As announced by post master W. D. Storey, the city delivery will be extended beginning June 16.

This service will include the 900 to 1000 block on West Fourth Street, and the 1400 and 1500 blocks on West Fourth Street, along with the 1100, 1200 and 1300 blocks of West Ninth Street, and the 1000, 1100, 1200 and 1300 blocks of West Tenth Street.

All patrons who desire the city delivery are requested to have their mail boxes up on their front porches at once. There is no definite type of mail receptacle that is used. That is, there is no standard type that one is compelled to use. One should have a convenient type of box that will be convenient for the carrier, and one that will prevent the mail from blowing out and be lost.

Patrons are also advised that when mailing a letter they should use a clothes pin to fasten the outgoing mail on the boxes. (Continued on Back Page)

Water District Membership To Be Decided By Election

First steps toward organization of a Canadian River Water District under a bill passed during the recent session of the Legislature were taken at a luncheon attended by representatives of 10 of the 12 project cities in the Caprock Hotel in Lubbock, Monday. A. Bryce Huguenin of Dallas project attorney, supplied the cities with legal forms to be used in naming the board of directors which will be the governing body of the district. He also outlined the procedure to be followed after the board is organized. The governing body of each city will name its representative or representatives on the board of directors.

One of the first actions of the board, the attorney said, will be the setting of a date for an election in each city on whether it desires to retain membership in the project.

The next step will be a determination of the method preferred in attempting to finance construction of the project. No doubt could be created, Huguenin said, without elections in each city.

Any city could vote itself out of the project by rejecting the financing plan proposed. The district would be comprised only of those

Pin Money Zoo

WOOL SCULPTURE . . . Mrs. Pearl Goerdeler displays yarn animal she invented.

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Wool sculpture solved for Pearl Goerdeler, of New York, the double problem of making pin money and doing something creative with her own invention.

The loom on which all the sculpture animals are made is small enough to hold in one hand. Here are her instructions for making a sculptured animal:

Wrap a double strand of the yarn around the outside of the rods as you would wind a bobbin. Lay a long head-and-body-wire down the center of this wrapping, to serve as a backbone. Sew it in place, by overcasting it down the entire length. Take it off the loom. This will leave a narrow oblong of yarn, sewn down the middle and having looped sides.

Reset the loom to narrower width by moving the rods closer together and make two pairs of legs, a pair of ears and a tail by the same process.

Sew the legs on the body, leaving the whole figure as flat as a cross. Sew on a button for a nose, beads for the eyes, a few strands of yarn for an upper red felt tongue. Before nose button and eye be them black. (Mrs. Goerdeler with the black lac boys use on toy airplanes it at the dime store.

Now that the loops on of the body and legs, so sides are like fringe. Bend down so that the animal Bend the neck up and forward. Take a pair of and trim the animal like lion, sculpturing him.

Sew on the ears and tail their loops.

Farm Products Buy More Machinery Than In 1939

Farm products are worth more now in terms of farm machinery than in 1939, a survey made by Allis-Chalmers shows. The machines are greatly improved over 14 years ago. Prices are based on averages during the first week of March, 1939 and 1953, using United States Department of Agriculture reported averages, and factory prices of machinery. Typical machinery found most everywhere is used for comparison.

HOW TO PLAN A BRIDAL SHOWER

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The month of showers may be April to the weatherman, but it's June to American women.

In hundreds of towns and cities all over the country, thousands of women are planning showers for some bride right now. Showers of frothy lingerie, filmy stockings and smart linens to give them more beautiful trousseaus. Showers to equip their closets, bathrooms, gardens and kitchens. Showers of music records, cosmetics, cookbooks and canned goods.

If you are among the planners, there are some things to avoid. Don't shower the bride with what you or your sister want. Find out what her preferences and her color scheme are. Don't use the shower to repay your own social obligations. Since every one is expected to bring a gift, it is fitting that the guest list should be made up of the bride's friends—not some people who scarcely know her. And—a last word—plan well so that things run smoothly; but don't try to be too fancy.

You can, of course, spend a lot of time and energy creating elaborate decorative effects for the shower gift table or tea table. But many hostesses consider that they are not very smart. These women give their energy to seeing that the refreshments are good, that there are attractive bowls of flowers in the house and that the shower gifts are there on time, well diversified and harmonizing with the bride's color scheme.

Guests are supposed to confer with the hostess before they purchase their gifts and to have them delivered to her house well in advance of the party, so that all may be assembled before the guest of honor arrives.

For this reason some hostesses prefer to telephone their invitations and discuss the gift question then and there. If you prefer to mail yours, you can use your own visiting card and write on it: Kitchen shower for Miss Mary Hanum, Tuesday, June 23rd and the address.

Showers may be given at any hour of the day or evening. But the favorite time is afternoon, if the guest of honor and other guests are not working then. If they are, an evening party is in order.

On the day of the party all the gifts should be assembled on a table in the living room, perhaps concealed behind a screen until it is time to open them. When everybody has arrived, the table is brought forward and the guest of honor begins the ceremony of unwrapping them, expressing her thanks to the givers as she does. If there are only a few guests and gifts, the ceremony can be lengthened by making a treasure hunt of it.

After that, the guests have light refreshments—hot tea, thin sandwiches and little cakes in the afternoon; ice cream, cakes and coffee in the evening.

few hours while their mothers stop or while their parents take in an evening party. Or you might run a child boarding service to give parents a day or a week-end off. Other ideas for stay-at-home money makers are a toy mending service and a book lending library.

An Expert Tells How To Earn Pin Money

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Would you like to make some pin money, like hundreds of thousands of other women?

Jane Todd, Deputy Commissioner of the New York State Department of Commerce, says you should provide an article or service that answers a real need in your community—one that is not already being supplied in sufficient amount to meet the need. Of course it should be one you have the ability to supply.

