Area To Take Time Out For Thanksgiving Day

Littlefield and Lamb County will take time out for turkey and Thanksgiving Thursday, with most area residents planning to have visitors or out-of-town trips. A city-wide Thanksgiving worship service is planned in Littlefield at 10 a.m. in the First Methodist Church. Several area towns also have planned community Thanksgiving dinners. The Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Littlefield also will have a Thanksgiving service, scheduled for 10:30 a.m. at the church. School children will be dismissed throughout the county this afternoon. They'll return to school Monday, Dec. 2. Banks, city, county and federal offices will close for the day. Most stores in the area also will be closed.

Officers also jailed Eusebio Salazar, an Olton Latin American, Monday on charges of violating the liquor law. Bond was set at $1,000. Over the weekend, three Negro men were jailed on gambling charges and three Latin Americans were arrested on drunk charges. Two other Latin Americans were arrested and held for the Border Patrol.

Great Plains Conservation Program Ready To Roll Here

The Great Plains Conservation Program is ready to move in Lamb County. SCS work unit conservationist Guy Nutt announced here Monday. The program includes a list of soil-building moisture-saving practices on which the federal government will share the cost of installation. Rates at which the government will share the cost have been approved by a county program committee, Nutt said. The rates, based on average cost of the work in Lamb County, range from 50 to 80 per cent of the total cost of installing each practice. County, State Participate Cost-share rates for Lamb County have been worked out by the county program committee and submitted to the state program committee, headed by H. N. Smith, state SCS conservationist. Approval of the practices and rates clears the way for first applications to be submitted by farmers. A total of $61,566 for the program has been tentatively allocated to Lamb County until June 30, 1958, Nutt said. The purpose of the Great Plains Conservation Program, Nutt explained, is to develop an agriculture that resists the weather extremes, which are a constant hazard in the Plains area. More Stable Economy This, he said, will contribute to a more stable economy. Nutt said the SCS expects to have widespread response to the program. The fact that the county has moisture now, Nutt said, gives the farmer an opportunity to make a good start on the program. 10 States Included A total of 233 counties in 10 Great Plains states has been designated by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson for the program. 29 Ballots Returned In C-C Election

Chamber of Commerce officials counted 29 ballots in the C-C's election of four new directors as voting closed Monday. Results of the election will be announced later, C-C Manager Jack Lacy said. Up for election to four posts were Glenn Batson, Dr. Glenn Burk, Tom Hilburn, Howard Horne, R. W. Manley, C. H. Messer, Kenneth Reast and G. A. White. Lacy also announced that the C-C's drive for membership investments now stands at $9,200. The goal is $13,000. The C-C has turned the bulk of the drive over to its newly formed Soil and Oil Club. Lacy said that the Chamber will begin using a new letterhead this week. The letterhead carries a soil and oil theme. J. Ledge Craig, manager of the Denver, Colo., district of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, will speak to local C-C members today at 7 a.m. in Loy's Cafeteria. Craig will talk on economic understanding and congressional issues. City Police Arrest 7 On Drunk Charges City police arrested seven persons over the weekend, all on drunk charges. C-C 'Business Analysis' Lists 29 Littlefield Needs

Quota Vote On Cotton Set Dec. 10

Cotton producers of Lamb County will vote Dec. 10 to help determine whether or not marketing quotas will be in effect on their 1958 crop, County ASC Manager Lamar Aien announced this week. It will be the twelfth time that the nation's growers have registered their choice on the question. Marketing quotas have been in effect for the last four crops. Last December, 92.4 per cent of the farmers voting approved quotas for the 1957 cotton crop. Two-thirds of the voters must favor quotas, if they are to remain effective. The first referendum was held in 1938. Under legislative provisions, the Secretary of Agriculture must proclaim a national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for upland cotton whenever he finds that the total supply exceeds the normal supply. The total supply of upland cotton for the 1957-58 marketing year is estimated at 23.6 million running bales and the normal supply, that needed for domestic uses, for exports and a 30 per cent carryover reserve, is estimated at 17.6 million bales. Thus, the prospective total supply exceeds the normal supply by about 5.6 million bales, and quotas for the 1958 crop of upland cotton had to be proclaimed. Marketing quotas operate through acreage allotments. A grower who exceeds the cotton acreage allotment for his farm, under a cotton marketing quota program, will be subject to a marketing quota penalty of 50 per cent of parity on the farm's excess production. Growers who do not exceed cotton production from their cotton allotments may market their free of penalty all of the 1958 farms. Polls will be open Dec. 10 from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at six places in Lamb County, Aien said. Cotton producers and their wives are eligible to vote. Absentee ballots are available now at the county ASC office. Polling places and election judges include: Community A — Earth Elevator, Guy F. Kelley Jr. Community B — City Hall, Olton. YULETIDE SEASON GOES INTO FULL SWING HERE

