SIX BUILDINGS SET UP ON SITE AT EDGE OF CITY

Three Others Are Started As Job Approaches Half-Way Mark

Laboring at top speed, workers had set up six of the 12 CCC camp structures late Wednesday at the campsite adjoining Simpson Sanitarium.

Lieut. D. S. Holton, chosen from the Reserve staff, will be camp commandant, and has been active at the campsite for several days. Capt. J. F. Roehm, Lubbock, is district commander.

Sticking closely to schedule, workers have laid foundations and put together the messhall kitchen, officers' quarters, technicians quarters, welfare building, headquarters and supply building and the infirmary. Work on two barracks was started Wednesday.

Construction, to cost about $14,000, will be completed by August 1, barring unforeseen complications.

Advocates Row Contouring On Rolling Land

C. W. Pierson, Cotton Farmer, of Littlefield advocates row contouring on rolling land, states Donald Turner, Assistant County Agent.

Mr. Pierson contoured a portion of his field last spring and reports that even during the heavy rains he had no run-off water, and was able to cultivate a lake bottom that in normal years was difficult to cultivate due to excess water.

Home-On-Wheels Makes Couple Happy

A "bungalow-on-wheels" will make traveling a pleasure for Andrew Jensen and his wife. Jensen is a mechanic with J. Lee and E. A. Vilbig road building contractors.

Built by D. F. and D. D. Beisel, Littlefield, in the Beisel Machine Shop here, this 7 1-2x21-foot plywood-lined home is wired for lights and has every modern convenience.

Built-in fixtures include kitchen sink, closets, cabinets, dressers, a bath tub and ice box. Roomy and comfortable, it should make traveling a pleasure, pretty blond Mrs. Jensen declared. The home-on-wheels was finished late last week.

G. M. Shaw Presented With Beautiful Cake By Mrs. A. P. Duggan

G. M. Shaw, Master of Ceremonies, was presented with a beautiful cake at the celebration Monday by Mrs. Arthur P. Duggan, for his efforts in behalf of the Reunion.

The cake, which was made by Mrs. Duggan, featured a large rose on the top made of pink and white icing, and was surrounded at the edges with small rose buds. It is pronounced by all as too beautiful to eat.

RAIN MONDAY MORNING
Rain ranging from one-quarter of an inch and greater fell in Littlefield and territory Monday morning. This rain, together with the rain of last Friday, came at a time to be most beneficial to feed crops.

OLD SETTLERS REUNION WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Littlefield Host To Around Four Thousand At Monday's Affair

The Old Settlers Reunion held here Monday was pronounced an outstanding success from every standpoint.

Showers, which fell early in the day threatened this outdoor affair for a short time, but soon gave way again to sun-shiny weather, and crowds gathered from far and near to mingle together, and recall interesting events in Lamb County before there were even a Littlefield, while local citizens welcomed back to this section those who are now living at distant places. It was a general get-together with many renewals of friendships of years gone by.

The crowd was estimated at around the 4,000 mark during the entire day. More than 1,000 people witnessed the parade. Over 300 old-timers registered, and probably double that number enjoyed the dinner on the ground at the Legion Hut.

According to G. M. Shaw, General Chairman of the Reunion, one man, "Funny" Parker came over 200 miles to attend the celebration, and a large number attended from 75 to 125 miles.

The affair was, in reality, a county-wide celebration. Citizens from Amherst, Sudan, Olton, Spade, Earth, Fieldton, Pep, Hart's Camp and other communities were here in large numbers. Muleshoe, Abernathy, Lubbock, Levland and other towns, had representatives here also.

The day's program opened with a parade from the City Hall down Phelps Avenue to the Santa Fe depot and back to the hall, and then to the City Park. L. A. Ratliff, deputy sheriff here, was marshal. The Junior school band, some 50 strong.

Packard of Springlake Club; and 1 qt. snap beans canned by Mrs. Ed Ross of Sod House Club.

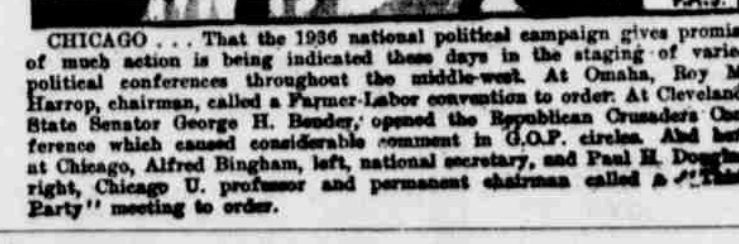

Political Conferences Now Order of the Day

CLEVELAND—G.O.P.

OMAHA—Farmer-Labor

CHICAGO—"Third Party"

CHICAGO . . . That the 1936 national political campaign gives promise of much action is being indicated these days in the staging of varied political conferences throughout the middle-west. At Omaha, Roy M. Harrop, chairman, called a Farmer-Labor convention to order. At Cleveland, State Senator George H. Bender, opened the Republican Crusaders Conference which caused considerable comment in G.O.P. circles. And here at Chicago, Alfred Bingham, left, national secretary, and Paul H. Douglas, right, Chicago U. professor and permanent chairman called a "Third Party" meeting to order.

FREE SEED FOR PLANTING TO PREVENT WIND EROSION AVAILABLE

It has taken nature many centuries to produce a vegetative covering to protect the soil from blowing. When this land was first put into cultivation, there was very little evidence of wind erosion. Since the native vegetation has been destroyed much of the farm land in the north and west part of the High Plains area will not have a substitute planted on it, there is nothing to prevent the sand storms from starting again in early winter.

Many farms were damaged by the action of wind this past season for the first time. If something is not done now to insure a cover on the land, many new farms will likely blow out this season.

To prevent this occurring again preparation should be made several months in advance of the blowing season. In fact, if a drought were expected each year and proper preparations were made in advance much damage would be avoided. If the drought did not come, no harm is done, but if it should be a dry

Sheriff Loyd James Hutson New Deputy

County Officer Will Take Over Duties August 1

Hutson of Littlefield, and son of Precinct No. 4 since 1933, has been appointed deputy sheriff by Sheriff F. A. Loyd. Mr. Hutson will take over duties August 1. Mr. Hutson will take over duties immediately following his appointment as deputy sheriff. Mr. Hutson is his resignation as constable commissioner Ellis Foust. Foust said that the commission would probably appoint a new deputy for Precinct No. 4 about August 1, calling a special meeting of county commissioners for that purpose. There are a number of applicants for the position. Hutson has been a resident of Littlefield and Lamb County for the past six years, coming to this city hereford. He is now serving a second term as constable. Hutson will continue to live in Littlefield.

