WAS LIKE it's time for my movie review: The wife saw "Tammy Tell Me How to Succeed in a Business Without Really Trying" and we found it very enlightening.

From Your Chamber Office

By Gene Garrison

The Board of Directors met Tuesday morning to elect Kenneth Ware as President, Ray Wicker as Vice-President, and W. W. Wicker as Treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce for the year 1962.

Congratulations are in order, as the current President, Kenneth Ware, pointed out, these are not honorary positions. These men, as well as the Directors, committee chairmen and committee workers for the Chamber of Commerce spend considerable time working on projects for the entire community. To be quite frank, the work of these men do, helps everyone in the community, including their competitors, as much as they help themselves. However, these men will become active in the work of the Chamber, and we are convinced that we can add a better community and a better business climate for everyone of us.

It should be noted that the directors elect, Ray Keel, Jim Mangum, Otis Bennett, Jim Crump will not be inducted until January 1st.

Outgoing directors, Tom Hill, C. O. Griffin, Clarence Rip Elms are the outgoing directors through December 31st of this year. However, the by-laws state that 30 days after the election of directors, the officers of the coming year will be elected. The reason for this is to allow the officers to begin to lay the groundwork for their program of activities and to see the committee personnel to the job.

The potential strength of the Chamber of Commerce rests mittee participation gives every member and every chairman not only an opportunity to grow in the performance of his own assignment, but also an opportunity to observe the capabilities of other members at work. A well-organized committee has a potential for action. If there is anything Littlefield needs, it's intelligent, well-coordinated action.

Since no five or six or ten or fifteen or twenty men are going to be able to spend the time that is necessary to meet all our needs, we must rely on men and women who are willing to become thinking, planning, and working members of committees. If our Chamber is to grow this is the avenue it must take.

tionable if this process will continue for long.

Needless to say, the new law will be difficult to enforce. Without the injunction angle, it would probably not be worth the paper on which it was written.

Section one of the law enumerates the principal items forbidden for sale on Sundays: Any person, on both the two consecutive days of Saturday and Sunday who sells or offers for sale or shall compel, force or oblige his employees to sell any clothing; clothing accessories; wearing apparel; footwear; headgear; home, business, office or outdoor furniture; kitchenware; kitchen utensils; china; home appliances; stoves; refrigerators, air conditioners, electric fans, radios, television sets, washing machines, driers, cameras, hardware, tools, excluding non-power driven hand tools; jewelry, precious or semiprecious stones, silverware, watches, clocks, luggage, motor vehicles, musical instruments, recordings, toys, excluding items customarily sold as novelties and souvenirs, mattresses, bed coverings, household linens, floor coverings, lamps, draperies, blinds, curtains, mirrors, lawn mowers or cloth piece goods shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Each separate sale shall constitute a separate offense.

For the first offense the punishment shall be by fine of not more than $100. If it is shown upon trial of a case involving violation that the defendant has once been before convicted of the same offense, he shall be punished by imprisonment for not exceeding six months or by a fine of not more than $200 or both.

Lions Add Members During Campaign

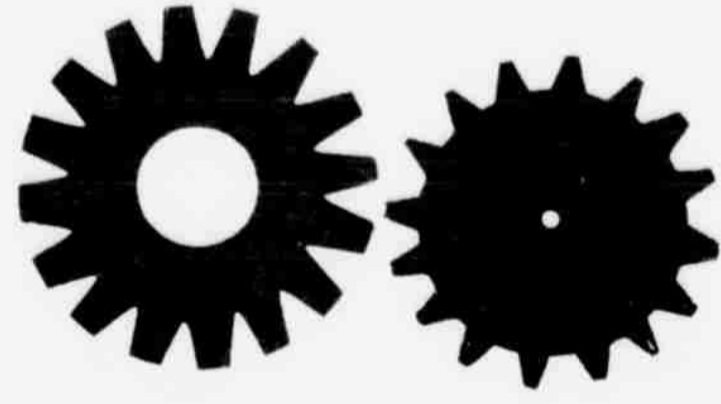

Possibly Littlefield's largest civic club membership drive has just been completed by the Lions Club with 18 new members added in the month of October.

