British Troops In An Invasion Alert

LONDON (AP)—British troops in Southeast England went on a surprise alert early today to show potential invaders it's still a tight little island, and with no soft underbelly.

For a week the twin cities had been preparing for the worst. They had marshaled armies of men with fleets of trucks and heavy earth-moving equipment to raise dikes and build auxiliary levees behind them.

At the north end of the Council Bluffs dike standby teams of workmen were building a huge ring of sandbags behind a point where the rush of water against the bank was "piling up" higher than the rest of the stream.

It was a vigil fraught with uncertainty that the huge force of Army Engineers who built the walls and dikes, and soldiers and civilians who raised them much beyond the original height, were keeping. There was nothing they could do now but wait.

The 32-year-old adventurer, whom the Indonesians consider a No. one enemy, is still being investigated, reliable sources here said.

He was held only a few hours after Dutch police nabbed him with homicide, violence and desertion. The Indonesians claim Westerling is responsible for hundreds of deaths in fighting that followed Indonesia's independence from Holland in 1949.

Judge Rules You're Sober If Cops Allow You To Drive

If a motorist is sober enough to be permitted by a policeman to drive a car to the City Hall from another point in town, then that person isn't drunk enough to be arrested, once the City Hall is reached, was the ruling of Acting City Judge Mack Rodgers in the Corporation Court this morning.

In making this ruling the court found a woman charged with intoxication not guilty and dismissed the charge against her. She admitted, however, that she did create a disturbance at the Police Station, protesting her arrest on the drunkenness charge, and this plea didn't leave Judge Rodgers with any choice other than to impose a $10 fine.

The evidence showed that her husband had been arrested on a DWI charge and placed in a police car, while she was permitted to drive the car that her husband had been operating in following the police car to the City Hall. Upon her arrival there, she testified, she was arrested on a charge of being drunk. "I was not drunk," she told the court, "but I suppose I did create a disturbance."

Another defendant was fined $10 on a disturbance charge when the evidence showed he and his wife had "a little family trouble" in a local hotel. A motorist who confessed he didn't have an operator's license was fined $25, and another pleading guilty to a speeding charge was assessed $10. Seventeen other defendants received low fines and the court's permission to resume their journey. Two men charged with drunkenness and disturbance were fined $10 each.

Ike's Margin In N.J. Now Over 158,000 Votes

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Election officials today counted the few remaining New Jersey presidential primary ballots—the last thin trickle in a flood of votes that gave the nod to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Returns from all but 13 of the state's 3,840 districts have been tabulated, catapulting the general to a 158,000-vote victory over Sen. Robert J. Taft, and assuring him of 31 of New Jersey's 38 Republican delegates to the national convention. The GOP primary tally, with 13 districts still unreported, is: Eisenhower, 385,170; Taft 226,512; Harold E. Stassen, 23,029. Results of the contest also apparently gave the general 31 of the state's delegates, with four backing Taft, one for Stassen and two still undecided. The Eisenhower-Taft battle overshadowed the Democratic primary, in which Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee polled 160,000 votes against a negligible amount received by a few scattered write-in candidates. Democratic delegates, however, decided to remain uncommitted.

Smith Defends Pioneer Sales To Government

HOUSTON, April 17 (AP)—The President of Pioneer Airlines, Inc., denies that there is any thought of a "get rich" idea in the sale of eleven DC-3 airplanes to the Mutual Defense Assistance Program. General Robert J. Smith, the Pioneer chief, said his firm stands to make about $718,000 profit on the deal. Smith said his airline was selling the planes because it had on order nine 36-passenger Martin-202 planes.

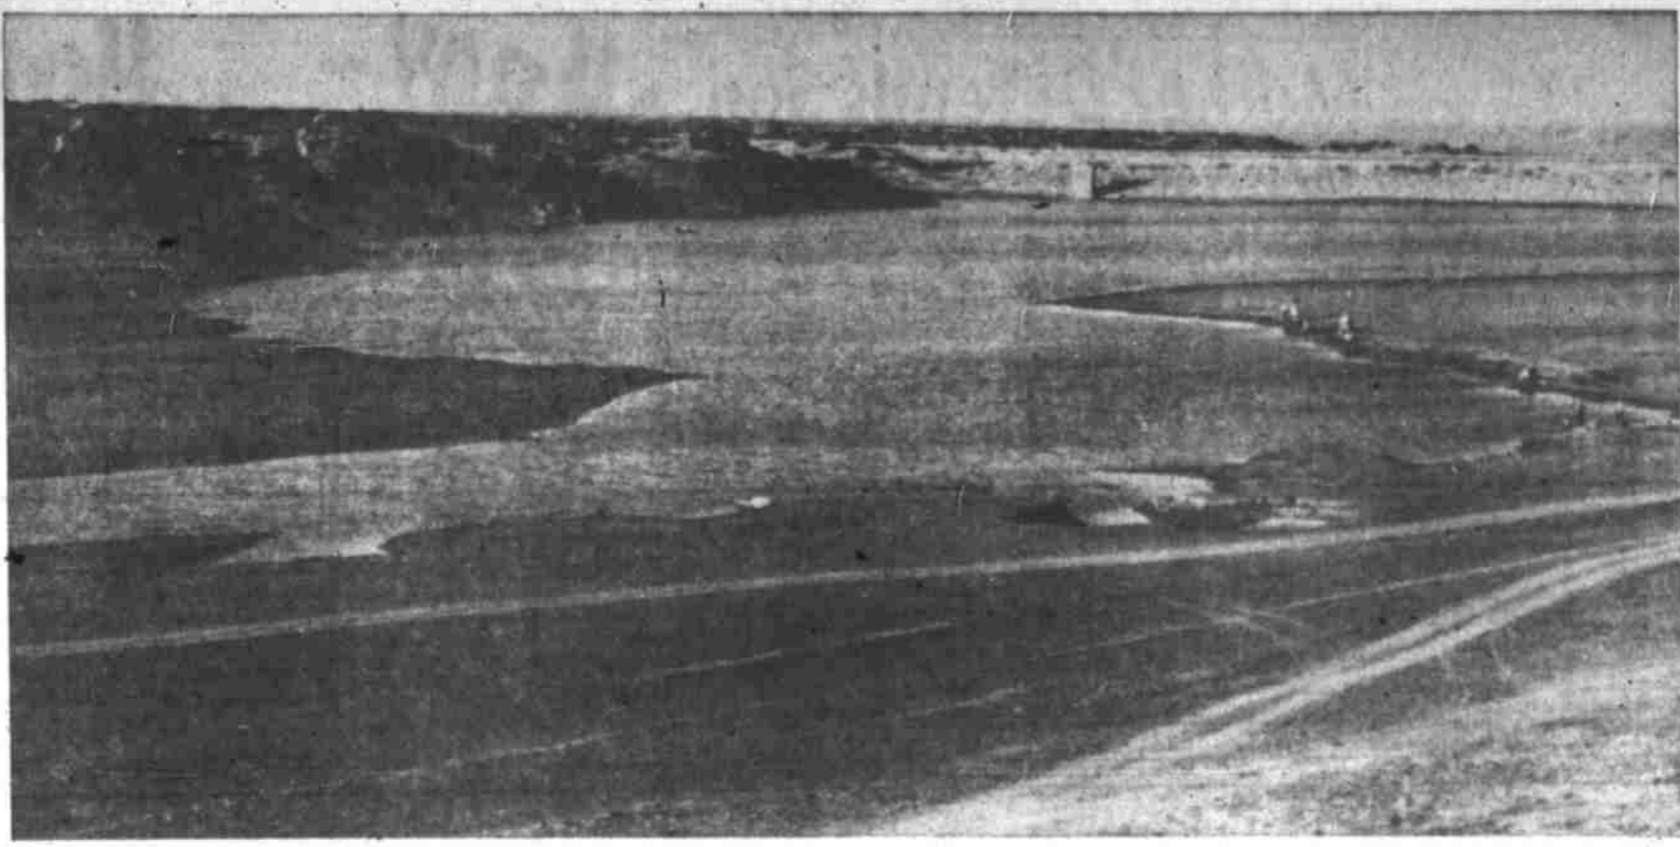

The former aide to W. Stuart Symington in the National Security Resources Board said the DC-3's were purchased from 1948 to 1951, the majority from War Assets Administration. Smith contended the price for the planes was not exorbitant considering the amount paid out by the airline for conversion of the planes from C-47's to DC-3's. "There was no thought of making any profit—of making any exorbitant profit—in the sale," the former brigadier general in the Air Transport Command said.

