WHO WILL BE FIRST?
 ALL sit around and about the awful mess government subsidies government aid... the farmer says he'd like to loose from government control, yet he is reluctant to face two or three years poor or no prices until supply and demand of his crops can adjust itself. The merchant hollars for subsidies, yet he wants the subsidy money at the farmer brings to him, so he sorta hesitates ask for two or three years of operation in the LADY writes a letter to the editor of the Fort Worth paper last Sunday asking about her Congressman Jim Wright who just helped Fort Worth to its aircraft factory... another government subsidy... Fort Worth did miss that money as much as we here in Littlefield would miss farm government money!

WHO WILL be first to get out and say "I'll along without government monies and government control? The Borger school board is one of the few that has voted to without government room help. The full of this event is in on two of this paper "Our Contemporary Say".

Individuals are reluctant to ask for release government monies... newspapers are subsidizing too. A few individuals refusing government subsidies indicates a good in the right direction, yet it isn't a bucket to what needed at headquarters Washington.

WHY WE don't count as individuals... our individual vote for conservative type men in Washington will someday about new laws that cut off too much government spending, too government control with it... and like reduce taxes. (When farmer and business weather two or three years of bad business while supply and demand is adding, they certainly going to be paying income taxes.

LONGING to the Republican party doesn't necessarily mean all Republicans are conservative... these staunch Democrats are not all liberals either wingers. Our final vote for a conservative on Page Eight)

Train Derails Sunday

SUDAN--Thirty-five cars of an 111-unit Santa Fe train derailed east of Sudan Sunday afternoon, spilling tons of non-inflammable potash over tracks in front of the Sudan Livestock and Feeding Co.

No one was injured in the accident. Officials of the railroad said that a wheel axle on one of the cars broke, causing a chain-reaction smashup. Passers-by at the scene of the derailment said that "the potash flowing out of the wrecked cars sounded like water going over a waterfall."

Most of the 35-damaged cars were ripped open and overturned. A few were left standing. A Press reporter on the scene described one of the cars--an empty oil tanker--as looking as if it had been "attacked with a giant cannoner."

A passenger train, going from Clovis to Lubbock had to be re-routed through Canyon, but the tracks were cleared for travel in less than 24 hours.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

July 17, 1961

Dear Mr. Editor,
I see in your Sunday paper where Security State got full credit for winning the minor Little League. Let's take a good look at what really happened. At the end of the regular 10 game schedule, this is how the teams officially finished: VFW, first; Compress, second; Security State, third; Press, fourth; Citidel, fifth; and Co-op Gin, sixth, and the leagues records will verify this. This is the point I would like to get across. Security State only won third in the league and two post league games. There was no two teams tied for any one place, so how could there have been a four team play off for the championship of the whole league when no one tied?

Let's use this as an example, and it's the same kind of a deal as we had in the little league. Say at the end of the regular season, the Wildcats win first in the district, but the football officials say, "okay we're going to take the 4 top teams and have a tournament. The Wildcats' district title will be at stake to the winner, even should it be the 4th place team, and they will be given full honors as district champs." The Wildcats would only be given credit as being defeated in the tournament. The fans would tar and feather the officials for suggesting such an unfair deal. This is exactly what we had in the title as minor league winners. Can this paper or the Little League officials give a rule that authorizes this unfair practice? If so I believe it should be changed immediately. The tournament was good. No complaints. When Press defeated VFW, the fans saw as perfect a ball game as could possibly be played by 9 and 10 year old boys. It was the best game ever played in Littlefield Little League. Press won fair and square. That loss put the 4th place team ahead of the first with only one win. Security State then defeated the second place team and Press, and got full honors for winning the whole league. The tournament was good for the boys, but why give the second, third, and fourth place teams a chance to win honors with only two games they couldn't get in ten games? Is this right by baseball rules?

The coaches spent a lot of hours of their off time with the boys making league winners of the VFW, and the boys played their hearts out to be the league winners, and was, but the third place team won the tournament and got the honors VFW should have. I ask this. Why shouldn't the league officials examine the official standings of the 10 game season, confirm VFW as the official league winners, and Security State as tournament winners, and not of the whole league. Can they deny this is the way it actually ended? The records proves it did. I believe the first place team should be confirmed as such. If this practice continues, any 4th place team can officially be league winners.

Little League is supposedly for the boys. Is this practice fair to them? If this practice continues, the first place team will have to win the championship twice in one year. One time is sufficient in any league. Take all games played, tournament and all, won and lost, and VFW is still on top. Does this make them league losers or winners.

Sincerely,

servative candidate in the months and years to come will either get us loose from the government or continue the pattern of no return to private enterprise.

What is a conservative type man? Basically he is a man that believes that all debts must be paid... that you can't continue to spend money in all directions without considering where the money is coming from!

WHO IS SUBSIDIZED? ... obviously all of us are as illustrated by the following little story:

A young man lived with his parents in a public housing development. He attended public school, rode the free school bus and participated in the free lunch program. He entered the Army and upon discharge retained his national service insurance. He enrolled in the state university, working parttime in the state capitol to supplement his GI education check.

