FFA Boys Select Calves For Project

A number of the local FFA boys, accompanied by Vocational Agricultural Instructor of the local High School, T. J. Jones, and dads and mothers of the boys, visited the George White Ranch, 12 miles West of town Friday, spending a large portion of the day there.

The purpose of the visit was to select calves for the boys to use for their projects this year, which they will keep until next spring before selling them. It is also hoped to show these calves in the project show here next spring.

Mr. White is deserving of much commendation for his courtesy, interest and assistance offered these boys. He is reported to have had about 250 steer calves from good blooded sires and dams, for which he allowed the boys to pick their calves at a very reasonable price. The boys realize that Mr. White is trying to encourage the raising of better grade of livestock and are appreciative of his assistance.

According to Mr. Jones, these boys are beginning to realize that it costs no more to feed a good blooded calf than it does to feed a poor grade one.

These calves are to go on feed as soon as the boys can tame them down some, as reported by Mr. Jones. The boys are each to feed and care for his calf and keep a complete record on it.

Burrell B. Liles Is Victim of Car Accident Sunday

Burrell B. (Bob) Liles, 14, son of Mrs. Birdie Lee Liles, was fatally injured at 2:45 A. M. Sunday nine miles west of Lubbock on the Leveland highway, in an automobile accident, in which six others were injured.

Mrs. Liles and son were former residents of this city, and will be remembered by the early pioneers of Littlefield.

Mrs. Liles is the widow of the late Dr. Liles who formerly practiced here. She is the former Miss Bertie Lee Burkhalter, who previous to her marriage to Dr. Liles was the Lamb County Home Demonstration Agent.

The fatally injured boy was reported driving the car, which was a 1939 model heavy sedan belonging to Mrs. Liles.

Other occupants of the machine told T. C. Laws and Billy Johnson, highway patrolmen, the car went off the highway on the right side, striking a soft shoulder on which dirt had been dumped recently. The youth is said to have had difficulty pulling the machine out of the soft dirt, and when he did so, the car went across to the soft shoulder on the opposite side of the highway and overturned about six or seven times.

Four Outstanding Candidates Holding Interest Of Voters

O'Daniel, Johnson, Mann And Dies Bidding Strong For Favor With Voters

With a choice of 25 candidates, Texas voters will go to the polls Saturday to select a successor to the late United States Senator, Morris Sheppard.

The race for the senatorship has attracted national attention; in fact, it has almost equalled that of a presidential election, and early developed into one of the maddest scrambles of Texas political history. The election has been an outstanding topic of discussion throughout Lamb county and the entire state for several weeks, and the outcome will be awaited with exceptional interest.

The contest appears to have narrowed down to four prominent candidates who are engaging in a spectacular bid for the favors of the voters.

Throughout the state the candidates who have stepped forward into outstanding prominence are Congressman Martin Dies, Congressman Lyndon Johnson, Attorney-General Gerald C. Mann, and Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. Johnson, Mann, and O'Daniel will receive a liberal majority of the votes in Lamb county, general discussion indicates. However, Mr. Dies, it would seem, also is not without a large group of supporters.

MORE AND BETTER HOLIDAYS

Holidays are one of our greatest national institutions.

The people of this country, who spend the majority of their waking hours working in offices, stores, factories and in the fields, look forward to holidays for weeks ahead.

Each year, most of us look over the new calendar and are pleased if we find a lot of holidays falling on Fridays or Mondays and disappointed if they fall otherwise.

So year after year many of us grumble over the unfortunate set-up of the new year's calendar, but accept it as being as uncontrollable as rain or wind or sunshine.

But when we really analyze it, there is little reason why the calendar could not be changed.

With this purpose in mind, The World Calendar association, supported by well known people in most every country in the world, has for years been working for calendar reform a reform in which holidays would fall on Monday and each month-date would fall on the same week-day every year.

Under the proposed World Calendar the first of January would always begin on a Sunday, Christmas (still celebrated on the 25th of December) would always fall on a Monday, Easter would always be on the fifteenth Sunday in the year, which would always be April 8. Thanksgiving would always be Thursday, November 28, and non-religious holidays would all be changed to Mondays.

APOLOGY FOR GERMANS GRANDDAUGHTER LYSIANE BERNHARDT, of the late Sarah Bernhardt, famous stage star, was interviewed recently by reporters at a pier in New York city. She had the following to say: "Food conditions in France are terrible, and the Germans in occupation are very courteous, I am sorry to say." Miss Bernhardt had just arrived from France in company with 238 other refugees.

FROM HOBBY TO VOCATION MRS. JEANETTE STEVENS of New York has expanded a hobby and $28 into a new and unique business. Five years ago Mrs. Stevens, who loves the sea, decided to build a boat. By using her own hands, the plans drawn by a sympathetic brother-in-law, the $28 and some paint, screws and planks donated by friends, she built a 16-foot sloop. Soon she was sailing around the Sound. Landlubber friends who contemplated buying boats began to beg her to teach them how to handle ropes and compasses and how to read charts. She did—for fees. Now she owns a 50-foot schooner and teaches seamanship to business men and women!

A SHORT TIME AGO BARBARA THORNDIKE, 13-year-old school girl of Norwalk, Conn., found fault with the clothes designed for "the awkward age." She found them either too childish or too grown-up. So she designed some to suit herself, took the sketches into a Fifth Avenue shop. The shop referred her to a manufacturer. Now, between English and history study, Barbara designs clothes for the manufacturer, who pays her a royalty.

