Town & Country

both candidates ran a good race (they're still counting more for Nixon.) The path which lies ahead of Kennedy is not an easy one. Almost impossible tasks await him.

One of the hard problems facing him is the 11-week lag between election and inauguration. This will be a period of uneasy drift. The outgoing president will have little power, the incoming one needs time to think and to organize his cabinet. It will take a month or more for the new Congress to get oriented.

Many problems on the foreign scene confront him. . . . Khrushchev is still to be reckoned or reasoned with. . . . (doubt that he's interested in reason.) Khrush, still wants to start trouble over Berlin, he is withdrawing somewhat his support of Castro and he has his own problem with China.

The situation in Africa will take wise decisions on the part of the new President. Disarmament is a pressing question, especially now that Germany has found a cheap way of making atomic weapons. In the hands of small nations, it becomes a dangerous threat to world survival. . . . at the same time defense must be stepped up and maintained at the safety level.

On the domestic front there is the ever-present farm problem for which no one has a workable solution. The health, old age assistance, civil rights and aid to education questions must be solved. Promises have been made on all these issues.

The financial system must be stabilized. The gold scramble is serious and complicated. The dollars must not be devaluated. A failure here means losing the cold war, becoming a bankrupt nation, and being buried as Mr. Kennedy promised.

I WOULD be the first to say that the new president will need the help and understanding of every member of Congress and every citizen. This is no time for any one to sit on his hands, no matter whether he was on the winning or losing side.

We must forget the campaign exaggerations, get to work, and keep the U. S. A. where it always has been. . . . on top of the world.

Pep Planning Annual Dinner

PEP — The 15th annual Thanksgiving Festival of St. Phillip's church will be held Thursday, November 24 when the chief attraction, as in the past, will be the famous sausage and turkey dinner served both at noon and in the evening by the ladies of the Altar Society. The meals with all the trimmings, including homemade bread, pies, etc., will be served from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. and from 5 p. m. The price, same as last year, is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Throughout the day there will be the usual carnival attractions such as the fish pond, grab bag, milk bottles, penny pitch, and other assorted games for both young and old. At 4 p. m. there will be a special auction of coats and other merchandise. All prospective buyers are especially invited to be present then.

The festivities will end with a dance beginning at 9 p. m. Music to be furnished by a noted Western band.

Water Main

Wells in other areas outside the city limits will also request this service, it was pointed out.

The City has firmly held to a policy of not extending mains beyond the City limits for residential use, and it is expected that this policy will be continued even if industrial use is permitted.

The Council also will accept bids for two tank loads of gasoline. No further action at this time is expected on the request by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. for a 10 per cent hike in gas rates in Littlefield.

The Council tabled action on this request at its last meeting, after hearing reports from company officials. Earlier the company had presented an elaborate brochure showing rate structures in a number of West Texas towns and requesting the increase to "meet rising costs."

New Business

ment appears on page 1 of the second section of this issue and a complete listing of special buys for the occasion are displayed.

The 40 - by - 78 - foot building houses displays for all types of tires, major and minor appliances, auto accessories, bicycles and accessories and other miscellaneous items. The back half of the building is for the service department, tire storage, batteries, and other facilitating equipment.

Bennett reports that the following Firestone officials will be on hand for the grand opening: Bob Jones, John Sprouls, and Ralph Fields, all territorial salesmen; Howard Swanson, budget sales representative and Max Sare, district representative.

Plenty of free parking is available in the front and to the side. Bennett emphasizes the fact that the new business would be able to give the farmer on the farm service in servicing and installing tractor, truck and passenger tires.

Service manager for the new business is W. H. Brooks and Mrs. Bennett will be bookkeeper.

Grand opening prizes will be awarded at 6 p. m. Monday.

Other cut-of-town visitors include Mrs. Louise Bennett, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Stanfield, Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Anderson, Brownfield and Mrs. Job Jones, Lubbock.

Cats To Try Levelland

Levelland coach Johnnie Hickman labeled Littlefield as "one of the most potent offenses that the Lobos have had to play all year."

Hickman pointed to quarterback De Pierce as the key man in the Cats' offense.

"Our scouts tell us that Pierce is smart; the kind who will force defenders to pull in to plug up the middle of the line and then, suddenly, explode a wide play while the defense is slamming at a fullback fake up the middle," Hickman said.

The Lobos' hopes rest on their quarterback Garry McMillan. While the team has no pronounced star as it did in 1959 in the form of Doug Cannon, McMillan is the cog that best generates fire from the Lobo offense. And, then, there is the strong Levelland "jinx" to consider.

The Cats have not been able to beat the Lobos since 1956. Last year, the Littlefield crew was unbeaten in conference play before bowing to Levelland in the final game of the year, 30-15.

