This payment would be made on the projected yield of the domestic allotment -- the same as this year.

In addition, farmers cooperating with the domestic plant-ing allotment program will be eligible for land diversion payments of 10,78 cents a pound on the projected yield of that portion of their over-all allotment diverted from cotton and put to conserving uses.

This year the diversion rate was 10.5 cents a pound.

Farmers will have the choice of diverting any acreage they wish between 12.5 per cent and 35 per cent of the farm's overall acreage allotment.

The program as announced Monday by the Agriculture Department set the grower support price at a national average of 20,25 cents a pound for middling one-inch cotton. This is three-quarters of a cent below

But the department will keep the sales price for government owned cotton at 22.5 cents a pound, which is about the same as the price set during the 1966 crop marketing year.

Officials said the reduction in the loan rate but the retention of this year's government sales price is expected to encourage the movement of more cotton from the farm directly into markets and channeling less into government price support stocks.

Because the prospective 1967 crop will be less than market demands, the price at which the government will offer cotton to make up the deficit is expected to determine market prices. But the reduction in the price support rate will be countered by an increase in price support payments offered growers under next year's program. This program seeks to hold plantings down to around 9.5 million acres or 35 per cent less than the national cotton allotment. This reduction in plantings is sought (See COTTON PLAN, Page 5)

AMY'S ADLIBS

For His Own Good

By Amy Turner

THERE'S ONE thing I would like to set straight right now,

Women are not fickle about fashion This accusation is all too frequently flung at us females by the superior male who is supposed to disdain all such nonsense.

Nonsense is right! Ever watch him in front of the mirror when he thinks no one is looking? Or try getting him to wear that wide tie or the double-breasted suit tucked neatly in the back of the closet?

There are times, though, when one is prone to think that Some Of Them don't really care what they look like after all. Bermuda shorts, for instance. Now, ! have nothing against Bermuda shorts and I wouldn't say that The Publisher exactly looks funny in them or that Some People have strange looking legs but, well, they just don't match, like they're sort of DETACHED or

But I believe in free choice

ON THE OTHER HAND, women don't really care about fashion . . . we just don't have any choice,

For example, last week I read a fashion forecast by a California designer (male, of course) and it seems we can take out our fitted dresses of 10 or 15 years ago and be perfectly in style.

Now this is ridiculous. It's obvious that what "fitted" me 10 years and 20 pounds ago would hardly be fitting today.

However, in the same newspaper where I read the above prediction, appeared the words of a New York designer (male).
To quote: "...the loose fitting tent shape will be all the thing. .

I must admit this is a little more like it because, let's face it, when it comes to tentshapes, I just sort of naturally fill the bill

But what is the poor, confused woman to do? Relax and enjoy Christmas and all the trimmings or dash out for a case of Metre-

In either case, a new wardrobe will certainly be called for.

THIS BRINGS UP the question of extravagance. . . another unfair accusation. I learned my lesson on this subjects everal years ago when The Publisher was preaching . .my economy, of course. This was back when I actually believed him, Well, I was economical, all right . beauty parlor, no cosmetics, no new clothes, and the whole bit. Was he grateful? So much so that he took me to a party and spent the whole evening chatting with a Ma-dame X, one of those detestable, extravagant, lovely creatures one would like to stick pins into only you'd probably just draw whipped cream. Of course, I told myself, he was just being nice. . . he really couldn't be insulting, could he? You bet he could! As I found out on the home with this charming little comment; "Boy, that Madame X is really a looker, isn't she? Reminds me of you a few years

Now, he knew and I knew and, what's worse, he knew that I knew, that this skinny creature had three grandchildren and she definitely was NOT a child bride.

THE SOLUTION, of course, is simple. In the first place, never try to understand the intricate workings of the male mind. After all, why tackle the impossible?

It is our obvious duty to "make him feel 10 years younger" like the ads say, and the best way to do this is to ignore everything he says and go ahead and go to that sale. After all, you're really saving him money in the long run and the little bit you spend now gives him a generous feeling which he will enjoy so you'd actually be doing him an injustice not to buy that new hat.

True, he may not understand the logic of this, but we must be big about it and remem-

IT'S FOR HIS OWN GOOD!

DEAR EDITOR

Editor News-Leader 313 West 4th Street Littlefield, Texas

Dear Editor:

It is unlikely that any civic project can succeed in Littlefield without the active support of the County Wide News and Lamb County Leader.

The Small Town Task Force of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is involved in one of the most vital projects ever undertaken in West Texas. Over half of our smaller West Texas towns have lost population in the past 10 years. This is serious!

Your own business and the economy of your town is tied closely to population, industrial growth, agriculture/ranching development, tourism growth and educational, rec-reational and cultural improvement.

Civic leaders in your town will complete a community analysis in a very short while.