You couldn't have it from a better expert. Miss Todd heads the Department's state-wide women's program, which has counseled thousands of New York women who wanted to start money-making projects at home or establish a small business. In the light of her advice, let's examine your case.

Suppose that you have a fairly smooth hand in the kitchen, even if you are not the gourmet's delight. And suppose there are factories or office buildings not too far away. You might find a steady market for good box lunches, sold from your car or a wagon at factory entrances. Or you might make a specialty of taking telephone orders for box lunches for busy executives, or produce snack boxes to send their youngsters at school. Desserts, casseroles, pies or cakes delivered on order to busy women are other ideas to keep in mind.

If you have a little skill with the needle—even though it is not in the specialty class—you may turn it to good account by helping women who are too busy to do sewing chores themselves. One New Yorker makes a living by selling a one-day-a-week service to busy career women and working mothers. She washes, irons and mends their lingerie, presses and mends their dresses, brushes coats, sews on sagging buttons, etc. Another woman, working at home, specializes in alterations—puts new hems in dresses at $1.50 apiece or pins them up for owners to sew at 50 cents each.

The problem of busy mothers offers you possibilities too. For them you might start a business service, equipped to do odd jobs such as meeting trains, walking dogs, locating plumbers or carpenters for special work, buying theater tickets, cleaning silver, mending socks, taking telephone calls or shopping for unusual items.

If the children keep you at home, there are still some ways of making a little extra cash. You might start a baby parking service, where youngsters can be left for a

Washing Sweaters Takes Know-How

AP Newsfeatures
 How often have you ruined an expensive sweater by trying to wash it at home? This tragedy is repeated many times a day in thousands of homes, and it's quite unnecessary.

It's easy to do a professional job of washing and blocking your finest sweaters if you take a little time and care. Here's how:

Before you wash the sweater, lay it flat on a large piece of stiff cardboard and carefully trace its outline. Then cut out the pattern, snipping off the sleeves so that you have three parts. This will be your blocking frame.

Now fill the wash basin with luke-warm water and prepare a rich suds with mild soap flakes or granules, or a detergent that is guaranteed safe for woolsens. Dunk the sweater and squeeze the suds gently through it for about a minute. Do not rub and do not let the sweater soak before washing.

After two rinsings in luke-warm ish towel to absorb excess moisture. While it is still wet, lay it on a flat surface and slide the cardboard frame, first adjusting the body section, then the sleeves. Pat the sweater gently into shape, so that it fits the frame exactly.

Let it dry on a flat surface, away from excessive heat or sunlight. When dry, use a steam iron to bring up the nap. Hold the iron two inches away from the sweater, so the steam penetrates the yarn. Then while it is warm and moist from the steam, use the hands to smooth it into shape. Seams can be pressed smooth on the inside with a light pressure of the steam iron.

If the sweater has puffed sleeves, insert a soft pressing mitt and press lightly with the steam iron to achieve the rounded shape the sleeves had when new.

If you follow these directions carefully, your sweater will look as fresh and smooth as the day you bought it.

A LION OR TWO

The Tail Twister says that the best way to save face is to keep lower part of it closed.

We really had a nice time in Sudan last Tuesday night at the Sudan Lions Charter Night. The Methodist ladies really put on a real ole southern feed with fried chicken and cream gravy and the things that go with it. Real nice hosts, those Sudan folks.

Our special thanks to Lion International Councillor, Dr. Harvey of Lubbock for the splendid job of acting as toastmaster for the occasion. There's a real Lion for you. Deputy District Governors W. W. Cooper of Turkey and Bruce Gentry of New Deal were also there. Ex-Antoinette Bill Tomison, secretary-treasurer of the Silverton club was also a welcome guest. When asked if he could roar like a Lion, Lion Bill said, "No, I can't roar but I can write letters." He can, too.

District Governor Milton Morris of Canyon was there to charter the Sudan Club. He's really been a stem-winder this year in that capacity. Reminds of the fellow that said he knew plenty of people with a good aim in life, but only a few knew how to pull the trigger. "Buff" Morris can pull the trigger.

Part of the excellent entertainment was furnished by the "Littlefield Four". Good, Too! Our thanks to John Clayton, Curtis Strain, Joe Dunn, and Dewey Westmoreland for some fine numbers. It's nice to be with people who are as generous with their talents as these four.

From the Littlefield Lions Club, the members received awards: Tom Hilbun, 10 year charter chevron and 5 year perfect attendance; Harold Clement, 10 year Old Monarch chevron and membership key; Roy Ater, 5 year perfect attendance, and membership key. Others will receive awards at a later meeting of the club.

Lion and Mrs. Preston Lyda of Anton have a right to be proud of their daughter, Miss Billie Lyda, who's singing together with Mrs. Norma McCarty's piano accompaniment, completed the program. She's really talented and is well received wherever she goes. Mrs. McCarty is a music instructor here in Littlefield. District Governor Morris wondered if she is not going to the District Convention in Borger this week-end. Are you, Billie?

The Littlefield club presented the Sudan Club a gong and gavel as a token of our esteem. We're proud of that group.

Lion Buster Owens, Jr. was elected president of the Lamb County Community Center and will do an excellent job, we know, in that capacity. He is deserving of the support of all of us. He'll get it too, won't he?

Let's all develop some aims in life—and pull the trigger.

How To Be A Designer

AP Newsfeatures

Nine-year-old Joan May Oppenheimer, of Purchase, N. Y., got tired of having her long red hair fall over her eyes.

