy, perhaps, and interesting things may always be sold. My prize find was a rare Sandwich glass candlestick with a base in the figure of a woman. It should belong to someone who wants a pair. But in the meantime it serves us well indeed, and it is a joy to look at.

How To Enjoy—

These panels cost little more than ordinary gypsum wallboard and save both time and expense of decorating. No joint treatment is needed. The knotty pine panels have square edges which, when buttered together form fine joints that look like part of the wood pattern. The walnut, mahogany and other panels have beveled edges to form "V" joints that likewise become part of the decoration.

The panels are applied with special enamel-headed nails colored to harmonize with the specific woodgrain finish. These nails should be driven with a rawhide mallet or a papped or plastic-head hammer to avoid chipping the enamel or damaging the woodgrain surface.

Like any other wallboard, these panels call for level and true framework. Studs, joists or framing should be spaced 16 inches

COUNTY AGENT'S WEEKLY LETTER FARM NEWS

Thursday, August 20, is going to be the day that your farmers and business men had better sit aside for the annual Lamb County Soil Conservation Field Day in the Pleasant Valley community.

Doyle Turner, George Wuerflein and Gerald Allison have been putting out the work, as the committee to make this the most successful field day ever held in Lamb County.

We will start from the Gerald Allison farm located 8 miles west and 1 1/2 miles north of Earth at 9 a. m.

The six banks of Lamb County are going to be hosts at the noon barbecue and Dean W. L. Stangel of Texas Tech will be the noon speaker. So you had better make every effort to be present.

We urge all farmers to vote in the P. M. A. Committee elections. All farmers taking part in any of the farm programs administered by community and county Production and Marketing Administration Committee are urged to cast their ballot in PMA community elections beginning the week of August 17.

The elections are non-partisan and any farmer, whether owner, operator, tenant or sharecropper, who is participating in any program administered by the county committee is eligible to vote.

If you are eligible, don't fail to exercise your right to vote in these elections. Community committee-men, alternates, and delegates to the county convention which chooses the county committee will be named by this community election. The men elected should be farmers considered best qualified by the majority of farmers in the community for these important posts.

Those elected will be responsible for administering the Agricultural Conservation Program and price support operations including commodity loans and farm storage loans. When allotments or marketing quotas are in effect, committee-men determine the farm acreage allotments. They also have duties in connection with field operations of the Federal Crop Insurance.

Have you been bothered by mosquitoes in the last two weeks? Mosquitoes not only annoy man by biting, but are carriers of four of man's serious diseases—malaria, yellow fever, dengue, and certain forms of filariasis. Female mosquitoes feed on blood and are true vectors of these diseases.

Since mosquitoes breed in water, control measures must begin with the elimination or treatment of all breeding places. In Texas the Anopheles mosquito—the malaria carrier—and the common house mosquito are most frequently found.

Nailing is started at the center of the panel, working outward and spacing nails 6 to 8 inches apart along the support—not closer than 3/8 of an inch from the edges of the board. Woodgrained panels can be cut with a saw or scored with a sharp knife and snapped.

Tin cans, bottles, and other open containers must be removed. To treat stagnant bodies of water—pour kerosene on the surface at the rate of one pint to 250 square feet. This application will kill mosquito larvae. Oil the pond every two or three weeks thereafter to keep these pests in check.

Rain barrels can be permanently treated by adding two or three ounces of borax for each gallon of water.

Careful screening is essential in keeping mosquitoes out of the house. A 5 percent DDT spray in deodorized kerosene for control in the home. The room must be kept closed for 15 or 20 minutes after spraying.

Do you realize that depreciation is the biggest single item in the cost of farm machinery? Depreciation is a loss in value with the passing of time, and the rate of depreciation depends upon the length of the useful life of the machinery.

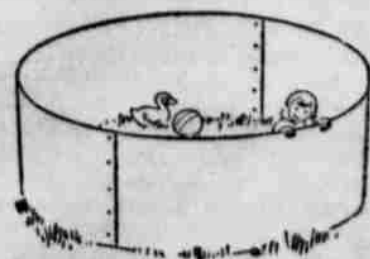

It can take place through wear or obsolescence, or both. But do you give any consideration to this depreciation?

To figure out depreciation by the hour alone, you can divide the new cost by the total hours of service that the machine will give you before it wears out.

Much farm machinery, however, will not wear out, but eventually become useless or obsolete because it is out of date.

Take as an example a tractor mower that will be good for 2,000 hours, however, experts say that the mower will be obsolete in about 12 years. So if you can use the mower less than 200 hours a year, it may become obsolete before you wear it out.

Five holes are bored through overlapped ends for the bolts. The 16-foot strip is then bent to form a large hoop and the other ends are fastened. Center bolt is inserted first. The pen, weighing only 35 pounds, and about 5 feet in diameter, can be rolled from room to room and out into yard. If fitted with legs (1 by 2 strips, 30 inches long) it will be raised for free circulation of air.

Lamb County Soil Conservation Program Outlined By Experts

The board of supervisors, Lamb County Soil Conservation District, has recently approved conservation plans on 25 farms and ranches covering 80,339 acres. In other recent actions, the board approved layouts for irrigation systems and bench leveling. James Abbott, work unit conservationist, reported.

Among leveling contracts were these: Floyd Roger, 15 acres; J. R. Hodges, 5 acres, and R. N. Goyno, 5 acres. W. A. Springer of the Bar-S ranch is putting in an irrigation well and will level a plot of land and put it to alfalfa for hay if sufficient water is found.

Ladies Night At Tent Revival Will Be Friday Night, August 14

Ladies night at the Lamb County tent revival will feature Mrs. Clifton W. Brannon, wife of the Evangelist, Friday night, August 14, at 8 p. m., as announced by Rev. John C. Taylor, pastor. Mrs. Brannon's testimony has been the highlight of the Brannon Evangelistic campaign during the last four years. It is expected that the largest crowds of the campaign will gather at the big tent on West Fifth Street to hear the former club woman and civic worker. Her testimony involves her determination to prevent her lawyer husband from becoming a minister, but shows how she became a devoted co-laborer in the Lord's work. It is a touching human interest story that has appealed to the women over America. More than one-half million people have heard this unusual testimony. There will be a ladies choir directed by Jerry Barnes and women will be in charge of the program as it will be Ladies Night.

pastor. In 1941, the congregation purchased an old Mennonite church building. It was dedicated as a house of worship on May 11, 1941, by the Rev. F. T. Sager. This church building was located on Westside Avenue, across the street from the present Athletic Field at the Littlefield schools.

