Bond Election Set At Sudan

SUDAN - Sudan's city commission Tuesday scheduled a $60,000 water bond election to ease the threat of a critical water shortage here.

The vote was set for Saturday, Oct. 24. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the city hall. Mayor Joe Rone said the $60,000, if voted, will pay for two new 8-inch city wells, one of which has already been drilled, a new 300,000-gallon reservoir, and new lines connecting the projects into the city water system.

Mayor Rone said the improvements can be made without an increase in either water rates or taxes.

He pointed out also that approval of the bond vote would result in lowered fire insurance rates.

The project would eliminate the need for buying water from the City of Lubbock at a loss to the city and to the taxpayers, the mayor said. Present reservoir at Sudan has a capacity of only 100,000 gallons. City officials say this has meant higher fire insurance rates and also that it has been inadequate to serve the needs of the community during the peak periods of usage in the past few years.

This resulted in the city having to buy water from Lubbock at rates higher than the City of Sudan has been selling it to the consumer, according to Mayor Rone.

Sudan first had to tap Lubbock's line in 1957, when the community purchased $204 worth of water. In 1958, the bill from Lubbock was $860 and this year it will be more than $2,000, the mayor said. He also noted that Lubbock is not under contract to sell water to Sudan and that Lubbock could refuse to sell Sudan water at any time.

At peak periods in Sudan this summer, the city used 1,200 gallons per minute. Present city equipment can handle only 600 gallons per minute.

The city now has 12 wells serving the town. A new 8-inch well was drilled on city property northeast of town, but cannot be tied into the present system unless the bonds are voted, Mayor Rone said.

The new 8-inch well would supply more water than all 12 of the other wells combined, said the mayor.

Encephalitis Saturday claimed the life of a 39-year-old Hale Center man hospitalized here since Sept. 29.

The man, C. H. Marquez, died Saturday about noon at Littlefield Hospital. Encephalitis - sleeping sickness - was listed as the cause of death on the death certificate.

Marquez was one of six encephalitis patients reported last week at Littlefield Hospital. No new cases have been reported.

Of the other five, three have been dismissed from the hospital and two, both elderly women, remain. Both the women were described as in good condition Tuesday afternoon.

No encephalitis cases have been reported at Medical Arts Hospital in recent weeks. Two persons were hospitalized there with the illness in August, but both have since recovered.

The disease is spread by mosquitoes. Birdlings are believed to be the reservoir for the virus-type illness. A mosquito can bite birds, transfer the disease to either humans or animals.

Funeral services for Marquez were held Monday morning at Sacred Heart Catholic Church here. Burial was in Catholic Cemetery under direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

Marquez lived 3 1/2 miles northwest of Hale Center.

TACKLE RONNIE McWILLIAMS Ready For Clovis-Style Wildcats

8:30 P.M. Texas Time Clovis-Style Wildcats Host Littlefield Friday

By JIMMIE HINE

The interstate football spotlight will be focused at Clovis Friday night in a battle between New Mexico and Texas-style Wildcats.

Game time is 8:30 p.m. Texas time.

Littlefield, undefeated in three games, will be the slight favorite over the bordering Wildcats.

Clovis has won three of four games, losing 41 to 12 to a powerful Albuquerque eleven. Clovis opened the season with a 26-13 victory over Muleshoe and has since beaten Tucuman 14 to 7 and Portales 47 to 6.

Clovis, which operates from a variation of the winged-T, fields a couple of hard running backs in Larry Dameron and Loren Rosen. QB Dameron has scored five touchdowns and passed to end Ronnie Mershon for two more.

Rosen, a fast-breaking back, has scored four times this year. Two of his touchdowns have been on punt returns, each for more than 70 yards. Nick Rowley, another fancy stepper, returned a kickoff 99 yards against Portales. The Clovis forward wall which was run over in the defeat by Littlefield 40 to 6 last year, is comparatively small but a tremendously game group of linemen that hit hard and fast, according to Littlefield Coach Don Williams.

Armed and Clovis were both in good condition. The local Wildcats will have the same starters as in their preceding games. Coach Williams had but a short statement about tomorrow night's game - "The Wildcats are out to win this one."

New Mexico has three rules or regulations that are different from Texas schoolboy rules. Since the contest will be played in New Mexico, here they are:

(1) A player can pick up a fumble and run.

(2) Extra point completions - passing, running, or kicking - count but one point.

(3) A single player may converse with his coach on the sideline during a time out.

1959 Building Near Million-Dollar Mark

$1 Argument Man Charged In Shooting

Bond was set at $2,000 early this week for a 44-year-old Littlefield Negro man charged in a shooting in the Flats section of town early Sunday morning.

The man, Walter Smith Jr., faced charges of assault with intent to murder in an incident in which another Littlefield Negro, Emory "Fuzzy" Jackson, suffered a gunshot wound in the head.

Jackson was reported in good condition at a Lubbock hospital Tuesday afternoon. Attendants said a bullet entered his eye and lodged in the side of his head, near the temple. The damaged eye was removed.

Officers said they arrested Smith about 8 a.m. Sunday at his cafe in the Flats, where the incident took place.

Smith told officers he returned home just before day break Sunday and found several persons, including Jackson, in his cafe, playing cards.

JONES NEW BCD CHIEF

Elmo Jones was elected president of the Board of City Development at a regular meeting Wednesday morning.

Jones succeeds Harold Clements at the post.

B. D. Garland Jr. was named vice-president and Howard Horne was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was the first for three new members of the board - Joe Wilson, Roy Allen Hutson and Skipper Smith.