Merrill Brigrance and S. L. Rollins, Jr. Selected as 2 Doing Outstanding Club Work

Lamb County boys, Merrill Brigrance of Olton, and S. L. Rollins, Jr. of Springlake, will be honored at the Farmers Short Course 1935 to August 2nd, states Don Turner, Assistant County Agent. These boys have been selected as two of the one hundred club boys in Texas who have done outstanding 4-H club work, and will receive a certificate of honor at the annual 4-H Club Banquet.

Merrill Brigrance for the past four years has done outstanding work in feeding three individual calves and will start a car lot of calves on feed this September.

S. L. Rollins has done outstanding work in raising grain sorghums. This is his second year as a club member and last year produced one of the highest crops of hegari in the county.

We Do Our Part

THANK YOU!

As a Reunion Edition, the Leader published on July 11, eighteen pages, containing many articles from old settlers of this section, outlining the activities of the early days.

The business establishments of this city in their usual cooperative spirit, liberally contributed to the advertising columns of this edition, nearly 100 per cent of the local merchants being represented in that newspaper.

Also, a large number of old settlers, on being invited to write articles relating their experiences in the early days, for this Reunion number, were kind enough to cooperate in a fine manner, as was indicated by the interesting articles written.

Many extra copies of this edition were published and distributed to visitors here for the Reunion, and a number of others interested in this section have also requested copies of this Old Settlers Reunion number.

Since publication of this issue a large number have called at this office, many of whom were old settlers from a distance, complimenting us on the fine edition published, and stating it would do credit to a much larger city than Littlefield.

Many times did we explain to these bearing these kind words that had it not been for the splendid cooperation and support of the business men of this city as well as the kindness of those contributing to the news columns of that issue such a newspaper would not have been possible, and that it is the volume of advertising that regulates the size of any such publication.

We are herefore, passing on this compliment to all those who in any way contributed to the Old Settlers Reunion Edition, with sincere gratitude for your cooperation and support, with the assurance that the management of the Leader will always endeavor to publish the greatest newspaper possible for the best city and section of the South Plains.

J. S. HILLIARD REPORTS TRIP TO DISTRICT ASSEMBLY AT ROTARY LUNCHEON THURSDAY

J. S. Hilliard's report of his own and F. O. Boles' trip to the 1st district assembly of Rotary at Vernon Monday and Tuesday was the highlight of Littlefield Rotary's weekly luncheon Thursday.

In spite of the "hottest weather I ever saw," the newly-installed president of local Rotary and the new secretary-treasurer spent an entertaining and instructive two days as guests of the Vernon chapter of the organization.

New directors and officers of Rotary for the present year who automatically took office July 1 were: directors, T. Wade Potter, R. T. Badger, Walter LeMond, J. O. Garlington, A. B. Sanders, Bill Pass and J. S. Hilliard; officers, Mr. Hilliard, president; Mr. Potter, vice president; Mr. Boles, secretary-treasurer; Lynn Dobbs, sergeant-at-arms, and Joe Grizzle, chaplain.

Morton Resident To Take Treatment At Dallas Hospital

Misgivings at evaporation of moisture is giving way on several farms of Lubbock and of Hockley counties to a new threat—an influx of what is known locally as the careless weed or web worm.

Treatment of plants with calcium arsenate or with arsenate of lead is reported to be the most approved remedy. Inasmuch as few farmers are equipped for spraying their fields, dusting of the chemicals may be resorted to should the plants be wet by a heavy dew or a light shower. July weather over the past 22 years, however, has shown a tendency to remain dry and afford little dew, especially between the dates of July 10 and 25.

By way of expedient, farmers may run a drag harrow over young cotton and scrape the insects off the plants to the ground, where the 90-degree-or-more temperature will cook them. Or they may list their land in furrows and the crawling worms will become trapped there and killed by the earth's radiation.

Interviewed At The Old Settler's Picnic

Settler Of County Reunion

Blocher of Progress, resident of Bailey County for the past 25 years, and owner of the townsite, was an attendant at the Old Settlers Reunion Monday.

Blocher claims to be the oldest settler of Bailey county. In an interview he said: "I was a townsite of Progress, rent buildings, and would sell land to those who would come to buy. I was the first to advocate irrigation in Bailey County. I came from Kansas, in April, 1907. I lived first about 5 miles north of Muleshoe, but now I live northwest." Blocher entertained the audience at the picnic with the song, "He's Sorry He Spoke," which was broadcast over the radio at the Old Settlers Reunion in that month.

Frank Norfleet Boy and Old Settler of 1886

Frank Norfleet, Hale County settler, who came to the Plains as a boy in 1886, was a visitor at the reunion. Recalling old times with Mr. Blocher, he said: "I brought the first cattle into the country in 1886. My father had cedar posts and wire to fence the million acres of Syndicate pasture. He would hitch up seven to nine yokes of oxen and a carload at a time. He spent 3 years fencing all this land from away north. He was reared at San Saba, settled in Bailey County, where we live now."

Among the old settlers in this county they have cities, towns and houses where they used to live in the old days. "I was on the main highway west of the Spade head when I was there we had about 20,000 cattle. We stayed on the ranch several years." Blocher and brought my bride to the ranch when I was foreman in four counties, Lamb, Haskell and Cochran Counties.

Norfleet, in inviting the League representatives to visit them in Hale Center, said: "We have every kind of fowl that you can raise them—have them by the dozen. We belong to the things you love and love them—and I hope you will enjoy seeing them."

Mrs. Wagner and Family Attend Old Settlers Reunion

Mrs. C. J. Wagner and her family, Helen and Ruth, were the visitors Monday at the reunion.

Wagner, who is Chief Surgeon at the West Texas Hospital, is an old settler in that county, having located there in 1913. He has been with the hospital since 1914.