Douglas Backs Sen. Kefauver

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) today threw his support behind Estes Kefauver of Tennessee as "the best available candidate of our party" for the Democratic presidential nomination. Douglas' announcement came just 24 hours after Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois declared he could not accept top place on the Democratic ticket. Douglas had been supporting Stevenson. Douglas also said he would not accept the party nomination for President. "I am in Kefauver's army," Douglas said. "I am enlisted for the duration." The Illinois Senator said he believes Kefauver has a very good chance to be nominated.

Lodge Tries For Oklahoma Votes On General's Side

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., (R-Mass.), presidential campaign manager for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, tossed a verbal barrage last night at rival Republican camps. Lodge spoke at a rally here in an effort to attract some Oklahoma national convention delegates now pledged to Sen. Robert A. Taft. The delegation is considered to be split, seven for Taft, seven for Eisenhower and two for Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Lodge said: "We know where Eisenhower stands on the great central issues. We know it by his deeds, if not by his words. Words are cheap. . . . I think it's a waste of time to try to get Gen. Eisenhower to say how he would have voted on 3,000 different bills if he had been a member of the Senate in the last 15 years." Lodge said Eisenhower would get rid of communism, corruption and waste in America.

MONEY COMES FROM VARIED SOURCES

Red Party Operations Costly And Moscow Must Dole It Out

(Editor's Note: The black market and a subsidized press—these are among the weapons of Communism. Here is an important and revealing story on the cold war, giving a new insight into the way Moscow operates. The information was gathered by William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, in a two-month tour of Europe. This article is the first of a series of four.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst
PARIS (AP)—Stalin waits for the time of conquest to ripen, and the money rolls in for his legions abroad.

It takes money—much money—to feed Stalinism. Where does the money come from? Even the salaries of Communist members of parliament are tapped to swell the party coffers. From Communist journalists and professionals come regular remittances—the member's income less a living allowance on the scale of a skilled worker. From constant subscription drives on behalf of the Communist press come the francs and lire and marks of working people persuaded that their lot can be bettered. But from Moscow comes the bulk of operating revenue. Cominform couriers scurry about Europe with remittances doled out to parties according to their needs and importance. Some parties, in Scandinavia for instance, get virtually nothing. Others, particularly in France and Italy, are liberally aided so long as Moscow sees results forthcoming. A Soviet diplomat, immune from customs regulations, transports gold to be used to buy francs or lire or marks on the black market. The black marketeer in Paris or Rome or Frankfurt who sides up to the visitor to offer local money for American dollars may be indirectly in the employ of the Cominform. The Cominform assiduously gathers American dollars for its own ends.

Every possible source is tapped, even to raids on the treasuries of the unions which are dominated and controlled by the Communists. The money pours in under the impetus of rigid party discipline. But the operations of a Communist party are highly expensive, particularly in the key areas of Europe. No matter how extensive the resources of the party domestically, Moscow must kick in. There is a striking example of this. In an address to the French National Assembly in November 1948, Jules Moch, then interior minister, gave this explanation: "The French Communist party and its various branches have the great advantage of having accounts at one single institution. The Banque Commerciale Pour L'Europe du Nord. A peculiarity of this bank, which is a French limited company, is that its capital is divided into 100,000 shares, 97,000 of which belong to two Soviet governmental banks, the National Bank and the Foreign Trade Bank. The remaining 3,000 shares are distributed among various French and foreign Communist leaders. "This French facade, therefore, is hiding a purely Soviet reality." The bank is still operating. French government sources say the total accounts of Communist organizations are overdrawn by 15 million francs ($4,600,000). In one month, August, 1948, the total overdrawn was 68 millions, without so much as a wince from the bank. In addition, large sums come from countries of Eastern Europe, either through transfer to the Banque Commerciale Pour L'Europe du Nord or through the transport of gold under diplomatic cover.

Moreover, the Communist party spends millions on its press in the cities and the provinces. Again with France as the example: There are some 20 Communist dailies, 83 weeklies and 26 magazines. The rightist newspaper L'Aurore has estimated the Red bellwether paper—L'Humanite, needs more than 30 million francs a month for printing and editing. Aurore says L'Humanite runs on a deficit of millions monthly, and the Communist press loses even more. Tons of literature for the party are sent out under the franking privileges of French Communist legislators. Parliament must pay for distributing Communist orders and Communist propaganda sent out under the name of Jacques Duclos, who is a parliamentary secretary. Ten or 12 bags of mail a day go out from the Assembly under the Communist franking privilege.

Sea Elephant Has A Rugged Time In Life

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sir Anton, believed to be the only antarctic sea elephant in captivity, is finding out what humans have to endure in civilization. Since he was captured in his native habitat and stowed on the Danish scientific ship Galathea, Sir Anton has been fighting one affliction of civilization after another. Penicillin cured him of pneumonia, a switch in diet and a jolt of castor oil corrected an attack of acute indigestion.

But nothing could fix his claustrophobia. He doesn't like crates; simply pines away in them. So the Copenhagen Zoo, to which he is consigned, decreed that he should desert ship and hop a plane for the Danish capital. He's winging his way there today. With him is a veterinarian who has instructions to spray the 200-pound animal at regular intervals with water. The zoo doesn't want to risk losing its valuable prize. When fully grown (he's six months now) he'll weigh 8,000 pounds, and won't those Swedish zoos be envious!

In the following days he has had to order about 34,000 of the city's 45,000 residents to evacuate their homes. Meanwhile he has seen dikes raised against the greatest flood in history.

Confederate Vet Now 106

AUSTIN, April 17 (AP)—Dozens of guests and a giant tiered cake with 106 candles helped chipper Confederate veteran Thomas Evans Riddle celebrate his 106th birthday yesterday. Dressed in his Sunday best blue suit with a red sweepie in his buttonhole, he had a smile and a handshake for everyone. He chatted and joked from his rocking chair and said he was feeling fine. Greeting cards and presents filled a nearby table. There was a flashy red peckie, a box of cigars, candy, flowers and socks. There was also some folding money that wasn't on display. He had carefully tucked that away in his billfold. The party was given in Riddle's private room at the Texas Confederate Home. He is one of Texas' last two survivors of the war between the states. He was a private in the Confederate's 22nd Infantry Regiment, Tennessee Army, and fought under Gen. Robert E. Lee at Gettysburg. Only other Texas survivor is William W. Williams of Franklin who celebrated his 109th birthday last Feb. 8.

The Vanishing Water Hole

One of the big reasons why the City expects the water situation to grow progressively worse here pending rains is the shrinking reserve at Moss Creek Lake. Powell Creek Lake, the other surface supply, was pumped down nearly a year ago. Now Moss Creek Lake has been reduced largely to its channel. Officials estimated about two weeks supply remain. When it is exhausted, it will reduce the daily delivery to town by around 1,500,000 gallons and will put the City wholly dependent upon wells.

Marine Losing His Fight To See Mom Before Deportation

WITH 1st MARINE DIVISION, Korea (AP)—A fighting U.S. Marine is waging a losing battle to see his mother before she is deported from the United States. Sgt. Johannes (Dutch) Meulen-kamp, a combat rifleman for 10 rugged months on this war-torn peninsula, has begged in vain that either his mother not be sent back to Holland immediately, or that he be allowed to see her before she goes. "I owe everything to mother. I'd give anything if I could help her now—when she needs help," the tall, blue-eyed 22-year-old sergeant said.

Next month, or in June at the latest, Dutch will be rotated back to the States. But his mother, Mrs. Maria Cornala Louwerenburg, has been ordered by immigration authorities to leave the country by May 1. Her visa has expired. She now lives in Mill Valley, Calif., near San Francisco.

Steelworkers Get Restive Over Pay

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers were reported growing restive today over pay scales put into effect 17 months ago, and the government was believed about ready to give them a raise.