Upon graduation he married a public health nurse, bought a farm with an FHA

Fred Seif of Levelland has been employed at the Littlefield Press as offset production manager it was announced by Publisher Wendell Tooley this week. Seif will take over the composition department of the Littlefield newspapers and will be learning the new offset method of printing. He is a graduate of the Levelland High School and attended the University of Texas one year, majoring in finance. He has 2 1/2 years of photography work at the Levelland newspaper and Photocraft in Levelland. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon at the University. Seif is a member of the National Guard and will be in summer training at North Fort Hood, for the next two weeks. He plans on getting married in September and will then make his home in Littlefield.

loan, and obtained an RFC loan to go into business. A baby was born in the county hospital. He bought a ranch with the aid of the veteran's land program and obtained emergency feed from the government. Later he put part of his land in the soil bank and payments soon paid out his farm and ranch. His father and mother lived very comfortably on the ranch on their social security and old-age assistance checks. REA lines supplied electricity. The government helped clear his land. The county agent showed him how to terrace it; then the government built him a fish-pond and stocked it with many fish. The government guaranteed him a sale for his farm products at higher prices.

Books from the public library were delivered to his door. The government insured the money he banked. His children grew up, entered public schools, ate free lunches, rode free school buses, played in public parks, swam in public pools and joined the FFA. The man owned an automobile so he favored the Federal Highway program.

He signed a petition seeking federal assistance in developing an industrial project to help the economy of his area. He was a leader in obtaining the new post office and Federal building and went to Washington with a group to ask the government to build a great dam costing millions so that the area could get "cheap electricity." He petitioned the government to give the local air base to the county. He also was a leader in the movements to get his specific type of farming special tax write offs and exemptions.

Then one day he wrote his congressman: "I wish to protest these excessive governmental expenditures and attendant high taxes. I believe in rugged individualism. I think people should stand on their own two feet without handouts. I am opposed to all socialistic trends and I demand a return to the principles of our Constitutions and the policies of states' rights." --Utah Title News

SALUTE TO LOCAL

Mrs. C. M. Eudy, 711 E. 5th, cans vegetables and fruit from her yard for the year. Gardening is a hobby with Mrs. Eudy, who does all the work involved, as Mr. Eudy is a semi-invalid and is unable to assist her. In her vegetable garden, from which she gets a "thrill" picking, she has lettuce, onions, cucumbers, beans, peas, beets, squash and a prize strawberry bed. At her first picking this year she got eight gallons of berries from the six rows of Gem berries. She pours water on the plants and keeps them well pruned. She said that most of her garden survived the hail and is coming out again. Mrs. Eudy also has and enjoys several varieties of flowers in her yard.

CENTER LEFT

Shown is the garden of the Jess Inman's, 311 E. 9th. Jess has planted his garden since the hail, and now has a "good stand" of tomatoes, beans, okra, radishes, mustard greens, beets and carrots. He enjoys gardening, but Mrs. Inman adds, "more than that, we enjoy eating the vegetables."

BELOW LEFT

Shown in her flower garden is Mrs. C. A. Shipp, 1323 Monticello. Mrs. and C. A. work this garden as well as a large vegetable garden. Included in the flower garden are 30 different kinds of flowers including dahlias, gladiolas, tulips, cannas and roses while the vegetable garden has beans, peppers, peas, okra and others. Mrs. Shipp said the hail almost ruined her floral and vegetable plants but they have come back well. The Shipp's have large gardens each year and "enjoy working with growing things."

BELOW CENTER

Shown here is the cactus garden of Mark Randall, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Randall, 101 E. 15th, who began his garden about a year ago. His parents helped him with the planning of the garden, but he has done the collecting of the seven or more varieties of cacti. He has plants from East Texas and other he found near Bull Lake and Amherst. He has several Hedgehog cacti, a low cactus that blooms in the spring in hues of dark purple, pink, yellow, and red. The blooms become a red fruit with seeds. Among the other varieties are the prickly pear and barrel cactus. Mark takes of the entire yard, but gives special attention to his cactus garden.

$100 Million Increase Possible For Farmers

Many Texas farmers can increase significantly their net income by utilizing more fully presently known technology, according to Director John E. Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He said that farm families could increase their annual net income at least $100 million by using the most advanced technological and management practices. Hutchison's statement followed an evaluation of first-year results in Extension's intensified soil fertility program which was launched early in 1960. Initially, 12 counties representing different major land resource areas were selected to participate in the pilot project. They included 4 counties on the High Plains, 3 on the Coast Prairie and 5 in Northeast Texas where both Blackland and sandyland were involved. Emphasis was given to crop production practices important to those areas. These included the use of fertilizer based on soil tests, planting the best varieties of crops, effective insect and disease control, appropriate soil and water conservation measures and other practices based on the best research information available.

Results were obtained by comparing net profits from crops grown under advanced technological methods with income from carefully controlled check plots where usual farming practices were employed. Increased net income reported ranged from $1.85 per acre to $52.07 per acre. In one county, Red River, 47 demonstrations indicated that net income of the county could be increased $2.9 million if all farmers followed recommended practices.

"If results in the 12 pilot counties are indicative of what can be accomplished on a state-wide basis, it means a potential equivalent to an important new industry in each Texas county," Hutchison said. The immediate success of the pilot project already has prompted 17 additional counties to initiate an intensified soil fertility program and many others are making plans to follow suit.