Wagner came to Lubbock from Texas. He finished interne service at the H. A. Ochsner, world famous chief staff surgeon at the Louisiana Hospital, at that city, for 10 years.

Being interviewed and recalling his first years on the South Plains, Dr. Wagner said: "I took us back to the days when we went in all directions to the pastures in this Plains country. Those were early days in the history of the country, and in this part of the country, we were taking care of injuries among men and their families, and operations in those days were done in the homes. Lubbock had a population of 2100 then, and now has about 25,000."

Littfield was a small community in those days. The hotel was built, but only one brick building. W. H. Anderson was the doctor here. "Littfield was the community in which we would go to Yellow House Ranch. I personally made calls to the Ranch house. Many people would get an arm or leg or skull fractured, and those were always taken care of in ranch quarters. We had cars in those days, but it was always uncertain from one place to another, and persons calling would send for a car to meet us."

One of the old settlers were re-visited by Dr. Wagner, during the epidemic, so ably assisted in taking care of flu patients in the section.

John Kling—1913 Settler, First Farmer In County

Mr. and Mrs. John Kling, who came here from Crosby County in 1913, were among the old settlers attending the Reunion.

Mr. Kling plowed the first furrow that was plowed in Lamb County. Their farm was north of Littfield. They are now living 2 miles south of town. Mrs. J. W. McClellan of Waco, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ulyess Dalton.

Comes Longest Distance To Attend Reunion

According to G. M. Shaw, General Chairman, the man who came the longest distance to attend the Old Settlers Reunion was "Funny" Parker, who lives near Borger.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Arnett Among Visitors Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Arnett, old settlers in this section were attendants at the Old Settlers Reunion. Mr. Arnett has lived in this section since 1906, and had been foreman of the Spade Ranch for the past 16 years, taking J. Frank Norfleet's place. Mr. Arnett stated that when they first came here they got their mail at Hale Center, and rode a horse there every eight or ten days for the mail. He said the only places here then were the Spade Headquarters, Yellow House Ranch and Mash-ed-O-Ranch.

To Conduct Revival

REV. C. F. COLE
Who will preach at Revival here from Aug. 11 Until Aug. 25

Rev. E. F. Cole, pastor, evangelist, will be with the First Baptist Church of Littlefield for a two weeks revival campaign beginning Sunday, August 11 and closing Sunday, August 25. Rev. John Evans will have charge of the choir for the meeting.

Rev. Cole is one of the best pastor evangelists on the Plains, having been invited already to 19 churches for revivals this year. He has rejected several invitations to come to us. Rev. Evans is now singing for a revival in his own church and will go from there to sing for a meeting in the Anton church and come from that revival to us.

We should begin now and not wait until these men are here to start the meeting.

We should start with a surrender of our own lives and wills to the Lord to be used of Him in the meeting, make some definite plans and work to them, and save the lost time that is spent in the majority of the revival meetings preparing the church for the campaign. May we say once more to the entire citizenship of Littlefield, we want you to take part in this meeting. Your presence and influence will not only be welcomed but greatly appreciated by the Church, Evangelist and Singer.

Rev. J. F. Nix Is Conducting Revival At Amherst Church

Rev. J. F. Nix, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Clovis, New Mexico, is with the First Baptist Church, Amherst, for a two weeks revival. The meeting started last Sunday morning.

Since Wednesday the meetings are held in the open air close to the First Baptist church. Large crowds are attending the meeting, which is the second revival conducted in Amherst this year by Rev. Nix.

Rev. John Evans, pastor of the church is in charge of the singing.

According to Rev. Nix, he has married over 1500 couples during the 13 years he has been in Clovis.

It will be remembered that Rev. Nix has been with the Baptist Church here in Littlefield for two Revivals, and has many friends in and around Littlefield.

Bula Boy Scouts Enjoy Outing To Carlsbad

The Lone Wolf, of the Bula Boy Scouts met Saturday night with their Executive Council and gave a report of their summer encampment. The boys left Bula last Thursday week for a beautiful spot on the Pecos river near the Guadalupe Mountains in New Mexico, where they enjoyed swimming, fishing, hiking, tracking, cooking and campcraft of many kinds. One of their hikes included a trip through the famous and beautiful Carlsbad Caverns, where they made a seven mile hike underground in a fairland of beauty and enchantment. This hike was perhaps the climax of the entire trip.

A prize was given the best "all-round" scout, selected by the Scoutmaster, who accompanied them. The selection was made from a consideration of the following points: Familiarity of the scout with scouting, and evidence of the points of the Scout Law being a part of the scout's life; facility of passing advanced tests in scouting, together with the number of tests passed; and the number of merits gained by the scout on various things selected by boys as being worthy of merit. The Scouts were placed largely on their own responsibility in matters of conduct and procedure, and all of them showed very conclusively, that they had been, or were at the present, very diligent and actively engaged and practicing Scout principles they organized last January boys who won the trip were: Truitt, Patrol leader; Ross, Lester Darington, Claude Charles Jackson, Robert Butch the "Cub", Howard Weaver, Mallard is the Scout Master, Gordon Bain the assistant Scoutmaster. The Executive committee composed of C. L. Truitt, Pres. J. W. Butcher, secretary, and W. Jackson Sr.

MANUFACTURE OF BROOMS ONE OF LITTLEFIELD'S INDUSTRIES

When a Leader representative called at the Littlefield Broom Factory Saturday afternoon she was much impressed at the activity going on in the building which houses this enterprising business.

The manufacture of brooms was taking place in all stages, from the painting of the handles, to the finishing touches.

H. A. Carter, owner and proprietor of this establishment, very ably explained the various stages in the making of these brooms.

Mr. Carter explained that after the broom straw is cut, it is threshed and put on shelves to dry, when dried it is baled, and brought to the factory, tied up in small bundles and bleached; sorted out as to lengths; then wound on the broom handles by a winding machine. He stated the make of machine he uses in his factory is the only machine of its kind on the market, and that no larger are built. After putting the straw on the handle it is sewed by a heavy stitching machine, and is then ready for the market.

It is very interesting to see Mr. Carter and his assistants, Bill and Ed Courvisier, and Morris Pierce, bring the straw from raw state into the finest and most substantial looking brooms.