In other action, the board voted to pay for cost of meals incurred when the Chamber of Commerce was host to the Highway 385 trail riders when they came through here in August.

Building Doubles '58 Pace

Construction here in September pushed the total for building permits near the million-dollar mark, more than double the building recorded here at this time in 1958.

City records show 11 permits totaling $86,635 were issued here last month.

That brought the total for the year to $972,035, compared to $417,625 at this time last year.

September building totals put the city back on the fast pace that has been set all year. August totals, five permits for only $19,900 were the lowest of any month this year.

Permits for building here in 1959 surpassed figures for all of 1958 in April, when $698,050 had been recorded. The total for all of 1958 was $556,675.

Largest single permits issued here during the year were for $225,000 on Littlefield Hospital's expansion program and $95,000 on General Telephone Company's new building.

Here are the permits for September:

- Willson - Crump Lumber Co., dwelling at 112 19th St., $12,000.

'Need A Haircut, Little Girl?' ...

... 'Sure Do!' Replied 6-Year-Old

When this captivating 6-year-old youngster walked into Smitty's Barber Shop Saturday afternoon, one barber asked, "Do you want to get your hair cut, little girl?" "Sure do," was the reply. "Like a boy's." So the shears and scissors were brought out and the process began. The flowing golden curls were snipped off. When the barber's client emerged from a pile of hair, so emerged a new Billy Don Hanvey, SON of Mr. and Mrs.

Billy Hanvey of Plainview. Barber is Jesse Renfro. The youngster was visiting his grandfather, Claude Tillman, in Littlefield, when the trip to the barber shop was made. (PHOTOS BY LELAND BOYD)

Duggan Wins Press Grid Contest

Littlefield Attorney Arthur Duggan nudged out seven other top contenders for first prize in the News and Leader's football contest this week.

Duggan and seven other persons missed only three games of the 15 this week. But his guess on the tie-breaker was the closest, giving him first prize of $5.

Second prize of $3 this week goes to James F. Collins, while third place and $2 was won by John M. Clayton III.

Duggan was six points off the tiebreaker with a 14-7 guess on Texas Tech's 8-7 victory over Tulsa.

Collins was nine points away with a 14-10 guess and Clayton was 15 points off with a 22-6 pick.

Duggan's son, Buddy, and four other persons, Roy Howell, Bennett Hutchinson, Ed McCantles and Jim Baxter, narrowly missed the top three. All missed only three games, but they were further away on the tiebreaker.

Most of the top eight missed or Olton's upset of Hereford, Arkansas' defeat of TCU and Cooper's win over Whitharral.

Contestants may enter this week's event by clipping an entry blank from last Sunday's County Wide News and depositing it at one of the stores listed on the contest page.

B-TEAM, FROM GAMES The Littlefield freshmen team and B-team will entertain teams from Dimmitt tonight at 6 p.m. at Wildcat Stadium.

MISS LULA HUBBARD looks right at home in the Lamb County Library. Of course, it's no wonder as she has been librarian since 1927.

Miss Hubbard Recalls 32 Years As Librarian

By BERNITA RATLIFF
A little late but better than never, we bid you folks all get together, at Coopers den to meet Sir Cupid. Please bring your wits and don't be stupid. We'd like a dime if you can spare it. To buy some books for friends, we swear it. A library we mean to start. So come and help with a little heart.

On Feb. 15, 1916 at 8 a.m. in the morning post cards were mailed to people in Littlefield with this verse on them, signed by Mrs. C. C. Cooper, Mrs. Campbell Duggan and a Mrs. Harris.

The Woman's Club was trying to get a library started. They held rummage sales and assessed so much of their dues until they had 13 books and opened the Woman's Club Library.

In 1913 the Aftermath Club had opened a library in Littlefield but it wasn't a success. The library which opened in

LARGE AND SMALL—The largest book in the Lamb County Library is Webster's New International Dictionary and the smallest is "Reply To Hayne."

1924 was successful and remained the Woman's Club Library until November 1956 when it became the Lamb County Library.

The valuation of the library at the time it was taken over by the county was $22,000.

Miss Lula Hubbard moved to Littlefield in 1925 from Eastland where she had served as librarian for four years. In 1927 she became the librarian here. She recalls 32 years of "very satisfying work."

"I had worked as a nurse for 15 years before I decided I'd like to be a librarian," said Miss Hubbard.

The library had 50 books when Miss Hubbard took over and today it has 9,706.

"I couldn't start to guess the value of the library now," she said.

Since Miss Hubbard became the librarian, the library has occupied the basement of a Presbyterian church, a butcher shop, a lawyer's office, a cannery building, an old church building, a room in the city hall and now a room in the courthouse.

"Any place they'd let us have a little room," she said. "We are going to need more room before long."

Asked what she liked about the library Miss Hubbard replied, "I like to read books and when the library was moved to the courthouse in 1956 I had read every book in the library."

"I really have enjoyed my work here," she said. "Falls like home to me."

Among the 9,706 books in the library are books on Texas, poetry, drama, religion, history, biographies, encyclopedias, garden club books, music, art, fiction, non-fiction and children's books.

"Theological Institutes" is the oldest book in the library. It is 12 years old. "Grammatica Italiana" is 111 years old. It was donated to the library by the late J. S. Hilliard. Also in the library is a McGuffey's Sixth Grade Reader that dates back to 1873.

"I have been offered $50 for the Norwegian Bibles we have," said Miss Hubbard. "They are 74 years old."

The newest book in the library Mrs. Hubbard, "I think I should have it."