"The key to the success of this venture was the active participation of local people under the direction of County Program Building Committees," Hutchison emphasized. In each county, local agricultural and civic leaders assisted the county extension staff in carrying out the program. USDA personnel and soil conservation district supervisors also played an active role. Other cooperating organizations included the Texas Plant Food Educational Society, the National Plant Food Institute, American Potash Institute and the Texas Agricultural Limestone Association.

"This success presents a challenge to the total leadership and educational forces of the state, for here is proof that the problem primarily is one of the man and not of the land," Hutchison said.

Wheat Test Results Are Revealed

Seventeen varieties of wheat were tested at the Plains Research Station at Halfway during the 1960-61 season. Wheat was planted on June 15, 1960 and harvested June 24, 1961. Del Langford, Associate Agronomist, in making the test said that the wheat was an intrastate variety test made in cooperation with Dr. I. Kins, Agronomist in charge of Small Grain Research for the state of Texas A. & M. pre-plant fertilizer application was 300 pounds (30-10), applied on June 7th. A top-dressing of 30 pounds of nitrogen from ammonium sulfate was made in March. Wheat was not grazed. Yields of the different varieties were: Improved Concho, 85.9 bushels; Triumph, 85.5 bushels; Blackhull, 76.8 bushels; Concho, 76.6 bushels; a hybrid MQ-ORO chita, 70.5 bushels; Blackhull, 68.7 bushels; Kharosh, 67.5 bushels; Triumph, 67.5 bushels; Crockett, 67.5 bushels; Comanche, 67.5 bushels; Red Chief, 67.5 bushels; Wichita, 62.1 bushels; Bison, 57.9 bushels; Rodco, 47.0 bushels; Tejas, 46.3 bushels; Tejas, 46.3 bushels.

LAKE PUMP--The above pictured lake pump is on the E. C. Jones farm, one mile east of Olton. It is used to pump water from a lake for irrigation. At the same time, more of Jones' land is being cleared of lake water so that it can be farmed, saving both land and water.

Conservation Measures Urged By SCS

"Know your land and decide what to do about it," says Wiley Mudgett, chairman of the Lamb County Board of Supervisors. The purpose of every conservation farm program is to develop a farm plan that will utilize every acre to maximum productivity. Such a plan will let the farmer work at top capacity, with a minimum loss of soil and water. An individual farmer can begin to earn soil and water dividends immediately; anything done to prevent wind or water erosion is an important step toward an over all program. Practices such as strip cropping or terracing are either free or inexpensive because of the land protection and the boost in yields from the crops.

Farmers who are interested in or who plan on applying any kind of conservation practices are urged to contact the Soil Conservation Service office

Milking Shorthorn Steer

(Editor's Note: The following article appeared in the July, 1961 Milking Shorthorn Journal and was written by V.M. Peterman who farms near Rocky Ford.)

Ever stop to think that approximately 50 per cent of all bovine animals are of the male sex? Of these only about one in twenty are needed for reproduction. Therefore, forty-seven and one-half per cent of all cattle are born with no other purpose than to become beef for human consumption. Ever stop to think that it is very important that this beef must be of the right quality and grade to satisfy the American public? Now let us consider what happens eventually to the other one-half of the cattle race. All breeding stock eventually goes the same route as that of the steer. They too must be of the right kind to make good beef.

Did you ever try eating a steak or any other kind of beef from one of those strictly dairy type of cattle? Pretty tough and no flavor; makes mighty poor eating. Now have you ever purchased a steak or any kind of meat from one of those little squatty, short-legged, strictly beef type steers that are on the market today? Pretty good eating, but just notice how much waste--pure tallow that is not fit for human consumption. Out of a pound of such meat you eat about half and leave the rest on your plate. A few years ago every packer was trying to get choice and prime beef before the public. Housewives have come to notice that this is not the best neither from a health nor economic standpoint. Today the medium grade of beef is far more in demand than that bunch of fat that goes to the garbage pail.

Have you ever (I'm sure if you are a Milking Shorthorn breeder you have) taken one of those good steers, given him about 120 days of corn and then butchered him for your own eating pleasure? Try half of him on your local butcher. See what he and his customers think of this kind of beef.

Milking Shorthorns are not only one of the highest milk producing breeds today, but they have more quality in their salvage value than any other kind of cattle. Milking Shorthorn steers with equal care will net more return than any of the beef breeds.

In the West and Southwestern part of this land of ours, we have a great number of breeders who are not professional dairymen, but just wish to keep a small group of cattle, raise good calves and have all the milk they want for home consumption. Many of these breeders go to the local market, buy an extra calf and put it on the cow with her own when she freshens. She raises him two or more good calves that will bring him more money or net return than if he had gone to the trouble of milking the cow all year. Steers from this kind of handling are becoming more and more in demand. Many city workers are moving to the outer edge of town seeking freedom of activities and something to occupy the three-fourths of their time that modern working conditions have forced upon them. These fellows, and I mean lots of them, like to keep a few cattle, raise calves for their own food and to sell to subsidize their income. Now these guys want a cow that will give a lot of milk and raise the kind of calves that will be good eating and profitable to sell. Most of these fellows know about the dual qualities of Milking Shorthorns and are becoming good customers for the breeders. Most everyone takes pride in owning a registered or purebred animal and realizes the value is there. Let us all be sure to give these new breeders a chance to get started. We need them in our organization and we too can be helpful to them.

