C. H. Messer, Chairman Board of Supervisors of Lamb County Soil Conservation District, has announced that according to Soil Conservation measurements in Lamb County, irrigation check wells showed a slight increase during the past thirty days. The average rise of the water table was one and one-half feet over the previous month. This was due to lack of pumping the past month. The greatest increase was recorded in the northwest corner of Lamb County in the shallow water district. There the water table rose five feet. In most irrigation districts figures show the water table lowers during heavy pumping seasons and then returns during idle seasons.

Spotlight In Sports
by BACON JONES

"HIT 'EM WHERE THEY AIN'T"
Back in 1906 some reporters sat on the bench of the New York Highlanders, now better known as the Yankees, interviewing Wee Willie Keeler on the art of hitting.

One day earlier Keeler had made five hits in a row; two bunts, a drag bunt chased by the pitcher, first and second base men and two fly balls which dropped between shortstop and left field.

When asked what he had to say to the kids of America on how to become a great hitter, Keeler simply replied, "Hit 'em where they ain't." There may never be another hitter just like Keeler . . . he had no power and the outfielders knew it and played in close . . . yet he always batted better than 300.

When Keeler stepped to the plate he usually bunted with third baseman practically under his belt and with first baseman dashing in close on each pitch and the pitcher always set to move to his right or left. Yet Keeler always managed to hit the ball to fall where no one was playing by simply, "HITTING 'EM WHERE THEY AIN'T."

Three Injured In Auto Collision

Three persons were injured, one possibly seriously, in an automobile collision on the Lubbock-Littlefield highway near Amherst about 10:30 p. m. Thursday.

Jeff Woodward Burleson, 19, of Snyder, and Mary Frances Chambless, 18, of 1520 Twenty-fourth, Lubbock, who were riding in a 1943 model automobile were taken to the Amherst Hospital and treated for minor injuries. The driver of the other car, James Mitchell Cummings, identified by hospital attendants as a Levelland negro, was also taken to the hospital for medical attention.

Hospital attendants said Cummings suffered a broken leg and undetermined head injuries, and described his condition as serious.

Miss Chambless was treated for numerous lacerations and bruises about the head and body. Burleson suffered cuts on the head, shoulder and ankle. The hospital said their injuries were not regarded as serious, but that both would be held for observation over night.

Texas Highway patrolmen from Littlefield investigated the accident.

BULL LAKE PHILOSOPHER JOINS WITH BANKER IN HELPING TO HEAD OFF SO-CALLED IMPENDING PANIC

Editor's note: The Bull Lake Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bull Lake must be twisting up his economics, but his letter is published for what its worth.

Dear editor:

It's been too hot to work lately, don't make no difference if my neighbors don't have any themometers and keepon goin, and I was sittin out here in the shade lookin over a copy of the Dallas News I'd picked up off my closest neighbor's tractor seat where he'd put it to keep the seat from getting hot while he went to the house for a drink of water, and read about the general feelin a lot of people have that a depression is comin and while the thought of a depression don't worry me much, can't say I'm much better off under good times than bad, can't quite make ends meet under either system, I've still been givin the matter some thought, and was happy to read in the same paper a statement by the president of the Texas Banker's Association that "declines from wartime production and sales peaks are natural and will not develop into a depression or panic so long as we keep our heads and think clearly.

That's what I been sayin all along, that thinkin is just as important as goin up one row and down another, and I will appreciate you tellin that banker that I am upholdin my part of the load in his efforts to head off a depression. Been doin it for years.

If there's one thing I can do, it's keep my head. Some folks I know are in a turmoil all the time. Ain't over two or three definite times in their entire adult life when things is just right. Rest of the time something and preserve prosperity than just went wrong, liable to tomorrow, it won't rain, rainin too much, etc., and life is a constant stew.

But you can tell that banker things don't bother me, I keep my head, you don't catch me getting up at the bust of dawn and waitin on the turnrow for it to get light enough

COTTON PLANTING SEED NOW AVAILABLE

The NEW Paymaster "54" is now available for the 1949 planting season—ready for farmers who want more profit from Cotton.

Here's why the NEW Paymaster "54" is a money-making Cotton...

