Flood Forces Three Local Families From Their Homes During Past Week

Three families living on West Sixth Street, across from City Park, had to be evacuated from their homes last week, following the tornadic rains, which made a lake of the park and overflowed the street into their home. The Red Cross assisted two families in vacating their flooded home and found them new places of residence.

Mrs. Mina Russell and her five children, including a married daughter who is the mother of an infant baby were first evacuated. Mrs. Leone Roberts and her four children were moved out shortly after. A third family, living in an adjacent house, also moved out with the assistance of friends.

Waters also overflowed up into the homes of some residents on S. Westside Avenue, across from the park. Loy Dalton and Mrs. Thurman Simms, home owners across from the park, decided to stay in their homes, which were not completely inundated, but furniture stered in the basement of the Dalton home, during in-progress remodeling, was badly damaged.

The City kept two powerful irrigation pumps going day and night from Friday through Tuesday, pumping water out of the lake, which in turn drained the two flooded streets, but the City Engineer refused to even enter guess as to the amount of water that was moved. Traffic was moving normally over both streets Wednesday and the flooded homes and yards were drying out.

The extra pumps were necessary when the pump at the park became submerged and useless due to the excessive lake depth formed in the park. It was able to be put back into operation, yesterday afternoon.

FROM THE GRANDSTAND

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

You may not hear much about the new big state intercollegiate conference now that it is organized, but you really ought to keep an eye on it.

For the seven small Texas universities and colleges who banded to form it are—intentionally or not—trying a novel experiment.

These schools are trying to promote an athletic program for their students and they're not depending on high powered athletics to support it.

Just one of the seven schools—Texas Lutheran—is going to field a football team next season. Basketball, most likely, will be the main sport, but competition will be offered in golf, track, baseball and tennis.

Football normally foots the bill for all sports at most institutions, with now and then basketball paying its way. But the other sports have never been noted for drawing large crowds.

The idea of the new conference is to provide an organized athletic schedule between the member schools.

So, it is very likely that only students at the seven schools will be able to tell you much about the new conference when it gets into operation this fall.

Newspapers don't devote too much space to minor sports, for the simple reason they don't have the space.

But the founding fathers of the new conference apparently don't care about too much publicity for their league and aren't too concerned that they won't have thousands flocking to their campuses each week-end to witness the contests.

A lot of schools are very much interested in this.

No doubt the seven would like to draw well at the sports they will offer, but apparently they will be more interested in keeping their own students interested in the teams.

And if they can do this, they deserve a hearty round of applause.

You can hear these days about giving sports back to the kids on the campus.

The new big State Conference—Texas Lutheran, Southwestern Daniel Baker, St. Mary's (San Antonio), East Texas Baptist, St. Edward's (Austin), and Texas Wesleyan (Fort Worth) is strictly for them.

WEST TEXAS PRODUCES MORE OIL THAN ENTIRE COUNTRY OF RUSSIA

Producer of more oil than world-disturbing Russia West Texas has an international importance ranking with the oil producing areas of the troubled Middle East. This was pointed out in "West Texas Today," West Texas Chamber of Commerce publication, which has dedicated its May issue to this region's oil industry. "According to best available statistics, even the giant domain of Soviet Russia has petroleum production which is only about two-third the output of the countries in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce region," wrote Charles E. Simons, Dallas, General Manager, Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. "Oil is not only vital to West Texans but West Texas oil is vital to the nation today," the article said. "A realization of the important role that their oil is playing in the affairs of this country, is causing many West Texans, not necessarily oil men, to become alert to state, national, and international problems which threaten to slow down the search for oil and the most efficient development of West Texas' natural resources." Based on studies of counties roughly approximating Texas Railroad Commission districts 7B, 7C, 8, 9, 10, Simons wrote that the West Texas counties accounted for 48.4 per cent of Texas' 1950 oil production of more than 817 million barrels. "This was one-fifth the total domestic crude oil production of the United States, a nation that now looks to oil and gas for more than 56 per cent of all its energy requirements," Simons said. Oil and gas production has been recorded in 84 of the Chamber's 132-county area, the article said. Calling oil "West Texas' Main-spring," Simons' article pointed to the economic benefits coming from the search for and production of petroleum. He cited statistics showing that more than 21 million acres of undeveloped territory were under lease to major companies in 1949. Roughly two-third of all the wildcat wells drilled in 1950 and 1951 in Texas are in the Western part of the state, he said. Last year an average of 1,900 rigs a month were operating in West Texas. Crude oil production meant more than $959 million to West Texas economy during 1950. "West Texas' economic welfare is not only closely knit with the petroleum developments of the region, but the quality of government services and educational facilities at every level show the healthy influence of oil and gas tax payments," Simons wrote. He pointed out that the production tax on West Texas oil alone during 1950 was approximately $45 million.

KITCHEN MEMO BY JEAN CLARKE

YUMMY is the word for Poppy Seed Cheesecake! Crush 1 1/2 cups zwieback crumbs. Cream 1 1/2 lbs. butter, 2 tbs. sugar, blend into crumbs. Grease sides and bottom of 9" spring form pan. Press crumbs onto bottom and sides saving 3 tbs. crumbs. Mix 2 tbs. flour 1/2 tsp. salt 1/2 cup sugar, 2 1/2 tbs. poppy seeds. Cream 5 1/2 pgs. cream cheese (room temp.), beat in sugar mixture. Add 4 beaten egg yolks, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream. Fold in 4 stiffly beaten egg whites. Top with remaining crumbs. Bake in gas oven at low heat (325°F.) 1 hr. Turn off gas, open oven door, let cake stand to cool at back of oven.

