Lubbock radios announced an even higher 106 degrees reading there Tuesday afternoon. Monday's high reading followed a severe dust storm which lasted several hours Sunday night, which blew in at about 7:30 and continued for several hours. SEED HIGH IN PRICE AND SUPPLY REPORTED SHORT

Farmers Urged To Keep Close Check For Insects

David Eaton, County agent estimated this week that 40,000 acres of planted cotton, some of it up, is being replanted in Lamb county this week, practically all on irrigated farms. He gave as his opinion that only about 2000 acres in the county had escaped serious damage, necessitating replanting from the flooding rains and hail of two weeks ago. With seed now selling at $4.00, Mr. Eaton estimates that planting and replanting is now costing a minimum of $5.00 per acre, or a cash loss of $200,000 in Lamb county due to the rains. He was quick to point out, that the benefits which accrued, far exceeded the loss. Mr. Eaton estimated that there are 2700 tractors now owned in the county and practically everyone of them is working this week. The assistant county agent, Bill Rodgers, gave his estimate even higher. The 1940 census showed 1695 tractors in the county and the recent census figures on the farm equipment has never been released. Considerable county land is still under water, new lakes have formed in low spots on many farms. But the acreage involved is insignificant, in relation to the total acreage. Mr. Eaton admitted that cotton seed is in short supply and should another replanting prove necessary, will be in an acute position for many farmers, both in quality and quantity. His records show a total of 1840 farmers in Lamb county and many of them, though not all, have ample seed on hand. Mr. Eaton terms cotton planted this week as "late planted cotton" and makes some specific recommendations. (Continued on back Page)

City Annual Clean-Up To Get Underway June 4th

City of Littlefield is going to war starting next Monday—war on insect breeding places; war on rat hide-puts; war on spots presenting unsightly ugliness; war on the ravages that recent high winds have made; war, even on the very things that could cause such things as fevers and even the dread polio. It's the start of the annual city clean-up, only this year, the City Sanitary department is taking the lead and making the drive and the clean-up. Starting next Monday morning, extra employees, extra trucks and extra hours will be devoted to the job of cleaning up and continuing until the clean-up is accomplished. But the employees cannot do it all—can hardly do anything unless citizens co-operate. The co-operation requested is the careful screening of all properties, gathering of trash, cans, tree limbs, the emptying of containers that might breed insects. (Continued on back Page)

Cemetery Beautification Clean-Up Is Local Woman's Club Project

A two-week cemetery beautification and clean-up project is underway this week and will continue through the next week, the program a project of Littlefield Garden Department of the Woman's Club. In the two immediately preceding years, they have sponsored and carried out a similar program, with highly pleasing results, but they plan and hope to make this third year campaign, even more impressive, when measured by results, at the cemetery, when the campaign closes. The club committee has discovered that the lone caretaker at the cemetery has more than can be done by one individual, as the cemetery has grown in size in recent years, and that individual lot owners are urged to co-operate, by caring for their own lots, elimination of weeds, which have grown in prolific fashion since the recent rains and if this is done, the caretaker will be able to keep the drives and paths in good condition and do the necessary irrigation of shrubbery. The cemetery and its care and beautification is a civic duty, resting upon each one of us, but more emphatically on lot owners. Wednesday, Memorial Day, saw a large number giving especial care to plots at the cemetery, but everyone is reminded that the beautification is not a one-day, one-week, or one-month assignment. It must be continued to be successful. The Garden Department and its committee should have the support of everyone, in this, one of their most important activities.

Job Openings For Trained Manpower

J. D. Jordan, local manager of Texas Employment Commission, with offices at 104 E. 5th Street, announced Monday that the local office have a number of job openings for qualified job applicants. Some of these are local jobs, some are elsewhere in Texas, others in foreign countries, including Saudi Arabia, Japan, Hawaii, Okinawa, Alaska, Germany, France, Guam, Panama and others. A large number of these openings are with Department of Army and the salary is good, Mr. Jordan said. There is just one "hitch"—the openings are for experienced persons in specialized fields of work. In spite of the fact that war clouds are distorting the thinking of our people, it is still a good idea for the young man or woman of America to receive the best education he or she can obtain in their field of endeavor. "Hitch you wagon to a specific star and pull toward it with all of your might." The local office of Texas Employment Commission have personnel, who would enjoy assisting the young graduates of today in choosing their vocation of life. Mr. Jordan stated. He also added that we have reached a period in history of mankind, that it is insufficient (Continued on Back Page)

Judge Dent Acts In Natural Gas Tax Controversy

Judge Otha F. Dent, president of Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association said Monday that Governor Shivers "does not mention the basic issue," in a letter blaming the judges and commissioners for defeat of a "compromise" tax program. Judge Dent received the governor's letter Monday. He said an answer would be drafted in a meeting of the association board at Austin Tuesday. The letter had been made public earlier at Austin. "The letter simply does not mention the basic issue," he asserted. "The association believes the people of Texas are entitled to Texas natural gas production to a natural gas gathering tax which would be passed on to consumers everywhere. "The association is against any (Continued on Last Page)

Consolidation Of Hart-Camp Spade Schools Defeated

Hart Camp School District residents voted overwhelmingly almost two to one, Saturday, when a special election was held in both Hart Camp and Spade on the proposition to consolidate the two school districts and place the school at Spade. The vote at Hart Camp was 55 against, and 26 for. Spade voters, leaned in the opposite direction and gave substantial majority for the consolidation, but under state law, both communities had to approve before the consolidation could be effected. The matter of consolidation of the two schools, has been a subject of considerable discussion over the years. All past attempts to effect it have failed, just as last Saturday's election failed to win approval in Hart Camp. The matter was voted on three years ago. A few days previous to the election, Hart Camp School board, had voted to send their High School enrollees to the Olton schools during the 1951-52 term on a one-year contract. For the past three years, under a contract, these students have attended the Spade School paying tuition there. The Spade School is about three miles closer to Hart Camp than is Olton, the map showing Olton 10 miles distant—Spade only seven. The petition which resulted in ordering of the election was presented about a month ago. It was generously signed in the Spade community and less generously at Hart Camp, according to general report. Olton School officials are making arrangements to care for the Hart Camp students next year, who usually number about 15. Football enthusiasts there are also highly pleased, as they expect to garner some extra football talent from the Hart Camp enrollees.

Outstanding Wolf Hunter in America Retires From U. S. Service

AP Newsfeatures

MONTICELLO, Ark.—When the law wouldn't let him set out poison 22 years ago for wolves that had been preying on his goat herd, Andy Hay quit farming in South Arkansas and became a trapper for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

When he retired recently, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service sent representatives here to laud Hay as the outstanding wolf hunter in North America.

"My main reason for starting trapping, I guess, was the loss of those goats," he recalls. "But I also liked fishing and hunting and thought I might as well get paid for it while enjoying it."

Besides campaigning against wolves, Ray, half Cherokee Indian, trapped beavers in various parts of the country, especially in Georgia. He was sent to Missouri, Texas and Oklahoma to get rid of coyotes. He has done some bear trapping.

The veteran trapper says he wasn't always popular when he first arrived in a community to work. The letters "U. S." were painted on the side of the automobile in which he traveled. Residents would begin wondering what Federal department he represented. They thought he was a "revenuer"—a treasury agent rounding up makers of moonshine whiskey.

