

Connie Hopping Comes Home Triumphant

By ELIZABETH POPLIN
Miss Texas of 1952, Littlefield's Miss Connie Wray Hopping, stepped off the plane at Lubbock airport at exactly 10:25 p.m. Thursday night—an hour and 30 minutes after a big crowd gathered at the gate of the runway and waited expectantly for an 8:55 p.m. plane that did not divulge the honey-haired beauty, Miss Hopping's arrival at 10:25 was on the second plane.

The crowd was visibly disappointed as were the Jaycees whose police escort and reception at the Caprock (formerly the Hilton) Hotel had to be cancelled because of the delayed arrival.

Connie and her mother, Mrs. Jim McGuire, had called ahead to warn that "we are dead on our feet," but Connie, like a real queen, came in smiling, holding the big golden trophy presented to her by the Galveston Jaycees.

For the plane trip home Connie wore a smart navy magaline linen suit and white blouse with a corsage of orchids. A small hat sat close on the back of the blond Hopping curls.

Stormed By Cameramen
The photographers got to her first and for the next few minutes the now famous Hopping smile and dimples were very much in evidence. When the barrage of flash bulbs had died down, Connie was whisked away to make a tape recording of her first impressions of being "Miss Texas" for release on "Listen Ladies" at 11:15 a.m. Friday over KFYO in Lubbock. To the radio audience, Connie said that it was "just wonderful" to be "home at last."

Official greetings to Miss Texas were extended by Mayor Murrell Tripp.

"We're glad to have you home, Connie."

Her quick answer was "I'm glad to be home."

Greeted By Relations
Only then was Connie given a chance to greet the sizeable group of relatives that had surrounded her from the moment she put her navy calf pump on the ground. Connie had a smile and special word for each one—father, grandparents, aunts, and uncles. In all the greetings there was only one ruffled moment. A big hug from Bob Northington, local admirer, upset the pert little red, white, and navy hat Connie was wearing.

At that moment Connie saw Moe Terrell, head of the Lubbock Jaycees committee. She threw him an excited apology for rousing him so early Monday morning. Minutes after the crown of Miss Texas had been placed on her curls, Connie was on the telephone telling the head of her sponsoring Jaycees that she had won.

Terrell called back across the crowd that "he was never so glad to get waked up in the middle of the night in his life." He said that when Connie called, she was "so thrilled . . . she could talk—but not so well."

Photographs Easily
Inside the airport building, Connie was again besieged by the photographers for whom she smiled and smiled. While the pictures were being snapped, she kept up a steady stream of conversation except for the minute when the shutter clicked. Connie doesn't have to pose. As one camera man expressed it, "You can throw a camera at her and she still looks good."

While posing for pictures with her huge gold trophy, Connie held it up to her uncle Ernest and said with a teasing light in her eyes, "Guess this one will stack up with your golf trophies." Then looking down at it she said in a more wistful tone, "I wouldn't part with this for a million dollars."

Recalls Contest Thrills
With the photographers satisfied, Connie could turn her attention to the reporters. She began with the moment she heard that she had been chosen Miss Texas. "What did I do? I fainted," she said. "I was backstage with the other three finalists when "everything went black. They tell me that it didn't take me long to come to, but I did hold up the show."

Final judging for the contest had begun at 10:30 p.m. in the Marine Room of Galveston's Pleasure Pier. The four beauties did their talent stunts over and appeared in formal and bathing suits again. They paraded through a huge glittering crown about 10 feet high set up as a background on the stage.

"I still don't believe it sometimes," said Connie, hugging her trophy. "I had some tough competition."

Sudan Fall Festival Set For August 29-30

Ed Chance Honored At AG Meeting

Sudan's vocational agricultural teacher, Edgar Chance, was among 175 instructors from the Panhandle and South Plains, Areas 1 and 2, to attend a four-day conference beginning Wednesday in the Lubbock Hotel.

He was among ten instructors who received a ten-year tenure award at the session Wednesday morning.

The conference is an annual affair designed to bring teachers up to date on the vocational agriculture program and developments in the field of agriculture. One of the principal speakers of the conference will be John A. White, Texas commissioner of agriculture.

ED CHANCE

There's No Doubt About It!!!

By T/SGT. CHARLES CHAPMAN

Thursday night I had the pleasure of being in Lubbock when the sweetheart of Littlefield and all Texas, Miss Connie Wray Hopping arrived home after a very wonderful but tiring week in Galveston where she was named "Miss Texas." Comments heard at the airport did much to prove that it was the right and ONLY choice that could have been made.

Connie, as usual, was wearing that big smile and although very tired gave graciously of her time and personality to the newspaper reporters, photographers, radio announcers, and dignitaries. Asked what she wanted to do first, she said, "Only to rest for a while and then to see some of my friends at home."

Connie's Charm Unmatchable
A friend of mine, whom you all remember some years back, Dave Schein, quoted in a July, 1936, issue of the Lamb County Leader that I would go far in life, I think Dave meant in business opportunities, but I took him to mean in miles. Well, I have gone far in miles; I have been in the United States Marine Corps for the past seven years. I have traveled to 28 different foreign countries and met lots of famous people. But I have never met anyone who matches Connie in charm. Princess Margaret of England could give her a close run, but as people in the service say, "Those Texans have everything."

I don't consider myself an authority on beauty, but among movie stars such as Ann Sheridan, Esther Williams, Ann Blythe, and Dorothy Hart—all of whom I met while I was in Public Information work for the Marines, Connie can hold her own. I predict that Connie will be one of the TOP names in the movie industry some day and you can quote me on that.

Now for the Miss America contest. Last year in Norfolk, Virginia, and again this year in Chicago, I had the privilege of being in the Honor Guard for Miss Coleen Hutchinson of Salt Lake City, Utah, the present Miss America.

With the charm, beauty, personality, and talent that Connie has, I feel assured that the people of Littlefield can sit back and say that the title for 1952 will be worn by this girl who really deserves it and who will in the opinion of top authorities be the next MISS AMERICA.

MISS LUBBOCK BECOMES MISS TEXAS—The crown which made her officially Miss Texas of 1952 is placed on the blond head of Connie Wray Hopping by Ray Roberts, president, Texas Jaycees, Sunday night in Galveston. Bob O'Donnell, owner, Interstate Theatres, looks on from the right.

J. W. MILLER IS NAMED MANAGER ANNUAL EVENT

Sudan Garden Club To Feature Flower Show

J. W. Miller was named manager of the 1952 Sudan Fall Festival by the over-all committee in a three-hour session at the home of Joe T. Salem, recently appointed overall chairman, Tuesday afternoon.

The feature event of this year's festival will be announced by this committee next week.

