Lt. Gov. Smith Addresses District 2 Farmers Union

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith told nearly 100 persons at a specially called meeting of District 2, Texas Farmers Union, on Monday night at the Willie Room of the REA Building, that "farming and its allied industries have 'revolutionized' in the past four decades despite increasing water problems."

Sand Hill Crane Hunting Season Opens

Hunting for sand hill crane may begin this Saturday, October 29, states Pat Donnelly, Game Warden. The season opens 30 minutes before sunrise and lasts until sunset. Limit is two daily and four in possession. No license is required unless out of county, neither is a stamp required. There are probably several thousand in the area.

The hunting season for geese opened October 25 and lasts until January 8. A $3 stamp is required which can be bought at the Post Office and this is good for all water fowl. A Texas hunting license costs $3.15 and can be purchased at sporting goods stores.

Quail season opens November 12 and duck season will start November 19.

representative from the 18th Congressional District, were also present.

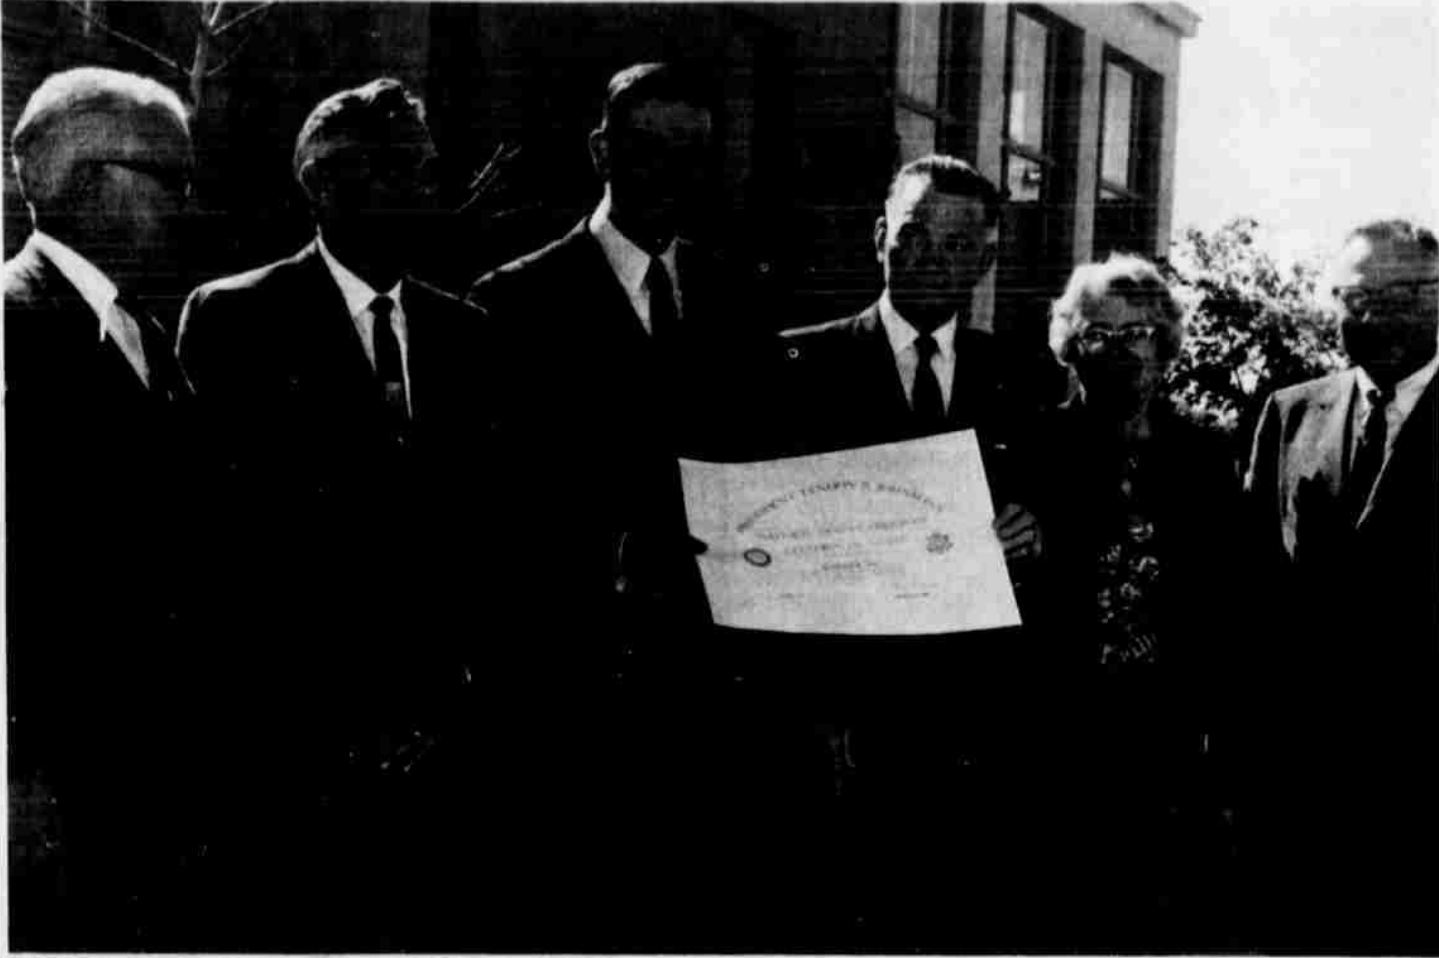

The Lt. Gov. also praised the High Plains counties for making more efficient and productive use of their water resources than almost any other area. "Everyone agrees that the state should further help to solve the whole water problem, but almost no one agrees on how it should be done," he said.

Waymon Lewis, President of the local Lamb County Farmers Union, appointed the following men as delegates to the State Convention to be held at Mineral Wells, October 31st - Nov. 3: Tommy McKinnon, Ed Dawson, Lynn Glasscock, Raymond Cooper, Wilton Bodkins, Clois Tomes, C. L. Roberts, Preston Sampler and Fred Grissom.

Sheriff's Posse Leaves For Dallas

At least ten members of the local Sheriff's Posse will be leaving Thursday and Friday for Dallas to enter the National Finals of competition there, stated Barton Spencer, President.

Preliminary estimates set the amount of contestants at 3,000, but Barton felt that if the local members made as good a showing as they previously did at Lubbock, some members might come home with some awards.

Dupree, Dallas Post Office Representative; J.E. Chisholm, Mayor; Congressman George Mahon; T.A. Henson, Postmaster; Mrs. G.T. Corry, representing the Garden Club, and Arthur Duggan, Jr., President of the Chamber of Commerce.

Honorable George H. Mahon, Congressman for the 19th District, presented a special "Citation of Merit" for outstanding cooperation in President Johnson's Natural Beauty Program to the community of Littlefield, Texas, and its postal employees at ceremonies held on the workroom floor of the Littlefield Post Office on Wednesday, October 26, 1966, at 11:00 a.m.

