TOWN and COUNTRY by Wendell Tooley

By The Flag Saturday!

Saturday, November 11 is Veteran's Day . . . for many years known as "Armistice Day". This is the date that actual fighting ceased in the first World War. The armistice was signed by the Allies and Germany, November 11, 1918.

On this day each year in the allied countries some commemoration is made. The ceremonies usually include a period of silence at eleven o'clock in the morning (the hour at which the hostilities ended) and services in memory of those who were killed.

Other wars have followed since World War I, consequently it has been re-named Veteran's Day.

We salute the veterans of America for their loyalty, valor, and sacrifices which have preserved the freedom we so enjoy. May this day become one of Sacred Remembrance, TAPS . . . Day is done, Gone the sun; From the hill, from the sky; All is well, Safely Rest, God is nigh.

No, No, No, Mr. Dealey!

Last week a group of Texas editors and publishers met at luncheon with President Kennedy at the White House. The President invited them there to discuss in detail some of the various world problems.

At this meeting millionaire E. M. (Ted) Dealey, publisher of the Dallas Morning News told Mr. Kennedy that he spoke for most of Texas' newspapers and that they thought the President and his administration were "weak sisters."

Mr. Dealey certainly did not express the opinion of the Littlefield newspapers and it is this scribe's feeling that he did irreparable damage to the great state of Texas as he stood and made that asinine statement.

Actually the United States has backed down to Russia ever since Patton was ordered to hold his tanks back in World War II and let the Russian armies hit Berlin first . . . that until our present President said "no" to them a month or so ago when they wanted to take all of Berlin for Communist.

Just wonder if Mr. Dealey would like to be responsible for starting a war and would he like to be the first one on the battlefield?

Dealey's interruption came suddenly toward the close of the luncheon and there was a dead silence after he finished his lengthy tirade. The President, challenged for the first time at his luncheon, began his reply in a low voice.

"He said that everyone was entitled to his own opinions in this country and that this was a healthy thing. 'But the difference between you and me, Mr. Dealey,' Kennedy continued, 'is that I was elected president of this country and you are not. I have the responsibility for the lives of 180 million Americans, which you have not.'"

The President told the publisher, "If the American people want to make another decision in 1964, it will be all right but while he is president, he intends to be certain that the lives of the people in jeopardy are at stake before he makes any decision."

"The President said he had observed that men tend to like the idea of war until they have tasted it but that they quickly get enough of it."

"Wars are easier to talk about than they are to fight. I'm as tough as you are, Mr. Dealey, and I didn't get elected president by arriving at soft judgments."

It is interesting to note how many big Republican newspapers carried Dealey's blast on front page . . . most carried the President's answers on the inside pages of their newspapers.

No, Mr. Dealey, you certainly do not represent the Texas people . . . in fact you have embarrassed most of us.

Let's Beat Hale!

The official November 1 cotton estimate for Texas shows Lubbock County still in first place with 270,000 bales . . . Lamb County second with 215,000 and Hale in third place with 210,000.

With only 5,000 bales variance between Hale and Lamb . . . it looks like Lamb has a good chance of getting that No. 2 spot.

Of course if the sun doesn't start shining (this is Tuesday morning and it looks like another cloudy day) there'll be a less cotton production than the above estimates for both counties.

According to the Texas Almanac the last time Lamb County produced Hale in cotton was in 1957 a score of 138,362 to 145,333.

It's a little late to start a pep rally to beat Hale, although we sure our farmers have done their best for their own good . . . we could urge our edge of county gins to gin those redline bales that might be ginned in another county for credit . . . just to make sure another county doesn't get credit.

Civil Defense Class Slated

Littlefield's First Civil Defense class will begin at 7:30 Monday in the High School Auditorium, according to Glenn Reeves, superintendent of schools.

At noon Wednesday, a total of 100 persons had registered for the first course. Reeves said there were still openings available in the class and he would accept registrations until noon Friday or until a class of 100 was reached.

Reeves said there would have been more interest earlier, if the class had been able to set a date earlier. "But we are using the necessary time," he said. Each person who registers will receive an information packet and attend the class after the

"We still have openings left in the class that will begin Monday," he continued, "and persons wishing to enroll should call my office and register."

Included in the course is subject matter pertaining to six major fields of "Education for Survival." These are the need for Civil Defense, the effects of nuclear weapons, the effects of nuclear war on the national, state and local levels, the protective measures against all types of disasters, the effects of chemicals, biological and conventional weapons and how to make preparations for survival.