The committee voted to add a flower show to the annual Art Exhibit. The Sudan Garden Club will direct the exhibit with Mrs. Lloyd Robinson as chairman of the flower show. Mrs. Simon Hay and Mrs. George Gilkerson will be co-chairman of the Art Exhibit.

Rotary To Sponsor Carnival
The Sudan Rotary Club will have charge of the Carnival entertainment portion of the celebration. Guy Walden is chairman of this committee. He will appoint members of the committee to work out the details of sponsoring local concessions in downtown Sudan during the festival days, August 29-30.

The president of all participating organizations in Sudan will comprise the Concessions Committee, with Manager J. W. Miller serving (Continued on Back Page)

15 True Bills Are Returned By Grand Jury

Fifteen true bills were returned by the District court grand jury which adjourned Thursday afternoon after several days deliberation.

Announcement was made of the following true bills:

Alvin Choate, Sr., three alleged check law violations; Buddy Williams, two charges alleging burglary; Bob Osborn, one charge alleging forgery; J. A. Chester, one charge alleging second offense of driving while intoxicated; Tommy Cunningham, two charges alleging theft of a value exceeding $50.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT SIXTH ANNUAL AMHERST LIONS CLUB BARBEQUE

More than 145 persons attended the annual Ladies' Night and Amherst Lions Club Barbeque held for the sixth consecutive year at the V. M. Peterman and Sunshine Ranch Thursday night.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, was the night's main speaker. He told the crowd background stories and anecdotes of the recent Democratic National Convention which he covered.

Guests, many of them coming from faraway states like Mississippi and Arkansas, were treated to barbeque beef with all the trimmings. Children at the fete were entertained with a hayride.

In charge of the program was Claude Emmons, president of the Amherst Lions Club, who also welcomed the throng to the annual event.

Lester LaGrange, Amherst pioneer and manager of Halsell farm and ranch interest, was in charge of the open pit barbeque.

Many of the guests were employees and their families from the nearby Southwestern Service Co. plant. Others came from Amarillo and Lubbock.

Peterman, as host to the affair, was presented with a gift from the club—a miniature replica of a shorthorn steer.

BEST APPLIANCES WILL MOVE TO NEW LOCATION IN 400 BLOCK OF PHELPS

Plans are underway by the Best Appliances to move about September 1 into the building next door to the Leader office, formerly occupied by Hawk & Hofacker, and owned by Drs. Ira Woods and Wm. N. Orr. The lease agreement is expected to be signed this week.

The building is 25x125 feet. Considerable remodeling will take place previous to the Best Appliances moving in.

VACATION IN COLORADO
Mr. and Mrs. Orville White are spending a vacation in points in Colorado. They left Monday morning. Mr. White has been manager of Dunlap's here.

Anglake Farmer Achieves Outstanding Success Through Diversification

Aigaki, enterprising farmer, has done it this time. He sold the yield off 20 tons for $800 to $900. Jack Renfro of Renfro represents the crop that handled Tee's crop in June. Tee is a "satisfied customer."

Yellow onions brought $2.75 a bag; whites $3.25. Tee claims that lucky.

"It isn't every year that you get prices like these," he said. "This has been an exceptional year."

"Live-At-Home" Program
But no matter how lucrative the price was, Tee didn't sell all of his onions—nor his potatoes—he's too smart for that. Enough of both crops were stored to help the Aigaki family carry out their "live-at-home" program.

Aigaki's onions are an early variety. He put in his crop the economical way by planting seed. Although a bigger yield can be harvested from transplants, they are also more expensive—and Tee was taking no chances with his first crop. Transplants run $200 an acre and seed only $100. The yield from transplants is 800 to 1200 50-lb. bags to an acre; the yield from seed, 300 to 400 50-lb. bags. Tee hopes to use part seed and part transplants next year.

Uses Irrigation
The onion crop was laid in the first of March and came off July 22. Pulling by hand, it took 35 laborers eight days to harvest the crop. Aigaki's onions were under irrigation. Onions require plenty of water and plenty of fertilizer during the short growing season. Between 500 and 600 pounds of fertilizer to an acre is needed. Tee sprayed his onion crop with DDT and BAC three or four times.

Aigaki, one of the advocates of diversified agriculture in Lamb County, is carrying out his own program of balanced farming. A list of the crops on Tee's farm reads like the recipe for vegetable soup—or a morning's marketing list. On the land left vacant after the harvest of his June potato crop, he planted cabbage and black-eyed peas. He could have planted lettuce, but it is a more "fragile" crop. Lettuce has to be ice-packed at a processing plant, and Aigaki can cut cabbage in the field himself. Cabbage is a less expensive crop and a more "sure" crop. Just another instance showing that this astute farmer isn't taking any chances—or that when he gambles, it is on a "sure thing."

ton money comes in the late fall. Another neat trick is that he can water all his crops at the same time. Aigaki receives all his operating money through the U.S. Farmer's Home Administration under the joint bank method. Tee is also one of their "satisfied customers."

"If it weren't for FHA, I'd be working for someone else." Now, he grinned, "I'm almost independent."

Good Stewardship

Enterprising General Manager O. B. Ellis has found a way to raise salaries in the Texas prison system without additional cost to the taxpayers and as a measure furthering prison reform in the state.

The system needs to retain its competent guards and other employees and to hire new ones of that type, and the prime means to that end is better pay. Hence, Manager Ellis is planning a pay increase for the prison workers, as well as improvement in the menus of the convicts. The cost of $95,974 a year will be covered by revenue derived from production of the prison system.

Modern penology advises against a policy of limiting penitentiaries to money-making purposes alone, since that extreme position would prejudice reformation of many inmates who are to be returned to society. However, under the capable stewardship of Mr. Ellis, the prison system is half self-supporting, and gradually will reduce its partial dependence upon the state treasury.

The program undertaken by the manager of the prison system affirms the fact that reform is a prolonged operation, no overnight affair, if it is to be accomplished without costly financing. Better pay for prison guards and other attendants should mean better prisoners, both as producers in the system and as useful citizens when they have paid their debt to society.

We likewise would commend Manager Ellis for his systematic reports to the people about his stewardship of the prison system.

Worth Seeing

If you want to gain a new respect for your country, want to see America at its working best, then visit an airport, a railway station or a bus station in any metropolitan city.

Take Love Field in Dallas or Meacham Field in Fort Worth. Or the Houston airport. There you see gigantic planes come in out of the air, taxi into place, disgorge from forty to sixty passengers, be completely serviced with fuel, water, food, take on new crews and then move out in half an hour or so to go through the same thing in Nashville or New Orleans or Oklahoma City a couple of hours later. Next stop might be Washington or Los Angeles.

The scene of busy people, organization, responsibility, skill of the crews, the network of communication, the money handled, the questions answered, the information given out, the constant courtesy, the crossroads of travel, the food, baggage and mail handled just cannot be described.