- EARLY MATURITY: Of 25 varieties tested recently... "54" was first in percentage of crop harvested in a four-month period. HIGH YIELD: In this same test, "54" was third among all varieties in yield per acre. BETTER STAPLE: "54" ran 15/16" to 1 inch throughout West Texas, assuring a better price. TESTED FOR DRY LAND: "54" has been proved successful for dry land farming as well as for irrigated Plains areas.

Be among those profit-minded farmers who demand a money-making Cotton planting seed—the NEW "54": order your supply of the improved, state-registered "54" NOW.

to start work. A man can't plow fifteen hours a day and do much clear thinkin, and I personally had rather think nd preserve porspetty than work and bring on a depression.

If keepin your head and clear-thinkin will head off a depression, I got the thing headed off in this part of the country.

However, to tell you the truth, I think I know what the real trouble with the country is: (1) too many folks expect a living wage, and (2) ain't enough businesses that can afford to pay it. Outside of this, we're about normal, I guess.

Your faithfully, J. A.

THE BUCKIN' BRONCHO

A Column of Rodeo Facts and Fiction
AS CALLED TO ROLL
By A. KOLUMNIST

did, almost do that very thing. I think the first ice cream cone saw the light of day—or maybe it was White City, great outdoor playground in Chicago—we're not really sure. Anyway, ice cream cones were something new, and a variety, a brilliant idea thought up by a smart individual who realized that a lot of money could be made, a dime at a time, if you were able to gather in enough of them. Of course he couldn't go to a wholesaler and buy ready-made and packaged, a thousand or ten thousand cones. He had to make his own, just as he probably rolled his own (cigarettes) while he made them. So his equipment, not only included a can of ice cream and a dipper, but also a stove and griddle to bake the cone, and a device to make that quick-hardening pancake into a conish, or cone shape. One of the half-dozen or so who knew the "racket", and had the equipment and know how, took a chance and ventured way out west to what was then the world's greatest rodeo, and set up in business. A cowboy, leaning against the grandstand fence, with spurs jingling, watched the preparation of the cones, and decided to try one. It was, on that hot day, just like manna from heaven, and he ordered another, and another. Other cowboys and cowgirls too, quickly heard about the merits of the cone, and decided that you could have a few bucking bronchos, any day, but ice cream cones were something you'd better get while the getting was good—and believe it or not, the rodeo program just stopped, or maybe it didn't start, until the performers or a lot of them, had moved out west—to add a new attraction to the rodeo.

The popularity of the Rodeo, throughout the country, certainly throughout the west and the southwest, has and is growing and increasing by leaps and bounds, and at least for many years to come, seems destined to continue in popularity. Looking backward, not too many years, it is not hard to remember when rodeos were mighty few, and certainly far between. The great Cheyenne Rodeo in the capitol city of the state of Wyoming, was the kingpin of all rodeos, even though its start and origin, was the brainchild largely of a group of smart Union Pacific Railroad officials, which railroad almost exclusively served Cheyenne, who contributed liberally in cash to the financing of the show, known as the Cheyenne Frontier Days (which by the way is still growing and going) and then reaped a harvest of profits by running dozens of special trains in and out of the city, carrying countless thousands of visitors, who paid cash railroad fare. Almost equally great, was the big Pendleton Roundup at Pendleton, Oregon, and maybe it was more than coincidence that a Union Pacific subsidiary, the Oregon Short Line, also served the city of Pendleton. There were also a few others, scattered here and there, of only slightly lesser prominence, all seemingly well patronized. But today, here in Texas and surrounding states, the town or city that doesn't have or stage a rodeo, is the exception rather than the rule, and they're big stations, and for that matter, highways too, and a lot more of stables, watering troughs, hitching racks, and horses. What we're trying to say is that it was a country heavily populated with horses, and of course, mules. It wasn't just at rodeo times, or an exception to see folks coming to town, both in horse drawn wagons, or astride a horse. It was the rule, and few farms that didn't boast of at least a few horses, and many folks living in town, also had shadow of a doubt, Littlefield and all of us, owe a debt of gratitude and a vote of thanks to our fine Jaycee Club for their untiring work in bringing the going to be next week. Beyond the time shows, too, just like our own is rodeo to Littlefield. But peeking behind the scenes, may be we also owe a debt also to cities like Cheyenne and Pendleton, who paved the way, and sired the rodeo.