This factory which turns out between thirty and forty dozen brooms per month, is located on South Harrell street, southeast of Littlefield's Steam Laundry.

C. A. Baird To Open Bungalow Cafe On Highway 7 Aug. 1

Brick work was finished this week on the newer and better Baird's Bungalow Cafe, formerly the Speckled Cafe on Highway 7 at LFD Drive, according to C. A. Baird, owner.

Twice as big as before, the Bungalow Cafe will occupy a 25x25-foot space and will be a completely equipped cafe. New fixtures for serving beer, meals and short orders will be installed.

The establishment will open August 1. Three colors of brick work and plate glass windows on three sides will insure perfect service conditions. Curb service will be a leading feature, and the establishment will be open day and night.

Try CARDUI For Functional Monthly Pains

Women from the "teen age to the change of life have found Cardui genuinely helpful for the relief of functional monthly pains due to lack of just the right strength from the food they eat. Mrs. Crit Haynes, of Essex, Mo., writes: "I used Cardui when a girl for cramps and found it very beneficial. I have recently taken Cardui during the change of life. I was very nervous, had head and back pains and was in a generally run-down condition. Cardui has helped me greatly. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

Littlefield Gets Over An Inch Of Moisture Friday
Heavy rain fell here Friday afternoon, the total precipitation measuring 1 12-100 inches, which gave temporary relief from the heat wave which parched this section for the past week.
Fnochs, Morton, Bula, Sudan and Amherst reported good rains, measuring over an inch, while the section north of Amherst did not get as much moisture. It also rained all the way from Littlefield to Lubbock, but the moisture was lighter east of here.

Ford Announces He Will Build Million Cars In Year 1935
Dearborn, Mich., July 18—“My biggest job these days is in distributing wealth in a form that people can use,” Henry Ford said today, as he smiled broadly and handed newspapermen production figures for the first six months of the year.
Last November, Mr. Ford announced that he would build “a million cars or better” in 1935. With the year but half gone the figures show that, up to June 30th, the Ford Motor Company had built 810,700 units in the United States and Canada. Foreign manufacture for the six-months period was 37,804, bringing the total world production up to 848,504.

Slumbering Gold—
“The character of this man,” Speed thought, “is desperate. It is known to everybody who was on the trail in the first stampede of '97. He returns with a reputation for murder and mail robbery. He breaks jail, steals a gun, and is the cause not only of promise-as bloodshed, but of holes being shot in your tent roofs. We've hung him here because this roof has a strong crossbeam. With your kind attention, this ceremony will take about three minutes.”
As the crowd looked on in dead silence, Speed was pulled across the floor to the further end of the dancing space, near the orchestra, where he was lifted to a table under one of the traverse roof beams. Standing there, his feet were quickly bound. One of the posse expertly fashioned a halter loop with nine winds around the shank of a stout pack line; the other end was thrown over the beam, and the noose fitted to the captive's neck, with the hon-doos against his ear.
Speed watched these preparations with apparent resignation. His roving glance came to rest on Fallon, who stood ready to send him clear. “Still figurin' a play” his captor taunted.
“Yes,” said Speed. “One. They say a man's last look sees clear. Fallon, I ain't never tried to figure what lies over the line, but if that's so, maybe you don't check me out, complete. If you frame a deal against the boy, my pardner, or lay hands on Pete, by God, I'll follow you—dead.”
“Damn it, Fallon,” said an old miner, “I've seen men hung before, but never in your cold-blooded style. At least they're given the offer of a drink or a smoke. Why don't you do it regular?”
Some of the odd-timers voiced approval of that.
“All right,” Fallon growled. “You can ask him. I'm damned if I will.”
The man put the question.
“If it's a choice,” said Speed, “I'd like to roll a cigarette. I've got the makin'.”
His hands were untied and the bartender to “Bring a glass of the special, Soapy.”
Gratefully flexing his wrists, Speed rolled a cigarette and was lighting it, when the drink arrived in a well-filled tumbler. “I take this kind, Soapy,” he said, but I never liked to drink alone. You can use my name freely in urgin-drinks on the house. The marshal has my wad.”
This sentiment was most favorably received by a number of the revellers whose thirst had outlasted their means. The discovery that the condemned man's credit was still good with Soapy created a generally good impression. Fallon gnawed his cheek.
Curious newcomers were jamming in through the doorway, and Speed paused with the glass half-drained, at sight of one of them. Lefty, wearing a look of strongly mingled triumph and discomfiture, answered his stare by touching one bulge in the side of his coat and another in his pocket. Speed resumed his drink with a twisted grimace. So Lefty had his guns and the mail. The money would have been safer in the marshal's office. With the deft trick of his kind in worming through crowds, the dip drew nearer.

Watch Your Kidneys!
Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood
YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities that poison the system when retained.
Then you may suffer nagging back-ache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen limbs; feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