The same situation is true of a busy union railroad station or a bus terminal. Just to visit such a place and see the action is a stimulating experience. It gives new respect for the energy, ability and responsibility of people at work. It gives new respect, too, for the inventive genius, manufacturing know-how and productive capacity of American business.

Why Young People are Brighter Now

One of the most astounding things of the last World War was the manner in which inexperienced civilians adapted themselves to the emergency of the times and became proficient in their military, naval and air force duties.

Young farm boys and office workers who ordinarily would require years of training and supervision to learn to practice a trade, became efficient operators, installers, or repairmen with a few short weeks or months of concentrated training.

Visual presentation did it. The trainee was shown pictures, slides and working models until he visualized what he was supposed to know or do. No amount of lecturing, or long book study, or blackboard markings could have done the job. And, as proved during the war, no long apprenticeship of experience was required.

Industry has capitalized on the experiences of the war, but what about educators? Here is a field of training so wide open it is almost limitless.

To organizations, the field of visual training is even more promising and fruitful. One instance illustrates the point. It is a picture of a little girl getting an early start on learning to drive by having a plastic steering wheel attached to the cowl of the car by a suction cup. As she goes driving with dad or mother, she has the fun and experience and judgment that goes with actual conditions on every corner. She learns by seeing—not by being told.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

How may a purchaser determine whether the title he is receiving in a real estate transaction is good, bad or indifferent? Although at first glance there may appear to be more than one alternative method, we shall see in this and later columns that all roads of complete title security lead to a lawyer chosen by the prospective buyer to represent his interests.

In a previous column it was said that the Contract of Sale should state the QUALITY OF TITLE to be conveyed to the purchaser. If the contract does not so state, then the seller may be obligated to sell—and the purchaser bound to buy—only whatever title the seller happens to possess, which may actually be quite defective. This may be true in spite of the fact that the seller is in possession, has a deed to the property, has been paying taxes, etc.

A real estate title is a claim of ownership or right to land and to the improvements, such as houses and other structures, located thereon. It may be partial or complete, as determined by the numerous facts in each case. If it is complete and superior to any other person's claim—if you can prove your right thereto against all the world, it is a GOOD TITLE. If, in addition, the evidence of your claim of ownership is contained in the proper public records, it is a GOOD RECORD TITLE. Ordinarily, only a GOOD RECORD TITLE is considered salable, being sometimes referred to as a GOOD MARKETABLE TITLE.

When you buy a house, you want a title which is good, so that you and your heirs will not be troubled while enjoying the use of the premises. You also want that title to be marketable, in order that it can be sold when you are ready to sell—without the expense of perfecting title before your buyer will complete his purchase.

Having made certain that your contract of sale indicates the exact nature of the title to be conveyed to you by the seller, how do you go about assuring yourself that you will receive the specified quality of title? People have varied ideas about this matter.

Some consider themselves safe when they gain possession of an Abstract of Title or a General Warranty Deed. We have previously seen that an Abstract is merely an outline of public records on the tract of land—a history of the title—which anyone may purchase, regardless of ownership. Possession of an Abstract does not indicate that you own the land described therein, any more than possession of a History of Texas means that you own the entire state.

A General Warranty Deed from a responsible seller is comforting to have, but is a poor substitute for a careful title examination. True, it entitles you to sue the seller for damages caused by defects in the title. But serious title defects may not come to light until long after the seller is dead, has moved to an unknown address, or is bankrupt.

Safer procedures include your attorney's examination of the Abstract tendered by the seller, and the purchase of a Title Insurance Policy which names you as the insured. This latter method also involves an attorney's examination which must be paid for by either buyer or seller (as specified in your Contract of Sale) along with premium charges and other items. Both of these routes will be further explained in columns to follow.

BUICK'S POWER STEERING

It's the big NEWS of the year

There is a host of things that endear a ROADMASTER to anyone who loves to drive.

There's the might of its Fireball 8 Engine—most powerful ever put in a Buick.

There's the thrift of its Airpower carburetor—a four-barrel automatic that literally brings increased power right out of thin air.

There's its hushed and luxurious silence—its poised and level ride that cost a million dollars to develop—and the infinite smoothness of its Dynaflo Drive.

But the thing that has brought the most cheers for this big and obedient beauty is Buick's version of Power Steering.*

Gone is the tug of turning, parking, maneuvering in small space.

Power Steering takes over the effort of turning the front wheels—makes it a one-hand operation.

Do you have to learn to drive all over again if you have this new Buick feature?

You definitely do not. On the open road, you have that same sure sense of command that you've always had. Coming out of a curve, you can loosen your grip, and the front wheels right themselves just as they do on every Buick.

But you'll notice this: When you suddenly hit loose dirt or sand—or a stretch of rough road—Power Steering smoothly goes into action—helps take up the jerk—makes control of the wheel easier and driving safer.

Wouldn't you like to try out this newest wonder—on a ROADMASTER or a SUPER? You say the word, and we'll do the rest.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

Shantz Is Best Little Lefty In Big League History

Measures, weighed the southpaw from Pottstown, Pa., at 135 pounds. The Scales Lied "You're cheating me a few pounds," Shantz declared. Shantz got back on the scales and tipped the beam at 139½. Then Humphreys announced Bobby's height as five feet 6¼ inches. Humphreys gave Bobby a document making his vital statistics official. Shantz, incidentally, says he weighed 153 last February. Bobby came into the spotlight only last year, his third in the majors. He won 18 games because "I got him to throw close to the batters," explains Jimmie Dykes, his astute manager. Some people have been comparing Shantz with Wee Willie Sherdel who pitched in the National League 15 years, 14 of them with the Cardinals. Sherdel, a native of Hanover, Pa., pitched the Cards to the pennant with a 21-10 record in 1928 at the age of 32, but the Wee Willie handle was a misnomer. Sherdel was 5-10 and weighed 160 pounds. "The Wee Willie was hung on Sherdel because he was just about the smallest man on the team," says Syd Keener, former sports editor of the defunct St. Louis Star-Times who is now director at the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. Shantz, without a doubt the smallest major leaguer to gain pitching greatness in modern times, appears a cinch to win 25 games this season. National League hitters wonder where the frail little guy came from, for in the recent All-Star game in Philadelphia he struck out Whitey Lockman, Jack Robinson and Stan Musial in succession. Rain prevented Shantz from matching Carl Hubbell's 1933 All-Star feat of five straight strikeouts. Others Have Failed There have been smaller pitchers than Shantz but complete records are unavailable. The Cincinnati Reds twice tried to bring up a

Mel Wolfgang, an Albany, N. Y., native, spent five years with the White Sox but the best the 5-6½ pitcher could do was win nine as a 1914 freshman. In the next four years he won only six times. Dickie Kerr was a little wonder as southpaws go. Some record