The Lions worked through a competitive team plan of team A against team B... team A won 12 to 6.

Honors go to Lions Chick Conway who personally brought in ten of the new members. The losing team must now entertain the winning team and their wives to a fine dinner in the near future, according to membership drive chairman Horace Mitchell.

Individual plaques and recognition will be given Lions who worked hard in the drive, October is traditionally membership month in the club.

Partnership Wanted!

"It takes men with the right combination of traits to make a partnership work. A smooth intermeshing of personal background, education, ability, initiative and aspirations is essential. Maybe that's why there are so few successful lasting partnerships.

"There is one partnership, however, that requires only your sense of responsibility and leadership to be successful—that's the partnership you have with your local Chamber of Commerce.

"As a partner with your Chamber of Commerce you can speak up at any time about community issues which affect your business, your schools, your local government, and your taxes. You can make your views known to your representatives and public servants and you can do all this with no danger of dissolving your partnership.

"As long as you want it to last, it will last. It's your responsibility as a business man and a civic partner to join and support your local Chamber of Commerce, to work through it to make your community a better place in which to live and work."

 This is the good family type show . . . of a riverboat gal who was working her way through college. Although she wasn't quite "hep", she would up in love with her speech teacher (John Gavin).
 I heartily recommend this movie to everyone.

I HOPE to have time to make the Panhandle Press convention in Quanah, Texas, this Saturday for several reasons. The most important one being a tour while there of a silo missile site, similar to the ones which will probably be located in Lamb County.

There's an interesting article about these new missile bases in this month's Reader's Digest. I've read it pretty thoroughly and I think I'll understand the Quanah tour better having read it.

These missile silos (called silos because they're about

Amherst Man Wins Contest

Only the tie breaker game separated the top three winners in this week's football contest. A. A. Blair of Amherst Earl Byerley of Canyon and Lamar Kelley of Amherst all missed just four games but Blair was the closest to the Littlefield - Dumas score and won first place.
 Blair has finished in the top three the past three weeks, but this is his first time to win the contest. He picked Dumas over Littlefield by a 29 - 6 score with the actual score being 33 - 0. He missed the New Mexico win over Air Force, Monana over Colorado State, Oregon over Washington, and Texas A&M over Baylor.
 A check for $7.50 will be sent to Blair for his winning entry.
 In second place with a 30-14 guess of the tie breaker was Byerley. His misses were the Whitharral win over Meadow, Hereford over Phillips and the New Mexico - Air Force and Montana - Colorado games. A check for $5 will be sent to him.

Four Arrested For Burglary

Four teenage youths were arrested in connection with the burglary of the Olton Bakery by County Deputy V. L. Smith, Sr. The burglary took place Sunday, October 22.
 Following their arrest the boys readily admitted their part in the burglary, which netted them pies, cigarettes and a small amount of cash.
 Grady Banks Hayes, 39-year-old Petersburg resident, was arrested and charged with DWI by Sudan Deputy Homer McLaury. Hayes pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $150 plus costs, and sentenced to three days in jail.
 In other action by the County Sheriff's office over the weekend, one person was arrested for drunk and carrying a concealed weapon, one for no driver's license, and one for drunk.

Kelley guessed Dumas would win by 19 - 7 and came in third and won $2.50 for his efforts.
 Another contest was in Sunday's County Wide News. You can't win unless you enter. Just fill out the contest page and send or bring it to the office of the Littlefield Press.

W. D. T. Storey, retired Littlefield Postmaster, was elected president of the Texas National Association of Retired Civil Employees last week during the organization's state convention. The meeting was held at Fort Worth.

City Reports Auto Wreck

Littlefield City Police investigated an accident at 8 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of Westside and West 3rd.
 An auto driven by Charles Douglas Armour of Littlefield was going east on West 3rd, as a car, driven by Jose Decedero Galindo of Littlefield, was going north on Westside. The Galindo vehicle hit the Armour car in the right rear fender and door. Damage was estimated at $190 to the Armour auto and $90 to the Galindo car.
 Over the weekend the City Police arrested ten persons for drunk in public, four for drunk in control of a motor vehicle, one for drunk in car, one for drunk and one for assault on a female.