Don Williams has never had a victory over the Lobos — and none of the varsity players have ever played on a team that has taken the arch rivals.

'Sandmen' On Planets Possible, Scientists Say

PHILADELPHIA — There may be true "sandmen" on some yet undiscovered planets, a team of University of Pennsylvania scientists say.

The sandmen were envisioned as living creatures having silicon — an essential constituent of sand and rocks — as their basic component, instead of carbon. The latter is the key element in the chemistry of all life on earth.

The researchers told about it in a report prepared for the opening of the autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

The team, headed by researcher M. Abedini, also envisioned that some day vitamins and hormones, for use in medical fields, might be prepared from sandy substances.

The Penn researchers said that for the first time they have prepared new simple silicon containing compounds which are closely analogous in both chemical and physical properties to a number of familiar compounds based on carbon.

One of them is a silicon-based "ether" which is the exact counterpart of the widely known pain-killing compound — except that it contains atoms of the element silicon instead of the usual atoms of carbon.

The scientists said: "At the present time, our knowledge of these simple silicon compounds is at the stage where carbon chemistry was 150 years ago."

"Since all living substances contain both simple and complex carbon compounds, to wonder whether silicon compounds will within the next 150 years, be introduced into living substances in place of analogous carbon compounds."

They added: "It is possible that living things with their chemistry based on silicon instead of carbon, may exist in some of the billions of yet undiscovered planets having an atmosphere of different composition from that of earth."

Dee Weaver said it at the Quarterback banquet Friday night in the high school cafeteria — "Football is a game of attitude."

Too, Williams has some of the top ball players in the league at his disposal — De Pierce, a fine runner and passer and a quarterback who is more than capable of calling an intelligent game; hard running backs such as Jerry Koller, Tony Estrada, Pete Estrada and Max Ball; and tough linemen like Mickey Montgomery and Weldon Pace, Mike Steffy, Jerry Brantley and Tommy Wicker.

So — back to attitude. If the Cats go to Levelland with the attitude of winning — they can. That is to say — and in a lot of games it comes down to this one simple fact — if Littlefield wants to badly enough, it can; otherwise, . . .

Playoff Action

Two area teams have earned playoff berths and will be going into bi-district competition, Friday. Anton meets New Deal at Plainview while Olton takes on Dimmitt at Dimmitt.

Prediction Finale

This is probably our swan song as far as predictions go this year since most teams will be playing their finales tomorrow. Upsets have run us ragged at times but, all things considered, we've come out pretty good.

This week, it looks like this: Littlefield - Levelland - Dumas. The Cats haven't beaten the Lobos since 1956 and haven't been in the playoffs since the same year. Levelland will offer more of team effort for the Cats to fight than they did in last year's game and they, too, will be fighting for the crown. It will be a good game — a close game — and a hard game. But the Cats have been away from post-season competition too long to let it slip away now — Littlefield 19, Levelland 13.

Anton - New Deal — The Bulldogs are the most improved team in these parts and one of the best. Look for them to murder New Deal — Anton 30, New Deal 6.

Olton Dimmitt — The Mustangs want another crack at Denver City and won't let Junior Coffey and his crew stand in their way — Olton 21, Dimmitt 13.

Two area teams, Olton and Anton, move into championship playoff games Friday. Olton's Mustangs winners in 2-AA, collide with Dimmitt, 1-AA champs Friday night at Dimmitt. The Mustangs, led by highscoring backs Rande Buchenau and Robert Priest, will have their biggest head-ach in holding Dimmitt's Junior Coffey, one of the better runners in this area.

Differences Between 1960, '61 Cotton Plan Expained

COLLEGE STATION — In response to questions raised by some growers about 1961 upland cotton allotments, B. P. Davenport, Jr., Chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, today explained the difference between the 1961 program and the one in effect for the past two cotton crops.

He pointed out that the 1961 national allotment of 18.5 million acres compares with the "regular" 1960 allotment of 16.3 million. This 1960 figure was increased to 17.5 million acres under Choice (B) elections. In 1961, there will be only one upland cotton allotment, whereas for the past two crops growers had a choice between the "regular" farm allotment and the 40 percent larger (B) allotment. All eligible growers in 1961 may receive the full available price support on their cotton, whereas in 1960 the eligible (B) growers received lower support but a larger acreage allotment.