Postmaster, T.A. Henson and others who helped in the beautification effort accepted the award on behalf of all citizens of Littlefield.

J. Allen Dupree, Assistant to the Regional Director, Dallas Region of the Post Office Department, who represented Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien at the ceremony, said, "Only those communities which have made a concerted effort to improve the appearance of their post office are recipients of the award."

The citation is awarded after the postal facility has received a superior rating in a very rigid inspection by postal officials from regional headquarters and reviewed carefully by Tyler Abell, Assistant Postmaster General for Facilities. "The emphasis on beautification should make our post office a more pleasant place for our customers to visit and do business," Postmaster Henson said. "It should be emphasized that our project was done to enhance the appearance of our city and we hope that others in the community will be encouraged to make Littlefield more attractive," he added.

Only forty-eight other post offices out of a possible 2,300 under the Dallas headquarters have received this citation. It is the first for the area.

Wildcats Face Tough Challenge To Winning Ways

Remembering an upsetting one-point loss, last year, to the Snyder Tigers, which also marred homecoming festivities for Littlefield fans, Coach Kirk's Wildcats have decided that it's time to "turn the table and return the favor".

Friday night is also homecoming for Snyder.

The Tigers are going to be growling. They're not so happy about losing a squeaker to Lakeview last week, nor the trouncing by Lamesa 41-6 nor the shut-out by Big Spring 34-0, or the lacing by Kermit 21-7.

They smile a bit more at their own victories 14-13 over Andrews, 19-0 over Stamford, and 31-0 over Levelland.

But nobody likes to be under at least the .500 mark. Neither does Snyder.

So they're going to shove All-State Quarterback candidate Murray Bowden at the Cats. They're going to have some fast men slicing at Littlefield's line and around the ends in the persons of Tailback Curtis Clay, a former 220-yard sprinting champ, and Fullback Merlo Traves who last week alone gained 202 yards rushing against Lakeview.

For snatching aerial bombs, that in the past have caused Littlefield trouble at times, they offer Frankie Grimmit, 6 ft. and 3 in. Add seven men to this combo and the Cats are going to have to do some clawing.

No resting on laurels this time will be possible.

No second half relaxation will be possible. First half, either, for that matter.

But, Coach Kirk's lads are not going to sit around in awesome bewilderment. The fine backfield which has been consistently punching out yardage against all odds, the defense that has risen to many an occasion, even films will prove, can be counted on to stack up another all-important win in the race for the District championship.

