TIRE ALARM SYSTEM INVENTED AND COMPANY IS FORMED, READS A HEADING IN THE CANYON NEWS—

That's great news, but what we are most interested in is some kind of an invention that will jack up the wheel, remove and rim and flat tire, unlock the spare, place it on the wheel, carry the flat around to the rear of the car, put it in position, and turn the key in the lock, we to sit in the car and smoke while the herewith mentioned procedure is taking place. Such a service would be especially appreciated on cold days, rainy days, windy days, and Hot Days.

But, in the meantime, (that is until some smart man or woman invents a tire changer,) we must be content with the advantages of a tire alarm system. Here's what the Canyon News says about the said tire alarm system:

C. E. Steen of Canyon, together with Orville W. Harris and Tony B. Massey of Floydada have invented a tire alarm and organized a company under the state law to put

We Do Our Part

A BIT OF HISTORY

In the archives it is recorded that on February 23, 1905, the service club movement was born. On that day four men gathered in Chicago and formed the first Rotary club, parent of all service clubs. That is historically correct, and yet not a few Rotarians browsing through forgotten literature have exhumed references to earlier organizations that have points of striking similarity to Rotary.

A little known Society of Philanthropists, for example, flourished in France some two hundred years ago. It sought to attain development of the individual, tolerance, and international understanding—objectives that sound like a paraphrase of Rotary's Six Objects. Furthermore, suggests a correspondent, were Confucius, the Chinese sage who was gathered to his fathers in 478 B. C., yet alive, he could accuse Rotary of plagiarizing the motto: "Service above self," from his: "Make your service the serious concern, and let wages be a secondary matter."

Too, the "unique" classification principle of Rotary is not so unique as supposed. In "RULES FOR THE TWO PENNY CLUB," by Joseph Addison, published in 1711, is this: "None shall be admitted into the Club that is of the same trade as any member of it."

Even the name Rotary was anticipated. In the Rev. James Woodforde's Diary, under date of January 13, 1777, is an account of his joining a "Club" called "Rotation." That name was selected because the group met in rotation at homes of the members—precisely the same reason for "Rotary" more than a century later!

If then, as appears plausible, the ideas and ideals and even elements of the organizational technique of Rotary were anticipated in human history, nice questions arise: Why has Rotary within thirty years established itself around the world? Why isn't the service club movement a hundred or two hundred years old? Has the modern service club something the others lacked.

Conoco Bureau Gives Data to 969,485 Tourists in 1934

The popularity of Texas as a mecca for automobile vacationists from all parts of the country is indicated by a report just released by the Conoco Travel Bureau, a branch of Continental Oil Company and America's largest free travel service. According to the report, 239,470 Travel Bureau tourists spent more than $9,852,480 in this state last year.

It was also revealed that motor travel throughout the entire United States was unusually heavy during 1934. Hotels, tourist camps, restaurants and many other types of business took in more money from tourists than during any other year since 1929. The Bureau supplied detailed trip services to 969,485 vacationists, a figure 41 per cent greater than the organization's total for 1933. Statistics also show that Travel Bureau tourists spent in excess of 40 million dollars while they were away from home.

The Conoco Travel Bureau is an organization maintained by Continental to provide motorists with up-to-date information on North American roads, routes, hotels, cottage camps, scenic and historical attractions plus any other data likely to make vacation trips pleasant and profitable. More than 100 carefully trained men and women are employed in the Bureau's central offices at Denver. Conoco's 22,000 service stations act as field branches. It is predicted that one and one-half million vacationists will rely on Travel Bureau assistance during 1935.

Rev. N. O. White To Speak At Church of Christ

You are invited to hear Rev. N. O. White of Anton, Texas, at the Church of Christ, 9th and Park ave., Littlefield, Texas, Sunday, March 17, at 10:30 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.

Our motto is, preach the Bible, nothing more, nothing less.

So come and enjoy it with us.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Evangelist John R. Denning, of Ralls, Texas, will again be in the pulpit of the Tabernacle Baptist Church next Sunday, and every member of the church is urged to be present at both services. The general public is also extended a cordial invitation to hear this most interesting speaker.

The sermon subjects for the day are as follows:

At eleven o'clock: "The Lord of the Harvest."

At eight o'clock: "Dare We Test God's Word in Littlefield?"

The Sunday school service begins at 9:45 a. m., and the lesson study is the second chapter of Second Timothy.

METHODIST CHURCH John Witt Hendrix, Pastor

Yes sir, we had two excellent services last Sabbath day. The house was well filled at the morning hour, and an interesting crowd at the evening service. The blow-over right at night quenched the flickering fire of enthusiasm of some, sure. But others come and we are expecting still others Sunday. Every one is welcomed but we still have some of our very own who have not achieved a custom of going to the temple of worship on the Sabbath as our Lord and Master had. Are you one of them?