Farm Facts

The number of horses and mules on farms decreased from 11,626,000 in 1945 to 3,089,000 in 1960, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
 While horses and mules have been disappearing from the farms, the number of tractors has been increasing at an impressive pace. In fact, tractor numbers more than doubled from 1945 to 1960. There were 2,354,000 tractors on farms in 1945 as compared with 4,770,000 in 1960.
 Since about three acres of land are needed to feed one mule, a drop of more than 8,000,000 in the horse and mule population released 24,000,000 acres for other purposes.
 Mules, however, are stubborn critters and are making a mild comeback in some areas. Wade Tribble, who operates the last mule barn in Memphis, sold 100 to farmers during the first eight months of 1960 as compared with a total of 80 for the year before.
 A Birmingham dealer says he can sell all he can get - as many as 5,000 head a year. In 1957, he wasn't selling enough to meet expenses.
 Tribble says farmers with small acreages of cotton and tobacco consider mule power the most economical.

The number of horses and mules on farms is less than 1/3 that of 1945.

Forty-four million dollars is a lot of money I suppose . . . a thousand dollars looks pretty good to me . . . just wonder how we can afford so many of those little expense items scattered all over the U. S.

Khrushchev continues to dominate the world news, but though it may be, he is most remarkable in his news-worthy feats. Sunday in Mongolia he had a "huge" bomb exploded, supposedly the 50 megaton blast he has been threatening the world with. A change in the winds might just throw the "fall out" back on Russia instead of other parts of the world.

He also proved that it isn't even safe to be dead in Russia. He has ordered the body of Stalin removed from Red Square and laid elsewhere. This is typical of the K regime, of not even letting the dead rest in peace. Chances are there will be even more movement of the dead and even Lenin may have to go from Red Square. This would be alright if we could be promised that Mr. K. would be laid to rest there TODAY.

Sam Rayburn, long-time speaker of the House of Representatives in Washington, was taken home this week... taken home to die. He has been in a Dallas hospital for some time now and his family said he "wanted to end his days among those friends and neighbors who for so long have given me a love and loyalty unsurpassed in any annals."

Doctors at the hospital said it would just be a matter of time before the incurable cancer would end the life of this great political figure. Regardless of your political beliefs or your opinion of Rayburn, he held a high position and held it well. He was well thought of as being a really powerful man in our national government for many years. Texas and the nation will lose when Rayburn dies.

There are a lot of unsung heroes across our nation. None of them seek any recognition for the jobs they are doing in their hometowns and usually shy away from publicity. Littlefield has its share of these people who do outstanding jobs for the community and never seek any reward, not even a little publicity.

One of these hometown folks is Jim Mangum, who has more offices and positions than just about anyone, and somehow manages to do them all very well. It was my pleasure to attend the South Plains Council meeting Saturday night and see Jim in action. He and Cub Pack 606 had charge of the entire Blue and Gold Banquet for the Cub Scout leaders from a 20-county area. The banquet was staged as an example for the leaders to plan their own banquets later, and personally I think it was a tremendous success.

As usual Jim didn't seek any recognition for his tireless efforts and seeks none now. In fact, he gave every bit of the credit for the success of the banquet to the Den Mothers, another group who works endlessly in helping the success of the Cub Scout program. I am sure that the Den Mothers were responsible in great part for the success of the affair, but I also know that these leaders were in a meeting from 7 p.m. until the banquet.

This is only one phase in which Jim is active. He is also active in the Chamber of Commerce and is a director of this organization, the Community Center Board of which he is the president, one of the equalization boards, a member of the Methodist Church Board, and many others. Jim is one of those individuals who doesn't know how or when to say "NO". I think one of the highest tributes paid to him was a statement made by one of his friends. "I never tell Jim 'no', because if he can do all the things he does the least I can do is to help him when he asks for help." This same man said, "I'll never understand how Jim does all he does and still finds time to do more."

Personally, I am proud to know Jim and if you add up the assets of Littlefield, you would certainly have to add his name. It might be well for all of us to be as active for our community as Jim is, because there is no telling how much good could be done if we did. My hat is off to Jim Mangum.