The Rev. C. F. Schulte was installed in the Littlefield-Posey Parish in 1947. He resided in Posey. In August of 1947, the congregation decided to change the location. The building was moved to the new location, West 10th Street at Cundiff in July, 1948. It was in May of 1948 that a congregation became incorporated under the laws of the State of Texas.

In August, 1948, the congregation voted to cease being together in a parish with Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Posey and to join in a parish with the St. Paul Church of Levelland. A parsonage was then built beside the church.

The Rev. C. F. Schulte accepted the first call to the new Littlefield-Levelland parish. He moved to Littlefield in April, 1949, and became the first resident pastor of the congregation.

In 1950, a Building Committee, composed of Bruno Birkelbach, Ben Brandt, H. B. Hill, Pastor C. F. Schulte and Oscar Weige, began plans for a new building. A church building of frame and stucco, without a parish hall 70 by 30 feet, with one shore wing on the west and another on the east, was planned by G. S. Glenn, local architect. On Sunday, July 30, 1950, a ground-breaking ceremony was held by the congregation. The present church was dedicated October 29, 1950.

In late 1950, the Rev. Schulte accepted a call to Wilton, Wisconsin. The Rev. Leslie Huebner, accepted the call in the spring of 1952, and was installed as pastor of the congregation July 13, 1952. During the vacancy created by the Rev. Schulte, services were conducted by Rev. Lowell Green, of the Posey-Southland parish. Rev. Green is now in Erlangen, Germany, doing graduate work in the Theological University there. The Rev. Leslie Huebner is the local pastor of the congregation.

The St. Martin congregation takes pleasure in extending an invitation to you to their services next Sunday.

A LION OR TWO

We are departing from the usual procedure and present an article written by Alexander T. Wells, President, Lions International, 1939-1940. We believe you will like to read it.

LIONISM—A STABILIZER
In the present period of strife, turmoil, and great unrest throughout the world, and the prevalence of so much confused thought and ill-advised action on the part of sizable groups of our peoples, reflecting narrow, dangerous and restricted points of view, prejudices and selfishness, one cannot but feel a deep concern for democracy and the need for a stabilizing influence such as a balance wheel in a watch, or the gyroscopic central apparatus of an airliner which automatically overcomes the conflicting forces of the elements and keeps the huge ship on its appointed course.

In Lionism, I feel that we have such a stabilizer, and inasmuch as it has been truly said that Lionism represents a true cross section of the best in citizenship, everywhere, much of our feeling of concern may, to a very large extent, at least, be allayed. The privilege of a wide association with our Lion membership in other countries is a most reassuring experience in that the problems of the day leaves no doubt in one's mind about the solidity of democracy, the way of life that Chief Justice Hughes of the United States Supreme Court is ably described as 'a most hopeful way of life.'

This fine, encouraging attitude on the part of our members is due, very largely, to the fact that they are successful business and professional men of education, experience and understanding, not too engrossed with their own personal affairs to cooperate with their fellow men toward a better world, endowed with sufficient discretion and common sense to refuse to allow themselves to be misled into wasting their energies on fantastic schemes or false leadership, and who are convinced that the ills and problems of the day cannot be solved by permitting any one nation, race or religious group to dominate the affairs of the world.

Most of the difficulties today can be attributed to prejudices and hatreds from selfishness and intolerance. The keystone of the whole structure of Lionism is the rendition of unselfish service; and certainly tolerance, for which there is such a world-wide need, is being sincerely and intelligently cultivated by the presentation of viewpoints, from all sides, upon questions and matters of importance and moment whenever and wherever Lions clubs meet.

Out of these meetings, possible in our countries because of our fundamental freedoms, there comes that broadmindedness that permits of one seeing both sides of a question, even though he be personally and vitally concerned therein, and an alive and alert attitude which, immediately sensing any and all influences subversive of and opposed to the well being of our nations and of our peoples, quickly builds up a resistance to these influences throughout our vast organization and among all those with whom it is in contact, truly a dynamic force ever on guard to protect our Liberty, Intelligence, and Our Nation's Safety.

ADVICE TO BLONDES

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Blondes get blonder in the summer. And in the summer it looks good. But come chilly Autumn and the same blonde tresses having been exposed to the sun's rays, are likely to become streaky, brittle and unmanageable.

A girl who wouldn't think of visiting a beach in mid-day without suntan lotion to protect her skin, thinks nothing of exposing her luscious locks to the sun's rays.

Blondes who are proud of their light tresses usually can't be sold on a head covering, no matter how lovely. So oil treatments are the only solution. These are simple to do and are well worth the effort. Here's how:

Before your regular shampoo brush your hair thoroughly. Part the hair. Take a small cotton ball and dip it in baby oil or another favorite oil. Section the hair in inch strips all over the head, applying baby oil as you go along. Use a fresh cotton ball as one becomes soiled.

When the entire scalp has been oiled, spread thumbs and fingers of both hands and place them

SPARE THAT HAIR . . . Baby oil treatment applied to sectioned-off hair parts will help keep firmly against the scalp. Use fingertips to rotate the scalp slowly until it loses its tight feeling. Move the hands to a different portion of the head and continue this massage until the scalp tingles and grows warm.

If this treatment is done in the cool of the evening, you may want to wring a towel out of hot water and wrap it around the oiled hair for a few minutes. If it is hot, you'll probably wash the oil right out of your regular shampooing.

Two to three soaping clear water rinses will help hair good and clean. Use a freshly squeezed lemon added to the rinse water.

Brushing is another summer hair-care step. Particularly stimulating with two brushes, one hand, with head hanging are told. This really massages your scalp, imparting a healthy glow to your tresses, according to experts.

If frequent swimming or salt water swims are your summer playthings, make aaseline for the shower. Clear water washes away the chlorine and remove ocean salt.