How much and how soon were questions Secretary of Commerce Sawyer was not answering. Sawyer, boss of the seized industry, had a tentative date today with Murray and Benjamin Fairless, president of the U.S. Steel Corp. Sawyer met separately with the two men yesterday—presumably to lay the groundwork for a government-imposed wage boost. President Truman seized the industry eight days ago when repeated attempts to reach agreement on a new work contract failed. The union's scheduled strike was immediately called off. The union is demanding a three-installment 17 1/2-cent an hour wage boost, fringe benefits worth about 3 1/2 cents and the union shop, which would require all workers to join the union. Those are the settlement terms suggested by the Wage Stabilization Board, which studied the dispute for three months. Truman was severely criticized yesterday by Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, Republican Senate leader, for his steel seizure order. Bridges blamed the President for "helping create" the steel deadlock and raising "the gravest constitutional question since the War between the States."

File Suits To Void Oil Leases Granted By Corpus Christi

ALICE, April 17 (AP)—Three residents of Corpus Christi have filed suit as taxpayers asking that an oil lease by the city of Corpus Christi to A. W. Gregg of Houston be voided.

The lease is on a 250-acre tract near the dam at Lake Corpus Christi, north of Alice in Jim Wells and San Jacinto Counties. The lake is Corpus Christi's city reservoir. A suit saying the land was improperly leased and asking an accounting of monies was filed yesterday with the clerk of the 79th District Court here. It was filed in behalf of Frank W. Nelson, real estate man; Ed Russell, machine shop owner, and J. M. Benkenroffer, owner of a bottling works.

Gregg obtained the lease Jan. 24, 1950. He has since brought in some 13 producing oil wells on it. The suit says the city of Corpus Christi didn't comply properly with the law in making the lease.

Truman Lunches With Governors

DANIEL GAINS MORE SUPPORT

Party Loyalty Pledge Fight Seen At State Dem Conclave

Democratic leaders prepared for a battle over the controversial party loyalty pledge today as they headed for a New Braunfels meeting of the state Democratic executive committee. The meeting overshadowed a quickening pace in the political maneuvering in the U. S. Senate campaign in Texas and a suggestion from Sen. Estes Kefauver for a tideland "solution." Kefauver, Democratic presidential aspirant, suggested a special commission Wednesday night to solve the state-federal tideland controversy. He said at Dallas that the group should include representatives of the state and federal governments and the public so that rights of all would be protected. Kefauver was paired against states ownership of the tidelands when the measure passed the Senate recently. While two members of Congress considered entering the race for the U. S. Senate against Price Daniel, the attorney general gained more newspaper support. The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal endorsed Daniel in a front-page editorial. The News-Herald at Kilgore, which endorsed Daniel for the Senate seat in January, advised Martin Dies against entering the Senate race. The Kilgore News-Paper said Dies could be elected to the House without much effort and could render Texas a great service, but "he can't defeat Price Daniel in the Senate race."

ers that the governor did not intend to make the race. "I told Congressman Bentsen I had no intention of running," Shivers said, and added: "I've said that before." At Houston, Bentsen said that if he becomes a candidate for the Senate he would announce his platform before returning to Washington. The Dallas Times Herald reported that a legal subcommittee was expected to recommend that a party loyalty pledge be left up to individual conventions—which begin May 3 with precinct gatherings. This means the party pledge would not be required at the key level. Precinct conventions elect delegates to county conventions which in turn name state convention delegates. Gov. Shivers leads a conservative Democratic faction which opposes binding Texas delegates to the national convention to the party nominee regardless of who it is. Another faction—called "Loyal Democrats"—wants the delegates pledged to support the nominee whoever it may be. Happy over his success in New Jersey's presidential preference primaries, Kefauver was in Dallas for a Lawyer's Week at Southern Methodist University. After telling a press conference that the nation needed more harmony between the White House and Congress, he dis-claimed a "fair deal" tag. "Truman has a record," the senator said. "I have mine. We agreed on many points and disagreed on others." Kefauver, who gained wide notice as chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, blasted domestic and international crime in a speech Wednesday night at SMU. "As the leading nation in the world today," he said, "it is not enough for us to control the domestic criminal at home. We must take the leadership in controlling the international gangster who is abroad in the world."

Taft Speech-Making Now In Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft steps out today on a day-and-night speech-making trip through industrial Massachusetts in his final bid for his share of the state's 38 Republican convention delegates. The Ohio candidate for the Republican presidential nomination has 17 speaking dates in the next three days.

Mother Defends Son Who Refuses To Fly

DALLAS, April 17 (AP)—The mother of an Air Force officer charged with refusing to obey orders says her son is a "nervous wreck and very sick" because of his fear of flying. Mrs. Robert L. Hasbrook, formerly of Sioux City, Ia., and now of Dallas, said today Lt. Robert P. Hasbrook, 28, has been "extremely upset" ever since he returned from the Berlin airlift two years ago. Hasbrook, a bombardier, was charged this week at Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio, with willful disobedience of a lawful order, failure to comply with a lawful order and with being AWOL from April 9 to April 12. He was one of six officers at the base who reportedly have refused to fly. "He has told us that every time he gets in an airplane he feels he will never come back alive," Mrs. Hasbrook said. "His requests for ground duty have been repeatedly turned down. He is not a coward. His World War II record proves that." Mrs. Hasbrook said that her son's wife is expecting a baby in July. Mrs. Hasbrook said the lieutenant suffered a nervous breakdown three years ago while on active duty and after receiving his discharge decided to fly no more. After being recalled to service and assigned to flight duty he became increasingly nervous, she said. Mrs. Hasbrook said that when she and her husband visited Lt. Hasbrook recently he said he "couldn't go on." "He was so terribly worried that he said he 'couldn't fly again,'" she said. "Only those of us who know him can see how he suffered." Lt. Hasbrook is a veteran of 35 World War II European combat missions and flew in the Berlin airlift. He has been on B-29 bombardier duty since being recalled.

Nothing Like Lady's Hand, Doctor Says

DALLAS, April 17 (AP)—The doctor said there was nothing like a woman—she can do wonders, he said. The doctor, Dr. Jay Waddell, was speaking to 489 women yesterday, all members of the Texas Graduate Nurses Association. "An ice bag," he said, "is a mighty poor substitute for a woman's hand on a fevered brow." He maintained a nurse can be a mighty powerful healing agent if she'll just exert her womanly qualities. He labeled his talk, "Wear Some Lace On Your Underwear." Dr. Waddell challenged nurses to capitalize on what he said were "certain priceless qualities." He continued: "A female can look into your eyes and see what you're thinking. She can even read between the thought lines. Such understanding comes in very handy in nursing. "No music is so soothing to the nerves as a calm and confident feminine voice." Oh, doctor.

Phone Negotiators Cheered By Change For Better In Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators in the key telephone dispute meet again today, with mediators somewhat cheered by a new turn in the peace talks. Parties in the strike of 11,000 Western Electric workers held a four-hour afternoon session yesterday, and Federal Mediator Walter A. Maggioni said: "A number of issues have been settled but there are still several major issues in dispute." The company has offered a 10-to-15-cent boost, but a source outside the company said the offer now has been increased to 12 to 17 cents.

Mexican, U.S. Aides Studying Migrant Pact

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 17 (U.S.)—The migratory labor agreement between Mexico and the U. S. was under scrutiny today by representatives of both governments.

Ten American and five Mexicans met for the first time yesterday behind closed doors for the talks.

Proposals for interpreting and amending the agreement are being discussed by the conferees, Michael J. Galvin, U. S. Undersecretary of Labor and head of the American delegation, said.

He said the conferences were called to seek ways of improving the operation of the agreement which controls use of Mexican labor in America.

He estimated about 200,000 Mexicans were annually employed harvesting cotton and sugar in the Delta State, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California and Colorado.

Agreements expected to be reached at the meeting must be ratified by both governments. He said a statement might be released at the end of the talks, but no day by day reports will be given.

In addition to Galvin, the American delegation included representatives of the State Department, the Agriculture Department, the Immigration Service and the Public Health Service.

The Mexican delegation was headed by Miguel G. Calderon, Consul-general and director of the Agricultural Migratory Labor Department, Foreign Office, Mexico City.

Others present were: Angel Cano del Castillo, Mexican consul at Memphis, Tenn.; Juan Antonio Merigo, Mexican consul at Austin, Texas; Ruben M. Gasola, Mexican consul at Miami; and Jose T. Rocha, head of the Mexican migratory workers of the Secretariat of the Interior of Mexico.

South Carolina Delegates Give Russell The Nod

COLUMBIA, S. C. (U.S.)—Georgia Sen. Richard Russell has his first full slate of pledged delegates today following the South Carolina State Democratic Convention.

The convention yesterday pledged South Carolina's 16 national convention votes to Russell "for as long as his name is in nomination."