Being an inventive type, Joan filched some old filched some old red hats from her mother's closet, cut them into strips, punched holes in the ends and attached elastic bands. Experimenting until she achieved the right size, Joan slipped the bands over her head, tiara fashion, and found that the unruly hair stayed neatly in place.

Still the bands looked rather plain, so Joan set to work at decoration. On one band she sewed her collection of plastic charms, amassed through daily purchases of bubble gum. On another she attached some bright sequins, and on another some beads.

Next day Joan wore one of her hair-bands and took the other samples tucked into a school book. She showed them to the teacher, who decided to make the idea a class project.

Then Joan's dad, who owns a manufacturing firm, noticed the hair-bands, decided they were saleable, and took Joan by the hand to interview the buyer for a large New York Department store. Result—Dad's firm has a half million dollars' worth of orders.

Expansion Program Continues At Boys Ranch At Old Tascosa

G. M. Shaw and Lamb County's four Netherlands exchange students, Johannes C. Calelaars, P. J. Dilleman, John George Ohler and Andrea J. C. Spikkerman, were guests of the Boys Ranch at Old Tascosa Sunday, and enjoyed dinner with the boys.

They got there in time to attend the church service, and in an interview with a Leader reporter Tuesday, Mr. Shaw commented on the splendid behavior of the boys, stating that "I never in my life have seen an audience that were any more attentive to the service from the little ones to the big boys . . . and they drank in everything that was said."

After the service the visitors went into the dining room with the boys and were served a splendid meal, including roast beef, brown gravy, mashed potatoes, baked corn, lettuce and tomato salad, and a dessert of coconut cake and iced tea.

An interesting rule of the Ranch is that the boys' hands are inspected by the chaplain as they enter the dining room, as cleanliness is a must at the camp and their hands must be clean to enter the dining room.

The boys of course, live and study by a regular schedule.

Mr. Shaw states that this was the first time he has been to the ranch in three years, and that he never saw such a change since they started their expansion program at the Ranch.

According to Mr. Shaw, who takes a great interest in the Boys Ranch, and has helped this project greatly in a material way, their expansion program includes the building of 20 units and one unit has been completed, and they are starting another. These units are complete ranch homes and contain a recreation room and each boy's room, a desk and lamp to study by. They accommodate between 25 and 30 boys.

Mr. Shaw also commended these boys on their splendid manners and courtesy to visitors.

Boys from 4 years old to 16 are living at the Boys Ranch. Cal Farley is founder and president of this project. A. C. Chesher of Littlefield is on the Board of Directors.

excellent in all branches of the work, and has been particularly valuable as a member of degree teams and officers' teams. He is said to be numbered among the best consul commanders in the United States.

Local Woodmen and the entire citizenship of Littlefield will welcome back for another visit a very good friend in Max Hurt, who has visited this city on numerous occasions. The last time he was here was less than two years ago and members of the craft offer referrals to portions of his masterful talk on the subject, "Fraternalism in Action". On the occasion of his visit Mr. Hurt was presented with a west Texas hat, and he received a big thrill adjusting it to a comfortable position.

Max B. Hurt was born at Kirksy, Kentucky, on February 11, 1899. He attended the elementary schools of Calloway County and graduated from Murray High School. He is also a graduate of Kentucky University and the Murray State Teachers College. Following his graduation from college, he served as principal of Water Valley High School in Graves County and Kirksy and New Concord High Schools in Calloway County, Kentucky. In 1932 he was named Assistant United States Postmaster at Murray, a position which he held until he was named Executive Secretary of the Murray Chamber of Commerce in 1945.

He became Woodman in 1929 when he affiliated with Camp No. 170 at Kirksy, Kentucky. He has served as Escort of Camp No. 170, Head Advisor and Head Consul, of the Jurisdiction of Kentucky and represented the Kentucky Jurisdiction at four national conventions. He attracted nation wide attention in Woodcraft Circles in 1936 when he was one of the principal speakers at the Mother's Day program held at the Woodmen Hospital. In 1941 he delivered the nominating address at the national convention in San Francisco which produced unanimous re-election of all the national officers. He was appointed National Secretary by President Newberry on March 22, 1943, and later became National Watchman. He was promoted to National Auditor January 1, 1945, and appointed National Treasurer on July 30, 1946. He moved to Omaha, Nebraska in October, 1949. On January 1, 1952, he was named executive vice-president of the Woodmen Society.

A veteran of World War I, he takes an active part in American Legion activities and for several years was Service Officer of Post No. 73, Murray, Kentucky. In Murray he was active in civic and fraternal circles, being a Rotarian and a member of the Young Business Men's Club. He is an active Mason, a Shriner and has served as Historian of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky. He has served as a member of the Executive Board of the Red Cross, a director of the Blue Cross Community Hospital Service, a commissioner of the Boy Scouts, and secretary-treasurer of the West Kentucky Symphony Society, Incorporated. He was chairman of the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church at Murray for a number of years and was a teacher of the Young Adult Bible Class in that church.

The meeting June 18 will be in the nature of an open house affair at which there will be many outstanding visitors and the wives and families and friends of local Woodmen.

Starting at 8:30 p. m. the meeting will be of an informal nature. Refreshments will be served. The coming of Mr. Hurt to this section will be the occasion for visits from outstanding Woodmen for hundreds of miles around.

Great Growth

Registered mail will be delivered. No packages are left unless the patron is at home to receive them. This excludes small packages that can be placed in the mail by the foot carrier.

Patrons are urged to have the proper addresses placed on all mail coming to their address. Cards may be obtained from the post office for changing of the address of magazines etc. The town has grown so swiftly and the population has such a great turn over and with the fact the post office has new personnel together, it is practically impossible to keep in touch with every one and make proper delivery without proper address. Again every patron is urged to assist the post office all they can.

The addition of these blocks will assist a number of families and thus render a service that is greatly appreciated.