J. R. Inklebarger gave the devotional. The class made plans for their Thanksgiving supper which is to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Savage on Friday Nov. 18 at 7 p. m. Those members present for the meeting were Mrs. W. A. Tindal, Mrs. Loy Mouser, Mrs. Grady Duffer, Mrs. Arthur Turner, Mrs. J. R. Inklebarger, Mrs. Ernest Savage and Mrs. R. T. Black.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nathan and Mike of Oklahoma City spent the weekend visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Mouser and family. Mrs. Nathan and Mike are staying for a continued visit with friends and relatives here through the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Tindal and Mrs. Donald Caldwell and Kim visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Turner Sunday night after church.

must be removed by good ventilation, says Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman. Where birds are overcrowded, proper ventilation and moisture removal become more difficult. Proper floor management of birds on litter will greatly reduce the problem of moisture removal, the specialist continues.

Because of the wide range of outdoor temperature conditions during the winter months, it is important that the sidewall construction of the house be of the type that will enable the poultryman to vary the ventilation conditions according to the weather. It is important that the house be closed tightly during a whistling "blue norther", but as soon as the temperature moderates should be opened. This will allow air movement to move the excess moisture from the litter. The moisture which sources other than themselves, inefficient drains and leaky roofs are common sources of moisture. The basic principle for keeping the litter dry is drainage, making sure the house is higher than surrounding area and adequate roof overhang rain away from the

Weaver, Turkey Dinner Highlight Q'Back Feast

A turkey and dressing fed crowd of more than 75 men and boys heard Texas Tech's coach DeWitt Weaver address the annual Quarterback Club banquet Monday night in the high school cafeteria.

Weaver, whose Red Raiders wind up their season Saturday against Arkansas, told the boosters that "Tech needs the support of West Texas now that the Raiders are in the Southwest Conference."

"Tech now has the facilities for a fine ballclub, but we need boys from towns like Littlefield to help us," the gray-haired coach continued.

"They can now come to Tech and the publicity and recognition that they could get at any other college plus having the advantage of being close to home. Too, that recognition, when earned in their own part of the state would be more likely to help them than if they had earned

Cane Harvest Goes Modern; Machines Do Job In Record Time

Littlefield, La. — It is a long time ago that the bayonet sugar bowl, and Louisiana sugar cane cutters, folding their story of the mechanization of the sugar cane harvest. This giant machine, un-streamlined as it was, proved to be an engineering feat of efficient blades, belts and chains powered by two Allis - Chalmers farm tractor engines. It was patented as the "Hurricane" harvester and the transformation from manual to mechanized cutting of sugar cane was underway.

Cutting, topping and stalking the cane all in one operation, Thomson's harvester moved through cane fields like a giant scythe cutting a hundred tons of cane a day to accomplish the work of a hundred men with Machete knives.

Thomson followed with development of the "Hurricane" loader with gathers, bunches and loads the cane in one unbroken movement. It gobbles up a quarter of a ton of cane with every bit — loading 50 to 75 tons of cane per hour.

Mechanized sugar cane harvesting and Thomson Machinery Co. have grown up together. Today there is a cane tractor in Louisiana for every 42 acres of cane. There is a cane harvester for every 600 acres and of the five-million tons of cane harvested in Louisiana in 1958, 90 per cent or better was harvested by Thomson's harvesters and loaders.

His market through the years has been every cane producing area in the world and to date he has supplied that market with more than 5,000 cane tractors, 800 of the huge harvesters, and 700 cane loaders.

Owners of Thomson's specially designed cane equipment have been loyal customers and leaders in the growth of this mechanization. Thomson says, "All our efforts would have attained little success had it not been for the forceful cooperation and assistance offered by many of the large and small cane growers."

An example is A. Wilbert's Sons of Plaquemine, one of the five largest private sugar cane growing operations in the nation.

The story of their sugar cane operations is a story that depicts the transformation from harvest- ing sugar cane by men, mules and Machete knives to modern machinery.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

A co-ed the other night was describing her experience as a summer student at the University of Mexico. As bright and fresh as morning sunshine herself, she told the spouse and me she met only friendly people among the Mexicans.

"But the American tourists!" she exclaimed. "To tell you the truth, they were awful! They boasted, criticized — were downright rude! They made me ashamed."

"My roommate and I loved bullfights; not because we like gore, but for the color and pagentry. We saw 47 bulls killed and one brave bull allowed to live. But after a few times, we bought tickets 'on the sunny side' of the arena with the natives, just to get away from American tourists. They agonized so — didn't they expect to see a bull killed at a bullfight?"

Our own travel outside the United States is limited, but we understand what she meant. We'll never forget an American couple on a crowded Italian train who were so boorish about having the seats near the window that we could actually feel the animosity in the air when we walked into the compartment. Or the fat American businessman who worked a Swiss policeman over for not giving clear direction — even though the patient fellow had tried to explain in four languages. German, French, Italian and Spanish. Those were the only ones he knew!