The forward press of the crowd had brought Rose nearer too. Speed met her clouded eyes again in a long study, as he emptied the glass and lowered it.
Fallon jerked it from his hand. “Any other little thing you'd like?” he inquired sardonically.
“They's one other thing,” acknowledged Speed, still looking at Rose. “I ain't heard no music for some time. If the lady will play a song while I finish this cigarette.”
Fallon wheeled, but Rose did not see his scowl.
A chord as clean and sweet as the tinkle of the wind at twilight through a desert canyon flowed from the strings under her touch, and shed an almost instant lull on the crowd. Then her voice dissolved into the music—a clear, exquisite contralto, plaintive, strong and deep, like the shore wash that sounded through it, sustaining the rhythmic lapses of the song.
In that beguiling, fluently riding spell of sound, the prisoner forgot everything apparently, but the stage's music. But his eyes drifted to Lefty's with a sidelong glance at the accordion which sang in the orchestra. Fallon, watching Rose and waiting for the end of her song, did not notice the invisible prompting. Eyes and wits less sharp than Lefty's would neither have perceived the look nor interpreted it, but the quickly detached the instrument from the table, and before he was aware of what had happened, tossed it to Speed. The pass was hardly observed before Speed had chimed the accordion with the chugging bass of Rose's song.
She looked up in wonder, but continued playing an accompaniment as the accordion repeated her melody. The sudden unexpectedness of the gesture took the crowd's breath no less than the perfect chording of the two instruments. He lured Rose's song into a lighter, brisker measure which she instinctively matched with the guitar until the melody itself was subtly changed.
Here was dance music such as few camps have heard, played by two artists who had music in their hearts and fingers. And as Speed swayed slightly with the playing, his eyes evading the smoke that curled up from the shortening cigarette butt, his feet were just visibly weaving too—as it seemed, to the infection of his own music, but with a crafty, studied strain against the rope. “Come on, boys,” he chanted suddenly. “Take your pardners!”
The crowd was almost swept off its feet. In another moment the miracle might have been done. Lefty, with a gaze of awed admiration, caught the meaning of Speed's strategy.
But Fallon came alive with a roaring curse.
“I'll make you dance, you jiggit!”
He made a stride for the table to kick it over.
The kick, however, was not completed. The crowd had buckled and swayed inward from the door, cleaved apart by a powerful pair of shoulders, and by a dark, youthful battling head which Speed had never hoped to see again. It was Maitland.
There was a sharp crack of fist against bone, and Fallon was stiffened to his toes by a terrific driving smash to the jaw.
He rocked and went backwards but saved himself from falling by lurching into the piano keys with a loud discord.
To the crowd it was like a gong. A lynching was one thing; this was something more; the challenge laced their blood with a strong intoxicant. The night had a head of steam.
Fallon shook his head groggily. A movement of one hand to his belt brought a roar of protest from the crowd—on their own account no less than that of fair play. But Fallon had no intention of shooting. He pushed the gun tight in the holster, and bracing himself against the piano, leaped for his antagonist.
The crash when they met sounded like an impact of bulls. Both men were magnificently strong and toughened by the snow trails, though weight and matured experience were in Fallon's favor. He drove in a pounding barrage of body punches. Maitland loosed in, trying to smother the assault, but taking hammer blows to the head and body. The instinctive balance which a sailor learns on heaving decks must have steadied him now; he thrust back of a sudden, and Fallon's foot, less sure of the glassy floor, slipped a little. The boy lashed up with a short left that cut the other's upper lip, and then drove home a full-shouldered right, as Fallon's head snapped back. He came back with a spring that tore through Maitland's guard by sheer weight and fury. They slipped and came up in a swaying grapple.

Pontiac Retail Deliveries Exceed Those Of 1934
Retail deliveries of Pontiac automobiles in the United States from January 1st to June 26th exceeds those of the entire year of 1934 by more than 2,000 cars. It was announced today by Mr. A. W. L. Gilman, vice president and general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Company. Deliveries this year to date total 76,157 while those for the twelve months of last year were 72,877. It was stated. The 1935 figures have not been equalled since 1929. At the end of the ten day period of June 1934 Pontiac dealers had delivered 40,169 cars, thus revealing an increase in retail sales this year of more than 75 per cent.
Littlefield Motor Company, of which E. B. Hewitt, is manager, are local dealers.

Help Each Other Club Organized

A group of women met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Ford and organized a "Help Each Other" Club, Tuesday afternoon, July 9.

The purpose of this club is to help each other as the name suggests, to afford more social contact for the community and also to become better acquainted.

The club consists of eighteen members of whom Mrs. E. W. Hodge was unanimously elected president; Mrs. A. C. Ford, vice president; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Tunnell; and reporter, Mrs. B. C. Rountree.

This club is planned to be a great success and each time a member is absent she is fined a nickel to be used for unexpected necessities of the community.

The club meets every two weeks. The next meeting will be July 25 at the home of Mrs. J. J. Cook.

We solicit new members and visitors are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Pumphrey Leave For Colo. On Fishing Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Pumphrey and children left Tuesday morning on a fishing trip into Colorado. F. C. Treptow of Shallowater is taking his place in Mr. Pumphrey's absence.

On leaving Mr. Pumphrey is reported to have made the statement that it depended on how fishing was when he would return. He said that if the fish were not biting in Colorado he would go where fishing was good, even if he went all the way to Arkansas. Mr. Treptow remarked that he believed Mr. Pumphrey had a soft place in his heart for Arkansas anyway.

One Room House Burns; Colored Infant Dies

Early Monday a one-room house on the L. E. Key farm, 6 miles west of Littlefield, occupied by Roy Lee Rose and his family, colored, was burned to the ground, and their little son, aged one-year burned to death.

The tragedy occurred when Rose turned low the oil stove in the shack and went out to plow about 2 a. m. Turning at the far end of the field, he saw his home ablaze. The infant was asleep, alone in the house. His wife was at the Key farm house nearby. Rescue was impossible, Rose said.

Last rites were read at the First Baptist church, colored, here Monday afternoon.

Annual Reunion at Home Of Mr. and Mrs. Swanner

A large number of relatives, 68 in all, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Swanner Sunday last in their annual reunion, in honor of "Grandpa" J. D. Swanner of Rosebud, Texas. At twelve o'clock a sumptuous feast was spread under some beautiful trees near a large surface tank. Something like fourteen gallons of ice cream topped off the meal.

The honor guest is 77 years of age. Of "Grandpa" Swanner's near relatives present there were four children, twenty-three grandchildren and eight great-grand children.

Among those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Swanner and family of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Swanner and family; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Swanner and family; Mr. and Mrs. Duard Swanner and son, of Littlefield; Woodrow Swanner, of Lott, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McCoy and family; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. McCoy, C. B. McCoy, J. H. Attaway and family, of Valley View Community; Misses Fay Dyer and Madge Ruth Williams and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams of Sudan; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Cooper, Clifton L. Cooper, Lowell Walden, Hardy Lee Parker, Bessie Attaway, Billy Duncan, Annetta Timeon, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Green and family, and Rev. O. L. Oldham and family, of Littlefield; Hilton Pace, of Valley View, and Bell Nance of Morton.

Grandma Swanner, who died ten years ago and O. L. Oldham's mother, were sisters. In 1878 J. D. Swanner and Mollie Allen were married, about the same time J. O. Oldham and Loney Allen married. The next year these two new families were separated and later completely lost from each other. By chance O. L. Oldham and some of the Swanner boys met here in Littlefield a few weeks ago. This was O. L. Oldham's first time to meet in the J. D. Swanner reunions.

