The Greater Of Two National Dangers

Senator Morse of Oregon is a recognized authority on the U. S. Constitution and its application, and we would feel hesitant to cross swords with him on a question of constitutional law. In the field of newspaper reporting and comment, however, we believe that our competence is at least equal to that of Senator Morse and we have no reluctance in challenging his views on the performance of the American press in the steel seizure case.

The Oregon senator believes that if President Truman did not have constitutional or statutory power to seize the steel industry he ought to have it. He therefore has introduced a bill to give that authority to the President in regard to essential defense industries. In comment at a Senate labor subcommittee hearing on that bill, Senator Morse described as "one of the saddest failures of American journalism" its handling of the issue raised by the steel seizure. Specifically, he charged that the newspapers in general ignored the seriousness of the situation confronting the nation when the President seized the mills and concentrated instead on the "political overtones."

It may be that the newspapers, in their comment, did not dwell upon the serious and disastrous effect of a complete shutdown of steel production. That surely was unnecessary. It has been done time and again, until there scarcely could be anyone in the country who is not aware of the dependence of the defense effort and the national economy upon the continued, uninterrupted production of steel. The newspapers concentrated instead upon the new and vital issue of unlimited executive powers which seemed to many to hold a greater threat to the country and its system of government, and to traditional American rights and freedoms, than would be posed by a strike in steel.

Between the two dangers facing the country, it was the startling exercise of extraordinary presidential powers not traceable to any source in the Constitution or law which seemed the greater. To our mind it remains the greater issue—a fundamental issue and not a mere "political overture."

Rather than with Senator Morse the newspapers stood with Federal Judge Pine, who, in declaring the steel seizure illegal, said that even the "awful results" of a steel strike would be preferable to a recognition of unlimited and unrestrained executive power which would "undermine public confidence in the very edifice of government as it is known under the Constitution."

Diseases Prevented . . .

In the past, medicine and public health have concerned themselves largely with the health and disease problems of youth and middle age, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. We have neglected our aged population and have waited upon the devastations of time before extending aid to the old.

Our population each year includes an increasing number and percentage of older people. In 1950 in the United States, it is estimated that there are 11,000,000 persons over sixty-five years of age, as compared to 3,000,000 in 1900. In absolute numbers, aged persons among us have almost quadrupled in the last fifty years, whereas the proportion of elderly persons to the remainder of the population has merely doubled.

Dr. Cox stated that preventive medicine, private medical care, and social service have assisted in extending the life span. As encouraging as this fact may be, there is an accompanying tribulation: the aged are subject to the chronic diseases which, because of destroyed tissue structure, are especially weakened. Heart disease, cancer, diabetes, and other long-term illnesses resist the physician's most skillful attack and are notably disabling and lethal.

To insure health and peace of mind to our old people, preventive and curative medicine and social service can contribute techniques of prevention and care. These techniques should properly include the early discovery of beginning disease processes through periodic examinations that begin in early life and continue for one's remaining years. By such means many cases of chronic disease, with all their agony and sure fatality, might either be prevented or, through the substitution of different living regimens, be rendered tolerable.

Pastor Of First Methodist Church Amherst Resigns: Wife Party Honoree

Virgean Fields Is Bride Of Don Craig In New Mexico Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony performed in the home of the officiating pastor, at Clovis, New Mexico, Mrs. Virgean Fields became the bride of Don Craig, of Clarks, Nebraska, Saturday, May 17. Rev. Vergil Hunton, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Clovis officiated.

Mrs. Craig is a graduate of Littlefield High school and is a member of the class of '48. She attended Lippert's Business college in Plainview, and for the past two years has attended West Texas State College at Canyon, where she majored in physical education. She was active in athletics in high school, and was majorette in the West Texas Buffalo band.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Craig of Clarks, Nebraska and graduated from Clarks High school, attended West Texas State and majored in music education, and is a trumpeter in the college dance band, "The Collegians." He is a junior and is a member of Kappa Kappa Psi.