The sediment which inevitably collects from water passing through pipes into the water heater should be drained periodically through the convenient outlet provided for that purpose on all automatic gas water heaters.

Onion Zip: 1 tsp. grated onion to 1 qt. casserole dish of macaroni and cheese. Lifts the flavor.

For easier asparagus cooking: Boil in frying pan over low flame. To drain, hold pan cover over the top and tip liquid into bowl.

Overloading the automatic gas dryer with too many wet clothes is as bad as overloading your automatic washer. The clothes just don't dry properly. Consult your owner's guide for hints on weight of dryer load.

When glass cooking pans become clouded from the minerals in water, remove film by adding 2 tbs. vinegar to about one qt. water, boil over high flame for a few minutes.

Farm Wage Rates Are Explained

DALLAS, May 22—Wage rates for farm workers may go up to 95 cents an hour or the equivalent to that amount at piece rates without becoming the concern of the Wage Stabilization Board. That is the gist of General Wage Regulation 11 which the Wage Stabilization Board in Washington unanimously adopted last week, it was said today by William J. Rogers, regional director of the Wage-Hour Division of the U. S. Department of Labor here. Wage-Hour offices of the Labor Department all over the country have been designated as field contact offices for the National Wage Stabilization Board. Under Regulation 11, farm wage rates below 95 cents an hour or the piece rates paid for farm operations may be increased to 95 cents an hour or the equivalent monetary wage without approval of the board. However, in those instances in which wage rates paid during the base period of 1950 were greater than 95 cents or the equivalent an hour they can be increased only 10 per cent without Board approval. The base rate is the wage rate paid during the applicable crop season of 1950. For example, if cotton is picked during September on a particular farm, then wages paid in September 1950 would be the base for any increases above 95 cents an hour. Increases may also be given to regular farm workers paid by the month. Where only a cash wage is paid, the wage can be $225 a month. Where the year-round use of a house is given along with the usual incidentals, $195 a month can be paid. Where room and board is furnished, $175 a month is permissible. Where workers limited to a 10 per cent increase without approval of the Wage Stabilization Board. Questions regarding increases beyond these standards should be raised with the local Wage-Hour offices of the U. S. Department of Labor.

"MICKY" AND HIS GANG

BEEF AU GRATIN — FRENCH & FAMOUS

Leftover beef takes on real glamour when prepared the way Louis Diet, famous Ritz Hotel chef, suggests in his most recent cook book, "Sauces—French & Famous" (Rinehart & Co. New York, $2.50).

BEEF AU GRATIN

2 tablespoons butter
 3 medium onions, chopped
 1 tablespoon flour
 1 cup stock or beef bouillon
 1/2 cup canned tomatoes or tomato juice
 Salt and pepper
 2 teaspoons vinegar
 2 or 3 sour pickles, sliced
 1 teaspoon chopped parsley
 1 pound leftover cooked beef, cut in slices
 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs

Melt butter in saucepan, add onions and cook slowly until golden. Add flour and cook a few minutes longer. Add stock and tomatoes, salt and pepper and cook, stirring until it comes to a boil. Continue cooking slowly 20 to 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add vinegar, sliced pickles and parsley. Do not let boil after adding pickles. (For a sharper sauce, add 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard mixed with 2 teaspoons vinegar or 1 teaspoon grated horseradish.) Arrange slices of meat in a heat-proof serving dish. Pour sauce over meat and keep hot until ready to serve. Then sprinkle with bread crumbs and brown in a hot oven or under broiler. Do not let sauce boil. Serves four or five.

Pep Twins

her twin brother, Robert, as well as all other students of the class. The other pair of twins, brothers, are Donald and Ronald Owen, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Owen. Others graduating are: Elroy Simmacher, Martha Decker, James Glumpler, Rheinart Albus and Jo Ann Davis.

Jo Ann Davis was named salutatorian of the class and gave the girls the two top-ranking spots on the program.
At the Commencement exercises in the High School Tuesday night, District Judge E. A. Billie and himself a former school teacher and superintendent, delivered the Commencement Address.

The program also included the presentation of diplomas by Superintendent H. H. Deek; Gomeray Allen of Anton music instructor, played the professional and recessional marches and was at the piano for community singing. Elroy Simmacher gave the class poem "Psalm of Life." Donald Owen gave the class history; James Glumpler revealed the class will, Rev. Ft. Kaminsky gave the invocation and Rev. Murphy the benediction.

On the Sunday preceding graduation, the class attended St. Phillips Church at Pep, in a body and there received Holy Communion, Rev. Father Kaminsky officiating.
The school colors, maroon and white were carried out in decorations. The class motto is, "If we never try, we shall never succeed."

The class will not forego, only postpone their graduation class trip. They have voted to attend the Cheyenne (Wyoming) Frontier Days Wild West Show and Rodeo, biggest show of its kind in the world, which is scheduled in August and from there will travel on to Yellowstone National Park before returning home.

Local Creamery

creamery with their further studies and also appreciation for the splendid work being done here, by W. W. Hall, Vocational Agriculture teacher in the local school.

Mr. Peterson as host, introduced Mr. Hall to be toastmaster, who immediately called on Jackie Trotter of his class and FFA member to make a response to Mr. Peterson's talk.

Musical numbers were then introduced, which included three vocal numbers by a quartette composed of Tommy Meers, John Ivy, Elwood Smith and Mike Stephens, E. E. Monkres, with Roden-Smith Drug Store here and an amateur musician of no mean merit, then played several numbers on stringed instruments and featured two numbers, playing simultaneously both the guitar and mouth organ.