John Nance Weds Mrs. Vernie Shipman Tuesday Afternoon

The wedding of John Nance, of six miles south of Littlefield and Mrs. Vernie Shipman of Ralls, Texas, was solemnized Tuesday afternoon, July 16, at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Malone, in College Heights Addition, Littlefield.

The ceremony was performed at 2 p. m. by Rev. Jno. K. Denning, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, in the presence of a number of close friends.

Attending the wedding were: Miss Maxine Shipman, of Ralls, daughter of the bride; C. A. and Wallace Shipman, of Ralls, nephews; Miss Anna Belle Nance of Morton, a niece of Mrs. Nance; and Mrs. Jno. R. Denning.

Mr. Nance has been a resident of this section for the past eight years, and is a prosperous farmer of the Lum's Chapel Community.

Mr. and Mrs. Nance had several old friends, and had known each other for 24 years.

Refreshments were served following the ceremony, and immediately thereafter the couple left on a week's trip to points in Texas and New Mexico. Among the places they will visit are Morton, Los Vegas, and Santa Fe, N. M.

On their return they will be at home six miles south of Littlefield.

HANKSMEN IDLE, BUT STILL LEAD

Producers Nip Merchants In First-Place Threat

The week found Sunnydale still holding down first chair in the City Softball symphony, but closely pressed by a hard-working Producer crew, which nosed out the Merchants, 8-4 last Thursday.

Sunnydale, with 3 wins and no losses, was lone 1,000 per cent outfit and hadn't played since early last week. Firemen held closely to third rung on the ladder despite a 5-3 loss to the All Stars, Legion and Businessmen were tied for fourth, each with .500.

T. J. Cowan Plows All Day On His Eightieth Birthday

T. J. Cowan, farmer of 12 miles northeast of Littlefield, Lamb County, plowed all day long on his 80th birthday, which was June 18th last.

Mr. Cowan, who carries on farming operations at the above address, was born July 15, 1855; and was married to Miss G. A. N. Sternes in St. Clair County, Alabama, Dec. 25, 1879.

To this union were born nine children, only two of whom are living—S. G. Cowan and G. S. Cow-

They have already celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

He has all his natural teeth with the exception of two. He never has worn any glasses, and reads the finest of print well without difficulty. He is very active, does his own farming and chores, and goes to town regularly.

Mrs. Cowan was born June 9, 1862, and is very active at the age of 73. She milks her own cows, raises chickens and a garden, and does her own housework.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowan came to Grayson County, Texas, from Alabama, living there and in Cook County for a number of years, then moving to Marckell and Johnston Counties, Okla., until fall of 1928, when they came to Lamb County, where they have lived since.

Coach L. T. Barksdale, new director of athletics at Wayland College, Plainview. The strapping Wildcat pilot for the past two seasons.

SPORT WORLD

By BILL NORRIS

Let's host a stein
To widows black
Which plumb refuse
To bite;
And thus make news
For folks like me
Who, of them, like
To write,
They evidently
Do some good,
Or else folks wouldn't
Tout them;
But if their hour-glass
Can't tell time,
I'd rather do
Without them!

By the way, what ever happened to the Black Widow's husband?

Here is a queer local quirk about golf which might make you stop and think a bit, should you have the spare time:

J. A. Lilly, Grand Old Man of Littlefield's leather business, has played a lot of golf in the past two years, and for his age (62 come April) has carded some remarkable scores.

J. A. kept a record of every game played during the summer of 1934, and the results are surprising. Out of 53 rounds layed, he averaged 41 and two-tenths strokes per nine holes. His high for the summer was 47, his low 37. . . . And the 58 games were run of the patch, not just his best games. Par is 36.

Pretty salty for an old timer who took up the game at the age of 59, hey?

By the way, what ever happened to Littlefield's golf course?

Brack Barksdale, lean, lantern-jawed pilot of Littlefield High's Wildcat athletes for the past two seasons, has stepped into something big. . . . Something which will doubtless call his many talents into heavy play, and something which will prove his worth as a mentor of high school sports.

They called him "Coach," and "Brack" last year. . . . Member? But this year he is director of athletics of Wayland College, Plainview, and in addition will do some teaching along the lines of health and physical education. This dope is picked from a letter written me by G. W. McDonald, President of Wayland.

Here, in part, is how the letter goes:

"We are very much pleased to have Mr. Barksdale with us and believe he is going to serve our purpose in a most satisfactory manner."

Sounds like a shot of the real McCoy, eh, gent-mens?

Peoples Produce Is New Littlefield Business Concern

The Peoples Produce, a new Littlefield concern, has been established by Phil Adkins, who has been connected with the produce business in Lubbock and others for a number of years. The new business is located on the corner at the rear of Renfro Bros. Grocery & Market.

The new concern will operate a complete produce house, buying poultry, eggs, cream and hides.

This is the second time that Mr. Adkins has been identified with the produce business in Littlefield. He operated a produce house here in 1927.

Mr. Adkins' wife and family will move to Littlefield this week.

LUBBOCK, OLTON WIN, LOSE HERE

Invitational Ball Brings A Win And A Loss

Invitational softball with out-of-town teams brought local outfits a handy win and a lop-sided loss during the past week. Here are the minutes:

Legion 20, Olton 8
Friday

Scott whiffed five lads from North County and allowed 12 hits in this 9-inning affair. Home runs by Steffie, Townsend, Woods, Tremain and Taggart booted the Legion into a lead lasting all the way, in spite of 9 errors on each squad.

The war babies piled up 19 hits, including triples by Cecil Duke and Taggart and doubles by Thornton, Woods, Tremain and Taggart. Handy work with the bat, coupled with meritorious labor in the garden, accounted for two-thirds of the victory.

Lubbock Poultry & Egg 5,
Producers 0
Tuesday

Fanning 17 men with monotonous regularity, a sensational pitcher named Godeke sent a Hardy Watson Producers' outfit down to an ignoble finish early this week. Price Price, lone Producer hitter managed for a double.

Mixing fast ones with slow, and spicing his program with a wealth of deception, Godeke dealt the home lads a goodly measure of misery. The first three Producers whiffed in quick order, and gave the fancy Lubbock twirler the signal to "let 'em have it."