When this writer came to Littlefield some twenty years ago, more or less, we had a lot less of automobiles, and gas their stable, and oats bin. What does that have to do with the rodeo here next week? Well, maybe more than you might think, unless you're doing some heavy thinking. What happens when suppose, next week, Little's, or Replin's, Penney's, Dunlap's, or any one of the other dry goods stores would decorate a show window with, say, a pair of ladies high shoes, with buttons, an old-fashioned corset, a bustle, and a long dress trailing down to the floor, maybe with hoop. What would happen—well, every woman who passed that window (and a lot of them, too) would stop and look, and wonder and talk about it. And just so, as the sight of a horse or a team pulling a wagon, and a cowboy with jingling spurs, astride a pony, has become a rarity and an exception, and folks pause to look, come to look. Maybe the change in our times, and in our mode of transportation, the still diminishing number of horses and cowboys, is after all, something of the answer to why 8,000, 10,000, 15,000 people will pour through the gates at our rodeo, and pay hard money to do it, to see a bit of horseflesh, and say, a cowboy.

Be Alive On The Fifth

* Hundreds of people are killed every year by accidents during the Fourth of July holiday.

Why are they killed?

It is easy to advance a lot of deeply philosophical reasons. The hurry-up world we live in. The adventurous, take-a-chance American spirit. The animalistic discourtesy of man to man.

But there is no need to do any heavy thinking on the reasons for the holiday death toll. The reasons are quite simple, really.

For one thing, more people are driving automobiles. When more cars are on the road and they are traveling farther, the chances for accident go up proportionately.

Pleasure-bent drivers usually are in a hurry. They want to get somewhere to start having fun, or they are pounding along on the first leg of a summer vacation trip. A lot of people are doing the same thing, and it becomes a sort of race. Driving too fast, passing when the view is obstructed, following other cars too closely—all seem important in the senseless race to save a minute.

Beaches are crowded, too. A lot of occasional swimmers overestimate their skill or their endurance. Children excited by holiday fever elude adult supervision. Amateur boat handlers find that small boats require a practiced hand and prudent conduct.

During this holiday, some parents permit their children to play with fire and explosives that on any other day would bring swift and certain rebuke. Even adults, not satisfied with the machine gun splatter of firecrackers, have been known to rig up lethal concoctions of dynamite.

The tonic of celebration leads to excesses in exercise, eating, exposure to sun.

All of these things contribute to Fourth of July deaths. And it would be simple to prevent such accidents.

Don't take a trip just to be going somewhere. There are many delights near home. Drive slower. Don't become impatient at unimportant delays. Be courteous to other drivers and pedestrians.

Be temperate in your swimming. Keep an alert eye on children. Take your family to a public fireworks display instead of risking tragedy by personal handling of explosives.

These are the simple things that will insure delight in a summer holiday—that will bring you home relaxed and refreshed, that will see your children safely in bed to dream of the day's pleasures. These are the simple things that will make this Fourth of July mean joy instead of tragedy.

Insects reduce State's 1949 Cotton Field

BRYAN, Texas, June 9 (Special)—George G. Chance, chairman of the Texas unit of the National Cotton Council, said today that Texas cotton farmers would have been able to profit an additional $61,368,000 if insects had not reduced the state's 1948-49 cotton yield approximately 7 per cent.

Mr. Chance, in announcing initiation of a campaign by the Cotton Council to reduce damage to cotton by pests during 1949, said last year's losses in Texas amounted to an average of 4.1 cents per pound of lint harvested, and that insects claimed one out of ten bales produced.

"Pests last year kept out of production approximately 359,833 bales of cotton and an estimated 147,000 tons of cottonseed. Based on average prices, this lint would have brought farmers of the state some $50,740,000 and the seed would have meant an additional profit of $10,628,000," the Council spokesman added.

"Recommendations on how best to control cotton pests in Texas already have been issued. This information, which may be obtained from county agents or vocational agriculture workers, tells farmers how to apply potent insecticides which will control effectively such pests as the boll weevil, bollworm, pink bollworm, cotton aphid, fleahopper, thrips and others."