Implicit in the recent report of President Gordon Patterson of Yale & Towne to the New York Society of Security Analysts in a warning that American industry approaches a crossroads from which there can be no turning back.

Most significant in his detailed report are two unavoidably related facts to which all America must face up - or else.

In the company's international operations, involving plants in several foreign countries, Mr. Patterson reported "a better relationship of productivity - to wage - cost than we have experienced in the U.S. in recent years."

Contrasted with this situation is the company's strike-bound plant in Philadelphia where the Machinists Union has rejected a 2 1/2% an hour package increase rather than drop "certain production - restricting practices."

In plain language, U.S. workers, enjoying the world's highest wages and most extensive employee benefits, are hamstringing management by their insistence on various forms of featherbedding while at the same time, foreign workers are constantly out-producing them and at far lower wage scales.

These conditions are important because increasing numbers of American firms have been setting up factories abroad in recent years, and the experience of Yale & Towne is common to all.

Thus, the ultimate question is: "How long will the U.S. remain an industrial nation?" If there is such a thing as "labor statesmanship" now is the time for it to come forth. American labor leaders should lead their members back to the path of sanity by removing obstructions to productivity and hence increasing their job security.

With their overseas productive capacity expanding rapidly, American firms may be driven to import components and products from other nations. It is quite conceivable that our own industry could be reduced to mere assembly of foreign-made components.

And if and when such a day arrives, the American economy will swiftly shrink to a point where its needs will be no great burden on the productivity of the rest of the world that will have passed us by.

Clichés of Socialism

"The more complex the society, the more government control we need."

ARGUED a college president at a recent seminar: "Your free market, private property, limited government theories were all right under the simple conditions of a century or more ago, but surely they are unworkable in today's complex economy. The more complex the society, the greater is the need for governmental control; that seems axiomatic."

It is important to expose this oft-heard, plausible, and influential fallacy because it leads directly and logically to socialistic planning. This is how a member of the seminar team answered the college president.

"Let us take the simplest possible situation—just you and I. Next, let us assume that I am as wise as any president of the United States who has held office during your lifetime. With these qualifications in mind, do you honestly think I would be competent to coercively control what you shall invent, discover, or create, what the hours of your labor shall be, what wage you shall receive, what and with whom you shall associate and exchange? Is not my incompetence demonstrably apparent in this simplest of all societies?"

"Now, let us shift from the simple situation to a more complex society—to all the people in this room. What would you think of my competence to coercively control their creative actions? Or, let us contemplate a really complex situation—the 177,000,000 people of this nation. If I were to suggest that I should take over the management of their lives and their billions of exchanges, you would think me the victim of hallucinations. Is it not obvious that the more complex an economy, the more certainly will governmental control of productive effort exert a retarding influence? Obviously, the more complex our economy, the more we should rely on the miraculous, self-adapting processes of men acting freely. No mind of man nor any combination of minds can even envision, let alone intelligently control, the countless human energy exchanges in a simple society, to say nothing of a complex one."

It is unlikely that the college president will raise that question again.

While exposing fallacies can be likened to beating out brush fires endlessly, the exercise is nonetheless self-improving as well as useful—in the sense that rear guard actions are useful. Further, one's ability to expose fallacies—a negative tactic—appears to be a necessary preface to influentially accenting the positive. Unless a person can demonstrate competence at exploding socialistic error, he is not likely to gain wide audiences for his views about the wonders wrought by men who are free.

Of all the errors heard about the "bargaining tables," or in classrooms, there is not one that cannot be simply explained away. We only need to put our minds to it. FEE seeks to help those who would expose fallacies and accent the merits of freedom. The more who outdo us in rendering this kind of help, the better.

State Soil Testing Laboratory Expanded

The increasing interest in soil testing, as the foundation of soil improving programs, has resulted in the expansion of the State Laboratory, located at the Southwest Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in Uvalde. The laboratory, which was founded in 1911, has been expanded to include a new building, which was dedicated on October 26. It will continue to be operated by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station with Extension Soil Chemist W. F. Bennett in charge.