If Americans who are fortunate enough to get to visit other countries could be courteous and friendly — maybe even pick up a second language once in a while — we'd have no international problem. As long as we behave like spoiled children instead of as the guests of strangers, it's no wonder our enemies have something to build on when they begin organizing riots and hate campaigns.

rate per 10,000 children served doubling in 22 years.

In Texas the total cases per year has risen an average of 14.3 per cent per year from 4,532 cases in 1956 until 1959 with a record total of 6,473 cases.

Under the law, basically, any child under 21 years of age and unable to pay is eligible provided he may be cured or his condition corrected so that he may be returned to a future of productive adulthood.

Children cared for under Texas' crippled children's program suffer a variety of conditions needing corrective treatment, devices, hospitalization or a corrective operation for certain conditions.

A breakdown of classes of cases shows most children under the program, administered by the Services of the State Health Department, need orthopedic services according to 1959 figures.

They are: congenital malformations — 1,832; other disease handicapping conditions — 874; diseases of bones and joints — 978; cerebral palsy — 732; and poliomyelitis after effects, 780.

Plastic repair of cleft palate and harelip — 574 — and burns — 364 — also account for a large portion in addition to other conditions including congenital heart lesions making up 339 registered cases in 1959. Offers Housewives Buying Turkey low about 3/4 pound of oven-ready turkey for each person to be served. After you have decided on the size of the turkey to buy, you should consider quality. Grade A turkeys will have an even covering of fat over the entire body. In addition to this fat, top quality birds will also be broad breasted and have bulging thighs and large drumsticks. Turkeys with these qualities will have the highest ratio of meat to bone; thus giving more edible meat for each dollar spent, the specialist points out. Blemishes such as torn skin and bruises are also factors to consider when determining quality. Has the turkey been inspected for wholesomeness. Turkeys that have been inspected for wholesomeness under USDA supervision will be so tagged. Birds that have been graded under USDA supervision will also carry this information. Do not confuse the two. Beanblossom warns. In addition to buying tips, Beanblossom passes on these suggestions on cooking. Kathryn Bell Nyles, home economist for the Poultry and Egg National Board, suggests that you allow 15 to 20 minutes cooking time per pound of oven-ready turkey weight. She also recommends a temperature of 325 degrees Fahrenheit. The larger the turkey, the less time per pound will be needed for cooking.

TCU Re-Names Buildings; Tuition Upped

FORT WORTH — The trustees of Texas Christian University, in their fall meeting on campus Friday, recognized four long-time members of the faculty and board by naming three buildings in their honor. The science building, erected in 1952, was named Winton-Scott for the late Drs. Will M. Winton and Gayle Scott of the geology department; the old administration building, first on campus and now being completely rebuilt for classrooms, was named for the late Dave C. Reed of Austin, outstanding board member 1920-1948; the Fine Arts Building, completed in 1949, was named for Ed Landreth, Fort Worth trustee since 1940. Meeting for the first time in the specially planned and decorated "Board Room" of the new M. E. Sadler Building, the university's governing body also: Approved the addition of English and mathematics, effective in the fall of 1962, to the new Ph.D. programs started this year; Increased tuition from $17 per semester hour to $20 effective next September; Granted permission for the administration to raise faculty salaries as quickly as possible; Took actions to cope temporarily with crowded living conditions on campus; Approved a plan under which the Ex-Students Association will eventually be represented by three members on the Board; Approved permanent tenure for four administrative officers; Re-elected officers and eight members, named two new trustees;

Recharging Of Water Sand From Surface Lakes Gains

Conserving water for future irrigation by draining the playa lakes into the underground Ogallala sand through recharge wells is an increasing practice on the High Plains. The surface water drained by gravity into the sand is there to be stored for future use rather than being lost by evaporation if permitted to remain in the lake. One of the problems encountered in recharging is the silt in the lake water. Several filtration systems are being tested at the High Plains Research Foundation to determine the most efficient and economical method of silt removal, James Valliant, water engineer, announced. One system will use 13 sections of propus pipe capable of taking up to 5,000 gallons of water per minute. Each section is 12 inches in diameter and 36 inches long with an intake rate of 38.5 gallons of water per minute. Sand and gravel covers of different thickness will be used to cover the porous pipe to study the effects

OLTON — W. S. Carpenter, Tyler druggist who was brutally murdered recently was a former resident of Olton. He was born and reared at Olton and was graduated from the Olton high school. The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Guy Carpenter, he was known at Olton as Smith Carpenter. He had not resided in this area since soon after finishing high school. Carpenter's bullet pierced body, trussed and gagged, was found Saturday near Lufkin after he had been missing since Tuesday night when he was called away from his television set on the pretense of filling a prescription.