Mr. Chance explained that though the percentage of cotton damaged by insects throughout the Cotton Belt last year was the second lowest since 1924, an estimated 6.6 per cent of the crop, valued at approximately $202,264,000 was destroyed.

He observed further that a mild winter in many Cotton Belt states favored a high survival of cotton pests, and said that the Cotton Council is warning cotton farmers that unless effective insect control measures are taken, damage to this year's crop may run much higher than that incurred in 1948.

Cattle Greatest Source Of Income

Texas farm cash income totaled $88,176,000 in April, rising 25 per cent from March, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported. Cattle was the greatest source of income in April, bringing Texas farmers $33,386,000. Income from milk products totaled $10,298,000; and eggs, $4,724,000.

Heavier marketings of cattle, fruits and vegetables, and livestock products pushed April income ahead of last month in the majority of crop reporting districts. South Texas Plains, Lower Rio Grande Valley, and Edwards Plateau more than doubled their farm income from March to April.

On the other hand, March-to-April declines ranged from 2 per cent in Red Bed Plains to 9 per cent in Northern High Plains.

In comparison with April 1948, farm cash income for April 1949 was down 34 per cent. With the exception of rice, peanuts, poultry and wool, all farm commodities brought Texas farmers less money in April than a year ago.

Farm incomes rose 7 and 17 per cent over April 1949 in Northern High Plains and Coastal Prairies, respectively, but declined sharply in other districts. Decreases ranged from an 18-per cent drop in East Texas Timbered Plains to a 70-per cent fall in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Retail sales in Texas during April were 4 per cent greater than in March, but 3 per cent below April 1948. Since March and April sales were adjusted for seasonal variation, it is possible that the late Easter this year increased April sales somewhat more than usual seasonal increase. The average of the index of retail sales for the first four months of 1949, was 307 compared with 321 for the last quarter of 1948.

The trend of industrial activity in Texas continued downward for the fourth consecutive month, as the Bureau's seasonally adjusted index of industrial power consumption declined 1 per cent from March. The level of this index in April was 6 per cent below the peak reached in December 1948. The number of man-hours worked in a sample of Texas manufacturing establishments declined 2 per cent between the middle of March and the middle of April and was 8 per cent below the level of April 1948. Total employment in manufacturing industries in the State fell 1 per cent in April.

A TRAGEDY
By Mrs. W. A. Feechey
In a California town called San Marino
A happy little tyke who was always gay,
With big pretty dimples and a winsome smile,
'Twas on Friday, in April, Nineteen Forty-nine.
A tragedy occurred, that Oh, my Oh!
Was the very worst and the saddest of its kind
Little Kathy Fiscus, about three they say;
Was going to a party to play for a while.
But the little tyke stumbled and fell.
Her cries were heard deep down in a well;
Her mother came quickly when she heard the cry
And called down to her and heard her faint reply.
Then came a scream as slipping further down,
And the paralyzing fear that Kathy would yet drown.
Workmen quickly gathered, every neighbor and friend,

A new shaft was dug to ninety feet or more,
The well itself nearly reached the earth's core.
Down in the shaft close by the well,
They cleared out a hole into the child's cell.
They could see her arm, and in the dim light
They knew the little figure was wedged tight.
Since water was below they had some hope,
Desperately they worked, with time they had to cope.
Some men were exhausted, others took their place
Earnestly praying the living child to embrace.
As the work continued a huge crowd stood by Each with a prayer, a tear, and a sigh,
But those remaining, except the parents, were seated,
When on Sunday night the rescue was completed.
A sad, weary man with Kathy in his
So anxious to help, some came to descend.

A shaft by the well was sunk down deep,
Emerged from below with the cold, still form.
With their eyes full of tears the people turned away
Saying every old well must be closed this day.
The whole nation wept for a tiny little girl Who suffered extreme fright, and knew her own peril.

And other nations too, even they across the sea
Heard the sad news and sent words of sympathy.
Before a throng of people Kathy was laid to rest,
The broken-hearted parents' throats courage suffered a test;
But the parents and the people
have turned grief away,
For Kathy's with the angels, happy again, and gay.