In commenting on the new facility, Extension Director John E. Hutchison said, "The new laboratory will enable us to provide better service to the agriculturists of the state. The new quarters will provide additional space and increase the capacity of the laboratory."

Action... or Inertia?

When you hear about a new and badly needed community project, what do you do? Go into action... or stay on the sidelines?

Even though the project deserves your support, the temptation to sit on the sidelines may be strong—simply because you're reluctant to add anything to a busy schedule. You're watching sales, checking operations, making plans, and well... just "minding the store."

A well-organized business man usually finds a place for an important community assignment in his schedule... or he wouldn't be well organized. There are many areas in every community... schools, highways, churches, playgrounds, etc... that require the direct action, leadership and support of responsible businessmen like you... men who are the backbone of our community.

If you've been on the sidelines, why don't you take a more active part in your community's growth? You'll find it very rewarding. It's easy to do too. Just call your local Chamber of Commerce and tell them what you'd like to do.

The new laboratory, located on the second floor of the College's Old Creamery Building, was put into operation immediately after the move on October 26. It will continue to be operated by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station with Extension Soil Chemist W. F. Bennett in charge.

In commenting on the new facility, Extension Director John E. Hutchison said, "The new laboratory will enable us to provide better service to the agriculturists of the state. The new quarters will provide additional space and increase the capacity of the laboratory."

Plan Feed Handling In Advance

Every farm feeding and feed processing installations has its own problems, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer, Feed handling systems, he adds, must usually be engineered for a specific operation.

Whether old facilities are used in the installation or a completely new system put in, certain basic decisions must be made. These are based on present needs and should allow also for future expansion.

Facts must be determined on quantity of material to be handled (based on feed requirements of the type and number of livestock on the farm), the kind of materials being fed, location of present or proposed facilities, type and amount of equipment needed to give the required capacity, and the desired product to be fed.

Also to be considered are the storage of required products for later processing; conveying equipment sizes, layout, types; and preparation of a flow diagram to show the simplest and most efficient ways of doing the job.

Some materials handling principles will help guide the planning, says Allen. Move materials as little as possible, let livestock help as much as it is feasible, provide for continuous flow and eliminate unnecessary operations. Mechanize those operations that can be done so efficiently.

Professional assistance is available to Texas farmers from agricultural engineers with power suppliers and from consulting engineers. County agents have access to the resources of the agricultural engineers at Texas A&M College who can offer help in the design and layout of feed processing and handling systems. They have available B-972, "Farm Feed Processing - Equipment Planning and Design" that will provide design assistance for planning such systems.

"It pays to get all of the information and assistance you can before making large investments in new equipment for this purpose," says Allen.

Railroad Commission again set November production of oil at eight days -- the seventh straight month of 22 or 23-day shutdowns.

Philosopher Wouldn't Want To Live In Alaska On Account Of Poor Aim Of Missile Scientists

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tells where he wouldn't like to live.

Dear editor:

I have long since given up arguing with people over whether it's better to live in the country or in town, on account of it dawned on me that's one argument a man in the country ought to lose, because the more people there are in town, the less there are in the country, and that's a pretty good arrangement.

At any rate, I got to thinking about places to live the other day, and while this Johnson grass farm out here suits me, I'm pretty well dug in and I don't know of anything that could pry me loose outside of a tax evasion notice from the sheriff, I suppose there are other people who feel the same way about their location.

Then I got to thinking about places I wouldn't want to live, and heading the list is Alaska.

Now I haven't got anything against Alaska, if she wanted in the Union to help us share the debt burden that's her lookout, but you couldn't pay me enough to live there, and I'll tell you why, it's not because of the climate. Even if they changed the temperature up there and made it pleasant to live the year-round, I still wouldn't be interested.

The reason I wouldn't be interested is on account of the scientific ability of mankind. I don't trust it yet. I mean I don't trust its aim, and when I say aim I mean its shooting aim. That is, say Russia and the United States get into a push-button war, as most civilized people figure they will. All right, which is the shortest route for guided-missiles between the secret laughing pads of each country? Right over Alaska, of course. And how good is the aim of these missile scientists? Well, it ain't good enough to make Alaska a safe place to be.

