3 DEAD 1 HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Sudan Fall Festival Big Day Saturday

The sixth annual Sudan Fall Festival got off to a good start Thursday night, when Sudan Hornets romped over the Boys' Ranch Roughriders to a score of 45 to 12, followed by the Sundown public wedding Friday night at six o'clock.

At 12:30 noon, Saturday all early residents of Sudan and surrounding communities were asked to bring a basket lunch and enjoy a picnic at Sudan City Park.

A pioneer parade was scheduled for 3:30 p.m. and awards were to be given.

Sudan Hornets Win Over Boys' Ranch 45-12

To a score of 45 to 12 the powerful Sudan Hornets won over the Boys' Ranch Roughriders in the second game of the season Thursday night, which also marked the opening of the sixth annual Fall Festival at Sudan.

The loss was the first of the season for Boys Ranch which opened the campaign with a 7-7 tie with Kress last week.

The Roughriders scored in the second quarter on an aerial from E. P. Sleeth to Earl Smith good for 64 yards. Bobby Lynch hit Arlis Hogue with a pass that netted 83 yards and another Sudan score.

Sudan scored twice more in the final canto. Lynch and Don Patterson crossed into the end zone for the Hornets. Jimmy Reese made the extra point after the first touchdown.

Three are dead, two men and a woman and a Littlefield man is in critical condition at the Payne-Shotwell Foundation as a result of an automobile collision on Highway 84 about two miles west of Sudan at approximately 7 p.m. Friday.

The crash occurred on a curve just west of a swag and indications point to a side-swipe.

Wayne Martin, son of Walter Martin of Littlefield, is in a critical condition at Payne-Shotwell Foundation. He sustained serious head cuts, chest injuries, a broken arm, a broken ankle and internal injuries.

The Martins are well known through out this territory. Wayne Martin's wife is the former Marjorie Hilburn.

Leonard Martin came to this section less than a year ago from Chillicothe. He leaves two sons, residents of Wichita Falls; Hoyt, who is a student at East Texas State College at Commerce, and Choice, who is employed in Wichita Falls.

The identification of the two reported to be from Lubbock has not been definitely established but is believed to be correct in view of the fact that it was obtained by the highway patrol from information contained on the persons of the two dead people.

"Snorkels" are not all confined to the Navy... the latest type jeeps capable of travelling under water, have been dubbed "snorkel" jeeps, although they are known technically as a truck, 1/4-ton. The new vehicles, equipped with 700x16 tires ride over dunes just like a passenger car and then, with intake and exhaust extensions, waterproofing under the hood, and other major improvements, can take the water like a duck.

The man with an Army appetite need not worry. Food budgets for the coming year total $603,000,000 according to the Defense Department... and that "ain't" hay."

JUDGE E. A. BILLS IS CHIEF SPEAKER FOR OCCASION

Dinner Served By Members of Home Ec Class

More than 200 attended the 33rd annual stockholders meeting of Littlefield National Farm Loan Association Thursday night in the new school cafeteria.

District Judge E. A. Bills, Littlefield, was the principal speaker for the occasion and was introduced by C. O. Stone, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Judge Bills told some of the history of the Federal Land Bank, and quoting from Daniel Webster, he said "farmers are the founders of civilization." He mentioned that farmers in this part of the country had advanced rapidly in irrigation, and soil conservation in the past few years.

Ray Hulse gave a brief report on the Federal Land Bank Convention he attended in Houston.

Harry Brantley, president of the board, presided during the business session, with Mr. Stone acting as master of ceremonies for the program.

E. C. Hardman of Spade was re-elected a member of the board for a three year period. Other officers include president, Mr. Brantley, M. T. McKinnon, vice-president, and Bill Hulse, and Ray Hulse, directors. C. O. Stone, secretary and treasurer and Mrs. Dale Maxwell, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Joe Hutchinson, school superintendent, lead in a quiz program, with questions pertaining to the Federal Land Bank, being asked the members. Substantial gifts were awarded to those who answered the questions.

The fried chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served by members of the home-making department of the schools.

Guests who were present, who are not members of the association included Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hilburn, Mr. and Mrs. Leldon Phillips, Mrs. Edith Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carl, Mr. and Mrs. David Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woody, Dr. and Mrs. Ira E. Woods, Joe Hutchinson, and Mrs. C. O. Stone. Several children of the "borrowers" were recognized.

son, Aubrey J. Boone of Waterloo, Nebraska.

Services were held at the Halfway Baptist church, with Rev. L. W. Hardcastle officiating. Burial was in Plainview cemetery.

Mr. Boone was a retired farmer and had lived in Halfway over 30 years. He had been in ill health for quite some time.