FROM NEAR AND FAR MRS. MATILDA FORNBERG, 85, of Cheyenne, Wyo., helped fight off the Indians in 1877 and is still one of the best shots in the state. The face of beautiful blonde Elaine Bassett, daughter of a Baptist minister in Dallas, Texas, appearing on Canadian army recruiting posters, was chosen by government officials to "inspire" army enlistment. There are more fat women than fat men, according to Dr. Robert W. Keeton of the University of Illinois medical school, because the majority of fat women are married and do not have enough work to do nowadays to keep their weight down. Recently released findings on study by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs reveal that opposition to employment of married women is growing.

SALESMAN TOO GOOD MRS. ALICE LEE, proprietor of a gift shop in Pasadena, Calif., has a husband who is too good a salesman. While she was absent from the shop, he sold for $2 a very valuable clock, not knowing that it had been merely left there for repairs. Mrs. Lee had to advertise to get it back.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Fisher were honored with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. L. G. Fox Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Buck Phillips were visitors in the H. A. Mathews home Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram J. Pierce and children of Menard, Texas, were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Powell this week end. Bone Sunday evening. Mrs. M. A. Elms and sons, Dean and Junior, attended church in Littlefield Sunday. This Week IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C. (NWNS)—Plans to clean out the "reds" from defense industries are flying thick and fast here with all responsible officials favoring immediate action but expressing widely varying views on the best method of handling the problem. The department of justice is studying the situation and the plan most likely to be adopted is expected to come from that department. One proposal known to be under consideration is the creation of a special unit under the department of justice which would hunt out suspects, examine the charges against them and notify the manufacturer employing them if their activities were found to be dangerous to the best interests of defense work. The manufacturer would then fire such suspects. It is believed that in such cases, if the dismissed men were union members and appealed to the National Labor Relations board, that board could tell them it couldn't consider their cases because their dismissal had been directed by a government agency. This is only one of many plans under consideration, but it is evident that some plan will soon be adopted to serve as a dragnet for employees believed to be engaged in subversive activities. Growing public anger over the defense delays caused by reds is clearly evident and many labor union leaders are just as anxious as the general public to do something about it. They realize that activities of "reds" in labor groups are creating strong sentiment against labor itself, whether it is justified or not. A recent Gallup poll shows there is more feeling against labor unions today than at any time for the last five years. The much-debated measure, recommended by administration forces, which would give the President the right to seize any property, is expected to get much more support than it would have six months ago because it is seen as a means of guaranteeing continued production in the face of labor difficulties. Sentiment for labor legislation in congress, just as with the public, grows and wanes according to the number of strikes that are current, but there have been so many strikes consistently in the news recently that there is no doubt the majority of congressmen would now vote "Yes" to any reasonable proposal to remedy the situation. It is believed that the freezing of Nazi and Italian funds in this country will be of some help in curbing anti-American activities, but the funds of the nationals of those two countries here are not over $400,000,000 and a good proportion of them are probably in cash form and may be impossible to find. However, it does give the administration a new tool to use against Axis groups in this country, since the freezing makes it possible for the government to stop German funds and such organizations from operating. The agreement of Eastern shipyard workers to ban strikes for two years has shown the public that certain labor groups are willing to work for the best interests of our country, but the continued strike of West coast shipworkers, in spite of a plea for settlement by President Roosevelt, offsets any increased popular feeling sympathetic to labor. As the new tax program for paying part of our defense bill reaches completion, indications are that the whole tax structure of both the nation and the states may be in for a major overhauling. The treasury department has set up a board of experts to study all taxes and to make recommendations as to what should be taxed by the federal government and what by the state governments. It may lead to a plan for centering more of taxation in the federal government, part of which will be distributed to the states. The present taxes on gasoline, for instance, which are levied by both the federal and state governments, may eventually be all collected by the U. S. treasury and reallocated to the states. The same might be done with income taxes. It is the opinion of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, that while congress is planning the biggest tax program in our history it is the time to make our tax set-up as efficient and equitable as possible.

AMHERST METHODIST CHURCH

In a sermon sometime ago we said that God is an economist, that He is a provider for his people but these provisions may be desecrated and blasted by people. Or they may be utilized and multiplied.

In the economy of God there is no such thing as failure. We cannot keep from sowing, and as we sow so shall we reap. If one sows tares he gets a crop of some kind of the seed he sows. If he sows wheat then there is certain to be some grain for his mental, moral, physical, or spiritual garner.

Christ is a separating power, the chaff from the wheat, the vile from the pure, the false from the true and the noble from the base. Whatever is not right is against God and at sometime or another all wrong must cease to be. We may do wrong and succeed but it cannot reach further than the success of wrong doing. Many are wondering why God does not stop Hitler and all his evil deeds. To many people Hitler is evil supreme. Should God start out now to destroy all evil in the world as some would have Him do Hitler, who and what would be left? The time for weeding out is not here but at the proper date with his fan in his hand the Divine Winnowing will complete or finish this chaff collection and the wheat will all be in his garner.

Next Sunday at 3 p. m. the District Superintendent will be here for the Third Quarterly Conference. Our other services will be the same except for a night service at 8:30 "Love Never Fails" play given by some of the church folks. See and hear this and get the benefits derived there from.

Leading The Field LYNDON JOHNSON for U. S. Senator

Lyndon Johnson now leads the field in the Senate race as shown by a well known and widely quoted state poll. Other candidates admit his lead by their vicious and underhanded attack on his stand for Roosevelt and Unity. But their attack has failed and Lyndon Johnson is still the man they are all trying to beat.

What has caused this tremendous swing to Lyndon Johnson? The explanation is now clear: Texans want a Senator trained for the job, a Senator who has the friendship and confidence of our great President, Administration leaders and members of Congress. Texans now know that Lyndon Johnson is that man and that he can get the job done for Texas.