Back to steers, the writer of this article has been in the Milking Shorthorn business for 35 years and they have been good to us--both profitable and enjoyable. We have a small ranch or pasture as you care to call it and keep a lot of commercial cattle. Being of rather reduced circumstances financially we have to resort to the kind of cattle we can afford to buy. Last year we had some 40 head of Angus cows, about the same amount of Hereford cows, and then some 16 head of Milking Shorthorn cows. They all run together in the same pasture, had the same care and treatment in every respect. We steered all the bull calves and weaned them in October. On October 8 they all sold at the same market. The Hereford steers weighed 410 and brought $28.60 per hundred weight. The Angus steers weighed 401 and sold for $29.20. The Milking Shorthorn steers weighed 580 and sold for 26 cents. Now do a little figuring. The Herefords brought $109.88. The Angus $117.09, and the Milking Shorthorns turned in a nice return at $150.00. Seems like anyone could see that Milking Shorthorn steers should be about as big an asset to the breeder as the dairy end of the deal.

Now there is being a lot of stress put on the milking end of our cattle, and rightfully so. You can't raise a good steer without a lot of milk and you can't get a lot of milk from just any kind of a cow.

NOW'S THE TIME to save more truck dollars on the more-for-your-dollar trucks!

Your truck dollars are worth a whole lot more at your Chevrolet dealer's right now! First off, you get a head start on saving because summer's the saving season. Then, with a harder working, easier riding Chevy truck, you're set to save every mile you haul. And, finally, at trade-in time, you can expect an extra dividend because of Chevy's traditionally higher resale value. What could be better?

Summer's the season to get extra mileage from your dollars on the trucks built to give you extra miles of hauling. With Independent Front Suspension, Chevrolet trucks keep going thousands of miles longer because far less destructive jar and shake are transmitted through the truck. Chevy I.F.S. trucks work harder, too, in areas where other trucks have to be pampered. And, with Chevy's wide choice of thrifty 6 and hardy V8 power, you can tailor your truck exactly to your job. So how can you miss--especially now during the summer saving season?

Sandhills Philosopher Claims Family Farms Here To Stay

Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses the future of the family-size farm this week, without doing anything about his.

worry, any direction you want to look, and always has been. Everybody talks about the un-fair odds farmers are fighting, and it's true, and in many cases it's true that you don't make any money farming these days, still at the same time the picture isn't all black--some years you lose a lot less than you do others.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Dear editor:
The future of the so-called family farm has been discussed thoroughly back and forth in recent years, especially by big city newspapers and magazines trying to get their minds off the uncertain future of cities, and they all conclude that there's no point in trying to artificially prop up the family-type farm if it can't stand along, without of course interfering with the urban renewal plans designed to prop up cities that can't stand alone.

It was therefore with a certain amount of puzzlement that I read an article by a columnist in a paper I found out here on this Johnson grass farm yesterday reporting that he had found out that the House Agricultural Committee in Washington had "voted that family farms should not be preserved."

The reason I'm puzzled is that I had no notion the future of this farm was in the hands of a committee in Washington. The power of the vote is tremendous, but I don't believe they've made the ballot yet that's strong enough to determine the future of this farm. As best I can tell, it's future is in my hands, and right now I ain't predicting which way it'll go. It'll take more than a vote by Congress to eradicate the Johnson grass our here, not to mention several other improvements staring me in the face.

Actually, I don't know what the future of the family-size farm is, but I doubt if it's any gloomier than the future of the nation-size nation or the world-size world. There's room for

New Social Security Law Is Explained

Recent changes in the social security law directly affect a great many persons aged 62 or older, giving them social security benefits for the first time or increasing benefits already payable to them, John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security Office, said today.

The new law makes the following changes:

1. Men now have an option of retiring at age 62 with lower benefits or of waiting until age 65 and collecting higher benefits.
2. Widow's benefits are increased by about 10 percent.
3. Minimum benefits are raised.
4. The amount of work under social security needed to get benefits is lowered.
5. People who receive only part of their benefits for a year because they earn over $1200 will have a smaller amount deducted.

6. Social security taxes go up slightly beginning January 1, 1962.

Under the new provisions, men can begin collecting benefits at age 62 if they choose, just as women have been able to do since 1956. But workers who decide to take benefits before they reach 65 will get less per month than they would if they waited until age 65, Hutton said.

The sooner a worker takes his benefits after age 62, the greater the reduction in his benefits will be. However, the reductions are figured so that on the average people may expect to receive about the same amount if they get reduced benefits beginning before age 65, or wait until they reach 65 and collect higher monthly amounts, based on a normal life expectancy. The new amendments raise the aged widow's benefit from the present 75 percent of the husband's retirement benefit to 82.5 percent, beginning August, 1961, Mr. Hutton said.

The same increase will be made in the benefits of aged dependent widowers and those of aged parents if there is only one dependent parent surviving.

An increase of up to $7 in the minimum old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits is due beginning with the benefit check for the month of August. The present minimum is $33; the new minimum payment will be $40.