A few blocks away, the GOP Convention turned down specific endorsement of either Gen. Eisenhower or Sen. Taft. The Republicans elected six uncommitted delegates to the party's national convention.

Gov. James F. Byrnes urged the Russell endorsement in his keynote speech to the convention. The Democrats agreed to recess, rather than adjourn, and meet again after both national parties have named their presidential nominees. "The States Rights maneuver leaves the door open for a split with the national party such as occurred in 1948, when J. Strom Thurmond, then governor, was the States Rights presidential candidate."

Two of the GOP delegates came out flatly for Taft, but the other four are officially uncommitted. One, however, privately indicated his preference for Taft and another said he "leans" towards Eisenhower. The convention turned down flatly a resolution terming Eisenhower "our best possibility for President."

Declares VOA Won't Allow Evangelist

CHICAGO (U.S.)—A clergyman-editor declared today that the Voice of America has refused to transmit radio addresses by evangelist Billy Graham and Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen noted Catholic lecturer and author.

Dr. James DeForest Murch of Cincinnati, editor of United Evangelical Action magazine, told the convention of the National Association of Evangelicals that the government-sponsored overseas network has not given a well-rounded picture of American religious life.

"Information reaching me indicates that evangelist Billy Graham's messages have been ruled out by the program directors on the basis that his appeal for conversion to the Christian gospel is too strong," he said.

He said he believed Msgr. Sheen's addresses "have been rejected because of their 'too positive' in Christian philosophy and ethics."

Dr. Murch presented a resolution asking the convention to protest the religious policies of the Voice of America.

Weather Pleasant Over Most of U. S.

By The Associated Press

Pleasant spring weather was the outlook for most of the nation today.

Fair weather was reported in all sections except in the Western Plains, where there were light showers. Temperatures were mild and headed for marks similar to yesterday—in the 60s and 70s. They were higher in the South and Southwest, with a top of 91 at Yuma, Ariz.

DROUTH CAN CAUSE MINERAL LOSS IN LIVESTOCK; FARMERS WARNED

Livestock should be provided with plenty of a mixture of two parts carotene and one part bone meal, and salt free choice, according to County Agent Durward Lewter, who says that in view of the drouth a mineral deficiency, particularly phosphorus, could develop into a problem of major proportions.

He says he has been surprised at the amount of time that is being spent at the mineral boxes by calves being placed on feed.

The general lack of minerals, particularly phosphorus, is very apparent, he comments.

He also says that the lack of Vitamin A is equally as plain because the animals aren't getting the required amount of carotene in such grasses as are available to them. He says it has been necessary to clean an unusually large number of cows this year because of conditions produced largely by the drouth.

Legume hays, if of good color, will protect cattle from Vitamin A deficiency in most cases but the shortage of such hay this year has also contributed to the problem.

Lewter says stockmen should be on the alert for symptoms of vitamin deficiency and that those wishing information on the subject may obtain it from a veterinarian at his office.

Butter, Lamb Prices Up As Some Vegetables Down

By The Associated Press

Butter and lamb prices moved a little higher in the majority of retail food stores this week. But most spring vegetables were cheaper and many stores were reported planning to mark down prices of popular beef cuts and frying chickens as week-end specialties.

Food men said the widespread floods in the Midwest so far had not disrupted the normal distribution pattern of supplies outside the flood zone, except possibly to stimulate some precautionary buying of eggs.

They said an anticipated decline in egg prices after Easter had been nipped in the bud by this psychological effect of the floods, plus an announcement that the government will offer to buy a substantial amount of eggs for the school lunch program. Small rises in egg prices were reported in scattered sections.

Some brands of margarine and shortening were reduced 1 cent a pound by manufacturers as raw materials costs continued to decline. Many retailers adjusted their prices immediately. Some salad and cooking oils eased 2 cents a pint.

Beef rib roasts and both sirloin and porterhouse steaks were reduced this week in many markets to attract customers. In some big chains the price cuts amounted to as much as 16 cents a pound on the better steaks.

Several pork items were lower earlier this week but worked upward later. However, picnic hams, pork roasts, and bacon were still high on the good-buys lists of many markets. Frying chickens and fowl also were being widely featured for this weekend.

Ancestors To Be Told Of Japan's Return To Full Sovereignty

TOKYO (U.S.)—Japan's return to full sovereignty after nearly seven years of Allied occupation will be duly reported to the imperial ancestors of Emperor Hirohito on his birthday April 29—one day after the peace treaty goes into effect.

An imperial household official will perform the traditional notification ceremony at the Shinto sanctuary within the palace grounds. The Emperor is unable to do so himself; he is in official mourning for his mother, the late Empress Dowager Tei Meil.

An imperial messenger also will report to the Sun Goddess, legendary founder of the Japanese Empire.

Doctor, Wealthy In Friends, Succumbs

By WILLIAM CRIDER

INVERNESS, Miss. (U.S.)—Cancer of the liver is an agonizing death, but because of it old Doc knew he was rich.

Not in money. He never made much money as a country doctor, though he got by.

He found that he was rich in friends, respect, gratitude. On his scales they outweighed gold.

Dr. W. L. Ervin died of cancer of the liver at his home here yesterday at the age of 75.

He rarely sent bills. A lot of his

Solons To Probe Role Of TV, Radio In Vote

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Senators working on election law reforms called a public hearing today to explore the part played in political campaigns by radio and television.

Officials of the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System were named as witnesses by the Senate elections subcommittee.

One point subcommittee members have made is that limitations on spending by individual candidates now are unrealistic. One purpose of today's hearing is to find out the extent to which these limits should be revised in the light of radio and television costs.

physician who didn't bother with bills, letters came from every state in the union.

Some letters held checks from patients he had long forgotten.

The largest—$100—was from a couple whose child he had treated when they were penniless 25 years ago.

The smallest was a "widow's mite" of $2 sent in by an old Negro woman in Louisville, Ky.

There's probably not much that old Doc would change if he could live his 75 years over again. He liked being a country doctor, he said.

Probe Profiting From Files Given Them By President

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—A House Judiciary Subcommittee probe of the Justice Department appeared today to be profiting from President Truman's recent order to government agencies and employees to cooperate with the investigators.

Subcommittee investigators, it was learned, have been given access to six cases pending in the Justice Department, files of which have been sought by Chairman Chief (D-Ky) for several weeks.

Chief said the cases, which attracted committee interest concern the government's failure to prosecute for alleged bribery, forgery or perjury, and matters dealing with alien property of which the department is custodian.

Names of individuals involved have not been made public.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Best In Beds, Bedding Shown During Sleep Week

By ELIZABETH HILLYER
April 14, began Sleep Show week, set aside by stores all over the country to introduce the newest types, with companion springs to provide soft floating slumber or a sterner palate, whichever fits the person. Sofa beds and day beds and swing beds fit sleeping comfort into almost any room.

The swing bed, which becomes so popular these days, is a new idea, or you'd think so because it has been seen only recently. But is it a new idea? Sketched at top left is a bed by the great 18th Century designer, Sheraton, found in a book of Sheraton's Life and Works, by Walter Randell Storey. Sheraton called it a summer bed, and said, "These beds are intended for a nobleman or gentleman and his lady to sleep in separately in hot weather. Some beds for this purpose have been made entirely in one, except the bedding being confined in two drawers, running on rollers, capable of being drawn out on each side by servants in order to make them." But he goes on to explain the passage up the middle between his beds "to give room for circulation of air" and the curtain which can "enclose each compartment, if necessary, on account of any sudden change in the weather."

Scouts Add $4,500 To Camp Fund

Girl Scouts of the West Texas area cleared more than $4,500 for their permanent camp fund in the area-wide cookie sale held March 17-22, according to Morgan Jones Jr. of Abilene, chairman of the sale.

Troops in the nine towns represented sold more than 21,000 boxes of the cookies and took in $10,629, about half of which was profit. The highest average number of boxes sold per girl was 46 boxes by Intermediate Troop 27 of Snyder.

PHANTOM GUNMAN CAUGHT Gets A 'Thrill' Out Of Shooting Ladies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles "phantom gunman," the shoot-and-run sniper who has killed one woman and wounded four, gave sheriff's deputies this explanation for his acts:

"When I shoot at women I get excited and get a thrill out of it."

Evan Charles Thomas, 29, husky sun-tanned railroad switchman, was arrested yesterday after a shot in the night narrowly missed a woman in the Los Nietos district.