Just how high is
"HIGH COMPRESSION"

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

WHEN the talk turns to cars and car engines these days, that's a topic you hear much about.

So it's fairly interesting to note that, even back before the war, Buick engines like this one were touring the testing grounds with compressions as high as 10 to 1.

Even later than that this same big Buick power plant has been filling our engineers' notebooks with data on 8 to 1 compression ratios.

What has come out of this? Two or three interesting points.

First of all, that this big Buick Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight already has a compression ratio that gets as much out of present fuels as any engine on the market.

Next, that these ratios can readily be stepped up to fit higher octane gasolines as they become available.

And probably most important of all, that high compression is only one measurement of a good engine.

There's the fundamental matter of engine efficiency—power output per cubic inch of displacement, engineers call it. On that score, Buick stands where it always has—just about tops in its field!

Which means, in very simple words—better go see for yourself.

The fun you get from your car—the pleasure and satisfaction it gives you—are best measured in just one place—behind the wheel.

So we invite you to see your Buick dealer for a firsthand test of Buick. Take it in your own two hands and find out how good it feels, how full of get-up-and-go.

It won't take long to make it pretty clear that the place to get your order in is the place where you get Buick power.

In their expansion program Mr. and Mrs. Anzeline have added new fixtures and equipment, and now have a spacious, well arranged air-conditioned and very inviting food shopping center.

Considerable Refrigeration

The store is equipped with 15 feet of meat refrigeration; a 12 ft. open refrigerated dairy case; and 30 ft. refrigerated case for vegetables and fruits, 18 feet of which are indirectly iced.

A large red sign "The Food Basket", which Mr. Anzeline made himself, has been erected on the awning in the front of the building.

After being closed several days for the placing of merchandise on the shelves of the new addition, and other preparations for opening the new and enlarged store, doors were swung open again Saturday, and large numbers visited the store, and partook of the specials offered.

Formal Opening Saturday

A formal opening, however, is being planned for Saturday next, when many specials will be offered all over the store in appreciation of the splendid business extended Mr. and Mrs. Anzeline since opening the establishment two years ago, and in observance of their expansion program.

Extend invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Anzeline are extending a special invitation to all their friends, and customers, to visit the store Saturday, and take advantage of the special opening prices offered.

These prices are set out in a double page ad elsewhere in this newspaper. The grounds about the building are beautifully landscaped, and located as it is, affords the shopping public abundance of parking space.

Feature Many National Lines

The Food Basket features many national lines, including a complete line of Snow Crop Frozen Foods.

They handle Peyton Packing Company meats exclusively in Littlefield.

In an interview with Mr. Anzeline Friday he stated that they specialize in personal attention, and believe that this has been a big factor in the growth of their business. They state they operate on a cash basis and prices are all on a competitive basis; and that they guarantee quality.

Before coming to Littlefield two years ago, Mr. Anzeline was buyer for Safeway Stores in El Paso 5 1/2 years.

Men Prefer To Wear Cotton Furnishings

Men prefer to wear cotton next to their skin, a nationwide survey just released by the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Agricultural Economics reveals.

Government interviewers polled a cross section of American men representative of more than 50 million consumers. They found that two-thirds of those questioned preferred cotton in men's furnishings, including shirts, year-round underwear, and pajamas.

The male consumers reported that they prefer men's furnishings made of cotton because cotton garments are comfortable to wear, washable and durable, and have an excellent appearance.

There was an overwhelming preference for cotton over synthetic fibers in such items as trousers, summer suits, and robes, the government survey showed. Cotton socks are preferred by more men for year-round use than socks made of wool, rayon, or mixtures of the two.

Cotton Comfort

The comfort of cotton is a primary preference point, according to the bureau report. Cotton's coolness, particularly in summer suits, and extra trousers for summer use, was listed as a chief consideration.

Washes Safely

Durability and ease of washing also make cotton popular, the men pointed out to researchers. The consensus among those choosing cotton was that "it can be washed safely, or more easily, or more satisfactorily than competing fibers."

In making the men's clothing preference survey, the interviewers included every type of household. There was a further breakdown between urban and rural communities. Men 16

Date Announced For Conference On Mechanization

The third annual Cotton Belt mechanization conference will be held at Bennettsville, S. C., August 17-19, years or older were interviewed. The total sampling comprised 2203 men.