Survivors include his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Hugh Goodlett, Plainview and Mrs. Windwehen, and the son and two brother, George T. Boone, Odessa, Mo., and M. A. Boone, Warrenburg, Mo.

to allow the Knights to adopt the grandchild. Mrs. Knight said that it seemed like a miracle to have little Doretha with them. "She can't speak a word of English, and hasn't really taken a liking to me yet, but is very fond of her grandpa and her aunt, Mrs. Jean Bundick, who also lives with us."

You And Your Congress

This session of Congress has produced a phenomenon which is becoming a matter of grave concern to a number of those members of Congress who are most familiar with it.

It is military spending beyond any limits ever previously conceived of by Congress for a period in which the country was not engaged in total war. Coupled with it is the realization that while most of this defense spending is unavoidable, some of it could be eliminated through more sincere Defense Department attempts at economy.

Congress for years has realized that our military establishment deserves no medals for economy. Now, that realization is taking on frightening aspects among those members of Congress who are concerned with future U.S. economic strength, because defense spending has reached alarming proportions.

The Senate shortly will debate a Defense Department appropriation that will end up somewhere between the $56 billion approved by the House and $60 billion favored by a number of Senators who urge more money for air power than originally was requested.

That will be the largest peace-time defense appropriations bill in U.S. history—by many billions of dollars.

It does not include about $6 billion more for foreign military aid, nor nearly $6 billion for construction of military installations—both of which have received House-Senate approval.

Thus, when Congress adjourns this Fall, it will have authorized about $70 billion for defense and most of that will have been spent or obligated when the current fiscal year ends next June 30.

When the nearly $6 billion military construction bill was being discussed in the Senate the other day, Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee said the Army, Navy and Air Force originally had requested a total of $12 billion for this construction. An independent firm of engineers was called in to help screen-down that total. Russell conceded under questioning, however, that the Army, Navy and Air Force each was still maintaining its own medical supply depot, even though they use similar medical supplies. That, despite the passage of the National Security Act, which unified the armed forces, in 1947.

Russell was pleased to be able to report that the Defense Department and Budget Bureau were studying the possibilities of consolidating these medical supply depots. He said that "the integration of the various activities of the three armed services has not come up to the expectations of those of us who had sponsored the unification of the armed services."

"I hope the effort will not be limited to medical depots alone, but will be extended all along the line where the three services perform similar functions. It could result in great savings."

That was preceded by worried comment from Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.), who became a member of the Armed Services Committee only last January—just in time to get a close-up of the new record peace-time military spending.

"If this program is continued according to the present plan," he said, "it will seriously impair, if not break down, our economy as we know it. I wish more of us could hear the facts and therefore gain a realization of what this military program amounts to as a burden on our economy which we shall have to carry in the years to come."

"I think it is the most serious question now before the country, aside from the question of survival itself, with which, of course, it is tied up. . . . Congress is the only agency which has the power to do anything about it. . . . I think we ought to be setting our sails to meet the challenge to our economic system which is involved in this huge military program. . . . It is up to us to span the gap between the necessities of the occasion and the necessity of maintaining a sound economic system."

Red Raiders Prepare for Opening Game with Texas State Sept. 22

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech's new coach, De Witt Weaver, is pleased with the hustle shown by his Red Raider candidates preparing for their opening game with West Texas State here Sept. 22.

On the other hand, Weaver and other members of Tech's revamped staff wish they had more experienced hands to send up against Frank Kimbrough's defending Border Conference champions.

Tech numbers only 17 returning lettermen and three returning squadmen. Last year's frosh, and this fall's freshmen—eligible under a wartime ruling—will carry the biggest burden before the season is completed.

Tech's captain, Jerrell Price of Brownfield, is one of the few Raider candidates to have his starting spot cinched. Tech coaches, including Wade Walker, AllAmerica tackle for Oklahoma University, are convinced that the former all-stater is as good a tackle as there is in the nation. Five national magazines have carried his picture and a sixth publication ranked him fifth in college football.

Junior Arterburn of Ranger is slated to carry the biggest signal calling chore, but a freshman, Hale Center's Jerry Johnson, has shown that he'll be doing his share of split-T quarterbacking.

For Kimbrough, Canyon's Tom Airhart is the outstanding back among his 26 returning lettermen. Center Bob Kelley of Bovina is seeking a repeat as all-Border Conference.

Trees in Texas Dying From 'Live Disease, A&M Head States

From central Texas and many counties indicate trees are dying from "live disease," Dr. G. M. Watkins, Texas A&M College of pathology and plant pathology says the cause of the disease is yet unknown but that it is continuing.