Last Sunday we were preaching on being far sighted, this coming Sunday we shall endeavor to preach using as subject, "ON BEING NEAR SIGHTED." The senior choir will take part in the worship by singing well selected hymns. Have you heard them? The subject of the evening sermon will be "THE ROAD TO RUIN?" A few Saturdays ago a picture by this name appeared on the screen by this title. One of my young men took me along to see it. Here is where we got our theme. What does the world think is the road to ruin? Is the ministry and the world far apart on what it is? Let's look it over together next Sunday evening. The choral club will take part in the evening worship in hymns in which they have been carefully rehearsing. They have been most successful. They have been present every evening, storm or no storm. Have you heard them? One number last evening was worth your while.

Excellent College Grades Made By Local Students

The Littlefield High school was represented in college by six graduates this year. The report of these students at the mid-year shows that they made good. These people going to college for the first time were Fredda Charles Bills, Darrell Hemphill, Henry Brotherton, and Lwood Dow, Naomi Terry and Carmelita Terry. The first four named attended West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon and the two last named attended the Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge, La.

The test of the high school is brought out when pupils go to college. If their preparation is good their success in college is assured. The young men and young women completed a total of forty courses the first semester. Out of the total of forty courses there were 17.5% of the grades above 90; 37.5% of the grades above 80; 35% of the grades were above 75, and only 10 per cent below satisfactory. Of the group that went to Canyon, Fredda Charles Bills made distinctly the best grade. All her grades were B or above with four A grades. This is a very creditable record and Fredda Charles is to be congratulated. Naomi Terry who attended the Louisiana State University, made a very good record also. She made all above B grades except one. This was in physical training. These people are representing Littlefield High school in a very creditable manner.

DAYTIME FROCK

Pattern 8419: Smart women of larger size choose frocks of dignified beauty to best enhance their charm, because anything "kittenish" quite ruins their appearance. Quiet distinction and conservative but attractive styling characterize the frock sketched, which is modish and up-to-date in all its details and has a great deal of feminine appeal.

The simple, rolled collar has a quite high V neckline and pretty jabot arrangement. The saddle shoulders of the sleeves insure a good fit and have a slim fitted long cuff below the gathered fullness at elbow. Tucks at each side of the waist front add interest.

The yoke and panel front and back of the skirt are smooth and slenderizing. Inverted pleats finish the panels and give fullness at the lower edge.

Unique Program At Methodist Church Saturday Night

The First Methodist church was the scene of a most unique and interesting program last Saturday night. "The Good Will Ambassadors" of the Methodist Orphanage at Waco, gave the entertainment. In the troupe were twenty-four members of the Home, and Rev. and Mrs. Hubert Johnson, the young and efficient manager and his wife.

This orphanage has been running for forty-four years and during that time several thousand have entered, been trained and passed out to citizenship, and only a very few, two or three of these, have ever been up in court. This is held as a real home. No one is forced to stay, every one is there and remains there by choice; any one in the institution may go away at any time.

"It is fair to suppose," said Rev. Mr. Johnson, "if it were not for the orphanage many of these would be in the reform school." It is further fair to say some of them would be en route to the pen.

The program consisted of choruses, readings, numbers by an orchestra, and all of these numbers were of the very highest order. They performed to a full house and only those who were not present were the losers.

These young people were guests in pairs in the homes of the members of the church. Rev. and Mrs. Johnson were guests in the parsonage. In their tour they visited Littlefield, Sudan, Muleshoe, and First Methodist church, Lubbock.

SEVENTH INSTALMENT
... Ellen Chhurch, 17 old, finds herself alone in the world with her artist mother's last ringing in her ears, to "love" of the world she knew little of her life she had lived alone with her mother in an old brown house in a small rural community, Ellen, alone, turned to the only one she knew, an art agent in New York. Posing, years of posing, her only talent so she was introduced to two leading artists, Dick and Sandy Macintosh. Both her as a model and both fell in love with her... but Ellen, trying to follow the warped philosophy of her mother, to "love lightly," she thought of love. Her circle of friends is small, artists and two girl models. Ellen attends to her mother. While dancing a young man claimed her and she is born. A ride in the park, the next day marriage to a man of wealth. But she'd "love lightly," Ellen told herself. She never let him know how deeply she loved him, even though she was his wife. Ellen insists upon her own life, maintaining her in her own small room, even though Tony is wealthy. Jane, of a wealthy set, is disappointed in her sudden marriage to Ellen.