Another change lowers the amount of work credit required for old-age and survivors benefits. The new law makes payments possible for a person who has work credit for one calendar quarter for each year after 1950 and up to the year he reaches 65 (62 for women).

This means that a man who reached 65 or a woman who reached 62 before 1958 will need credit for only a year and a half of work under social security to qualify for retirement benefits. Widows over age 62 (or with minor children) of workers who died in 1958 or later and who were not eligible for benefits before this change may now be eligible. These people should inquire at their nearest social security office soon.

Under both the old and the new law, a beneficiary can earn $1200 a year and receive all of his monthly social security benefits. Under the new law, $1 is withheld for each $2 earned from $1200 to $1700, and then $1 for each $1 earned over $1700. Thus, under the new law only $250 in benefits is deducted when the beneficiary earns $1700 during the year.

To help finance the changes, the amendments call for an increase in social security taxes beginning January 1, 1962. Employees and employers will each pay an additional one-eighth of one percent on earnings up to $4800 a year—a total of three and one-eighth percent in social security taxes. Self-employed persons will pay 4.7 percent on net earnings up to $4800 a year instead of the former 4.5 percent rate.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Littlefield each Thursday in the County Court Room at 9 a.m. and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to social security.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex. --After years of tax argument in Texas, debate now seems to have narrowed down to one question. It is whether to have a sales tax on specified items or one on all but speci- fied items. First in known as the Pennsylvania - type sales tax. It is favored by Gov- ernor Price Daniel as a means of raising $ 303,000,000 of the $360,000,000 he feels is needed. It would list the items on which a 2 per cent sales tax would be levied. Goal would be to cover all items selling for 50 cents or more except food to be eaten at home, prescription drugs, cloth- ing costing less than $10, feed, seed, fertilizer, books, farm machinery, livestock and gas and elec- tricity used in manu- facturing. Other approach would be a bill like the Senate passed last session. It does not attempt to list all the items to be taxed but applies to everything except the items exempted, including the usual groceries, drugs, farm needs. Aim of both bills is the same; to raise a lot of money with a lot of re- tail sales taxes. There is no serious attempt to raise the bulk of the needed measures under consid- eration are these; GOVERNOR'S PACKAGE BILL, by Rep. Charles Ball of Berger. This would include the Pennsylvania- type 2 per cent sales tax, a provision for a minimum levy of 1 cen per 1,000 cubic feet on gas, a two-factor franchise tax on interstate corporations, a 50 per cent increase in driver's li- cense fees, a transfer of that portion of gasoline taxes allocated for schools at the end of August each year and a leveling of the tax on coin-operated mach- ines at $10 each per year. HINSON PACKAGE BILL, by Rep. George Hinson of Micoia, frequent sponsor of measures favored by the governor. Hinson's bill would include a sales tax on purchases of $5 or more, a corporate income tax, real estate transfer tax, a severance beneficiary tax on natural gas, a utilities tax and a 1 per cent trans- fer from the permanent school fund. Estimated yield; $368,000,000. GAS TAX BILL, by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston. Bill is designed to insure that the state would collect a minimum tax of 1 cent on each 1,000 cubic feet of Texas gas. If the pres- ent 7 per cent gas produc- tion tax did not supply it, the purchaser would have to pay the difference. Es- timated yield; $30,000,000. It is included in the Ball- man bill. "Quality you can measure by your car's performance."

How about a Fair Break for Railroads?

we're asking your support for equal treatment by government of all carriers, including the railroads

The Association of American Railroads has drawn up a document called "Magna Carta for Transportation."

We're asking for public support of this common-sense statement on public transportation policy, hoping citizens will recognize that an entire industry that serves them is being deprived of its natural rights—and will want to help.

What to do? Ask your congressman to help restore to the railroads these "four freedoms":

- Freedom from discriminatory regulation
- Freedom from discriminatory taxation
- Freedom from subsidized competition
- Freedom to provide a diversified transportation service

Balanced performance

It has always been the policy of Cadillac engineers to provide full-range performance . . . with no one phase accented at the expense of another. The 1961 Cadillac delivers the best balanced response in Cadillac history . . . smooth, alert and quiet from start to cruising . . . equally impressive in busy traffic as in turnpike passing. The Cadillac power plant for 1961 will influence the fine car field for years to come.

Our Contemporaries Are Saying

(Moore County News)

While people across the nation argue the pros and cons of federal aid for anything, the Borger school board told the government this week that it could do with its subsidies--or more exact, what it could not do.

By a 6-1 vote, the board voted to refuse all federal subsidies for the school cafeteria program, with a boost in lunch prices to offset the loss in revenue.

Last year the school received $73,691.39 from the federal program. The government paid about five cents per meal, totaling $31,307.50, and also gave the school $42,383.89 in surplus commodities. Lunches will be 10 to 15 cents higher next year, as the school district pays its own way.

The one dissenting trustee parroted the same argument Americans have used for years to salve their consciences about taking a hand-out: that we "don't particularly want it (federal aid), but when it is offered, we ought to take it."

So the government continues to make offers, we continue to take them, and the program pyramids to the point where the government gives us everything we're "supposed" to have--and tells us what we cannot have!

Another trustee pointed out that the lunch room program is a convenience to the parents. "Not a part of our free public school system." The board action, he felt, would make it obvious they were after less federal aid and not more.