In addition the local class teaches the individual the importance of family planning, how to build a shelter, why there is the need for stocks of (See Civil Defense On Page 6)

General Gifts Meeting Today

Littlefield's United Fund Drive reached past the $14,000 mark in reports at noon Wednesday when a total of $14,266.89 had been turned in to the Fund office.

Workers in the Advance Gifts portion of the Fund Drive went over their goal Wednesday morning with a report of $11,376 and a spokesman for the group said that all the cards had not been completed. This group was shooting at half of the $22,340 total Fund goal.

Jack Christian, UF co-chairman, said he was elated at the excellent work done by this group and expressed the hope that all the various sections of the drive would exceed their goals. "There are three or four cards that are left to be worked in the Advance Gifts portion," he said, "and these will be contacted this week."

The General Gifts section is not half complete according to Howard Horne, chairman, and we have our final report meeting today at 10 a.m. at Thorntons. "The latest figure I have is $2,329.54 from our workers," he stated, "but a lot of them are waiting until today to make their reports."

The Employee Gifts division began Tuesday morning and had only a small report but listed three businesses and employees as being 100 per cent participants. These businesses are Beall's Department Store, Southwestern Public Service Company and the Littlefield Press.

"Most of the United Fund workers and chairmen are optimistic about reaching the goal," J. E. Chisholm, UF co-chairman, said, "but it is going to take the combined efforts of all the workers to make their contacts before the goal will be reached."

Four sections of the drive have not made any report. They are the Out-of-Town firms, the Littlefield Public Schools, the Spanish and the Negro divisions. Reports are expected later this week from each of these.

A Lamb County Grand Jury returned 25 indictments for trial in 154 District Court. The jurors, with Allen Hodges serving as foreman, were in session all day Monday and until 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Eight of the 25 indictments were against two Dimmitt men Randall Lamar Follis and Charles Ray Houtchens. Each was charged on four separate burglary counts including the break-ins committed at a filling station in Sudan, Wilson - Crump Lumber Company, Littlefield High School and Littlefield Press.

District Judge E. A. Bills set the bond at $2,500 on each of the four counts against the men.

Two counts of forgery and passing were brought against Harley Joe Baker with bond set at $1,000 on each case. Jerry Lee Goldsberry was also indicted for forgery and passing and his bond set at $1,000.

Forgery indictments were returned against Ralph Smith, Jr., and Clydia King. Bond was set at $1,500 on each.

Catarino Lozano was indicted for statutory rape and incest with bond being denied at the present time. Lozano is charged with having relations with his daughter. The attack supposedly took place in a cotton field near Sudan. Bond was denied because the charge is a capital offense.

Pedro Reyes and Albert Garza were indicted for car theft and bond set at $2,000 on each. (See Grand Jury On Page 6)

Olton Man Wins Grid Contest

A. A. Smith of Olton missed only six football games on last week's football contest and walked off with first place money. The tie breaker game was necessary in deciding the second and third place winners.

For the first time this season, the tie breaker game between Perryton and Childress ended in an 8 to 8 tie. Everyone missed this contest and was counted as a wrong guess on every entry.

Smith missed Canyon's victory over Tulia, New Mexico defeat of Utah, Baylor's win against TCU, Whittarral triumph over Amherst and Arizona's bounce back victory over Wyoming in addition to the Perryton - Childress tie. (See Olton Man On Page 6)

'61 Grid Season Draws To Close

Football season play closes Friday for all area schools except Littlefield, which has one more contest after Friday. Area schools have racked up a good over-all record winning 35 games with 24 losses and three ties.

Littlefield with a one victory and one loss in district play will tangle with the Hereford Whitefaces at Hereford. The Whitefaces have won two and lost one in district play.

Don Williams, Wildcat head coach, said "We have a good chance of defeating Hereford, but it won't be an easy game for either team." "We will be without the services of one of our top defensive players, Buddy Price, and this is going to hurt our chances," he pointed out. Price was injured in the Wildcat - Dumas game two weeks ago.

Williams said Hereford has a "real fine ball club with good outside speedsters in Mike Cansler and Dennis Hodges and a powerful fullback in Arnold Powell." He described the Whiteface quarterback, Joe Mack Hale as a "good ball handler." The line is bigger than the Wildcats, according to

Williams, and good defensive linebackers.

"This is their last game of the season," Williams pointed out, "and will in all probability be high for the contest. They lost to Dumas last week and this will probably add to their interest in winning against us."