Pin-curls put up after your showering help dry the hair in a gentle whiskered around line to remove powder and final fillip in a summer blonde hair in good

W. H. (Bill) Cooper Returns From Plane Trip

W. H. (Bill) Cooper has returned to Littlefield after a trip to Tipton, Okla. by plane.

His brother, Jack Cooper, accompanied by Newt Johnson, a friend, both of Madera, Cal., recently arrived here in a Beechcraft Bonanza to pick up W. H. Cooper who accompanied them to Tipton, Okla., for a visit with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Forsyth.

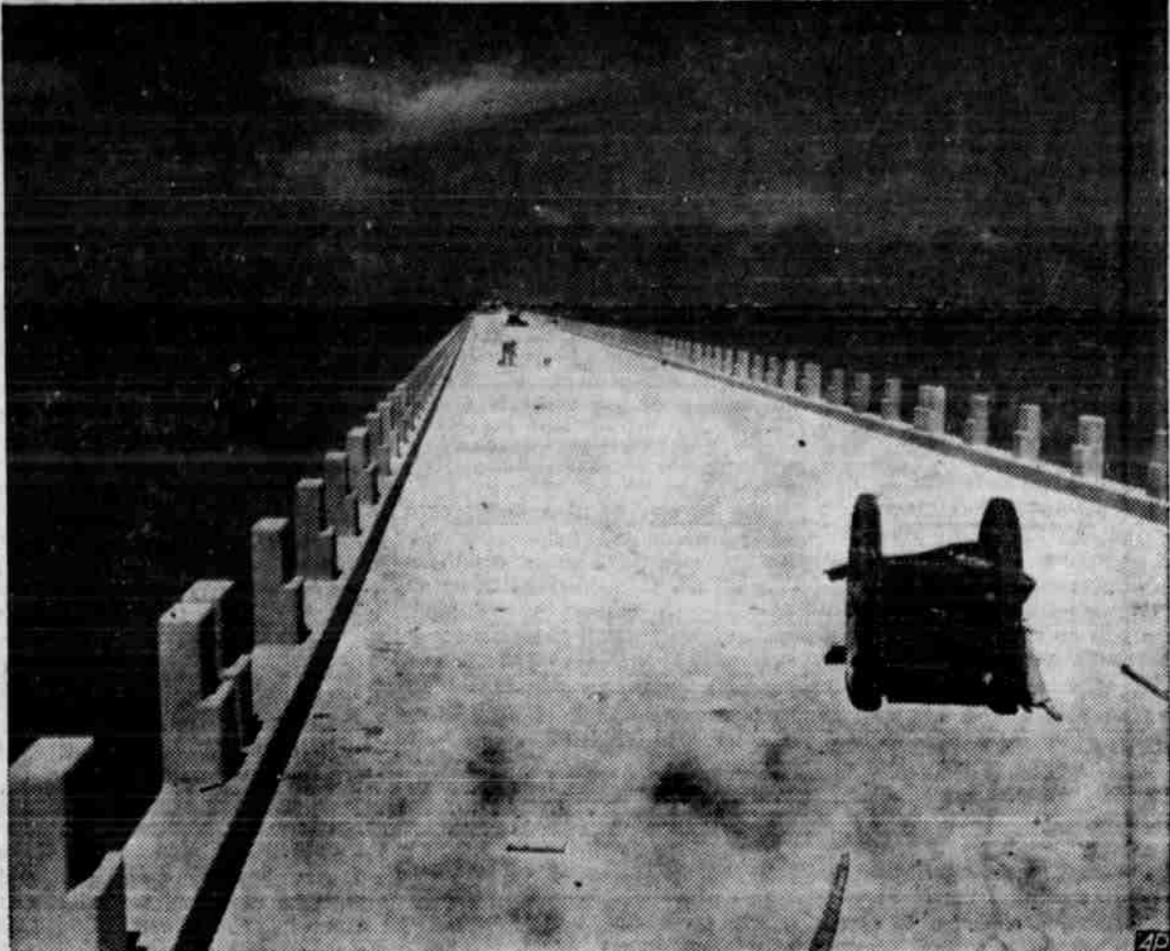

An item in the Tipton, Okla. paper reported the trip from California to Tipton as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Forsyth were thrilled to have Mrs. Forsyth's brother, Jack Cooper of Madera, Calif., arrive at Tipton airport last Friday afternoon. He came in a Beechcraft Bonanza with Newt Johnson, also of Madera, and had stopped at Littlefield, Texas, to pick up another brother, W. H. Cooper.

"The remarkable part about the trip was that they made it in ten hours and eight minutes. Having to fly around a thunderstorm probably accounted for the eight minutes, Mr. Cooper believed. They left Madera at 5:00 a. m. California time and arrived in Tipton at 5:08 p. m. CST. Mr. Johnson, the pilot, flew on to Blackwell to visit relatives.

"Mrs. Forsyth and her two brothers were joined by a sister, Mrs. R. A. Klingingpeel and her husband and twin sons, Ray and Roy of Bethany, for a family reunion, the first time the four sons and daughters had been together since reaching adulthood.

"The Forsyth's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hasty and son Craig came from Dallas, Texas, to spend the week end with their parents and brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Van Scoder and daughters. A very pleasant week end was spent visiting and catching up on the news.

"Mr. Johnson came back from Blackwell Monday and took W. H. and Jack Cooper and Mrs. Elton Van Scoder to Erick to visit relatives for the afternoon.