In the library collection are pictures of the University of Texas. "Moon Over Littlefield" is the name of one picture. It shows the late George W. Littlefield's home that is now a museum on the campus.

"Texas History Carved In Stone" is one of the newest books in the library, said Miss Hubbard.

"It tells that Lamb County was formed from Young and Bexar territories on Aug. 21, 1876, and was organized on May 28, 1890. It is named in honor of George A. Lamb, a second lieutenant who fell in the first charge at the Battle of San Jacinto."

Asked if she had the books catalogued, Miss Hubbard replied, "No. I'd love to have Major Littlefield's book on Littlefield," said stays.

fleet and all other bills are thought to be bogus. One of the curliest phrases ever to appear in print was about an air raid in the last war. "All this was accomplished," said the reporter, "with the loss of only one life." But what about that life? There was a little town in West Texas where the news about that one life made all the stars drop out of the sky. A young mother and her two little children were left without a husband and father. I'll never say again, "Just one," as though it were not important. It could make all the difference in the world.

Many of our farmers are defoliating cotton this week. In fact I got a good defoliating out at the Brock farm north of town Monday morning. I thought I would get in close and get a good "across the cotton stalks" picture of the plane coming in... and the fluid blew over on me.

It's another free parking day Thursday, because Hall Motor Co. has bought all the meters for your convenience in seeing the new Fords.

Jack Barton out at the Littlefield Feed Store reminds you housewives that October is EGGOber month and a good time to try those good XIT eggs.

It's Fire Prevention Week and our local insurance agents remind you to be careful with fire every day of the year and they salute our firemen.

Byers Grain and Feed Elevator is ready to buy all of this area grain and you'll also see their advertisement in today's Leader.

At Staggs Drug it's a big polaroid camera sale; at Furr's they are giving away encyclopedias; at Littlefield Discount more sale items are featured; at the Littlefield Tire they're showing the new "Low Profile" Royal Tires at reduced prices... they've got all the trailer tires you farmers will need too; and the fellows out at the Fieldton Coop Gin are ginning and invite all area farmers to bring their cotton in.

The farm program gets worse all the time and we believe that Congress is likely to deal with farm price support legislation next year, as it has in each recent election year. Washington now expects 1960 to be a year when there will be strong support among the awakers for a "market price support" system. Another group will make a drive for direct payments to farmers.

You farmers... don't forget that Production Credit meeting at the Littlefield High School Cafeteria Thursday night at 8:00. There'll be plenty of coffee and ipudnuts... and manager Dean House also invited the general public to attend.

Mishap Occurs At 84, Phelps

Police investigated a three-car traffic accident at Phelps and Highway 84 here Saturday afternoon.

Officers said a pickup driven by Oscar Hollingsworth, Littlefield, was headed west on Highway 84 and two autos, driven by Linda Steffy, Spode, and Raymond Harper, Sudan, were following him.

As Hollingsworth slowed down, the Harper collided with the Steffy auto, sending the Steffy car into the rear of the Hollingsworth pickup, officers said.

Officers said the Shadden woman was headed east on U.S. 84. Miss Bradley attempted to turn onto U.S. 84 from FM 37.

Funds Coming In On Christmas Stockin' Event

Chairman of Littlefield's Second Annual Christmas Stockin' Festival, Joe Fenn, reports that the money is beginning to come in from Littlefield's merchants for the big event.

The festival will start in Littlefield on Nov. 27 and will continue for five days.

Merchants received letters last week indicating how they participated last year. They are asked to indicate on the return card what they will give this year.

In order to participate in the festival, a merchant must give money for Santa Claus, candy and other costs. Most merchants also will give a gift certificate and help on the street decorations, according to Fenn.

Merchants described last year's Stockin' Festival as one of the most successful events ever staged by Littlefield merchants. There will be many new additions to this year's event.

Fenn reports that as soon as a new Chamber of Commerce manager is employed, there will be another meeting of all merchants who will be participating in this year's event.

Serna then continued and turned onto Phelps Avenue, where he parked.

Persons at the scene at first believed it was a hit-run accident, but Serna returned to the spot of the mishap, officers said.

Letters To The Editor

Sept. 30

Dear Editor:
I would like to take this means protesting the type of movies that are being shown at our local movies on the weekends.

Since Saturday and Sundays are the most popular days for our children and teenagers to attend the movies, it seems only logical that only wholesome shows should be scheduled for those days.

If such frank movies as "Anatomy of a Murder" must be shown, parents should demand that they be shown only on weekdays and that they be advertised clearly that they are suitable for adults only.

Neither the parents nor the children were warned by the local theatre management of the nature of "Anatomy of a Murder." Certainly it was not a decent picture for teenage couples and children.

I don't suggest that only "westerns" be shown on the weekends, but surely it isn't too much to ask that good family-type entertainment is offered for the youngsters.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Looks as if the Weather Man is going to skip a season and parachute us right out of summer into the snow. This we protest.

We've grown accustomed to proper behavior on the part of the seasons. Since childhood, we've known daffodils and apple blossoms mark the beginning of spring; that grass and green that autumn leaves herald the arrival of fall. But here we are just twenty paces from short-sleeved cottons and scurrying from one air-conditioned building to the next, when woolen suits and galoshes are in order.

What happened to fall? It's our favorite season! Barring the ragged end-of-summer look the flower beds get, it's the most colorful three months in the year. It's a time of rich harvest, of much activity, and of soft, happy days.