To build up their confidence in him, Ray would trap a few wolves and display them on the courthouse lawn. That put him in solid with folks. He was "the wolf man."

Now—in retirement—the "wolf man" is back where started, farming in south Arkansas, though on a smaller scale.

"I'm going to restrict my trapping to an occasional coon to eat. Been away off and on for about 23 years and I intend to garden and stay at home now."

On April 19, second day of the International League season, the Baltimore Orioles drew only 571 fans. That same afternoon 10,181 were at the races at nearby Laurel Park.

Bob Carey, Michigan State's all-around athlete, set a new school shot put record of 51 feet 5 1/2 inches against Indiana.

Emmanuel Church To Show Special Film Sunday Night

"Seldom equalled, never excelled" might be the words which best describe the feature movie to be shown Sunday, June 3, 8:15 p. m. at 417 West Third—on the grass between Emmanuel Lutheran Church and the parsonage. (In case of bad weather the picture will be shown in the church.) The film "God of Creation," all in breath-taking natural beauty, explains in interesting, easy-to-understand language the marvels of the world above us (astronomy), the world about us (nature), the world invisible (beneath the microscope). Digging into the mysteries of life itself, this motion picture illustrates the power and wisdom of the God of Creation.

Nature-lovers, gardeners, parents entrusted with the training of children, high school instructors, teachers, pupils, all will benefit immensely from this scientifically accurate and indescribably beautiful picture.

A free-will offering will be taken to give those present the opportunity to express how they feel about getting more pictures like the "God of Creation."

"Come as you are, relax beneath the stars and see the marvels of creation unfolded before your eyes which help in glorifying the God of Creation," were Rev. Heckmann's comments. The film is sponsored by Emmanuel Lutheran's young people, the Walther League.

ANCIENT BONES: Boy Digs Them Up To Help Science

By WILLIAM ALEXANDER
AP Newsfeatures

MOORESTOWN, N. J.—When Jimmy Ruhle comes home from school he often goes digging. But not for worms, as most 14-year-olds do. Jimmy digs for prehistoric bones.

Hip boots pulled snugly over his dungarees and a shovel on his shoulder, you can find him almost any day prowling the excavations along the New Jersey Turnpike in search of a likely spot to dig for specimens.

South Jersey long has been a favorite place for scientist who study fossils; its excavations are extra good hunting grounds.

"I guess I've always been just naturally interested in fossils," Jimmy says. "I remember digging for Indian arrowheads when I was little. And when I heard a talk about them at school, I decided to look for animal bones and other specimens."

His Digging was rewarded last fall when he turned up four pieces of the backbone of a ground sloth, an extinct bear-like mammal that roamed this section 100,000 years ago. These specimens are now on display at the Academy of Natural Sciences in nearby Philadelphia. Jimmy recalls:

"At first I thought I found some bones of a dinosaur. They found the first one in America over near Haddonfield in 1858. And that's only about 10 miles from here."

Jimmy's guide in a lot of his hunting is Professor Horace G. Richards, associate curator at the Academy of Natural Science. Dr. Richards has spoken at several high schools in the area and has recruited a number of students—among them Jimmy—as volunteer fossil hunters who report anything important-looking to him.

Occasionally Jimmy's interest in fossils is more powerful than the urge to go to his 10th grade classes at Moorestown High School.

"Once in a while he pokes along in the morning trying to miss the school bus so he can get out to do some digging. But I know the signs by now and hustle him along," his mother says.

His dad, a pipefitter in a Camden, N. J. shipyard, is very proud of his son's unusual hobby. Once in a while dad and son hike out together on a fossil-hunting expedition.

Jimmy Corresponds with other fossil hunters, in Canada and West Virginia, and swaps specimens for his growing collection. Dr. Richards has encouraged him by loaning text books, and has taken him on several local hunting trips.

Make Advance In Cure Of Livestock Disease Brucellosis

University of Texas scientists have made another advance in the search for a cure of brucellosis—the disease now costing U. S. livestockmen an estimated $100,000,000 annually.

They have found common sulphur is toxic to brucella organisms, Dr. Vernon T. Schuhardt, University bacteriology professor and brucellosis research director, said.

Laboratory tests indicate colloidal sulphur is the tonic agent in certain amino acids and peptones, protein-derived chemicals which have been found effective in killing brucella organisms.

"The problem now is to find a way to keep the sulphur tonic when brucellosis is treated," Dr. Schuhardt explained. "Blood and chemicals in tissues tend to change the sulphur to a non-toxic state."

Brucellosis losses are particularly heavy in the dairy industry where both milk and calf production are greatly reduced. The disease sometimes infects humans who are constantly exposed to it.

Charles Signor Goes to Abilene As Sales Manager of Feed Division, Cottonoil Co.

Reassignment of executive personnel in the general office, formula feed plant and oil mills of Western Cottonoil Co. has been announced by officials of the company in Abilene.

Charles Signor, formerly manager of the Western Cottonoil mill at Plainview, and formerly also of Littlefield, has been named general sales manager of the company's formula feed division and has been transferred to Abilene. Mr. Signor has been identified with the sale of Paymaster feeds for a number of years in the Plainview area and is widely known throughout the West Texas-Oklahoma-New Mexico territory.

Signor succeeds Clifford Rhoden, who now takes over as manager of the company's Abilene properties, including the oil mill, formula feed plant, shop, warehouse, laboratory, truck terminal and other interests. Rhoden succeeds Tom Hornback, who has been assigned new territorial duties as special field representative for the company's Southern district. Joining Mr. Rhoden as general superintendent of the Abilene properties is Orville Williams, who has been associated with the company in the Abilene general office.

Meanwhile, Roy Mack, formerly manager of the Abilene oil mill, moves to Lubbock to assume the duties of manager of the Western Cottonoil Co. Lubbock properties. Mr. Mack will be joined by Bentley Page, who becomes general superintendent of the company's Lubbock interest.

Signor's successor as manager of the Plainview mill is G. T. Meriweather, formerly local manager of the company's El Paso mill.

"Reassignment of these executives within the company is necessitated by the program of expansion of the properties and the growth of its formula feed division of Western Cottonoil Co.," officials explained. "All of those concerned in the reassignments are widely known throughout the West Texas-Oklahoma-New Mexico territory in which the company operates and have the benefit of years of experience in our business through the Southwest."

Relative of Mrs. J. C. Chaney Is Strangled to Death

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Knight of Carlsbad, New Mexico and her son, Pat, and grandson, Bobbie Johnson, arrived Friday night, remaining until Saturday in the home of Mrs. Knight's sister, Mrs. J. C. Chaney.

According to Mrs. Chaney, she was called May 29 to Carlsbad to the Knight home, when Don Johnson 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charfel Johnson and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Knight, was strangled to death by a house prowler.

Mrs. Chaney reports that his parents had gone to the theater and had left the youth at home to the care of his baby brother, Bobbie, aged 2. The boy had volunteered to stay home as he was getting his clothing gathered up and getting ready to take a boy scout trip.

On returning home his parents found Bobbie fast asleep in his bed and Don strangled with a cord tied around his throat and his hands and feet tied together. They rushed the boy to the hospital, but the youth, who had only been alone about an hour, was dead.