In 1925 he failed in a comeback, losing his only decision. Incidentally, Giant pitching coach Frank Shellenback says "Shantz is an exact replica of Kerr as to style and stuff." Art Nehf, though only 5-8, was one of the top little pitchers 30 years ago. In 1920 at the age of 28 he won 21 games for the Giants and followed this with 29 and 19 victories, respectively, the next two years. In 15 National League seasons he compiled a 184-119 record. LaMaster weighed 170 but was only 5-8. He gained 15 decisions for the 1937 Phillies but lasted only two seasons. Other 5-7 men in recent years have been Frank (Stubby) Overmire, Conrad Marrero, Vic Lombardi, Charles (Max) Wilson, Rene Monteagudo and Art (Red) Herring. Lombardi Looked Good Lombardi won 13 for the 1946 Dodgers and, like Shantz, was a fine fielder but failed to improve on his sophomore season. Wilson, a 160-pounder, appeared in 12 big league games for the Phillies and Senators between 1940 and 1946 but his only decision was a loss. Monteagudo, a Havana native, lasted only four years in the majors and had a 3-7 record with the Senators and Phillies. Herring won seven games for the 1931 Tigers and seven for the Dodgers both in 1945 and 1946. At 40 he won a game for Brooklyn in 1947. Marrero, a native of Sagua La Grande, Cuba, is still pitching for Washington at 37. The 158-pounder won 17 and lost 19 the last two seasons. He came up in 1950. Overmire has been kicking around the majors since 1943. He spent his best years with Detroit but won as many as 11 games only in two campaigns. Baseball will have to go far to find another little package like Shantz. And to think all he cost the Athletics was bus fare to Shibe Park. Pronto Don. Harness Horse of the Year in 1951, has been a season champion every year from 1947 through 1951. He set world records as a 2-year old in 1947 and as a 6-year old in 1951.

Mrs. Duane Carter Honored At Shower

The home of Mrs. Henry Meyers, west of Amherst, was the scene of a miscellaneous shower Tuesday afternoon, July 29 honoring Mrs. Duane Carter, the former Doris Criswell.

The bride's table in the dining room was centered with an arrangement of pink rosebuds flanked by white tapers.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Harvey Grigsby, Claud Coffey, Bill Rowland, Emma Coulson, W. H. Priddy, Manry Brantley, C. A. Thomas, Fred Wilson, A. A. Blair, James Holland, Bill Adams, H. E. Akin, Paul D. Bennett, Keith Tomes, Harry Brantley, Archie May, Jim Bradley, W. E. Bennett, E. O. McDaniel, Carl Vickrey and Eugene Priddy.

They presented the honoree with an electric mixer.

Lisa Patterson, born in England, where her father was American consul, also has her heart set on a theatrical career.

Rosalyn Avery, 24, of Chicago, won a scholarship to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts, London, where she studied for two years. She acted professionally in Italy and the Pacific basin with U.S.O. and has travelled on one-night stands. The goal of this talented girl is to manage or co-manage a theater. She explains:

"I learned a great deal in England about technical aspects of the theater, such as lighting and organization in general. But there's much more I want to know. That's why I'm here."

One young lady—Lorraine Merritt, 24, gave up several jobs in order to spend the summer as an apprentice at the Cape Playhouse. She had two jobs—one with the Art Students' League, and another weekends and evenings as an organist. Her heart is in the theater, though, so she tossed over her jobs for a whirl at it.

Joan Poggi, 21, of Hoboken, N.J., is writing her graduation thesis on the summer playhouse and has chosen the Falmouth Playhouse as her subject.

Rose Roffman, 23, of Savannah, Ga., where she teaches political science, has worked in winter stock in Atlanta but now is learning production aspects of the theater.

Janet Fehm, 25, has acted extensively on U.S. and Canadian stages. She wants to learn to be a director and decided to spend the summer at the Cape theaters to brush up on different phases of the theater. Says she:

"I've been painting, washing, sewing, working in the box office, hammering nails and working part-time as a restaurant hostess to help pay my keep while I'm here."

All these young hopefuls agree that the theater is an invigorating experience, although few are chosen in proportion to the numbers who apply. From hundreds of applicants Aldrich chooses 36 apprentices, 12 for each theater.

Twelve Children Present To Observe 89th Birthday Of W. F. Stowers

W. F. Stowers, long time resident of Littlefield, celebrated his 89th birthday Wednesday, at his home, 901 East 9th Street.

All of Mr. Stowers' thirteen children were present for the celebration with the exception of one son, Euell Stowers who was kept at home in Tulare, Calif. by a broken leg.

The twelve sons and daughters, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law are listed as follows: Mr. and Mrs. William Stowers, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stowers, and Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Stowers and son, Max, from Compton, Calif.; Mrs. Edna Nixon, Portales, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nixon, Pierre, South Dakota; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hardcastle, Sudan; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stowers, Friona; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Stowers, Levelland; Mr. and Mrs. Rosa Lavey, Hart Camp; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Young, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Baldwin, Littlefield; Marvin Stowers.

There were 19 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren present. Three of his granddaughters are married and were there with their husbands: Mr. and Mrs. Felix Tolison, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Engle, and Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Walker. Total present was 53 persons.

A delicious birthday dinner was served family style at noon to the whole assembled family. Mr. Stowers cut his birthday cake, but said he was "too old for candles."

Andrew Jackson's Hermitage Saved For A Tourist Shrine

By CLIFTON PAISLEY AP Newsfeatures

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The 150,000 or more persons who are visiting Andrew Jackson's familiar homestead, the Hermitage, this summer see the place just as Old Hickory left it on June 7, 1845.

For this fact they can thank a determined group of Nashville women. Sixty-three years ago, the Ladies Hermitage Association was formed to fight off a plan to convert the Hermitage into a Confederate home.

From time to time the ladies have sent out flying squadrons to combat other moves to convert the old shrine to practical uses. But their main work has been to rescue the Hermitage from dilapidation and preserve it through the years.

This long range campaign is now paying off in more financial security for the old estate than it has ever had, even during the occupancy of its famous tenant.

Last year there were 137,487 paying guests and this year sponsors expect more. With the admission fee newly doubled from 25 cents the Hermitage is now able to put aside a reserve for lean years.

Vice With Mount Vernon The heavy attendance making the Hermitage, next to Mount Vernon, the most popular shrine of the sort in the nation—can be traced to an insistence upon authenticity. The old mansion is brick for brick just as Jackson rebuilt it after a fire in 1835.

Visitors therefore will find the Hermitage looking just like the Hermitage did when Sam Houston rode up the cedar-lined driveway one Sunday in June, 1845. The interior, too, has the same furniture.