Littlefield will get "all lit up" here Friday night as the Christmas season plunges into full swing. Mayor Ellis Foust and the award-winning Littlefield High School band will kick-off the season by turning on Christmas decorations throughout the business district. The decorations, including strings of lights along Phelps Avenue, will be turned on at 7 p.m. They were put up through efforts of the city, the Chamber of Commerce and Southwestern Public Service Co. The Friday night send-off will signal the opening of Christmas buying in Littlefield stores, too. Merchants here are loaded with a variety of Yuletide gifts, stored up through a long harvest season. A huge Dollar Day is planned Monday, backing up the C-C's slogan of "Have More Fun . . . Get More Done . . . Shop Early, Shop Littlefield for Christmas." Sacks will be put on parking meters throughout the city all of next week. The sacks will carry a message of "Merry Christmas—the parking is on the house. Compliments of the City of Littlefield and the Chamber of Commerce." Santa Claus will make his annual visit Friday, Dec. 6, at 4 p.m., when the annual Christmas Parade will be held.

Study Lists City's Good, Bad Points

The Chamber of Commerce Tuesday listed Littlefield's 29 biggest "needs" after study of a recently completed "business climate analysis." The Chamber's report came after eight committees completed their parts of the survey. Questions were asked throughout the city on these topics: community progressiveness, government, labor relations, people, labor costs, community services and facilities, social-culture-educational institutions and business citizenship. Recommendations included a new brochure for the city for its drive for industry, studies of available plant sites, and other items designed to bring industry here. An urban renewal (slum clearance) program for Littlefield also was called a need. Street Paving Needed Among other recommendations were more street paving, a new hotel or motel for the city, better traffic planning, a better golf course, new swimming pool and an FFA and 4-H farm. The Chamber came up with these and other "needs" after studying answers to more than 150 questions. It found that the community isn't well diversified industrially, doesn't have a long-range program for improvement, isn't kept clean and attractive enough, and doesn't have a good zoning approach. These items were answered in the community progressiveness section. Government "Good" On government, the analysis showed the city compared favorably to other towns this size. The report said the city has a "good business climate" on questions concerning government. The report on labor relations fell in the same category, as did reports on labor costs, and the section on social-cultural-educational facilities. On the section entitled "people," the report showed Littlefield to have a shortage of skilled and semi-skilled labor. The community services and facilities section indicated Littlefield is short on hotels, restaurants and meeting places. It listed banking and transportation facilities as "good," and parking and traffic planning as "fair."

THIS WEEK

In Washington

With CLINTON DAVIDSON

The Department of Agriculture will announce soon that farmers have harvested all-time bumper supplies of foods, feeds, and fibers this year.

That, to Washington, will be bad news. It will mean lower prices to farmers, and higher costs to the U.S. Treasury in protecting this country against too much abundance.

The news will make farmers unhappy and it will cause congressmen great concern. It won't however, be any big surprise to anyone. Everyone has known for months that farm production was likely to set a new record.

Even before farmers began bringing in the bountiful 1957 harvest, our government storehouses were bulging with almost $8 billion dollars worth of produce for which no market could be found. Some of it is spoiling.

Farmers don't like that, and, naturally, consumers complain because their food costs keep going up and up to new record highs month after month. We have a curious situation in which food prices go up at about the same rate that farm prices go down.

We have a farm program that costs $5 billion a year, and it hasn't been doing the job of bringing production and demand into balance. Even with price supports farmers are getting only 80 per cent of what is legally declared to be a fair price.

Some consumers think government farm programs are responsible for high food prices. Farmers reply that if all farm prices were at parity, the price defined by law as fair, consumers would be paying $11 billion a year more for their food.

Farmers resent the fact that while the remainder of the population enjoys unprecedented prosperity, their income has been going down. Some of them blame Washington and demand that something be done about it.

Washington already has tried about everything it could think of to keep production down and prices up. It hasn't succeeded very well in doing either. It is the target for complaints by both producers and consumers.

Twenty-five years ago, when we first found out that we had something called "a farm problem," Washington tried paying farmers to kill little pigs and plow up every third row of their crops.

When that failed to solve the problem, Washington tried telling farmers how many acres of cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, peanuts and other crops they could grow. That acreage allotment program still is in effect.

To persuade farmers to plant within their allotments the government promised to support the price of their crops at 90 per cent of parity, and threatened to fine, or put in jail, those who over-planted and became non-operators.

Then came World War II and all out production became the patriotic thing for farmers to do. Farmers bought more machinery and land and they poured on the fertilizer. Production zoomed to unheard of proportions.

But then the war ended; farmers in other parts of the world began to expand their production. While our markets decreased our production continued to increase. The government tried to put the brakes on production again.

Suddenly, in 1955, it was decided that the thing to do was have Soil Bank and pay farmers a billion dollars a year to put their land into that instead of crops. Then we reduced price supports to discourage farmers from producing. Neither of those has done the job.