right—if he could go, tonight, to see another woman, why then—"
Poor little Ellen. She was right about herself! She was a fool. Being one, she said—
"I'm sure Jane understands you. By all means go to see her."
Tony was reaching for his hat. "I suppose," he said, "that as soon as I'm gone, you'll phone for Alven. I have no doubt that he understands you as well as Jane understands me."
Ellen was blinking to keep back the tears.
"Dick always leaves his receiver off, in the evening," she said. "He likes to work at night—he doesn't like interruptions. I couldn't reach him by telephone," she finished. "That ought to be a comfort to you."
"So it is," said Tony. He had his hat in his hand. He was fussing with the brim of it.
"So it is," said Tony again. He too was blinking.
Ellen was speaking. Out of turn again, but she couldn't help it. "Tony," she said, "believe this. You mustn't think that I phone to men—that I have them come up here, alone, with me at night. Dick stayed just once, after a little party. He stayed to talk about work. Then he asked me to marry him—that was the time. But I sent him right home. I—I've never had any of these sessions, Tony, like last night, and this evening. Except with you. I haven't lived in the city very long. Only three years. I'm—I'm not used to the racket, I suppose. But I've always wanted to keep myself, Tony... fer—" she paused. But up over her white little face a heavy flush came creeping.
Tony, fascinated, watched that flush. He saw it cover her chin, reddening her very ear lobes.
"Keep yourself," he echoed rather stupidly, "keep yourself—for what, Ellen?"
Ellen's whole heart was reaching out, her hands were reaching out. She couldn't help it.
This was love. This desire to give and give and give...
"To keep myself for my husband, Tony," she answered.
The boy was laying down his hat. He wasn't blinking any more, but he moistened his lips with his tongue, as if they were dry, before he spoke.
"You don't want me to leave, do you?" he said, and he was whispering too. "You would feel badly if I went to Jane, now?"
Ellen was retreating, somehow, before his advance—for Tony was advancing. But she had crossed, for the moment at least, her Rubicon.
"Yes, I would mind," she said.

"Just as much as you'd mind if you knew that I were going to stay here with Dick!"
She was back against the wall, now. But her eyes were lost in Tony's gaze. They were bluer than ever, Tony's eyes. Perhaps because they were wet.
"Darling," said Tony huskily, "you do love me!"
Ellen tried to deny it. To say that she didn't love him. She tried to, but the words stuck in her throat. With her eyes lost in his gaze, with the lovely color staining her childish throat, she nodded. Mutely, but vehemently.
She was held tightly in Tony's arms—so tightly that it hurt, that it left her breathless. Or was it the pounding of her heart that made breathing so difficult?
"Darling," Tony was saying, and his voice seemed to come from ever so far away, "I love you. You're my wife."
Automatically Ellen felt of her wedding ring with the thumb of her left hand.
"You're my wife!" Tony was saying. But she couldn't answer now, not the way the walls of the room were closing in, not the way the lights were dancing.
And then the lights had ceased to dance. For Tony's hand, feeling along the wall, had found the electric switch, and the world was all darkness—a sweet, warm, throbbing darkness.

Sanity always comes with the morning. Oh, sometimes it would be better, far better, if it didn't! Life can't just be left to slide along by daylight. Sanity brought Ellen back to earth with a thud. Her eyes were sober as she surveyed Tony, across her little breakfast table.
Tony wasn't sober. Tony wasn't sane. His eyes had a deep warm glow that lay back of them. No, Tony wasn't sober, that was why Ellen found it so hard to say what she felt she must.
For Ellen, this morning, had many things to say. Ellen had waked this morning a woman, and all of the fears that are woman's heritage lay on her heart.

Always to almost every bride, comes a moment of terror. A moment when, looking at her new husband, she asks an age-old question. "Will it always be like this?" she asks. Even though she knows, in her soul, that no fire can burn at fever heat eternally.
"O God," she prays, "let it be like this forever." Even though she knows that even God can not put the stamp of forever on earthly things!
Ellen was asking the same question that every bride asks, was saying the same prayer. But in her case, it wasn't a question—and it wasn't a prayer. It was a cruel fact that she was telling herself, and telling God, too.
"This won't last," she was saying in her soul. "It can't last. Oh, I won't let it hurt me—it mustn't kill me—when it's all over!"
Tony was speaking.
"I've got to go to the office this morning," he said, "for just a little while. I bet, honey, you're surprised. I bet you didn't have any idea I really worked! And then we'll take a honeymoon. We'll just go—we'll not plan where. We'll start for the place where the blue begins. We may end up a couple of other places. But it doesn't matter—as long as we're together!"

Ellen gulped down some coffee. "Tony," she said, "I—I hate to throw cold water on your plans, but I think it might be better if we put the honeymoon off for a little while..."
Tony's voice was hurt.
"But why?" he questioned. "We, of all married folks, need a honeymoon. To get acquainted!"
All at once he was out of his chair, was on Ellen's side of the improvised breakfast table, was on the arm of her chair.
"I didn't know," he said, "that being married was so—so swell. I didn't know that love could be like this!"
His head ducked down, was snuggled into the curve of Ellen's throat. He was kissing the place where a pulse throbbed crazily.
"Don't, Tony," she said, almost sharply. "Please don't. That's over."
Tony's arm tightened. His voice came in a muffled fashion, because his lips were against her throat.
"You mean that kissing's over?" he questioned, "the first day after we're married?"
Ellen tried to make the tone of her voice seem hard. It was time to make herself clear, at last. Her whole life might depend upon the stand she took—her every chance at happiness. She should love lightly.
"I told you," she said, "night before last when we met at the dance, that marriage—to me—was just marriage! That I wasn't in love with you, not in the way you mean."
"How," Tony questioned, "how about last night?"
"Last night," answered Ellen, "was hysteria. It wasn't love."
Slowly Tony was rising from the arm of Ellen's chair. He walked the length of Ellen's prim little room—and stood looking down, from her window, to the crowded street below.
"I guess you're right," he said, "about there being no honeymoon, for us. I guess you're right about the whole thing. Only I'll go a trifle farther than you've gone. Seems to me we don't belong together, at all, in a married sense, until you feel differently. It wouldn't be right, somehow, to go on living together. Not if you actually—and I believe the thought has penetrated into my brain at last—don't love me!"
Ellen's hand, flung out, knocked over a coffee cup. She hadn't expected Tony to go a step farther than she had gone.
Tony continued in a dull monotone.
"I'll go back to live at the club," he said. "You can stay here—you can have all the money you want of course—but we won't go hunting for an apartment. You've been right, I suppose, all the time—about not letting it get you. Well, it won't get me, either. I'll see you, but it won't be as if we're man and wife—I guess it's my turn to make terms! I won't try to hold you—you're the one, from now on, who must make the advances. But remember this. I don't want a bought-and-paid-for wife, not now. I don't really want half-portion love, any more. I want love to be—" he choked, he turned back again to the window, "as real," he finished, "as it seemed, last night."