The disease in which the trees appear to be dying is known as "live disease." It is a new disease, and its cause is yet unknown but that it is continuing.

Dr. Watkins says that live oak trees should be watched for symptoms of the disease, and should they appear, his recommendation is to prune and prune severely. He cautions against confusing conditions brought on by the present drought and suggests that you contact your local county agent or someone one who is familiar with the disease before starting the pruning job.

Deltapine Gives Highest Yield In Recent Tests

An average yield of 313 pounds of lint per acre was obtained from Deltapine (TPSA), followed by 288 pounds from Paymaster 54 and 286 pounds from Stoneville (TPSA).

Other varieties in the dryland tests, in order of average yields, were Stormproof No. 1, C.A. 89A (storm resistant), Northern Star, Stormmaster (storm resistant), Hi-Bred, Macha Early (storm resistant), Early Foster, C.A. 122 (storm resistant), Western Prolific, Rogers' Texacala, Floyd's Mebane 8G, Rowden 41B (TPSA) and Lockett 140.

Deltapine (TPSA) also produced the highest average yield in the

Seventy-five Percent of Turkeys Marketed in Texas Were Grade A Quality

Seventy-five percent of the breeder turkeys marketed in Texas during the spring of 1950 were Grade A in quality, according to G. J. Mountney, research worker in poultry marketing with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Mountney, E. D. Parnell, professor of poultry husbandry, and R. B. Halpin, associate professor of agricultural economics, made a study of 40,719 breeder turkeys marketed in five Texas processing plants. Of this number, only eight percent of the carcasses graded were toms.

Seventeen percent of the turkey carcasses graded B, seven percent were Grade C, and five-tenths percent were rejects. Male carcasses were generally of low quality, with only 54 percent qualifying as Grade A.

Tears were the greatest single cause for low quality breeder turkeys. The greatest incidence occurred among hens, even though most producers reported using saddles. Mountney said, "While the incidence of tears can be reduced, it is doubtful if it will be possible to eliminate all tears from breeder flocks."

Other causes of low grade in carcasses, in order of importance, were bruises, blue skin pigment, pinfeathers and poor fleshing and finish.

More low quality carcasses from bruises occur in fall marketed than in spring marketed turkeys. Low quality carcasses from poor fleshing and finish are also more frequent among the fall marketed birds.

Since processors use high water temperatures, 135 to 140 degrees F., for loosening feathers, pinfeathers are not a very important reason for low quality in dressed turkey carcasses.

The average farm price received for No. 1 Texas breeder toms in this study during the 1951 season was 32.4 cents a pound. An average price of 36.9 cents a pound was received for the No. 1 Texas breeder hens. The No. 1 grade usually includes the A and B birds in the U.S. grades.

The results of this study are given in Progress Report 1391, available from the publications office, College Station, Texas.

Because of the weather conditions, cotton is maturing prematurely and harvesting is progressing rapidly and will be completed earlier than normal. Cotton farmers are urged to take advantage of the situation and practice one of the most effective of all control methods against the boll weevil and pink boll worm—early stalk destruction.

Sulfur found in Texas and Louisiana deposits is 99 percent pure.

Conditions Favorable for Early Cotton Stalk Destruction, States Specialist

Irrigated variety tests, with 557 pounds of lint per acre for the four-year period. C.A. 89A, Paymaster 54, Hi-Bred, Stoneville (TPSA) and Stormproof No. 1 all produced yields of over 500 pounds of lint per acre.

Other varieties in the irrigated tests, in order of average yields, were C.A. 122, Stormmaster, Early Foster, Macha Early, Lockett 140, Northern Star, Western Prolific, Rogers' Texacala, Floyd's Mebane 8G and Rowden 41B (TPSA).

These results are given in Progress Report 1381, which is available from the publications office, College Station, Texas.

This report also gives detailed information on the 1950 irrigated and dryland variety tests at Lubbock—including number of bolls per pound, percent of crop open at first harvest, percent of lint to snapped cotton and stalk length.

The dry, hot weather that has prevailed over much of Texas during the past several weeks has dropped yields and caused cotton to open prematurely and earlier than normal in most areas. This condition on the hand, points out A. C. Gunter, extension entomologist of Texas A&M College, gives cotton farmers an opportunity to practice one of the most effective of all control methods against boll weevils and pink bollworms—early stalk destruction.

Gunter points out other advantages that go with community and county-wide cotton stalk destruction programs: First, the added organic matter helps condition the soil and will increase its water holding capacity. Second, the early destruction aids in controlling insects, especially the boll weevil and pink bollworm. And third, as a direct result of improved soil and fewer insects cotton yields and profits are increased.