So, Congress will be coming back soon to try to think up something new. Meanwhile, Washington just doesn't know what to do.

WSCS Holds Regular Meeting, Social Hour

The W.S.C.S. of the Whitharral Methodist Church met Monday afternoon at the church for their monthly business meeting and social hour.

In honor of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Methodism by Charles Wesley, Mrs. J. E. Gravitt gave a brief story of Charles Wesley.

Family night to be observed this week at Fellowship Hall was discussed. The Wesley Methodist members of Levelland are to be guests.

The Christmas party is planned for Monday, Dec. 16.

Tuna fish sandwiches, cake squares, coffee and cocoa were served to Mesdames W. H. Rodgers, Russell Cotton, C. G. Landers, Will Reding, Geo. F. Edgar, J.illard Ridings, Rankin Howard and Gravitt.

Chippendale furniture bears the name of its creator, an 18th century English cabinetmaker and woodcarver.

By JIM & JANE REED

What's all this nonsense about "the good old days?" We can't understand why some gals are still doing things the way Grandma did back in '96—spending the hottest days of the summer steaming over their canning chores.

The "new look" in putting up your fruits and vegetables is freezing. With plastic freeze bags and boxes now available, it's a pleasant summertime job. It's easier and faster and, believe it or not, hubby will actually enjoy helping you (well, almost).

We've just finished packaging torn for "reference" next winter. This year we froze kernels in a whole ear—the kernels in freeze boxes, the whole ears in bags. Each bag will hold enough to serve two people. Remember—regardless of which method you use—leave a little air space for best results.

If you don't have a freezer you can use the freezing compartment of your refrigerator or run a locker in a cold-storage plant.

Longer Life For Leather

Here's a tip passed along by a Canadian reader on how to clean leather, synthetic leather and plastic goods. Wet a Brillo soap pad slightly and rub over the leather in a circular motion. Then, using a circular motion in the opposite direction, rub the material with a soft clean cloth before it dries. This works wonders on luggage, muddy shoes, handbags and auto seat covers.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

How's the weather out your way, dry? It hasn't rained in our neighborhood for the last three weeks but both our flower and vegetable gardens are still as healthy and as colorful as can be—thanks to that Kordimulch we bought this spring. This new black plastic mulch really holds the moisture and the garden requires very little watering. It seems so nice to have big fresh flowers in the house when most people are struggling to keep their gardens alive.

The prospect of the Thanksgiving Holiday calls to mind many things: tables laden with succulent delights, joyous family reunions, frolic, festivity, and football, but it is no real Thanksgiving without giving thanks to the Lord God above. He is the Lord of the harvest; His rain and His sun and His earth are responsible for the food we eat. He is the Lord of life; our existence is bounded on either end by His mystery of birth and death. Thanks be that He is loving and kind, abounding in steadfast care for us. This Thanksgiving let us break bread together on our knees, as the old spiritual expresses it and what better place to thank Him than in His Church.

Is something wrong with your life—an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and reassure. Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relation no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church in everyone!

Full Courage
Lesson for December 1, 1937

SOME of the best of the Bible was written in jail. In fact, the Bible was mostly written not only about, but by and for, people in trouble. When Saint Paul wrote his famous letter to the church at Philippi, he had been in a Roman prison for some time. If his trial went against him, he had nothing to expect but a death sentence. He was well along in years, too; just at the time of life when a man welcomes comforts. Paul had to get along without them. Paul needed the prayers of his friends, the help of the Holy Spirit. But he was also confident that with this help, he would honor Christ "with full courage," whether in living or in dying.

Never Easy

It is almost never easy to stand up and be counted as a Christian. Easy enough when nothing is involved; but when being a Christian gets one into trouble, or even laughed at, that's different. The people these days who need our prayers and deserve our honor are the Christians in countries behind the iron curtain. We sometimes may think they are not as good Christians as they ought to be, but they are better than some of us would be in their circumstances. Take a high-school boy in East Germany, for example. If he goes to church on Sunday, he will have to cut a youth meeting, set by the government at church time, on purpose. His absence will go on record; and when he applies for a job, or wants to go to college, he will find doors closed against him, because he was loyal to the church and not the government. You might think that going to church once a week is not much of a "witness for Christ," but in a situation like that, it is nothing short of heroic.

Everything Against Him

"Joining the church" calls for some stiffness of backbone, even in America. Young people who do it know that on the fence there is a gathering of vultures waiting for them to make their first mistake, commit their first sin as church members,—waiting for the chance to make fun, to say "I told you so." But it takes even more courage to confess Christ in a country where Christians are thought to be unpatriotic, and Christianity a "foreigners' religion." It takes most courage of all in a fanatic world where a person who becomes a Christian runs a risk of being killed for it.