Ellen put the cup right side up, on the table. "You're the head of the family," she said slowly. "I suppose it's up to you. Have it your own way. Only I'll take none of your money..."
Tony reached for his hat, as he had reached the last evening. Only this time he didn't hesitate in the doorway—this time Ellen didn't call him back.
"You're stepping out of character," he said shortly. "Well, see you soon," he called, as he clattered down the stairs. He might have been just anybody going out—just anybody at all!
Ellen called out the conventional reply. There might have been no sapphire hoop on her finger.
"That will be nice!" she answered.
And then she went back into the room and cleared off the table. It wasn't until she made the daybed, until, in a certain pillow, she saw a round dent that might have been made by a head, that she broke down.
"Oh, Tony, I love you!" she sobbed. "Oh, Tony, I want you! I want to be married to you—I want to be your wife. Come back to me!"
But Tony didn't come back. He was on his way to some office where he worked.

ter he had left her room, but she didn't have the opportunity at once to feel shy. For the first two days of the first week, she stayed at home waiting, expecting his momentarily to return. Flinching at the sound of every footstep on the stairs—shivering as she lay in bed, wide-eyed and sleepless. Not being wise enough to know that Tony was himself waiting wistfully, eagerly, for a sign from her. But after the first two days she didn't stay at home any more. Pride can be like that. She went out to luncheon with Gay, and talked blandly of the double standard.
It was after she had been married for two weeks—after she's lived through two aching weeks of not seeing Tony—that she met Sandy on the avenue one afternoon as she was going home. Sandy's attitude toward her was carefully veiled. Ellen could see that her marriage had given her an added importance in his eyes.
"Mind, Mrs. Brander," he asked, "if I walk along with you for a couple of blocks?"
Ellen laughed.
"A couple of blocks, at least, Sandy," she said. "For I'm not in a hurry to get anywhere."
Sandy's eyebrows were raised.
"The poppa got a night out?" he questioned. And added, "So soon?"
Ellen tossed her head.

Well, we had a change Sunday. Had a pretty day until that night. Had a cloud, got a little sand, then some rain and some sleet followed by snow. In all it will help us people look to the future with brighter hopes. This will make gardening time just around the corner for a few of the early vegetables at least. So many of us didn't get our budget of leafy vegetables canned so we will have to venture out and try our luck at early planting, even though we may get defeated by the "cold man and Mr. Jack Frost." BILL PROPOSES APPROPRIATION FOR RURAL AID

Several Other Bills Relating To Schools Before Legislature

The present legislature is making several suggestions as to school legislation that should interest the people as a whole. In a bulletin sent out by C. N. Shaver, president of State Teachers Association, attention is called to some of the bills affecting schools more especially.

One of the most important is the House bill 327 that proposes an appropriation of $5,000,000.00 for rural aid the next two years. In this bill all the equalization funds of the state are to be combined. The home economics and vocational agriculture will be included. Another bill will vary closely related to this one proposes that no district shall be eligible for aid unless it levies at least 75 cents on the $100,000 value.

House bill No. 104 would provide for a teacher retirement fund. The teachers themselves would provide most of the funds and the state would assist. This fund would be calculated to add to the security of the teacher and thereby cause the profession to attract more capable men and women.

House bill No. 245 would provide a tax of $2.00 per ton on sulphur produced in the state and $1.00 of this to be allotted to the available school fund, and the remainder to the general Revenue Fund of the State.

House bill No. 66 would reenact the cigarette tax and allocate the entire tax to the available school fund.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 24 proposes to provide by constitutional amendment free text books for pupils in secondary schools. This is important as most high schools are offering a big percentage of courses for which the state is not allowed to furnish texts under the old law.

A. Wadsworth, Wheeler cotton mill man, spoke favorably of a proposed mill here, and asked further information next man Gus Shaw of the local committee boosting the itinerant measure now calendared for Senate action, reported progress which may be found here in this issue.