Mrs. Chaney spent a week with the Knight and Johnson families at Carlsbad.

No trace has been found of the murderer.

ITALY'S POCKET NAVY IS REPORTED READY FOR ACTION

By JAMES M. LONG
AP Newsfeatures

TARANTO, Italy—It takes about 30 minutes for the whole Italian Navy to pass in review—and that is steaming along at a pretty fair rate.

Because the pre-war fleet with which Mussolini tried to make the Mediterranean once more "Mare Nostrum," (Our Sea) has dwindled from sixth biggest navy in the world down to 36 ships.

That includes everything down to the vest-pocket-sized motor torpedo boats with six-man crews. It also includes three clean-lined, former United States destroyer escorts just turned over to Italy under the arms aid program.

But American naval observers here are not discouraged over prospects for that pint-sized fleet, now a part of the Atlantic Pact force of Western defense.

Well Organized

The latest full fleet review here was described by these high officers as "a well-organized show," and they said that although Italy still lacked modern ships, she could show "a strong and well-trained naval personnel ready to man a bigger fleet as fast as it can be formed."

That can start now—after five years. The Peace Treaty did not allow Italy any new naval construction until 1950. It takes time to build warships, and even more than that, it takes money. But Italy has begun a naval construction program—and to fill in the gap she is receiving surplus United States fighting ships.

Besides the three destroyer escort vessels already received, it has been announced in Washington that Italy will get the "Woodworth" and "Nicholson," two of the fastest destroyers of the American navy. And after them, it is likely that still other ships may follow until Italy's own new naval construction begins sliding down the ways.

Air Power Boosted

Probably equally important: at the long-deserted naval air field just north of this big naval base, there now sits a long row of bluntnosed, blue-painted navy fighter-bombers. They're former American Curtis helldivers, sent here also as part of the arms aid program intended to help Italy guard her part of the Atlantic Pact's western line. Until they arrived, the Italian Navy had no air arm. Under the Peace Treaty she is not allowed aircraft carriers and her only planes were obsolete land force models.

The Peace Treaty—which the United States Senate has now proposed freeing of its military limitations—also allows Italy no submarines and no assault craft.

She is allowed two battleships. She has afloat the ancient Doria—grim ghost of 1913 and World War I. The twin battleship, Duilio, also exists,—on paper. In reality, however she is docked and under half-hearted repair and modernization. Officials of the Italian Navy doubt that the old ship will ever be put afloat again until new, modern ships replace her.

Paper Navy

Italy has—again on paper—five old cruisers. Of these the Giuseppe Garibaldi, Duca degli Abruzzi and Montecitorio passed in review. The Luigi di Savoia and Luigi Cadorna, laid up for repairs, were not in shape to put to sea.

There also are five destroyers, again not all of them seaworthy at the moment. The rest—they're little covettes and still tinier torpedo-firing motorboats and only about two dozen in all.

LITTLEFIELD ROTARIANS WERE AMONG 12,000 AT ROTARY INTERNATIONAL

Dr. Ira E. Woods and Mayor and Mrs. Art Chesher are among the more than 12,000 Rotarians and members of their families from 60 countries of Europe, Asia, Africa and North, South and Central America, who are attending the 42nd Annual Convention of Rotary International at Atlantic City, N. J.

Keynote of the five-day gathering of business and professional executives, who represent 7,300 Rotary Clubs in 83 countries, will be the internationality of the Rotary organization. Throughout the Convention program, emphasis will be given to the opportunities which Rotarians have, in all parts of the world, to work for the achievement of one of the principal goals of Rotary International—the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace.

The Rotary Convention program includes addresses by outstanding speakers, discussion forums, the enactment of legislation, election of officers and special entertainment features. Rotarians will also meet by groups to study the common problems of their various businesses and professions throughout the world. It was in one of the groups that Dr. Woods had the assignment to lead in a discussion.

One of the highlights of the Convention program will be a forum discussion participated in by four of the 284 outstanding graduate students from all parts of the world who have received one-year Fellowships from Rotary International for study, as ambassadors of good will, in countries other than their own.

Rotary International's President, Arthur Lagnex of Quebec City, Canada, announced Sunday that during the past 11 months, 224 new Rotary Clubs have been organized in 33 countries. Membership of the service club organization has reached a time high of 347,000 professional executive members of some 75 Clubs in 83 countries.

OPS Announce Amendment For Small Businesses

Hundreds of small retail stores in the Far West Texas district of the Office of Price Stabilization will be given the option of continuing to price under the general ceiling price regulation, rather than under the retail regulation, CPR 7, the Lubbock district office announced.

The office said many small retail stores with limited bookkeeping facilities and clerical help would get this option under the amendment which was scheduled for issue early this week.

The Office of Price Stabilization, in announcing that the amendment was forthcoming, reminded that all other retailers selling items controlled by CPR 7 and its amendments must file their pricing charts by May 31 if they want to continue to sell legally after that date. There will be no extension of that deadline, OPS emphasized.

The amendment, according to advance information, will provide that stores selling housewares, notions, sporting goods, silverware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks may elect to price these particular items under the GPCR under either of two conditions:

1. The first provision, designed to help the smallest stores, gives the election for these items to any retailer whose overall net dollar volume of sales of everything in his store is less than $100,000. Total dollar volume for this purpose, OPS emphasized, is figured on the sales not only of the housewares, notions, etc., but of the store's entire stock of goods.

2. The other provision, which will meet the situation of the store doing a relatively small volume of business in housewares, notions, sporting goods, silverware, china, glassware, jewelry, watches and clocks gives the election to price those articles under GPCR to any retailer whose net dollar volume from sales of those items is less than $60,000 annually, irrespective of his volume of sales in other lines of merchandise and even though his total volume of sales is over $100,000.

A third provision, which retains a principle incorporated in CPR 7 as first issued, gives the option to any retailer whose sales of apparel, apparel accessories, shoes, beds and bedding, furniture, yard goods, floor coverings, lamps, radio and television sets, phonograph records, musical instruments, luggage, etc., (all CPR 7 and a few amendment 2 items) are less than $20,000 annually in net dollar volume.

The retailer who elects to remain under the GPCR does not have to notify OPS. The retailer who makes the election simply lets that deadline go by without filing a chart. In the event OPS asks for information, however, the retailer must be prepared to show that he was entitled to make the

SGT. DIAL'S UNIT HURLS TONS OF EXPOSIVES AGAINST COMMUNISTS

WITH THE 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION, U. S. ARMY, IN KOREA—(delayed)—Deadly high explosive missiles, delivered to the Communist enemy with the compliments of a Littlefield, Texas, soldier's artillery battalion, are wreaking havoc with Red troops and supplies.

Master Sergeant Jack J. Dial, husband of Mrs. Jack Dial, 701 S. Park, Littlefield, is a member of the 77th Field Artillery Battalion, one of a quartet of hard-hitting 1st Cavalry Division howitzer units the Reds have learned to fear on the Korean battlefield.

The battalion, usually assigned to an infantry command for supporting fire, has, on occasion used its 105-millimeter cannon at point-blank range, blasting fanatical Chinese attempts to overrun the gun positions.