In turn Mr. Hall then introduced Doyle Gibson, M. C. Newton, Jackie Price, Boyd Mears, Jim Pittman and Chas. Scott, all members of the FFA group, who each gave a short talk, on various phases of their studies as related to the dairy industry.

But the highlight of the program, after Mr. Hall introduced the invited speaker for the evening, Prof. L. V. Harmon of the Dairy Department of Texas Tech to whom Mr. Hall paid tribute in his introduction with the bestowed title of "The Dairy Man in the Entire State of Texas."

Mr. Harmon's talk was outstanding in many ways. He titled his remarks "A Philosophy for Good Citizenship," which he broke up into five parts—Molds Will Die—Honesty—Ultimate Goal—Be Proud of Your Country—Ambition. And with each of these he was able to portray to those who heard him, the link which their studies and the pursuit of them, welds with not only these future lives, but their citizenship and the part they can and will play as world citizens—in making our country continue to be—the land of the highest living standard in the entire world.

And in closing he added, that there is room, much room for the tremendous expansion of the Dairy Industry in Texas, where we now import thousands of gallons of milk from other states. "Better Butterfat—More Dairy Cows," he added as the needs.

Other present at the banquet and who spoke briefly were Earl Collins, of Bell Ice Cream company, Lubbock, Joe McIlhenny, president McIlhenny Creameries, Lubbock; E. L. Gohlke, long-time high rank local farmer and dairy producer, Herschel Tapley, Franklin Reynolds and John Price.

The program followed the serving of a tasty banquet supper, which included an individual bottle of Wayne's Milk and dessert of portions of ice cream, which was in a quantity of plate-size dimensions, a quart or more to a serving, served with angel food cake, that brought a roar of acclaim, from half a hundred ten age boys.

The banquet was entirely informal, but a huge success. It was so obviously appreciated by both the boys and their host—that a hint, almost a promise came as the host thanked his guests for attending—a hint that the banquet in keeping his bill very much alive, and both Houses of the legislature are still on duty, with no immediate signs of adjournment at half pay.

Governor Shivers said in Austin Tuesday, that the 1951 vote on the bill, forces a decision by the legislature as to whether counties or the state is to have supervision of rural road work, which, is the real issue in the legislative controversy.

If the Sewell proposal is adopted in the controversial bill, Governor Shivers may veto it, but has not announced his decision. There have been some reports and indications that he might do so. He apparently favors a Highway building program, directed by the State Highway Department, while Sewell and his supporters want the authority vested in the counties.

gainers and any and all insecticide dealers.

Many innovations and new insecticides, as well as method and timing of application, have been developed even in the past year and farmers will be able to get a first hand picture of these and will also be able to plan their insecticide campaign and arrange for their supplies of "killer," at once, just as there is almost certain to be a shortage of cotton acreage on the Plains this year, so, also, is there almost the certainty of high demand and possibly shortage of insecticides, unless they are ordered early.

or walking on only two legs, untying a handkerchief from his hind legs with his teeth, waving the American flag with his jaws and posing in a statuesque pose of stillness, in a replica of the famous old painting "The End of the Trail," are only a few of the stunts which this animal can and will perform nightly, before the crowds in the grandstand.

Four Trained Horses
Accompanying "Cimarron," are four other highly trained horses, who will be featured in precision drills, without reins or visible guidance and known throughout Rodeoland as "the famed Liberty Horses" from Wintins.

And another announcement came from Jaycee Rodeo headquarters this week, when signed contracts for a two-day appearance here, on Thursday and Friday nights of the rodeo of the famed "Light Crust Doughboys" musical organization and dance orchestra. It is possible that their engagement can be stretched into the third day, but there will be dancing and good music all three nights—and the big Coca Cola warehouse across from the Fair grounds will be for those days a highly lighted, beautifully decorated ballroom.

Announcement came from one of the chairmen of the committees that Jaycees without whiskers would be fined $20.00 and that any man without whiskers will have to buy a whisker license at a cost of $2.00.

The program is rapidly taking shape and this week the Jayceettes completed work on the big souvenir ad program and again turned it over to the Lamb County Leader, who have again been selected to do the big printing job on the several thousand programs.

For those not familiar with the history of "the Light Crust Doughboys," mentioned above, we might add that they are the same musical organization organized by W. Lee O'Daniel back in 1930.

In 1936 the Doughboys toured with W. Lee "Pappy" O'Daniel when he campaigned for Governor of the State of Texas.

In 1933 the Doughboys appeared at the World's Fair in Chicago and each year they appear as the top Western and Folk Music Group at the Texas State Fair in Dallas.

In 1936 the Light Crust Doughboys were selected as the first western group to appear in two movies with Gene Autry, which inaugurated the series of "western-musical" movies now so familiar.

The personnel of the musical group has included such famous western artists as Leon McAluliffe, Bert Dodson and John "Knocky" Parker. The present Doughboys are Red Kidwell, bass; Carroll Hubbard, fiddle and Paul Blunt, steel guitar.

as possible, especially those who are mothers, wives or daughters of men who have served in the Armed Forces."

The annual sale of Buddy Poppies provides Post 4859 with the funds needed to carry on its welfare and relief work in the next twelve months. The proceeds are devoted exclusively to welfare and rehabilitation activities.

"Everybody who works on this campaign is making a patriotic contribution to the cause of Veteran welfare," Drerup emphasized. "None of the money that the public contributes will be spent for campaign administrative purposes. We are engaged in this work of assisting the disabled and needy veterans of our Armed Forces because we are pledged to the principle that says 'honor the dead by helping the living.'"