Texans want Unity of action and Unity of purpose in this hour of peril. They know that Lyndon Johnson stands for Roosevelt and Unity and action now. They know that his record of achievement for the Nation and for his district proves that his stand is sincere and can be fulfilled. Join with Lyndon Johnson in a State-wide pledge of Unity and Loyalty to President Roosevelt. Let the world know that Texans stand united with all Americans in our fight to preserve our Democracy. Take It Easy - Learn To Relax

One day two women were sent to my gymnasium by their physicians. Their positions in life offered a striking contrast but their physical conditions were almost identical. Both underweight, suffering from nervousness, tired most of the time, and quite certain that exercise was the last thing in the world they needed. The first is prominent in New York society, a leader in several charitable movements, a popular hostess and a much-sought-after guest. The second is a housewife, the mother of three young children, doing most of her own work, devoted to family and home. Both women have been energy masters. Neither of them has given a thought to saving her precious store of vitality. They have about it like prodigals on so many and such unnecessary activities that they have literally exhausted their physical resources. Committee meetings, benefit affairs, dancing parties and bridge luncheons kept one in a frenzy of hurry. Cooking, dusting, bed-making and dish-washing were equally as exhausting to the other. There is no excuse for such extravagance. You can dance, play bridge, prepare a meal or iron the children's clothes without making a marathon of the job. It's all in the way you do it. Take it easy. Learn to relax. Never stand up for any chores that can be done just as efficiently while you sit down. Save your energy for the most important things. Your health comes first. If you cannot attend to all your social affairs, pass up a few. When your work piles mountain high, let some of it go until another day. It's fun to be popular and nice to have an attractive home, but what good is either if you don't feel well enough to enjoy it?

Five Teachers Elected Monday

Five teachers were elected to teach in the Littlefield schools next year, at a meeting of the school board Monday night.

Those elected were; Misses Frances E. Campbell, who taught at Hart Camp last year; H. G. L. Johnson of Wortham; Miss Bernice Lee of Littlefield, Miss Ranelle Chaney, who taught at Fieldton last year; and Miss Ollie Brown of Hall county.

The board voted not to build the additional class rooms on the industrial arts building on the campus of the elementary school. The building, which has been used for a music room and industrial arts, will be converted into classrooms.

It is reported that the reason the board plans to make these changes for another year, is due to the fact, that within a few years a new school building will need to be constructed.

Plans are being made for the construction of a new building for the colored school, and the contract will probably be let next week.

Sudan Girl Injured In Highway Crash

Miss Marie McNabb of Sudan, received emergency treatment at the Sudan hospital Sunday night for slight injuries sustained when the pickup in which she was riding turned over about two miles west of Amherst on Highway 7.

Accompanying Miss McNabb was Elmer Johnson, also of Sudan, who escaped injury.

The pickup and a light sedan, said to have been driven by an Abilene man, figured in a side-swipe. The sedan is said to have turned over several times, was seriously wrecked, but the driver was reported to have escaped injury.

The accident was investigated by sheriff Sam Hutson.

NEW BUILDING TO HOUSE MORTON STORE

Lloyd Evans, owner of the Morton Piggly-Wiggly store began construction last week on a 50x100 ft. building on the northeast corner of the square.

This will be a tile and stucco structure and will be an ideal location for a store of this type.

DEFENSE . . . scope
home town defense could be measured in terms of the number of agencies, bureaus, boards, divisions, offices and administrations existing on it. Our American towns are being prepared to handle any emergency imaginable. About 30 have just contacted about 30 government and semi-government agencies to ask them this one question: "What are you doing about town preparedness?" Practically all of them claim to be doing something along this line and a many of them consider the protection of small towns and rural areas to be their major job.

DEFENSE . . . councils
The government group which has taken the most wide-spread program of community defense is the division of state and local cooperation of the Office of Emergency Management. That division acts as clearing house for practically everything that is done on the home front and guides many of the other agencies in defining the specific job they are to do.

Blue Bonnet H. D. Club Meets Thursday

Blue Bonnet Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. L. G. Fox Thursday, June 19, 2:30 p. m. Miss Beatrice McCurdy, Home Demonstration Agent, gave a demonstration on refinishing furniture. Miss McCurdy stated that the most important thing about refinishing furniture is to be sure all the old finish is removed first. Here is three ways to remove old finish:

1. Planing or scragging with sharp tools.
2. Commercial Paint and Varnish remover.
3. Lye Solution or lye paste (least expensive).

Here is a preparation for home-made wax for floors:

1-4 lb. beeswax and 1-4 lb. paraffin. Place in quart jar and set in pan of hot water and place on stove until melted.

Remove from stove and add as much turpentine as the jar will hold. Stir for several minutes and set aside to cool. Caution: Never use oil on a waxed floor. Before rewaxing, clean with turpentine or kerosene. Rewax two or three times a year, maybe oftener.

The next meeting on July 3, will be in the home of Mrs. K. P. Brantner. "A Dozen Ways to Cook Poultry" will be the subject. The hostess served fresh cherry ice cream and delicious angle food cake to; Mesdames Ernest Gaston, Henry Meyers, Elgan Baccus, W. E. Stevens, Joe Fisher, Lester Baccus, Jack Fisher, U. E. Baccus, H. All Farmers Are Urged To Attend Session At Presbyterian Church

Dr. Payne also talked with the Denver physician at that time, and was notified that Mr. Hall was considered in a very serious condition.

On Dr. Payne's suggestion a certain course of treatments were given Mr. Hall by the Denver Physician, including several blood transfusions, following which he is reported to be improving.

Dr. C. J. Wagner of Lubbock, who also attended the Rotary Meeting in Denver as a delegate, assisted in treating Mr. Hall.