Business shirts, summer sport shirts, extra trousers, summer suits, socks (other than work socks), underwear, pajamas, robes, and raincoats were included on the questionnaire.

Ransom E. Aldrich, Michigan City, Miss., chairman of the National Cotton Council's production and marketing committee, announced. "Tooling the South's New Agriculture" will be the theme of the 1949 mechanization meeting, Mr. Aldrich said.

Key leaders from land grant colleges, the farm equipment industry, farm organizations, the USDA, and the cotton industry will attend the conference to discuss ways and means of mechanizing the average farm, the committee chairman stated.

New Suits For Junior Ball Club

Senior Baseball team, sponsored by the American Legion, will be made up in new uniforms this year. The credit going to Manly, owner and manager of Halls company, and Vernon Hofack, owner of the Baseball Com-started like this: Mr. Hofack worried about his wards not having uniforms, decided to take off from his business as one of the owners of Hawk & Hofack, and establish a business establishment. On approaching Mr. Hall about the matter his problem was once. Mr. Hall asked: "Just how would uniforms cost", and on advising the cost for the team of 15 boys would be $175.00, Mr. Hall said: "I'll just buy the uniforms, myself," and wrote out a check for $175.00.

The American Legion and the boys, themselves, are most grateful to Mr. Hall for his generosity. It is, indeed, a very worthy deed, and Littlefield should be proud of such men as the head of the Hall Motor Company for contributing to the sports of this city in such a fine manner.

Mr. Hofack reported to the Leader Saturday that he received word Friday from the W. A. Holt Sporting Goods Company of Waco to the effect that the suits would be shipped immediately.

Lonnie Taylor Family Have Hectic Week Of Death Messages

Last week was a hectic week for the Lonnie Taylor family.

Mrs. Taylor was preparing to attend reburial services Sunday at Oklahoma City, Okla., for her nephew, Capt. "Cotton" Kuykendall, who served in the Air Corps, and was killed over Germany in World War II, when Wednesday night they received a message notifying them of the death by drowning of Yvonne Reynolds, six-year-old twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Reynolds of Sanger, Cal., and a niece of Mr. Taylor. Mr. Taylor left early Thursday morning to attend the funeral.

Mr. Taylor's Cousin Passes

Sunday morning another death message arrived at the Taylor home from Jacksonville, Texas, sent by Mr. Taylor's aunt, Mrs. Eula Peters of Oakland, Calif., notifying them that her daughter, Mrs. Conrad Lamm, (also a cousin of Mr. Taylor) about 35, had passed away suddenly.

Mrs. Lamm leaves a husband and two or three children.

Services for Mrs. Lamm were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Merritt Funeral Home at Jacksonville.

Drowns While Wading in Water

According to Mrs. Taylor little Yvonne Reynolds was wading in water when she was drowned.

Accompanying Mr. Taylor to the Reynolds funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Taylor of Littlefield and Mrs. A. B. Norman of Levelland. Services were held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the Kreiger Funeral Chapel, Sanger, Calif.

Calif. Mrs. Reynolds is a sister of Mr. Taylor.

When interviewed by a Leader reporter, Mrs. Taylor was much upset and nervous from the messages, stating she was unable physically to go to Oklahoma City as planned.

Summing up the funerals, it is noted that the Reynolds funeral was Saturday, reburial of Capt. Kuykendall, and the Lamm burial Monday.

O. S. Shannon Starts Construction Of Second Storage Granary In Sudan

Construction work was started last week in Sudan on a second storage granary designed to hold more than 300,000 bushels of grain. The new buildings are being erected by O. S. Shannon, owner of the Shannon Elevators in Sudan. Mr. Shannon started construction of one of the granaries several weeks ago, which when completed will be 100 feet by 200 feet, and 40 feet high. This second granary will be approximately the same size and the two combined will provide storage space for more than 600,000 bushels.

and other grains by the time combines get into the fields within the next two weeks.

Mr. Shannon also announced that scales contracts had been completed to move the major portion of grain now in his huge elevator, thus providing additional space for the bumper crop expected on the Plains this year.