We applauded the Dumas board three years ago when it refused to participate in a federal program which supplied extensive financial assistance in the purchase of science equipment, and we applaud the Borger board today for even stronger action.

Dumas trustees drew a beautiful parallel when they turned thumbs down on the government money. Loaded with farmers, the board indicated it didn't want American schools to get in the "same mess" the American farmers were in--through government aid, and subsequent controls.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

July 14, 1961
Dear Editor,
Do you think the pressure of public opinion could help to enforce some of our city ordinances? If enough people objected to flagrant disobedience of the rules made some years ago we might get a few contrary people to conform as the majority do.

If you are wondering by now the specific ordinance to which I am referring it is this: Some people still burn trash in an old fashioned oil barrel. The City Manager says it is against our law. We have asked him to notify the offending neighbors because we hate to cause hard feelings. If they only understood how miserable our hay fever is when our air conditioner pulls the smoke inside our house the offenders might remove the barrel and hence stop the smoke. Their rubbish doesn't burn brightly and quickly, it smolders and puffs for hours. There's no escape unless we turn off the air conditioner (in 98 deg. weather).

I'd like to have the opinion of some other people. Am I just an old fuddy-duddy or do I have some rights too?

A disgruntled citizen.

From Your Chamber Office

By Gene Garrison

Jimmy Hoffa, the much publicized and investigated leader of the Teamsters Union was investigated on Meet The Press last Sunday. The leader of the largest and most powerful organized labor organization made some strong assertions:

1. The teamsters intend to step up their action in politics by working harder for some candidates and harder against others; at the National, State and Local levels. They don't intend to advocate either party at present, but;

2. They intend to take over the major party that loses the Presidential election in 1964.

3. The teamsters plan to step up their drive for new members. They have recently organized a large group of farm workers in California. Hoffa stated that they intend to move into every area of employment where workers are not already organized.

The groundwork has been laid to consolidate all of the "teamsters" and their affiliated unions under one name; Hoffa's. With this power, he could paralyze the entire Nation with one strike. He says he doesn't plan to do this; but can we trust Hoffa? Do you trust him?

Keep in mind, Hoffa is the man who said: "to hell with the United States Senate". This is the man who advocates, "Labor negotiations have shifted from the bargaining tables to the legislative halls of the United States Congress."

This is the man who was tried for investing huge amount of his member funds in personal private ventures.

As I understand the situation, it was not proven that Mr. Hoffa did these things but the federal courts have not, as yet, been able to prove that it is illegal for him to do so.

Hoffa wrote in his own Magazine, The International Teamster, May-1961, about the New Frontier platform. The teamsters union and the A.F.L.-C.I.O are in general agreement that his (Kennedy's) proposals are too moderate, even bordering on conservatism. It is beyond my power to visualize what Mr. Hoffa would desire in the way of liberal legislation. Federal reach for power, labor legislation and Federal spending. (We are currently going in the red to the tune of 10 million dollars a day.

At present, the labor unions are not bound by the anti-trust laws.

Unions use their money to further their political interest (I mean candidates) which business, Chamber of Commerce, and trade associations cannot do.

Hoffa's brazen, bold-faced attitude should make one thing perfectly clear; Organized labor's committee on Political Education is paying off. They are well represented in Congress and state legislatures.

Organized labor studies a candidates voting record on labor issues; we note his party affiliation or some cute promise he makes us, or take one single issue he stood on and blow it up beyond reason in the overall consideration. We walk off with a little dab of "gravey" and organized labor walks off with the steak. It is indeed shocking to consider the labor legislation that is currently being considered in Washington. If you are interested in becoming better informed about these bills, contact the Chamber Office for time and place and plan to attend the next meeting of our Governmental Affairs Committee.

All farmers, business and professional men should be vitally concerned about their personal, not to mention the National economy, in our political future. We need to become better informed; vote and campaign for men who would more fairly represent our interest. If we don't represent our own interest who will? I think we can safely conclude that Mr. Hoffa and his most powerful teamsters union will not.

Q--When can I expect to receive the "special" GI insurance dividend from VA?

A--The VA began payment of the "special" dividend June 26, and all policyholders should have received their checks by July 31.

Our Contemporaries Are Saying

(Levelland Sun-News)

The inevitable has happened over at Texas Tech, just as it happened at South Plains College a couple of years ago.

Regents at Tech recognized the inevitable, and for that reason, Negro students will gain the full rights and privileges at Tech to which their American citizenship entitles them.

How far Tech will go in removing segregation barriers isn't known. It may admit Negroes to classes and still bar them from dormitories, extra-curriculum activities and sports--as is the case with the University of Texas, which has admitted Negroes for several years now but hasn't broken the color barrier in its athletic program.

Whatever course the college follows, we know that it will be the one which regents feel will serve the best interests of the school.

If they feel they can let all the barriers down in a single grand sweep without disturbing campus calm, then this is what they should do. But if they feel the bars must come down gradually in order to avoid shows of emotion, then we'll gladly ride with their good judgment.

We think they have exhibited calm judgment in their decision to admit Negro students next fall. We think they have faced what all Americans must eventually face in a world dominated by non-white races and involved continually in racial and political strife. Americans cannot afford, in the generations ahead, to deny basic rights to any of its citizens on the basis of race or religion.