"Old-fashioned" Revival In Progress At Foursquare Church

An Old Fashion Revival is now in progress at the Foursquare Church, with Evangelist May Young preaching the Old Fashion Gospel. The Evangelist believes the whole Bible to be the inspired word of God and that the greatest need of our day is to get back to the Bible.

Both the Evangelist, Miss Young, and the pastor, Rev. Mary Fulton, will be dressed in old fashion dresses and they invite all others who might like to dress in old fashion clothing to do so.

Thursday night the message will be on the subject, "Tomorrow". Friday night, Rev. Young will be bringing a beautiful illustrated sermon on the subject, "Throw out the Life Line." A special invitation is given to all who have never seen an illustrated message, to come and enjoy this unique presentation of the Gospel.

Surprise Pounding At Amherst Methodist Parsonage Monday

Last Monday night the Amherst parsonage and church were stormed by a good crowd of the people with a surprise pounding of the old time Methodist type for a Methodist preacher. Yet it was not so much the old fashioned type either as it was all of the best and most usable sorts of food. No gifts of surplus molasses, pumpkins, potatoes, or cabbage or left over garments for the pastor and family that some of the better to do members and their families had discarded. Thanks for each item that each one gave. The parsonage larder looks like it did in more balmy days. The ladies had an abundance of excellent punch and cookies to serve. All had a good time talking about the rain, who had the hardest time getting home in rain and mud. Come again and when you like and stay longer.

Younger Set Enjoys Dance At Coffman Home Tuesday Night

Miss Margaret Coffman entertained with an informal dance Tuesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coffman, honoring Harold Ross, Junior student at Texas Technological college, Lubbock.

Mr. Ross will enter the army corps of the United States army August. He will go to Santa Monica, Calif., for preliminary training before being stationed at Randolph Field in San Antonio.

After the group enjoyed dancing Tuesday night, dainty refreshments were served.

Those attending were: Miss Camille Arnold, Ruth and Evelyn Griffin, Ruth Pumphrey, and Frances Barton, and T. A. Homan, Reginald Harlan, Ben Lyman, Odell Pumphrey, Joe Douglas, Franklin Patrick, and Edwin Coffman, and Harold Ross of Lubbock, and the hostess, Miss Coffman.

Mrs. A. A. Royal of Beck's community has as her house guest this week Mrs. Fred Smith and her daughter, Vennetta Fae of Littlefield.

Farmers Increase Yearly Net Income Through Farm Security

Farm families in West Texas Counties, including Lamb County, with standard rehabilitation loans from the Farm Security Administration have increased their average yearly net income 44 percent from $549 to $788, it is revealed by a nation-wide survey just completed in Washington and comparing FSA borrowers' 1940 status with their condition before coming into the program.

Results of the survey were received this week by Fred L. Nix, county FSA supervisor, from Rex B. Baxter, state director of this agency's rural rehabilitation program.

Purchasing power of 4,435 standard rehabilitation borrowers in the 47 counties included in the survey was increased by $1,082,521.

The families are making satisfactory progress in the repayment of their long-term loans. They have thus far paid $3,556,622 into the Federal Treasury in loan installments out of $6,668,577 borrowed although much of the money does not come due for four or five years.

In Lamb County, a total of $76,903 has been loaned to standard rehabilitation clients, since the first of July 1940. There are 143 active borrowers of the Farm Security Administration, and approximately 30 others still living in the county who are indebted but were unable to secure farms for this year. Collections on standard loans in this county amount of $48,082,40, collected since the first of July last year.

A relatively new program in Lamb County this year in the Water Facilities part of the FSA program. To date, 16 WF loans have been made for the purpose of improving the water supply of the recipients. These loans total $5,695, and are amortized over a ten year period.

Mr. Nix said the average FSA low income borrower could not be considered. They have no legal authority to compel adjustments, but by bringing the farmer and his creditors together in a neighborly way, they usually are able to help both parties reach a friendly understanding and settlement.

Mr. Nix said this service is free to all farmers whether or not they are habilitation borrowers, and, he added, creditors as well as debtors may apply for assistance.

Farm Security, it was pointed out, offers many other kinds of help to low-income farm families, such as loans for Community and Cooperative Services, whereby farmers can have facilities jointly which none of them could own individually; loans as mentioned above for water facilities improvements, and so forth.

"In making America strong," Mr. Nix concluded, "the Federal Government is not neglecting to improve the living standards, health, sanitation and economic conditions of the low-income farm families. Farm Security, by assisting the low-income farm families in rural America, is contributing much to the present National Defense program."

Questions And Answers About U.S. Saving Bonds

What are U. S. Defense Savings Bonds?

A. They are direct obligations of the United States Government, ranging in denomination from $25 to $1,000 (maturity value).

What is the purpose of their issue?

A. To provide funds for National Defense and to promote individual thrift.

Is their purchase compulsory?

A. No.

What will happen if the public does not buy?

A. The Government simply will adopt other means for financing defense.

What might these be?

A. Government has power to tax every person, in almost any amount.

Could the Government take a part of every person's pay check?

A. It could, and probably would, if "the American way" of voluntary action fails in this emergency.

How may one buy Defense Saving Bonds?

A. They are sold at a price which is 75 per cent of their maturity value—a bond good for $25 in 10 years costs $18.75 now, and so on. For breaking down further the amount of purchase, Defense Saving Stamps are issued, in denominations as low as 10 cents, which, when accumulated in the proper amount, may be exchanged for a bond.

Are Defense Saving Bonds redeemable without loss to the buyer?

A. Yes. The Series E. bonds, which are the kind the public will mostly buy, are redeemable by the Treasury at any time after 60 days from purchase. After one year, interest earned is added to the price at which they may be redeemed, this interest ranging from 67-100ths of 1 per cent at the first year to 2.90 in the last year.