Statistics show that the tons of explosives hurled by Sgt. Dial's unit have exacted a heavy toll of enemy troops, munitions, tanks, vehicles and artillery pieces. The battalion has done much to impress the belief, widely held by the Reds, that the Americans have automatic artillery. Many times, it has sent as many as 3,000 shells on their way to the enemy in a 24 hour period.

Once, with United Nation troops withdrawing in the face of overwhelming numerical odds, a single battery of the 77th fired continuously for 64 hours at the Chinese. Gun barrels glowed cherry red and gunners fell exhausted, but the effort enabled friendly troops to avert encirclement.

Sgt. Dial and the other "Red-

Legs," as artillerymen are known to the infantry, proved their versatility when forced to double as riflemen and machine gunners in the face of suicidal Red zanzal attacks. The artillerymen have stopped these nightmare charges, often cutting down the screaming Chinese at the very muzzles of the howitzers.

All States Plan 4-H Program

For the first time in 4-H Club Achievement, Leadership and Meat Animal awards programs are being accepted by every state in the Union in 1951.

In all three programs, medals of honor are awarded to county winners and 17-jewel wrist watches to state champions. Sectional winners picked from the latter will be given all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November. National winners receive $300 college scholarships. The Leadership and Meat Animal awards are being provided respectively by Edward Foss Wilson and Thos. E. Wilson, Chicago meat packer executives. Dairy awards will be furnished by Lederle Laboratories.

The first place boy and girl in 4-H Leadership each will also receive a silver trophy and the second place boy and girl each will be awarded $150 college scholarship.

Last year's Texas winners were: Dairy Achievement, T. G. Herring, Jr., Crosbyton, state and national honors; Leadership, Howard Altmeyer, New Braunfels, and Carolyn Curry, Sweetwater, state winners and Meat Animal, Perry A. Walker, Big Spring, state and national winner.

All of these programs are conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service. County Extension agents will furnish full information.

 mentions as to the planting and care of the new crop. He stated that farmers generally regard June 10, as about the very latest "safe planting date," although there have been instances of successful cotton yield on cotton planted as late as June 20.

He specifically emphasized that farmers should make every effort to save the "bottom crop," from cotton planted this late. In the past two years, early season control of cotton insects, has been proven an important factor in the saving of this "bottom crop"—the low hills on the cotton plant.

It is highly important that farmers keep close check on their planted acreage. At the four leaf stage, if the cotton thrip or better known aphid plant louse is present, the leaves will plainly show a silvery on the underside of the leaves and upon showing same should at once be dusted or sprayed. If these pests are not shown to be present, cotton spraying or dusting should not be started until the plants are 6-8 weeks of age. At this 6-8 weeks stage, other insects will start their attack, including the thrips, cotton aphid and flea-hopper.

Two applications of duster or spray should be applied at this stage, with treatments administered seven days apart.

Boll worm, if it does appear, usually does so about the first or second week in August. Boll infestation has been at minimum in this county the past several years. The County Agent emphasized that his office does not recommend early season control applications of spray or dust being applied, unless infestation is extremely severe, prior to early August or a month ahead of possible boll worm infestation.

TOTAL COUNTY SCHOLASTICS DROP, RECENT CENSUS FIGURES REVEAL

County School Superintendent J. Ernest Jones announced this week that the 1951 school census has been completed in Lamb County and the figures on enrollment in the eight school districts of the county.

The total census shows 4918 scholastics this year, which is approximately 200 less than one year ago.

The total is divided between 4571 white scholastics and 347 colored. The colored scholastics account for something less than eight per cent of the total.

Census enumerators were appointed for each of the eight schools and have been working on these reports and enumerations for the past several weeks.

A report on the Littlefield schools, was made by the enumerator a few weeks ago. It showed a slight drop in the Littlefield school total—a substantial increase in the colored enrollment, a decrease in the number of local white scholastics.

Under state law, state school aid is granted to schools on the basis of these census reports.

Diapers now come in colors, of all things. The pastel shades will not fade out when dried in your gas dryer. But if you're not the lucky owner of this wonderful automatic servant, don't dry colored diapers in direct sunlight.

Whipped cream holds up longer if confectioners' sugar is used for sweetening instead of granulated sugar.

Up to 20 gals. of hot water in 40 minutes are needed to wash and rinse one load in an automatic washer. A whole week's average family wash—three loads, uses up 60 gals. of hot, hot water in two hours. An automatic gas water heater refills as fast as it flows out of the tap—especially important on washdays.

NEW HOMES FOR SUDAN

Last Rites Held For F. W. Walker

Funeral services for Felix Wayne Walker, 76, were held in the Sudan First Methodist Church on Wednesday morning, May 23, at 10 a. m. with Rev. Frank Beauchamp, pastor of the Littlefield Methodist Church officiating and Rev. W. O. Perry, minister of the Sudan Baptist Church, assisting. Deceased was born on January 14, 1875, in North Carolina and died May 22, 1951 at 12 noon in the Amherst hospital. He was married to Lucy Littlefield in 1896, who preceeded him in death on January 13, 1933. Surviving children include: Mrs. Alsie Dudgeon and Ester Walker of Sudan, Gill Walker of Colorado City, Lorraine Walker of Long Beach, Calif., Claude Walker of Norwalk, Calif., Maudie Stevenson of Lorraine, Texas and 15 grandchildren. Burial was made in the Supercemetery.

Development of Sudan's exclusive Boesen Addition is expected to be realized within the next several months as lots went on the market there last week according to an announcement by John Dean, Sudan real estate dealer. Dean said that 54 lots, each 50 x 140 feet would be sold in the restricted addition which is completely surrounded by paving. The two new streets bisecting the new addition have been named Slate and Dean avenues and are scheduled for paving as development of the project progresses. Restrictions prohibit any commercial enterprises from being constructed in the addition together with a provision that no livestock would be permitted and that a minimum size home of 1,000 square feet could be built. Dean said that lots were being placed on the market for purchase by prospective home builders who were ready to start construction in the immediate future and were not available to those wishing to buy them for speculation purposes. The landscaping of the project is ideal and the location chosen by the late Pet Boesen, Sudan pioneer, for the construction of his home. The site was acquired from the Boesen Estate and until only recent was available for development.

SQUATTERS TAKE OVER MAILBOX

HAMILTON —(P)— A pair of sparrows took over squatters' rights in a mailbox at the home of William Yearde. He co-operated by placing a sign on the box "Please leave mail under door; birds have taken over." Shortly after, there were four eggs in the nest.

The committee is composed of Harry Kline, chairman, Marshall Howard, H. O. Bigham, Ralph Nelson and J. D. Kirkland. They plan to arrange to have three or four more dinners this season. The Farm Dinners, in which the merchant is host to the farmer, have been popular and have served to help build a better understanding between the farmer and the merchant. One hundred and sixteen were present for the Farm Dinner held at Fieldton last month.

June Dairy Month In Texas

AUSTIN, June 1951—June is dairy month in Texas and the multi-million dollar industry is seeking to focus the eyes of some 7 million Texas consumers on the greater use of dairy foods as the road to better health.

In cities large and small, in homes and on farms, consumers are being told through a 30-day industry-wide observance that butter, cheese, ice cream and milk are "roads-to-good-health-musts" on the family table 365 days of the year.

Governor Allan Shivers in proclaiming June as dairy foods as essential to the diet of defense workers.