They will then bring their problems to one or more hearings held by the Task Force. We hope that solutions of problems, suggestions for better utilization of assets and methods of reaching the potentialities of the com-munity will come as a result of the exam-ination by a panel of specialists.

We solicit your editorial support for the benefit of your own town. We will be furnishing you with news stories, pictures (if you can use them) and any other assistance you need to present the whole story and its importance to your community.

If you have any suggestions which will help us in this effort we want to hear from you The news media people in West Texas are far more knowledgeable about general conditions than the average citizen and we need your advice.

Husbands Have Their Troubles

Anyway, it's time I started getting in a few licks of my own. ... not that it'll do any good, But maybe I can strike a few blows for the

IN PENNSYLVANIA recently, a man filed a $100,000 damage suit against his ex-wife because she had painted the windshield of his Cadillac black,

She also had poured glue between the window and the door and painted the headlights pink. When he was ill, she sent him phonograph records of funeral dirges.

These are big things. Most of the wives I know don't go that far. Maybe they should. At least a guy would how to react-sue her for $100,000.

But it would be pretty stilly to sue your wife because she continually leaves the car keys in her coat pocket, instead of on top of the refrigerator where any sensible family keeps everything. You can't get really fired up because there are never enough hangers in the closets.

WHY MUST a woman talk her way out of a room? I know a fellow who goes home from work with his wife and it usually takes him 30 minutes to get her out of the office door.

She stops and gabs with everyone in her path. She has made warm friends of total strangers while her husband writhed on the floor, agonizing for a warm home and a cold

Why must a woman start a conversation with her husband by saying, "There is something I want to talk to you about "? This scares him so bad his evening is ruined, even if all she wanted to tell him was what she wanted for Christmas.

Why must a wife always point out an empty parking space directly in front of the theath after her husband has parked two block away. She really didn't mind the walk, because she stopped and looked in every lousy ston window on the way. WHEN MOTHER has been out enjoying her. self with the girls, she always tells the his she has been to a church meeting, or sche

The Upper Room

"I feel myself under a sort of universal obligation, I owe something to all men." (Romans 1:14, Phillips)

At the closing service of an annual missionary conference in June 1965, at Greencastle, Indiana, nineteen missionaires retired. Together they represented more than 700 years of service overseas. As they stood in the sanctuary, there were no words adequate to express our appreciation for the rich lives of these dedicated people.

Looking at them from the congregation, one felt a great sense of loss to the Christian world mission -- a loss of their experience and leadership, their understanding of other cultures and religions, their facility with difficult

Inguages,
Then the new missionaries were presented. Sixty-five men and women stood up; all of them deeply committed, highly educated, and carefully selected. Their assignments were read: Argentina, Pakistan, Japan, the Congo, and other countries. Our concern for the missionary work of the church was filled with new confidence.

PRAYER: O Lord God, holy Father, we take upon ourselves with joy the yoke of obedience and engage ourselves, for love to Thee, to see and to Thy perfect will. Strengthen us in Thy service. For the sake of Jesus. Amen, THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Constrained by Jesus' love, the church goes into all the world to serve Him.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

Salary Boost Ahead By Larry Fuhrmann

Our State Capitol Correspondent

A boost insalaries of State employees -- expected by many legislators to receive top priority in the upcoming session of the Texas legis lature -- has been recommended by Governor Connally. Connally said that this is the first of the 1967-69 budget recommendations. The increased wages would cost $75 million and boost salaries of the 40,000 employees an average of 20 per cent. Book titles such as Ronald Reagan's "The Greatest Story Ever Sold," Robert Kennedy's "Great Expectations" and Dean Rusk's "What to Do in Case of Peace" were suggested by Mrs. Liz Carpenter at an annual Writers Round-Up staged in Austin, Mrs. Carpenter serves as press secretary for Mrs. Johnson, and was mistress of ceremonies for the writers meeting. Fifteen writers were honored at the Round-Up.

For the ladies whose tastes change from time to time, a welcome addition to the wardrobe may be paper dresses, selling anywhere from $2 to who knows how much. Modeled before journalists at a Texas Press Association Workshop, the dresses looked like "the real thing" and who would know it only Contract for a four-horn "Giant Voice" system will soon be awarded by the Austin City Council. The public address system for the University of Texas Main Building tower will carry sound a radius of three-eighths of a mile and will be modified for possible emergency use by the University of Texas

The Rev. Filipe Pardinas, professor of Chinese history at the State University in Mexico, has expressed concern over the growing power of China and how present and future generations of the western world will deal with that country.

"Communism is a national doctrine for the Chinese people; it was their only way to modernize," he said. "Before communism came into China, there existed problems of hunger, shelter, and education; but now the Chinese have food, roofs, and schools.

"The grandchildren of today's young eration must have a different image of C from the one that now exists. The is information is the greatest threat to p in the world."