To be effective, Gunter says, the program must be carried out on a community or county-wide basis or better still on an area basis. Right now moisture conditions are not favorable for plowing and this may prove to be a handicap but stalks should be cut and made ready for plowing when the rains do come. A shredder type stalk cutter is best but the heavy roller type cutters which cut the stalks into small pieces also do a good job. Removing the wings from the middlebuster will aid in making the plowing job easier if the ground is too hard and dry for normal plowing, says Gunter.

He points out also that there is still plenty of time to plant a winter legume crop and suggests that this be done to further increase the yields of crops that will be planted next year.

FARMING AND BASEBALL MIX

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—A barn dance atmosphere existed as part of the pregame festivities here when the home team faced Modesto. A member of each team competed in a cow milking contest as the highlight of "County Fair Night." A live pig was auctioned and a $5 bill frozen in 100 pounds of ice was given away. As a finale the players square-danced on the field.

There's still plenty of time to plant winter legume crops. Proper fertilization and seed inoculation are two mighty important items to consider. A soil test or analysis will show what fertilizers are needed.

Armed Services

(Continued from Page 1) in requirements for medical officers. If the number applying for reserve commission in the armed forces becomes insufficient to fill requirements, it will be necessary to make up the shortage by induction.

The Army is redoubling its efforts to secure women medical specialists and has reduced tours of duty to 12 months as an extra inducement . . . also the Army's need for 3,000 more nurses will not be cut, even if the Korean conflict ends, as the expansion of the armed forces will continue under present congressional authority.

Uniformed service personnel may be admitted free to sports events, shows and any other places where federal tax is charged, after October 1, a new law signed by President Truman provides. The new law not only is expected to save servicemen the 20 percent tax when admission is free, but by reducing red tape and setting an example, to encourage more enterprising to admit uniformed persons free.

Sound recording tape is becoming the handyman of the Army. The tape recorder has made it possible for camp buglers to sleep as late as fellow GIs. Instead of a "live" bugle call, a tape recording is used.

It was off with the shoes and plenty of glory for the soldier with the biggest tootsies at the Pusan (Korea) American Red Cross Club the other night. The honored guest at this week's "Man of the Week" contest was the soldier with the biggest feet. Winner was Lance Cpl. Kenneth G. Abbott, Kettleburg, Suffolk, England of the RASC. The 6-foot 4-inch Britisher sports 12½ inch feet. "It's the first time I've been honored for my feet," Abbott observed. "In England they consider you a monstrosity. But these Americans are rather strange people, you know—they give you a crown, a prize and cheers." The prize—a pair of bedroom slippers (large size).

A new deadline has been set for men that have had their preinduction physical to volunteer for the branch of service of their choice. November 30 is the new date set. This makes the fourth time extensions have been made for the men in this category.

Only four men each day can be accepted for enlistment in the Air Force during the month of September from the Amarillo main recruiting station. There are 12 recruiting stations within the Amarillo main recruiting station area, of which the Littlefield station is one. COME IN AND SEE ME, BOYS.

Several From Littlefield To Attend Crop Meeting in Lubbock, October 16

Those from here who will attend a CROP meeting to be held at Lubbock Hotel Tuesday, October 16th, will include Rev. H. A. Heckman, Herman Synapachp, Albert Lorenz, Rev. Carl Schulte, Herman Birkelbach, and Walter Schroeder.

Several from here attended a CROP meeting held last Tuesday at Lubbock, when a quota of 300 bales of South Plains cotton for the Christian Rural Overseas program was set.

As many bales as possible will be collected in time for dedication with a ship load of supplies on the Texas Friendship Food and Fiber ship Nov. 30 at Houston.

In addition to the cotton 10 cars of grain will be sought on the South Plains.

Farmers, ministers and others attending the meeting heard Rev. Everett W. Thompson, Methodist missionary to Japan who is in this country on furlough, describe conditions in Japan and use of the CROP shipments. CROP is sponsored by Lutheran World Relief, Church World Fellowship and Catholic Rural Life. It is the cooperative effort of about 35 Protestant denominations, Catholics and Jews, said Walter O. Parr from Fort Worth regional supervisor who presided at the luncheon and meeting. Its aims are to feed hungry persons; to promote close cooperation of church people, and to make charity the work of individuals and churches rather than of the government, Parr said.

It was explained at the meeting that CROP shipments go to various countries. The U.S. government pays for transportation. The ship load to be dedicated in Houston Nov. 30 will go to Korea, Japan, India and "other places where needed," said Parr.