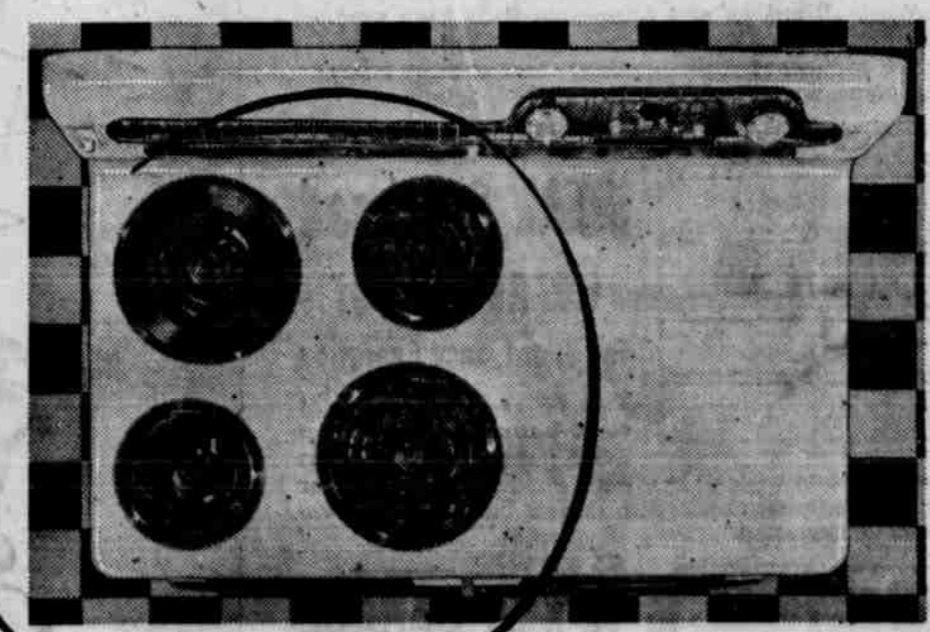

"Tuesday the three men flew to Littlefield, Texas, to return W. H. Cooper to his home and expected to return to California Wednesday or Thursday."

For the few farmers and ranchers who are not fully acquainted with the functions and goals of the Lamb County Soil Conservation District, Conservator James D. Abbott has recently reviewed these activities.

A soil conservation is organized by the citizens of a watershed, county or community under provisions of a state conservation law, he said. The organized district is then directed by its citizens and the organizing land owners through an elected body called a board of supervisors, he explained.

Organized in 1947

After the Lamb County Conservation District was organized in 1947, the supervisors were elected and developed a district work plan of operations to assist landowners and operators in conserving soil and water. Thus organized, the members were in a position to call on any state or federal agency for assistance. They requested the Soil Conservation Service to furnish technicians to aid in planning and installing soil conserving measures. The district requested the Extension Service to furnish educational assistance to aid land owners with their soil and water conservation.

The district has since entered into working agreements with the State Vocational Agriculture Department, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Production and Marketing Administration, Abbott said.

Soil And Water

In taking these steps, the district has placed the services of the various agricultural agencies into a common force and focused them on one goal—that of conserving two of our most vital resources—soil and water.

Abbott reported that the district has prepared conservation plans for 545 farms and ranches in the district. He said this represents about 60 per cent of the area in the district and approximately the same percentage of owners and operators.

Boost Yields Through Soil Tests

The cost was small. The returns large for two Hamilton County farmers who followed the fertilizer recommendations given them by M. K. Thornton in charge of the Soils Testing Laboratory of the Texas A&M College System.

The two farmers, Edgar Sparks and Jack Cates reported to Hamilton County Agent E. R. Lawrence outstanding yields of oats from the fertilized fields on which soil tests had been made before the plant food was applied.

Sparks reported a weighed yield of 79 bushels of oats an acre from the field on which he applied 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate an acre. The adjoining field which was not fertilized produced 37 bushels of oats an acre. That, by simple arithmetic, is five bushels an acre more than double the unfertilized yield and a mighty good return on the dollar spent for a soil analysis and the 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

Cates used 100 pounds of 14-14-6 fertilizer an acre on one field and reports the yield as a third higher than for another field which received no treatment. Both, according to Lawrence, are well pleased with their "feeding the soil according to its needs" demonstration.

Thornton, who is also agricultural chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reminds farmers that now is the time to submit soil samples to the laboratory from the fields where small grain and legumes or pasture crops will soon be planted. "Don't wait," says Thornton, "until seeding time to begin thinking about getting a soil analysis. Submit samples now while the laboratory is not too busy. The analysis along with recommendations on how best to handle the field will be available for use before planting time."

And as a final reminder, Thornton says, all county agents have detailed information on the procedure for taking and mailing soil samples.

Signs of Life... Know Them, Obey Them!

America, generally speaking, is a sign-conscious nation.

We depend on the convenience of signs in thousands of phases in our daily life. Signs tell us prices in stores, advertise merchandise in shop windows, speed up all our methods of conducting business.

And signs help us maintain order in countless little ways. For instance, if there were no signs it might be difficult—almost impossible—to keep people from walking on the grass, disposing of trash where they shouldn't, smoking in forbidden places, loitering in busy buildings, posting bills on telegraph poles, talking and shouting in libraries and hospitals.

Then, probably most important of all, we have traffic signs to guide and protect motorists and pedestrians on the nation's streets and highways. These signs are so important that often they are called "Signs of Life."

It's an appropriate name. Traffic signs can, and often do, save lives. Without "Signs of Life"—such as the "stop" sign at intersections, the diamond-shaped warning sign, the round and cross-buck railroad signs—it could become almost suicidal to ride in an automobile.

But "Signs of Life" can do the vital job for which they are intended only if people read and heed them. For this reason "Signs of Life" are being featured in the traffic safety program being conducted this month in Texas by the Texas State Association and the Department of Public Safety.

It's a program that deserves the support of every citizen, for these signs, if observed, may help you save a life—perhaps your own!

The slogan for the August program is one to remember—one to live by: "Signs of Life—Know Them, Obey Them."

REMEMBER

According to A. B. Sanders, Superintendent of the Littlefield schools, the enrollment this year is slightly under 1200, or about 25 below the opening days of last year.

The high school enrollment of 320 shows a slight gain over that of a year ago; the grade enrollment is around $50 to $75 and is growing.

J. C. Hilburn, President of the First National Bank of Littlefield, announced Wednesday that this institution had increased its capital stock from $25,000 to $50,000.

According to Postmaster W. D. T. Storey, the local postal receipts for August at the local office were $1,149.16, compared with $757.21 for August, 1952, indicating a gain of $391.94, or 51 percent over the same month last year.

Mrs. Belle McCarty, 19, wife of A. L. McCarty of nine miles southeast of Littlefield, passed away at her home Sunday morning, September 9, following a few hours illness. Blood-poisoning was believed the cause of her death.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a. m. Monday at Lum's Chapel Church by Rev. Malone, pastor of First Baptist Church of Whitharral, and interment took place in the Littlefield cemetery immediately thereafter, in charge of Hamons Funeral Home.

Notwithstanding the lack of moisture this spring and summer, W. R. Cole brought to the leader office two large watermelons, which he claims to have grown on his farm 8½ miles northeast of Littlefield without irrigation of any kind.