Yet this October finds the trees and grass still summer green. The few leaves that have fallen look tired and discouraged rather than radiant with the usual fall tints of orange and yellow and red. It's a crazy, mixed-up situation and we want an accounting of the Weather Man's reasons. Did Autumn go AWOL? Have we a delinquent season on our hands? Did it break under the strain of bulging school rooms and harried farmers and heavy football schedules? Or did some puckish sense of humor prompt Autumn to sneak off and hide, just to hear us yell?

We're trying to be patient with this freak of nature. We're hastily shortening last year's woolen skirts and huddling at home to listen to radio accounts of rain-soaked football games. But we're warning you, Mr. Weather Man, see that this doesn't happen again!

About Your Health

In all nature there is an elementary truism: The mother always protects her young. The truism applies fourfold in human civilization.

In our complex society there are so many things for parents to do to protect their young that they are apt to let certain aspects of child protection slide.

One of these is seeing that their children have the entire battery of protective inoculations against polio.

This is especially important for small children—the pre-schooler. Last year there were 1,618 cases of paralytic polio up to the middle of September. This year, by September 19, there were 3,407 cases in the United States.

The largest percentage of victims were under five years of age.

In Texas there have already been 257 cases of paralytic polio.

slight rise over last year. The overwhelming majority of paralytic polio victims have been persons who have not completed the entire series of three shots.

Immunization programs are in effect in many schools, so that large numbers of school children have been polio-protected.

However, that still leaves huge numbers of adults and small children un-protected.

Parents have a responsibility to themselves to start and finish the series of three Salk shots.

More important we need to protect our children—the pre-schoolers.

Many areas of Texas have active polio immunizations programs in operation. It would be wise to take advantage of such a program, if present in your community.

Whether or not such a program exists in your area, you should have your whole family polio-protected.

Also, if you have already completed your series of three shots, you may obtain added protection by getting a booster shot.

Consult your physician about it soon. (This is a weekly feature of the Division of Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

Denton Sworn As New Chief Of Appeals Court

A new chief justice of the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals, which serves this county and 45 others in the Panhandle and South Plains areas, was officially sworn in at Amarillo Wednesday.

He is Chief Justice James G. Denton, for the past six years Judge of the 9th District Court at Lubbock.

Governor Price Daniel named Denton last week for the appellate post to replace Chief Justice E. L. Pitts, who died last month. Gov. Daniel also named Howard Davison, Lubbock attorney, to replace Denton on the 9th district bench.

Both Denton and Davison had been unanimously endorsed for their new offices by the members of the Lubbock County Bar Association.

A Texas Tech graduate, Denton received a degree in government from the Lubbock college in 1938, then graduated from the Texas University Law School in 1941.

During World War I, Denton was a Navy Lieutenant, serving aboard mine sweepers. On his return, in 1946, he practiced law and was a part-time instructor in government at Tech.

Lubbock County Commissioners named Denton the first judge of the newly organized county court-at-law in March, 1950, and he won an elective term which began in 1951. He continued in that office until elected 9th District Judge, assuming that post in January, 1953.

In regard to his new appointment Denton has issued the following statement:

"I would like to express my appreciation to the governor for the confidence he has placed in me by entrusting me with this important post and also thank my many friends in this 46-county area who have supported me for this appointment.

"I will strive to fulfill the duties of the office in such a manner as will justify the confidence placed in me, dealing fairly and impartially with all parties coming before the court."

Denton and his wife have four children: Tommy 14, Monica 12, James Jr. 9, and Mary Beth 7.

Thanks Anyway, But We'll Ride

HONOLULU, (AP) - Walking is not considered a means of exercise in Indonesia - it's a necessity and a means of moving from one place to another. There's too much walking in Honolulu.

This was the way two Indonesian women lawyers summed up their visit to Hawaii, with aching feet.

Trudging across the University of Hawaii campus, Tapi Onas Simatupang, 29, and Hoo Nio Tan, 28, have had a tiring sample of the popular exercise here.

In Indonesia, the two women explained, nobody walks anywhere because transportation is cheap and plentiful. For only a few cents, they can take a pedicab, called the "betja," any distance in Jakarta.

"The climate is so hot and the transportation so cheap, everyone is lazy," said Hoo Nio.

But she did add that muck walking is done in homes.

The women are attending orientation classes at the university. They are Fulbright scholars who will continue studies on the U. S. mainland. Tapi Onas goes to Cornell University to study anthropology and Hoo Nio to the University of Minnesota for criminology.

CORRECTION

The Lamb County Leader of Oct. 1 contained an error in a story concerning the arrest of a Littlefield man, Frank Nichols, on a charge of possession of beer and whiskey for purpose of sale. The story stated that officers said they found "10 cases of beer, five pints of whiskey and 10 cans of cold beer" in Nichols' auto. It should have read "two cases of beer, five pints of whiskey and 10 cans of cold beer."

THE LOOK OF TOMORROW is achieved in the 1960 Dodge through new styling and advanced engineering. This Polara four-door hardtop is one of eleven models featuring natural seat heights.

New Dodges Go On Display Friday At Garland Motor In Littlefield

Dodge introduces two all-new lines of roomy, comfortable cars with outstanding roadability and ease of handling—the Matador and the Polara—Friday at Garland Motors in Littlefield.

"These low-medium priced cars will be offered in 11 sedan, hardtop, station wagon and convertible models featuring a combination of the most important engineering and styling changes that Dodge has ever made in a single model year," M. C. Patterson, Dodge general manager said.

"The new 'Unibody' construction of the 1960 Dodge Matador and Polara is the greatest step forward in automobile body building since Dodge introduced a steel body.