On every side, we are seeing indications that this cannot safely or sanely be done. Dr. Mitchell Smith of Texas Tech told the Lions Club here a couple of weeks ago that this country may have reached the point where many of its prejudices are simply "too expensive" to hold.

This is already true internationally, if not locally. This situation is indicated again in the Flatlands Empire Profile on the opposite page.

South Plains College solved its integration problem simply by quietly registering the first Negro who applied for admission. It enrolled the second and the third and no special attention was given.

There will come a time when Levelland cafes, theatres and every other institution will have to face a similar situation in the same way.

When it happens, we hope it will be done with the same genuine calm which accompanied Levelland's first integration experience--an experience which harmed nobody.

(Plainview Daily Herald)

In a community which has provided for physical plants for its churches, and the support of the ministry and the staffs needed to operate progressive churches in a prosperous area, the rank and file of the citizenry has a good concept of the principle of tithing.

The Plainview area and Northwest Texas in general come in that category, as the value and the expanse of the physical plants and the general place of the churches in the lives of the citizenry impressively express.

So the term tithing is not new to the people of the High Plains. It has come through the years and ages to mean in the average person's mind a tenth. Outside ecclesiastical circles one may apply the term tithing loosely to the tithing of time, and get over the point that the citizen should tithe of his time for community advancement. Maybe the term device would be better than tithing. But the idea of owing something or having a moral obligation, to collective responsibility, is the idea we'd like to advance here. Part of every citizen's time should be devoted to the community in which he lives. Some devote much more of their time than others.

We're thinking in terms of public service as city council member, school board member, director of commerce director, or committeeman, or in other ways, such as the united fund, youth organizations, various sorts, recreation set-ups, industrial development, etc.

There's an endless list of such activities, and one can devote some of his time.

If one please he might well think of conserving the best use of time and finally, again, tithing time for the collective betterment, just to keep getting too everlastingly selfish, as well as his own environment, his home town and country a better place in which to live.

"Tithing time," isn't too abstract and meaningless.

Symbol of Freedom

Back in 1776 in this month of July, the original 13 colonies wrote and signed a Declaration which established them as free and independent states.