The former president of the Texas Republic arrived just a few minutes too late that day to grasp the hand of his old military chief. He had planned to tell Jackson all about a decision to bring Texas into the Union.

A worry that Texas was going to join Great Britain had been pestering the 77-year-old Jackson as he withered away with sickness. A few months before, he had written a friend: "We cannot bear that Great Britain have a Canedy on our west as she has on our north."

But Houston was told when he pulled up at the gate that Jackson had died only a few minutes before. Today visitors find few rooms in the Hermitage more entrancing than the one in which Old Hickory died beneath the portrait of his beloved Rachel.

The Hermitage caretaker, An-

drew J. (three guesses what the "J" is for) Baker, says the coming of the automobile is what made possible the maintenance of the Hermitage. Before the automobile and good roads the old estate, 12 miles from the heart of Nashville, was considered remote and seldom visited.

Baker is the son of a man who was caretaker for 45 years. Born in the Hermitage himself, this 54-year-old man recalls that in the days of the buggy there was only a trickle of traffic to the Hermitage.

Even before formation of the Ladies Hermitage Association the Hermitage narrowly escaped disaster one or more times.

When the state of Tennessee bought the 500-acre property for $48,000 in 1856 it proposed, at the suggestion of Gov. Andrew Johnson, that the United States establish a branch of its military academy there.

Congress apparently took a dim view, however, of setting up a branch of West Point in the heart of what soon was to become the Confederacy. Nothing came of the move although a Congressional committee approved it.

Various legal heirs of Jackson remained on the property for years after his death but the property became badly run down.

Garden Became Pasture During the Civil War, Federal Gen. George H. Thomas threw a cavalry guard around the estate to protect it from the swirling tides of battle. That was fine, except that the cavalry animals were let loose to forage in the formal garden where Andrew and Rachel lay buried.

The garden suffered again during the winter of 1951 when a severe ice storm and sub-zero temperatures nipped and destroyed many priceless box plants.

After the last of the Jackson heirs left the place in 1887 the proposal came before Tennessee's Legislature that the Hermitage be converted into a Confederate home.

Jo Hogan Bride Of Milton L. Peoples In Ceremony Thursday

The marriage of Miss Rila Jo Hogan of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hogan Jr. formerly of Littlefield, but now of Dimmitt, and Milton Lester Peoples of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Peoples of Sweetwater, was read Thursday at 8 p.m. in College Avenue Baptist Church, Lubbock.

The Rev. Abe Hester officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white stock, gladioli, daisies and emerald fern with white cathedral tapers.

Larry Tonroy, organist, accompanied Warren Rutledge as he sang "Always" and "Dedication."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white satin fashioned with a bodice of lace with long pointed sleeves and a portrait neckline. The skirt of satin was shirred at the waistline and had lace ruffles in scallops with pearl clusters at the edge of the skirt, which swept into a cathedral train. Her full length illusion veil was attached to a cap seeded with pearls. She carried a purple orchid on a white-bibbe.

Miss Margie Campbell of Spur was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Joy Hamilton of Lubbock, Frances Williams of Shalwater and Peggy Hay of Lubbock. Marsha Tonroy of Lubbock was flower girl. Candelighters were Misses Fern Lewis and Lillian Collins.

Wear Rainbow Colors They wore identical dresses fashioned with full skirts and wide belts in shades of deep purple, blue, chartreuse, aqua, rose and orchid. They carried bouquets of majestic daisies dyed to match their dresses.

Best man was Royce Jackson. Ushers were Edwin Peoples of Sweetwater, Neil Tibbets of Lubbock, Harold Hamilton of Taboka, Joe Max Barkley of Spur, Kenneth Macanear and Kenneth James of Lubbock.

At the reception which followed the ceremony in the church, the table was decorated with a white lace cloth, daisies and a tiered cake.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico the bride wore a black and white dress with black and white accessories. The couple will be at home at 2418 33rd St. after Aug. 14.

The bride is a graduate of Tahoka High School and is employed by Luther Transfer and Storage. Peoples is a graduate of Texas Tech with a major in dairy manufacturing and is now studying toward a master's degree. He is assistant superintendent of the Texas Tech Creamery and is music director of College Avenue Baptist Church.

Hutson-Matthews Vows Exchanged In Church Ceremony Sunday

Murdock Family Enjoy Fishing In New Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Murdock and son, Bobby, returned to Littlefield Wednesday after about a week's vacation fishing in New Mexico.

They were accompanied on their trip part of the time by Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Murdock, nephew and niece, of Albuquerque, N.M.

They fished at San Marcial, N. M., Elephant Butte Dam, and Alamogordo Dam, and among other points visited were: Las Cruces, Ruidosa and Hot Springs, N.M.

They brought back 39 fish, including Catfish and Perch.

Florence Champion And Billy Cowan To Wed October 2

The engagement of Miss Florence Champion to Billy Cowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Cowan of Memphis, is announced this week by her mother, Mrs. O. L. Champion of 2913 Amherst St., Lubbock.

The wedding will be solemnized in the Littlefield Missionary Baptist Church on October 2 at 7 p.m. The ceremony will be read by Dr. Weldon B. Meers, pastor of the church.

The bride's only attendant will be Miss June Robertson. Joe Walden will serve the groom as best man.

In a double ring ceremony Sunday at the Baptist church of Whitharral, Miss Wanda Faye Hutson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hutson of Whitharral became the bride of Cpl. Clyde Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Matthews of Crawley, Colorado. The couple spoke their vows to Rev. Joe Denton before an altar decorated with pink gladioli and green tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Nile green nylon dress with brown accessories. She carried a bridal arrangement of French chrysanthemums.

Miss Dorothy Crank of Whitharral was maid of honor. She wore a dress of navy nylon with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Melton Hutson, brother of the groom, was best man.

Candelighters Linda Martin and Janell Doshier wore white crepe dresses fashioned like the bride's.

During the ceremony, Mrs. Walden Newsom, organist, played "Love's Old Sweet Story," "I Love You Truly" and "Because" were rendered in a duet by Elaine Watson and Gurene Allen.

After the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained the wedding party with a reception in their home.

The Hutsons have lived near Whitharral since 1933. The bride attended the Whitharral schools.

After August 25th, the couple will be at home in Florence, Colorado, where the groom is now stationed.

STORK HITS JACKPOT: Quads Born This Year Set All-Time Record

By SHERRY BOWEN AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—U.S. quadruplet records have been broken in 1952. With several months of the year remaining, four living sets have been born. Three sets who all remained alive made 1946 the previous record year. The only other years in which at least two sets were born and stayed alive were 1951, 1944 and 1941.

This information comes from records kept by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cirminello, now of New York City, whose own quadruplets were born in Pennsylvania in 1944. So far as they know they have the only such records. Their tally of living American quads is 22.