"WHEREAS the preservation and improvement of the vital Texas dairy industry, with some 500,000 Texans dependent upon it and its allied industries for livelihood, are of interest to all Texans as a matter of practical living and as a matter of economics and health to the success of our defense efforts;"

The Dairy Products Institute of Texas, coordinating the June program, released figures citing the contributions of the industry of Texas.

Last year dairying produced more than $200 million in farm income for 3 out of 4 Texas farms with some 12,000 commercial Grade A dairies dependent upon milk as their chief income. Some 60,000 farm units, the Institute said, depended upon milk and milk products for their income.

The Institute estimated that the dairy industry contributed $400 millions annually to the commerce of the state with some 500,000 persons earning a livelihood from production, processing, distribution and sale of dairy products.

"Housewives spend more than 15 per cent of their food budgets for dairy products," said W. E. Thomson, State Chairman for June Dairy Month program. "For this they get 30 per cent of the food consumed in this state. And in this one-third of the family food, the housewife provides her family with three-fourths of its calcium, one-half of its riboflavin, and substantial quantities of every other nutrient vital to human development."

Service clubs, like Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, are sponsoring programs in June to assist their members in a better appreciation of the services of the dairy industry. Many conventions and special meetings over the state will discuss the industry and the part it plays in the Texas economy.

The Weeds of Hatred Flourish

Editor's Note—The following news item is the work on one of the three 1951 Pulitzer Prize winners.

By Reiman Morin

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Sept. 25—(AP)—Long after the last shot is fired, the weeds of hatred will be flourishing in Korea, nourished by blood and bitter memories.

This is the heritage of the short weeks during which most of South Korea was learning Communism.

Only weeks ago in the region around Seoul and Inchon, people were being killed, dispossessed of land and homes, left to starve, or driven away from all they held dear—because they were not Communists and refused to act like Communists.

Expect To Remain Red

Today, in that same region, the same things are still happening—because some Koreans are Communists and propose to remain so. Hidden in the hills a mile off the road to Seoul, there is a village of twenty-four mud-stone huts with thatched roofs. The people raise rice and corn. Once they had a few cattle.

There were no rich here and, by Korean standards, no poor either.

Even before the North Korean military invasion last June, nine of the men in the village were Communists.

The headman didn't know why. He simply said they belonged to a Red organization and frequently went to meetings in Inchon at night.

They talked of the division of land and goods.

"It made trouble," the headman told an American intelligence officer through an interpreter.

Beat The Communists

As a result, the headman said, some of the other villagers banded together and beat the Communists.

"There was always trouble and fighting," said the headman, "and we talked of driving the Reds away."

Then the North Korean army swept southward over this little village. The nine Communists suddenly appeared in uniforms.

They killed some of their neighbors and caused others to be put in jail at Inchon. The headman himself fled to safety in the south. One of the villagers went with him.

"He did not want to go," said the headman. "He was to be married. The girl stayed here. She is 18 and a grown woman, but she did not know what to do."

Back in the village the nine Communists began putting theory into practice. First they confiscated all land. Then they summoned landless tenants farmers from nearby villages and told them the land would be given to them if they became Communists.

Conformed To Get Land

"The farmers are ignorant of these things," the headman said. "They were very glad and they accepted the land and said they were Communists."

Next the nine Reds went to the homes of all the men who had fought with them before.

"They took away all the furniture, even the pots and kettles and put all these things into one house," the headman related. "Then they said the people who were Communists could come and take whatever they wanted."

"Even the people who were robbed in this way were permitted to come. If they agreed to be Communists they could take back some of their things. Most of them did that."

The parents of the engaged girl were, among those who fled. She stayed. Maybe she was waiting for the man who escaped with the headman.

"She was hungry most of the time," the headman said. "The Communists told her that if she would attend some cultural classes they would give her food."

Police Curtailed, Thefts Mount

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Warehouses along Singapore harbour have become a happy hunting ground for thieves. Goods worth more than $6,600 have been stolen within the last two months. Thefts from warehouses have doubled since last Dec. 31.

Then the Singapore harbour auxiliary police were disbanded. Only 40 harbour police lieutenants are now patrolling the areas handled by 120 officers last year.

Ethiopian DPs charged With Causing Trouble

ADDIS ABABA — (AP) — The Ethiopian government has complained that certain displaced persons in Ethiopia have been engaged in "subversive activities" within the country and "have malign-ed Ethiopia abroad." The charge was made in an official statement which said:

"It is regrettable that such humanitarian efforts (on the part of Ethiopia in accepting them) should have been recompensed with calumnies on the part of certain groups of these refugees who so readily accepted our hospitality. They have not only sought to malign Ethiopia abroad, but also have engaged in subversive activities within."

(In Cairo, last January, an informant, reported about 100 DPs established in farms in the semi-wild interior south of Addis Ababa had fled to the capital after demonstrations by shouting natives brandishing spears, sickles, and other weapon. The informant said IRO was seeking exit visas and transport back to Europe for the DPs.)

Young police Officer Kisses Way to Jail

HAMBURG, Germany — (AP)—A police official was sentenced to four weeks imprisonment here because "kissing does not belong to the sphere of duty of a policeman." The official had interviewed a housemaid on the suspicious actions of one of the borders. When the interview was finished he threw her on the couch and kissed her.

"I had closed my notebook and so my duty was finished," the young policeman told the judge.

The maid did not notify the prosecutor, her fiance did.

West Germans Get More Cars

BONN, Germany — (AP)—More motor vehicles are running in West Germany today than ever before. The latest traffic ministry figures show 2,155,355 motor vehicles licensed in West Germany compared with only 1,798,745 in the same area in 1938, the most active prewar year.

But there is one serious drawback today: a horrible traffic jam. Germany has many narrow winding roads and crooked city streets which were designed before the motor era. The chief exceptions are the autobahns which Hitler built with military utility in mind.

Chinese Are Leaving Singapore By Thousands

SINGAPORE — (AP)—Malaya's rubber boom is attracting thousands of Indians while thousands of Chinese are leaving.

A government spokesman said "Indians are coming in because of the rather lucrative jobs as rubber tappers. More Chinese are leaving because of unsettled conditions in the country and Red promises of better living in China."

Many young Chinese also are leaving Malaya to avoid being called up for service with British forces fighting Communist terrorists in the Falayan jungle.

"Sunday School" For Traffic Violators Each Sunday Morning

PRAGUE — (AP) — If you cross the street against a red light in downtown Prague, the policeman on the corner may send you to Sunday school. You will hear nothing in this school about the Bible and the Ten Commandments. You will hear a great deal about safety-first rules and traffic regulations.

The Sunday school will be in a police station on a Sunday morning and will last about two hours. The pupils will be motorists or pedestrians like yourself who have offended against safety. The teachers will be policemen. They will tell you about some of the horrible things that have happened to people who made wrong turns, drove while drunk, took a chance on bad brakes or jumped off moving streetcars.

Voice Training Regains Young Steel Worker's Use of Vocal Cords

across the throat. His vocal cords were permanently injured.

A Pittsburgh specialist suggested sending him to the Department of Psychology at the University of Pittsburgh. There, Dr. John Matthews, director of speech, said a course in voice training might help. He enrolled in a speech clinic class for three months. There Stanley developed a new voice. At first husky overtones but as the business days returned to work last new job.