Complete List of Requirements For Signups Announced

Contract signup days have been announced as follows: all old contracts in 1934, should report to the various local committees March 14, 15, 16, which is Thursday and Saturday of this week. This is the only signup period for old signers and they are urged to report to their committees at this time as this will be the only time that you will have the opportunity to sign up. Bring along with the information as to the number of bales you ginned in 1934 with average weight of those bales. This information must appear on forms to be signed, states D. Adam, county agent.

All cotton growers who did not sign a contract in 1934 who should report to their local committees beginning March 18 and later than the 23rd of March. This will be the signup period for new signers, and it is imperative that cotton growers who are signers report during that length of time, states D. A. Adam, county agent. Information that will have to appear on the cotton contract can be gotten from your copy of the head application. If you do not have this copy, all copies for signers will be in the hands of local committees in order that they might have the correct information as sworn to by producers last year.

It is very important that cotton farmers get the above times in their mind because the amount of money allotted to pay local committees is a specified amount and it is absolutely necessary that the signup is compiled on the above periods mentioned.

Ford Launches School for Salesmen

Ford sales training instructors from all parts of the country are shown above in a classroom at Dearborn, Mich., receiving final instructions for conducting the newly-launched sales training courses for all Ford V-8 salesmen.

A "GRADUATE COURSE" in merchandising and salesmanship for every Ford V-8 salesman in the United States, under the guidance of specially trained instructors located in 34 strategic cities throughout the country, is one of the newest enterprises of the Ford Motor Company.

In all the factory branches of the Ford Company, widely scattered over the entire United States, Ford salesmen from thousands of dealerships are receiving special courses in automotive salesmanship, sales methods and merchandising practices.

The Ford Motor Company has provided its instructors in the sales courses with all the modern educational equipment. Sound film projection equipment, cutaway models of Ford V-8 cars, advertising literature, charts, photographs and specially-prepared textbooks are being used in the intensive study. Prior to inaugurating the courses, the instructors studied sales methods under the guidance of the Ford general sales staff, and spent several days inspecting the Rouge Plant at Dearborn, Mich.

The training course is part of a continuous Ford educational program planned for 1935 and in future years, offering assistance to the Ford salesman in increasing his sales potentiality and his income.

Three Schools Ahead In State Curriculum Activity In District

The curriculum study in the Lamb County Teachers association is making progress. The teachers in every school are making some study of the problem. The District director requires a report of A. B. Sanders, Lamb County director. In making this inquiry as to the directed study of various groups it seems that the best organized groups are at the following schools: Spring Lake, Olton and Littlefield. Olton and Spring Lake having one study group that meets regularly and Littlefield having three such groups.

The teachers this year are attempting to get the idea about what is needed in the curriculum revision. The teachers of the Littlefield school express themselves that the New curriculum will provide more of a child centered school than the present. They venture that we will see more pupil activity in the schools of the future.

When all the school of Texas are following the curriculum the pupils over the state will be getting the same instruction in all schools. This particular feature is the idea back of the revision as well as other benefits to be incidental.

The study this year is to lead up to the production of curriculum building that will take place next year. The district director requests the names of people from each school who will be able to produce the actual revision materials for the new curriculum. The following folks are listed from Olton: F. M. Lawson, Virgil Gore and Miss Betty Ross Kerr. Those listed from Spring Lake are: M. J. Weaver, Reba Jenkins and from Littlefield are Miss Ruth Matthews, Margaret Teel, Edythe Walker, Mary Bell Montgomery, Earl Hobbs, W. T. Hanes, Nila Jones, Lora Mae McFarland and F. A. Hemphill.

This work is stimulating the school people all over the state as when they learn they try out the methods and thereby improve their schools.

Houses Built In Rehabilitation Plan

Austin, March 13—More than 10,000 houses have been constructed or repaired for families in the rural rehabilitation program and 3,000 more will be completed for occupancy within the next 90 days, it was estimated by V. R. Smitham, head of the rural department of the Texas Relief Commission.

"We are requesting $175,000 for construction of 500 four-room houses in our program for March," Mr. Smitham said.

The budget for this month also includes a $400,000 item for seed and fertilizer to meet needs of clients as planting time approaches. This amount, it is estimated, will supply 15,000 to 20,000 rehabilitation families with seed for subsistence crops and commercial planting, and fertilizer for approximately 8,000 families.

It is estimated $282,000 will be required to care for subsistence needs of 18,000 rehabilitation clients during March.

For carrying on soil erosion and conservation work, $100,000 is being requested.

Special request for March was for $530,000 to pay for 110,000 acres of tillable land leased for a period of three years upon which officials expect to place 5,500 families. Plots will range in size from 15 to 35 acres, depending on size of family, location and type of soil.

BRONCHIAL TROUBLES

FIRST WHITE CHILD
RUSK, Tex. (UP)—A picturesque old log mansion of pioneer days, whose first mistress was Helena Dill Berryman, said to be the first white child born in Texas, will be the object sought out by Centennial visitors who come to Cherokee county.

In 1880 Captain James Dill left his Baltimore home to become a trader in Nacogdoches, establishing his family on old North street. He was presented an intricately carved sword by the Spanish government in appreciation of his fair commercial dealings.

