Nearly News By DOUGLAS POE

Some tension sprung up momentarily this week concerning the local school integration problem, but it was quickly dispelled by quickly getting together the interested parties in a four hour discussion of the problem. It started at a church men's meeting when a speaker, who had been asked to talk at the last minute without a prepared speech, made several statements which startled the group. Among them was a statement that a Citizens Council had been organized in Littlefield to oppose the integration of our schools. Another was that accreditation was not an issue in the decision to integrate. The speaker said he had a letter from the Commissioner of Education and the word of a Tech professor to substantiate this. The next day the school board invited this speaker, and some other community leaders who have indicated that they are opposed to integration next fall; to meet with them and give them any evidence they might have to back up the statements. The following letter was submitted to the board: "The story you have heard that the Texas Education Agency will withdraw accreditation from any school in Texas which does not completely integrate white and negro students" is without any basis. "The Texas Education Agency has no authority to require either segregation or integration. This was determined by the Supreme Court in its ruling last September. We do require that when separate Negro schools are maintained as a policy of the local school board, these schools meet the standards for accreditation." The board pointed out that they have always been aware that they would not lose accreditation for failure to integrate but that the Texas Education Agency has made it plain that any school which does not furnish acceptable plant and instruction for all pupils will lose accreditation. They know that Dunbar school does not have an acceptable plant. (Continued on Page 2)

and are confident that the Littlefield schools will lose accreditation unless a completely new plant is built for Dunbar.

In view of the Supreme Court decision against segregation they felt that it would be folly to spend several hundred thousand dollars on a plant in the Flats which would probably be unusable as soon as the federal government takes concrete steps to enforce the Supreme Court decision.

The board also heard read a section from Texas Tech's catalog which stated definitely that only graduates of accredited high schools will be admitted without an entrance examination.

The visitors refuted the idea that a Citizens Council had been or would be organized. They expressed sympathy with the board's problem and promised to cooperate with the board in putting over whatever decision they make. They said, however, that they hoped the board would not consider the matter absolutely closed but would consider taking a slower approach to integration instead of combining all twelve grades this fall.

The meeting ended in an atmosphere of friendliness with everyone agreeing to back the board in whatever it decides is the wisest procedure to follow.

By MAXINE CLARIDA

We have often heard stories of men going on hunting and fishing trips and bagging a lot of game or catching a lot of fish, but this is the first time we have ever heard of a club going to a convention and taking more than their share of the awards and then having a "victory" tea. Yes, the Woman's club is having a tea called "Sugar and Spice and Everything Nice," and they hope that all of their members will be on hand to help with the celebration. It is tonight, at the home of Ocie Stone.

We live in horror every time we write a list of names, check and re-check. But when we listed the members of the Woman's club who went to Plainview we omitted the name of Mrs. W. D. T. Storey. And to take the prize Mr. Storey went with her. Even when we heard that the lady who made the speech stopped Mrs. Storey and told her how lovely she looked we hadn't caught the error.

But the nice thing about it being Kathryn Storey, there isn't anybody who would be as understanding as she. She is just the kind of person that realizes that none of us are perfect and that that sort of thing could happen to anybody. She lives by the Golden Rule, so if it had to happen we are grateful that it was someone who would understand.

Albert Miller was in the other day and had read what we said about having John Nail's credit line off his pictures. He reminded us that you cannot hang any picture without a "Nail."

GUEST EDITORIAL

Texas Police Journal

usually write articles for others to read. This editorial is written by a policeman for editors.

Editor, call us what you will, but do not call us cops. We consistently supported us when we are right. You stand on the side of good, of improved law enforcement. You have taken up our battle and asked for better standards, modern equipment, modern police-strengthened training and adequate pay. You recognize the public support for law enforcement. Editorially, you encourage a citizen to do his part by serving on juries, and in other ways. Your advocacy of better laws, better courts, a good parole system and all of those things to protect the lives and property of our citizens is part of your editorial policy.

Don't call us cops! Sure, you recognize our weaknesses. None of us are perfect. With your help we can improve our departments. Recognizing needed limits and even failures on our part to do a good job, do not hesitate to point out police performance to the times you give some of us a rough time. That is the spotlight of publicity is good for us. The people need to know all there is to know about us. As a policeman we have nothing to hide.