What is the smallest bond, which can be bought?

A. The $25-at-maturity bond, which costs $18.75.

Is there an upper limit on purchase?

A. Yes. The limit on purchase during any one calendar year (Series E), is $5,000 maturity value ($3,750 cost). Series F and Series G Bonds, which are investment types rather than saving, can be bought up to $50,000 cost price.

What about payroll deduction?

A. Your employer probably will co-operate in the bond sale by setting up payroll deduction at your request in whatever amount you wish. A $1 deduction each week will pay out a $75 bond (100 maturity values) in 75 weeks. Obviously, Defense Saving Stamps can be purchased to obtain the same result.

Can business firms purchase bonds?

A. Yes, as to Series F and Series G; no, as to Series E. These last are intended only for individuals.

The ROAD to BAGDAD

by GEORGE GIBBS

SYNOPSIS

On board the Orizaba, beautiful Camilla Dean meets Ronald Barker, half American, interested in affairs in Palestine. They pledge eternal friendship and friendship. They pledge eternal friendship and friendship. They pledge eternal friendship and friendship.

At certain moments it took all Camilla's skill to keep Asad at arm's length. And when he offered marriage she deflected herself by the expedient of asking him how many wives he already had.

Instead of being dismayed he took her question in all seriousness. "Two," he said gravely. "They live at my place in Damascus, but if you'll marry me I'll let them go. You are the one woman I want. I am a modern, a modern Mohammedan. If I married you it would make things different. Instead of war you might help me to bring peace to all of Palestine and Syria."

She was sure he believed what he said at the moment and in the sincerity of his gesture. "You make woman likes to have influence in great affairs," she said slowly, and then paused. "I like you, Joe, but—er—it's too much to decide in a moment."

"I'll promise to be patient. I will even go with your stupid friends in Michael Gay's bus to Bagdad." He frowned and turned toward her. "Why do you want to go to Bagdad?"

"Who wouldn't? It's a story-book city, the city of Haroun-al-Raschid, of the Thousand and One Nights, and the lying carpet that takes people mysteriously from one place to another without leaving a trace. Perhaps the mysterious son of the Prophet—what's his name?—Osman—Osman Khalil escaped that way to a Jerusalem."

Her first attempt was unsuccessful, for her big trout did not rise. Asad only stared his eyelids for a moment. Anything is possible in the East," he said with a frown.

Camilla's fears that she might have aroused Asad's suspicions were not diminished by the fact that instead of hunting her up the next day as usual, she saw him late in the afternoon in earnest conversation with Mrs. Trimble as she passed the door of the smoking room.

Ronald Barker sat reading, or chatting with Josie Holloway, and Camilla resented what seemed his indifference or a cold-blooded determination to let nothing interfere with his intention to get all the information he could from Camilla, no matter how much it cost her.

So, taking the hint, she went to a quiet corner aft where the deck steward wrapped her in her blanket and brought her tea. As the man straightened he put a folded slip of paper into her fingers. She read: "Captain's cabin at seven for cocktails. Meanwhile try Mosque of Kazemain, Bagdad."

There was no need for explanation. She put the slip of paper in her bag as Joseph Asad approached and took the steamer chair next to hers, ready to resume their almost too personal conversation of the night before. "I've laid my cards on the table," he said in his tragic comic-opera voice. "If you don't think I have a chance I want you to tell me so."

"You're in a little too much of a hurry, Joe. I've promised you nothing. I've given you no right to demand anything from me."

Joseph Asad glowered at Camilla as he lowered his voice. "I don't believe in wasting words," he said. "What has made you so curious about Osman Khalil?"

Camilla plunged. "Osman Khalil has fled to Bagdad, hasn't he?" she asked sweetly.

Asad bent forward, his hands clasping his knees, his voice a snarl of discontent. "Has Ronald Barker been talking to you about Osman Khalil?"

"Of course, everybody has. His escape from Jerusalem is the talk of the ship. I asked him if he knew anything about it. He didn't. Do you know where Osman Khalil has gone, Joe?"

"Where Osman Khalil hides is no affair of yours. Besides—" Asad laughed—"no matter where he is, he can be moved to another hiding place if he receives a warning."

She looked at him narrowly. "You admit that you had something to do with moving him from the Dome of the Rock at Jerusalem?" He wouldn't reply and by the sudden firmness of his jaw she knew that their conversation about the descendant of the Prophet was finished. "Have you nothing else to say to me, Joe?" she asked him.

"Yes. I shall ask the same question of you many times until you

Then a blow from Ronald Barker as the man fell, the knife clattering to the deck.

"give me the right answer." "I don't mind. Your company is pleasant." Camilla rose. "And now I must go and dress for dinner. Au revoir."

It seemed probable that Ronald Barker had procured the invitation for cocktails from Captain Simpson in order that they might meet unobserved and uninterrupted. It grew dark while Camilla dressed and when she made her way up the after stairway she saw people going down to dinner, for the fog had already sounded. She watched for her opportunity and reached the boat deck, going forward to the door of the captain's cabin, knocking timidly. Captain Simpson, a cocktail shaker in one hand, opened the door himself, greeting her warmly. Ronald Barker had not yet arrived.

She was looking at the captain as sounds of a commotion came from the deck outside—blows and a sudden crash. Simpson rushed into the gangway and out on deck where in dim silhouette against the nearest lifeboat Camilla could see two struggling figures. She caught a gleam on the blade of a knife and saw it stop in the air as it was caught and held. Then a blow from Ronald Barker as the man fell, the knife clattering to the deck. He tried to scramble to his feet, but Simpson caught him by the ankle and Barker fell on him. By this time one of the men on the bridge had rushed down and they held the man helpless.