Two out of three successful and accurate launchings of a missile is considered a pretty good batting average these days, which means a third of the missiles from both countries could fall in the lap of Alaska, just by accident.

A good portion of Alaska may be like this Johnson grass farm—it's not worth wasting a bomb on—but if I lived in Alaska, I'd either move or push hard for more accuracy among the missile scientists.

Man is going to have to improve his aim a lot before it's safe to start a missile war.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Plant Disease Short Course Dates Set

The Plant Disease Short Course, which is designed to meet the needs of agricultural chemical company representatives and others, will be held November 20 - 21 in Texas A&M's Memorial Student Center. In making the announcement Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, said one of the features of the Short Course will be a special exhibit of plant diseases.

More emphasis will be placed on results of recent plant disease research than formerly, but a large part of the course will still be devoted to the identification of diseases in the field, said Smith.

The identification and control of vegetable and cotton diseases will be thoroughly discussed. Other sessions will cover diseases of peanuts, guar, sesame, oats, wheat, rice, shade trees, shrubs, flowers and lawns. Nematodes and their control will also receive greater emphasis than in the past. Smith said there will also be discussions on collecting, packaging, and shipping plant disease specimens, and on quarantine regulations and their use in controlling diseases.

The Texas A & M Department of Plant Sciences, headed by Dr. D. W. Rosberg, coordinates the sponsorship of the Short Course. Additional information about the Short Course can be obtained from this department or from local county agents.

TEXAS FARM ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex., - Aware of the fact that more money soon may be available for trunk-highway construction, 15 delegations of civil leaders descended on Austin.

They asked the Texas Highway Commission for a record number of dollars for highway work. Specifically, $171,056,000.

Houston and Harris County, presenting a plan of freeway development designed to carry Houston's traffic in 1980, asked for approval of an $89,400,000 program. That was the big one. But all of the 14 other projects were equally as pressing to the homefolks, even though less money was involved.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer feels that 27,000 of the 28,000 miles in the trunk - highway system are inadequate. He says that less attention has been paid to these "town-to-city" roads during the years in which urban freeways and farm to market roads have taken top priority.

Gov. Price Daniel brought the issue of highway financing to a head when he vetoed the $15,000,000 Colson - Brisson farm - to - market road appropriation. Legislators had appropriated it for the year starting next September 1.

Governor Daniel will ask the Legislature, at its special session this winter, to cut down farm-to-market road construction and step up the money available for trunk - highway work.

Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association has endorsed the change.

Governor Daniel will go in person to the Texas Farm Bureau convention in Galveston November 12 - 15 to try to get that powerful rural group to accept the plan.

BUSINESS COMING BACK - A steady growth in Texas retail trade in 1961 is reported by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

Despite a Gulf Coast slowdown in September, due to Hurricane Carla, retail sales for the first nine months of 1961 pulled to within one per cent of the sales for the same period of 1960. First six months of 1961 were three per cent behind 1960.

September sales were off, largely because people bought heavily in August to avoid the sales tax. But the nine-month figures indicate to the Bureau's economists that things are looking better.

A big gain in construction in 1961 has helped the business picture. Not even Carla's September blow could head off a new nine-month record in the construction field in Texas. The U. T. Bureau found $1,047,625,000 in construction authorized the first nine months of 1961, five per cent above 1960's first three quarters.

Recovery of the home building business was the major factor. Third quarter saw $169,127,000 worth of one-family homes authorized. This was 23 per cent above the same quarter of 1960. Apartment construction is nearly double the rate of the previous year.

MORE TAXES? - James W. McGrew, research director of the Texas Research League, told the group's annual meeting that additional state spending of about $50,000,000 a year is in sight for the two years starting September 1, 1963.

New sales tax will provide part of the added money, McGrew predicted. Other taxes will just about produce the extra money. But it will require some economizing to make ends meet in the 1963 session of the Legislature, in spite of the huge new tax.

Growth of Texas is the reason for the added spending. Growth means more children, more schools, more patients in mental hospitals, more college students, more cars, and more highways to hold them.

More people mean more governmental spending to serve them.

Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey, main speaker at the League's luncheon, said Texans should be commended for their willingness to accept the added tax burdens needed to finance education and other essential services.