Will you do one thing for us? It will help us in our merit and gain the respect of our people. It will give us a profession increased prestige. It will be one more step ladder and one step further away from the days of the bygone cop, the dumb flatfoot and the third degree. Your policy to ban the word cop from your paper.

Have given us a thousand boosts on our way to law enforcement. Give us one more.

Mr. Editor, don't call us cops.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

(From the files of the Lamb County Leader
March 14, 1924)

Items who took three silk dresses valued at $75 from County Mercantile store were trailed to within five miles of Clovis, N. M. Friday.

Robbed Klansmen of the Ku Klux Klan paraded the streets of Littlefield amid the falling snow Wednesday. Apparently everyone knew there was such an organization. No one knew any thing about it. Their errand was benevolence and mercy. They presented a widow and children with a purse containing $25.00.

Mitchell, editor and publisher of the Lamb County Leader has just installed a Linotype, a paper folding machine and other modern equipment.

George Staggers has announced for County Commission precinct.

Sandhills Philosopher . . .

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is drawing an odd parallel this week, but that's his lookout, not ours.

Dear Editor:
I was out here on my farm the other day sitting in the sun watching Spring creep up on me and not letting anything worry me. The way I see it, worrying is all right if you ration it and keep it under control, but anybody who sets out to worry about everything that needs worrying about in this world can worry himself to death, and still not make any dent in the problems, you take this farm, I could sit down and worry for seven days running and not get around to all of the things that call for worrying, but any rate, as I started out to say, I was sitting out here not worrying about a thing and maybe dozing a little as the sun warmed up when a newspaper blew across my face and since it was almost in position to be read, all I had to do was take hold of it and hold it away from my face a couple of feet. I went ahead and did it and I'm glad I did.

The first article I read was one I've been looking for, without knowing it.

According to it, the Governor of New York, Gov. Harriman, who is being talked as a candidate for President on the Democratic ticket explains his position like this: "I am not an active candidate for the nomination, and on the other hand I'm not an inactive candidate."

A lot of people would make fun of such a statement, but not me.

It sums up exactly my attitude toward my farming. You might say I'm not an active farmer, but on the other hand I'm not an inactive one. Like Gov. Harriman, I have no objection to making a bumper crop this year, but I'm not actively seeking it. Just because I don't leap on my tractor and start going up one row and down another is no sign I wouldn't like to haul some crops to town in the fall. There's a fine difference between physical activity and mental activity, and I'm proud to know me and Gov. Harriman have figured it out.

A man can be sitting in the sun, with his tractor idle and his land unplowed, but still his brain can be racing.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Votes at Any Cost

Q. January 20th has been Presidential inauguration day starting in 1937. Yet, whoever is elected this year may not be formally inaugurated next January 20th. Why?

A. January 20, 1957, falls on Sunday. Chief Justice John Marshall ruled in 1821 that in inauguration day falls on a Sunday, the President must wait until the following day for the public ceremony.

A farmer friend of ours was commenting on the proposed government publication, "Farming For Profit."

"What farmer," he asked, "has time for fiction these days?"

Lipstick Logic . . .

LOUISE C. ALLEN

If you want to understand human nature, we've been told, go into newspaper work. Vanity, false pride, snobbery—whatever one's failing, it's sure to show up when publicity is in the wind.

Another profession where you evidently get to know people as they really are is in the medicals. For while seeming preoccupied with a knotty muscle in his patient's left forearm, he's probably finding out that she thinks her husband is having an affair. The left forearm may be reacting to the tension thus created.

A jeweler, of course, gets a pretty good insight into human nature—but he has a more limited sample to work from. He gets only the heavy lover—the woman who wants diamonds but can't afford 'em; the man who wants everything to know he'll have only the best; the thrifty shopper whose husband could buy out the store.

But all in all, we believe the curio shop owner has got the best racket for studying personality. Recently we stopped with friends in such a shop, where inexpensive knickknacks and trinkets of a hundred different kinds were on display.

One woman made straight for some pottery that matched her own—the practical type who had little shopping time at home. Another selected some miniature animals in china and bone—she was building them into delicate baubles made from hollowed-out eggshells—a woman with patience and a creative sense, who loved to work with her hands. One man gazed longingly at the silver belt buckles and charms, but didn't buy—denying himself little luxuries by habit.