VISIT IN ORR HOME

Amherst Methodist Pastor Puts $10 Bills To Work For His Church

The Rev. D. L. Egger, pastor of the Methodist Church in Amherst, believes in living his religion, not just preaching it—and he's got a big part of his congregation doing the same.

They're engaged in something called "The Talent Project", which came about at a recent regular Sunday morning worship service. Following his message, Rev. Egger passed out $10 bills to the congregation.

The idea patterned after the Biblical parable of the talents, is for each person who took one of the bills, to go out and increase his talent.

To Boost Building Fund
In addition to adding to the funds for a new church building, the project is intended to provide a concrete illustration of the Bible story.

There is no obligation to take the money—but 63 persons did. And there is no set amount which a person must increase his talent. Nothing will be said even if the investment is lost. Rev. Egger read of the idea in a church magazine and his members have taken to it eagerly.

One of the youngest workers is Rev. Egger's own nine-year-old son, Darris. The fifth grader plans to invest his $10 in a shoe shine kit, and go to town on Saturday to ply his trade. He also plans to bake some cookies for sale.

Not to be outdone by his son, Rev. Egger has gone into partnership with a high school student, Benny Harmon, and is now in the car polishing business. The original money was invested in materials.

Some of the projects are unique. Mrs. Lester LaGrange is making an embroidered friendship tablecloth. For a small fee, she will embroider anyone's name in their own handwriting on the cloth. After the cloth is completed, it will be presented to one of the persons whose name appears on it.

Miss Mildred Gregson, a recent high school graduate, is planning to buy old furniture and refinish it for sale. She also is taking work on order.

Mrs. Bill Workman is taking orders for her home made rolls, and also for corsages, made from the flowers in her own yard.

Several of the women are crocheting and making knitted dollies and matching hats and bags for sale. Among these are Mrs. Flora Hall, Mrs. Joe Gilmore, and Miss Minnie Shannon.

Others of the women are making cakes and cookies on order and are holding cake sales every Saturday morning in the school office. They also sell food, handmade pillowcases, aprons, and crocheted work.

Mrs. Doyle Tapley is making TV lights for sale. Dr. T. M. Simmons plans a lawn carnival in the near future, with games, stunts and an ice cream social.

The project will not be concluded until fall, for several are long-range. Many boys and men have bought calves and are feeding them up for sale. One group invested in commercial fertilizer, and have fertilized an acre of cotton. The proceeds from the increase it brings to the crop will be given to the church.

The congregation reports that not only are church members "increasing their talents" but they're having a good time doing it.

Master of Religious Education degree from Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth in 1951. She taught in the Springlake public school in 1948 and 1949.

Miss Holland's home was formerly at Olton, Texas, and she is the daughter of Mrs. Florence Spears of Olton.

June Is Dairy Month

ant contributor to the over-all agricultural income of the state to say nothing of what means to the health and welfare of the state's population. The value of all milk-produced in the state last year amounted to about $200,000,000 says R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Total milk production reached almost four billion pounds.

During the present month, Burleson says the dairy industry will be in the spotlight for June is dairy month. At this time the industry, he explains, is having its troubles just as are other parts of the great agricultural industry. This is the season of greatest milk production and surpluses are creating producer problems. They'd disappear, says the specialist, if consumers would step up their purchases of milk and other dairy products.

Stepped up purchases of milk are of the utmost importance because the fluid milk market is the largest single outlet for the state's dairy producer. Surpluses are being used in large quantities for the making of ice cream, cheese, butter and evaporated, condensed and powdered milk. Dairy products in any form, says Burleson, are among our best food and are needed by young and old alike for providing essential nutrients. The specialist say that milk production in the nation for the first months of this year is about seven percent higher than for the same period in 1952 but is expected to slacken for the remainder of the year. Even so, the total for the year is expected to reach 118 billion pounds more than for 1952.

At the end of 1952, Burleson reports that 9,000 herds in Texas were producing Grade A milk; that approximately 12,000 head of dairy cows were on test in the 23 dairy herd improvement associations in the state; that 21,000 cows last year were artificially bred; that 5,371 silos were filled in the state by dairymen; that 3,394 4-H dairy members owned 5,424 dairy animals and that 24,146 dairymen attended the 224 meetings held in the state last year by the Extension Service's dairy specialists.

Texas dairymen are making progress but must make plans that will provide an adequate feeding program—including silage, hay and pasture; develop a strong breeding program for supplying herd replacements and improve dairy herd management and marketing practices if they are to satisfactorily meet competition and the cost-price squeeze, says Burleson.

1953 Recommendations for Home Food Preservation

Each year since 1944 the State Nutrition Council has made recommendations to Texas families concerning home food preservation. Louis Mason, foods and nutrition specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and member of the Council says the 1953 information includes special directions for canning snap beans white potatoes and emergency drinking water.

The Council, a committee representing 25 departments, agencies, organizations and institute in the state concerned with nutrition, attempts to assist the people of Texas achieve optimum nutrition by informing them concerning production, conservation, distribution, selection and consumption of foods. The food preservation committee of the Council co-ordinates the research and latest information each year in order to present uniform methods.

Miss Mason says the one step method of canning snap beans in glass jars has been approved by the Committee in the 1953 recommendations. The raw snap beans are packed into glass containers, covered with boiling water and sealed for processing in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure.

The recommendations on canning small white potatoes, diced or whole, gives directions for the hot pack method. The potatoes are cooked in boiling water for 10 minutes before they are packed in the containers, covered with boiling water and processed at 10 pounds pressure.