Paul would understand this, for he had everything to discourage him. On the outside of his jail there were some "Christians" preachers who had their knives out for him, character-assassins as they were. And inside the prison, all the company Paul would have were other prisoners and Roman soldiers,—no very sympathetic congregation! Yet Paul went right on being a Christian and speaking a good word for Jesus. It was a situation that had everything to dishearten him. Many another in the same fix would have thought: What a glorious testimony I can give when I get out of here!

God Brings the Best

We know (from Romans) that Paul had wanted very much to visit Rome and preach there. But he hadn't the slightest ambition to go to jail there. He was eager to give a Christian witness; but it hadn't occurred to him that God would provide for him a very small church and a mighty unpromising congregation: a church house no bigger than a jail cell, a congregation mostly criminals and prison guards. And yet,—faced with this, he made the brave best of it, and was actually happy over it. God knows best; he brings the best out of the worst situations, the least likely people.

For one thing, the Gospel had made its way, only a beginning, but still a real start, in circles that would have been very hard to crash from the outside. The Praetorian Guard was made of hard men; but they were beginning to catch on to the Gospel. Timid Christians, one suspects outside the jail as well as in, were lifting their heads, catching the contagion of Paul's courage. And suppose the death-cell is ahead? Paul is not afraid. In death as in life, Paul says, "I shall not be at all ashamed."

Fruited Eggnog Pie For Holidays

Pretty as a picture and delicious as it looks promise, Fruited Eggnog Pie takes honors as a holiday dessert. The filling, made with commercial eggnog and laced with canned fruit cocktail, gains its chiffon lightness with unflavored gelatine. No baking of the filling is required.

The eggnog is heated in a saucepan over low heat with unflavored gelatine and sugar. Heavy cream, whipped and added to the eggnog and gelatine, gives additional smoothness and richness. Then in go flavorings and the fruit cocktail with its taste medley of peaches, pears, pineapple and cherries. The filling is ready to be turned into a baked pastry crust . . . home assembled or from a mix.

Fruited Eggnog Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups commercially prepared eggnog

1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
3/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 can (29 ounces) fruit cocktail, thoroughly drained
1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Mix gelatine, sugar and salt. Gradually stir in eggnog. Warm over direct low heat until gelatine is dissolved. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from spoon. Fold in whipped cream, flavorings, 1/2 cups drained fruit cocktail. Chill again until mixture mounds. Heap into baked pie shell. Decorate with remaining fruit cocktail. Chill 2 to 4 hours. YIELD: 1 9-inch pie.

Long-Awaited Rains Came -- Again And Again In Texas

By JOHN WHITE
Agriculture Commissioner

The long awaited rains came to Texas this year — and came again, and again, and again.

Now that blessing has become a kind of curse in many cotton areas of Texas. Ill-timed fall rains on the unharvested cotton have caused a crop quality loss conservatively estimated at over $100 million.

Cotton farmers in the rain-soaked areas are suffering economically now almost as much as they did during the drought—particularly in central and East Texas. Many of them made their first cotton crop in several years, only to see it slowly ruin in the rain.

In early November, an estimated 1.14 to 1.12 million bales remained unpicked in Texas fields. The pickers could not get in the muddy rows to gather the cotton.

These unpicked bales represented a current value of somewhere between $150 to $250 million, depending on its grade. But the fiber quality and value dropped more each day as the rains continued.

In some areas, the farmer had to begin thinking in terms of "salvaging" his cotton, rather than harvesting it. This is a real blow to the growers who had early prospects of the best cotton crop in many years.

On the brighter side, prospects

You will want a copy of the exciting new book about Texas, "Reluctant Empire" by George Fuernmann. This book promises to be a conversation piece in menus to come.

The author, a staff member of the Houston Post, calls it the mind of Texas today.

And because of some startling revelations about our state's recent history, political, economic, and a moral, Mr. Fuernmann will not remain very deep in the heart of some Texans. . . .

But what he says about Littlefield on page 85 of the book is good and should give the city some national publicity.

Practices Listed

Here is the list of practices, with cost-share rates for Lamb County:

1. Initial establishment of a permanent vegetative cover as a part of an improved cropping system or as a needed land-use adjustment. Cost-share rate: (a) establishing cover 80 per cent, (b) establishing grass 80 per cent and (c) fencing 50 per cent.
2. Initial establishment of field strip-cropping to protect soil from wind or water erosion. Cost-share rate: 80 per cent.
3. Initial establishment of a stand of trees or shrubs on farm or ranch lands for shelterbelts, erosion control, or other purpose to protect farm or ranch land from wind or water erosion. Cost-share rate: 80 per cent.
4. Initial establishment of permanent sod waterways to dispose of excess water without causing erosion. Cost-share rate: 80 per cent.

for winter grains were considerably increased by the fall moisture. But this is poor consolation to a vast number of farmers whose main crop is still cotton.