"The body and the frame are integrated into a single unified structure by this new method of construction. The 'Unibody' gives Dodge more room on the inside—including more leg room, more head room and higher seats—greater structural strength, and provides an 'island' of comfort and quiet for the driver and passengers," Patterson explained.

"Coupled with the proven Tor-sion-Aire Ride which has been improved for 1960, the Dodge cars achieve a new, higher level of roadability and handling ease. These engineering achievements through advanced engineering and new styling, we are offering the motoring public a rugged, fleet, powerful car," Patterson said.

One of the most significant single V-8 breakthroughs since the development of high compression engines is Dodge's new ram induction system, an exclusive feature used on the "D-500" Ram Induction engine, optional on Matador and Polara models.

Standard in the Matador series is the 361-cubic-inch Super Red Ram V-8 engine, equipped with a thrifty two-barrel carburetor. The Polara models feature a 383-cubic-inch Ram Fire V-8 with a four-barrel carburetor.

New rubber block and heavy coil spring engine mountings used on the 1960 engines achieve the largest reduction of engine vibration since Dodge first began using V-8's.

The most intensive rustproofing and anti-corrosion process ever used in the automobile industry has been adopted by Dodge for 1960. Heavier metal is used in the sills and underbody and 20 separate operations are involved in the body protection and finishing process. They include seven different dipping steps, coats of sealers, primers and "Lustre-Bond" super enamels.

New safety and convenience features designed for the discriminating motorist include:

Optional automatic swivel seats that swing out to meet you when the door is opened and then swing back to the straight-ahead position when the door is closed. When a passenger or driver is in the seat, he need only move his body to get out and the seat will swivel.

Two-position door checks that hold doors firmly in either a half-open or full-open position.

Optional "Child Guard" vacuum powered door locks operated from the instrument panel that provide one-switch locking or unlocking of all doors and the tailgate window on station wagons.

Front vent windows that can be pulled open easily with one hand.

Improved Total-Contact brakes.

Recessed control knobs on the instrument panel.

Quiet outside door latches that open with fingertip ease, and when locked, are free-wheeling so they

A wider glove compartment and large, centrally-located ash tray.

Transistorized radios that include a rear seat speaker in all sedans and hardtops. The standard radio has a front speaker only.

A simplified convertible top release that has a single central handle.

Dodge introduces two new station wagon body styles for 1960. The Polara station wagon features hardtop styling, with an uninterrupted viewing expanse from windshield to rear door pillar. The Matador features the same outstanding roof styling, and has a full center door pillar.

In keeping with the quality-look of the 122-inch wheelbase Dodges, interior fabrics are refined, durable and easy to clean, and are color-keyed to the interiors.

A luxurious option for the Matador hardtops and station wagons and all Polara models is an all-vinyl interior trim, while the standard interior trim is a rich nylon-wool body cloth combined with saddle-grained vinyl. Colors are blue, green, brown, gray, silver, turquoise and cactus.

Luxurious cloth carpetings, molded to the floors, are standard in all body styles in deep shades of blue, green, brown and gray.

A wide range of 15 exterior colors is offered in "Lustre-Bond" enamel.

LITTLEFIELD, LAMB CO., TEXAS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1959

NUMBER 20

1960 FORD GALAXIE—Town Victoria shares the all-new styling characteristics of Ford models, yet bears unmistakable resemblance to the Thunderbird profile. Galaxie is one inch lower than the 1959 model, but has more interior room for six than ever before. The Galaxie also is available as a two- or four-door sedan.

All Motor To Unveil 60 Ford Line Today

Ford represents a style originally created for the spontaneous enthusiasm of the first saw the car in 1959. Ford goes on display at Motor Co. in Littlefield. Ford Motor Company president and Ford general manager, said the new design was a bumper because "we increase passenger space and improve the handling ease and..."

After the car originally created for 1960 was well advanced styling and some designs Motor Company cars advanced than our 1959 model. This was called "the imagination immediately, and we began to explore the possibility of advancing it to the 1960 models. We were involving millions of dollars.

"When the engineers pointed out that a complete new car also would enable them to design additional quality features into the vehicle, company management gave the go-ahead.

"One of the most important features of the new Ford," Wright said, "is that it has been 'comfort-engineered'. There is substantially more hip room, shoulder room, leg room and head room in the 1960 Ford than there was in the 1959 model - which ranked far above its competitors in these vital comfort areas.

"With the new body design, the new frame, redesigned suspension and improved power train, the 1960 Ford rides better, handles better and performs better than any Ford in history," Wright said.

"Passenger comfort and convenience have been given particular attention in the design of the new Ford cars. New, swept-back windshield pillars have eliminated the troublesome "dog-leg" found in cars with the full-wrap windshield.

Yet, the new model Ford has 17 per cent more windshield area than last year's Ford, provides better visibility out over the hood, and has a windshield wiper pattern one-third greater than in 1959.

Ford's "posture-perfect" seats permit the driver and passengers to sit in comfort on foam padding and at what Ford research has proven to be the most comfortable seating angle.

Adding to the convenience of the new Ford line are such features as a trunk opening that is only 27 inches from the ground, and a foot-operated parking brake with instrument panel, and two-stage door checks.

The 1960 Ford line includes 15 different roof lines. At the low end of the line is the Fairlane series, which includes a two- and four-door sedan and a business Tudor. In the Fairlane 500 series are two models, a two- and four-door sedan. The popular Galaxie series, with its own Thunderbird-styled roof, includes a two- and four-door sedan, plus a four-door hardtop called the Town Victoria.