In 1804 his youngest child was born, named Helena for her mother. She was sent to boarding school at Natchitoches, La., and later married a young Virginia officer, Henry Berryman.

When Captain Berryman retired from the service, the couple settled on a Cherokee county league and built Forest Hill, which became a social center in the lavish ante-bellum days.

Mrs. Carl Yowell, great-granddaughter of the original mistress, now lives at Forest Hill and preserves its traditional hospitality.

The historic house is located five miles northeast of Alton.

Construction was underway Tuesday in the building of a granary at the farm belonging to Bill Cook, 5 miles northwest of Bula. Higginbotham-Bartlett supplied the lumber and H. P. Denton was the contractor on the job.

W. J. Harlan of nine miles southwest of Littlefield is having a water well drilled at his farm. John Cary is doing the work.

R. P. Dunn, formerly of Rising Star, Texas, will occupy the residence just completed by J. T. Hubbard, owner of that city, on his farm six miles east of Littlefield. The house, which is modern in all respects, contains five rooms and bath.

Mr. Dunn and Mr. Harris of Rising Star did the work.

The Commercial club met in its regular place March 5, 1935. Interesting talks were given by Alcyone Jones and Edith Cunningham, the latter being on "Mrs. John Nance Garner's Experience as Secretary for her husband." Alcyone's talk was on "What College is Best."

A very entertaining game called "Who," was played by the members of the club. The remainder of the period was spent discussing future programs. For next time each member is supposed to report on some topic pertaining to commercial work.

THREE EVENTS FEATURED AT ASSEMBLY

In honor of the excellent playing of Littlefield Kitties, each player was called before the assembly and their good merits, in district meet at Wilson were soon announced. Then the faculty gave sketches of the play to be presented Friday evening, March 8.

We also had guest Supt. Smith, and his four debaters from Bovina. The boys, Delvin Smith and Melvin Stagner debated against our Littlefield boys, Emery Glass and A. B. Taylor.

JOKES

Miss Hopping: "Don't you miss your husband when he is traveling?"
Mrs. Hemphill: "Oh, no. I have a wonderful scheme; I prop a newspaper up in front of his plate at breakfast and I often completely forget that he isn't there."

Bobbie: Daddy, what is dew?
Mr. Hanes: The rent, the note at the bank, and the installment on the car.

T. R.: How does your sister like the engagement ring I gave her?
Buford: It's a bit small, and she has a hard time getting it off when the other fellows call.

Donald: You will always look the same to me, my darling.
Faye: Foolish boy! And I have ordered ten new gowns already.

Mr. Sanders: What I say to my wife goes!
Mr. Burdette: You don't say!
Mr. Sanders: Yes, it goes all over the neighborhood.

How to Dispose of Apples is Problem

DALLAS, Tex., March 13, (UP) How to dispose of 100,000 apples that can't be eaten is a problem that is bothering United States marshals here.

They received orders from Federal Judge W. P. Atwell to destroy a carload of apples which have been sprayed with arsenic, a deadly poison, and which are condemned under the Pure Food and Drugs act.

Apples won't burn. They can't be thrown onto a trash dump because of the danger of persons eating them and becoming poisoned. Burying them calls for an excavation of cumbersome proportions.

Notice To Residents Of Lamb, Bailey And Hockley Counties

The Lamb County Burial Club is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to provide mutual protection for its members in case of death from any cause. The benefits are as follows: Infants, $25; ages 1 to 5, $50; ages 5 to 13, $85; ages 13 to 75, $150. One membership covers every member of the family, regardless of size. These benefits are paid to the undertaker who has charge of the funeral, but in case the burial expense should be less than the benefit, the balance is paid to the beneficiary in cash.

This club was organized 10 months ago and already has a membership of between 500 and 600 in Lamb, Bailey and Hockley Counties, the territory included in the club. During this time there have been 14 deaths, but there have been only 3 assessments made for burial purposes. It is conservatively estimated that when the membership totals 1,000 members or more, the cost per family will not be over $6.00 per year. No family can afford to be without this protection at this low cost.

Every member of this club has a voice in its operation. He has the privilege of voting on members of the board of directors at the annual meetings, the next one of which will be held in August. There is only one salary paid—to the secretary—and that is very small. Neither the treasurer nor the president has the authority to disburse money without the signature of the other on the check. The bank account of the club is always open for inspection, so that all may know the actual financial condition of the organization.

Every undertaker in Lamb County is a member of the Club and heartily endorses it. Every member of the Commissioners Court of Lamb County is a member of the club, and the Court went on record at its meeting in Olton, February 4, as heartily endorsing the club, as follows:

We, the members of the Commissioners Court of Lamb County, in regular session with every member present, do hereby endorse the work of the Lamb County Burial Club and express our confidence in the officers and board of directors of said club. Signed: Simon D. Hay, County Judge; Don Bryant, Commissioner Precinct No. 1; L. A. Daniels, Commissioner Precinct No. 2; Roy Gattis, Commissioner Precinct No. 3; Ellis J. Foust, Commissioner Precinct No. 4.