Most of the cotton still unpicked will eventually be harvested, even though the grade is poor. In this respect, Texas joins Mississippi this year where rains also damaged one of the best crops of a decade.

Master chess players have engaged successfully in as many as 14 games simultaneously.

Mortality rate of persons contracting cholera is 30 to 80 per cent.

England, because of its many bells, has been called "the ringing isle."

"My, what a bargain — something for something."

5. Constructing walls for livestock water as a means of protecting vegetative cover. Cost-share rate: 50 per cent.
6. Constructing, enlarging, deepening pits or ponds as a means of protecting vegetative cover. Cost-share rate: 50 per cent.
7. Installing pipelines for livestock water as a means of protecting vegetative cover. Cost-share rate: 50 per cent.
8. Controlling competitive shrubs to permit growth of adequate desirable vegetative cover for soil protection on range or pasture land. Cost-share rate: 50 per cent.
9. Constructing permanent fences as a means of protecting vegetative cover. Cost-share rate: 50 per cent.

Colorful Gifts From The Kitchen

During the holiday season, nothing is more satisfying than preparing gifts in your own kitchen for friends and neighbors. It is often the unexpected and thoughtful gift that brings pleasure to others.

For youngsters, the Cookie Tree is fun. The tree itself is cut from a square of white plastic foam which you can get at the variety store or florist shop. First, cut a flat tree shape, then two half trunks. These halves can be attached to the flat tree shape with round toothpicks to form a four-sided tree. The base is a five inch circle of foam. Attach the assembled tree to the base with toothpicks. Put glitter on the edges of the branches with white plastic glue.

Use your favorite cookie mixes or recipes and make the cookies about two inches across or less. Wrap them in transparent plastic wrap, attach a small piece of colorful ribbon to the back of the wrapped cookie with a bit of cellulose tape. Then arrange cookies on the tree with small pins. The cookies can be removed for eating, yet replacements can be easily attached. The plastic wrap will protect the cookies while they are on the tree and give them a holiday sparkle.

Candies can be attractively packaged in small plastic berry boxes. Place a plastic foam snowflake on top, then overwrap the box with plastic wrap.

Small fruit cakes can be baked in muffin cups and garnished with candied fruit. When these are wrapped they glisten and give a festive look to your gift.

Jurist Poses Question Of Adequacy Of Juvenile Rehabilitation Facilities

By JUDGE SARAH HUGHES Ed. Note: This is one of a series of articles on the state's growing problem of juvenile delinquency by one of Texas' foremost authorities on the T. Hughes of Dallas, who has handled more than 25,000 juvenile and family relations cases along with an even greater number of other civil cases in 22 years on the bench.

It's up to the people as to whether facilities for handling juvenile delinquents are adequate. State training schools for young offenders are so crowded at present that trying to rehabilitate these children has become increasingly difficult.

Several years ago the Youth Development Council inaugurated a bold new policy looking towards restoring youthful offenders to a useful life in society. First of all, the institutions themselves have a different look—the grounds are unfenced, the windows except in the security units without bars.

printing, woodwork, and electric shop. For recreation there are movies, TV, and radio. In the gym and on the grounds there are ball games, and occasionally there are off-campus activities.

The chief handicap to the success of the program of rehabilitation is over-crowding. Gatesville is designed to handle 575 and Gainesville 180, whereas Gatesville now has about 850 and Gainesville 220.

With our present state facilities for delinquents so inadequate, whose is the responsibility for failure to rehabilitate—the boys' and girls' or ours? Before accusing the youngsters, consider first what we can do to remedy the situation.

Texas In For Rough Winter If Weather Seers Correct

"If all the amateur weather prognosticators (made up of old-timers, newcomers, sinus sufferers and those who play hunches) are correct—Texans are in for a rough winter." So says J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association.

"In fact," he continues, "many expert weathermen also forecast an unusually severe winter. One thing for certain—winter will bring numerous dangerous driving days."

To minimize traffic hazards,

Musick listed six tips with which every motorist should concern himself.

- 1. Like a good Boy Scout—be prepared. Winterize your car and your driving habits at the same time. 2. In addition to a thorough mechanical winterizing, check tires, headlights and tail lights. Carry chains and a shovel for emergencies. 3. Make sure you can see. Keep windshield aid windows clear. Check windshield wiper blades and replace if they do not do a good job. Also make sure the heater and defroster are in good working condition. 4. When starting out—get the feel of the road. If in doubt about the road's icy condition, test your brakes occasionally to learn how quickly you can stop.

"Above all," Musick concluded, "take it easy. Hang on to your patience—and your life."

A TRULY AMERICAN TRADITION... To Give Thanks For Our Blessings!

Since 1621, when the first settlers paused to give thanks for their blessings, Thanksgiving Day has been an American tradition. On this Thanksgiving Day we give thanks for the good fortune of being citizens of a mighty Democracy... for the peace, prosperity and freedoms it offers us. We offer a prayer that it will continue to be here through the years for ourselves and our children to live in and enjoy. Let us count our blessings every day!