Although Governor Connally says he is prepared to support a city sales taxmes in the upcoming legislature, the matter upushed by the Texas Municipal Lesgue unanimously endorsed legislation for a coption, one per coursel and the upcoments. unanimously endorsed legislation for all option, one per cent sales tax when ment gathered for their 54th annual confers League leaders predicted victory in the lature and hope that Connally, who apparais not yet committed to a specific positivill agree with their proposal. Christmas Tree Sale Begins

The Optimist-Band Boosters Tree Sale gets underway today as the trees are to go on sale. The sale will continue through Dec. 22. The trees are located on the 1000 block of the Levelland Highway. The Optimist's baseball team and the band are selling tickets for $1 toward the purchase of a tree of your choice.

The tickets are placed in a drawing to be held Dec. 22 at 4:30 p.m. A transistor radio is the first prize. Two area 1967 football season tickets will be awarded to the second, third and fourth places. The fifth, sixth, and seventh places will receive a ham.

The money raised by the combined effort will go to pay for future worthwhile causes of the

Boy Scout Drive Begun

Tuesday morning the Boy Scout Drive had a kickoff break-

A "real good crowd" at-tended, Tom Hilbun reported. About 70 interested persons attended the breakfast. Total results will be given later this week.

WHEN POLISHING silver, a piece of string rolled in the polish may be used to clean between fork times and around the base

The accident occurred about p.m. when an auto driven by Audie May Reed, Littlefield, and the 2 1/2-ton truck, driven by A. M. Galvan, Plainview, collided at the intersection. Galvan, driving for Plainview Rendering Co., was headed east on 9th Street. Mrs. Reed, driving south on Harral, had stopped for a stop sign, then pulled across 9th, officers said.

The collision sent Mrs. Reed's auto into a yard at 707 E. 9th. The truck overturned in the middle of 9th.

Wrecking company workers got the truck back on its wheels, and the dead animals back into it, after a few minutes' work.

Police reported no injuries in the mishap, but said there was $600 damage to the Reed auto and $300 damage to the rendering company truck.

Juniors Win Over Seniors

In the battle between the junior and senior classes at Junior-Senior Night at Amos Ward's Department Store, the juniors came out top in salesmanship.

The juniors sold merchandise from 5 to 9 p.m. Monday night while the seniors sold from 5 to 9 p.m. Tuesday night.

Amos Ward gave 5% of the sales to each class fund for their various projects. He also offered $100 in cash prizes to top salesmen in each class.

Top salesmen in the junior class were, Laura Walker, who won $25; second, Mike Stafford, who won $15; third, Quen Johnson, who won $10; and T.J. Reed won fourth place.

The seniors winning prizes were Twila Lynn, first; Chere Kierce, second; Denny Walker, third, and Jackie Maner, fourth.

Some of the dryland yields reported included 30 1/4 bu.,

Barwise; 35 Bu., Sumner (near Paris, Texas); 32 Bu., Jasper, Mo.; and 33 bushels St. Joseph.

Excerpts taken from the farmers reporting indicate considerable satisfaction with the new Patterson soybean.

Hubert L. Gohlke, Route 1, Littlefield, with a yield of 42 bushels per acre of the Patterson reported, "They combined very good," E. W. Jones, Rt. 4, Floydada, who had a yield of 36.1 bushels of Patterson per acre reported, "The yield surprised me on these beans. They combined perfectly. I did not expect this much. I would encourage anyone to plant Patterson Soy-beans,"

C. E. Harris, Tulia, with 35 bushels said, "Fine crop any-time, expecially following wheat".

Bob Viegel, Route 4, Here-ford, with 44 bushels per acre wrote in his report; i. "Very surprised at yield especially with bug damage (stink bugs) Yield equalled that of Hill and Hinn beans. We had 200 acres of Soybeans." 2. By far the easiest bean to harvest because they did not tangle, branches stood erect. 3. Cleanest beans around with less than 2% cracks and trash, 4. Beans not brittle but soft and dry. Moisture Robert E. Kirchhoff, Halfway, with a yield of 40 bushels per acre of Patterson reported, "The surprise of my life. They looked like 25 bushels but they were all beans. The Patterson cut and thrashed beautifully". T. H. Chatham, Plainview, had a yield of 37 bushels per acre on his farm near Barwise and said, "Well pleased, 100 days from planting to harvest".

Bert Williams, Farwell, Tex-as, had a yield of 37 bushels per acre. He wrote in his report, "I was well pleased with the yield. It took one less watering than my Hill Soybean". Baker Feed and Seed Company of Morton harvested 38 bushels per acre. They stated, "This is a good producer and about 20 to 30 days ahead of Lee and Hinn varieties-no shatter to speak of".

Norman R. Hiner, Boise City, Oklahoma, had a yield of 35 bushels. He harvested his beans on October 6th, Hesaid, "Could have been harvested two weeks earlier but was delayed by