Busload For Snyder Forming

The Quarterback Club is sponsoring a bus for fans to support the Wildcats at Snyder Friday night. Deadline for tickets is noon today and cost is $5.25. They can be purchased at the Dairy Mart and the City Barber Shop.

New Industry Building Contract Awarded

The Plains Steel Buildings Inc. of Lubbock received the nod from the Littlefield Industrial Corporation for the contract to build the all-steel buildings that will house Littlefield's newest industry.

No definite commitment has as yet been made, nor has a contract been signed. The signing of a contract must wait until official confirmation in writing has been received from the Small Business Administration Offices of Washington D. C. for the $240,000 loan that has been granted.

The Corporation members had also conferred with Harry Keeton Jr., president of the future industry, who arrived in Littlefield Monday. Final decision had been held up because the base bid and options had been so close that Corporation members felt Mr. Keeton should be consulted for the final decision.

Alfred Koetting of Plains Steel Buildings was represented by Leo Koetting of Amarillo and Willard Dodd, District Sales Manager of Stran Steel Corporation, a unit of National Steel Corporation, which will furnish the steel.

Sudan Youths Injured In Accident

J.D. Stanley, Sudan, suffered severe facial cuts and bruises and Bill Reese, also from Sudan, suffered the loss of several teeth as their car, a '63 Olds, careened into a tree on the boulevard from the school to the downtown district in Anton, Saturday night.

Stanley felt that after passing a car the brakes locked, forcing the car to hit the curb and from there into the tree. Reese was the driver of the car. Stanley hit the windshield and rear view mirror and 160 stitches had to be made on lacerations about his face and neck. He is hospitalized in the Medical Arts Hospital in Littlefield and is in fair condition.

Ties Galore In Football Contest

Preliminary plans can now proceed with the hope for construction to be completed either in January or February.

Lee Roy Nuttall of Amherst escaped the cluster of ten ties for second place by missing only two entries in last week's Football Contest.

And then the deluge! Ten people tied for second place. Gwynn Zahn of Star Route, Littlefield, came out best for second when the tie breakers were used.

For third place it was ties again! So Arthur Duggan of Littlefield and Charles Didway of Post by even guessing the identical scores will be considered winners of third place.

Contestants vie with Tommy Thrash this week in picking winners. Entries are due by mail or personal delivery at 5 p.m. Fridays.

Continuation Of Series On Amendments

This is the second in a series of articles relating to the proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution to be voted on in the general election on November 8th. Again, we want to thank our State Representative Bill Clayton and the League of Women Voters of Texas for their help in compiling these articles. The recommendations for voting on these amendments are those of Littlefield Publishing Company and not necessarily those of the people who helped in providing information on the amendments.

Amendment No. 4 -- H.J.R. No. 21

This proposed amendment to Article XVI of the Texas Constitution adds a new Section 30c, clarifying the constitutional limitations on terms of office of directors of conservation and reclamation district.

BACKGROUND Terms of office for state officials have varied little since Texas became a state. As new boards and directors have been created, the trend has been toward increasing the length of terms to six years, while safeguarding the advantages of the two-year term by providing for appointments at staggered two-year intervals. This amendment would allow better continuity for Boards of Water District.

FOR: Six year terms would be more efficient and would reduce the financial burden of frequent elections for small districts. The proposed amendment authorizes but does not require six year terms. The legislature is given the responsibility for determining which districts shall have two year and which six year terms.

AGAINST: Errors of judgment of directors with a six year term could work to the disadvantage of district residents. There is no provision for recall or staggered terms of office specified in the amendment. A six year term makes the elective official (See SERIES, Page 10)

Provisions Of 1967 Feed Grain Program Released

After much discussion and consultation with farm groups, the United States Department of Agriculture has released most provisions of the 1967 feed grain program, which some farm associations are still seeking to change.

The provisions of the new program state that those who cooperate in the grain sorghum phase will qualify for price support loans set at national averages of $1.61 per hundred weight. The Grain Sorghum Producers Association had asked for a 25¢ raise whereas the above figure represents a 9¢ raise.

The price support payments remain the same, 53¢ per hundred weight of 50% of the base. Minimum diversion remains the same at 20%. Maximum diversion is fixed at 20% and this is a change since some had been diverting up to 50%.

Next year's production of feed grain should therefore be increased by about 20% to bring the national production up to about 180 million tons. This would mean that the reserve supply of feed grain would be restored to about forty million tons, still below what many consider a safe reserve or carry-over.

The program is calculated to bring about 13 to 15 million more acres of idle land back into production.

After the program details were announced, the executive committee of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association met in special session to consider the proposals. Elbert Hart, President of the GSPA, stated that the group reached the conclusion that "the provisions as announced this past week will not maintain farm income to grain sorghum producers."