'Homemaker Of Tomorrow' Day Slated Tuesday At Littlefield High School

"Homemakers of Tomorrow Day" will be observed at Littlefield High School and throughout the United States Tuesday, Dec. 2.

Simultaneously in 11,800 of the nation's high schools, a record 27,000 graduating girls will test their homemaking knowledge and attitudes in a 50-minute writing test. $100,000 are offered by General Mills in this fourth annual Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

About 45 senior girls at Littlefield High will take the test. The winner will be Littlefield's "Homemaker of Tomorrow."

This year's huge entry brings the four-year participation over 2,071,000 girls has enrolled in this national homemaking project since it was launched by General Mills in 1935 to assist schools in education for home and family living. The program has steadily grown from 387,000 girls in 8,000 schools the first year to this year's record enrollment for both girls and schools.

The girl with the highest score in the examination, which consists of multiple choice and subjective questions testing the students' attitudes and knowledge in 10 major areas of homemaking, will be named Homemaker of Tomorrow for her school. She will receive an award pin designed by Trifari of New York and her test will be entered in competition for $1,500 and $500 scholarships which will be awarded to the state Homemaker of Tomorrow and the runner-up respectively. The school of each state winner will receive a complete set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and an honor certificate.

The 48 state winners and representative from the District of Columbia will receive an exceptional educational tour to Washington, Va., and New York, where on April 17 at a banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel one of them will be announced as the 1938 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. Her scholarship will be increased to $3,000. Girls who rank second, third and fourth in the national finals will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

"The Betty Crocker Search is a scholarship program, but it is also much more," declares Charles H. Bell, president of General Mills. "It is a broad plan for providing a rich educational experience to all high school senior girls. Its materials, prepared with the advice and help of teachers, are designed for immediate and practical use in several subject areas."

Each girl taking the examination will receive a homemaker profiler which serves as an aid to self-analysis on problems facing high school girls today.

Teachers in schools enrolled will receive guidebooks from General Mills which will serve as teaching aids.

Former All-American Homemakers of Tomorrow are Deloris Arnette of Enterprise, Ala., in 1935; Sandra Walton of San Rafael, Calif., in 1936 and Priscilla Jones of Hialeah, Fla., in 1937. All three are attending college at the present time.

The test, prepared and judged by Science Research Associates of Chicago and administered by the schools, will be the basis for awards until the national selection when personal observation and personal interviews will be included.

Walking Blood Bank Part Of Organized Community Plan

COLLEGE STATION — A walking blood bank promises to be one of the most outstanding projects undertaken by the New Blau community in Colorado county, says Itegan Brown, extension rural sociologist.

The idea for the bank, he says, originated with President Otto Ulrich and the community board of directors. Working closely with the community officers in planning the program were the local county extension agents Doyle Moore and Edna Prentice and Dr. Willis Youens of a Wellmar clinic.

Dr. Youens told 106 members of the community organization, which is enrolled in the Rural Neighborhood Progress program, that their effort could be of great benefit in times of emergency and that individual blood-typing information would also prove most helpful when a person was in need of blood or might be asked to give to others.

Under the program, members of the community will have their blood typed and each will be provided with a blood-type identification card. A record will be kept in the clinic and the same information will also be available at the New Blau Community Center.

Already 199 members of the community organization have been contacted and 89 have had their blood typed. Of the remaining 140 members, all have agreed to participate in the program. Brown said indications point to at least 200 members for the walking blood bank.

He cited this action as another example of what a community organization can do to make life in rural areas more pleasant and satisfying. Members of this community, Brown said, can be proud of this achievement for it means they have provided a service which could be of great value to them and their fellow citizens in case of an emergency.

Carnation Pumpkin Pie
(Makes single crust 9" Pie)
1 cup sugar 1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon 1/2 No. 2 1/2 can
1/2 teaspoon cloves 1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1/2 teaspoon allspice 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ginger 9-inch single crust unbaked pie shell
2 eggs
Combine all ingredients until smooth. Place in pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425° F) 15 minutes; lower temperature to moderate oven (350° F). Continue baking about 35 minutes or until crust is firm. 100 Attend Lions' Annual Pancake Supper

More than 500 persons filled up on a four-bit meal at the Littlefield Lions Club Pancake Supper Friday night.

Lions Club members cooked about 100 pounds of bacon and 20 pounds of sausage to go with the flapjacks. As for how many pancakes there were, one Lion said: "There just ain't no way of tellin'."

In number three, Lion Ed McCanlies welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Bacon Jones as they enter the serving line.

Number four shows Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kimbrough and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Zahn as they test the Lions' cooking.

In number five, Chief Flapjack Purer Calvin Brown handles the ladle as C. M. Lance looks on.