The drive in Littlefield this year will be assisted by the Gold Star Mothers with the help of a few wives of local VFW members. Several VFW wives have already signed up to help and others who wish to offer their services are urged to contact Drerup or Jimmie Chapman, drive chairman.

"The women who help us during this drive will always have the thanks of the disabled veterans, as well as every member of the local post," Chapman said.

GERMAN WURST

FRANKFURT, Germany —(AP)—German meat dealers are putting everything they've got into their wurst these days. They want to get back on the American market with old-time specialties like German-made bratwurst, blutwurst, bockwurst and frankfurters.

Time was when hungry Americans could sit down to a big plate of sauerkraut decked over with fat, juicy sausages direct from Germany. But now the U. S. Department of Agriculture is closely studying Germany's food and meat laws for sanitation, health and quality. When they finish a committee of Allied High Commission men and West German government representatives will inspect about 10 per cent of Germany's food processing plants.

If the report is favorable, American's sausage lovers can start tucking their napkins under their chins.

Wilbur Shaw thinks so much of this new Chrysler, he has selected it as Pace Car for the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

WILBUR SHAW, AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS DRIVER, DRIVES NEW 1951 CHRYSLER—REPORTS TO YOU ON REVOLUTIONARY FIREPOWER ENGINE AND HYDRAGUIDE POWER STEERING

Here are Wilbur Shaw's reactions—in his own words—as taken down by a recording machine in the car:

"The '51 Chrysler has it! With this new engine and power steering, the first on any U.S. car, it's a whole of an automobile.

"I'm completely bowled over by the ease of steering!

"This steering combined with the automatic transmission . . . is the nearest thing to an automatic pilot for a car I can possibly imagine.

"This engine . . . I can't get over the amount of power and snap in this engine . . . it's incredible!

"I drove 111 miles with the feeling I had expended no more effort than in driving around the block.

"When Mrs. Shaw drove, her comments just about squared with mine. Here's what she thinks of the 1951 Chrysler . . ."

Mrs. Shaw: "At first I could hardly believe the ease with which I could turn the wheel. That's important . . . especially in the summertime.

"Often after I have parked a car in the average parking space, I feel I should taxi home, shower and get dressed again. But with Hydraguide Power Steering I parked it with one hand. It practically drives itself."

Wilbur Shaw: "It's hard to describe this new Chrysler without going off the deep end . . . it has it in every department.

"In fact, I think so much of this car, I've selected it as Pace Car of the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race!" (Mr. Shaw's comments are reprinted through the courtesy of Popular Science Magazine.)

One of Pilots Who Made Bombing Raid On Japan Will Return To Service

One of the pilots who made the first bombing raid on Japan under General James Doolittle in April, 1942, has gone back into uniform. Major Robert Lowell Hite, an Air Force reservist was recently recalled to active duty at Vance Air Force Base, Enid, Oklahoma. At the present time he is on temporary duty at Craig AFB, Alabama, but will return to his home base in June. An assistant manager of a local hotel in civilian life, Major Hite spent almost three and half years as a prisoner of the Japanese after he was forced to parachute from a B-25 into occupied China in 1942.

President Truman has nominated Joe Warren Sheehy (above) of Tyler, Texas as federal judge for the eastern district of Texas. He was nominated on the recommendation of Senator Lyndon Johnson. Sheehy, 40, will succeed Randolph Bryant of Sherman. He has been an attorney at Tyler since 1935. He is married and the father of two sons, 10 and 4 (AP Wirephoto).

For the Major, this was a war time trip that wasn't necessary at least on a required basis. Shortly before 16 B-25s and their volunteer crews were put aboard the aircraft carrier Hornet at San Francisco for an undisclosed mission. Major Hite found the engines of his plane required overhauling, so the plane and the major's crew were scratched from the mission. But this didn't stop him. He talked his way on to the crew of Lt. Bill Farrow as co-pilot and sailed aboard the Hornet.

During the afternoon of April 2 the first day out from shore, General Doolittle called the B-25 crews together and told them for the first time that their mission was to bomb Japan. At that time no enemy had ever attacked the islands and the United States wanted to show the Japanese that they were not beyond our reach.

Every day after the announcement by General Doolittle the crews were briefed on the details of the mission, scheduled for the late afternoon of April 19. The crews were to fly to Japan under cover of darkness, drop their bombs and continue to their destinations in China, landing on the morning of April 20. But it didn't work out that way.

In the early hours of April 18, the task force, of which the Hornet was a part, spotted what was thought to be an enemy weather observation ship.

The destroyers in the task force immediately ran it down and sank it.

Surprise had been one of the key factors of the mission. If the sunken ship had sent a message to Japan, the islands would be alerted and the task force itself might be in danger from an attack. So the schedule was moved up. The first B-25, carrying General Doolittle, roared down decks of the carrier at 8:20 a. m. and the last of the 16 planes with Major Hite and the other four men of the crew aboard left the Hornet an hour later. At that time the carrier was about 800 miles west of Japan.

Considering everything, the trip to the target was uneventful. Once they ducked into a cloud to lose two enemy fighters, but Major Hite could tell it wasn't going to be a "milk run" as they neared the target—some oil storage tanks at Nagoya, 200 miles southwest of Tokyo. Another B-25 had just finished bombing another target in the Nagoya area and now the Japanese defense were alerted and waiting for another attack.