They have made no attempt to keep files on sets of quadruplets of whom some were born dead or where some of the babies died later.

1915 First On Record The first living set was born to

Parents' Name	State	Boys	Girls	Birth Year
Keys, Flake M.	Oklahoma	4	4	1915
Perricone, Joseph	Texas	4	4	1929
Morlock, Carl A.	Michigan	4	4	1930
Schense, Fred	South Dakota	2	2	1931
Kasparas, Emil	New Jersey	3	1	1936
Blodgett, E. W.	Texas	4	4	1939
Lashley, Porter	Kentucky	1	3	1941
Brown, Nick	North Dakota	1	3	1941
Cirminello, Joseph	Pennsylvania	1	3	1944
Zarief, Harry	New York	1	3	1944
Fultz, James	No. Carolina	4	4	1946
Henn, Charles	Maryland	3	1	1946
Tigner, L. D.	Oregon	2	2	1946

Manning, John	Massachusetts	3	1	1952
Pinkham	Maine	1	3	1952

Mr. and Mrs. Flake M. Keys in 1915—all girls. Not that quadruplets hadn't been born previously. But that was the first date on which medical knowledge had advanced to the point where all four could be kept alive. The Cirminellos have reports of quadruplets born in the United States as far back as 1806.

In 1951 they predicted that an increasing number of sets would be kept alive because of the advance of medical knowledge. Events seem to be bearing that out.

After the 1915 set, it was 1929 before the four boys of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perricone survived. The Perricone set is the only one of the 22 which is all boys. In fact boys are in the minority. Of the 88 people in the 22 sets, 34 are boys and 54 girls.

More Boys Now The Cirminellos, whose own set includes three girls and a boy, speculate that survival for boys in sets of quadruplets is more difficult than for girls, but the four 1952 sets are evenly divided between boys and girls.

A study by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. shows quadruplets appear once in 620,000 births. With more than three and a half million births a year in the United States, the survival rate for quads apparently is still low.

Here is the way the Cirminellos list the 22 living sets in the United States:

THE PINKHAM QUADS, three girls and a boy, born in Maine this summer to Mr. and Mrs. Silas Pinkham of Portland.

FAMOUS BUNCH OF KEYS—the 1915 Keys Quads of Oklahoma, now married, have children of their own, but no quads.

A/IC George A. Kirk Transferred To Fort Worth Base

A/IC George A. Kirk, who has been stationed at Roswell Air Base, was in Littlefield visiting relatives and friends Wednesday enroute to Carswell Airforce base at Fort Worth, where he is now stationed. His wife, who has been living at Slaton, will join him at Fort Worth.

Kirk was accompanied here and to Fort Worth by A/2C Don Twining, whose home is at Toledo, Ohio, but who has been also stationed at Roswell. He will also be stationed at Fort Worth.

Both Kirk and Twining will play football with the Carswell Airforce team.

Three weeks ago Kirk was interviewed by Captain Nimitz, All-American Tackle from West Point, who is the Carswell Coach. Kirk lettered in Littlefield High and College (New Mexico Western and McMurry) playing center. He will play quarterback and defensive linebacker for Carswell.

Carswell will play their first game with the Dallas Texans in Corpus Christi on August 23.

WHAT SERVICEMEN WANT MOST

Yeoman Donald Eugene Dennis, son of county sheriff, Dewey Dennis, recently wrote his father a letter which may very well express the feelings of many of his fellow service men in the Pacific theatre of operations.

It seems that Sheriff Dennis had written his son about the Bloodmobile unit's coming to Littlefield and the tremendous local response to the call for blood for the armed forces. Donald's forthright reply was in this vein: "Giving blood... that's fine, and it helps to save a lot of lives, but what we want most over here is letters, love, and an America to come back home to which is as good as the one we left behind..."

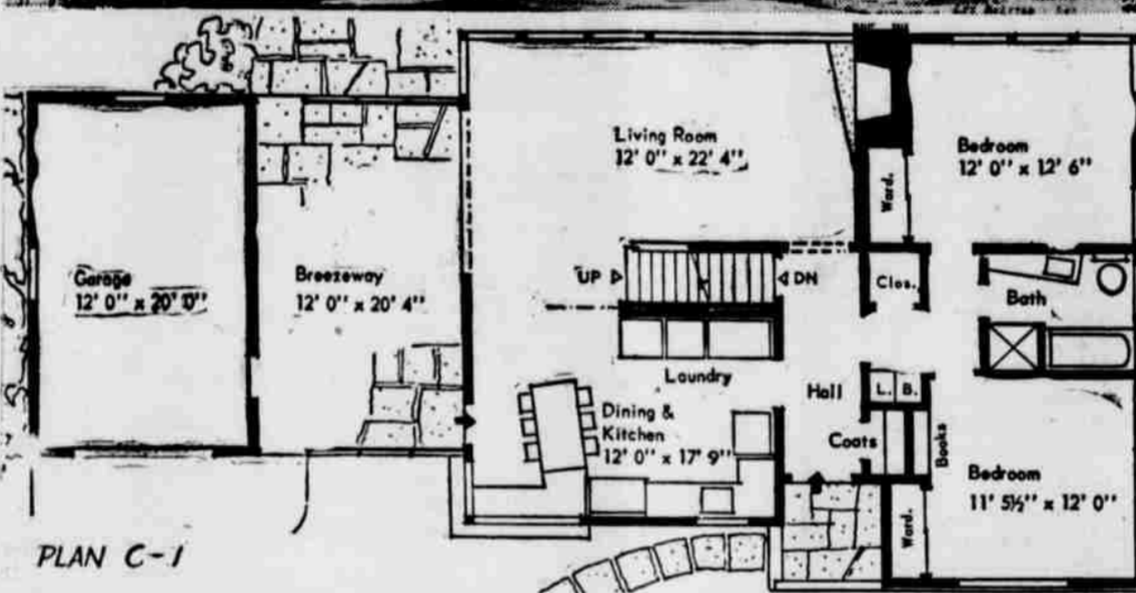

Donald is with the navy's amphibious forces and has been in Yokosuka, Japan for two months. He has been in service since September, 1951.

Just in case someone might want to help Donald catch up on one of the items he's missing, here is his new address: Donald E. Dennis, YNSN, 469-87-52, Headquarters Unit 1, Naval Beach Group 1, Navy Number 3223, c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

Cartoonist Frank Henry Temple Bellow, in 1852, drew the first picture of "Uncle Sam," whose original was Samuel Wilson, a U.S. Army inspector of provisions.

The first cafeteria was opened in Chicago in 1895, by Ernest Kimball. He moved from his Adams Street location four years later, but remained in operation in the basement of an office building there until 1925.