Nichols and Briscoe, Lubbock infielders, each doubled while Godeke proved his versatility by hitting for four sacks in the second.

CHILD IS ILL

Mary Catherine Clark, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clark was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium Sunday for treatment. She was brought home Tuesday and is making a satisfactory recovery.

Floor Show To Be Given As Feature Of Dance Tonight

A floor show will be one of the special features of the Business and Professional Women's Club dance at American Legion Hall tonight.

The specialty numbers will be presented by the Misses Dorothy Newgent, Louise Thornton, Clyde Willis and Earnestine Cundiff. Mrs. H. F. Moody will be at the piano.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Jimmy Thornhill and his orchestra. This organization has played for a number of Littlefield dances, and is very popular.

Tonight's dance will be the annual event of the kind sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club. The last dance was attended, and all present reported very pleasant time. It is expected that there will be a good attendance at tonight's dance.

Frenchy, the fisherman who took the two men north; Lucky Rose, the beautiful girl who gave Maitland a ring for a keepsake; Fallon, trail boss of the miners and resentful of Rose's affections to Maitland; Brent, old-time prospector; Garnet, who gave Maitland and Speed his outfit and horses when he quit the trail; Pete and his drunken partner Owens, drowned on the beach; these were among the crowd of gold-seekers. After a hard trip north, with many hazards—and Speed killed a man at Skagway, the manager of a shell game who was out to get Speed—the two partners made camp for the winter near Bennett, where the Canadian Mounties held sway.

Drew, head of the Mounties there, said there was a strange legend about a ghostly Siwash who left tracks in the snow—his new man Cathcart was specially interested in it. One night the two partners were surprised to have a half-starved dog join them while they were eating steaks from a deer. Speed had just shot. A little later a man came out of the storm to them—the ghostly apparition of the Mounties' legend, they decided—and took half their deer. While Speed had gone to Skagway with mail for the Mounties, Maitland found a half-frozen figure in a storm, and discovered it to be Pete, who turned out to be a girl disguised as a man. Speed, when he got back to Skagway, was arrested on a charge of murder of the shell-game man and put in jail. When Frenchy, now a deputy, brought his supper to him, he made a break for freedom and escaped. Now go on with the story.

Speed waited another instant to watch the door. The foremost of the marshal's men rushed into view a thought sooner than he had counted on. Too soon for Lefty, anyway; the door was still shut.

With a terrific driving smash to the jaw he sent Fallon spinning.

Speed raised the gun for a shot that would draw them away from it. The revolver spat flame with a stunning roar.

For a priceless second, he stood dazed and half-blinded, stumbling to keep his balance and conscious of no more than the fact that he was alive. A numbness centered in his arm and hand. As the haze cleared he realized that the gun had blown to pieces. Probably frost in the barrel... he should have warmed it on the lantern before he left Steiner's tent.

And in that tick of doom, the pack was on him. The last thing he knew was the writing twist he gave his body so as to land on his shoulder, and a flare of fire in his head. Then the snow went black. He was still on his shoulder when he became conscious again, but his hands were trussed behind him with a rope; his ankles were bound; he was gagged and lying on dry ground.

Gradually a murmur of low voices in the tent became articulate. He recognized Fallon's and lay motionless. "... so we didn't find the kid through the winter till Chik Holter located a camp on the Teslin a ways above where we camped on the Lewes. An outfit was cuttin' timber there for a raft and Pete had a job cookin' for them. Holter picked up the mare's trail headin' west, alone. Picked it up and lot it."

"How?" another voice inquired. "The blizzard, I reckon. But I figured the kid was making for the coast. We had to come down for some gear anyway, and we'll head Pete off here at the same time."

Speed's ear caught sharply at some hidden implication in the man's

LET YOUR gas tank talk!

PUT ME ON A GULF DIET FOR JUST 3 WEEKS—AND I'LL OPEN YOUR EYES!

IF YOUR tank hasn't held Gulf gas lately, try it and see what it can do.

Inside of 3 weeks, you'll check the findings made by 750 car owners who recently took up this offer.

They tried That Good Gulf Gasoline in their cars 3 weeks—checked it for mileage, starting, pick-up, power, all-around performance.

7 out of 10 found Gulf better on one or more of these 5 points—many on all five!

Why? Gulf is 5 good gasolines in one! Controlled refining gives it not only 2 or 3—but all five qualities of a perfect gasoline.

Start your tank on a Gulf diet today. In 3 weeks you'll be a Good Gulf fan.

voice. The other voice murmured an interruption. "Seems to me like your prisoner's ears is awake."

"I'm speakin' to him," growled Fallon. "He likely knows plenty. It always looked to me like he had somethin' figured about Pete, and about Owens too."

"Well, if he won't explain himself, it'll be tough. He shot and killed a man in this camp, and was charged, legal. He busted jail, stole a gun, and would have done plenty more if the gun had been good. He ain't a Canadian. We tell the 'mounties' we don't figure they'd choose a man of this character to run their mail. We suspect he stole it; he was seen gamblin' in a joint with the mail in his pocket."

Through this talk, Speed's mind had been shuttling swiftly, trying to weave the full pattern of what it implied. The picture that began to emerge made him writhe at his bonds and at the gag in his mouth. "The Golden Pass" at Skagway, under the protection of Soapy Smith was a lathering vortex of carnival. It had a slick and spacious floor lit by hanging lamps which depended from the cross-beams of the lumber roof. A piano, banjo and accordion were in the swing of what sounded like a musical steeplechase. But they made a spirited noise, and served to indicate that the romping riot on the dance floor was socially intended.

In attire, the crowd was variously informal, mixing corduroy, rough flannel and heavy miners' boots with the "store clothes" of newcomers.

The bar had its own supporters, who somehow remained audible. In their rumble of talk there were echoes of a rumor that a dangerous gunman had broken jail and tried to shoot up the camp.

In the tumult no one, therefore, immediately noticed that a group of armed men had entered, pushing before them a hatless captive whose hands were tied behind his back. The leader of the posse commanded attention by the simple means of sending a bullet into the rafters. "Where's Soapy Smith?" Fallon demanded in a voice that made the quiet absolute.