The anti-aircraft fire was heavy and close as the plane went in at 500 feet, but it plowed through the flak and on the bomb run. Finally, about 1:30 p. m. the bombardier, Sergeant Jake DeShader, called "Bombs Away" and the pilot banked the plane away from the target. None of the crew was injured and the only damage to the plane was a hole in the glass nose.

According to plans, Major Hite's crew was to fly to a point 150 miles inside the coast of China for refueling. But bad weather and failure of plans to materialize, left the crew with only one choice—to fly south into China, hoping giving only name, rank and serial number, the enemy tried to bribe him with food and cigarettes. When this failed they put before a complete list of all the crews that had flown the mission.

"Naturally," the major says, "I was surprised that they had the list, but I still said nothing. Then they asked me what ho-r-net I knew. They wanted to know if I knew General Doolittle and I said no. "Back to solitary confinement I went."

The next day the prisoners were flown to Tokyo where they were questioned for eight weeks, and then they were moved to the famous Bridgehouse hotel in Shanghai. The servants quarters and garages of the hotel had been converted into a prison.

Here they were joined by three other men who had made the bombing raid. Lt. Dean Hallmark and two men of his crew had been captured after crashing in the China sea. The other two men of Hallmark's crew were killed in the crash.

And it was while they were in this prison that their hopes for living out their imprisonment were almost snuffed out. The eight prisoners were court martialed August 25, 1942 without benefit of a defending attorney or any of the rights that Americans accept as a matter of course. The courts martial condemned them to death for bombing civilian cities. They were taken back to solitary confinement until October 15 when they were recalled to the courtroom.

The presiding officers of the court was General Yamashita, the "Tiger of Malaya," whom the prisoners recognized from pictures they had seen earlier.

"Yamashita called each of us by name," Major Hite says, "and told us we had been given the death penalty of participating in the raid on Japan, but, he said, when the emperor had received the results of the trial he had committed the sentences to life imprisonment. Then he told us we would never see the United States again."

Now the prisoners faced a real dilemma. The Japanese considered life imprisonment a period of 21 years. If they were alive after 21 years in prison and if the Japanese were victorious, they would be kept as slave labor. But if the United States won the war, they would be shot.

After the sentences were passed they were returned to solitary confinement in cells about 14 feet high, 3 1/2 feet wide and seven feet long. There was one window about 8 feet from the floor and the guard was changed every 30 minutes throughout the day and night. These cells were typical of their prison life, Major Hite says.

While they were being questioned in Tokyo, they were fed two slices of bread and a cup of tea twice a day. Later they were given rice and soup, the diet maintained by the Japanese for the rest of their imprisonment.

In April, 1943, they were moved to a prison at Nanking. On October 15 the privation and suffering for three of them came to an end. They were executed.

The Japanese shot the first pilots of the two crews and a tail gunner—Lts. Hallmark and Farrow and Sergeant Harold Spatz—on the pretense that someone was responsible for gunning civilians as the bombs were dropped on Nagoya.

"This was pure fabrication," at- tests Major Hite heatedly. "The only time we fired our guns was over the water at some weather-boats. We hurt their ego and they had to do something to get back at us."

Two weeks later another man died. Lt. Robert J. Meder was suffering from malnutrition, dysentery and other ailments, but the Japanese wouldn't permit medical attention. He died December 1, 1943.

Out of the original ten men of the two crews four were still alive. Two men were killed when their plane crashed, three had been executed and one had died in prison. By this time all four of them were weakened and in various stages of illness.

But the next summer their hopes were revived when United States planes began to make regular bombing raids on Nanking. For the weary prisoners, it was the first indication that our forces were moving closer. This was confirmed on Christmas day when P-51s bombed and strafed Nanking. They knew the range of a fighter plane was short, so they were convinced the P-51s were based near them.

They were moved for the last time as prisoners to Peiping in June, 1945. A month after their arrival they learn that Navy Commander Winfield Scott Cunningham and several of his men and Marines who were captured on Wake Island were in the same prison. By devious means they slipped Commander Cunningham information that they were being held as war criminals instead of prisoners of war.

Mayor Hite and his men knew that if US forces moved too close to victory the Japs would kill them, so they asked Commander Cunningham to notify our authorities of their plight when he was released and this he did August 16, 1945. The commander told our authorities what he had learned from the imprisoned flyers and they demanded each of the prisoners by name, a step that saved their lives, Major Hite believes.

After three years and four months of imprisonment, the four men were released August 20, 1945, in custody of American paratroopers that had been dropped on Peiping August 15. Later Major Hite and the other men were sent home and given 90 days of rest and rehabilitation leave. Then they were reassigned in the Air Force, except for Sergeant Jake DeSazer. He was discharged and returned to Japan as a missionary.

Major Hite was released from active duty in September, 1947. Since then he has been active in the reserve and prior to being recalled to active duty, reported to Vance two days a month and the annual 15 days of active duty for training.

Major Hite is the son of Mrs. Lena D. Hite of Box 171, Earth,

New Look For Ferry Boats

NEW YORK—AP—Industrial designer Howard Ketcham claims the thousands of harbor craft that ply the nation's waterways, ferries, excursion boats and tugs, need a face-lifting. His solution: a new paint job.

"Gay exterior colors can set a cherry mood and increase safety in busy ports by offering greater visibility," he declares.

Ketcham has already taken the first step toward putting his idea into general practice. The Jersey Central Railroad has introduced a new color scheme on a ferry built for the Hudson River crossing between New York and Jersey City. The new boat built for the Hudson River cross-

Large Class of Fourth Graders Promoted To Central School

A class of approximately 150 students will be promoted out of the 4th grade into Central School this year and will be 5th grade students next year. Approximately that many are scheduled to enter Littlefield Primary in the first grade this fall. A class of 122, 8th graders are being promoted out of Central school into Junior High Thursday night.