The couple are at home at 2100 Seventh Avenue, Canyon.

Rev. Elmer Crabtree, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Amherst for the past four years, is retiring from the ministry and he and his wife are moving to Slaton, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Crabtree was honoree at a gift tea at the home of Mrs. George Harmon last Tuesday afternoon.

The tea table was laid with a cutwork linen cloth, uniquely decorated with a miniature church representing the First Methodist Church at Amherst. Connecting with the church, was a miniature road leading from the church to the new home in Slaton. Other decorations featured an arrangement of pink roses and mock orange blossoms, flanked by green candles.

The large array of lovely gifts were on display in the bedroom and included a mahogany drum table and lamp from the 28 hostesses.

Between 60 and 70 guests registered as they entered, including Mrs. Crabtree's daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Elmer Crabtree of Loveland, Mrs. Carl C. Wilson, also of Loveland and Mrs. Lonnie Collinsworth of Lubbock.

than ever before that fashion is the major weapon to be used in conquering competition. Easter sales forewarned that customers are drawing purse strings a shade tighter. This trend was observed by manufacturers who have gone all out to give merchants something new to present, with closely priced values. Fashion then becomes the deciding factor in the eyes of the customer. Fashion thrives on change and will not be standardized. The question as old as retailing is which fashion will be a good investment for the merchant, and which will cost him money because of an impulsive decision in favor of a silhouette that didn't strike the fancy of enough customers. The question looms bigger than ever for fall 1952, because this is a vintage year when the seven new fibers discovered since nylon have been spun into miracle blends. Furthermore, the threat that the American woman isn't going to buy unless she is offered something new enough to be genuinely exciting, has placed more pressure on the imagination of creative talent."

Mrs. J. C. Yates of Austin spent the weekend visiting in the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Blackwell.

TEEN TALK

Hope chests are becoming one of the favored presents of the younger set. What's more, the girls are as set on filling 'em up as Grandma was. And they'll even save on soda pop and pretzels to do it.

Every day letters from girls who send a chest ask such questions as: "What kind of guest towels should I buy?" "Supposing I don't marry for two or three years—will my sheets still be good?" "Is sterling silver a good buy for a young couple?" "Should I have all my lines initialed the same?" "Ask any teenager what she plans to do after she is graduated from high school (or college) and almost invariably the answer will be "Get married!"

Coming on the heels of the hue and cry about shortcomings of the present generation, this new yen or domesticity offers an interesting twist—and common sense to boot. As one 17-year-old girl put it: "What is the sense of going out with Richard, Charlie and Tommy, without a thought as to the future? We've seen my sisters flit away their good time with boys without a thought as to whether they are the type they'd like to marry. Me? I'm only going out with boys who would make suitable husbands—considerate, kind, ambitious and sensible."

Quite a mouthful, kids, and other young girls might profit by giving a fleeting thought to their own future. Lots of sub-debs have learned lessons by observing mistakes of their elders. They abhor low cut evening gowns, off-color stories, smoking, drinking and hotrod cars—all things which intrigued older sister. They do not feel impelled to engage in distasteful recreation in order to charm a boy. So unlike the last generation they are less likely to develop bad habits.

As one young girl points out: "If I must act like a jerk to attempt a jerk, why bother? Nothing from nothing leaves nothing."

One parent observes that the current crop of young adults would make granny look like a wicked woman by comparison. They like to cook, make their own clothes, read newspaper editorials, go to concerts and symphonies, are critical of bad movies and plays and interested in making the most of their education.

And now the hope chest adds to the intrigue. In a recent magazine poll (Scholastic) 22 per cent of the girls polled desired a chest as a graduation present, close on the heels of traditional favorites such as watches, luggage and clothes.

If you haven't planned your cedar-lined chest, don't be out of step.