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

says Marshall Rousseau Police Sergeant Harlingen, Texas

"Driving at all kinds of speed I've piled up 30,000 miles. I used Conoco Super in my previous cars, and have had absolutely no engine trouble of any kind."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

TRAVELING SALESMAN

"55,000 hard, fast miles have been put on my Pontiac, with new Conoco Super," says David Brown, Salesman, Salt Lake City. "That car is still like new—excellent gasoline mileage, oil consumption slight, and no engine repairs."

PIKE'S PEAK TOURS

"Our car makes 2 or 3 trips to the top of Pike's Peak every day during the summer," reports R. P. Finney, Sight-Seeing Service, Colorado Springs. "We use Conoco Super and never have to add oil between 1,000-mile drains."

Apache Belles, Group of 75 Girls, Become Independently Famous

White cowboy boots is the official foot wear. The Apache Belles started in 1947 with 40 girls. The organization has grown in size, skill and fame under the direction of Mrs. Harold Stringer, who organized the group. The girls are not allowed to make any trip without the permission of their parents and each girl is required to keep her scholastic standing above average. With a few exceptions, members of the Apache Belles come from East Texas high schools. Most are from Tyler, but more than 20 East Texas cities are represented. The Belles are led by Mary Ellen Watson from Gladewater. Whether it's entertaining 80,000 fans at a huge football game or singing for a Rotary Club luncheon, Tyler's Apache Belles can and do provide an added spice that makes a good show better.

Rural Telephones For Olton Area Are Assured; Work Will Start Soon

Some 234 rural telephones for subscribers in the Olton area appear assured last week as a campaign, begun in the Chamber of Commerce, was completed and construction details were turned over to a field engineering crew. Howard Hall, chamber president said that construction is expected to commence before the expiration of a three month period. The state office of Southwestern Associated Telephone, the company which is building the rural phones, has promised that stringing of lines will begin within 90 days. The announcement by Hall marks the end of almost four months of negotiating with officials of the company and work by rural telephone committeemen. The chamber president expressed his appreciation to H. G. Walker, rural phone chairman, telephone committeemen and businessmen and farmers who donated an additional $638 to put the campaign over the top. Committeemen included Preston Sampler, H. B. Carson, Doyle Pinson, I. V. Fent and Walter Schreier. "The wholehearted cooperation and support of these people made possible the success of the drive," he said. Hall said that Walker started the campaign rolling by arranging for a meeting in Lubbock between officials of the Co-Op telephone movement, Southwestern Associated Telephone Company officials and a delegation from Olton. The Olton delegation, consisting of David Maxey, Farm Bureau president, Walker, Hall Sampler Robert Edwards and Orlin Brewer ar-

Singapore Lodging Houses Overflowing With "Draft Dodgers"

SINGAPORE—(P)—The lodging houses in Singapore—there are hundreds of them—are overflowing with "draft dodgers." Thousands of young Chinese are flocking into this British crown colony city from the Federation of Malaya, all hoping to get quick passage to Red China. Most of these are Chinese between the ages of 18 and 24. The Federation Government a few months ago ordered a manpower registration of all within these age classifications. The government hoped to raise 20,000 men, some of whom would be assigned to fight against Communist terror-lets in the dense jungles of Malaya and planks besides gunny sacks, bulging baskets and suitcases which contain their baggage. Every lodging house here is jammed. Chinese are crowding halls, passageways and dining rooms. They sleep on camp beds month seeking passage to China. A year ago, only 50 to 100 Chinese came to Singapore each month seeking passage to China.

SO EASY TO HANDLE

Lovely TV actress Cindy Cameron illustrates the remarkable ease of steering in the 1951 Chrysler, by turning the wheel with only fingertip pressure. Any driver can do this, even with the car standing absolutely still, thanks to Hydraguide, the new power steering innovation which lets hydraulic pressure do all the work.

Power steering is only one of the unusual present-day automobile developments which are attracting large crowds to the Chrysler Salon in the Chrysler Building, New York City, to see the Chrysler Engineering Achievement Exhibit, which is open to the public until June 8.

Our first state college—Texas A. and M. is now in its seventy-fifth year

"What a man hears he may doubt, what he sees he may possibly doubt;
but what a man does himself he cannot doubt."

DR. S. A. KNAPP

When Dr. Seaman A. Knapp came to Texas in 1903 to conduct the first successful farm demonstration on the Walter C. Porter farm on Poetry Road near Terrell, he fathered the nationwide system of agricultural extension work which today has county agricultural agents and home demonstration agents throughout the nation and has done much for the development of our agriculture. In Texas today there are such agents working in 252 of our 254 counties. That first demonstration of methods to combat the boll weevil, which was threatening to wipe out Texas cotton, was successful. (The merchants of Terrell had put up a $1,000 bond to protect the landowner in case it failed.) The federal government took over the work in 1904 and started the expansion which has developed into one of the most successful adult education programs in the world. A strong believer in the value of demonstration, Dr. Knapp always reminded his followers: "What a man hears he may doubt, what he sees he may possibly doubt; but what a man does himself he cannot doubt." Baccalaureate Service Held In Whitharral Gym

The commencement exercises for the 1951 senior class of Whitharral High School began Sunday night, May 20 when J. V. Davis, minister of the Austin Street Church of Christ in Levelland, delivered the baccalaureate sermon in the high school auditorium. Miss Marjorie Frost played the professional and sang "Give of Your Best to the Master." Dan Throckmorton, class president, introduced the speaker who chose as his subject, "What Is Your Life?" Selecting James 4:14 for a scripture, he stressed a God-given life, flexible in youth, that will be shaped from day to day by the conceptions gained in youth and the need of a purpose of living.

Giving God's word as the only infallible guide, Mr. Davis urged the class to develop themselves economically, socially and spiritually, being honest, sincere, law-abiding, practicing the Golden Rule and above all, giving God their best.

C. B. Keeney offered the invocation and Horace Krebs the benediction.

89-Year-Old Lamesa Man Skips Nimble Up Stepladder and Perches In Tree

LAMESA, Tex. (AP)—To celebrate his retirement, 89-year-old J. C. Minor skipped nimbly up a step-ladder and perched in a tree. Minor likes trees. He has spent a lot of time in them.

An Alabamian who came to Texas in 1895, Minor has been pruning and shaping trees, shrubs and rose bushes for Lamesa residents since 1924.

He kept at work regularly until recently, although he has been the same since he was a young man and broke both arms.

His last job was the pruning of trees and shrubs at the fire a few days ago. He unsided into the trees to work.

"I'm going to quit and easy now, and sell my tools—but that's too cheap," almost tearfully.

SWEETEN SOUR FLOWER VASES

Fresh flowers stop from garden to perfume these days to lend beauty and color to the summer decor. Make them look their best by arranging them in sparkling vases and bowls. To make a flower vase clean and sweet-smelling, sprinkle a little baking soda into the vase, rub with a damp cloth and rinse well with hot water. Soda removes every last trace of the slimy film that clings to the walls of flower vases and causes a dank sour odor. Clean bud vases by sprinkling a little soda into the vase, adding a few U.S. salt or crushed egg shell and shaking the vase well. Rinse in hot water. Soda cleans glass flower vases, too—in fact, it's a good idea to have an extra box of baking soda among your flower arranging gear.