Mrs. Boren Wins Rime

Mrs. Walker Boren, Route 2, Littlefield, is this week's winner of the Leader's fifth Ad Rime contest, and will receive the $10 cash prize. Mrs. Boren found the hidden besides a creek just west of Lufkin. There was a rope around Carpenter's neck and a piece of rope was stuffed in his mouth when the body was found, Elliott said.

slogan, "All local business exists mainly through your cooperation." Her winning rime was "Local shops depend on you; trade at home, you need, them too." Mrs. Boren's entry will go into the $50 file and the winning Ad Rime for the 26-week period will receive this cash award. Another big Ad Rime contest appears in this issue of the Leader. This week's Ad Rime guide line is "shop at home with less expense." All entries must be in the Lamb County leader office before 5 p. m. Monday, November 21.

Maintenance Chief Named For Schools

Littlefield school board has boosted a long-time employee to the rank of general foreman of maintenance and bus operation, Glenn Reeves, superintendent, said Wednesday following Monday's meeting of the board. Forrest Moore, who received his 20-year service pin last year, is to be the new general foreman. Previously he had been chief of the bus maintenance crew. Under the new plan, Moore will continue to be general superintendent of busses, and also will have maintenance of all plants under his supervision. All janitors and building maintenance men will be under Moore's direction. Other than payment of bills, this was the only action taken by the board at its November meeting.

Veterans Ask --

Q — Before the new pension law went into effect, I was getting pension from VA as a disabled World War I veteran. This September I received a bequest which will put my income for this year above the legal limit. When I again become eligible to receive pension may I return to the old system of payment or must I come under the new law? A — You may continue to receive payments under the old law, so long as you tell the VA immediately of this excess income you have received. To protect yourself in your right to get pension under the old later on, do not wait until the end of the year to report income to VA. Q — A neighbor of ours, a veteran holding GI insurance, has been hospitalized for some months and another person has been handling the payment of his insurance premiums for him. Does that person have the right to make any change in the way the premiums are paid, or to modify the beneficiaries of the policy in any way? A — He definitely does not. The policyholder himself is the only one in a case like this who can make any changes affecting premiums or the payment of proceeds to beneficiaries. Q — In talking with other veterans I get the impression not everyone understands that compensation and pension are two different things. Will you define each kind of payment, as it applies to living veterans? A — Compensation is payable to eligible veterans whose disabilities are DUE to service. Pension is payable only to eligible veterans whose total and permanent disabilities are NOT DUE to service. Q — May a veteran change his Korean GI Bill program of training if his progress in his present course has not been satisfactory? A — He may, providing he shows that the lack of progress was not due to his own misconduct, neglect of application, and if he has not changed his program prior to that time.

AUSTIN — Shell-shocked and exhausted from one of the hardest fought general elections in decades, Texans now can get a second wind and turn to new issues and decisions.

Some of the significant decisions ahead grow out of decisions made at the polls earlier this month.

As a result of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's election to the vice presidency his senate seat will be vacant on or before Jan. 20. It's a highly coveted position seldom up for grabs, since the winner of the six-year term can be fairly sure of holding it for life.

It is likely that the race for Johnson's post will be the first special election in Texas history to have a run-off. A 1957 law, called the Pool Bill, provided that in special elections for congressional vacancies, there shall be a run-off if no candidate receives a majority of the votes in the first polling. Previously, special elections had been on a high-man-wins basis.

Many possible candidates are mentioned. Among them: John Connally of Fort Worth, Jack Cox of Breckenridge, Martin Dies, Sr. of Lufkin, Congressman Joe Kilgore of McAllen, Wright Morrow of Houston, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, John B. Sheppard of Odessa, John G. Tower, Johnson's Republican opponent in the general election, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and Congressman Jim Wright of Weatherford.

It is unlikely that any candidate will make a public announcement until Senator Johnson officially resigns and Gov. Price Daniel sets the date for the special election. Under the law, the governor must call the election in no less than 60 days and not later than 90 days from the time the vacancy occurs.

If Congress is in session at the time the vacancy occurs, it

Cattle Feeding Tests Underway At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — A new series of beef cattle feeding tests are currently underway at Texas Tech to determine the relative effectiveness of low level stilbesterol implants and silage feed.

Dr. Ralph M. Durham, animal husbandry department head, is directing the experiments which involve Angus and Hereford calves between eight and 10 months old.

Purpose of the experiments is three-fold, Durham said. Differences in silage varieties, effectiveness of a low level dosage of stilbesterol, and the relative response of the two breeds of cattle will be thoroughly checked in the research.