The Sudan Elevator, operated by Hugh Vincent reports that their elevator will be able to receive a large amount of grain for storage, that every available inch of space is being readied for this year's crop. Mr. Vincent says that he believes ample storage space will be available in Sudan to take care of this area's crops.

Kansas Growers Organize Processing Program

A new milo processing plant in Dodge City, Kans., is expected to open the door to more profits for farmers in that wheat producing area, according to The Wall Street Journal.

"Milo is one of the large family of grain sorghums, used mainly for feed and forage, that includes durra, fetterita, hog millet and kafir," The Journal said.

"It's a reddish yellow grain not quite as large as popcorn and softer than other sorghum grains. Last year, production of all grain sorghum in the U. S. totaled 131,644,000 bushels.

"Dodge City Industrialists, organized by 60 local businessmen who put up $85,000, has recently started operating a pilot plant to process milo, which until now has gone primarily into livestock diets. Essentially, the operation separates the starch from the bran in the milo kernel, such as is done by wheat flour millers and corn processors.

"Probably the most important single product of milo processing is a wax that could be used in floor polishes and carbon paper. It is similar to the carnauba wax now imported from Brazil for this purpose. This wax recovered from the leaves of the carnauba palm tree, sells for $1.50 a pound.

"Researchers report that a 100-pound sack of milo bran provides as much wax as a year's labor on a dozen 40-foot carnauba palms in Brazil.

The starch recovered from milling milo is similar to tapioca, which the U. S. imported at the rate of about 380 million pounds annually before the war and some 100 million pounds last year. Tapioca, like the more common corn starch, is used for such varied products as adhesives for bonding plywood and weaving fabrics for rubber tires, sizing materials for paper and textiles, and alcohol for butadiene to make synthetic rubber.

"The new milo plant, operated by two men, processes 2,000 bushels of the grain sorghum a day. It doesn't actually make starch, tapioca or other end products, but breaks down the milo into usable components.

"The starch grits obtained in the process are sold in the Dodge City area as livestock feed, and growers have been experimenting with them for use in beer making. Most of the bran is still being used experimentally for recovery of the valuable wax.

Extraction Is The Problem
"Agricultural scientists have long recognized that sorghums offer an important source of starch and oil, but extracting them from the whole kernel proved a problem.

POWER COMPANY Manager Injured In Fall

Vernie Wagner, Sudan manager for the Southwestern Public Service Company, was injured in a 20 foot fall from a light pole in Amherst Thursday morning at approximately 11:30 o'clock.

Wagner, who had climbed the pole to change a street light near the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, was presumably knocked loose from the pole by a grounded transformer rack. It is reported that Wagner had not tied his waist belt and it was this that probably saved his life. A veteran of more than 18 years with the Public Service Company, Wagner kicked himself loose when he came in contact with the grounded rack, thus falling to the ground.

Bertram P. Estes, representative of the Frigidaire Company, of Plainview, was one of the first to reach Wagner, and immediately called the Company to report the accident and had Wagner sent to the South Plains Hospital in Amherst. Wagner was later reported to be resting well and suffering only from back injuries and possible broken ribs.

According to several witnesses who rushed to the scene of the accident, Wagner was turned very blue in color. He was unconscious when found but regained consciousness shortly after arriving at the Amherst Hospital.

PRETTY—EFFECTIVE

OMAHA, NEBR.—Armed with new insecticide spray concentrates and guided by the newest control chart, Miss Garcia gets ready for "operational" plant-pest control. Miss Garcia is loading her spray gun with dioxon, her wonder safe insecticide, which is non-toxic to humans or livestock, but uses double-lytic action to kill insects. Dioxon is an entirely new principle in plant-pest control, based on experimental research by one of the nation's leading pharmaceutical laboratories. Copies of the identification chart and spray gun may be obtained free by writing the Farnam company here. The chart classifies insects, tells why they feed on and what plant they attack.

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

"Dog's Best Friend" Helps Owners With Pet Problems

YOU have heard of the dog as "Man's Best Friend."

Now meet the man who rates as the "Dog's Best Friend."

He is Harry Miller, of New York, who as director of the Gaines Dog Research Center devotes his time to helping dog-owners get the most help and joy from their pets.