Recommendations for food supplies needed for defense and disaster relief include a supply of canned drinking water. The committee recommends glass for canning emergency drinking water, processing pint and quart jars for 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

Detailed information on these and other recommendations for home canning of food, is available from members of the State Nutrition Council, county home demonstration agents and other home economists in Texas. Members of the food preservation committee are: Sylvia Cover, Agricultural Experiment Station; Mrs. Beulah Smith, Farmers Home Administration and Miss Mason.

Protect Food From Insecticides

With spring house-cleaning and the anti-moth battle under way, housewives all over Texas have been using insecticide sprays. Because most of these are poisonous and some are inflammable, special precautions noted on the labels should be observed, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Common sense safety rules include protection of food, dishes, silverware and cooking utensils from moth, mosquito or fly sprays. If you spill concentrated insecticide solutions on yourself, wash off immediately with soap and water.

Don't expose yourself or members of your family unnecessarily to insecticide dust or spray mists. Provide extra ventilation by opening doors and windows when extensive jobs are being done.

Care should be taken not to spray liquid insecticides into electrical outlets or on exposed electrical connections because of danger of short circuits. Don't apply oil-base sprays near first, flame or sparks and don't smoke while applying them.

Special precautions should be taken to store insecticides where children will not be able to reach them. Never put into a kitchen cupboard where they might be taken for food.

LEGISLATIVE PERMISSION REQUIRED FOR SUIT AGAINST STATE

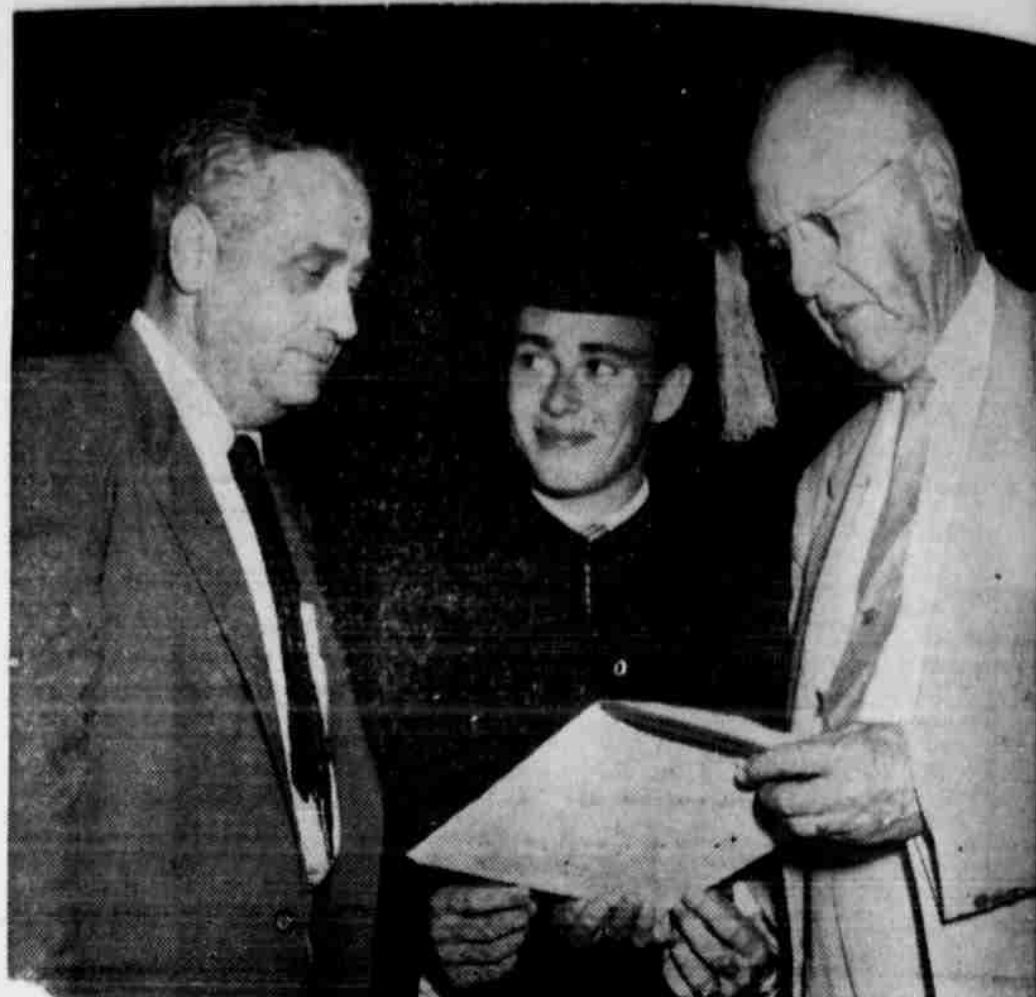

Included among the measures passed by the current 53rd Texas Legislature are several Concurrent Resolutions permitting various individuals to file suits against the state. Applying to local situations only, they have been attended by very little publicity, and the majority of Texans are probably not even aware of their passage.

In face, the average individual would seldom have occasion to ponder the question of whether the State of Texas can be sued on the same basis as a person or corporation. One of the prerogatives of sovereignty carried down from ages past into our present day laws is that of immunity from being sued. The State of Texas may not be sued without its consent.

The Legislature by a proper action may permit certain general types of suits to be brought against the state under certain conditions and restrictions. Then, if a specific situation arises which is not covered by the general rules, the legislators are authorized to pass a special measure to permit suit to be brought.

Therefore, any person seeking to enforce a claim against the state through the courts must petition the Legislature for the necessary permission, unless his claim within some general category or type previously recognized by our lawmakers.