The following is an article written for this paper by principal Paul I. Jones:

There are twenty-three teachers in the Littlefield Primary School this year. All were recently re-employed for another term.

Teachers in Grade One are: Mrs. Loda V. Hardin, Miss Iris Hamm, Mrs. Roy Holt, Mrs. Ruby Hulise and Mrs. Sibyl Morehead.

In Grade Two are: Mrs. Grace Smith, Miss Margaret Teel, Mrs. Martha Hester, Mrs. Olene Gibson and Mrs. Mary Jo Vaughn.

Burks, Mrs. Raymond Pack, Mrs. Joe C. Hutchison, Mrs. Mary Bockman and Mrs. Cornelia Williamson.

Grade Four: Mrs. Flora Burks, Mrs. R. M. Richey, Mrs. W. D. Nichols, Mrs. D. R. Holliday and Miss Ruby Kempson.

Special teachers are: Mrs. Clovis Russell, visiting teacher; Mrs. R. S. Campbell, exceptional children's teacher; Mrs. Helen Teague, nurse and Mrs. Pearl McClain, music teacher. Principal Paul I. Jones.

Twenty classrooms provide for the housing of an average membership of six hundred and fifty pupils. Each grade is divided into five equal sections, each being given a specific room. One teacher instructs all pupils in a given classroom with the exception of special instruction in music. One teacher instructs all of the children in public school music.

The health program of the entire school system is under the direction of a registered nurse who maintains her office in this building. She works with all pupils as recommended by both the local physicians and the school administrators. Some of the services rendered to the pupils are screening for hearing difficulties, rendering first aid to minor injuries, assisting in giving physical examinations and control of contagious diseases.

The visiting teacher, whose services began this term is maintaining an office in the Primary building. She visits the parents in the homes as often as time permits, as a representative of the teachers and administrators of the school. The sole purpose of her work is to help the children. Many favorable returns to the students have resulted by the addition of this department this term.

Another department which was added this term is the class for exceptional children. This class is providing a carefully planned program of instruction to pupils who need special assistance. This class housed in the Girl Scout and Brownie Hut.

The organization and instruction of the subjects which are taught in the first four grades are commonly called the "tools of learning."

night on a fishing trip to Conchos Dam, New Mexico. They planned to return Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wodall are leaving about June 1 on a two weeks' vacation trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, where they will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodall. Mr. Woodall, who is employed by Sully's Music Company is having his vacation.

Visitors in the home of Mrs. Lulu Hoover over Mother's Day were Irvin Maiser, Mrs. N. A. Maier and three children and Mrs. Guy Covington and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Alph Wright of Odessa arrived Thursday night for a visit with relatives here, including Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Yantis, Jr. and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Wynne of Amherst left the first of the week for Norman, Oklahoma to spend two weeks visiting relatives. Mr. Wynne is music instructor in the Amherst schools.

All Buddy Poppies sold under the sponsorship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are fashioned by disabled veterans in government hospitals. This group of World War II veterans is busily engaged in assembling the stems, petals and copyright tags. The tags are affixed to let each person who purchases a Buddy Poppy know he is buying a genuine V.F.W. product, made by disabled veterans.

Much emphasis is placed upon the teaching of reading, numbers spelling, writing, creative arts, and recreation. Other areas which receive much attention during the early years of a pupil's formal education are health and safety, social development and patriotism. The recommendations of leading educators, the suggestions and requirements from the State Educational Agency, the suggestions from our local citizens and the experiences of the teachers and administrators are all incorporated into a functional program. The program is under a continuous evaluation, aimed at improvement. Each grade maintains a course of study which is an outline of the minimum amount of material to cover throughout the school year. Supplementary material is added as needed. Courses of study from some of the leading school systems in Texas are carefully analyzed with the aim of improving the course of study in use here in Littlefield.

According to the results of a recent national achievement test which was given to all Littlefield Primary pupils, the general achievement of the Primary pupils was found to score above the grades which were recommended for each grade group.

The following are the names of the students who will attend Central school next fall:

Every few minutes—roughly 12 times an hour—they drop a single round of 155 millimeter shell over the tank, triggered by a fuse that detonates the shell as it nears the ground. The effect is to splash the tank and the area around it with hot steel every few minutes, discouraging any Chinese from getting near it.

Next morning the returning tankers may find the tank's paint scratched a little bit but it usually is otherwise unharmed. The shells cost $100 each. The total cost of an all-night shoot is about $15,000 but it's still good insurance—its roughly one tenth the cost of a new tank and new tanks are hard to get these days.

Red Troops In Tibet

SPRINAGAR, Kashmir—(AP)—A large concentration of Chinese Communist troops have been reported in western Tibet, bordering Sinkiang and Indian-held Ladakh frontier of Kashmir.

A Buddhist trader from Ladakh who had just returned to Leh, Ladakh's capital, said that in and around one Tibetan village alone not far from the Ladakh border as many as 20,000 Chinese troops are stationed.

These reports are in conflict with statements of Tibetan traders reaching Kalimpong in India that the bulk of the Chinese regular forces were withdrawn from western Tibet after the collapse of Tibetan military resistance.

Pension Politics a Costly Procedure

The Texas Senate regrettably has stripped de-liberalizing provisions from the proposed constitutional amendment that would raise the present $35 million ceiling per year on public welfare grants in this state.