One of these melons measures 4 feet 7 inches the long way, and weighs 89 pounds. The other melon weighs 76 pounds, and is slightly smaller than the former.

With the stocking of a complete line of package drugs and toilet articles, and the opening of a prescription department, the name of the Palace Confectionery, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Theodor, has been changed to the Palace Drug.

Oilton received her first bale of 1953 cotton early Wednesday morning. The bale weighed 395 pounds and was produced by C. E. Hysinger, northeast of Oilton. The second bale of the season came in Wednesday afternoon, and was ginned by the Burrow Gin. It was produced by Tom Reynolds and weighed 350 pounds.

Herschell Johnson, 30, amateur airplane pilot, was killed Tuesday when his ship crashed four miles northeast of the municipal airport, Wichita Falls.

Johnson was a brother of Buddy Johnson, who is now in East Texas, and who formerly operated a cafe in this city, in the location now occupied by Lon's Cafe. Herschell was employed by his brother in the cafe work on several occasions, and had many friends in Littlefield.

Dr. J. E. Neims of Oklahoma City moved here this week and has opened offices in the Rumback Hotel.

Sheriff Len Irvin returned from Shawnee, Okla. Thursday night bringing with him David B. McKnight, who was indicted by the Grand Jury at last term of court, in connection with the theft of a trailer from Mr. Rundle of north of Earth in February last.

Armon Logan, formerly of Lubbock, but well known in this section, is now temporarily employed in the local postoffice. He began his duties there September 1.

J. T. Bellomy is doing considerable improvement to the driveway and approach to his feed and grist mill located on West Fourth Street, just west of the postoffice.

The marriage of Miss Chloedell Tipton of Valley View community and T. E. Wigginton of Tulsa was solemnized in Littlefield Sunday morning, September 9.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in his study.

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Henson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Henson, of Littlefield, and James E. Nix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Nix of Lubbock, was announced at a party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hilliard Friday afternoon.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
 A public opinion survey

DEFENSE COUNSEL OFTEN UNJUSTLY CRITICIZED

One of the cardinal principles of American law is that a man is considered innocent until proven guilty by proper legal proceedings. Practically everyone pays lip service to this ideal, but many fail to realize that the right to be represented by counsel is a logical and essential corollary of that theory of justice. There is a good deal of criticism of attorneys representing defendants in criminal cases. Much of this criticism is unjust.

Should lawyers defend in court persons whom they know or have good reason to believe are guilty of the crimes charged against them? The recent Belden Survey of the attitude of the public in

The ring ceremony, which took place at Plainview, was performed by the Methodist pastor about 5 p. m. Friday, June 15.

One of the most enjoyable parties of the past week end was the bridge dance given by Miss Helen Rumback in the Home Bakery building.

The music was directed by Raymond Timlan, and a victrola played through a loud speaker on the radio for the dancing.

Rev. Herbert Travis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Littlefield, left this city Sunday for Waxahachie, Texas, where he was to be married Wednesday afternoon to Miss Buchanan at the home of her parents near that city.

The plans for the wedding included the reading of the ceremony by the father of the Littlefield pastor, who is also a Presbyterian minister.

Texas toward lawyers and law problems shows that more than half of all persons interviewed thought it was wrong for a lawyer to defend such a person.

Such an attitude on the part of the public is rather startling to thinking people. Surely the guiltiest criminal has a right to a fair trial by the law of the land. Such a trial he cannot have without a competent attorney to see that a fair jury is selected and that only lawful evidence is introduced against him.

With reference to this feeling on the part of the public, District Judge James K. Evetts, of Belton, who served eighteen years as a prosecuting attorney before his election as District Judge, recently offered the following comments:

"The result of this survey is no surprise to me, in that during my eighteen years of prosecuting, this feeling has been made known to me by hundreds of persons.

"The feeling on the part of the general public in this regard is brought about to a great extent by the sincere efforts on the part of the defense counsel to see that his client receives the benefit of every legal safeguard to which he is entitled. These legal maneuvers are often misunderstood by the layman as an unethical effort to defeat justice, by delay of the trial, and by taking advantage of certain defenses that to the layman appear to be trivial technicalities.

"Attorneys are the only ones who can correct the erroneous feeling of the general public regarding the defense of one who appears to be guilty as charged. We attorneys should emphatically state to the inquiring person that it is one of the cardinal rights of the individual in a democratic society to be considered innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt by legal and competent evidence.

"The public must be brought to the realization that all who are charged with crime are entitled to the expert counsel and aid of an attorney, and that the sworn duty of such attorney is to see that each protective legal right, to which the accused is entitled, is afforded him."

Now and then a lawyer will overstep the bounds of his duty in defending those charged with crime. When that happens, the legal profession is even more indignant than the public generally, and appropriate disciplinary proceedings are instituted where warranted.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because, the facts may change the application of the law.)

IT NEVER FAILS

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Mental health concerns every one of us. At the door of mental disease may be laid not only insanity, crime, alcoholism, and drug addiction; often divorce and broken homes which touch nearly all of us individually in one way or another may stem from unsolved problems in every day life which cause excessive emotional or mental strain.

Psychiatry, the medical specialty that deals specifically with mental and emotional ills, hasn't limited itself to the treatment of serious mental disease. It emphasizes the prevention of mental and emotional sickness. Prime examples are what psychiatrists have done in military and industrial circles. During World War II, especially, these specialists selected inductees who they thought could stand the stress of military life, studied what made up good troop morale and good leaders, and showed that early treatment of relatively minor emotional problems could do away with a lot of major mental illness. Psychiatrists working in industry, which has some of the same problems as the armed services, also have made remarkable progress in the field of positive mental health.

Another example of preventive psychiatry at its best is the support not only by psychiatrists but by all doctors or organizations having as their objective the promotion of mental health among individuals, families, communities, and other social groups. Any doctor practices psychiatry to some extent when he listens to his patient's complaints and tries to determine if the illness might be based at least in part on emotional problems.