No wonder the owner looked young in spite of his gray hairs. His greatest satisfaction is not in the dollars and cents that pile up in his till. It comes from watching the people who browse through his shop.

Farm Records Save Money

Farm records have been referred to by a farm management specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service as the eyes and ears of the farm business. They reflect, said C. H. Bates the specialist, how the business is doing and may prevent many costly management or expansion mistakes.

On the average farm the investment per worker totals about $15,000. Investments in land, machinery, livestock and other essentials needed for agricultural production makes the present day farmer a capitalist of considerable means. His investments are often larger than those of many urban businessmen. Our highly competitive commercial farming, said Bates, makes record keeping mandatory as a protection for our investments.

Too, records make the job of completing the yearly income tax report much simpler and can save money, expense items which are not recorded often are overlooked or forgotten at tax paying time and for every $5.00 item missed, the average taxpayer paid $1.25 in taxes he didn't owe, said Bates. Even the cost of a good farm record book is deductible as a legitimate operating expense.

Farm families, said the specialist, who have improved the efficiency of their farming operations have found records to be the key to their success. They have taken the guesswork out of their business.

Many types of record books are available but Bates called attention to the revised Texas Farm Record Book which is now available for a small charge. This book is designed to aid farmers not only in keeping a complete record of the farm but also for making tax and social security reporting easier. Local county extension agents can supply details on how and where the books may be obtained.

"A Bit of Washington" By Ed Koterba

Day He Said 'Yes'

WASHINGTON — There'll probably never be a White House press conference quite like last Wednesday's . . .

For an eternity of 12 long minutes, 310 reporters held exclusive rights to the secret awaited by millions over the world. The electric clock on the wall read 10:30 a. m. when President Eisenhower said calmly he made his decision, that it was in the affirmative. Then, for 12 minutes — until the session broke up — the exits were tightly closed and guarded by uniformed police. There was no way to dispatch the momentous word to the outside world.

I have never seen such an explosion of human vitality as at the moment when Reporter Merriman Smith shrieked his "Thank you, Mr. President," to signal the end of the session. There they were, more than 100 grown men and women streaking at once for a door with a mere six-foot opening . . .

The real drama came when Mr. Eisenhower slowly placed his hands behind his back and said quietly: "Now, I have something a bit more personal I would like to talk about."

The buildup to this was tantalizing. For eight minutes — from 10:31 to 10:39 a. m. — the President coyly held the pack at bay by offhandedly discussing four unrelated topics. For eight minutes, 310 pairs of eyes watched intently, piercingly, for Mr. Eisenhower's countenance to betray its secret.

But all they found in the President was a stupendous calm. He appeared physically prosperous — his Georgia sunburn went well with his single-breasted tan suit and tan tie — but his eyes were bloodshot as if he had stayed up most of the night before mentally rehearsing just how he would make his announcement.

Three weeks before, he promised it would be "as dramatic as possible."

Well, now the moment was at hand. The long, long, long-awaited decision was to be disclosed. The President lowered his voice a bit. It held a conversational, unassuming tone — almost as if he were discussing the weather.

"I have reached my decision," he said. "It is positive — that is, affirmative." And that was it. Just like that.

A number of people saw the televised version afterward. It was anti-climatic because by then they knew the decision. Today, the conference is perhaps old stuff.

But for those who were there it will be a long, long time before they forget the dramatic simplicity with which President Eisenhower made the biggest news of the year last Wednesday . . .

To Know The Truth

Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth shall make you free." The truth, however, does not come by accident nor by miracle. It requires attitudes and characteristics on the part of the learner. Here are some of them.

Love of the Truth

2 Thessalonians 2:10: "... And with all deceits of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth that they were saved."

The Will to Know and Do

John 7:17: "If any man will do his will, he shall of the doctrine, whether it be of God or whether it speak of myself."

Unprejudiced Mind

Acts 17:11: "These were more noble than those in salonica, in that they received the word with a fullness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, those things were so."

An Honest Heart

Luke 8:15: "But that on the good ground are they in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, they keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience."