Mayor Ellis Foust takes a turn at the serving line in number six.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nall finish off their meal in number seven.

Proceeds for the annual event go to the Lions activities fund, part of which includes help for crippled children and the blind.

Every American Could Use A Copy Of The Constitution

Dan Daniel, National Commander of the American Legion, writing in The American Mercury, points out very effectively people and organizations have tried, over the years, to alter the Constitution of the United States.

Yet, Daniel points out, the Constitution was planned not just for the time it was drafted but for all time. Madison said: "In framing the system which we wish to last for ages, we should not lose sight of chances which age will produce." The people, through their elected representatives, have approved an average of only one amendment to the Constitution in each seventeen and a half years, a pretty convincing argument in favor of the wisdom contained in the Constitution.

The latest amendment was that limiting Presidents to two four-year terms, and Vice-Presidents, who serve as President for more than two years, to only one four-year elected term.

Daniel points out that one of the greatest surrenders of individual freedom came about in 1913, when Amendment XVI was passed, giving the Federal Government practically absolute power over us in giving the government the power to "lay and collect taxes on incomes from whatever source derived." Until this time the Constitution did not permit Congress to levy unequal taxes upon as individual citizens.

This amendment was adopted in 1913 because it was said that the people would be taxed only a nominal one or two per cent. There was no limitation, however, and many corporations and some individuals today are taxed in surprisingly high percentage ratios.

In recent years we have seen attempts to circumvent the Constitution made by those who would pass treaties which would supersede state and Federal laws. Also we have seen courts interpret the Constitution to suit their viewpoints and actually usurp the powers of Congress or the states and, in effect, legislate.

Whether you agree or disagree with these views, it would pay every American to obtain a copy of the Constitution (if he doesn't already have one) and read it carefully. This is our "Charter" as a free nation. It is perhaps the greatest governmental document ever composed and its wisdom in 1957 is as applicable to us today as it was almost two hundred years ago.

Paralysis Is Personal

There has been a lot of talk recently about polio statistics. They look very good. The incidence of the paralytic disease went down sharply in 1957. The Salk vaccine obviously works and works wonderfully well. There is considerable patting on the back that victory is within our grasp.

Fine and dandy. But do we know that 1957 would not have been a light polio year anyway? We do not. Polio is a notoriously unpredictable disease, up one year and down the next.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis points out that there is one thing we do know for sure, and that is that a lot of people either haven't been vaccinated at all, or have not completed their full series of three shots. These people will be in just as much danger if next summer is a heavy polio summer as though they lived before the age of Dr. Salk.

Statistics are figures—marks on a piece of paper. Paralysis is personal. If you or your children contract paralytic polio, all the encouraging statistics in the world will not ease the tragedy. And tragedy it is, in the fullest and most awful sense, if men, women and children are stricken by this venomous disease when the means to protect them are at hand.

The statistics that count, so far as any family is concerned, are its record of vaccination. Make no mistake about it, your OWN vaccination is the pay off. Get it done. Finish your full series of three shots. National statistics are pretty meaningless in a family where a child or adult is struggling to wreath with muscles that have been knocked into nothingness by polio.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Most folks never keep a record of how much money they invest in capital additions to their homes. They plan on spending their life in their home. The way folks move around nowadays, though, makes it profitable for most of them to keep an exact record of how much their house and everything they add to it cost them. This includes the lawn, the back room, and the tool shed they added to the garage. If they have to move, they are always able to figure out if they have a gain or a loss on their house. Nobody likes to pay tax simply because he didn't keep a record and does not know how much something cost him.

Safety Rules For Using Cleaning Agents Listed

By HENRY BOLLE

State Health Commissioner

The curtain looked dingy, so she decided to clean them in a pan of gasoline in the bathtub. She forgot about the pilot light on the floor furnace just outside the bathroom door.

She was buried just a couple of weeks ago, this usually alert woman who was "accustomed" to doing her own dry cleaning. It happens to someone somewhere practically every day.

Many victims of home dry cleaning accidents, like the woman above, routinely use flammable liquids to clean curtains or clothes. Others were beginners, motivated by economy or convenience.

Most of them were ordinarily sensible, with full awareness of the peril of gasoline or naphtha or other dry cleaning preparations. One moment of carelessness to which we are all prone turned them from happy homemakers into sad statistics.

Explosions are only one of several risks run by the thoughtless do-it-yourself operations. Some cleaning agents are flammable; others give off injurious vapors; still others are harmful to human skin. All could be lethal if taken internally.

So inflammable is gasoline that to keep it stored at home is to emit vapors to form explosive mixtures in the air. A transient spark from a light switch or cigarette and the mixture may be ignited.

Vapors may flow in an invisible stream for 250 feet from the point of use, flashing back and exploding the main container when touched off by flame or spark. Static electricity generated by synthetic or silk fabric being cleaned is fully capable of igniting the fumes or gasoline or naphtha.