Pillsbury crown this year's Wheat King in an effort to emphasize the importance of good farming. Barnes is tenth winner of the annual Pillsbury award for the best wheat grown in the United States. He received his award at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. The award, sponsored by Pillsbury, goes to the grower of the best wheat of the year judged by a panel of four agronomists. He won in a field of 48 top samples from 21 states. A long-time farmer in his own right and member of the Agricultural Committee, Pillsbury, Barnes and Hoover are with a sample of the prize-winning wheat—a Comanche winter variety—produced on Barnes' Nunn, Colorado, farm.

Mud, Murder and Madness Chartered Great Ranger Oil Rush of 30 Years Ago

RANGER, Tex. —AP— "An atmosphere of mud, murder, and madness," characterized the great Ranger oil rush of more than 30 years ago.

It is described in Boyce House's book "Roaring Ranger, World's Biggest Boom," published by Naylor company of San Antonio.

Corn liquor was a dollar a drink. A hotel cot in a hallway cost $5 a night. The field's biggest well, the Norwood gusher, produced $35,000 worth of oil in one day on a farm which had been bought for $5 an acre 11 years before. A mule drowned in the mud of main street.

Celebrities such as Tex Pickard, Rex Beach, Jess Willard and John Ringling played a part in the boom. House, author of 12 books, was a newspaperman in Ranger and nearby Eastland for 19 years and writes from first-hand experience.

Czechs Are Told To Hate America

PRAGUE — (AP)—People were told to hate the "American imperialists" in an editorial front-paged by the Prague cultural newspaper, "Lidove Noviny."

"The Americans are even more barbaric than the Germans," said the editorial, by Jaroslav Putik. "In Korea, they are using gas and other kinds of prohibited weapons. The American Fascist will not attack us only because he is afraid of us, of the Soviet Union and of the peace movement in his own country."

"The murderer is too cowardly to commit suicide. But this does not mean that we should hate him any the less."

Oryx Hunting Is Restricted

CAIRO — (AP)—The hunting and killing of the wudhybiya, or oryx, has been forbidden by a government decree in Saudi Arabia, the Arab News Agency reports from Hofuf (Saudi Arabia). The decree was issued to protect this nearly extinct animal which can only be found in Arabia today ANA's dispatch adds.

The oryx is said to be quite ferocious. It has two straight horns from 24 to 30 inches long, and has been seen to charge its enemies at great speed. Bedouins commonly believe that its flesh has unusual healing powers. Some swear that it helps to mend broken bones in a short time.

United States Seeks "Reasonable Level" For Price of Tin

SINGAPORE — (AP)—Tin brokers here say Malaya would suffer a staggering financial loss if the United States government attempts to depress the price of tin for as long as a year. They estimate this loss would total $43,300,000 in that period of time.

The United States has taken over as sole buyer of tin for Americans and suspended purchases for stockpiling until prices reached what is considered a "reasonable level."

Poise, Confidence, Smart Appearance Promised Women Who Join Air Force

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. —(AP)—Join the Air Force, lady, and learn about poise, confidence, and personal appearance. Experts will teach you.

Classes in personal appearance have been added to the training schedules for women of the Air Force—WAFS—at sprawling Lackland Air Force base here.

"Women, especially those in uniform, can be just as dainty, feminine, and carefully groomed as ever," explained Robert L. Detchemendy, head of the personal appearance course at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo.

Detchemendy and his pretty assistant, Ann LaRue, spent a week at Lackland lecturing, demonstrating and organizing courses. "Women in uniform are like women in any walk of life in matters concerned with grooming," Detchemendy told the WAFs who in turn will instruct women recruits.

"When they're well turned out, the knowledge is all powerful with respect to the psychological approach to their jobs."

Individual styling of hair and skin grooming are part of the course. Cleanliness, wholesomeness and neatness are stressed. Posture and etiquette are treated extensively. Points are given on diet, as

New Indian Wireless Deters Disruption of Communication

NEW YORK — (AP)—"Let the blind lead the blind." That is the motto of an organization made up entirely of blind people including the board of directors, officers, and members. It's called, "The Associated Blind, Inc."

The organization was founded 14 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Sells, both blind, who were annoyed by blind groups which had sighted people as leaders. They believed that sighted people couldn't fully appreciate the problems of the blind and started their own organization.

At the headquarters of the organization a shop sells items made by blind people all over the world. The senders are paid upon acceptance of the article.

HADACOL HELPS LEE AND MARILYN SUE

HADACOL Helps Children with Weak, Run-Down Conditions When Due to Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Young Lee Horton and Marilyn Sue Scieszinski live many miles apart, but they both have one thing in common—they both take HADACOL. When Lee was not feeling as good as his father, F. W. Horton, thought he should feel, he gave Lee HADACOL. Lee, who lives at 108 74th Ave., Houston, Texas, took his HADACOL regularly and his father says he now feels real good.

Mrs. J. Scieszinski, Marilyn's mother, who lives at 514 Kruger, Ottumwa, Iowa, sees that her daughter takes her HADACOL each day, too, and Mrs. Scieszinski says Marilyn likes to take her HADACOL. Their stories will show you how you may be helped by HADACOL, if you are suffering a weak, run-down condition and poor appetite if due to a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin.

Mr. Horton says about Lee: "Lee was very weak and run-down and just didn't want to eat at all. We heard about HADACOL and decided that was what Lee needed. After he started taking HADACOL his appetite picked up right away. He started gaining weight and eats real well now, and has been feeling real good. HADACOL has been good for Lee and I heartily recommend it to everyone."

Mrs. Scieszinski says about Marilyn Sue: "My daughter, Marilyn Sue, is 5 years old, and for some time had a poor appetite, was generally run-down. Since giving her HADACOL, we have noticed wonderful results. She has a much better appetite, eats everything on the table, and doesn't seem tired like she used to. Incidentally, she likes to take HADACOL, too."

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

If disease followed the definite pattern that has been classed as symptoms of each specific illness, diagnosis of various ailments would be a much less complicated matter. But any list of symptoms is meant to describe the usual course of a disease and everyone seems to have a different capacity for reacting to the germs that cause infectious diseases, some people straying so far from the normal that only the most detailed laboratory methods can determine for sure what the sickness is in order to treat it.

Meningitis is usually considered a paralyzing sort of sickness that leads to unconsciousness, a coma that may last a long time. There are many different types of meningitis, based upon the particular brands of germs which might invade that film that covers the brain and spinal cord. But one thing they all have in common is the capacity to change the appearance and content of the fluid that is in the spine. So when meningitis is suspected, the diagnosis must be made by examining that spinal fluid is obtained by a puncture of the spine.

From this examination, your doctor can also tell whether meningitis is the one brand that is contagious or one of the many brands that are not. If it is contagious, the patient must be isolated at once to keep others from getting the disease. In any case, treatment for the disease must begin rapidly after meningitis is diagnosed. With proper treatment with the new drugs available today, meningitis is seldom the deadly attack it used to be.

The usual early signs of meningitis vary with the age of the person who is stricken. Infants usually get a vacant, staring look on their face and complain loudly on being handled, they want to be left alone. Children may be suspected of having meningitis when they show a sudden high fever with delirium and convulsion and a definite pulling backwards of the head and neck. In adults the first sign is frequently a very severe and constant headache.