The Starliner, a new two-door hardtop entry in the Ford line, is one of two special models. The action-styled Starliner features a unique "fast-back" roof that sweeps gracefully back to blend with the Ford's soft-top convertible.

Better stability and improved handling have been accomplished partly through a wider tread, but mostly through the widening of the rear spring base. Two full inches have been added to the front tread width and nearly four inches to the rear tread.

Ford in 1960 will offer five different models of station wagons with a longer load space, greater passenger comfort and more versatility than ever before. Ranging from the two-door Ranch Wagon to the elegant four-door, nine-passenger Country Squire with simulated mahogany paneling, the Ford station wagon line has a model to meet any requirement.

The load space in the 1960 Ford station wagons is nearly a foot longer than last year, and the tail gate opens flush with the floor. With the front-facing third seat in position, there still is storage room ahead of the closed tail gate. The tail and lift gates can be opened easily with one hand.

All standard Ford engines - both "six" and V-8 - are designed to operate on regular grade gasoline, which saves a dollar a tank full. Ford offers four modern, short-stroke engines for 1960, all of which combine efficiency, durability and economy with the added customer savings resulting from quick and easy service. The full-flow oil filter, standard equipment on all Ford engines, permits Ford to recommend an oil change only every 4,000 miles. A new cross-flow radiator, which directs the coolant horizontally, provides improved cooling.

Illustrating Ford's "quality design" program are such parts as the extended life aluminum-coated muffler that utilizes aluminum-coated walls and heads, a double-thick inner casing and asbestos insulation to slow the condensation rate, reduce corrosion and lengthen muffler life. Mufflers of a new cylindrical shape are located behind the rear wheels on the 1960 Fords.

For longer battery life, Ford in 1960 has a standard battery with 66 plates, instead of the usual 54.

Ford's Diamond Lustre finish, a super-enamel that doesn't need waxing, is available in a wide selection of solid and two-tone exterior colors, color-keyed to match the interior upholstery trim.

Ford's safety concept of "protecting the passenger" against injury includes as standard features the extra-rugged wide - contoured frame with flared side rails, safety door locks, lifeguard steering wheel and new truck-size brakes that have 25 per cent more braking surface than last year.

Safety seat belts, padded instrument panel and padded sun visors are available as optional equipment.

on research to find new and expanded uses for farm products.

Surpluses Over Emphasized

Both of the Senators feel that too much blame is placed on "mounting surpluses" as the cause of every farm ill. "Surpluses are a relatively small part of total farm output," they said, "representing only five to eight per cent of annual production."

This compares, Sen. Magnuson pointed out, with a 100 per cent increase in egg and poultry production, a 200 per cent increase in oilseed production and a 47 per cent increase in corn since 1939.

Sen. Jackson maintains that "our ability to produce more food and fiber than we consume should be considered a blessing rather than a curse." The problem he added, is to find sensible ways to utilize our God-Given abundance.

Both Senators agree that research into the development of new markets for our agricultural abundance "nowhere nearly matches our production gains." Only a small amount, compared with the total farm program costs, goes for research to develop additional markets, they said.

A two-price program, when coupled with expanded research, is worth trying, the Senators told us, MARINE PVT. Ben L. Northam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie B. Davis of Route 1, Box 108, Littlefield is scheduled to finish four weeks of individual combat training Oct. 16 at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. The course includes the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

THIS WEEK In Washington

with CLINTON DAVIDSON

A full study of the two-price plan, combined with revitalized research, can open new and more profitable large - scale markets for farmers, in the opinion of the Pacific Northwest.

Too little is being done under present farm programs to help either the farmer or the consumer, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, both of Washington State, told us in an interview on farm problems.

The consumer - taxpayer, they agreed, today carries a double burden. His tax bill includes subsidy payments intended to hold down production as well as more than $1 million a day in grain storage charges on excess production.

Meanwhile, they said, farm income continues to decline and farmers' costs continue to climb.

Communism Not Working Like Theory Says It Will

Ask anyone to name the system of government existing in the Soviet Union and communism will be your answer. And, of course, it's the right answer. Property of every kind is owned communally, and a government of unlimited powers dictates how it is to be shared and used.

Even so, Soviet communism, current style, is considerably different in a number of important ways than was Soviet communism 1920-style. The avowed goal of the revolutionary leaders was expressed succinctly in the famous phrase: "From each according to his ability; to each according to his need." This simply meant that incomes and living standards were to be the same for all, regardless of the kind, quantity or quality of the work performed and that a truly classless society was to be created. That goal was fairly well approximated in communism's early days.

But things have changed—as Edward K. Faltermayer tells in a lengthy Wall Street Journal feature article, datelined Stalingrad.

Example: "In the clanging machine shop at Petrov Petroleum Refining Works, 29-year-old Konstantin Blinkov sweats over his lathe in a feverish effort to double his daily production quota of rotors for small centrifugal pumps.

"Mr. Blinkov's incentive is far from ideological. Simply put, it's plain hard cash, plus a desire for self-betterment. If he consistently doubles his quota, his monthly take-home pay will reach 1,500 rubles (equal to about $150) instead of his regular wages of 850 rubles." Comrade Blinkov also is going to a technical school at night, to learn skills which will qualify him for a better-paid work.

Mr. Faltermayer's point is that the Soviets are using the much-reviled capitalist incentive—namely, money—to get more production out of their labor force. And the money incentive is not confined to the workers. It is dangled in front of the factory directors, artists, scientists and so on.

This development, inevitably, has meant the end of the classless society. Luxury and privilege have appeared. "In fact," Mr. Faltermayer says, "that supposedly Western badge of authority and prestige—the status symbol—is probably more important in Russia than it is in the U. S." The top people in Russia are given country houses, chauffeur-driven limousines, and other material boons which are hopelessly beyond the reach of the masses.