The whole affair had only taken seconds and no one on the decks below had been aroused. "Keep this quiet, Captain, please," Barker said.

"Do you know who he is?" "Haven't the slightest idea. Never saw him before in my life."

A man of the watch on deck brought a searchlight, flashed it into the man's face, revealing his oily sweater and dungarees.

"Well, of all the—I'm sorry, Mr. Barker," Simpson said. "It's one of my own crew. He'll do a stretch for this."

All the fight was out of him and they slipped handcuffs over his wrists. They tried to make him talk, but he only stared at them dully, breathing hard. His name was Ayub, they said, a Turk who had signed on at Piraeus last voyage. As they led the man below the captain picked up the knife, a murderous affair with a carved blade, something like a creese.

"There's blood on it," he gasped. "Did he get you somewhere, Mr. Barker?"

"Oh, just in the shoulder when I threw my arm up to catch it. It's nothing at all."

They led Barker into the office where they took off his coat and cut the sleeve of his shirt.

"It does seem as if they intended to make good their threat," Camilla said. "Can't something be done, Captain, to prevent anything more like this?"

"Certainly it can. Mr. Barker will stay right here in my office and use my stateroom with guards at windows and doors until we dock tomorrow. For the present I'm going to have your dinner and Miss Dean's served here. That will suit you, won't it?"

"I'd like to say, before you tell me anything," Barker began, "that I didn't realize when I asked you to talk to Hassan Isar what a thankless task I'd given you."

"It wasn't so bad," Camilla said lightly. "You see, he wants to marry me."

Barker frowned. "But he has a number of wives already."

"Only two—very small ones. It might be worse if he had a dozen. I've had a very good time. I think I've made some progress, too. How did you guess that Osman was at Bagdad?"

"I had a message that he had been seen on the Damascus road going east."

"And the Mosque of Kazemain?" "I guessed that. It's the largest Moslem shrine."

"Well, I think that's where he is. Asad was very much disturbed when I spoke of Bagdad. How about Serrano and Ayub?"

"I'd like to talk to Ayub. I'll have something to say to Serrano too. I'll get Simpson to help me put Serrano through the third degree and find out if Asad had anything to do with that shooting. I could ship Serrano to England from Alexandria. I'm sure he wouldn't like that."

Camilla realized that they had been discussing political affairs when something else was on her mind as well as his.

There was a knock on the door and the steward appeared, bringing the coffee. And after that the captain came, causing them to draw suddenly apart. "Don't mind me," he said.

"Can you get Ayub to talk?" "We've tried everything but thumbscrews."

"Has the wireless operator been able to identify Mohammed Ali?" It was Camilla's voice.

"He still says he thinks it must be Mr. Mahmoud Daoud."

"Why?" "Because he insists Daoud opened the envelope and danced at the message before he discovered it wasn't for him."

"I'll follow that up when I reach Cairo." The captain went out and the steward took the coffee service.

"If Daoud knows you're El Kerak you ought to know he knows it," Camilla said.

Barker frowned through his cigarette smoke. "Of course he'll deny it. The Cairenes are the most polished liars in the world. It's all pretty rotten. Killing to be done and all that. Of course, it's war in miniature—specialized war. I've a big following—a few tribes who believe in me and will fight for me until death—he broke off—"there I go talking again."

"Please go on. And Hassan Isar and his tribes—and Arif-el-Arif?"

"They're my enemies. Sworn enemies. My tribes come from beyond the Lebanon Mountains—Copts, Jews, half-hearted Moslems—oh, they're a pretty sorry lot when you see them en masse. You can understand it's difficult to keep a mob like that in order."

Camilla's eyes were ablaze with interest. "And the tribes of Hassan Isar—of Arif-el-Arif?"

"Fanatical Moslems bent on restoring Palestine to the Arabs, on driving the British into the sea. And Hassan Isar, who calls himself Joseph Asad, in spite of his mild exterior and beautiful manners, is the most fanatical of all."

Camilla started up in recollection of recent contacts with her friend Joseph.

"You see," Barker went on, "that was why I was so disturbed by the wireless to Mohammed Ali. I was afraid that if Joseph Asad found out who I am, my goose would be cooked in Asia. I couldn't go back into Arabia even among my own tribesmen."

"How terrible!" "I'm hoping for the best," Barker told Camilla. "When I get to Cairo, I'll find a way to learn just how much Mahmoud knows. If he knows too much there will be a way to keep him quiet. I'll be on familiar ground in Cairo and able to look out for myself."

"And in Alexandria?" He took her hand and held it for a long moment. "In Alexandria I shall simply cease to exist."

"What do you mean?" "I'm going to pass out of the picture for Joseph Asad, for Mahmoud, and that sneaking little Spanish viper, Serrano—so that they won't be able to find me."

"And where do I come in?" He smiled almost like Asad, but not quite. "Do you remember what I said to you once about the jinni in the bottle who could appear and disappear at will? Well, that's what I'm going to be after I set my feet on the dock at Alexandria tomorrow. I shall vanish in the crowd and no one will be able to find me."

OLDSMOBILE'S HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE PUTS CLUTCH PEDAL ON THE BENCH!

Clutch Pedal Gets "Unconditional Release"—In an Olds Hydra-Matic, the conventional clutch is replaced by fluid coupling. This is made possible by use of a fully automatic transmission.

Gear Shifting Goes "Back To The Minors"—From first to second, second to third and third to fourth—all shifting is automatic in a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile.

A CLUTCH pedal plays no part in the game, when you drive a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile. Hydra-Matic Drive eliminates the clutch pedal completely—and it's the only drive in the world that does. Hydra-Matic eliminates manual gear shifting in the forward speeds, too—and that, again, is an exclusive Hydra-Matic feature.