EIGHT TEAMS ARE ON THE LINE AS LEAGUE BOARD GETS SET TO SEND 1935 RULES THRU SIFTER

With eight teams on the line, City Softball League lists were closed early this week and the Littlefield Athletic association board settled down to the serious business of putting their okay on a set of rules and by-laws which would stand up under fan fire.

Teams which officially make up the league are the Firemen, Businessmen, Flyers, (managed by G. A. Dunn, Jr.), Sunnydale, American Legion, All Stars, and two teams managed by T. J. Watson and Earl Hobbs.

Earl's squad, said to have most of the Faculty crew of last season in its lineup, will probably be known as the Faculty again this year. Entry of the Faculty closed Secretary Wm. N. Orr's lists immediately following announcement that the Legionnaires were definitely on the ledger.

Jim Davenport is manager of the All Stars. Bob Cox will again direct the Firemen, and it is understood that J. A. Hanks will keep his post as Sunnydale steerman. The businessmen have not yet announced a manager, and the Legion appointee will be made known shortly.

A list of by-laws submitted by Committeemen E. S. Rowe, Arthur Mueller and E. C. Cundiff will go under the directors' glass probably Monday night. All team managers will get a copy of the approved rules.

Nurses of the Niblic Will Meet Slaton

Littlefield's hopeful divot-diggers, some 20 strong, will converge on Slaton Sunday week for the first of the South Plains League golf tournaments, announced E. C. Cundiff Wednesday.

Cundiff is acting secretary of the club, in the temporary absence of A. R. Hendricks.

Local golfers, both potent veterans and not so potent embryos, are closing a week of strenuous rounds made possible by a lift in sandy weather. Cards approaching, and a few notching, par golf have been turned in several times, and Littlefield candidates expect to overcome the foreign course handicap by some wicked wood work and smooth iron performance.

SPORT WORLD

By BILL NORRIS

ODE

Spring haz kame,
And flying sand
Doth spread in dunes
About the land.

Don't fret if stuff
Gets in your eye;
It's just a county
Passing by.

And with this amiable little sentiment goes the word that the City Softball League list is full. By the time you read this, only filing of complete membership of each team stands in the way of drawings for the season's opening half.

MANAGERS: Don't forget that you must file your squad list, signed personally by each of your 15, or less, players, with Secretary Orr right away. The deadline is supposed to be Friday, the 15th.

Have you noticed the ease with which City Softball machinery is gliding through organization preliminaries? Eight teams have slapped down 120 potatoes to get their names on the books, managers are lining up players without any particular trouble, arrangement of lights is in the competent hands of Utilitarian Sam Batton, and the board of directors is happily tying up loose ends of the by-laws drawn up by Messrs Rowe, Mueller and Cundiff.

And, if the cricks don't friz, actual League play will begin early in April. Verily, all is bliss in the softball camps this night, my hearties—especially when you consider that organized play last year didn't get under way until well into the merry month of May.

Switching to basketball for ladies, look what the Kitties did at the district meet at Wilson last week:

Tied with Ropes for first in number of awards; placed Opal Carpenter at the head of the three outstanding players out of 120 girls; placed Opal as high point player of the tourney, with 98 points; placed two girls, Opal and Maedean Kimmel, on the All-District team; won second place in the district; placed Capt. Oma Carpenter as medalist for most spectacular shot of the tourney; placed Opal as one of two medalists for most points in any one game, (21 points for tie with Crow of the Ropes champions); and was the only team on which every girl making trip won an award.

How does that taste, fans? Concerted opinion of coaches present has it that the Kitties, under ordinary circumstances, could have taken Ropes for an easy ride. Thrown back on their heels by the wearing game with Shallowater, the Kitties went in against Ropes with their tongues figuratively dragging the court.

And any fan will emphatically inform you that the Kitty victory over Shallowater, who thrice trimmed them in earlier matches, was enough to make any Texas high school team fit for a rest cure.

Coach Robnette is a mite leery of the invitation to the A. A. U. at Plainview week after next. Kind gentlemen of the Athletic association worked with generous trades and professional folk to finance the Wilson trip, and what remains will take care of the Kitties' share of awards money.

So the Kitty saga for this season, excepting the A. A. U. closes in a blaze of glory. Here's a resume of games for 1934-35:

Morton 52, Kitties 55; Whitharral 22, Kitties 38; Morton 34, Kitties 32; Muleshoe 23, Kitties 31; Canyon 4, Kitties 34; Shallowater 28, Kitties 27; Channing 22, Kitties 31; Anton 26 Kitties 31; Idalou 6, Kitties 26; Meadow 13, Kitties 28; Pettit 26, Kitties 41; Ropes 52, Kitties 32; Sudan 23, Kitties 34; Spade 46, Kitties 56; Ropes 45, Kitties 54; Spade 24, Kitties 47; Lazbuddy 21, Kitties 46; Muleshoe 60, Kitties 57; Shallowater 27, Kitties 47; Whitharral Ind. 15, Kitties 47; Courty Line 8, Kitties 30; Anton 11, Kitties 40; Morton 40, Kitties 47; Southland 23, Kitties 41; Spade 23, Kitties 49; Shallowater 25, Kitties 29; Muleshoe 31, Kitties 41; Southland 33, Kitties 19; Wilson 21, Kitties 38; Southland 27, Kitties 33; Abernathy

Vice-President Babe Ruth of the Braves

BOSTON . . . "Babe" Ruth (left), got a new baseball thrill when he signed a 3 year contract with Judge Emil Fuchs, whereby he became Vice-President and Assistant-Manager of the Boston (N. L.) Braves. Boston fans greeted the Babe by the thousands in welcoming him back to the town where he started his major league career 21 years ago.