Mumbling and nervous, Thomas, father of two children, told deputies this story:

Eight months ago he bought a .22 rifle which he kept under the back seat of his car. His deprecations began one night when his wife and children were visiting her mother and he felt "at loose ends."

"I remember the first time I pulled the trigger," he said. "I was driving past this little coffee stand on Atlantic. I saw this girl sitting there . . . I stepped about 500 yards away and went into an alley with the rifle."

"She had the cup to her face. I aimed at it. I wanted to knock the cup out of her hand. But I hit her in the head."

Thomas attributed the shootings to an unnatural urge, but said he had "no rhyme or reason for choosing victims."

Deputies said the coffee stand victim was Mrs. Nina Marie Rice, 25, mother of three. They said Thomas also implicated himself in four other shootings last fall.

He was arrested after deputies noticed him hovering close as they investigated the firing of a .22 bullet into the home of Mrs. Joan Hiles, 22, his neighbor. The shot crashed through a window while she watched television and missed her by less than three feet.

He was booked on suspicion of murder, attempted murder and felonious assault.

Paper Reports Ridgway Urged To Succeed Ike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander in the Far East, has been recommended by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Europe, the Chronicle said today in a copyrighted story from its Washington correspondent, Vance Johnson.

Johnson said that Ridgway's name had been suggested to the other 13 North Atlantic Treaty nations, and although approval is expected in the near future, the announcement of the selection might be delayed until after Gen. Eisenhower departs in June from his North Atlantic Treaty forces command.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Great Britain, Eisenhower's deputy commander, will assume the NATO command for the interval between Eisenhower's departure and Ridgway's arrival in Europe, the story said.

Present plans of the joint chiefs, Johnson said, call for the appointment of Gen. Mark W. Clark, chief of Army field forces, as Ridgway's successor in the Far East, and for Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, now chief of staff to Eisenhower in Europe, to replace Clark. Gruenther was Eisenhower's personal choice for the top NATO command.

Banquet Plans For Purchasers Made By Groups

Plans have been completed for the 4-H Club and FFA Purchasers' Banquet to be held at the Settles Hotel, Tuesday evening at 7:30, according to County Agent Durward Lewter.

The dinner will honor the purchasers of the animals offered at the 15th annual FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock Show, the purchasers being the guests of the boys and girls whose animal or capon they purchased.

Guest speakers for the event will be Jack Turner of Kansas City, secretary of the American Hereford Association, and Roy Largent of Merkel, Hereford breeder and president of the American Hereford Association. In event Turner should not be able to attend, Lewter said, one of the other representatives of the Association will be here in his stead.

Cards have been mailed all buyers with a letter asking them to immediately sign and return the card if they can attend and the county agent said that if the cards will be returned by Saturday it will be a great help to the 4-H and FFA members since each of them plans to personally deliver the dinner ticket to the buyer of his or her animal. Lewter said it will also be appreciated if the committee can know as soon as possible just how many guests are to be expected.

Both he, the vocational agriculture teachers and the members of the 4-H clubs and FFA chapters are urging that all persons invited be present.

Taft Charges 'Land Generals' Prevent US Air Power Buildup

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft says the Truman Administration has failed to build up United States air power because "land generals" dominate military policy.

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination gave his own views on strategy in a speech last night lambasting Democratic domestic and foreign policies.

The United States, Taft declared, should give top priority to achieving global air control to check Russian aggression. Instead of doing that, he said, the administration has pursued a policy of "global spending."

"The basic thinking behind the entire defense program is wrong," Taft told a Republican club here.

Air supremacy, he asserted, "can best protect our liberty and peace and yet we suddenly wake up to find that it has been largely neglected."

the GOP nomination, had said about military policy.

Taft said Gen. Eisenhower "has pointed out the bulk of any European army must be provided by the Western Europeans."

The senator declared that a successful defense of Europe against Russian attack would depend on close agreement and cooperation between France and Germany. Then he added:

"This also is Gen. Eisenhower's observation."

Atomic Sponges May Clean Up Brain Cancers

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Science is investigating the possibility of mopping up elusive brain cancers with atomic energy "sponges," two Chicago surgeons reported today.

The doctors said animal experiments had suggested the possibility that special sponges, filled with radioactive materials and inserted into the human brain, might kill off possible remnants of malignant tissue after all visible cancer was removed by surgery.

Dr. Loyal Davis and Dr. Stanton L. Goldstein said trials in human patients were under way and that results would be reported at a future date.

They said absorbable sponges made of gelatinous or soggy material—sometimes employed for checking hemorrhages—were being used. And they declared the radioactive materials for impregnating the sponges consisted of either gold or phosphorus.

Reporting to a scientific meeting of the American Surgical Association, the scientists said the major difficulty in attacking cancers deep-seated in brain tissue is that when the visible tumor is removed by surgery, cancer tissue can remain hidden in the tumor "bed."

X-rays could be used to kill this remaining tissue, but its deeply penetrating rays might also destroy normal tissue in the brain.

Tests with cats showed that when sponges impregnated with radioactive gold or phosphorus were inserted in the brain, the tissue-killing power of the rays was limited to a tiny area around the place of insertion.

Uncovering Untruths The Modern Way

County Attorney Hartman Hooser, left, acts as the "guinea pig" while Sheriff J. B. Bruton demonstrates Howard County's new lie detector. Such equipment formerly was used principally in larger cities, but has spread to law enforcement agencies in smaller points in recent years. Metal clasps, or electrodes, are attached to Hooser's forefinger. A cord connects the electrodes to the machine, which measures changes of skin resistance when questions are answered.

Lie Detector Aids County In Crime Investigations

Howard County has added a new-fangled gadget to its crime detection facilities, and the apparatus is paying off.

There's nothing really new about lie detectors, but few of them have been in operation outside of the larger cities until recent years. Several factors contributed to the limitations. First, came the cost item, and then not every Tom, Dick and Harry could operate one. Furthermore, results of lie detector tests were not admissible as evidence in the courtroom.

The latter factor still holds true, but law enforcement authorities have learned that lie detectors have a considerable value, even if the states do not recognize them as proper evidence. Also, small units of moderate cost, with some new refinements, are now on the market, and most anyone who applies himself diligently can learn to operate one.

Howard County's machine, which is called an electronic psychometer (or a B&W Lie Detector) already has proved that it can be of some value to officers, despite the fact that it is not regarded as a creditable witness in the courtroom.

A few days ago in Dallas two teen-aged boys admitted forging a check, following a lie detector test.

In Big Spring, the lie detector so far has helped solve more forgery cases than anything else. Officers say it frequently saves them time and expense during investigations.

For example, a man was taking a lie detector test here recently when an officer casually asked his name. At the conclusion of the test it was noted that the answer to this simple question caused a suspicious reaction on the machine. When confronted with the machine's readings the man admitted that he had given officers an incorrect name.

"We probably could have learned his real name within a few hours without the lie detector, but it might have cost us a few long distance telephone calls and telegrams," Sheriff J. B. Bruton explained.

Howard County's lie detector cost about $325. The mechanism is enclosed in a case somewhat similar to that of a portable typewriter. According to the manufacturer it measures changes of skin resistance during lying.

During operation a metal clasp is slipped over one finger of each hand. The clasps, in turn, are connected to the machine. The officer making the test then asks questions. Any change in the readings of the machine's dial is known to come from the body of the subject being questioned. A lot of simple questions are used, with a few pertinent to the investigation thrown in at intervals. The officer records both the answer and the machine's reading for each question.

Following a series of questions and answers, the officer then studies his records. Readings of the machine usually vary sharply from the general pattern on questions which were answered untruthfully. It is estimated that approximately 30 per cent of the people are not susceptible to lie detection by the modern instruments. Persons who are mentally ill usually produce abnormal readings. People who are physically exhausted at the time of a test also are likely to produce readings unfit for conclusive results.

Then, there are some people perfectly sound mentally and phys-conclusive opinions based on the machine's performance will prove correct 85 per cent of the time.

No person can be forced to submit to a lie detector test. However, few refuse when officers make the request. Those who are not guilty of the crime they are being questioned about usually jump at the chance to bolster their claim to innocence, and those who have committed a crime generally assume that a refusal will be interpreted as an admission of guilt.

cally who simply do not register properly on the machines.