The two breeds of calves — number 48 each — weighed between 560 and 580 pounds when implanted with a low level stilbesterol pellet. A total of 12 pens will each have four Herefords and four Angus on feed for the seven-month trial.

If the new Tech meats lab is completed by Feeder's Day late next Spring, some of the carcasses of these steers will be displayed at that time, the Tech researcher said.

Three different silages are being used in the tests — corn, sorghum and red top cane. A supplementary fattening ration that is being fed includes whole cotton seed and cottonseed meal along with cracked milo as grain feed.

"We hope to determine if there are differences in silage varieties in terms of beef produced per acre," Durham stated. "We want to know what the gross value of the silage is, its effect on gain, its efficiency and the appearance of the carcass."

The implants this year consist of 12 milligrams of stilbesterol — a third of what was used in last year's tests.

"Our data from last year indicates that implanting markedly increased the efficiency and gain, tended to make the cattle more muscular and tended to hurt the grade a little," said Durham.

This test is to see if a low level stilbesterol implant will give some of the increase in gain, efficiency and muscling without impairing the grade, he added.

The animal husbandry department will also measure the response of the two breeds of cattle on test to implanting and the different feeds.

"We're interested in finding out if Angus steers will do as well as Herefords on one silage variety and vice-versa. We also want to know what effects implanting will have on the carcass grade of the different breeds," said Durham.

would also be the governor's duty to name an interim senator to serve until a successor is elected. Governor Daniel already has said that former Sen. William Blakely would have first chance at such an appointment.

When the vacancy will occur depends entirely on Senator Johnson. There is speculation that he will not lay aside his senatorial toga until he takes the oath as vice president (Jan. 20). Many feel that his presence and assistance in organizing the Senate prior to that date would help get the incoming Democratic administration off to a good start.

Okayed Amendments Pose Problem — On the purely state level votes' approvals of the four constitutional amendments during the general election pose some new decisions and issues for the state legislators next January. Among them:

1. More Pay — From Where? — By constitutional amendment, voters have, for the first time in history, put members of the Texas Legislature on an annual salary.

They will be entitled to $4,800 a year, whether in session or not. They also are to get $12 a day expenses for 120 days of a regular session and for each day of any special sessions called thereafter. This replaces the old $25-a-day-pay plan.

Question is where to get the money. State's general revenue fund is, according to State Treasurer Jesse James' latest report, $90,535,63 in the red. By the time the next session starts, this figure is expected to be higher.

So, legislators will have to turn their attention quickly to a means of finding money somewhere if they're going to meet their own grocery bills.

Loan Company Regulation — Passage of Amendment Four dumps in the Legislature's lap the tremendous job of passing laws to regulate lending practices in Texas.

Some lawmakers gloomily and privately predict that it will result in a worse fight than trying to pass a new tax bill.

Previously, the Constitution limited legal interest rates to 10 per cent. This provision was repealed.

Under the new provision the Legislature has the responsibility to (1) license and regulate lenders, (2) prevent misleading advertising, (3) fix and limit maximum charges and (4) impose effective penalties for violations.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, elated over the passage of the amendment, warned that "the loan sharks will pitch their final bite in the Legislature to try to eliminate the penalties and develop loopholes."

Abner V. McCall, executive vice president of Baylor University and head of a citizens committee that worked for passage of the amendment, predicted a "real dog fight" in the Legislature over control legislation.

Land Program Picks Up — Since the voters gave it permission Nov. 8 to pay higher interest on its bonds, the Veterans Land Board is getting ready to do a bigger business.

Maximum interest the board can pay on the bonds it sells was raised from 3 to 3.5 per cent. With this easing of restrictions, the board expects to be able to sell more bonds and have more money available to loan veterans for land purchases.

A new bond sale is planned tentatively for December. Meanwhile the board secretary said mailing of applications to veterans has been stepped up from 100 a week to 225 a week.

Some 40,000 veterans are now waiting for loans, but in actual practice, only about one in five finally finds land and qualifies for a loan.

Board has authority to issue $22,500,000 more in bonds. This amount of money is expected to take care of those waiting to buy who will qualify.

According to the constitutional amendment setting up the program, no new loans are supposed to be made after Dec. 1, 1965.

School Goals Set — Knowing it will be a tough job in this debt-ridden era, Texas School people are nevertheless setting their sights on a $100,000,000 improvement program.

At an Austin meeting of educators, legislators and interested citizens, Governor Daniel promised his support to the effort to pass a bill to raise teachers salaries.

This is one of the main items of the $100,000,000 Hale-Aikin recommendations. This program resulted from a study begun in 1957. It sat on the shelf during the last legislature because of the acute money shortage.

Some secrets its owner can't keep!