One of the restrictions, approved by a Senate committee, would have given the state a lien on an old age pensioner's property for the assistance received. However, the committee proposal would have exempted homesteads up to $2,500 or other property up to $1,500.

The Senate action perpetuates the present inequality under which children or other heirs inherit the full amount of property from an old age pensioner who has been supported by the state as a needy person. Thus, old age assistance becomes an indirect subsidy for children rather than elderly parents.

The other provision eliminated by the Senate would have permitted investigation of children's ability to support their parents before the latter were allowed old age pensions. Members of the Senate objected that the obligation of children to care for elderly parents is essentially a moral one. But liberalized pensions obviously have the effect of weakening moral responsibilities of children toward parents and helping to impair our national fiber.

Under the Texas plan elderly parents of well-to-do children can qualify for old age assistance, the cumulative effect of which is to reduce the amount of relief for the needy elderly. Likewise, the plan encourages parents to transfer property to children in order to qualify for old age assistance.

Legality thereby fosters moral evasion both in parents and children. This undermining of our moral or ethical responsibilities by measuring them solely on the basis of legality has been deplored by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas as striking at the heart of a nation's integrity.

The basic objective of old age assistance is clear—to alleviate want of the elderly needy. Chiseling on public welfare has become a national disgrace. The cost to the people in taxes from liberalized assistance is not so serious as making social security a political racket and weakening the moral responsibility of elderly parents and children alike.

What we find in this deplorable state of affairs is the perversion of reform. The damage lies in moral rather than financial bankruptcy of the people to make them easy prey for conquest by their own greed and excesses rather than by a foreign enemy. There is no quarrel with pensions for the needy elderly, but patently public welfare has wandered far afield in this state.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

BY TEX EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(P)—To Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco, the House refusal to vote a proposed large scale guayule rubber program is "utter folly."

Vice Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, Poage headed a subcommittee which studied the feasibility of commercial production in this country of rubber from the latex-bearing shrub of the Southwest.

Under present high prices of natural tree (hevea) rubber from the Far East, it should be economically sound to grow guayule, he says. He feels it would be cheap insurance if viewed from a national defense standpoint.

"Under present world conditions," Poage said, "when we might find ourselves cut off from supplies as we did in World War II, it seems to me to be utter folly to neglect a great expansion of this domestic source of natural rubber."

The Senate Armed Services preparedness committee headed by Texas senator Lyndon B. Johnson has recommended a vigorous guayule program contemplating planting of large tracts in Texas. Poage lambasted the House appropriations committee for not making a similar recommendation.

"If it hadn't been for the penny-wise, pound foolish attitude of some of the leaders of that committee," Poage asserted, "we would have right now at least 30,000 acres of guayule ready for harvesting at the time for peak yield."

He referred to the fact that the Appropriations committee about three years ago made the decision, which Congress accepted, that led to abandonment of the guayule plants just reaching the latex-bearing stage were uprooted.

In approving the Agriculture Department appropriation bill for the year beginning July 1, the committee vetoed this year a suggestion that funds be provided for a greatly expanded guayule program. The House went along with the committee on this.

The $500,000 recently allocated by the Munitions Board to the Agriculture Department to stockpile guayule seed and conduct limited planting on government-owned lands—none of which are in Texas—should be sufficient, the committee reported.

Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex.) and Senator Alexander Wiley (R-Wisc.) had invitations to a White House luncheon which they had to turn down. The reason: a roll call on the question of opening the MacArthur hearings to the public.

Although they had opposing views and knew they could go to the luncheon without affecting the outcome of the vote, each decided to stay in the Senate chamber to cast his vote. Notwithstanding this, some reports got out that Connally didn't vote. This prompted Connally to issue the following statement:

"In his broadcast of May 4, Fulton Lewis, Jr. commented at some length on what he said was my failure to vote that same day on the motion of the Senator from Nebraska (Wherry) to take up a resolution for open hearings on the MacArthur affair.

"The record shows, of course, that statement is palpably false—though it is no further from the truth than most of the other things Lewis says."

Connally was on the winning side in the 41 to 37 vote to reject the Wherry motion to open the MacArthur hearings to the public.

Josh Devore on the New York Giants holds the mayor league record for the most stolen bases in one inning. He stole four in the ninth inning of a game of June 29, 1912.

Church and Farm Leaders Set Goal of 100 Carloads of Food and Fiber For CROP

CHICAGO, Ill. (Special)—Church and farm leaders in the State of Texas have set a goal of 100 carloads of food and fiber for the 1951 appear of the Christian Rural Overseas Program, CROP's National Office was informed here today. Along with carload lots from 20 other agricultural and pastoral states, Texas wheat, peanuts, rice, maize and cotton will be distributed among destitute millions in war-ravaged and famine-stricken countries.

For the concerted drive being made this year, Texas has been broken down into three regions: Lubbock-Amarillo; Fort Worth-Dallas and San Antonio-Houston. Walter O. Parr, former regional supervisor of CROP for Oklahoma, Missouri, Nebraska and Arkansas, has taken over the new post of regional CROP director for Texas. He is replacing J. A. Dennis of Austin, Acting Director.

Born of the tragic need of our fellow human beings overseas, CROP has collected a total of $12,300,000 worth of foodstuff in its four years of existence. Enough to fill 6,150 railway boxcars, this amount includes quantities of surplus donated by the Government from surplus stocks. CROP's national goal for 1951 is 1,400 railway freight carloads.

Although the goal for Texas has been set at 100 carloads, efforts will be made to top this amount, Mr. Parr says.