However, manufacturers assert that of those who react normally,

Bad Behavior In Reich Blamed On The Little Guys

By TOM STONE
HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — The Army places the blame on privates and corporals for most cases of bad behavior by American G. I.s in Europe.

That may look like the brass is taking a poke at the boys on the bottom rung of the military ladder, but Brig. Gen. W. H. Maglin of New York City, European command provost marshal, says the Army's judgment is strictly factual.

The big reason buck privates and one-and two-strippers get into most of the trouble, he says, is because there are so many of them.

Yet, percentage-wise, he adds, they get into more trouble than they should.

They comprise 72 per cent of troops in the European command and are involved in 84 per cent of "all reported serious incidents"—from murder to busting the top kick in the nose.

That doesn't mean that a G. I. crime wave is sweeping Europe. On the contrary, says Gen. Maglin, the serious incident rate is "remarkably low."

He told Seventh Army officers here that the European command crime rate is "far lower proportionately than most large cities in Europe and the United States."

The military police chief gave the officers a detailed analysis of crime and offenses in the command covering the last six months of 1951.

It showed, he said, a "definite decline" in the number of criminal cases per G. I. capita.

The privates and corporals, it showed, own approximately 20 per cent of all registered private cars and are involved in 40 per cent of all traffic accidents throughout the command.

They cause 36.5 per cent of all speeding violations, the general said, and are involved in nearly 50 per cent of all arrests for reckless driving.

The sergeants, who represent 20 per cent of the command's troop strength, earn more Good Conduct Ribbons. They were involved in only 14 per cent of all "serious incidents."

Commissioned officers, comprising 9 per cent of military personnel in the command, were responsible for 2.5 per cent of the crimes and offenses in the six-month period.

Ike Ain't No 'Glory Hopper,' As Churchill Once Pointed Out

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, April 17, (AP)—British Prime Minister Winston Churchill once turned to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and said in good Midwestern slang: "What I like about you, Ike, is you ain't no glory hopper."

Churchill meant by this remark that he liked the way Eisenhower had been content to let others get credit for the glories of victory which the Allied forces were winning in World War II.

Since then, a great many Americans have come to like Ike. Some of them like him so well they want him to be the next President of the United States.

The first faint indication of Eisenhower's political appeal came more than eight years ago with a single tub-thump sounded in New York City.

It came from the American Legion's Tank Corps Post No. 715 which went on record boasting Ike as a presidential candidate regardless of his policies. This was in September, 1943, after the Allied conquest of North Africa and Sicily and during the invasion of Italy, when Ike's popularity was running high.

Few people at home took much notice at the time. But the news startled the general when it was relayed to him through an aide at his headquarters in Algiers.

Capt. Harry Butler, the aide in his "My Three Years With Eisenhower," quotes the general as saying: "Haloney! Why can't a simple soldier be left alone to carry out his orders? And I furiously object to the word 'candidate'—I ain't and won't."

But somewhere along the line Eisenhower changed his mind.

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

Something impelled him to permit his name to be entered in the big race for the Republican presidential nomination.

His family came to America long before the American Revolution—in 1732, to be precise.

They settled in Pennsylvania, but in later years David and Ida Eisenhower went to Denison, Tex., to seek their fortune. That's where Ike was born on Oct. 14, 1890. The family later moved to Abilene, Kans., where Ike was raised and the place he calls home.

In those early Abilene days, father David Eisenhower worked in a creamery. The boys tended garden, took care of the chickens, sold eggs, milked the family cow, delivered chickens and vegetables and worked on neighboring farms.

They took turns getting up at dawn to build the kitchen fire and get breakfast started. That's when Ike learned to fry eggs and make vegetable soup and lamb stew.

It was quite house-full at the Eisenhower place. There were Arthur and Edgar and Dwight and Earl and Milton, who now is president of Pennsylvania State College. Neighbors have recalled they were a hard-working, well-knit clan like most other Midwestern families who are neither rich nor poor.

Ida Eisenhower saw to it that each of the boys had his own garden plot. They could plant what they wished and keep their earnings. Ike specialized in sweet corn, but he has said, "Some years I made a killing on early cucumbers."

In high school, Ike showed a liking for history and mathematics. The class historian predicted he would become a teacher of history. It turned out a pretty fair prediction, although Eisenhower has made more history than he has taught.

Ike was a big, raw-boned boy when he was graduated at 18. There was nothing in his record to hint he would become one of the greatest commanders in American military history.

The Navy almost got Ike instead of the Army. He received an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy only to find he would be too old—21—when the school term opened. So he went to the U. S. Military Academy to join the class of 1915.

Ike wasn't brilliant in his West Point studies, although he finished in the upper third of his class. But he did make a strong impression on one of his instructors, who noted in his record: "Born to command."

For a time Ike was considered one of the best backfield prospects to play football at the Point. His gridiron career came to a close when his leg was broken in playing Tufts College.

When young Eisenhower came out of West Point as a second lieutenant he was 25 years old—older than the average. He told his family he was convinced that because of his age he'd never be more than a colonel.

Ike didn't get into World War I. The Army kept him at home and after the war he began the usual course of Army duty. He married Miss Mamie Doug, and they had a son, John, who now is Maj. Eisenhower. Ike is a grandfather, too, with two grandchildren, Anne, 2, and Dwight David, 3.

It's hard to say when Eisenhower first caught the eyes of his superiors and convinced them he was worth watching. As far back as 1922, Maj. Gen. George Patton—of World War II fame—recommended young Maj. Eisenhower as his choice for an executive officer post.

Eisenhower earned a reputation as a tank expert. From 1935 to 1940 he served as chief of staff to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then planning the defenses for the Philippines.

Some military men believe Ike got his first big break in the way he handled troop maneuvers in Louisiana in 1941. At any rate, he

Soviets State Their TV Is Far Superior

MOSCOW, April 17, (AP)—Television—which the Soviets say they invented—is far superior to the foreign variety, it is being claimed here.

"Since Nov. 4, 1948," said commentator I. Gribov, "The Moscow television center has been transmitting images divided into 624 lines. This is the highest standard in the world."

He said the U. S. and the countries of Europe have fallen far behind the Russians in the great new medium of television.

Gribov said that in Britain and France the old pre-war method of 405 lines was still being used whereas in the United States the pictures have only 525 lines.

"The conversion of the Moscow television center to the new standard has sharply raised the quality of the images," he said. "Now the sequences on the screens of television sets are just as distinct as good photographs."

The Moscow station is able to broadcast more than 100 miles—to Tulsa and Vladimir—he said, while the poor weak American stations do no better than 80 kilometers (about 50 miles).

"Television," he said, "of which our country is the birthplace, is becoming the property of millions of working people."

(The Soviet technical standard of 625 lines are based on 25 complete pictures a second using 50-cycle electric current, and are basically the same as U. S. standards of 525 lines with 30 complete pictures a second using 60-cycle current. Most continental European countries use the 625-line standards, but France transmits on two sets of standards, one giving 441 lines per picture and another 819 lines.)

He's No Draft Dodger, But What Should Youth Do?

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 17 (AP)—It's not that Robert Lucien Puzin is a draft dodger.

The 19-year-old Oklahoma City student just doesn't believe he is legally required to answer a draft call—from the French government.

Puzin, a naturalized American, is a native of Paris, France. He has received insistent letters from French authorities to report for physical in Paris.

Puzin went to his draft board, which went to the U. S. District Attorney at Oklahoma City, who turned the matter over to French immigration authorities at Kansas City.

In the U. S. A. Puzin is classified I-A. He is attending military school at Bryan, Tex., and plans later to study at Texas A&M. He hopes to finish his studies before serving in the Army—the U. S. Army.

In Washington a Selective Service spokesman said if Puzin is a fully naturalized U. S. citizen he is not subject to a French call any more than a native American would be.

attracted the attention of Gen. George Marshall, then U. S. Army chief of staff. His rise to five-star general after that was spectacular.

During the war years, Eisenhower drummed continually on the theme of Allied co-operation. He felt it was the key to winning the war.

They tell one story of an American officer sent home by Eisenhower for fighting with his British opposite in Ike's headquarters.

As the story goes, Ike called in the American and told him: "I don't mind your differences of opinion. I am not angry because you struck him. I didn't object when you called him an s.o.b. But when you called him a British s.o.b.—that was too much."

At war's end Eisenhower believed the United States could get along with the Russians. After meeting Russia's Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Ike said, "The Russians are very friendly, and I am convinced they want peace and a chance to develop themselves just the same as all the rest of us."