To quote him again, "The chasm between the top and bottom levels of Soviet society leaves the great mass at the bottom still desperately poor to American standards." The extremes are indicated by the fact that a collective farmer makes something like $400 a year, while a leading scientist makes $2,000 a month. Inasmuch as the Russian top income tax rate is only 13 per cent, the best-paid people are able to keep most of their incomes.

Another capitalist problem seems to have arisen in the Soviet Union—a government order has been issued demanding the "Abolition of High Living on the Expense Account."

Lip service is still paid to the principle of social equality in Russia, but that's about the size of it. The facts and the theory have little in common nowadays.

Fact And Opinion

Editor Don Robinson of The American Press observes: "Having kept up fairly well with the so-called progress of our educational system in small-town America, as reported in country newspapers, I am becoming increasingly convinced that all the fancy school buildings, the demands for more and more extra curricula facilities, the unimaginative requirements for teachers, and the insistence upon higher education for all nit-wits, has resulted in little progress . . . In my opinion, a group of fifteen or twenty children, gathered together in a small building for the sole purpose of learning, and taught by a teacher who is more concerned with their welfare than her own, would still get a much finer education than is available in our present million-dollar monuments to learning."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

By VERN SANFORD Texas Press Association AUSTIN — This time three years ago nearly every newspaper in the state was writing about "the water problem." It was a discouraging time. Texas had come through a scorching, dusty summer that forced many farmers to leave their stunted crops in the fields and hunt work in town. Ranchers were equally hard hit. In many cases, due to lack of feed, they sold their breeding cattle, lost their land or went heavily in debt. It was the climax of the most widespread drought ever recorded in this region. Average rain-fall for the year dwindled to 16.2 inches, second lowest figure since 1888. Office seekers in the campaign year of 1956 had a good deal to say about how hard they would work to "solve the water problem." Many did work hard. But three years later the water problem is still far from "solved." By the time the Legislature met in 1957, however, these measures: (1) Set up the Texas Water Development Board with a $200,000 fund to make loans to help pay for local water projects. (2) Established a planning division in the State Water Board to do research on water needs, but without authority to recommend appropriation was set up for the year. Instead of the $1,200,000 recommended by the governor, only $200,000 was appropriated. The Legislature inched up the Water Board budget by $200,000. But the $2,037,000 appropriation was $800,000 less than requested by the governor. As yet, the Water Development Board has made no loans for construction. Engineers in the State Water Board's planning division are working on a statewide report due in 1963, and a federal commission is also making a study. But legislators are skittish about having anything that might be called a definite state plan for fear it will set sectional jealousies aflame. So dear is water to most Texans' hearts that almost any move by anyone to do anything with some of it is sure to be interpreted by a neighbor as "grabbing."

HAPPY HOME LIFE

before electricity became cheap and plentiful It's been many a moon since a housewife was decked out like this. Now, you put low-price electricity to work on jobs like these—and dozens more. Day and night, in every room in your house, electricity is at your command—ready to make your life more comfortable and enjoyable. Yet electricity works for a few nickels a day!

recommended by the governor. (3) Gave the Water Board authority to contract for water storage space in federal reservoirs, with legislative approval. Last two of these were passed only after Governor Daniel resubmitted them at a special session. And then they almost went under when a city-farm fight developed on the side issue of whether farmers should be able to dam up small lakes and use them for irrigation. This year the Legislature inched up the Water Board budget by $200,000. But the $2,037,000 appropriation was $800,000 less than requested by the governor. As yet, the Water Development Board has made no loans for construction. Engineers in the State Water Board's planning division are working on a statewide report due in 1963, and a federal commission is also making a study. But legislators are skittish about having anything that might be called a definite state plan for fear it will set sectional jealousies aflame. So dear is water to most Texans' hearts that almost any move by anyone to do anything with some of it is sure to be interpreted by a neighbor as "grabbing."

Gundalupe - Blanco River Authority and the City of San Antonio had a long, bitter hassle over the Canyon Dam project. Right now, the biggest fight is on the Trinity. After months of bickering, the City of Houston and the Trinity River Authority agreed to cooperate in building a dam at Livingston. Now the San Jacinto River Authority is protesting. SJRA officials are telling Houston people that Trinity water is of "poor quality" and that San Jacinto water could be developed at much lower cost. Amid it all, engineers and business analysts have some sobering reminders: (1) Drought of the 1950's cost Texans $3,000,000. (2) Another drought is coming and when it does, population will be greater and water needs higher. (3) Water to carry the state through a drought can only be stored up in rainy years, and Speaking to a school audience, the governor dwelt on "the need and raised for the accident-prone. For another forward step in providing better schools, including increased salaries for teachers. He said he hoped the Legislature would be ready to do something about it early next year. In another speech, he called attention to the Legislature's failure this year to pass laws dealing with crime prevention, traffic safety, narcotics and dormant funds. Some observers feel that if the governor calls a special session and the Legislature fails to take care of all these items — which would be a batch of tough legislation—the governor would feel compelled to file for re-election on Feb. 1 in order to see things through. NO THANKS — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has filed a brief with the Atomic Energy Commission giving Texas' reasons for not wanting atomic waste dumped in the Gulf of Mexico. Industrial Waste Disposal Corporation of Houston is seeking an AEC permit to dump radioactive waste material in concrete lined barrels into 6,000 feet of water 200 miles south of Galveston. Texas brief expresses fears that the barrels might come apart allowing the materials to be washed ashore by the tides. It says that Texas will remain opposed to the plan "until clear, convincing and positive proof is produced to show that such operation may be conducted with absolute safety to persons using the beaches and waters of the Gulf for any purpose."