One group of girls offers a good suggestion to make the entire idea more interesting. The girls formed a Hope Chest Club—an organization solely to the idea of promoting their hope chests. They have a part to give each other interesting items for their cache on birthdays, Christmas, graduation and other special occasions. And they talk it up to each other's families. As one girl says:

With a box of handkerchiefs or stockings as a gift, we give such things as washcloths, dress napkins, dish cloths, dish towels, guest towels. Sometimes we buy pillow cases or guest towels and embroider the edges or initial them. These items cost less, usually, than ordinary presents and make a wonderful hit with the gal who gets them."

But let's hope that the chest at the foot of the bed isn't acquired so early it will feed the moths or make the girl desperate in her mantrappings. There is nothing that will send a man scurrying home to mother faster than that orange-blossom stare from a girl he hardly knows. On the other hand, boys admire a girl who admits she wants to get married and who acts like she is preparing for it, eventually. So long as he doesn't expect you are trying to nab him, he'll think it is a good idea.

Whether you own a hope chest or not, a good thing to remember, now that the romantic season is upon us, is to wait until the boy pops the question before you shop for your wedding veil.

KARL LOVELADY ANNOUNCES FOR REPRESENTATIVE FROM 96th LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT

I take this means of officially announcing for the office of State Representative, from the 96th Legislative District of Texas, comprising Lamb, Bailey, Castro, and Deaf Smith Counties.

In asking the people of this district to elect me to this office, it is with a full realization that the people of this district should have the best representation possible from the person they send to Austin. With this in mind I would like to review my background for you so that you as the voter may arrive at whether I am qualified to serve you.

I am married and have one daughter 11 months of age. Am engaged in the practice of law at Muleshoe in Bailey County. Have been living in the district for three years and before that was assistant city attorney at Lubbock, Texas. Before coming to West Texas, I represented the 21st Senatorial District in the State Senate for four years and before that was County Judge of Bosque County for four years.

While a member of the State Senate I was Chairman of the Committee on Education, and worked for the betterment of our school system. I also worked for more aid for Old Age Assistance, and more money for rural roads, and a betterment of our State Institutions.

While County Judge of Bosque County, I served as Secretary-Treasurer of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas, and was also a member of the National Association of County Officials.

I have always worked for soil conservation and will continue to do so if elected by you to the Legislature. This includes the conservation of our water supply; but believe that we should retain control on the local level.

Have never been in favor of high taxes and do not propose to change at this time, and believe that through economy all of our state needs can be met, and would not favor any additional taxes.

I trust that you will consider my qualifications for the job, and I invite any voter of the district to look into my past legislative record to see if I didn't vote for the best interest of the people.

I am not a man with a great deal of money, and have to work every day to support myself and family, and if I am unable to see you personally, before the election, I trust that you will consider this announcement a personal invitation for your support and influence. I assure you, however, that if you see your way clear to elect me that I will do my best to represent the will of the majority of the people in the district, and will not be negligent in my duty to you.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

Walter Macken, actor, actor-manager, dramatist and novelist, is the author of another story, "The Dogman," the second of his to be printed in this country. When his first one published here, "Rain on the Wind," appeared here last year, was a Literary Guild selection. He came over at the same time to work on Broadway. Born in 1915 in Galway, Ireland, he began his stage career at 17, and had his first piece, a review, published when he was 21. He and Mrs. Macken and their two sons now live in the county of his birth. Writing a book is "the least part," he says, and "thinking a book the hardest part." But research in Ireland, he adds, "mainly means talk."

Mrs. and Mrs. Edwin Thixton and daughter Karen spent Memorial Day at Buffalo Lake at Umbarger.