Game time is 8 p.m. with tickets available now at Brittain's Pharmacy in Littlefield. Amherst's Bulldogs will end their season against Whiteface and are not expected to have much trouble in winning. The game will be played at Amherst. The Bulldogs were defeated last weekend by the Whittarral Panthers and downed Whiteface 38-16 in last year's contest. (See '61 Grid On Page 6)

Splitting Middles In Grain Fields Holds Moisture, Halts Erosion

CONTROLS EROSION AND HOLDS MOISTURE - Above is grain sorghum, after harvest, planted on the contour with the middles split back to the stubble with a lister. This picture was taken on the Paul Mathews farm south-west of Sudan. Splitting

Crop residue, terracing and contour farming are some of the conservative practices that the Lamb County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors are urging to be applied or planned to be applied this fall.

Since most all the feed is harvested at this time, the stubble should be used so that it will help control wind erosion, catch and hold winter moisture, either rainfall or snow.

This can be done in a very simple way says Paul Mathews who lives south west of Sudan. Mathews is a dryland farmer and does all that he can to conserve the rainfall and snow. At the present time he has the steeper land terraced and contour lines on the rest. Soon after the feed is harvested Mathews splits the middle back to the row leaving the stubble standing until spring. This method serves a dual purpose in helping control wind erosion and in holding or tying down the leaves of the feed that would blow off the field, in addition it holds the rain water on the field and traps blowing snow.

With the extra soil thrown around the stalks and on the roots, they will decay much faster. Mathews has used this method on his feed land for several years, and he treats his cotton land with an application of burs which are chiseled into the ground or plants a cover crop of a small grain.

Mathews stated that it was less trouble to carry out these practices because of not having to do emergency tillage during the winter and spring to control blowing. These practices can be done with regular farm equipment, and with little or no changes to the equipment.

The Lamb County SCD urges all that plan to install terraces or contour lines, to contact the Soil Conservation Service personnel who will be glad to help or furnish any information that is available. This can be done by contacting the office in the Courthouse.

Philosopher Wonders How Russian School Kids Get Along In Their History Courses

Editor's Note: The Sandals Philosopher discusses

A REVERENT AND COMPLETE SERVICE ... IN MEMORIAM

Our reverently beautiful service is a fitting tribute to the memory of your loved one—and within the means of everyone.

HAMMONS FUNERAL HOME

Russian education this week. Anything to get the spotlight off his education.

Dear editor:

In between all those test bombs the Russians have been setting off recently there was an interesting piece of news out of Russia that I read in a newspaper an insurance salesman left out here - incidentally, I didn't take any of his insurance, on account of we had a disagreement on what extended coverage included; he said it included such things as hail, windstorms, lightning, etc., and I thought it ought to cover Russian fallout too -- at any rate, to get on with this particular piece of news.

According to it, the late Stalin's body, which has been kept in a glass tomb in Red Square for Russians to file by in hero worship, has been removed on orders of Khrushchev, who is a candidate for the spot himself later on. Furthermore, the Russians have now been informed that Stalin was a bum.

Now I was just hinking, what sort of a problem does this present to Russian school kids? On Friday they took their home work with them, with an assignment to memorize the birth and death dates of Stalin and recite at least ten of his many heroic achievements for the People's Democracy. On Monday they were told to turn in their history books, due to a typographical error the books were wrong about Stalin.

I can hear a good Communist teacher telling her pupils: "I just don't know how such an error could creep in, I should have caught it myself, but everybody knows, if he listened to the radio Sunday, that Stalin is no hero and never was. What I said about him Friday, when I was bragging on him, you will immediately erase from your minds."

I tell you, teaching school in Russia must be a trying job.

If everything you learn is going to be subject to change without notice, you might as well play it safe and stay ignorant. The only people who came out on the long end of this latest Russian switch were the Russian school kids who failed to do their home work on that weekend.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Mrs. L. E. Sloan spent the weekend with Mrs. Roxie Seymour, Mr. Sloan and Bobby also had lunch with Mrs. Seymour on Sunday.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Ada Rudd were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Elmore and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lane of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wheatley and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rudd of Muleshoe.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Parish were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kennemer and family of Muleshoe, Robert Parish of Long Beach, Calif., Celab and Clinton Robnett, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kendrick and Kenny of Earth.

From Your Chamber Office

By Gene Garrison

Tuesday, Nov. 14, there will be a Congressional Forum in Hereford, to discuss the proposed changes in the Sugar Act. A delegation from Littlefield will attend this meeting. Congressmen George P. Poage, Mr. Loyal Walker and Congressman Walter Rogers, and Congressman Robert Poage, Mr. Loyal Walker and Congressman Walter Rogers, will be present with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be as Panel Moderator. The program begins with a luncheon at 12:00 noon at the Hereford Hotel. A meal will be served by the Hereford Rotary Club. The core of the program will consist of a 10 minute open statement by each of the Congressmen. After the opening statements, the moderator will address written questions to the members of the panel. Everyone attending the meeting should become reasonably well briefed in regard to the future Sugar Beet potential.