Other devices have names that imply automatic driving—make claims to "no-clutch, no-shift" operation, under certain conditions. Yet, no matter what the others say, these facts remain undisputed: Only Hydra-Matic is completely automatic! Hydra-Matic steps up get-away, saves gasoline and enlivens all-round performance.

Try Hydra-Matic and you'll quickly conclude it's the only drive for you!

The SNOOPER SAYS...

Did you know that this week has been designated as "Be Kind To Waitresses Week"? No—I didn't either, until I read about it in the papers.

Do you bully, insult or try to date your waitress? Take heed, brother. The sisterhood of serving sizzies is ganging up on you!

Grace E. Smith of Toledo, Ohio, president of the National Restaurant Association, and R. W. Dale of Seattle, president of the Washington State group, are asking the National convention to make "This Week" official. The convention opened Monday at Seattle.

The Smith-Dale combine, who must have lent a sympathetic ear to waitresses' wails, offers these tips on kindness:

Don't bark at your waitress. (It won't improve the service.)

Don't forget she didn't cook the food. (She only serves it.)

Don't use the waitress as a foil for your temper. (She can't snap back.)

Don't forget she can make a mistake. (Who can't.)

X—Don't try to date her.

Don't blame the waitress for charges for food. (She doesn't institute the price range.)

Don't forget she has other tables to wait. (She's no automation.)

Don't forget she's a lady. (If you expect to be treated as a gentleman.)

Don't treat your waitress as an inferior. (It's no disgrace to work for a living.)

Don't forget: As a customer you are always right... but that doesn't mean the waitress is always wrong.

I believe everyone in Littlefield appreciates the efforts of the waitresses in local restaurants... and... the girls are always up to par, with their service.

But it is hard for people, even here in Littlefield to realize that girls who must work in the business world can't wear a smile every hour of every day... But we do have to try!

An increase of 35 percent in the acreage planted this season to dry edible beans of the white varieties is sought in the United States.

And... reports from army camps reveal that those young men who have been inducted into selective service, prefer beans to the dainty foods that are supposed to contain certain calories and vitamins.

Over at Abernathy, the City Commission passed an ordinance, declaring that more people should plant more trees in the town.

Littlefield can still use more trees.

Clipped from an exchange—"Were we to go by the examination papers of Tulsa, Oklahoma school children, we might be led to believe, among other things, that the alimentary canal is in Northern Indiana, the plural of ox is oxygen, a spinster is a bachelor's wife, and that the animal possessing the most marked degree of affection for man is a woman!"

"The typographical error is a slippery thing and shy; You can hunt till you get dizzy, but somehow it will get by. Till the forms are off the press it is strange how still it keeps; It shrinks down in the corner, and it never stirs or peeps.

That typographical error, too small for human eyes, Till the ink is on the paper, when it grows to mountain size. The boss he stares with horror, Then he grabs his hair and groans; The copy reader drops his head upon his desk and moans—

The remainder of the issue may be as clean as clean can be

But that typographical error is the only thing you see!"

Goodbye—Now.

RAILWAY LABOR UNION DEMANDS WOULD COST 900 Million Dollars A YEAR

THE labor unions have made their demands upon the railways of the United States—and through the railways upon the PUBLIC. These demands are vastly larger in proportion than any they have ever made. The economical and efficient operation of the railways is vital to the nation's defense effort. Therefore, the Western Railways present to the public the following facts:

The labor unions representing engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen are demanding a 30 per cent increase in wages, amounting to 190 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay are the highest in history.

Other unions representing a greater number of railway employees are demanding wage increases ranging as high as 95 per cent—averaging 47 per cent—and amounting to 580 million dollars a year—although their present rates of pay also are the highest in history.

Thus the wage increases being demanded by the labor unions amount to 770 million dollars a year, an average increase in excess of 41 per cent

In addition, certain of these labor unions have demanded advances in their pay not included in the above figures, and more rules for the creation of unnecessary jobs.

The situation, then, is this: The total cost of complying with all the demands made would be approximately 900 million dollars a year!

The average weekly earnings of railway employees are now 15 per cent higher than in the peak year 1929, while the cost of living is 12 per cent less.

The demands of the railway labor unions are being made when the entire nation has just been asked to make a supreme effort for National Defense.

The railways cannot meet these demands without a great increase in the cost of transportation. They exceed by more than 700 million dollars the income that the railways had left after paying their annual expenses, taxes and charges in 1940.

The railways have a vitally important job before them. They need all their resources to continue adequately to serve you and contribute effectively toward the National Defense Program.

End of a Colorful River Era

The Golden Eagle, last of the old river packets to hang on after the Mississippi's colorful steamboat era, is shown as she appeared after striking a channel control fence and sinking. Fifty-five passengers and a crew of 50 were rescued. Used in recent years for excursion trips out of St. Louis, the ship was 38 years old.

Germany Closes U. S. Consulates

Retaliating in almost exact degree for the United States order closing German consulates in America, Germany Thursday night requested the United States to shut its consulates in nearly all Europe—in Germany and most of the occupied countries—charging the American representatives with engaging in espionage "propaganda" and other activities, hostile to the Reich. American consuls and employees were charged with sheltering British spies, making maps and by code and secret document attempting to pass along information on Germany's military and economic plans and her occupation measures.

(The Italian government acted in concert, almost simultaneously ordering the closing of all American consulates in Italy and Italian-occupied territories).

Office of the American Express company also were ordered closed and its employes removed from the country.