AP Newsfeatures
TWO EXTERIOR choices for one floor plan distinguish this "Young America House," design C-1 by Victor Civkin, 12 Ermine St., Fairfield, Conn. The only difference between the two facades involves slight changes in the windows. Two bedrooms and an extra bath are provided on the second floor. A barbecue fireplace on a rear garden terrace adjoins the living room fireplace. Architect Civkin designed this house with full basement for the General Electric Home Bureau, which is sponsoring 23 exhibit homes of this type in 11 states.

Stillwell Russell To Represent Lubbock Region In Vocational Education

Stillwell Russell, newly elected Texas member of the board of directors in point of service, Mr. Russell of the Texas Coordinators of Vocational Education, will represent because Lamb county was one of the Lubbock region which covers the first counties to be in the program. This territory includes the Panhandle, and goes as far south as Big Spring and as far east as Childress. Since the program was initiated in Lamb county, May, 1946, more than 59 veterans have received training. A new group is scheduled to begin classes and training in September at which time Korean veterans will be eligible to enroll.

New Principal, Head Coach Hired At Olton

The Olton school board, at its regular meeting Tuesday night, voted to hire a principal, a coach and two classroom teachers and refused the resignation of another teacher seeking to resign. The new high school principal will be Glen Reeves, Morton, and the coach will be Joe Turner, Austin formerly at Tahoka. Appointed to unassigned positions are Mrs. Reeves and Clyde Gilbert. The new superintendent, Carl Macon, is due to move to Olton Thursday. He, like the Reeveses, is from Morton. D. E. Howton, business teacher, submitted his resignation early in the summer. It was refused by the board, and he will be asked to reconsider. The school system is minus an agriculture teacher and a home economics teacher. There also may be other vacancies through resignations. The board also voted to move a teacher's home from the Hart's Camp school campus to the campus of the Negro school here for Mr. and Mrs. Booker T. Graves. Graves will be the principal of the Negro school.

Last Rites Held For Olton Woman

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary L. Dellis, 83, of Olton, were conducted at 10:30 A.M. Thursday at the First Baptist Church, in that city. The Rev. Glen Godsey, Baptist Pastor, officiated. Burial, with the Lemons Funeral Home, Plainview, in charge, took place in the Olton Cemetery. Mrs. Dellis, widow of the late James P. Dellis, was a native of Kaufman County. The family lived in Floyd County a number of years before moving to Lamb County in 1916. The plains pioneer died at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of one of her daughters, Mrs. L. P. Cox, Plainview, with whom she had been visiting for several weeks. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. R. G. Still of Lockney, Mrs. L. E. Silcott of Olton and Mrs. Cox; two sons, Marvin Dellis, Plainview, and Elmer Dellis, San Diego, Calif.; 32 grandchildren and 39 great-grandchildren. Jenny Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," had the first private railroad car, especially outfitted for her use, during her tour of the United States in 1850.

Shakespeare Gets a Plug From a Mug

AP Newsfeature

COWEDIAN Jerry Lewis thinks he'd make a great Shakespearean actor. Taking time out during the filming of his "Jumping Jacks," Jerry dreams of the moods he could dramatize for the Bard's lines. Here are some.

"HOW NOW, you secret, black, and midnight hags!" (Midsummer Night's Dream)

"LET'S HAVE one other gaudy night!" (Anthony and Cleopatra)

"SOMETHING is rotten in the state of Denmark." (Hamlet)

"ET TU, Brutus!" (Julius Caesar)

"IS THIS a dagger which I see before my eyes?" (Merchant of Venice)

as chairman. The group voted to have no fee for concession rights to organizations this year.

Guy Wadden will be publicity chairman. Preston Hawks and Trendall Ferguson serving with him.

United Nations To Be Represented

Decorated theme for the 52 festival will be in the national colors of all the member nations of the U.N. The committee approved a plan to place the names in a hat and let local merchants draw for the name of the country they will represent. Cash prizes of $25.00, $15.00, and $10.00 will be awarded Sudan merchants whose decorations best carry out the country that they draw. A deadline for having the city decorated has been set for August 15. Lloyd Robinson heads the Decorations Committee. Others on Robinson's committee are Max Houk, Frank White, Verne Wagner, Shelby Morris, Harvey Wagner, Howard Dotson, and Raymond Burdett.

"Miss Fall Festival"

Preliminary to the festival, a "MISS FALL FESTIVAL" contest will be sponsored by the Tuesday Study Club to select a young Sudan girl to reign over the festivities. Rules and regulations regarding the contest will be announced by the Study Club next week. Wanda Jean Williams, popular young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Williams, has topped the title for the past two years.

Costumes On Edge

According to present plans, all Sudan and area residents will wear costumes of the various nations represented during the week of the festival. Mayor Harold Close has stated that he will issue a proclamation to the effect that all citizens will be required to comply with the costume regulation or face the wrath of Joe Smith's Fair Court. Smith has again been named to head the "punishment" committee. Serving on the committee were: Mr. and Mrs. Niles Parsons, Paul Chisholm, and Rex Wayne Perry.

Events Of The Festival

A softball game between the local Powder-Puffs and some nationally known girls softball club will be scheduled one night of the festival. Contacts for this event are being made this week. The name of the club will be announced next week.

Kiddie games, one of the important events of the festival, are under the chairmanship of Olan Bunk, last year's best.

The Quartette Committee, with Sib Stone as head, is endeavoring to secure several quartettes for additional entertainment.

A "Time-Schedule" committee headed by Mrs. Doyle Sutton has been set up to schedule these and all other events.

Three Division Parade

The parade, one of the main attractions of the festival, will be divided into three divisions for the purposes of: Agricultural and Rural Communities, Clubs and Organizations, and Business and Civic Interests. A total of $200.00 in cash will be awarded winners in the parade. In the first two divisions $75.00 will be awarded for first prize, $25.00 for second prize, and $25.00 for third. Flats in the Business and Civic division will receive a $25 first prize, $10.00 second prize, and $10.00 third prize.

Music for the parade will be furnished by a number of High School and Army Air Force bands. Ralph Umbarger, band director of the Sudan High School, is chairman for securing the bands.

Out-of-town judges for all events will be secured.

Finances will be handled by a committee composed of Jim Arnold, vice president of the First National Bank, Earl Minner, and Max Houk.

Benjamin Franklin's famed "Join or Die" cartoon, published in the Pennsylvania Gazette in 1754, and showing a snake cut up in parts, each representing one colony, was the first newspaper cartoon.

Connie Hopping Comes Home —

Miss Texas there?" A question came quickly. "Was there any jealousy among the 14 contestants?" According to Connie there was "no jealousy... we all acted like sisters."