The question of when a psychiatrist is needed may be raised. When unsolved problems connected with a job, marriage, child care, or any other aspect of everyday life cause excessive and continual worry, fear, resentment, tension, or mental strain. It probably would be wise to consult the family medical adviser. It is quite possible he will be able to give the necessary advice or treatment. However, he may believe psychiatric consultation is desirable. He will continue to cooperate with the specialist, supplying information about the patient's general health and background which may make diagnosis easier and treatment more effective. Hospitalization of the or emotionally sick person needed. Treatment may psychotherapy, shock therapy in some cases both. Psychotherapy is the treatment of an emotional disease by logical methods which such things as hypnosis, suggestion, and psychoanalysis, psychoanalysis in detail events, brings to the surface, that have been held back conflicts. Sometimes this is unaware of these conflicts.

Shock therapy is the administration of a electric current under controlled conditions. The treatment renders the patient temporarily unconscious to a short period of freedom emotional or mental stress makes him more receptive questioning and suggest the psychiatrist. Although major medical procedure therapy probably carries er risk of bad results the operations such as appendectomy or removal of the gallbladder.

Bride-Elect Honored At Recent Shower

Miss Alene Carson, bride-elect of Gerald Alcorn, was honored at a miscellaneous shower Thursday afternoon, July 30, at the home of Mrs. C. E. Bley.

The house was decorated with seasonal flowers. The entertaining table was laid with a ruffled pink cloth, centered with an arrangement of roses and a pink net umbrella. Refreshments of pineapple punch, angel food cake and mints were served.

Dressed in formals assisting with the serving were Mesdames Sondra Nichols, Betty Hall, Linda McFadden, Helen Lee and Juanette Gullett. The guests were registered in the bride's book by Miss Gayle Silcott.

The program of piano music and a song were presented by Tech classmates of Alene from Cotton Center.

Presentation of gifts was made by Miss Paula Bley. Many beautiful gifts were received from 104 guests who were present and others who sent gifts.

ARRIVES HOME

Mrs. J. B. Williams, who has been confined in Shell Clinic at Corsicana following an automobile accident early in May, was brought to Olton in an ambulance recently.

The FVW of Littlefield is furnishing a hospital bed and wheelchair for Mrs. Williams at her home here.

Both the Williams children who were in the car with their mother at the time of the accident were released from the hospital early in June.

Expansion Program Underway At Olton

Among the new buildings erected in Olton during the past year is the new $15,000 fire station across the street from the City Hall and the Olton schools. Inside the building is a new ultra-modern fire truck which will help protect the huge investment laid out in the Lamb County town in recent months.

Buchenau's store in Olton is typical of the new business houses dotting the landscape there. Already, still more stores are "a-budding," including a new Higginbotham-Bartlett Company structure, a co-op gin and Boulter's store, owned by C. E. Bley. In addition, older business houses have put on new fronts and painters last week were at work on the exterior of Olton Memorial Hospital. Soon, Olton schools will build a new $250,000 structure.

Several more new buildings, including a large number of new residences, are under construction or contemplated at this time. Much of the expansion is boosted by the fact that Olton area crops are among the finest in the South Plains region.

City Secretary Vaneta Stovall estimates more than $200,000 worth of new construction has already been completed this year.

Here's a simple but delicious way to serve cooked lobster meat. For each half cup of the lobster, melt a tablespoon of butter in a skillet and add a couple of tablespoons of cream. Keep the heat low, add the lobster to the butter-cream mixture, and baste the seafood as it gets hot. Serve on crisp buttered toast.

Mahon Proposes Cover Crop Plan

Millions of acres of Texas soil left dry and uncovered by vegetation from the drought will not blow away under a plan proposed by Rep. George Mahon, Lubbock, and approved by Agriculture Secy. Ezra Taft Benson.

Farmers in the drought area under this ruling will be permitted to plant cover crops as their soil conservation compliance. Thus the farmers will be paid out of funds allotted for the agriculture compliance program which last year amounted to $18,455,000 in Texas. The total this year will not be so large as the sum appropriated nationally for agriculture compliance payments this year was $195 million compared to $275 million last year.

Mahon proposed to Benson two weeks ago that the planting of cover crops be substituted in drought areas for the usual soil conservation practices in view of the fact the farmers could not perform the usual terracing ditching and legume planting because of the drought.

"The most important thing is that we well now get the ground covered and this will keep the soil from blowing," Mahon said.

The plan was approved by State Production and Marketing officials in Texas. Mahon then entered into a plan to aid the farmers out of surplus commodity credit stocks, but there is no cane or sudan seed in government stocks, only wheat. It is doubtful if wheat will be used as it might be disadvantageous since it might draw moisture from the ground that otherwise could be used more advantageously next year for other crops and also because wheat cannot be marketed because of the wheat allotment control bill. Mahon said if only farmers can get some sort of sorghum seed in the ground to get a stake before fall rains, then the soil will be held before winter weather sets in. It is not considered likely that any marketable crop of sorghum would result this late. Mahon also applied for agricultural compliance payments from funds already available to the Department of Agriculture from last year's appropriations as well as Texas' portion of the 1954 appropriations which became available July 1. The two sources should provide enough funds to take care of farmers' requirements in covering millions of acres of soil, Mahon said. In Dawson County alone, there are 300,000 acres now uncovered. This is the worst of any counties, Mahon believed.

Harvesting a Better America

My eyes yesterday when I saw Jackson's truck in Bill's alfalfa field... helping him in his cutting. They've been carrying on an argument for years over much fertilizer to use on alfalfa. I had to ask what was going on. My own crop in safety he says. "And since it's at the summer end of the National Guard, at least I could do was to get out. After all," Hop there's no argument over how important the National Guard is to all of us."

From where I sit, a fellow like me, who's too old to get in the Guard, can still vote, do a turn at jury duty, and respect others' rights. Even a little thing like respecting a neighbor's right to have, say, beer or buttermilk at dinner is important if we want to keep America strong. We have to be on "guard" in more ways than one these days!

The Right Bait Gets Your Man

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writes

Girls! Having trouble getting your man? Do the fellas flee when you approach? Does a married future look unlikely?

The trouble may very well be that you are not using the right "color bait." This I read in one of my favorite newspapers, and the theory was credited as a color consultant.

Miss Winsborough's idea is that girls fishing for beaux should learn their lessons from those who fish for fish. The thesis is that an angler wouldn't dream of setting out on a fish-catching expedition without a box of colorful lures—bits of colored feathers artfully fastened together—each designed to cause a species of fish to swallow a hook.