No one answered, or seemed to know. One glance at the posse and the prisoner had sent through the crowd, drunk and sober, an electric sense of what was impending. There was a low drone and buzz of excitement. They pressed in for a closer view of the prisoner, who was looking at the rafters.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said

Bell & Walker Buy Farmers Produce And Hatchery

Bell & Walker, who have been in the produce business in Clovis for 17 years, and who own a produce house in Muleshoe, have purchased the Farmers Produce & Hatchery in this city from J. G. Willis.

The Littlefield business is located on XIT drive, south of the Cameron Lumber Co., and has been a produce house for a number of years. Jack Callaway, who has been in charge of the Muleshoe business, is in charge of the Littlefield concern which will be known as the Bell & Walker Produce House. Mr. Callaway has had many years experience in the produce business, and is acquainted with many people in this section. He is moving his family to Littlefield this week.

Local Motor Co. Installs Test Set And Hydraulic Lift

The Hall Motor Company received this week a new special laboratory test set and X-ray to better analyze the condition of the engine in any type of car. This machine, according to Manager Hall, Manager, detects any flaws in the electrical and fuel system, and also the major internal parts of motor, such as valves, piston rings and bearings. "All guess work is taken out of motor work by this machine. After we make a test on a car we only do what is necessary, eliminating all costly experiments, which often times do not remedy the trouble," he stated.

The Hall Motor Company also installed last week a hydraulic lift to render a more efficient lubrication job to all types of automobiles.

ROAD MEETING HELD Representatives of commissioners courts of Hale and Lamb counties met Monday at the city hall here to further plans under the proposed relief county road program.

HOW TIMES DO CHANGE!

How times change! There was a time when a six-cylinder automobile would attract a crowd.

Now a four-cylinder car will send the populace flocking to see what makes the wheels go 'round.

There was a very good example of this Monday when the Willys 77 was introduced to the folks hereabouts. This is a four-cylinder car and sells at a low price.

Penrod-Toles Motor Co. of Lubbock are distributors for this territory, and the Garland-White Auto Supply are the local dealers.

C. C. Alexander, factory representative of the Willys-Overland people, who manufacture the Willys 77, and R. H. Waters, wholesale representative of Penrod-Toles, were on hand to assist Mr. Garland and Mr. White in presenting the Willys 77.

There was a parade through the downtown streets, all models being on display—a sedan, a coupe, a panel delivery job, and a pickup. Following the parade hundreds of people gathered down at Garland-White to look 'em over.

Here are some of the features of the Willys 77: Up to 30 miles per gallon, 70 miles per hour, four-cylinder economy, floating power smoothness, and all steel bodies.

Mr. Alexander said that the sales of the Willys 77 had shown a 350 per cent gain in 1935 over 1934. Mr. Waters said that there had been 92 Willys 77 passenger and commercial cars sold in the Plains and Panhandle in the past three weeks.

season the land is protected from the blowing hazard. It has been demonstrated at the Soil Conservation Wind Erosion Project No. 27 at Dalhart, Texas, that the sorghums, either sweet or grain, will furnish an effective cover crop. This crop should be planted when moisture permits. Even up to the middle of August. It is best to leave all of the stalk, the heads may be harvested. Wide rows planted on the wheat land will prevent the soil from shifting, should a cover of wheat fail. The AAA restrictions have been lifted. We will all have to fold up our tents and move out if we all do not take measure to stop this wind erosion damage. Some farms have lost from 6 to 28 inches of their soil in the last two years. Our land will go likewise if we do not take steps to prevent it. We have 88,800 pounds of different seed for free distribution to be planted for a protective covering. Any farmer may have same by calling at the County Agents office.

Beisel Welder Gets Creditable Mention

An electric welder on wheels, built by Dick and Bill Beisel of the Beisel Machine Shop here, received creditable mention in a recent letter from the president of Hobart Bros., Simplified Welding of Troy, Ohio, to L. M. Austin, Lubbock representative.

The Ohio manufacturer expressed belief that the Beisel machine was the best built outfit of all the 10,000 machines for which Hobart Bros. had supplied generators.

led by A. B. Taylor, director, played. Members of the American Legion post marched in the line. There were more than a score of automobiles, containing pioneers of the city and county, grouped by years of their arrival. Dates ranged from 1886 down to around 1930.

Most interesting of the day's program were the talks by old timers. Gus Shaw presided as master of ceremonies, from a small truck on the north side of the American Legion Hall.

Pat Boone, who carried water as a boy for the gang that dug Yellow House canyon, welcomed the crowd. Pat is now a city father and gave official welcome to the visitors. He recalled some of his early experiences here.

P. E. (Pete) Boesen, "Daddy" of Sudan and an early day resident and land salesman, also spoke. It was largely through Mr. Boesen's efforts that the western part of the county was settled and he recalled some of his experiences along that time.

Judge R. C. Hopping, an early day county judge, now of Lubbock, recalled some of his experiences as county judge and a settler. He mentioned some of the early day cattle men he had known and told of the part they played in developing this section.

Recalling the founding of Littlefield, July 4, 1913, he said that that date marked not only the first sale of lots, but the arrival of the first Santa Fe train. B. F. Smith built the first house in town, he said, while W. G. and J. T. Street established the first general store. Mr. Richards had a small grocery store when the Street brothers arrived in Senator Arthur P. Duggan handled the first townsite, history of the county prior to that time. He said the first in this area was an adobe Yellow House ranch, built 1870's by buffalo hunters. Years later, a ranch house was built on the site. Major George W. Littlefield, er of the town and owner of Yellow House ranch and other properties, got the Santa Fe to up its California and Galveston lines through Littlefield.

Miss Ina Belle Wharton, child born in Littlefield, was deduced, as was J. Frank Hale County rancher and cowboy, Mrs. Norfleet and J. Wagner of Lubbock.

Joshua Blocher, oldest son of Bailey County, a visitor at union, favored the audience song, "Now He Is Sorry He

During the afternoon Floy and his Farm Hands furnished excellent music, and four young ladies, Misses Clyde, Earnestine Cundiff, Dorothy and Louise Thornton, dances and Miss Willis general number "Stars and Stripes" Games and contests for the girls, under the direction of gene Latimer, about 1000 held. They included potato sack races, greasy pig races, men's races.

A concluding feature of the events was a dance at the can Legion Hall.