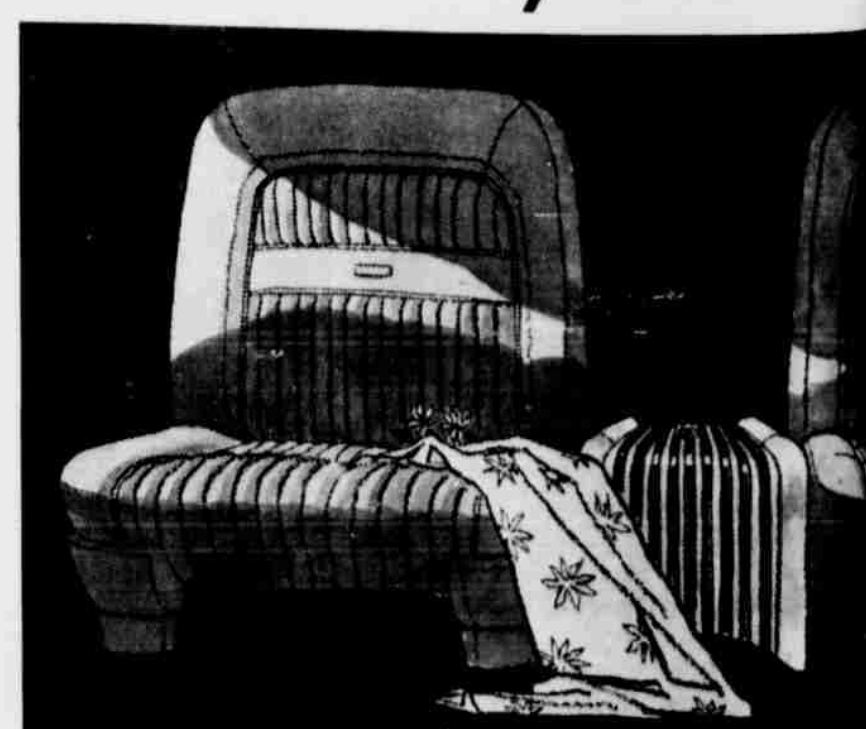

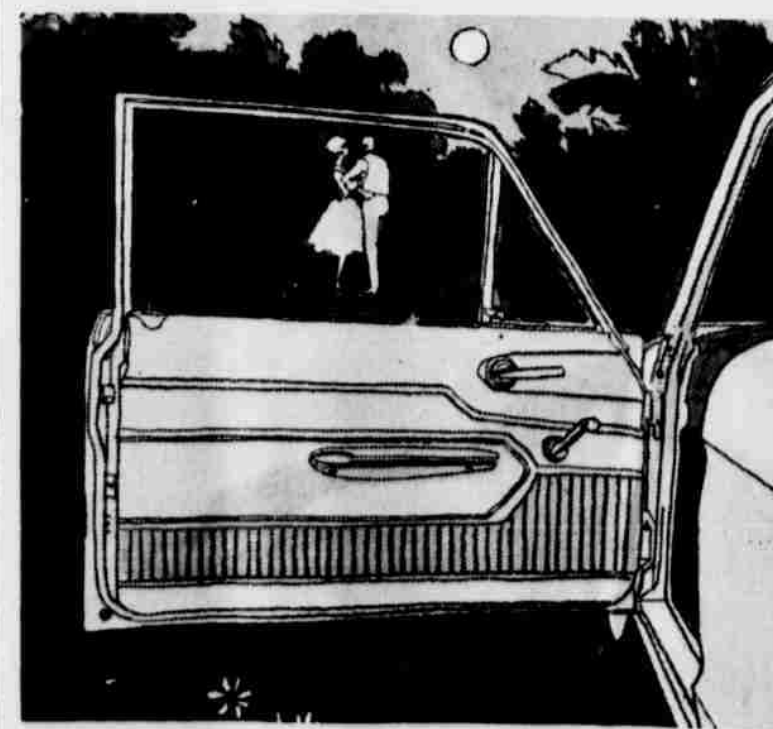

In the 185 years since then, the United States of America has grown to 50 states and has become the most powerful Nation on earth.

But of more significance today, in a world filled with turmoil, it stands as a mighty bulwark against tyranny and the threat of oppression.

We of General Telephone join with all freedom-loving Americans in expressing humble pride in our heritage and the principles of liberty for which it stands.

The mood is Thunderbird...the economy is Falcon

...it's the new Falcon Futura by Ford

And, it's the nicest thing that ever happened to America's best-loved compact! Now... step aboard! Relax in the foam-padded comfort of individually contoured twin front seats (styled by the men who designed the Thunderbird!) Rest your lucky feet on the thick wall-to-wall carpeting. Look down beside you: there's a handy console between the front seats for your personal effects.

Be sure to check the back seat, too--plenty of room there for 3 people. And, in Futura everyone's luggage goes in the vacation-size trunk--where it belongs. Futura gives you true compact gas economy, too. Finally, when it's time to check the price sticker--surprise! Because--for all its luxury, all its economy--

Futura's actually America's lowest-priced* luxury compact!

A Falcon Makes Economy Run History! A 1961 Falcon with standard transmission got 32.6 mpg under the cross-country test conditions of this year's Mobilgas Economy Run... the best gas mileage ever recorded by a "6" or "8" in the Run's 25-year history! Even more impressive... was the competition... a group of expert drivers really out to win. But Falcon topped them all!

More good news! Ford sales are booming! One reason: Falcon, America's best-selling compact has increased its 1961 lead over its nearest competitor to nearly 50,000 cars!

SELECTIVE EXCISE TAX, by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas. It is similar to the Pennsylvania tax, also and would yield an estimated $355,000,000.

ESCHEAT BILL, by Rep. Charles Hughes of Sherman. This is the well-worn proposal to provide enforcement procedures so that abandoned property, bank accounts, etc., would go to the state.

BATTLE OF THE POLLS -- Two citizens groups are engaged in a duel of poll taking, each trying to demonstrate more public support for its tax plan.

Citizens for a Sales Tax announced that of 11,000 persons replying to its post card poll, 83.6 per cent favored a retail sales tax.

Citizens for Fair Taxation a group which supports Governor Daniel's tax program, immediately declared that the CST poll was heavily weighted with Chamber of Commerce members and not a true reflection of public sentiment.

Citizens for Fair Taxation is at work on a poll of its own.

SPENDING BILLS PUSH-ED--A general appropriations bill and a bill to raise teachers' salaries are moving through both houses with little re-hashing. Senate quickly approved a two-year appropriations bill calling for spending of $2,409,000. It is essentially the same as the Senate appropriations bill in the regular session.

Both Senate and House education committees approved bills that would give public school teachers an across-the-board raise of $810 a year. House passed the teachers' bill on the floor, 141 to 1.

Senate committee also approved education bills providing for educational films, driver education, assistant principals for larger schools, and five days sick leave a year for teachers.

MONEY NEEDS UPPE-D--State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert had a new revenue forecast for legislators at the beginning of the session that showed an expected revenue from existing sources at $24,000,000 less than the January forecast.

Part of the difference between the old and new forecasts was due to some $1,000,000 in additional school and welfare payments authorized during the regular session. Most of the rest of the drop was attributed to a decline in revenue from auto sales taxes and franchise taxes.

Calvert also estimated that the general fund deficit at the end of the fiscal year Aug. 31 will be $64,000,000. This is $1,000,000 more than his January prediction.

LOBBY REGULATIONS OFFERED--At Governor Daniel's suggestion, a bill to impose further lobby controls has been introduced.

Daniel has consistently blamed "lobby interference" for the regular session to agree on a tax plan.

Five House members are co-sponsors of a bill that would require that all contributions of $50 or more to be used to influence legislation be reported. It would also prohibit lobbyists from being on the floor of House or Senate during sessions or calling members off the floor during debate.

Sen. A.R. Schwartz of Galveston has said he will sponsor a companion measure in the Senate.

INSURANCE INQUIRY SET--House has authorized a special five-member committee to look into the reasonableness of a 15 per cent raise in auto insurance rates recently ordered by the State Board of Insurance.

Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont sponsored the resolution to set up the investigation.