BRACK HOPES TO LAND WILDCAT THINCLADS AT TOP OF HEAP AT OLTON MEET WEEK AFTER NEXT

Coach Barksdale's thinclads, forced to be content with third place in county track and field events for the past two seasons, are grinding through stiff workouts daily in a comeback program which the Littlefield mentor hopes will land his boys in the ace competition spot week after next.

Short of material in several events, Barksdale faces a grim task. He has set himself to mould about 15 likely contenders into a squad to represent the school in every event, but only two or three likely candidates are showing what it takes to pickup first place pointage.

Yantis, little sprinter, and Pierce, hard-working pole vaulter, are fairly strong candidates, Brack hopes to eke out enough points to pull his lads out of a third-place hole where they've rested, beneath Olton and Spade, for the past two years.

29, Kitties 33; Ropes 34, Kitties 32; Shallowater 31, Kitties 37; Ropes 42, Kitties 34.

Best of all, it gives added spring, and should increase the lanky Barksdale's best leap of 10 feet six. Sooner or later, this modernistic pole will replace altogether the old bamboo. Why not this season, Brack?

While tender shoots are pushing their way up through the sand grains of the local golf course, adherents of the art of ironlore and woodcraft are getting set to blast Slaton off her own course the first of the South Plains League turnneys a week from Sunday.

Hot shots in play last season, and a wealth of likely new followers of the game, will no doubt make it tough for Slaton's best. Golf, as you can daily see if you live near the course, is taking a firmer clutch on Littlefield this year than ever before.

About eight South Plains cities are organizing poste haste for League play Lubbock's Meadowbrook's ladder qualifiers have all turned in cards, and a Littlefield-Meadowbrook tourney is very close. And, incidentally, when Littlefield and Meadowbrook clash, the sound can be heard in the next county.

Let's go to Slaton a week from Sunday and gallery the boys around. Watching the kinks come out of sore muscles will alone be entertainment enough.

This column has joined hands with the "We Think" dept. in getting ready for the gowl-of season. "We Think" works out in the print-shop daily. He dug three holes in the floor, undermined one cylinder press and overturned five trays of type.

"How did this happen?" demanded an angry printer yesterday. "Guess I just didn't stop to think," replied "We Think." Always good for a parody or two.

Wonder what Pierce, Wildcat vaulting flash, could do with one of the new aluminum poles? This 16-foot stick weighs no more than the bamboo variety, and is of the same circumference, but doesn't taper off at the top end. It is guaranteed not to break.

Never before has the subscription price of the Leader been reduced—subscribe now at the special low price.

GIRLS LOSE TO ROPES SIX BY SALVAGE HO

A heart-breaking 42-34 in the final game at the hands of the refreshed and rested Ropes gave Littlefield's wornout second place in the District which closed at Wilson a Wednesday night. Ropes won first place.

Coach Robnette's girls their way through Southland, nathy, Wilson and Ropes in primary games the preceding week to reach the three-team final. Ropes, which had played only games up to the finals, trounced Shallowater, 37-21.

Score by quarter in the water game: Littlefield 7, Shallowater 2; Littlefield 17, Shallowater 6; Littlefield 27, Shallowater 17; Littlefield 37, Shallowater 31.

The Kitties jumped into a lead against Ropes in the match and led 13-9, at the of the first quarter. Falling in strength found the count 21-7. Ropes at mid-mark. Although even terms the rest of the route, Littlefield trailed ten points at third quarter closed.

Littlefield tied with Ropes number of awards, each team ceiving 14 of the 60 miniature basketballs awarded District 3 officials.

Eleven Kitty Cagers To Receive Sweaters

Sweaters for 11 Kitty cagers Business Manager Gene Williams Coach Naomi Robnette were awarded Tuesday. The sweaters will arrive in about 12 days.

Girls to receive awards are: wards, Capt. Oma and Opal Carpenter; Genave Mason, Lela Hay, Willis and Wanda Dunn; Alma Edwards, Lucille McCann, Maedean Kimmel, Jerrone Whinn and Edna Belle Gillette.

LAMESA LOSES STATE

Lamesa Tornadees, Region-3 case champs, were whipped by De-ton Bronces in the state championship final at Austin Saturday. Final score, 38-29. Lamesa reacts finally by trouncing tough Hays Springs outfit. Harrell, Tornade tipoff, was All-State choice.