Recently passed legislation will allow suits to be brought against the state in a variety of cases, ranging from an action for damages for personal injuries suffered in a collision with a State Department truck to a suit for monetary damages alleged to have been incurred in connection with the securing of a right-of-way for a farm-to-market highway. Sometimes, however, suits may be brought against individuals holding office under the State of Texas and acting as agents of the state, but where the state itself is not the principal party to the suit, without first gaining consent to sue. There are numerous situations in which an individual officer may be sued with regard to the duties and functions of his office, and in which the state is not directly or substantially a party in interest.

Suppose you do obtain legislative permission to sue the state. What happens then?

If suit is brought against the State of Texas, and the action is successfully prosecuted, you will be awarded a judgement against the state. Then, it's back to the Legislature for more legislation to appropriate the necessary money with which the state may pay off the judgement.

Loveliness may be recaptured at any age, providing you are willing to work at it. Here's a complexion program that should put you back on the beauty beam:

1. A balanced diet must be eaten every day. This includes milk (skimmed for reducers), meat, fish or fowl, at least one pat of butter, green vegetables, yellow vegetable, potato (baked for reducers), whole-wheat bread, fruit or gelatin dessert, at least one egg.

2. Exercise should be taken in some form — walking, outdoor sports such as skiing, skating, bicycle riding, wood chopping, and —for fannies—hip rolling or knee bends. This doesn't need to be strenuous, and should be enjoyed to be of the most benefit.

3. The complexion must be kept healthy with generous use of soap and water.

(a) If the complexion has taken on a dull cast, a good pore treatment may be just what you need. Just work a good soapy lather into the skin, then let it dry and remain on your face and neck a few minutes before rinsing it off. Wrap hot towels around your well-soaped face and neck for a couple of minutes before rinsing so that the soap will really penetrate.

(b) When rinsing soap off, use warm and then cold water to stimulate circulation and keep your complexion in condition.

(c) Give your neck and chinline an extra assist in avoiding wrinkles with an easy exercise that keeps your muscles in condition. It is a simple matter of relaxing your head completely and rotating it slowly in a circle.

4. Go easy on makeup. Never use it just to cover up the wrinkles. They will get deeper as a result. Blemishes may occur from foundation and powder caking in little lines and wrinkles.

(a) Makeup for the problem skin must be selected as carefully as a new party dress. Only an expert can advise you, and usually this doesn't cost much more than the price of the cosmetics you need. Special foundations, creams and makeups are available for dry, oily and normal skins.

(b) Older skins must beware of pale, flour-like foundations and powders. Darker-than-skin-tone cosmetics are important to the complexion glow the older women seek.

5. Hair must be kept clean by frequent shampoos, and if it is dyed or tinted should never be neglected. Gray and white hair needs special care, and should be coifed prettily at all times for a youthful appearance.

If you co-operate with Mother Nature in sluffing off that old dead skin with soap and water and proper diet, you should be happy with your new-found beauty, and this should give you a new outlook on the years to come.

Ships of America

AP Newsfeatures
This famous clipper ship was one of the fastest sailing craft ever to take the water. She was built in Boston in 1851, by Donald McKay, perhaps the greatest figure in the history of American sailing ships. Her original owner was Enoch Train who operated a packet service from Boston to Liverpool. This was long before the Panama Canal had come into existence and ships, in order to reach the Pacific, had to sail around the southern tip of South America. With Josiah Perkins Cressy as captain, the Flying Cloud followed this route and made a record trip of 89 days from Boston to San Francisco. Such performances as this by sailing ships led American owners to concentrate on them and neglect, to their sorrow, the development of steamships.

How One Man Takes Care of His Golf Club

ATLANTA — Harvie Ward, Atlantan who won the 1952 British amateur golf championship, says golfing duffers should be more ashamed of how they care for their clubs rather than their high scores.

Ward thinks President Eisenhower's fondness for the game, and the resultant publicity, will revive interest among thousands of occasional players and bring swarms of new recruits to the sport. A few of them will take any sensible care of their expensive equipment, he believes.

Here are some of Ward's suggestions for preserving your equipment:

1. Wash all iron clubheads with water, mild soap and a stiff bristle brush. This will remove the grass juices, dirt and fertilizer which can corrode the metal. It is best to do the washing over a pail partly filled with water. Harsh soaps and wire brushes should be avoided.
2. Dry each club separately, using a good absorbent towel. This keeps irons from rusting.
3. Treat all the club grips with an application of saddle soap if they are leather. If they are rubber they should be cleaned with mineral spirits. Some golfers like to put a thin coat of paste wax on the rubber grips.
4. Next the tops of wooden club heads should be treated with a good paste wax and the underparts and faces rubbed with linseed oil.
5. When your golf round is over

If you are looking for a boy friend, consider the fishing rod ally. That trusty contraption has possibilities the like of which Isaac Walton never dreamed, and for which Dan Cupid no doubt would have traded his sturdy golden bow and arrow. So says Joan Salvato, National Professional Women's All-Around Casting Champion. She points out:

"The best way to hook a beau is to be interested in the sports he likes, preferably fishing. Joan whose father owns a sporting goods store in Patterson, N. J., learned to cast long before she ever tossed a line into the deep. At 11, she could bait her own hook, outcast some men, and keep up fishing gab with the men. Now in her twenties, she says: "I decided I'd learn to fish or I'd end up like mother, rowing the boat for Dad."

That, believes Joan, could be a

Scenic Railway To Open At Palo Duro Canyon

Work is underway on the right-of-way for a narrow gauge scenic railway in Palo Duro Canyon State Park. Tentative name is Palo Duro Canyon, Burlington and Texas Western Railroad. More than 60 tons of rails, ties and other equipment has been received and more is to follow.