Miss Winsborough cautions that a girl, like a fisherman must know what kind of bait to use, pointing out quite sensibly that what attracts a marlin won't get so much as a tumble from a striped bass.

I've been thinking over Miss Winsborough's fascination-theory quite carefully, and am now prepared to give some specific information on its practical application.

Now then, the reason that a poor fish leaps onto the end of a baited hook is because he sees something that he stupidly suspects is something he's fond of eating.

Everyone knows that the most direct route to a man's heart is through his stomach, so Miss Winsborough is on solid ground when she suggests that the most effective man-bait is something suggestive of food.

Therefore, the best and wisest plan of attack is to pick arbitrarily some poor fish. Try to find one without obvious scars indicating he's already been hooked and broken away. Without indicating in any way you are contemplating an angling expedition, try to get a line on his favorite foods.

After that, organize your wardrobe and make-up so that every time he looks at you, his thoughts immediately turn to the joys of the groaning board.

Here are a few concrete examples on how to proceed:

Let's say you trail the elusive quarry repeatedly to an Italian restaurant. That means you'd better plan your dresses around a color scheme of the dead white of the pasta and the deep rich and stimulating reds of tomato sauces. The intricate design, suggesting a steaming plate of spaghetti, is important.

But let's say he turns out to be a stew, ragout or goulash man, then deep, gravy browns, lightened by the pale yellow of an overcooked carrot and the delicate white tracery of a well-boiled onion. A subtle Paisley design, carefully chosen, may be just the bait for this fellow.

If he goes in for Oriental dishes, and is fond of rice and saffron, perhaps the best lure would be to adopt a definitely yellow makeup, one that would approximate the complexion of one suffering acutely from jaundice. This cannot fail to remind him of his favorite dish.

Sometimes, of course, it is impossible to ferret out the favorite foods of a likely victim. In that case, the fisherwoman is wise to stick to a color scheme involving the Chinese reds of rare steak—with just a touch of charcoal hues to mark the silhouette—livened by the delicate golden brown of French fried potatoes.

A precautionary word or two: never go in for such colors as lettuce green, parsnip yellow, or whipped cream white. For dressy wear, the best combination is apple yellow with vanilla ice-creamwhite accessories.

Good fishing, but for goodness sake watch those calories.

Moving Pictures and Colored Slides To Be Shown

Moving pictures and colored slides of the Holy Land and Middle East, which were taken by Evangelist Cliff Brannon and his wife during their recent trip, will be shown under the big gospel tent Saturday night, August 15, at 8 o'clock.

The 117 colored slides will be narrated by Mrs. Ruth Brannon, wife of the Evangelist. The colored movies showing the Middle East and the land where the prophets of our Lord Jesus Christ lived will be described by Evangelist Cliff Brannon. These colored movies are 45 minutes in length, and show weird pictures of the Dead Sea, City of Damascus, Jerusalem, Bethlehem, part of Haifa, Cairo and Memphis, Egypt. The Brannons have travelled in 14 foreign countries, over Africa, Asia and Europe, and their pictures constitute their travelogue and reveal the signs of the time. The pictures will conserve one hour and fifteen minutes program and there will be no preaching.

Rev. John C. Taylor, sponsoring pastor of the Lamb County tent revival, urges the public to come early for seats to see the all picture program Saturday night.

The revival closes Sunday night at the 8 o'clock service, when Evangelist Cliff Brannon speaks on the subject, "Will God Spare America?"

MAKE IT YOURSELF
 A 45 Minute Dress

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Woman's Editor
 Are you the impatient type, who wants quick results?

Then here's your dress, which can be made in 45 minutes flat. Whip it up while the baby naps, while your hair dries, while dinner is cooking.

When you've seen how easy it is, you'll probably want to make several in different colors, for a casual summer wardrobe. Even if you're an amateur, you'll find this dress wonderfully simple to make and easy to wear.

The secret of the perfect waist-line fit is elastic thread. Professional-looking shirring adjusts to your figure, is shaped high in front and lower in back for a slimming contour.

Use no special attachments on your sewing machine in making this dress. Elastic thread is used on the bobbins, with silk or mercerized cotton thread in the needle of your machine. The tightness of the shirring is determined by your tension and stitch adjustments. These directions are in cluded in the elastic thread package. Local sewing center experts remind you to run a test sample before beginning to sew, and to work on the right side of your fabric. It is wise to lock the shirring with a few back stitches.

For easy laundering, make your 45-minute dress of a cotton-and-orlon print, such as is pictured here. It is light enough to shir easily, and maintains a handbox freshness through the most sweltering day.

For free directions for making the 45-minute dress, write to: Jane Livingston, 5th floor, 11 East 26th Street, New York 10, N. Y. SPEED RECORD . . . This smart drawing dress can be made in 45 minutes.

which went into the dresses and underwear for the school girl. So much hard work was done on garments for girls. In fact our girls in that day and time had to be beautiful and they were beautiful and very dignified. I won't elaborate on the girls' Back to School dresses, but will say it was very much harder on Mother to get a girl ready for Back to School than it was a boy.

Back to School in 1953
 A modern mother will back the car out of the garage one week before school, load the boys and girls in the car, drive to town and in two hours have all the Back to School clothing and shoes necessary for them to start to school, and be back home in time to cook dinner for that hard-working husband. She will have everything she needs in a wide choice of patterns and materials, ready-made for the boy and girl. It's true it cost more. Which would you rather have? Shopping in 1898 or shopping in 1953? The answer, 1953.

practically every garment made on a sewing machine. The boys' short pants were wool jeans, which were boys' long pants, also boys' cheviots, which were blue and gray colored. Bright plaids were used for shirts. Boys' undergarments were made of a one piece garment of lined cotton flannel. This was a good warm undergarment. This cotton flannel was unbleached, and was pure snowy white. The other was a dirty color. The unbleached flannel was a much stronger material and would last for several years until the boy would grow out of it.

Back to School Shoes For Small Fry Are Better Made, More Versatile

A leather shoe wardrobe for Sister this Fall includes a suede leather, single-strap sandal with embroidery across the vamp. For play she'll wear all-leather saddle oxfords—and she'll dress-up in bright, shiny, patent leather Mary Janes.