Diligent Study

2 Timothy 2:15: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

"ELECTRIC LIVING — MAGIC-MODERN MONEY-SAVING!"

say MR. and MRS. ROBERT L. SMITH
318 WEST 12TH DUMAS, TEXAS

"Just what you want, any time that you want it", that's the kind of convenience that Mrs. Smith gets from her home freezer. Yes, and there's real money-saving, too, for Mrs. Smith buys choice cuts of meat at lowest prices and stores them for future use.

"I always get good results, without sticking or burning, with my electric range. The accurate heat control, plus cleanliness, are my favorite range features." Clean . . . fast . . . accurate . . . automatic . . . the reasons more women want electric ranges now than ever before.

"The convenience and simplicity of electric clothes drying . . . why even my son can dry the clothes . . . and the softer, fluffier, cleaner drying is like magic to me." Yes, it's magic, but no trick, for electric clothes drying's slick. Modern, too.

"Electric appliances team up for you all the time. Take the washer and dryer, for example. You can do the laundry at your convenience, without regard to weather or time of day. The freezer and the range pair up the same way. Quality foods get the best cooking results."

aged Layers on 28 Day Basis

Layers are beginning to show signs of old age. Culling must be done to give some hens, and if less culling might not be more profitable.

Layers can't fool the poultryman. Production, because of daily records are kept, and operators have been able to drop below 50 percent production for a period of 30 days. Under this system, if a hen lays less than 7 eggs in any period, she is culled and the pullet goes into the hatchery.

Information now indicates that a good hen may have a few more eggs yet still come back into production at less cost than it would take to fill her cage with a new pullet. A culling experiment was conducted in the hatchery at the Ralston Poultry Farm near Gray, Mo., involving 2,000 birds. The birds were all filled at the hatchery with pullets grown in cages. The birds were producing strain. After 30 days in production two groups were culled under the 28-day system, while no culling was done in the other 1,000. The group culled under the old system showed no production over the next several months. In other words, it was found that good layers might produce 50 per cent production for 28 days, but come back to good production in 28 days.

Local Security Disability Insurance

Representative of the Lubbock Social Security office will be in Hobbs on March 15th at 10:00 a.m. at the Employment Office. He is glad to discuss any matter relating to social security. G. Hutton, district manager of the Lubbock social security office, has some news of importance for people who have worked five years under social security and who, because of a disability, have not been able to work for six months or more, according to an announcement he made today. Social Security Act now allows a person who is disabled before age 65 and who is unable to work because of his disability for this so-called "disability freeze." A person must have worked five years out of the ten years before he became disabled and a half year out of the ten years before he became disabled. The disability must have existed for more than six months before he files his application for "disability freeze." He now receives a social security payment on his own earnings and may have his period of disability excluded for a period of five years if he is now disabled and disability was in existence more than six months before he filed age 65." Mr. Hutton said, "Of course, he must meet the work requirement of five years out of ten years and one year out of three years as above." People who are now disabled and unable to work or anyone who is disabled in the future should contact his nearest social security office in order to learn how "disability freeze" may be applied. Mr. Hutton said, "We are available to contact you, a friend or relative may contact you. A period of disability must be established unless an application is filed with the social security office."

Cadillac

At Home... Among Strangers !

You're going to get a wonderful thrill when you take the wheel of your first Cadillac and head out into the country—a long, long way from home.

We're not just talking about the car's wonderful performance and its extraordinary riding and handling ease—satisfying and inspiring though these are bound to be.

No, we're talking about something more.

We're talking about the friendliness you're going to encounter—how you'll be driving among people who seem to know something about you, and who are ready to trust and respect you as if they had known you for a long, long time.

This is true, of course, because Cadillac quality and goodness have made it the overwhelming preference of people of judgment and discrimination—and the whole world has come to know and understand this and to appreciate what it means.

Yes, your best foot is forward when it rests on the throttle of a 1956 Cadillac.

This great personal benefit is strictly a plus value when you take the title of the "car of cars." It comes in addition to the long-known Cadillac virtues: matchless beauty and luxury and comfort, and safety and long life.

Why not consider a Cadillac for your next car?

It is a logical choice—not only for quality and goodness and prestige—but for economy of ownership and operation as well.

We suggest that you come in soon and see for yourself. We'll be happy to give you a personal demonstration at the wheel . . . and to explain why this is such a wonderful time to make the move from every standpoint.