The scenic railroad will have a capacity of 72 adults. Powered by a big Chrysler engine, the locomotive is mocked up as Casey Jones' Famous Old No. 97. The route starts near Triassic Peak and winds up toward El Coronado lodge giving views not hitherto available except by long hikes or horseback of the Sad Monkey, Spanish Skirts, Catrino Cave, Mesa Mecca, Christmas Tree Canyon and the old Goodnight entrada route into the Canyon.

The railroad is being installed and operated by Harold E. Grear and associate, James M. Bailey of Herrin, Illinois. The train, one of a few such scenic trains in the country, has been operated for the past three years at Herrin. Mr. Grear is a member of a pioneer family of newspaper publishers. Prior to World War II Mr. Grear was managing editor of the Herrin Daily Journal. After the war he was in the wholesale and outdoor theatre business. Mr. Bailey was production superintendent for a large manufacturing plant there.

Engineers and officials of the Texas State Parks Board co-operated in selecting a route where the right-of-way in no way marred the beauty of the Canyon. The route has no more than a 3 per cent grade and was routed around picturesque trees, rocks and other formation. Formal opening of the two mile ride took place the latter part of May.

Mr. Grear is seeking a Texas location for his train was asked to inspect Palo Duro Canyon as the most logical site for such an attraction. He completed his contract with the Concessionaire, John L. McCarty in April and the survey on the route began thereafter. Officials of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway are aiding in an advisory capacity.

It is believed the scenic ride will be a big factor in further increasing the attendance at the "World's Most Colorful Canyon" which in the past two years drew more out of State cars and more paid attendance than any other state or National Park in Texas.

"Undoubtedly, there will be no scenic ride in America that can compare with this route in beauty comfortably for a day in the outdoors. Dungarees, long-sleeved jacket, hat and sunglasses are necessary.

4. If you are a beginner, tread the water carefully, particularly if you are stream fishing. Experienced fishermen can't bear splashing, or talking in loud tones (which they believe scares the fish away.)

5. If you've been fishing all day, it is a wonderful contrast to dress in the most feminine clothes.

6. Never cast your line out over that of someone else.

7. If you are stream fishing, good etiquette requires that first one should lead, then relinquish his place to his fishing pal. In this connection the spinning rod is the answer to a girl's prayer, because there is no backlash to annoy the fishermen.

8. Let other people talk about your catch. Your companion will be proud to tell. But don't blow your own bugle.

9. If you have had control of all the angles for a day, get tangled up once so that he can help you. It breaks the monotony.

10. Don't act squeamish about putting a worm on a hook, but if you look awkward about it your friend will help. Plastic worms are good substitutes for the garden variety.

Joan, who works at sportsmen's exhibits around the country (for the Anshaway Line and Twine Co.) says more girls are interested now in the art of fishing, judging by the numbers attending the shows.

And just to prove that she is a good sport, she offers a fishing secret just between us girls. Says she:

"A lure with a touch of yellow on it will attract a fish when all else fails. This applies to flies, plugs, spinning lures—and even your fishing companion."

Funeral of Mrs. R. R. Gilbreath, of Amarillo, formerly of Dallas, was conducted at 10:30 Monday at the Hereford Methodist Church.

Mrs. Gilbreath, wife of a retired minister, died at 10:30 at Baylor Hospital in Dallas she was taken for treatment weeks ago. She had been 72 years old.

Eugene Slater, pastor of Hereford First Methodist Church, assisted by Dr. Earl G. Carter, superintendent of the Hereford Methodist District, and W. Carter, superintendent of the Big Spring Methodist District, officiated.

Gilbreath was born August 10, 1868, at Leigh, Nebraska. At the age of 20, Mrs. Gilbreath, nee Slater, went from Sioux City, Iowa, to Tulla in Swisher County, Texas, where she met Rev. Gilbreath and was later, on July 4, 1909, married.

She moved to Dimmitt and operated a mercantile firm until 1923 when she went into ministry. He retired in 1923.

Contract Awarded on New Church Educational Building

This is the "President's" cottage at the Augusta National Golf Club. The view shows the side of the house facing away from the course. Here is where President Eisenhower has been staying during his vacation retreats and also where Bobby Jones, president of the club, lives during the Masters Tournament.

The contract was let Tuesday, June 9, for the new educational building of the First Presbyterian Church, which will be located on Highway 51 across the highway from the airport and south of the George L. White home.

On May 15 the church called for bids on a 5,000 square foot educational building, which includes Sunday School rooms, kitchen, and a fellowship hall. The structure will be American colonial type of architecture designed by Atkinson and Atcheson, architects of Lubbock. Low bidder for the new building was Harold Biffle, of Lubbock, with a bid of $39,815. Construction will start within 30 days, according to the contract, which allows 120 days for completion of the new educational building.

The land on which the new building will stand was donated to the First Presbyterian Church by George L. White.

The present church property on the corner of Fifth Street and L. F. D. Drive is being placed on the market for immediate sale.

Killingsworth Gets Five Year Suspended Sentence

Jack Killingsworth held tightly to the hand of his wife Saturday night as he walked out of the Hockley County Courthouse to begin life anew under a five-year suspended sentence handed him for the murder of Richard McChristal on February 27.

A 72nd District Court jury had just returned its verdict after three hours and nine minutes of deliberation, finding Killingsworth guilty of murder with malice, as charged.

The 30-year-old defendant was a teacher in the Sundown School at the time he is alleged to have shot McChristal, a fellow teacher "for messing around with my wife."

Killingsworth and his 28-year-old wife dropped their heads, choking back the tears, as the jury's verdict was read by Judge Victor H. Lindsey at 8:44 p. m.

Then, they both broke into sobs of happiness as the judge read the jury's recommendation for a suspended sentence.

The verdict ended five suspense-filled days for Killingsworth, who said after the verdict that he has no immediate plans for the future, "but I hope to keep on teaching."