SUPPORTERS—Supporters of General Eisenhower wave as they stage a demonstration in the lobby of the Baker Hotel in Mineral Wells, preliminary to the Republican State Convention to select delegates to the national party convention in Chicago. The State Republican Executive Committee voted to seat pro-Taft delegations and the Eisenhower people threatened to walk-out of the convention and hold a convention of their own. Such action would mean rival delegations from Texas at the Republican national convention. —AP Wirephoto al Democrats held their "rump" meeting. The Loyalists, backers of the national administration who want to send a pledged delegation to the national meeting at Chicago, bolted from the actual

Parkview Baptist Church News

Last Monday night at the Parkview Baptist Church, Rev. Carlos Gruber, former Latvian Baptist pastor, spoke to the Parkview Brotherhood.

Rev. Gruber has pastored one of the few churches Russia has left behind the Iron Curtain for a short while before coming to America. He says those churches were left by Communism, with limited private property for propaganda reasons.

Rev. Gruber played several familiar hymns on his violin, accompanied by Mrs. Ed Packwood, and sang, "My Country 'Tis Of Thee," in his native Latvian tongue and also in Portuguese. The congregation joined him in singing in English.

The topic of his speech was "The Satanic Threat to the World Through Communism." He told of the tactics of the party methods as he witnessed them behind the Iron Curtain and as he knows of them here in America. When he first came to America he was on the Communist Party black list for liquidation. Mr. Gruber has secret contacts with some Baptists in Latvia and Russia and said that several years ago he reported close to 3,000,000 Baptists behind the Iron Curtain. Now he knows for sure that there are over 5,000,000. Under persecutions there he knows that Christianity is spreading rapidly.

He told of incidents of baptismal services being held in dark early morning hours. One group of men, women and children were all disposed of when caught by police. In spite of this constant threat, Mr. Gruber says that he knows they are continuing baptismal services every time the secret churches have converts. He says that even before he left his country they had turned many of the churches into dance halls, beer joints and the-ters, upon governmental seizure of property.

"The only way to counteract Communism is not through the bombs, education, or even a war," says Rev. Gruber. He said he is personally for re-armament, and every phase of education, "but if you drop atom bombs on the Kremlin, you haven't destroyed the fanatical urge of the Communist Ideology in the hearts of millions of disillusioned followers." He said, "The conversion of men and women and children to Christ is the only thing that completely stops and counteracts Communism and its rapid growth. Rev. Gruber urged Christians to be more concerned and live more consecrated, praying faithfully for our country. He said that America is in grave danger because, "Stalin knows he cannot be safe in enslaving half the world. He knows he must enslave all the world." Even while Russia and Germany were signing a pact before World War II, Stalin was training young agents to infiltrate into America sometime in the future. We Latvians knew all this and tried to warn America. We told the American government at the close of the war of the millions of Baltic sea and Russian enslaved in Siberian slave labor camps. The U.S. Government denied it. Our President has admitted there was 15,000,000 people there. Let Latvians know there are at least 20,000,000 people in those camps. We know their average life is two years under starvation diets and cruel treatment. Pictures of atrocities are secretly hidden to be presented to a world court someday of things our enslaved people know are worse than done to be Nazism just a few years ago."

SEEING IS BELIEVING—Ten-year-old Weeta Sue Holland hugs a brand new calf on her daddy's farm near Belton—but she can't do the job every well because of the new-born's weight. Central Texas ranchers had a hard time believing that a calf could weigh as much at birth—115 pounds. Farmer Ellis White Holland, who has been in the cattle business since he was given a calf at the age of six, says he never heard of a heavyweight like that before. Average calves weigh 45 or 50 pounds at birth, Holland says. —AP Photo the western section of the council, will be in charge of the rifle range and archery range and will be assisted by Eddie Wilson of Lubbock. Ray Howard, district executive of Central Plains District, will be commissary director. A. G. Finney, better known as "Jabbo," again will be the head chef, for his fourth year. The waterfront activities will be under the direction of Bob Harton. He will be assisted by Jack Vaughn of Lubbock and Sidney Tintin of Ralls.

The program at camp this year will be on a patrol basis. Each patrol of scouts will have the opportunity to choose activities while in camp. The program includes swimming, life saving, rifle range, archery, pioneering, bird study, nature lore, a complete handicraft program, and this year for the first time special training courses will be run for the scoutmaster each week.