But it wasn't many years before the general was saying the best formula for dealing with the Russians is: "Firmness, patience, a sense of humor—and keep your powder dry."

Most people think of Ike as a big man with a homely face which splits easily into a wide, friendly grin. That grin has become his trademark. But Ike can be cold and hard when the occasion calls for it.

A reporter in Europe questioned one of Ike's commanders about talk that Eisenhower was merely "chairman of the board" in the Allied setup and his generals really ran the show.

The commander replied: "Ike runs it, and if you don't think so when you first arrive you damn soon find out."

In the postwar years, Eisenhower remained in the public eye through his jobs as Army chief of staff, president of Columbia University and as commander of the NATO forces.

He's an intense man, but he has managed to keep going at a hard pace, relaxing occasionally with bridge, golf and Wild West thrillers. He doesn't dance unless it's forced on him.

Somebody once asked Ike if he were a religious man. He replied: "I am the most intensely religious man I know. Nobody goes through six years of war without faith. That doesn't mean that I adhere to any sect. A democracy cannot exist without a religious base. I believe in democracy."

THE GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

In an effort to determine the suitability of the new Buffel Grass in this area the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District have gotten Raymond Kelly, three miles northeast of Big Spring, to put in a planting this year.

The supervisors are furnishing the seed and the planting which will be made about June 1st will be on some unfenced shiner sand pasture that isn't being grazed. He will broadcast the seed and then cover it lightly with the use of a stalk cutter. Soil conservationists are particularly interested in determining the ability of this grass to tie down soils that are highly susceptible to wind erosion.

Another introduced grass and one already known to be quite favorably adaptable to this area, Blue Panic, is putting forth green sprouts in spite of the drought. The technicians at the Big Spring office of the Soil-Conservation Service say they have a new growth of Blue Panic on the farms of Cecil Hayden in the Luther Community, R. L. Reed of the Elbow Community, and on the farm of Roy Bates, north of the Cable School.

Sheriff Doc Wilson of Sherman County is on the trail of persons wanted for wantonly killing two Hereford cows, apparently just because the animals happened to be grazing near the highway and afforded an opportunity for malicious slaughter.

The cows were killed, at night, on the Keith Glasgow ranch, about eight miles north of Stratford on Highway 54. The ranch owner and W. N. Price of Stratford, co-owner of the cows, have posted a reward of $500 for the killer. One cow had been shot between the eyes and again through the back of the head. The other had been shot in the back apparently as it was running away. Wilson reported that he found tire tracks which indicated a vehi-

RED COUNTRIES HIT

Cattle Disease Is Now In E. Europe

by HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (U)—An epidemic of hoof-and-mouth disease that has ravaged Western European domestic animal herds for 18 months now is moving into Eastern Europe, a French expert on the subject reports.

Gaston Ramon, director of the International Office of Epizootics, said the latest reports of outbreaks came from Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The epidemic started, Prof. Ramon explained, in Northern Germany in September, 1950. From there it spread into Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, Yugoslavia and Greece.

Some cases reported in England might have been caused by birds carrying the virus across the English Channel, Prof. Ramon said. There also were some outbreaks of the disease in South America and Canada, but there can be no positive proof that the disease was carried there from Europe.

"Hoof-and-mouth disease breaks out at various places from time to time, but the present epidemic is the greatest since the scourge of 1937-38," Prof. Ramon said.

Tracing the course of the spread, he reported that "at the end of February, 1951, the disease had struck 612 farms. It had spread to 51,300 farms by November 15, 1951, when it hit its peak in Germany."

Belgium had 161 farms infected on December 31, 1950, and close to 30,000 farms on December 31, 1951. Holland had 15,000 farms infected in November, 1951. Denmark in December, 1951, reported infections from 3,000. In France 66 departments were infected on December 31, 1951, and 82 departments by March, 1952.

The latest new cases in Europe were reported from Poland in February. Meanwhile, the epidemic is dying out of its own accord in the countries first affected. "Only countries such as England, Norway and Sweden, protected totally or partially by natural frontiers, have been able up to now to escape foot-and-mouth disease," he said. "The few herds where the disease broke out were promptly eliminated."

The single country in continental Europe to escape completely the ravages of the disease is Switzerland, where swift, ruthless counter measures are taken. The infected animals, and any animals that might have had a chance to be infected, are killed immediately. Herds in surrounding areas are vaccinated immediately.

One of the difficulties that has been encountered recently in vaccinating animals, Prof. Ramon reported, is that the foot-and-mouth virus has built up an immunity to the original vaccines. This has forced experiments in the type and quantity of vaccines to be used, and no conclusive results are available yet, he said.

Court To Review Suit For Double Indemnity In Plane Crash Death

AUSTIN, April 17. (U)—The Supreme Court today agreed to review a double-indemnity insurance suit growing out of the airplane-crash death of Dave Reed, Austin capitalist, and to rule whether an airplane passenger is "engaged in aeronautic flight."

The court granted a writ of error in the appeal of Aetna Life Insurance Co. against Mrs. Laura M. Reed. The Third Court of Civil Appeals had ruled she was entitled to the $50,000 double-indemnity payment under the policy for his accidental death. The civil appeals decision held that the term "aeronautic flight" in the policy meant the operation of aircraft, whereas Reed was a passenger at the time he and his business partner were killed in a plane crash.

Acheson Says Soviet Seeks Military Items By Buying From West

WASHINGTON, April 17. (U)—Secretary of State Acheson said yesterday Russia is trying to obtain strategic military items in its current offers to buy luxury goods from the West.

The offers followed the conclusion of the Soviet-sponsored World Economic Conference at Moscow. Acheson said the outcome of the Moscow meeting confirmed that its intent was to hamper the Western defense buildup.

He said that while Soviet spokesmen are indicating willingness to buy quantities of luxury goods, this is all wrapped up with strategic items which are important to Soviet military strength. He expressed belief the Soviets have not succeeded in any way in carrying out their purposes.

Armed Forces Faced With Fewer Dentists; More To Be Called

MILWAUKEE (U)—The armed forces are faced with a shrinking supply of dentists and by July 1, will start calling up those in Priority 3, says Brig. Gen. Louis Renfrow.

Renfrow, deputy director of selective service, said yesterday that the pool of Priority 1 and 2 dentists is diminishing rapidly. Dentists in all three categories have been trained at government expense and have had less than the required amount of military service after professional training.

THE SPRINGBOARD

By A-3C JEAN BROWN

A weekly round up of news about Big Spring Air Force Base, gathered from the official base publication, The Springboard.

CADETS

News of the week centered around the progress of cadet training at the base. Class 52-D, scheduled to receive their wings about June 21, is currently taking flight training in jets, while Class 52-F, which remains at BSAFB for the full six months, practices flying in conventional T-28s.

In addition to their flying schedules, both classes are engaged in rigorous classroom work, military drill and physical training. All in all they have a pretty busy day.

WACKWITZ

Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz, Jr., commanding officer of the Base, welcomed all personnel in a front-page article and outlined the mission of the base. Asking for the help of all those stationed here, he pledged full cooperation from higher levels toward the accomplishment of training flying officers and strengthening the overall defense effort.

WEATHER

Apparently the officers and airmen stationed here are just as aware of the drought problem as the local citizens. In another front page article, the rainmakers, the lack of clouds and the abundance of dust, get a humorous going-over with some serious overtones.

Should the local city water conservation ordinance go into effect, the paper states that in all probability the Base would also initiate water-saving steps.

FLYING HOPEFULS

A new regulation permits the acceptance into the aviation cadet program of successful applicants who wear glasses, the paper reports. The one flying specialty where vision is not one of the most important assets is Radar Observer. The course for training in six months, at the end of which the cadets is awarded his wings and a second lieutenant's commission in the USAF Reserve. Other requirements for cadet training: between 19 and 26½, unmarried and agree to remain so during training, high school graduate (for airmen) two years college (for civilian applicants).

GATE

With the gates to the Base now closed to civilian traffic, the Air Police are bearing down on those cars which do not carry the decal registration. Autos regularly used on the base were cautioned to apply their decals immediately. Civilians having business on the base may still enter by stating their destination and obtaining a visitor's pass.