Tracy Perkins Released From Hospital

Tracy Perkins, who has been a patient in the Littlefield Hospital two weeks suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident, was released from the hospital Saturday. Mr. Perkins is getting along nicely. He suffered serious injuries, including some internal injuries, seven broken ribs and minor back injury.

Mrs. Perkins asked the Leader to state that they are now at home and in a position to take care of all roofing work. W. T. McAmis, who has 30 years experience and has been employed by the Tracy Perkins Roofing Company for some time, will take care of any roofing contracts.

Mrs. Tracy said that she was gone a week and her husband had been in the hospital two weeks, so it had been about three weeks since anyone was on hand to answer the telephone, and she wishes all their customers to know they are now in a position to do any roofing needed. Their phone number is 270.

It's Fun to Make Your Own Hat and Bag

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Any teen-ager who knows how to use a sewing machine can make a gay summer "Beef-Eater" hat and bag in a couple of hours, for a few cents.

All you need is 2½ yards of plain cotton fabric and 1½ yards of printed fabric (both sanforized to prevent shrinkage), in the colors of your choice. Nancy Russo, who designed the "Beef-Eater" set, used plain red with a matching red print or the hat and bag pictured here.

Assemble your fabric, scissors and some large pieces of newspaper or wrapping paper on a table. Start by measuring off a 17-inch square on the paper, and marking it in one-inch squares. You will need three of these. Then, using a string tied to a pencil, mark off on your squared paper one 8-inch circle, one 15-inch circle and one 15-inch visor circle (see pattern). You also may use a plate, lid or tray for marking the circles, but it's easy to draw a circle of any desired size by holding one end of a string in the center of the paper and marking around it with the pencil to the other end. The string should be one-half the diameter of the circle.

Then cut out of plain fabric one 8-inch circle, one 15-inch circle and one 30-inch circle and one visor circle. Out of print fabric cut one 30-inch circle and one visor circle (see pattern). Also cut a one-inch bias strip of plain fabric 39 inches long and two one-inch bias strips 36 inches long. This completes your fabric pieces for both hat and bag.

How to make the hat, assemble from the plain fabric pieces one 8-inch circle, one visor circle and one 33-inch bias strip. From the print fabric pieces, select one visor circle.

Center the 8-inch plain fabric circle on the print fabric visor circle, matching the straight of the goods. Turn under seam allowance and baste in place. Press. Topstitch on the machine for tailored finish.

Now place right sides of the print and plain visor circles together and seam ½ inch from edge. Leave a 4-inch opening back, opposite visor, to facilitate turning inside out. After turning, baste around rim. Slipstitching the 4-inch gap (or turning in raw edges and basting as around rest of circle).

Now machine stitch around circle as close to the edge as possible, continuing the stitching in a perfect circle when you come to the visor bulge. Later stitch around edge of visor. Press. Then make a second row of stitching ¼ inch inside the outer row of stitching, again following a perfect circle. This makes a casing for the draw string that will pull the hat in to your head-size.

To make the drawstring, fold edges of the 39-inch bias strip together and seam ¼ inch from raw edge (right down the center). Using a bodkin or small safety pin, turn strip inside out, tuck in ends and slipstitch.

Now, at left front of visor, make two eyelets between the casing double-stitching. Insert bias cord and pull through casing. Pull up to head size and tie the cord in a party bow.

To make the bag, assemble your remaining plain fabric pieces—a 30-inch circle, a 15-inch circle and two 36-inch bias strips, with the 30-inch print circle. Center the 15-inch plain circle on the 30-inch circle, matching straight of the fabric. Turn under seam allowance and baste in place. Press. Machine stitch around edge.

Then place right sides of 30-inch plain circle and print circle together and seam around edge except for 4-inch opening. Turn inside out. Baste around edge, including the 4-inch gap. Press. Now machine stitch all the way around the edge of circle.

To make casing for drawstrings, stitch a second circle 2½ inches inside this. At two opposite points in this half-inch casing, make eyelets, big enough to thread the drawstrings through.

To make drawstrings cords, proceed as in making hat drawstring, using the two 36-inch bias strips. Insert two drawstring cords, with ends extending from opposite eyelets, to make drawstring for bag.

NEW FIRESTONE SAFETY TIRE PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUT AT ANY SPEED!

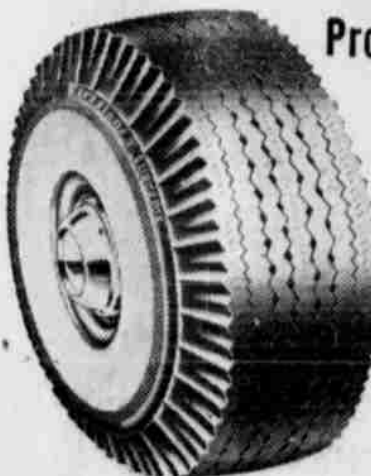

Photo above shows car racing across a bed of 4" razor sharp steel blades (inset at right). In test after test, at speeds up to 80 MPH, both front and rear tires have been slashed to shreds, yet driver brings car to a safe, straight-line stop despite double blowout.

Here's Why it Protects You

When an ordinary tire blows out it goes flat in one-tenth of a second . . . so fast that you hardly have time to prevent an accident. With the Firestone Supreme, blowout accidents can't happen because inside the tire is a safety diaphragm, which holds a reserve supply of air to give you complete control of your car after the blowout occurs.

Revolutionary New Firestone Supreme Tire Protects Against Punctures, Skids, Too.

Nails or glass can't cause flats because inside this tire is a puncture-sealing material which adheres to penetrating objects and prevents air loss.

Maximum protection against skids because more square inches of tread grip the road . . . Traction Boosters and Skid-Resisters step up gripping power per square inch.