Ramsay provided some starting figures. While he was lieutenant governor, presiding over the Texas Senate, state spending increased nearly two and a half times, from $520,000,000 to $1,200,000,000 a year from 1950 to 1961.

In defense of the Legislature he said it wasn't "free spending." Spending was necessary for essential programs like education, highways, welfare, hospitals and the like, Ramsey explained.

Rep. Jesse M. Osborn of Muleshoe has some tax cutting in mind. In a letter to Governor Daniel he proposed that the State ad valorem tax be abolished, and the sales tax revenue be used to make up the gap.

So far, sales tax revenues have only begun to trickle in to the State Treasury. So the state's main checking account is still $56,850,569 in the red. If good business conditions continue and income is up, it will still be more than a year before the deficit is erased.

CATTLE RULES - New rules invoked by the Texas Animal Health Commission are designed to protect areas where brucellosis control programs are under way.

Under the new brucellosis control law, 78 counties, mainly in West and South Texas, have set up programs for testing herds. Purpose is to see if they have brucellosis, and to dispose of cows having the disease.

So the commission has notified truckers, livestock auctions, and commission merchants that movements of cows into the certified control areas is restricted. They must have been tested and shown free of brucellosis before they can be moved from an uncertified county into a certified county.

Then the new owner must keep them quarantined. He must have them retested in 30 to 60 days before he can put them with his herd.

Restrictions do not apply to steers, spayed heifers, calves under eight months of age, and calves under 30 months which have been officially vaccinated against brucellosis.

TEXAS MONUMENT - A delegation of Texans headed by Governor Daniel will journey to Vicksburg, Mississippi, on November 4, to dedicate a $100,000 monument to 35 Texans who played heroic roles in the defense of Vicksburg.

Ceremony will be part of the Texas Civil War Centennial observance.

Monument was authorized by the voters of Texas in the 1953 constitutional amendment which switched revenue from the Confederate pension tax to a state building program.

Movement to build such a monument was started by Confederate veterans and was carried on for more than 50 years by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

TB CAMPAIGN - Story of how one county has just about whipped tuberculosis was told at the Texas Tuberculosis Association meeting.

Bell County set up a chest clinic in 1954. Persons who had contacts with known TB patients were asked to come in for free check-ups. But if they did not come, warrants were issued to bring them in.

After 3,162 clinic visits, the program has located 64 new cases of TB over the years. But it has worked so well at checking spread of the disease that last year only one case was found when tuberculin tests were given extensively.

Dr. Howard Smith, head of the TB division of the State Health Department, said it took a lot of hard work by Bell County people, but it has paid off.

LOAN STUDY - A committee of the Texas Legislative Council went to work with its staff to bring a study on loans and lenders up to date.

Acting Lieut. Gov. Bruce Reagan named Rep. Criss Cold of Houston to head the committee. He was author of the constitutional amendment which gave the Legislature power to allow interests rates to exceed 10 per cent.

Other members of the study committee are Sen. Neville Colson of Navasota, Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock, Rep. Joe Cannon of Mexia, and Rep. Murray Watson of Mart.

Governor Daniel asked for the study updating so he can have it ready as the number one topic when he calls the Legislature into special session.

New Finishing Process Improves Wash-Wear Cotton

A new chemical finishing process, devised by USDA Scientists to give cotton improved wash-wear characteristics, is currently under evaluation by the textile finishing industry.

The new process, which uses formaldehyde to bind together cotton's cellulose molecules, appears to impart a finish more durable than many other types of wash-wear finishes now in use.

Fabrics given the finish in pilot-plant tests rated high on the standard wash-wear rating scale. Garments made from the treated fabric can be either line or machine dried.

Although the chemical cost is about the same, the formaldehyde treatment takes longer and requires more equipment than does most of the wash-wear treatments now in use.

There have been many attempts to make use of the advantages offered by formaldehyde, but the reaction of cotton with this chemical is difficult to control. In the earlier trials loss of fabric strength was excessive. In the process, however, fabric strength losses can be kept low enough to allow experimental garments to last as long as those given other types of wash-wear treatment.