We wouldn't go so far as to say that your life is an open book when you're seen in the company of a new Cadillac car.

But we will admit that at least a few of the pages have been turned.

For a Cadillac indicates—with unmistakable clarity and eloquence—the personal virtues that lead a man to the "car of cars".

Beautiful, distinctive and substantial—it reflects his eminence in his field of endeavor... and testifies to what he has made of his years.

Gracious, spacious and luxurious—it denotes his desire for comfort... and his concern for the well-being of his family and passengers.

Practical, sound, and desired—it evidences his awareness of the true aspects of value and quality.

And if a Cadillac has historically cast such credit on its owner—how much more grandly it will do so in 1961!

For the car now offers more of everything to inspire the respect of those who behold it.

Its styling is graceful as never before. Its interiors are remarkably generous in every dimension. And its performance and ride make every journey a miracle of motion.

You ought to inspect and drive this 1961 Cadillac.

Your dealer will be delighted to accommodate you. And we wager you'll quickly see the wisdom of letting the "car of cars" reveal a few discreet secrets about you.

Sandhills Philosopher

Philosopher Dislikes Idea Of Electronic Mail Delivery

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems to be dragging his feet on a new idea, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
Here it is only a week after the country has elected a new president and some things have already moved forward.

For example, the mail service — not the mail service generally, it's about where it always was and I don't have any complaints about it, but a particular idea for the mail service. As I understand it, the post office department in Washington is experimenting with a new type of mail delivery in which you write a letter on a special piece of paper, fold it into an envelope, drop it in a machine. The machine then opens, it looks at it, finds out where it's going, transmits it electronically to its original. On the receiving end, another machine reproduces it, seals it, and hands it over to the local post office for delivery.

I have been thinking about this system and I have my doubts. In the first place, if the machines can deliver a letter from New York to the Littlefield post office, it won't be long before somebody wanting to move even further forward will figure out how to have it delivered electronically to my mail box, and I'm having trouble enough keeping my present mail box propped up without having to maintain an electronic brain machine alongside it.

In the second place, I don't ever remember having received a letter on any date that I'd have been any better off or more informed if it had gotten to me two days earlier. Very few people have any thoughts or messages to convey to me that are that important. And I don't know of anybody — congressman, governor, sheriff, newspaper editor, who would be any better off or any more informed finding out what I think two days earlier than he can find out now. I take the position that if it takes me a week to think up an idea, anybody waiting on it can wait an extra day and not be hurt. In some cases he could never hear and be just as well off. And this thing works in 30 minutes, but very few thoughts are that devastating. I think this country ought to move forward, even if it has to go around me to do it, but electronic mail service may not be in that category. I'm not interested in this country's spending money to get my monthly bills to me two days earlier than I'm getting them now.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WRITTEN FARM LEASE AVAILABLE

At this time of year, many land lords and tenants are thinking about farm rental arrangements for 1960. While some operate from year to year on the basis of verbal agreements regulated largely by local custom, written leases are better and may save disagreement and hard feelings between the parties.

Farming is a business and should be conducted in a business like manner for best success. Rental contracts involve a full year's work by tenant and possibly thousands of dollars for both parties. A few dollars spent on a properly drawn lease is good business economy.

A farm lease is not a simple paper. Printed lease forms often turn out to be traps if not understood, or if not properly executed. A farmer-tenant contract is intricate and of such importance to both parties concerned that amateur draftsmanship is risky.

Fixing of cash rent or designating the length of term are relatively simple. Yet, even in these matters, ambiguity or incompleteness can cause bitter disputes and expensive lawsuits.

A loosely drawn property description may have consequences entirely unintended by either land lord or tenant. Where rent is to be based on acreage, an accurate description is doubly important.

In addition, there are legal rules to substitute for some omissions in written leases. For example, a holdover by the tenant may automatically renew the contract if the lease is silent on the subject. It is as important to know the results of omissions as to know the courts' interpretation of the language used.

There are many matters which should be covered by a properly drawn lease. For instance, if a tenant is to farm on a share basis, care should be taken to define what expenses are to be paid by the parties as well as what shares are to be taken out. A lease should cover such things as who is to make repairs, what land is to be cropped, whether the tenant can cut timber, whether loss of a building by fire or other cause frees the tenant or whether the landlord must accept a sub-tenant.

One great cause of difficulty with leases is blind faith on the part of the persons involved that all differences of opinion can be worked out. Poor memories as to verbal agreements can cause disputes between persons even though they are both honest and

NEW TEMPEST
AMERICA'S ONLY FRONT ENGINE ↔ REAR TRANSMISSION CAR
155 H.P. FROM FOUR CYLINDERS*

The new-size Tempest is primed to scoot on less gas! Five hot versions of the Trophy 4 engine. 110 to 155 h.p. Any choice will move out in a hurry, sail up a steep hill in high gear, has the power for quicker, safer passing.