The Hereford Chamber of Commerce has been extremely active in this program. They have several other Chambers in this area have sent delegations to Washington, worked on potential sugar beet planters and sugar beet processors and millers. They are working toward a goal of growing large quantities of sugar in this area which of course would lead to processing plants and sugar refining plants.

It might be well to further state that though this project has as yet been successful, the efforts to diversify the economy in Deaf Smith County have proven successful and have raised their economy by leaps and bounds. I am glad a member of our people are being interested in further raising our own agricultural economy.

In the very near future, the Chamber will be establishing a committee organization for the year 1962, in order to have a sound committee organization, the objectives and functions of each committee must be determined in advance. A sound motto is, "find job first and then appoint the committee."

How many and what type of committees should a Chamber of Commerce have? There is no fixed number. The size of membership, the economic condition of the community, the extent of the Chamber's Program of Work, the number of the staff, and the number of volunteer workers, the available finances, and the attitude of the membership all go into determining the number and type of committees which a Chamber of Commerce should have.

In general, the committees are set up, reflect the needs and needs of the community. The function of the Chamber of Commerce is to provide leadership to the volunteer effort which is interested in working to improve the economic well-being of the community.

There are two basic kinds of committees - administrative and project. Administrative committees are concerned with organizational and operation procedures - trace the entire structure of the Chamber of Commerce. Project committees - of various number and kind, are usually determined by the program and vision of the Program of Work. There is no hard and fast rule about permanent standing committees and special or temporary committees to carry out projects. Usually it is wise to continue projects that have proved successful and for which there is a demand.

An all-new Ford ...
right between Galaxie and Falcon

Some cars have new names...
this name will have a new car!

The name is familiar—the Ford Fairlane 500. The car itself is totally new—so new you'll see nothing else like it this year. It is one of Ford's milestone designs—and will be as influential in its way as the first mass-produced car (a Ford Model T), the first popular station wagon (a Ford Wagon), the first four-passenger luxury car (a Ford Thunderbird), the world's most successful compact (a Ford Falcon).

Right between Galaxie and Falcon in size and in price, the 1962 Ford Fairlane 500 is just the right car for just about everybody. You have never been able to buy anything so right before.

Big in room, rdy and performance, it is still priced under most compacts. It moves a truck as though it never expected to see another. It moves like a rubber on roller skates.

New unitized body a foot shorter outside... full size inside.

Ford engineers have changed the proportions of the automobile's a completely new unitized body gives you more room inside with less bulk outside. A foot shorter than previous Fairlanes, the new Fairlane 500 is pleasantly parkable, it's lightfully driveable, easily garageable. At the same time it packs into its neat and tidy 197 inches as much passenger room as you had in some of the biggest Fords ever built.

Twice-a-year maintenance. Service is reduced to a minimum—30,000 miles on many items, twice a year on the rest. You go 30,000 miles between major tune-ups, 10,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications. You don't have to touch the engine, coolant, antifreeze for two years—or 30,000 miles—at a time. Brakes adjust themselves.

All-new economy Eight from world's V-8 leader.

The Ford that joined the Thunderbird—and sped the Falcon to all-time Economy King honors—turned to a new problem here: the world's first economy V-8. Made possible by new Ford foundry methods, the new Challenger V-8 is as strong as iron—and a lot lighter than iron's ever been before. As lively as you'd like, it'll run than you'd expect a V-8 to be. It's a natural powerplant for America's first car that's rdy and have it car.

For those who want even greater drive, there's a new Fairlane Six. Its economy would be gratifying in a smaller car. In a car this size it's a downright delight.

Preview America's newest car now.

As part of Preview Run U.S.A., new Fairlane 500's are riding the nation's highways and main streets right now. Watch for them. See what thousands have already seen—and rave about. Take a turn at the wheel—and perhaps do a little raving yourself.

We think you'll agree: this all-new Ford is just right for just about every body. No matter how many new cars you've looked at, you haven't seen anything like this one. It will be at your Ford Dealer's next week. If you miss it now, be sure to see it then.

Penn Point

By D. H. P.

If you have anything that needs to be done before the world comes to an end, then you had better get to doing it, at least if you can believe a group of Asian astrologers. The stargazers, looking deep into their heavenly chart, say that on the night of February 2, 1962, seven planets will be in conjunction in the house of Capricorn. That night the moon enters the same house.