CIVILIAN PERSONNEL

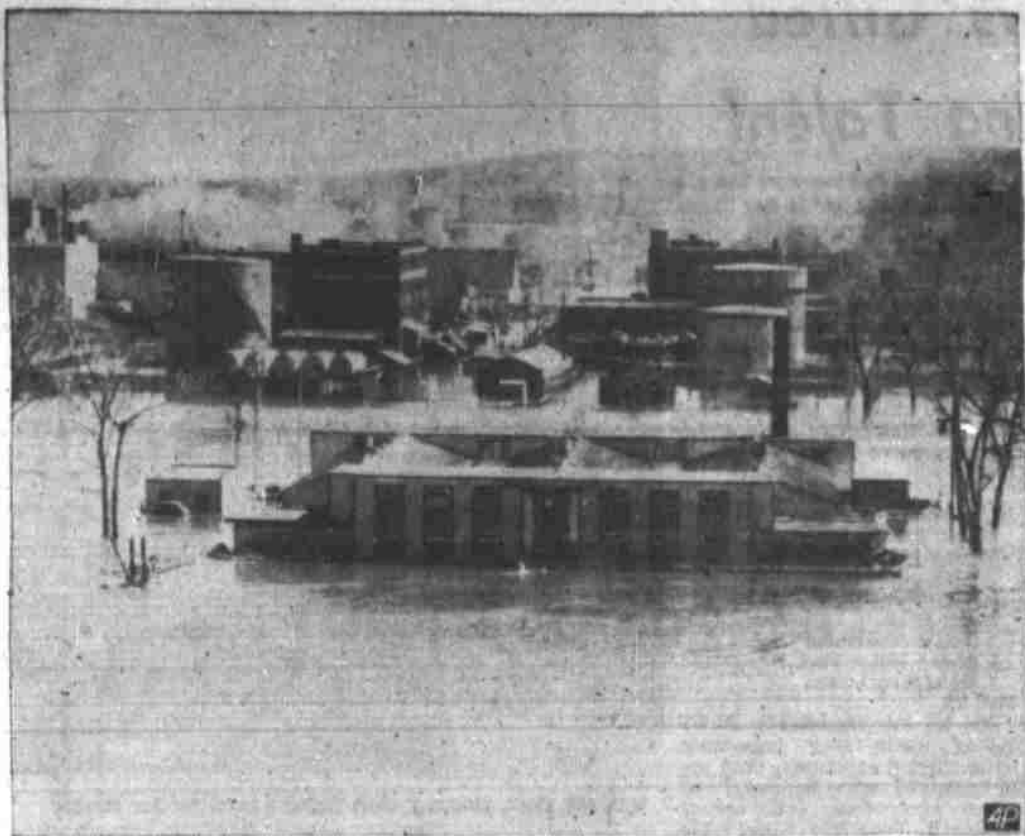

In an effort to recruit still more civilian help, the paper carries a story urging the wives of officers and airmen to apply for Civil Service jobs. A critical need exists in many fields, particularly in the clerical and stenographic specialties.

SPORTS

Base sports activity will soon be given full tilt with facilities for seven athletic pastimes available by summer.

Softball, volleyball, basketball, badminton and horseshoe games are now being played with tennis and bowling to be organized later this spring.

Competition between organizations on the base will begin on May 1 for softball, and a base softball team may be entered in the city's Industrial League this summer.

Navy Won't Give Up The Ship

Eighteen Naval reservists manned this Naval Reserve Training Center on an island in the flooded Mississippi River at St. Paul, Minn., sandbagging it against the record flood waters. Stars And Stripes To Be 10-Years-Old

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

DARMSTADT, Germany (AP)—Stars and Stripes, the soldier newspaper that came to war and stayed on for a jittery peace, celebrates its 10th birthday this Friday.

It will be quite an anniversary, with a special big edition for its 70,000 subscribers in Europe and a ceremony at its headquarters here.

"Stripes" got its World War II start in England in 1942, when four G. Is decided to revive the name and tradition of a soldiers' newspaper which served the AEF in their fathers' day.

They thought it would quietly fold when the shooting was over. But they didn't reckon with the news-hungry American serviceman. Or the fact that troops would be here long past the time everyone thought all American forces would leave Europe.

Those staying on clamored for news. They wanted to see what was going on in the sports world at home and they wanted the funnies. So Stars and Stripes stayed in business to meet the demand.

There was one period when the newspaper neared the rocks. That was in 1946 when the Army, which had underwritten the enterprise, decided the paper should pay its own way.

Replacement depots were jammed with soldiers going home. Circulation thinned. "Stripes" took on the job of circulating American books and magazines, and received a tremendous financial boost.

Today Stars and Stripes is, literally, a multimillion-dollar business. Nobody makes any profit from the newspaper. Its revenue goes back into its operation and into the Army welfare fund.

In its wartime heyday "Stripes" published 25 editions for U. S. troops scattered over the earth. Daily circulation was about seven million. Only the European and Far Eastern editions survive.

The European paper employs about 1,000 people who work in a group of buildings here built for a proposed zeppelin landing field. There are 42 newsmen on the editorial staff. Many of them trained on American dailies or wire services. The Army does not censor Stars and Stripes, but it keeps Col. Henry J. Richter of Ripon, Wis., as editor-in-chief.

Gay And Fabled Days Of Danube Are Gone

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
 BELGRADE (AP)—Traffic moves still on the Danube River, Europe's longest inland waterway, but its blue-gray waters are churning up a situation which one day may lead to a shooting war between Yugoslavia and the Russian-led Cominform.

To understand the situation, one must first study Europe's map (to learn that the longest part of the Danube flows through Yugoslavia) and then consult recent history to learn that this country has little control over shipping operations.

Marshal Josip Broz Tito's government sacrificed most of those rights in 1948, then still hopeful that its break with Moscow would be mended in a matter of months. It signed a Danube River convention giving Russia and the other Eastern European Communist states what amounts to exclusive control of the river's traffic outside of Yugoslavia itself.

Since 1948 trade between Yugoslavia and its Eastern European neighbors, which once accounted for a good part of the river's traffic, has been halted completely.

Even before the break, Yugoslavia claims, river traffic largely was a one-way affair with most of the goods aboard the river barges bound for Russia. They came back loaded, if at all, with cast-off, overage but newly painted equipment which Moscow passed off as payment for hundreds of thousands of tons of raw material.

Under the 1948 Danube convention, the river technically is an international commercial artery, 1,725 miles long, open to vessels of all nations, subject only to the regulations and maintenance tariffs laid down by the Danube Commission.

Britain and France, as signatories to the previous convention, and the United States, because of its interests as an occupying power in Austria, refused to sign. Yugoslavia signed, but since has been either ignored or outvoted at the commission's annual meetings.

In an atmosphere as chilly as the cold war itself, Yugoslavia's barges still move upstream to Vienna and down the Danube carrying goods to markets outside the Soviet orbit. Similarly, Cominform vessels move without stopping along the part of the river in Yugoslavia.

The traffic moves under an armed and uneasy truce. Gone are the gay and fabled days of the old Danube. Yugoslavia accuses Russia and the satellite states of using the river in the role of modern pirates.

The newspaper Borba, official voice of Tito's party, had this to say about their operations:

"The crews on the Soviet ships are mostly Bulgarian, Romanian and Hungarian. While sailing through our sector of the Danube, they steal the boats of our fishermen and sailors. To speak plainly, it is a question, pure and simple, of larceny on the Danube."

Even more bitter to the Yugoslavs was the postwar Soviet seizure of some of this country's craft caught in foreign ports such as Vienna. According to the Yugoslavs, the Russian repainted and renamed the seized craft and now operate them under the Red flag.

Yugoslavia raised a howl of protest over those seizures as far back as 1948 and Russia formally "took cognizance" of the demand for their return—but no action. After the break with the Cominform, Yugoslavia protested again to the Danube Commission. This time its demands did not win even the dignity of a reply.

Caruso Heirs Object To Ad Posters With Lanza, Soft Drink

ROME, April 17 (AP)—Posters advertising Coca Cola, along with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Great Caruso," have been ordered removed from Italian streets by Rome's Tribunal.

The posters show Mario Lanza, in the title role of the film, drinking the beverage.

The action against the posters was brought by Caruso's heirs in Italy, who claimed they injured the reputation of the great tenor.

The heirs also have brought action to stop showing the film in Italy. This case is pending.

A similar action they brought years ago against an Italian-made film based on Caruso's life was denied by the Rome Tribunal.

Attorneys for Coca Cola and the film company said they would appeal the poster verdict.