Front engine is balanced by rear transmission. (Standard shift or extra-cost automatic.) Takes weight off the front. Easy steering. Longer tire life. Adds ballast in the rear. Improves traction and braking. No big floor hump. Foot room and leg room for six men. Independent suspension at all 4 wheels. Most other cars only have it in front. Wide-Track, too. The Tempest wheels are set farther apart than the wheels of other new-size cars. Gives a solid stance. Secure cornering. There's a 4-door sedan and a station wagon.

Prices come close — or even beat — the tags on the compacts. If you're figuring on a new car — figure on a new Tempest.

UNCLE ZEB, whose column, "Blowin' Out the Corners", I always enjoy, devoted his space Tuesday to a little discussion on the subject of compliments vs. criticism, and the conclusion he reached is that more is accomplished by the former than by the latter.

This department is inclined to agree. Several years ago when I took the editor's job of a good sized daily newspaper I found that my city editor was a young man who possessed great talents — and an almost equal amount of temperament. In fact, he was sensitive as are all good writers.

My predecessor had "ridden" Bob considerably in an effort to get him to show a bit more haste and to dig up more colorful stories for the city reporters to write. But, he said, "the more I ride Bob the more morose he becomes, and now I am at the end of my rope. You probably will have to fire him and get a new city editor."

The publisher told me about the same thing, saying "deal with Bob sternly since it's the only way you can get any work out of him. Get him good and mad and he'll work, but you'll have to get tough and hawl him out every day so he'll do a good job for you."

BUT THERE was something about it that I didn't exactly like. I had worked for an editor for 10 years who had never once raised his voice at any of his employees, yet he managed to turn out a newspaper that was among the best in the state — and there was not a staff member with an ulcer!

Bob, I felt had had too many of what Uncle Zeb calls "ego-busters." The publisher and the former editor had been dealing with Bob in much the same manner that they would have dealt with an imbecilic child. He needed "ego-builders" instead.

The first day's city news was only fair. The territory had been well covered, but the stories were flat and listless.

Bob and I had a little session. It was easy to realize that Bob possessed a rare talent for news and for news composition. But his fire had been pretty well put out by too many hawls — out with the result that he was just reciting along, doing the job in the easiest manner possible to avoid these hawling outs.

IT TOOK several minutes to get him to unwind and let his hair down. Then he said "I don't suppose it would interest you since it's only my suggestion and I don't rate very high around here, but I have a few suggestions. . . . And then he let go with several good stories he had in mind. He suggested that certain reporters be assigned to do these stories and as he talked, something of the sparkle which had been doused by the hawl-out methods of the past, came back to his eyes.

I gave him the go-ahead signal thinking at the time that the publisher would have made an excellent straw boss for a ditch-digging crew in Africa. Without being too obvious I tried to hand Bob a few compliments, and told him that I was certain he would get the job done, that I had confidence in him.

He gave me a puzzled look, "well," he said, "that's a switch" and went back to his desk.

TWO DAYS later, the first of the city feature stories that he had dreamed up appeared on my desk for approval, the first in a series of well-written, well-edited stories. I complimented Bob for the good work, and from then on the city desk was never a problem.

Frankly I doubt that the hawl-out method ever works miracles. In this funny racket I'm quite sure it has the opposite effect, since it's a creative job. Or, at least, we like to think that it is creative.

But no one wants to be dealt with as if he is a moron. In fact, a man's intelligence and the result is a deep one. We all like to think of ourselves as having high IQ's. I'm quite sure that Bob had an IQ considerably higher than most folk in that office, including the editor.

RECENTLY I read one of Bob's articles in a major magazine. It was a brilliant article, dealing with deep facts and put together in an interesting manner. Maybe I was just unduly sensitive to the article since I knew its writer. But I thought it was excellent.

If your youngsters enjoy sweet sandwiches, make a filling of cream cheese with drained crushed pineapple, chopped dates or raisins.

Phone with the built-in switchboard

Here's a phone designed to play a big role in business offices. Right in this single instrument are all the conveniences of a telephone switchboard. Six push buttons give you complete control over all incoming and outgoing calls. You can select any of five lines — talk on one while holding calls on others — "buzz" your secretary — or use the phone as an office intercom. Lights in the buttons tell you which lines are busy, which are free.

Our "phone with the built-in switchboard" is another example of how General Telephone works to make the telephone a more convenient and valuable instrument of communications for everyone. Call or visit our Business Office and learn how little it costs to have the "switchboard" service of a push-button phone.