And as any good astrologer knows, that's bad.

One of the astrologers predicts these events: that fatal February night; Floods, earthquakes, war in the Himalayas and the collapse of the United Nations. Another says that the world will explode like an over-ripe watermelon.

Now, I never have been prone to believe in the stars or the people who do nothing but study them, and I am not changing this position. Chances are that on February 3, 1962, that's a Friday, I'll get up as usual, go to work as usual and never even realize that the world came to an end the night before. If I don't and the world does come to an end, then don't say I didn't warn you.

Russia sent the Western powers a note Sunday, saying if we didn't quit our testing of nuclear weapons, then they won't quit either. So far all we have done is threaten to explode our bombs in the atmosphere and have done a little underground exploding.

In the statement, the Russians pointed out, "It goes without saying that full responsibility for the continuation of the nuclear arms race and for the holding of nuclear tests will be borne then by the United States government."

It continued that it "has been authorized to state that in the leading circles of the Soviet government there has once again been reaffirmed the readiness of the Soviet government to sign a treaty on general and complete disarmament, even today, on the basis of which would be stopped once and for all nuclear weapons tests."

Just who's kidding who? Russia will quit their testing when one of two things happen, they either kill all their enemies with fallout or they run out of things to make the bombs with. I still think a good change in the wind would create a little excitement in Russia.

It's quite all right if your mind goes blank every once in a while... but just remember to turn off the sound when it does.

Television, the ruination of the health (mental and physical) of the people of the United States has for so long been the fact that new and different types of programs and advertisements have become a necessity. The American public is not as morose on the TV programmers make it out to be but this captive audience still receives its share of moronic programs.

I received some information about a new program that will make its debut on December 3 and should be most entertaining. It will feature the Band of America, a group I liked to listen to some years ago on the radio (?). At present there are three shows planned for this series with one on New Year's eve and another on Easter Sunday night.

If the shows are as good as they are supposed to be, it may not be a bad idea for the entire American public to see what can be produced in the way of a TV program. Until then, the programs will continue on their same moronic tone.

Major General Edwin C. Walker, ousted from his West Berlin command largely on the representations of an irresponsible, camp-follower type of publication, and subsequently offered a promotion to cover the Administration's confusion over the storm of protest that arose, has resigned from the U. S. Army.

In a statement sent at the same time to Chairman John C. Stennis of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee that will conduct hearings on muzzling the military, he explained why. It had been made impossible, he said, for him to train his soldiers in matters he considered essential to morale and to their capacity to survive. He will, therefore, now try to do as a civilian what he couldn't do in uniform. In resigning, General Walker is giving up an earned retirement income variously estimated at from $12,000 to $20,000 a year.

General Eisenhower resigned from the Army to run for the Presidency, and is the only other general officer ever to do so. But he failed to make it stick, since President Kennedy restored his rank immediately after the Inaugural.

It is recalled, however, that General Walker tendered his resignation once before - in protest over the use of Federal troops at Little Rock. As commander of the Arkansas Military District at the time, he tried to stop Washington from sending in the 101st Airborne, insisted that the National Guard could handle the situation effectively and considered Army interference an invasion of states' rights.

While the Pentagon refused to accept this first resignation, it will not be so easy to reject the present declaration. Since General Walker is now eligible for retirement, there would seem to be no way of forcing him to remain in the service.

It is a sad thing that he must purchase his freedom at such a financial sacrifice and saddle still that he must lay aside the uniform he has worn with pride for more than 30 years - in order to fight the most sinister enemy of all time.

But we desperately need the Walker type of leadership - not just against Communism, but in the fight to make patriotism respectable once more.

Bobby Joe Walton, a Wildcat lineman last season, reached a and se Austin, by Gov. Price Bower.

Willie 1957, the number of Sims coming to Texas has Meditly declined. Governor
Shiel always has felt that Tex-
B should match the advertising
ograms of other states.
Nationally, tourism is the third largest industry. In Texas, it ranks 13th.
Texas voters amended the constitution in 1958 to allow state money to be spent to attract tourists. But two sessions of the Legislature have declined to appropriate the money.
Charged with responsibility of promoting tourism in Texas
is the State Highway Department.

The upcoming all-day session is designed to build grassroots support for legislation to finance a program of advertising.

SAFE HIGHWAYS -- An increase in highway fatalities this year, after a 26 per cent decline in past years, disturbs the state's chief policeman. Col.
Homer Garrison, Jr., of the Department of Public Safety.