It is with such signs as these that the spinal puncture may become necessary. There are other diseases which may create the same signs, of course, but with meningitis ruled out, other diseases may then be considered, diseases which would not require such prompt treatment as meningitis does. Even with the modern methods of treatment, the coma, the period of unconsciousness, is still a part of the meningitis picture, but the danger of the complications that marked the disease a few years has been lessened.

Scarlet fever is another of the diseases that evidently often fails to follow the set pattern. In recent years doctors have discovered that members of the same family may have the exactly same type of streptococci germs in their throats while some members break out in the rash that marks scarlet fever and others exhibit all the other symptoms but not the rash.

From that has come the theory that this particular variety of streptococci germs is responsible for strep tonsillitis, septic sore throat and scarlet fever, all of which are different manifestations of the same disease.

Most adults are immune to scarlet fever according to scratch tests known as Dick tests which were devised especially to test immunity for that one disease. Even though you have never had scarlet fever, you may have developed an immunity through attacks of sore throat and tonsil inflammation caused by the same germs as the scarlet fever germ.

A very sore throat and inflamed tonsils, together with fever, vomiting and headache, make up the first signs of this strep-caused disease. If nothing else happens in the next few days while you're being treated with the new drugs, then you probably had a septic sore throat. If a rash breaks out by the fifth day, however, that particular rash of tiny red dots so close together that they look like a solid blanket of red, then you have scarlet fever.

And the diagnosis, in event there may be some doubt because the rash is neither solid enough nor red enough, is a couple of weeks or so later when the skin starts peeling off in flakes or layers, especially on the soles of the feet.

Neighbors Rally To Plant Farm Of Bedfast Preacher Near Whitharral

D. H. Montgomery should be harvesting about 150 acres of cotton and grain late this fall on his 177 acre farm near Whitharral.

Montgomery's neighbors, in true Texas fashion, saw to it that the farmer-preacher up Whitharral way and his family of three would not be wanting, come fall.

Montgomery was on his back in an Amherst hospital recovering from an attack on pneumonia at 6:20 Tuesday morning of last week when 15 to 20 neighbors tractors came up the road toward the small, white farm home 2 miles east of Whitharral. His wife looked out the window and watched with surprise and overwhelming joy as the tractors turned into the Montgomery fields and began the task of planting her husband's acreage. At 10 a. m. the task was completed and the "good neighbors" quietly went home to see what they could do about their own farms.

Back at her farm Mrs. Montgomery related how "wonderful my neighbors have been. You just don't realize," she said, "how many true friends you have until you're helpless and they come to your aid."

Mrs. Montgomery didn't know whose idea it was to get together and plant her husband's crops. Perhaps it was better that way. No one wanted any credit for the job. It was simply a Texan's way of lending a helping hand.

"I don't even know who all brought tractors," she said. "I know that many more would have come but the others just told them that they had plenty of help."

The Montgomerys have been occupying the farm near Whitharral for about 10 years. They moved there from the Black Hills of South Dakota where they had made their home for 14 previous years.

"Yes, I like it here," Mrs. Montgomery said, "but she hastened to add, "I like it here, too." She is a native Texan, having been raised near Rotan. Her husband is from a small farm near Birmingham, Alabama.

"D. H." is also a preacher. Before he became ill, he traveled weekly to the Cousins Baptist Church near Plainview where he was pastor. His congregation rallied to the cause by helping out the wife and two daughters with money donations when the preacher became ill.

It was about three weeks ago that an abscessed lung and a generally run down condition became contributing factors as Mr. Montgomery went to the hospital with pneumonia. His wife and 11-year-old daughter, Barbara, were left alone to tend the farm. Then it was that the neighbors began to take a hand.

They sent letters and cards wishing "D. H." a speedy recovery. Many visited him at the hospital and a collection was taken up at the church to help out the Montgomerys. They visited Mrs. Montgomery and helped her do the chores.

Recently, rain came to the Montgomery farm soaking the 177 needed moisture. The time was soon to be at hand for planting but Mr. Montgomery was on his back in the hospital.

The sandy Montgomery land absorbed the moisture more quickly than most of the land around Whitharral and by Tuesday morning the ground was dry enough to allow planting. At 6:20 the tractors began to arrive. Up the road they came in a steady procession. One by one they peeled off and as if by magic they began to methodically plant the Montgomery fields. By 10 a. m. all that remained to be planted was a 5-10 acre tract that was still under water. The men would accept no gasoline. They even brought some of their own seed to plant.

This week the farmers around Whitharral, just like the farmers all over this area, are busy planting their fields. They will be finished soon and if the weatherman gives a little boost throughout the summer in the form of a few rainfalls, they will help to give Hockley County its greatest crop of all time.

The Montgomerys, "D. S." the Mrs. Barbara and 17-year-old Emeline who now lives at Amherst, all join in hoping that every man in the area harvests a bumper crop this fall. For, thanks to the kindness and generosity of those men, the Montgomerys shall not want this fall.

How better could a preacher be convinced that his efforts are not in vain, that God lives in the hearts of his fellow men.

Judge Bills Makes Address At Tulia Kiwanis Club

"Poor pay, too many exemptions, too many excuses and not being allowed to separate during a trial" were cited as defects in our jury system by District Judge E. A. Bills of Littlefield when he addressed the Tulia Kiwanis club Tuesday of last week.

The program was in observance of Jury Service Month and was under the direction of County Attorney Dennis Zimmermann.

The judge cited the history of trial by jury, tracing it back to the 13th century and the Magna Charta. He blasted the attempts now being made in the Texas Legislature to abolish the traditional system of jury trials.

"One proposal would make trial by jury optional in cases of 'not guilty' pleas," he said. "I would not want the responsibility of determining a man's guilt in such cases. That is for 12 men to decide."

The jurist cited magazine article which suggested the use of "specialists" for jury service in place of the conventional method. He abhorred the thought, using an illustration in his own experience to prove the folly of such a plan.

Expressing surprise that a recent amendment to the state constitution which would have put women on Texas juries failed to pass, he voiced the opinion that women jurors in Texas were coming. However, he failed to express his opinion concerning the advisability of non-male juries.

"Perhaps they can think of as many excuses not to serve as men," he chuckled as he waded into American men who shirk their duty to serve when summoned. He recognized the fact that many legitimate excuses exist, but he lamented the fact that too many excuses offered in his court are not of that type. He approved a bill now before the Legislature which would exempt only ministers, doctors and lawyers from jury service.

"There is no reason why a school teacher should not serve during summer vacation," he asserted as he eyed L. H. Turney.

He favored an increase in the pay of jurors and recommended that laws be amended whereby jurors could spend their nights at home during trials not involving capital offenses. He expressed doubt that attempts at bribery of jurors would be made in Texas.

Praising the high quality of jurors in West Texas, he expressed his confidence in their ability to render justice.

Nickel Still Has Real Value

ROCKY FORD, Colo.—(AP)—Gus Breen thinks he has proved the nickel still has some value.

A small boy fell into a narrow hole near Breen's home here. Breen and another man pulled and tugged. But the boy kicked and squirmed so hard they couldn't pull him out.

Then Breen pulled out a nickel. He told the boy he could have it if he reached for it. The youngster quieted down, flattened his body in stretching for the coin and the two men hauled him free.