Clive Howard takes eight pages in Pageant Magazine to tell of Miller and his organization's dog activities.

According to Howard, the Center is "the only organization in the world actively collecting, evaluating and passing along to breeders, veterinarians and owners every known worthwhile fact concerning the health and well-being of dogs" and Miller, "who has long devoted all his energy to broadcasting the facts of better dog care and nutrition," is credited with being in some measure responsible for the fact that dogs today have a longer life span than ever before.

Miller's office at 250 Park Avenue is a veritable "clearing house" for dog data. Each year he and his staff answer thousands of questions on almost every conceivable dog topic, but his greatest service is in answering questions on the care and training of dogs. In this the extensive Center library of dog publications is a great help. In a great many cases, an inquirer's situation is met by the mailing of a dog booklet, of which the Center has a great number on all sorts of dog subjects. Here are some typical questions: What to do about the puppy that whimpers at night? How to keep a dog from getting car sick? Do dogs really have a superior sense of smell? How do you keep a dog from jumping on people or on the furniture when the family is out? And, of course, that perennial "Which dog breed is best?"

Miller believes that the law should require owners, rather than the dog, to be licensed. This would put responsibility where it properly belongs. He also recommends that all dogs be taught certain duties, such as fetching the master's slippers or the daily paper, on the ground that nothing satisfies the dog's ego so much as being useful. He has drawn up a list of what he calls the minimum requirements of "canine courtesy," without which he feels no dog is fit to live in civilized society. They are: 1. Know how to go on a leash. 2. Be well housebroken. 3. Know his name perfectly and to respond to it by command when he is called. 4. "Heel" on command. 5. "Sit" on command. 6. Know the meaning of the word "No."

To encourage youngsters to actually give their dogs this simple basic training, Miller has devised a certificate of merit which the Gaines Dog Research Center will award to any boy or girl who has taught his or her dog these fundamentals and who gets his parent, teacher, minister or Scoutmaster to attest to that fact. In addition to naming the youngster, the certificate also states that the dog in question is now privileged to use the initials "C.C." (for Courteous Canine) after his name.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Don't Fence Yourself In

Every spring, Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts patch up the wall that separates their homes. They walk along talking—on one side, Handy on the other—picking up the fallen stones and setting them back.

Handy says, "You wall-mending is a nice neighborhood custom, but we really don't want that wall. We keep it up just because it happens to be there."

Easy says, "A lot of fences and boundaries are separating people for no good reason. Maybe we'd all be better off if some of them were torn down, instead of kept standing."

From where I sit, Handy said a mouthful. Take the "walls of intolerance" that people build up against each other. I like a temperate glass of beer now and then, you may prefer buttermilk—but that's no reason for me to criticize you, or you, me. Let's live and let live together—making more friends and fewer "walls."

Enjoy dinner at Pastor's Home

Brother Brewster of Amherst taught the regular lesson to a good attendance at the Church of Christ last Sunday morning.

The pastor, Reverend Charles Vanlaningham, who now lives in the community preached a good sermon.

The Baptist pastor was a very surprised man when after the services the whole church congregation politely announced they were to go home with him for dinner. His chagrin lessened somewhat when he was told that each family had brought their own lunch. The tables were soon spread high with food of every description, and delicious, well I can vouch for that myself, for I would have been a cinch for eating the mostest of the bestest. The preacher's comment on the affair was very favorable. He said he wondered why he hadn't had any company before, but was ready for us to come back anytime we were ready.

Go to Portales

Mrs. Lonnie Nienast, and son Phil, are visiting with relatives and friends in Portales, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jacobs, old friends of the Nienast family of Hart Camp, spent some time with them during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Inney, former teachers at the Hart Camp School paid a surprise visit to some of their old friends in Hart Camp, and spent one night with the Nienast family.

Rain falls

Rain is getting to be about as regular as the sandstorms had been in our part of the community. To my knowledge no Hart Camp farmers have received enough hail to do any appreciable damage to cotton and other crops. You might notice that I said, "To my knowledge" no one was hailed out, but that might happen between the time I am writing this and when the paper comes out. Who Knows?

See you next week?