Present statistics indicate the number of deaths in 1961 will be 20 or 25 more than the 2,254 of 1960. So Colonel Garrison has sent out word for his men to redouble their efforts to remove the unsafe and reckless drivers from the highways.

Program includes more use of radar equipment to check speeds, especially the new type which requires only one highway patrolman per car. It also includes more stopping of drivers to make sure they hold drivers licenses.

Tougher enforcement policy
will be followed by Governor Daniel's annual Christmas traffic safety drive starting with Safety Sunday - December 10.
Governor Daniel urged pastors to remind their members of their personal and moral obligation to drive carefully.

CAMPING OUT - More and more people are using the state park system for overnight
camping.

Bill M. Collins, executive director of the State Parks Board reported that 398,419 persons registered for overnight camp
facilities in Texas parks during the fiscal year which ended August 31. This is far above the 297,415 of the previous year.

Attracting the greatest number were the rugged canyons of Garner State Park. Gain there was 70 per cent, or an increase to 138,951 from 99,731 during 1961. Palo Duro Canyon and Huntsville State Parks also showed substantial gains in campers.

WATER CHANGES - Personnel of the important State Board of Water Engineers has undergone a shake-up.

Governor Daniel has moved Chairman Durwood Manford to the State Board of Insurance, which is troubled by several legislative investigations.
Manford, a former speaker of the House of Representatives, can be expected to work on Board - Legislature relations.

To replace Manford, Daniel chose as chairman of the Board of Water Engineers Joe D. Carter of Sherman. He moved him from his present job as executive director of the Texas Water Development Board, the state water lending agency.

Carter has been in state water work since 1952. He has served as legal counsel for the Texas
Water Resources Committee;
legal examiner for the Board of Water Engineers; and as the first executive secretary of the Water Development Board. He is an attorney, and a former representative and senator.

H. A. Beckwith of Eagle Pass was named to the Board of Water Engineers. He previously served 10 years on the board.
Since 1958, he has been its chief topographic engineer. R.
M. Dixon of Dallas leaves the board.

The Board of Water Engineers is the state's water administrative and planning board. It decides who can take water from Texas streams. It also has worked out a master plan for meeting the needs of the state for municipal and industrial water for the year 1980.

MORE TAX LAWS? - City
officials had their annual meeting, and heard Governor Daniel give support to their main thesis -- that cities need new sources of revenue if they are to handle the growing problems caused by Texans moving to town.

Most likely avenue is the movement to have the state abandon the property tax, so it can be used exclusively for city and school purposes. The State and Local Tax Study Commission created by the Legislature in 1959 is specifically directed to report on this possibility.

Speaker James A. Turman filled two vacancies on that study group. He named Reps.
Charles L. Sandahl of Austin and Charles N. Wilson of Trinity to work with senators and citizens who have been named to it by Governor Daniel and former Lieut. Gov. Ben Ramsey.

In addition to reporting on the idea of state abandonment of the ad valorem tax, now bringing in about $40,000,000 a year, the commission will report on when other new tax sources
should be granted to cities which need them.

Most startling tax news came from James McGrew, research
director for the Texas Research League. He said it is a very close question whether the new sales tax will produce enough
state revenue in the two years starting September 1, 1963, to keep the state's books in the black. The big factor - steady and heavy growth of public schools and colleges.

HIGH HEADCOUNT - Enrollments in the 19 colleges and universities operated by the state government rose sharply this year -- about 11 per cent.
Total head count at the 19
schools this fall was 100,982.
This compared with 91,960 a year ago and 82,568 only 10 years ago.

Addition of the University of Houston to the list of state-supported colleges in 1963 will give the state school total a big jump. Its 11,860 enrollment this fall makes it the second largest in the state, second only to the University of Texas' 20,396.

Texas Tech at Lubbock has become the third largest with 10,212 enrolled.
Colleges and universities
which are not state - supported showed a smaller gain than the state schools - from 59,036 to 60,924. One factor in the change was the move of Midwestern University at Wichita Falls into the state-supported group.

Fastest - growing college is Arlington State. It had 1,318
students 10 years ago, and now has 8,318 to rank it fifth largest. Right behind is Texas A & M, which has 8,835 students
this fall.

MORE TIME - The State Board of Insurance urged all insurance companies to extend by 60 days the 90-day period allowed under Texas standard policies for filing proofs of loss
on Hurricane Carla.

While it was not an order, it is fairly certain the industry will obey the Board's suggestion voluntarily.

Legislative investigation was completed on the claim-paying practices arising out of Carla.
Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger, chairman of the House investigating Committee, suggested strongly that some legislation should result.