Sandhills Philosopher Better Rocket Aim Needed Before Shooting Starts

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has rockets on his mind, his letter this week reveals. Dear editor: For a long time now, instead of wasting my time staring off into space in between bites when I'm fasting, I've been thinking about guided missiles and rockets in the world today, and the more I fish and think, the more I'm convinced the world ought to either go forward with its rocket program a lot faster or abandon it altogether. Now I don't know anymore about the Russian rocket program than Washington does, all the Russians tell us about their successful hits, which have been pretty good, but I do know that the United States rocket people seem to be having a little trouble. Meet the New-size Ford—the Falcon! Here's a car with plenty of room for six big adults and all their luggage. It's sized to handle and park like a "small" car . . . powered to pass and climb like a "big" car . . . and built like no other car for savings! It gives you up to 30 miles per gallon on regular gas. Aluminum mufflers normally last twice as long as ordinary kinds. A Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes. Even insurance can cost you less! And this Falcon is the world's most experienced new car. It was driven over every mile of numbered Federal Highway in EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.—a grueling demonstration climaxing Ford's 3 years of development and testing. The Falcon has the features that American car buyers expect. Its gearshift is on the steering column—not on the floor. Its engine is located up front for greater stability and safety. Best news of all is the Falcon's low, low price. See it at your Ford Dealer's . . . and see the difference!

THIS FOUR-DOOR hardtop in the Phoenix series is one of the 20 low-price Dodge Dart models offered for 1960. This Dodge Dart, which is styled in classic lines, features its own distinctive exterior and interior design.

Garland Motor To Show New Dodge Dart Friday

The 1960 Dodge Dart, the first completely new full line of automobiles to enter the low-priced field since 1928, makes its debut Friday at Garland Motors in Littlefield.

The smaller Dodge Dart, designed to fit the family pocketbook as well as the family garage, will be offered in 20 sedan, station wagon, hardtop and convertible models.

"These economy cars are designed to compete in price and size, series for series, with the automobile industry's low-priced 'big three'," said M. C. Patterson, Dodge general manager. "The Dodge Dart makes it the 'big four' now."

The 1960 models will be available in three series - the lowest-priced Seneca, the Pioneer and the top-series Phoenix.

The roomy Dodge Dart, which is styled in classic lines, features its own distinctive interior and exterior.

"A completely new, advanced design six-cylinder engine - in-he need only move his body to get out and the seat will swivel. Two-position door checks that hold doors firmly either in a half-open or full-open position.

Unique, easy-to-operate aircraft type interior door handles that are built into the new long front armrest of the Phoenix and Pioneer and into the conventional armrest of the Seneca.

Optional "Child Guard" vacuum-powered door locks that operate from an instrument panel switch to provide one-switch locking or unlocking of all doors and tailgate window on wagons.

Front vent windows that pull open easily with one hand. Quiet outside door latches that open with fingertip ease, and when locked, are free-wheeling so they can't be damaged by pulling on the handle.

Particular attention was paid to the driver in designing and engineering the Dodge Dart.

The entire interior of every model has been daringly designed to keynote this important area - the driver's side of the front seat in most models is higher than the remainder of the seat back.

This new seat design provides added support for the driver and introduces a "six-passenger" look to further point up the large, airy interior.

A foot-operated parking brake is located under the left side of the instrument panel.

The transmission push buttons are safely located on the instrument panel to the left of the driver and the push-button heater and air-conditioning controls are Practically all business transactions of every kind depend upon the services of agents of one kind or another. Your insurance man is an agent and so is the man who sells your real estate or delivers your groceries, or drives your bus. These are just a few examples and each under the law of agency is somewhat different.

But they have in common the idea that, in some way or another, they represent or act for placed at the same height to the right of the driver.

The Seneca and Pioneer station wagons - designed with today's women and families in mind - are tailored with exciting new accessories:

A sleek, chrome, contour luggage rack, dealer installed, that holds up to 25 square feet of roof top cargo.

Chrome assist handles that facilitate getting in and out of the rear-facing third seat in the nine-passenger wagons.

someone else. The person or corporation for which they act is known as the principal.

Generally speaking, there are two broad classes of agents - special agents and general agents. For example, suppose you wish to sell your house and you engage a realtor to handle it for you. He is a special agent who represents you in this transaction alone.

On the other hand, if you were to be absent from the city for a long period of time and have business affairs to be cared for, you might grant a power of attorney to a close associate to act in your place as fully as if you were present.

He would be your general agent and could use his own judgment and discretion in conducting your affairs without consulting you as to what should be done with any old or new problems that might arise.

However, the principal is responsible for the conduct of his agent, either general or special. If the agent is in the process of doing what he has been hired to do. Thus, if the agent is acting within his "scope of authority," and someone is injured through the agent's negligence, the principal is liable.

Very often difficult legal questions arise as to whether the conduct of the agent was within the "scope of his authority," and thus binding upon the principal. For example, suppose the grocer's delivery boy while enroute to a customer's home, and despite the grocer's instructions to stick to business while on deliveries, decided to go a mile or so out of his way to see his girl about a date that night. He drives through a stop sign and hits a pedestrian. Is the grocer responsible for this?

Though this is one of the areas of the law that can be very complex, at the same time it is one of the areas of the law where fairness, common sense, and common understanding are most important.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform - not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)