(Italy reserved the right to take similar action. This was a further adoption of the pattern of President Roosevelt's action last Monday in asking the padlocking of the German Library of Information, the German Railways and Tourist office, and the Trans-Ocean News service in the United States.)

Graduates Of High School May Become Pilots In Air Corps

High school graduates who are ambitious to become pilots in the Regular Army Air Corps now have the opportunity. Even if their educational qualifications will not permit them to become commissioned officers, they still may fly Army airplanes and may look forward to careers as pilots.

All they need to do is to enlist in the Army Air Corps and this course of training will be open to them after July 1st, 1941, as soon as administrative details can be arranged. They will be taught to fly and they will be paid while learning. After they have qualified as pilots their futures as Regular Army pilots are assured.

All this is made possible by a bill which has just passed Congress and which has been signed by the President. It authorizes the Secretary of War to detail men for training and instruction as aviation students, in their respective grades.

All qualified young men who are interested should apply to the nearest Army recruiting station—Let's Go America, Keep 'Em Flying.

RAF BLASTS INVASION PORTS

Informed quarters in London, Thursday disclosed that the RAF's 9-day series of blasts at channel "invasion ports" and the German Ruhr was an all-out attempt to smash preparations for a big Nazi push against England expected as soon as Germany settles matters with Russia.

These sources declared that Britain's intensive aerial offensive, carried out by hundreds of planes, was aimed at a dual objective:

1. To slow the German effort by crippling the Reich's industrial output, particularly synthetic oil.
2. To snarl the transport routes from base pools of men and personnel which the Germans will need when a full-scale attack against Britain starts.

Wheat Quotas to Apply On 1941 Wheat Crop

Wheat quotas are now in effect and will apply on the 1941 wheat crop, W. E. Bentley, chairman of the Lamb County AA Committee announced this week.

Tabulations compiled in the local AAA Office, Amherst, Texas., indicate that wheat farmers of the county approved wheat marketing quotas by a vote of 157 to 9, a majority of 94.6 percent, when they voted in the nation-wide wheat referendum, Saturday, May 31.

Mr. Bentley also announced that preliminary but unofficial figures from the State AAA office indicate that Texas farmers approved quotas by a vote of 13,947 to 938 or 93.7 percent, while the United States voted 80.3 percent for quotas.

"All farmers who have planted within their wheat allotments for this year", Mr. Bentley said, "may continue to sell or feed all they produce. They may also dispose of any old wheat over from previous years."

Since quotas are approved, wheat farmers, who have planted within their allotments are eligible for a wheat loan which will approximate 94 cents per bushel net in most Texas counties for No. 2 wheat, although the rates have not been announced officially. The amount of excess wheat will be the smaller of actual production or normal yield on the overplanted acres for the farm the committeeman explained.

Overplanted wheat farmers, Mr. Bentley continued, who have a marketing excess may dispose of it one of three ways, (1) they may market it and pay the penalty, which will be 50 percent of the national average loan rate of 98c per bushel, (2) they may deliver it to the Secretary of Agriculture through the local AAA Committee for relief purposes or other purposes that will divert it from the normal channels of trade, or (3) they may store it under bond, in which case the wheat is sealed in storage approved for government loans and the farmer will be eligible for a loan on it at 60 percent of the regular loan rate.

G. M. Vinther Loses 360 Sheep In Storm

The rain and hail storm which raged over this section recently did not only damage planted and growing crops but inflicted heavy damage to livestock in some sections. It was reported that the largest livestock loss occurred on the farm of M. G. Vinther about 6 miles north of Amherst when 360 sheep were lost as a result of the storm.

Dr. McDaniel established offices in the Harmon Drug Store and assumed his duties, so far as possible, as head of the South Plains Cooperative Hospital, pending the completion of the hospital building. They are staying at the Amherst Hotel temporarily and will occupy the D. L. Britt residence when their household effects arrive from their former home at Elk City, Oklahoma.

CHEVROLET AGENCY AT AMHERST UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

A deal was completed recently whereby H. S. Melton and Hurchel Knox acquired ownership of the Amherst Chevrolet Agency, operated for the past several years by L. A. Daniel.

Mr. Knox has at various times been engaged in business here, primarily as a representative of insurance companies. The new firm will be known as the Knox and Melton Chevrolet Company.

5500 LOAVES OF BREAD USED DAILY AT CAMP WOLTERS

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., June 23—(UP)—Army notes for a housewife:

Here's what you need to supply 5,500 troops at Camp Wolters with daily supply of bread.

At least 5,500 pounds of flour, 123 pounds of yeast, 200 pounds of lard, 80 pounds of malt, 120 pounds of salt, 2 gallons of vinegar, 180 pounds of powdered milk and 260 pounds of sugar.

The recipe makes 5,500 loaves but Sergeant Robert W. Gregory, in charge of the camp bakery, says that as soon as the camp expands a little with the advent of new trainees, army bakers will go on a double-shift basis and increase the output to 24,000 loaves daily.

DRILLING CONTINUES ON COCHRAN WELL

WHITEFACE, June 21—Drilling is going ahead on the Helmerich & Payne wildcat, on the 5,000 acre block of the Coronado Oil Co., southwest of Lehman and 12 miles west of Whiteface, without delay. Casing for the 5,000 foot test was placed on the rack and all other supplies for the drilling are at the well. With usual speed, the depth the lime should be reached in another week, when coring is to begin. The most interesting aspect, if a producer, is due to the oil development about 14 miles ahead of production, northwest trend. That this operation is a favorable one, is evidenced by logs of old wells in the area which reported excellent oil showings. The well is about a mile and three-quarters from the old Penn well, which had 1,000 feet of oil in the hole. Crude from the Penn well was used in drilling the Marland and Continental wildcats near Hledsoe.