Legislators were particularly critical of the fact that the Texas policy carries the word
"hurricane" on the front, but also carries an endorsement
which limits the coverage
somewhat.

They also found many Texans
do not have their insurance policies, because mortgage companies require that the policy
be filed with them. Legislators suggested that copies be supplied to the homeowners, too.

Some insurance companies do,
and some do not.

NURSE PROGRAM - Studies
by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners reveal that 24,613 vocational nurses have been licensed in Texas since 1951. Also 103 training schools now are in operation over the state. Examinations on October 20 and 21 resulted in licensing of 656 candidates.

It now takes one year in a vocational nurses school or two years in a professional nursing school to become eligible to take the state board examinations.

WORKING ON THE HIGH-WAYS - Texas Highway Commission laid out $20,000,000 worth of work for its staff to do to improve safety on 2,433
miles of primary highway.

List includes 376 projects 156 counties, and ranges
to complete reconstruction
to complete reconstruction.

Highway workers are getting some new training.
They will be taught how to detect radiation contamination, so traffic can be away from unsafe areas
of a nuclear attack.

According to the American Foundation for the Blind,
there are now 65,000 blind
readers registered with libraries for the blind, there are probably at least 2 million at least 120,000 processed library users; but as yet few blind people have heard this service.

Farm Facts

The greatest single use of fresh water in the United States is for irrigation - 75 billion to 100 billion gallons a day, or about half of the fresh water we use annually.

Next largest consumer is industry and steam power plants. According to Karl O. Kohler, Jr., writing in the 1955 Yearbook of Agriculture, they require about 70 billion gallons of fresh water daily. It takes 18 gallons of water, for example, to refine a barrel of oil and about 300 to make a barrel of beer.

Kohler notes that application of irrigation water is relatively inefficient. Annual delivery to a farm may range from less than an acre-foot (325,850 gallons) up to more than 7 acre-feet (2,280,950 gallons) to an acre.

A cutting of alfalfa requires about 325,800 gallons of water an acre, and a crop of cotton, 800,000 gallons.

In 1959 more than 33 million acres were irrigated as compared with about 20.5 million acres in 1944. Most of the irrigated land is located in the 17 Western states, Louisiana, and Hawaii.

Increases in irrigated acreage in the Far West and rapid introduction of supplemental irrigation in the Midwest and in the Eastern and Southern states in recent years have contributed to a much heavier consumption of water.

IMPERIAL OF 1962

IMPERIAL LE BARON FOUR-DOOR SOUTHAMPTON

A forthright challenge to everyone who plans to buy a luxury car this year

In a few days, you will receive a personal invitation to drive a 1962 Imperial. Not the usual vague "see your dealer" . . . but a specific challenge to compare your own car with the best Imperial we've ever built.

At your convenience, a dealer in your area will deliver a 1962 Imperial to you . . . for a thorough comparison-tour that you conduct by yourself.

We believe anyone planning to invest from five to seven thousand dollars in an automobile is entitled to the unembroidered facts right from the car itself.

Naturally, our dealers explain the advantages of torsion-bar suspension . . . tell you how the alternator supplies current even while the engine idles . . . quote engineering data on the superior performance of our new transmission . . . and answer any other question you ask about Imperial.

But you can find out only so much about Imperial by mere listening. To give the facts substance and meaning you must drive and compare.

So, when our invitation arrives, take us up on it. It obligates you not at all. And whether you eventually buy an Imperial or not, you'll never forget that once you drove a car which handled and accelerated and thrilled as a great car is supposed to.

R.S.V.P. Even though our invitation may somehow miss you, an Imperial comparison-tour may easily be arranged by writing on your letterhead to: General Manager, Imperial Division, 12200 East Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan.

Our Contemporaries Are Saying

Little Fellow, you almost made me bite the end off my heart this morning. And, that's all right, I'm not complaining. Your circling bicycle ran right into the path of my automobile, and I couldn't give you much leeway because a man in another car was passing me as I slowed down because I had seen you riding with the traffic on my side of the street.

You don't know just what happened. You didn't see it. You had the hood of your red jacket pulled up over your head, with "blinders", like they used to put on a horse to keep him from seeing things from which he would shy. And, that's all right. These car coats and hooded jackets sure protect youngsters from the cold.

When you swerved off the street you were travelling, at an intersection, giving way to the right, anyone would think you were going up that street. When you leaned over and circled way out, and you almost lost your balance was when we almost had it.

You didn't know then, you probably don't know now how close you were to tragedy, which would have hurt you and would have been a burden and regret to me the rest of my days.