During the past year improvements in the camp consist of a new dining hall, a new health lodge and 100,000 gallon water storage tank. The sanitary system has been improved with the addition of several new showers and toilet buildings.

Each Friday at 8:30 p.m. there will be a big Indian dance program and all parents and friends of scouting are invited to attend.

This year for the first time through the co-operation of all of the churches in the 20-county area there will be a full time Protestant chaplain in camp. This new project is sponsored by Lubbock Ministers Association and is further evidence of the co-operation between churches and scouting.

TEXAS REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

TAFT TO THE HILT—The Republican Convention in Mineral Wells looked like this before the Eisenhower backers—few in number—there walked out to form a rump session with other I Like Ikers. The convention opened after an all night credentials committee dominated by Taft supporters refused to recognize contested Eisenhower delegations. Ike backers threw the matter to the convention which turned the bolt resulted. can be seen in the

Hammons Family Reunion To Be Held In Lubbock

Approximately 40 are expected to attend the annual Hammons family reunion to be held Sunday, in Mackenzie State Park at Lubbock.

Those who arrived this weekend for the affair, and are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pryor Hammons here, include his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ruggles of Phoenix, Arizona, nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fletcher and two children, June and Nancy of King City, California and Mr. Hammons' sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wangaman of Cushing, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Della Smith of Floydada.

Faithful Worker's Sunday School Class Entertain Husbands

Approximately 35 attended the covered dish supper and program at the First Baptist church Thursday evening, when members of the Faithful Worker's Sunday School class entertained their husbands. Lois Class members and associate members.

The supper was served in the dining room of the educational building. Tables were decorated with roses and honeysuckle.

Ernest Hock gave the invocation. Mrs. A. B. Brown, teacher of the class introduced the guest speaker, Fred Sahhar of Plainview, who spoke on this native county, Palestine. Mrs. Doc Wright sang "The Holy City."

Dent Named

At the Republican state convention at Mineral Wells, A. C. Chesher of Littlefield, and L. J. Swanson of Spade were the two accredited representatives from Lamb county.

And here again, the delegates split, with one faction supporting Taft, while the other chanted "We Like Ike." The result again, was two conventions. And according to reports, the two Lamb county delegates were not in complete accord, with Chesher going along with the "regular organization" or Taft supporters, while Swanson, is openly in favor of General Eisenhower.

Swan has return from Mineral Wells Wednesday evening. Swanson stated that in his opinion "the rump convention which he attended at Mineral Wells was conducted in fairness to both the Taft and Eisenhower forces, and in a fair and impartial manner, especially as regards the issue of minority rule."

The local delegation was not included in the list of delegates and alternates selected for the Republican national convention. A. E. Quest of Lubbock and G. Poole of Plainview were named delegates to the national convention.

The naming of a Lubbock man, O. B. Ratliff of Lubbock as delegate to the Democratic national convention, and of Judge Dent as alternate, points to a growing recognition of the South Plains area, and its population increase in recent years. It is also a personal tribute to Judge Dent, who earned state-wide recognition as recent head of county judges and commissioners organization and his personal efforts in support of laws, proposed and passed covering the highly important underground water resources of West Texas.

Lesson For Churches Of Christ Scientists Sunday June First

Mankind gains complete freedom from disease and unhappiness through the realization that God is everpresent. This is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon titled "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alms Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 1. The Golden Text promises: "When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him" (Isaiah 59:19).

"The constant availability of healing truth is further expalined in this verse from the Bible: "Behold I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and be with me" (Rev. 3:20).

The following correlative citation will be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "As God Himself is good and is Spirit, goodness and spirituality must be immortal. Their opposites, evil and matter, are mortal error, and error has no creator. If goodness and spirituality are real, evil and materiality are unreal and cannot be the outcome of an infinite God, good."