The 1951 campaign will be marked by the departure of a Friendship Food Ship from a Texas port during the harvest season. Composed of advance contributions of commodities, the ship will sail to the Mediterranean where its cargo will be distributed among needy in Southern Europe and the Near East by the church agencies designated by the donors.

Mr. Parr is a Presbyterian minister. However, the CROP program is represented by three sponsors: Catholic Rural Life—War Relief Services; Church World Service; and Lutheran World Relief. The Texas CROP office is located at 2907 East Lancaster, Fort Worth.

ported seen in the lake and boys finally found him after cruising for several hours. The giant was shot just before swimming for the season was to open in the lake. George Hamilton of Dallas

How to Start a New Career After Seventy

Pritchett, Texas.—How to start a new career at 70 has been demonstrated by John R. Garner. He is now 80, and has one of the most successful pine plantations in Northeast Texas.

Garner moved to his Upshur County farm 25 years ago and for 15 years tried to grow field crops. This was hard in the hilly, well-treed country.

He tried rotation his crops, he terraced the slopes, he did everything he could think of. But it wouldn't work.

He came to the conclusion that much of his farm should never have been cleared—that is should have been left in native pine trees.

In 1940, at the age of seventy, he did his first tree planting. Unaware he could get seedlings from a state nursery, he dug up 500 wild pine seedlings in the woods and transplanted them. It was hard work, and he was not sure of himself.

Two years later, having learned he could get seedlings from the Indian Mound Nursery, he began a regular program of planting a few more trees each year. Now he has 22 acres of seedlings of various ages and sizes.

Garner wrote to the Texas Forest Service for more information about pruning, spacing, and timber management. He learned to cut, rake and haul off undergrowth as a protection against forest fires. His forest floor is as clean as a garden. The trees are large enough now so that he can run livestock in the area. That will help keep down the underbrush.

"I wouldn't take $100 an acre for my pines, and they have enhanced the value of my farm in no small way," says the 80-year-old.

"I don't start planting trees with the thought in mind of realizing any returns from them, because of my age, I was merely eager to learn what could be done with planting and to demonstrate it."

Parcel Post Rates Will Be Increased

The Post Office department said Saturday it will increase parcel post rates an average of 25 per cent on Oct. 1. This is expected to increase revenue by more than $100,000,000 a year.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ruled late yesterday that Postmaster General Donaldson is justified in such a decision in order to put the parcel service on a self-sustaining basis.

Here's something Special in Spaciousness

A lot of folks like the two-door idea, because they feel that tiny tots are safer in the back seat.

But that's no reason why back-seat headroom should be dimensioned for midgets only.

So Buick engineers have done something about it, in the Buick SPECIAL 2-door Sedan pictured here.

They've kept the compactness of overall length that's important in modern garages.

But they've arched that sturdy steel top to give you he-man headroom—headroom in back as well as headroom in front—that makes a six-footer feel at home.

And they've designed a trunk that has "room for tourists."

Don't ask us how they did it. Come see for yourself.

Slip into those spacious seats—and while you're there, find out why this compact honey is one of the hottest numbers we've seen in years.

Find out how that F-263 valve-in-head Fireball Engine pours out the power and stretches the miles per gallon.

Find out how Buick's exclusive combination of torque-tube drive and coil springs on all four wheels puts big-car steadiness and stability into this nimble performer.

Find out how Dynaflo Drive* takes the strain out of traffic driving—and brings you relaxed to the end of a long day's cross-country driving.

And above all—find out the prices—and how much they'll buy in comfort and convenience. The sooner you see your Buick dealer, the better off you'll be.

College, Family and Work Keep Young Veteran Busy

Richard Krabill, 3118 Murfield Road, Toledo 14, Ohio, is a young veteran of World War II who is studying pharmacy at the University of Toledo. He also works after school at a nearby Toledo pharmacy. This is a pretty heavy schedule to maintain when you add nightly studying, but Mr. Krabill is like many young family men throughout the country who are working hard and studying hard to get ahead. Recently he began to feel tired and run-down from his many activities. He had noticed how many folks were buying HADACOL at the store where he works to supply deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin and Mr. Krabill tried it. And HADACOL seemed to be just what he needed, Mr. Krabill says.

Richard Krabill

Here is Mr. Krabill's statement: "I am an apprentice pharmacist and I go to the University of Toledo. My daily schedule is very rigid. Going to school full time and working after school until 9:30 gets pretty tiresome. I was getting tired and run-down keeping pace with all I had to do. Being married and having a family, I am compelled to work after school. I work in a pharmacy here in Toledo. After selling HADACOL here in the store, I decided I'd try it. You have no idea how much it has picked me up. I'm telling you, truthfully, HADACOL is the answer to all my tiredness from sitting up late at night doing homework after I come home from work. I'm doing my best to recommend HADACOL to the customers I wait on here in the store who complain of circumstances that equal mine. Already I have won customers on HADACOL in the short time I have been taking it. I am 31 and a veteran of World War II."

HADACOL Is So Effective
 An important thing about HADACOL is that you get Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of the blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and to every part of your body.

 Remember HADACOL is that new preparation—proven stomach relief for your stomach disturbances, as well as that general condition and annoying pains when they are due of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron in your system.
 HADACOL is so successful because if you lack Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin it acts directly on your trouble. That's the product you want—the one that starts taking immediate effect.

Only One Genuine HADACOL
 Don't go through life when relief may be at hand as the nearest sufferer from these ailments. Buy HADACOL today, bottle only $1.25. Large economy size, $3.50. Refutes. There's only one genuine HADACOL. Recommended by many doctors.