I never ran into or over a child. God forbid that I ever injure one. You almost ran into me.

This isn't a lecture. It's just telling you, Sonny, exactly what happened, that did no one harm, but might have been a terrible thing.

I am most thankful that we didn't collide, and I resolve, my self, to be more careful, almost unnecessarily careful, and Sonny, won't you please be more watchful and careful, too?

— Plainview Daily Herald

WHEN $1 EQUALS $4

Speaking at a fund-raising meeting for a health cause in New York recently, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower recalled, in terms that any parent can appreciate, the death of his first son in childhood from a disease that science has now conquered.

The disease was scarlet fever. The former President's child died, he said, "only a year or two before research reduced that disease to a childhood sickness."

President Eisenhower went on to say, with a voice of experience, that no tax dollar administered by government can do the work possible through free will donations to worthy non-governmental programs.

This man who has had experience and responsibility in spending many billions of dollars through government expressed it this way: "Any private dollar is worth four government dollars". — Chattanooga News - Free Press.

ELECTRICITY - GOVERNMENT, PRIVATE?

Ever since the use of electricity became a scientific possibility, a battle has been going on, in essence, the issue is clear cut - whether government or private enterprise should supply this country's power.

That battle has been fought on the local, state and federal levels. In late years, however, the emphasis has been overwhelmingly on plans and proposals to put the federal government into the electric business on an ever-expanding scale. And the tempo of the controversy has been accelerated by the appearance of the new revolutionary source of electricity - nuclear fuel. Indeed, one of the bitterest controversies arising in this year's session of Congress concerned a proposal to build a huge federal atomic power project at the Hanford, Washington, plutonium plant.

And old argument pursued by the advocates of government, or socialized, power is that only government has the resources that are needed to meet this country's soaring power demands -- and beyond that, to keep us ahead of the Soviet Union's economic advance, in which increased power production is a major element. This argument was met and contradicted head-on by utility industry spokesmen at a just-held Conference on 1970 Power Transmission Plans which met in New York City. They supplied facts and forecasts which compellingly indicate that the industry is capable of meeting any need, that it is doing it, that it is looking far into the future, and that our lead over Russia is and will remain secure.

One of the speakers was Philip A. Fieger, who is president both the Edison Electric Institute and the Duquesne Light Company. He began with a brief historical review, in which he pointed out that since World War II, use of electricity in this country has been growing at the average rate of 5.6 per cent a year, which is about 2 1/2 times the rate of growth of the economy as a whole, and that the industry (which serves about four-fifths of all America's electric power customers) has filled every demand. He made this important statement:

"Historically, the electric power system in this country has evolved in a simply-stated pattern. Capacity has been built to serve the needs of the people in the places they want to use it". In other words, the industry builds from the bottom up, moving on from the local area to regional planning and coordination, in which numbers of companies, crossing corporate lines, often work together.

We have only about one-third the area of the Soviet Union -- but we have five times its mileage of transmission lines. We have only about one-tenth of the world population -- but we have about one-third of its power-producing capacity. Putting it still another way, we have more electric power capacity than the next five countries in the world combined.

So much for the past and present. What of the future? To begin with, Mr. Fieger observed, Russia aims at a per capita production of some 3,000 kilowatt-hours of electric power in 1970 -- ours is expected to be around 2,500 in that year. Then he went on to cite and describe the plans of America's 400-odd investor-owned electric companies.

These companies have been spending about $3.2 billion a year for new plant and equipment, which is the equivalent of 10 per cent of new construction for all American business -- certainly a remarkably high proportion. The 1961 investment figure will be higher -- about $3.5 billion. And that, as Mr. Fieger's words and charts showed, is only the beginning. The rate of annual spending for new construction is estimated at $6.4 billion by 1970 and an almost incredible $12 billion by 1980. The result will be that, in that year, the investment in investor-owned power companies will be $165 billion -- as against, for example, $13 billion in 1940.

Power production, measured in kilowatts, will reflect this enormous spending for facilities. In 1960, the peak load was about 105 million kilowatts. This, it is expected, will increase to 226.5 million kilowatts by 1970, and to 425.5 million by 1980. The industry's capability will be substantially higher, thus providing a safety margin over and beyond anticipated demand.

Mr. Fieger stressed many another fact and point during his talk to the Conference audience. They all added up to one thing -- that the investor-owned industry is 100 per cent capable of doing the tremendous job of meeting a virtually insatiable demand for electricity. And it will make the most effective use of all the fuel sources -- oil, coal, falling water, the atom.