Care must be taken to avoid inhaling concentrated vapors, since the common ones—excluding turpentine—are anesthetics. Some, after prolonged exposure, are injurious to internal organs.

If gasoline or naphtha can dissolve dirt and grime on fabrics, obviously these same fluids are able to cut through the natural oils of human skin. You still insist on doing your own dry cleaning? Then do it right.

Use only non-flammable cleaning agents, keeping in mind that "non-explosive" markings on a label do not necessarily mean "non-flammable." Never, under any circumstances, use gasoline or naphtha.

Do your cleaning outside, where toxic vapors will be quickly and safely dissipated. Use a dip stick in the liquid instead of your bare hands.

Keep children and pets away from your cleaning operations. Children are often the innocent victims of home cleaning accidents.

Washington News Letter

By RALPH YARBOROUGH

"Give the people light and they will find the way." This is a basic precept of Democracy. So believing, this is to report to you that our country is in the most grave danger that it has been in since the first months after Pearl Harbor.

Last week I witnessed the missile briefings and firings at Fort Bliss and at White Sands Proving Grounds.

Our armed services have perfected a missile virtually 100 per cent effective against pilot-operated aircraft. But this offers little consolation because we have not created an effective weapon against guided missiles. This, without question, is the most vital problem that faces us at this minute. It is the reason I urged President Eisenhower to call Congress in session immediately. I believe that the earliest minute we can face this matter and speed up our research and development programs, the safer our country will be.

Many of you have asked me, during my recent fact-finding visits across the State, whether I believe taxes will have to be raised to meet the Russians' missile threat.

I believe the answer to this depends on the Administration. If we have unguided service rivalry and typical helter-skelter Republican planning by the Administration, it might raise taxes.

However, if a missile administrator or director is appointed with authority to take control of missile development and coordinate the work, I believe our safety can be secured without additional taxes.

One thing is sure: We cannot afford delay.

The Sandhills Philosopher

U. S. Program On Missiles May Be On Schedule, But...

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson-grass farm is concerned about the U.S. missile program, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

Everybody is looking for reassurance in these days of intercontinental missiles and while I am not prepared to believe yet that Russia can line up all its long-range missiles, take aim and blow up every city in the world in thirty minutes, still her success in launching a 1100-pound satellite is hard to argue with when it comes to saying who's ahead in this department, and naturally all of us have been concerned.

Consequently, Washington is getting on the ball and I think we can catch up all right, but I was interested in what a Washington expert had to say to a Congressional committee the other day along this line.

According to an article I read in a newspaper which I paid a nickel for, after all, I recognize this missile program is going to cost us all money and I figured the least I could do was face up to my part of the load and spend a nickel to keep posted this expert

Sunday included Leon Corn of Lamesa, testimony; Mary Lou Lichey of Wilson, special music; and Betty Westfall of Eastland, testimony.

Joe Al Bryant of Whitharral is extension director of the sponsoring organization.

in Washington, when pressed an answer on how our missile program is coming along. "Was on schedule."

I have thought his answer and don't know whether assured or not.

That is, you take my lead here. According to the agricultural experts, it's one of the run down places in the area, the front steps rotted loose boards on the back loose bricks in the chimney but according to my neighbor it's right on schedule.

The reason I haven't front steps is because I've tried that work for years next. The barn door has coming up in 1958, the house has sagged through two wars and no tax assessors ed to get through it yet.

Now I'm not saying the missile program is in the same my farm is I don't know do know it's possible to be on schedule and still be behind your neighbor.

I also hope the U.S. plans something about it quick. I do about this farm.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Deadline For Disaster Loan Applications Is Saturday

C. W. Ferguson, SBA Dallas regional director, has announced Saturday is the deadline for filing disaster loan applications with the Small Business Administration for damage to homes and businesses resulting from tornadoes and floods in May 1957 in the counties of Lamar, Ellis, Young, Lamb, Lynn, Denton, Briscoe, Tom Green, and Lampasas. The SEA regional office is located at 1000 Main Street, Dallas, Texas. Ferguson said that unless otherwise extended, all disaster declarations issued by the Small Business Administration automatically expire six months after the end of the month in which the declaration was issued. A summary of disaster loan activities in these counties through the close of business Nov. 7, 1957, reflects the following: Home Loan Applications Received, 12 $29,000; Home Loan Applications Approved 11, $28,800; Business Loan Applications Received, 69 $734,352; Business Loan Applications Approved, 57, $545,142. One of the Small Business Administration's most important programs is the humanitarian task of providing financial assistance to owners of homes and businesses suffering losses as a result of floods, tornadoes or other major disasters. Drought assistance may be had if substantial economic injury is shown and if the area has been declared a major disaster area by the President or the Secretary of Agriculture. Loans are made to qualified applicants on terms up to 20 years.