The crown which officially made Connie Hopping "Miss Texas" was placed on her head by Ray Roberts, president of the Texas Jaycees. Connie then got the thrill of all teenagers. She was kissed by Micky Hillman. Connie laughed and said, "Then they took him away, but not before he said that he was going to be in Lubbock more often." During the hour half hour Connie believes that she kissed everybody in Texas.

Coronation Of Queen

The coronation of Miss Texas was well recorded in picture and story. Photographers and reporters from Fox, Newsweek, Life, Time and "all the newspapers I can imagine" were there. Television cameras from all the major networks were also trained on the new beauty queen.

Prizes were showered on Miss Texas. MGM studio's Jack O'Toole presented her with a $100 U.S. Savings Bond. Bob O'Donnell, president of the Interstate Theatre, promised Connie a screen test—regardless of whether I want one or not. The Jaycees of Galveston and Sports Department gave her a $500 wardrobe. All the big shops and stores in the city sent gift certificates.

"The funniest thing I got," said Connie, "is a real nice blonde for our whole house." On her wrist, she was wearing another of her many presents, the Sultan Miss America watch.

Entertained In Galveston

Connie recalled some of the thrills—other than winning—of her week in Galveston. The most fun she had was at the Mrs. Sam Moore's swimming party Sunday afternoon. Many interviews, parties, and "strategy sessions" kept Connie and her mother busy these extra days in the grand city. There was another swimming party at the Pili Club house. A TV show Monday night for the Sinclair Co., a Beach Association party, and dining and dancing every night in the Balinese Room. "After each 'visit' there was a breakfast," said the new Miss Texas, who admitted that she only slept one hour Sunday night.

Troubles Just Starting

But Connie's "troubles" are just starting. She has already found out that she is no longer master of her own time or wrist. August 17 she will go to Dallas to be enrolled in a 10-day course at Powers Modeling School. While there, she will work with Stanley Wartus on a special song-book for presentation by her in the national beauty pageant.

This song routine will tell how she designed her dresses and what they are. In Atlantic City, each contestant for the title of Miss America has only three minutes to present their talents. This puts out Connie's chance to sing the white-prize-winning melody of "You'll Never Know," "It Had To Be You," and "You Made Me Love You," which she sang in the Lubbock and Galveston contests.

The judges and her advisors felt that Miss Texas would stand a better chance of impressing the national judges with her unusual talent for designing strikingly beautiful ensembles and modeling them. Especially when this creative flair could be combined with and accentuated by Connie's sunny voice. At the national pageant Connie's new wardrobe will be on display in a smart, modernistic setting with special racks. The dresses will be complemented by fashionable jewelry and other accessories.

Sing And Sew To Fame Connie intends to sing and sew her way to fame. "My talent," she said, "is stitching." With only ten days in which to design and create a new fall wardrobe, Connie may well believe in the old adage that a "stitch in time saves nine," but in this case that same stitch may win the title of Miss ### America for Texas' loveliest seamstress.

Mrs. Jim McCreary, Connie's mother, who won the unofficial title of "Mama" at the same parade in which her daughter won the official title of Miss Texas, says that she will not accompany her daughter to Atlantic City for the contest September 24. Gusie Nell Davis, named Miss Texas Style, who has charge of the Kilgore Ranges, may accompany Connie as chaperon and adviser if she is unavailable. Mrs. Sam Moore will make the trip.

Connie and her chaperon will leave Lubbock by plane on August 20 in order to be in Atlantic City and get settled before the hectic rush of the contest starts.

A Busy Queen

During the 10 days before August 17 when Connie goes to Dallas for her modeling course, she will still get no time for rest. She must design and make a whole new fall wardrobe. No small order for even such a talented girl as Connie. "About three dresses a day I'll have time to do," she stated. Possible contents of the contest wardrobe are a formal, a cocktail or "after-five" dress, and a basic dress that can be changed with accessories. She will take the completed ensembles with her to Dallas for approval by stylists at Neiman-Marcus.

Monday over KFTO in Lubbock, Connie will make two appearances. She will be interviewed on "Listen Ladies" at 11:15 a.m. and "Behind the News" at 4 p.m.

The Jaycees will host their winning beauty queen with a luncheon at the Capitol Hotel (formerly Hillman) at noon Monday.

Connie said reporters that the question most asked her was "How does it feel to be Miss Texas?" When queried about her plans for the future, Connie was evasive in saying that marriage is the first thought that runs through her mind. "No, I don't want to get married," she smiled. "I'm saving too much for this." First of all and above everything else, Miss Texas is out to get an M.A. rather than an M.B.S. degree. If she wins the national title which carries with it a $1000 scholarship, Connie plans to use it doing graduate work in home economics at Columbia University. She thinks a modeling career would be "fine."

When asked how her boy friends feel about her career plans, Connie came back quickly with "I didn't ask 'em!"

Connie has the real trouper's spirit to win. She thinks the biggest thrill of the national contest will be "just the chance to compete." Her fate glowed as she declared, "I just love competition."

Displays Good Wit

Connie laughed and candidly answered the reporter's last question: Have you had a definite pick-up in the number of calls for dates since you won the title? "Galveston's just loaded with men," she said, "and I think most of them have been calling me since Monday morning."

As the crowd, but still bravely smiling Miss Texas was once more surrounded by her family and rushed off toward a waiting family and said that she wanted to make a

Mrs. M. V. Robinson, mother of Mrs. E. L. Murbok, who divides her time between the Murbok home here and the home of her daughter at Muleshoe, and who has been suffering from a heart ailment for sometime, took ill Monday while at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Reed, at Muleshoe, and was brought to the Payne-Strawell Foundation, where she is still a patient. Mrs. Robinson has been very ill and was given several blood transfusions. Mrs. Murbok was out of town on a week's vacation, and did not learn of her mother's illness until she returned Wednesday.

Final official statement.

Pennils were ready. "They're always building up a Cinderella deal in connection with winning these contests," she said. "And I want to say this about it, Cinderella had only Prince Charming, but I've got all the Jaycees in the State of Texas!"

And the now famous Hopping smile that accompanied the statement showed that Miss Texas meant what she said.

PMA COUNTY COMMITTEE SELECTIONS 1953 NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Lums Chapel Farm Dinner Is Big Success

"Successful" was the word for the farm dinner at Lums Chapel Thursday night, the second in the current summer series sponsored by the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner, featuring ham and all the trimmings, was prepared by the Lums Chapel H. D. Club, Mrs. J. E. Wade, president, and served on the lot of the Burks-Swope Gin.

A crowd of about 100 farmers and business men attended. Pat Boone, Jr. was master of ceremonies. Marshall Howard gave a report to the group on the plans for the fifth annual Lamb County Soil Conservation District field tour to be held September 11. Jim Mangum announced plans for the Lamb County Fair.

The next farm dinner will be held at Poy, but no date is disclosed at present.