Mother need have no fear of choosing the correct shoes this Fall. New advances in shoe manufacturing, coupled with the miracle of American leather tanning, have resulted in making flexible, well-fitting leather footwear for youngsters' school, play, and party needs.

Adult touches for the small fry are in order this Fall! Little girls' shoes reflect much of the lightness and grace of women's footwear, achieved via lighter and more supple leathers. A significant trend in sub-deb shoes is the popularity of low-cut shell strap pumps, all but replacing classic Mary Janes.

Black patent ankle straps still abound, but shell pumps in gay colors and combinations of leather are fashion's answer to youth's demand for mature styling.

Without sacrificing fit, quality, or long wear, even the sturdy all-leather oxford is "dressed up" with warm color... smooth leather and suede combinations, smooth leather and alligator—for the newer-look!

Emulating their collegiate big brothers, shoes for little boys are rugged and masculine, with bluchers and moccasin types predominant. Sturdy leather soles and prominent welting scores with the mal lollipop set.

In the 'how adult can you get' department, a pigskin blucher with removable fringed tongue and smart plaid laces—a moccasin blucher in the new calf leather with instep buckle strap—or even the black suede slipper strap and tiny nail-head could be worn equally or teen!

AP Newsfeatures

The yen to ape a favorite movie tends to spoil the pretty looks of many teen-agers, says Rita Mann, instructor in "Make-Up" at the John Robert Powers modeling school. Says she:

"Many teen-agers in our classes are there for the simple purpose of finding out how to act their age. The desire to look older, to exaggerate makeup and to resemble Hollywood glamor girls is pre-ty normal in the teens. But what a shame! The teen-ager has natural beauty which shouldn't be disturbed."

Miss Mann does not believe in makeup for girls under 17 or 18, except for lipstick or powder on special occasions. But too many would be Ava Gardners and Lana Turners make the mistake of plastering the stuff on. These are some of their grooming faults, according to Miss Mann:

LIPS ... Few teen-agers know how to use a lipstick properly. They smear on gross affection of the mouth copied from a magazine photograph, and expect to look glamorous. Their own natural lipline is much prettier perhaps than the movie stars'. If they could but realize it.

EYEBROWS ... They are mad for eyebrow tweezers to achieve some unusual shaping of the eyebrows. The danger is that they destroy their own pretty natural eyebrow line, which should be left alone until shaped by an expert at a later date.

MAKEUP ... Too much makeup is the biggest fault. Heavy foundations and stage-type makeup not only destroy the magic of pretty lips but might ruin the skin. A light powder and a pale shade of lipstick are all a teen-ager should have on her dressing table.

HAIR ... They adore hair done in a voluptuous, tangled, over curled mass that falls across an eye or trails the shoulders, a la some movie cover girl heroine. Young girls should have healthy hair. It can be attractively shaped by a good haircut. A permanent wave is necessary for a girl in the middle teens, says Miss Mann. But if she insists on longer hair, the curled-under page boy is the neat answer.

CLEANLINESS ... There is never enough emphasis on skin, body and hair cleanliness during the teens. This is the age of skin blemishes requiring three-times-a-day cleansings with soap and water, when the hair must be shampooed at least once a week, maybe when dandruff treatments might be necessary.

Deodorant should be used twice a day and foot powder is essential during this gymnasium-age when feet are likely to perspire excessively.

Cologne, softer and lighter than toilet water or perfume, should be used rather than heavier scents. FINGERNAILS ... They should be cleaned with a brush every day. Trick nail shapes, such as little points in the middle of the nail, should be avoided. These are unattractive and cause nail breakage. Nails should be rounded to the shape of the finger, natural clear polish may be used. Lightly clear colors may be worn later on, but not exotic costume shades.

Rub nail cream or cuticle cream around the base of the nail, but do not cut the cuticle. Push the cuticle back with a soft cloth after washing the hands. If little hang-nails appear at the corners of the nail, these may be gently snipped off.

TOENAILS ... A pedicure is important to keep the nails pretty and to avoid wear and tear on holedry brush toenails with a nail brush as they are likely to get yellowish in color from being locked in shoes so much.

The important point to remember is the teens, says Miss Mann, is that "if you make the best of your looks you may look prettier than the personalities you are mimicking."

So keep that in mind, girls: A carbon copy of the original is just a stand-in for the real thing. In 1884, Milwaukee's baseball team was a member of the Union Association. The club was known as the "Onions."

Jo Nell Hewitt and Carl Holmes Wed In Pretty Home Ceremony

A double-ring ceremony in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Joel Hewitt at Whitharral Sunday, August 2, united in marriage Miss Jo Nell Hewitt and Carl Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Y. C. Holmes of Littlefield.

Earl Allen of Littlefield read the ceremony before an improvised altar flanked on either side by baskets of pink gladioli.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Miss Trudie McGee of Littlefield, who accompanied Miss Greene Allen as she sang "I Miss Shirley Hewitt attended her sister as maid of honor. Her dress and hat were similar to the bride's. She carried a bouquet of white mums.

Kenneth Cunningham of Plainview served as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth centered with an arrangement of pink roses. The crystal punch bowl dominated one end with three-tiered wedding cake at the other.

Mrs. Kenneth Cunningham of Plainview served the cake with Miss Martha Nell Decker of Levelland pouring punch.

The bride, a 1951 graduate of Whitharral High School, has been

W. R. (Robert) Taylor Elected Superintendent

W. R. (Robert) Taylor, superintendent of the Hobbs Independent School District at Rotan, has been named superintendent of the Anton Public School system, it has been announced.

Taylor replaces Jim Bridges, who has resigned to enter private business.

A holder of the bachelor of arts and master of education degrees, Taylor has more than 16 years of experience in public school teaching and administration.

He is married and has two children, a son, 4 1/2 and a daughter, 1 1/2.

With Taylor's new appointment, an announcement also was made of existing vacancies for a high school principal, a high school commercial teacher and two intermediate grade teachers.

Those interested should contact and make application to Supt. Taylor.

Both high school and college girls agree this year to look right, jeans should have a fly front, plenty of copper rivets, front and back pockets and—most important—they must fit tightly through the waist and hips and have slim, tapered, western-type legs.