The only increase of income will come to those who have been voluntarily diverting a portion of their farm about the 20% level and who now will put that land back into production, Mr. Hart felt.

Accordingly, Mr. Hart and Mr. Bill Nelson, Executive Vice-president of the GSPA, returned to Washington to seek changes with two proposals (1) to spread the 53¢ per hundred weight price support payment over the entire acreage planted on the farm instead of 50% as announced by USDA, or (2) increase the price support loan level from the announced $1.61 to a level high enough to make up for diversion payments.

Prospects for such proposed changes were not too bright nor were they discouraging, concluded Mr. Hart.

VIEWING THE SKETCH of the proposed new cotton batting industry building Monday afternoon in the XIT Room of the Security State

Bound Town In Littlefield

... would like to call your attention to the second in the series of articles on the proposed constitutional Amendment to be voted on this November. As little as people know about our constitutional amendments, they do affect every part of the state and should be studied carefully before the vote.

... Congressman Mahon paid us a visit when he made the presentation of a citation to the post office. All Littlefielders should be proud of the fine job done by the P. O. in beautifying the building and grounds along with our Downtown Improvement and Beautification project. The local major, T. A. Henson, and his staff can be justly proud of their job.

... Congressman Mahon, Chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee and the Sub-committee on Appropriations, said that he could foresee a tax increase in the next year if the Viet Nam inflation were to continue. Though the congressman agrees with the vast majority of us, in this area who feel that too much government is being spent in this area, he is also practical enough to know that the problem must be solved regardless of the cause of the problem. There is no doubt that the congressman cannot take a "dread" approach to a problem. The problem is not solved until the words are spoken. Congressman Mahon, would see action that works and not words which sound like they will fail to accomplish the job.

... Those who may be wondering if Congressman Mahon is still in Littlefield though we have placed in the 18th Congressional District for purposes of voting. Our new congressman will take office with the beginning of the 90th Congress in January. Until that time, we have "George" to do it.

... The Littlefield stands to the brim in Snyder tonight. Those Tigers from the south have been an on-and-off-the-next-year and this is their year since lowly Lakeview met them last week. We had better watch out. Lakeview also since we have a habit of being a "sucker" for them.

... We will be those who will be down and we hope the bus will develop into a band many more fans will be making the trip. We say "The Fans in the field" make the difference in a ball game. Let's have a team in Snyder tomorrow.

... The weather has been so beautiful the last few days that you almost get spring fever. We could have used the weather to replace the weather we got several days ago. We still make use of it in addition to being ideal indoor and in-the-field weather. We can point with pride to West Texas weather in Littlefield.

persons in attendance.

She is assistant program director of the West Texas TB Association. She also started the Plainview Public Health Department and is presently teaching in the school of nursing in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Mrs. Herriage discussed the new law that the children in the first and seventh grades have a TB skin test. She explained how the test was given and why it is given. She explained what the disease is and how to combat it. A question and answer period followed.

Request cards were sent to parents Wednesday for the parent's permission to give their child the painless skin test. These cards are to be returned as soon as possible. The testing will take place November 7.

After the talk given by Mrs. Herriage was concluded the meeting was adjourned. The theme of the next meeting will be, "Who Are The Disadvantaged And Why".

The skirt featured a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a crown holding crystal pendants, and she carried a cascading bouquet of white chrysanthemums and baby's breath tied with streamers atop a white Bible. Her something old was the Bible carried by her mother at her wedding, something new, the ensemble; something blue and borrowed, a crepe de chine handkerchief carried by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lorena Hall and her mother at their weddings. She wore a blue garter and in her shoe, a sixpence her father had gotten in England in World War II.

Attending the bridegroom was his father, L.B. Nulty. Usher

Annual Scholarship Dinner Held

The Annual Scholarship Dinner sponsored by the Littlefield Woman's Club was held Tuesday, October 25 at 7 p.m. in the Willie Room of the REA Building, with a large number in attendance.

Students from the area were special guests. The invocation was given by Rev. R.D. Longshore, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Roy McQuatters, president, then welcomed the guests and those attending. Toastmaster for the evening was Mrs. Jessie Jones, who then introduced the entertainment for the evening. Dr. Aaron Williams and his daughter, Gayle rendered several musical selections.

Mrs. Jones then introduced the guest speaker for the evening. The speaker was Mr. Jim Ravanelli, director of recruitment of Lubbock Christian College. Ravanelli spoke in the place of C.L. Kay, who was unable to attend.

Ravanelli spoke on today's youth and their future. He revealed that there are four basic characteristics of today's youth. They are confused, but it is not their fault, it is the adult leadership they have received. They also have a lack of communication with the adult generation and they are tired of being babied and want to be treated like young adults. The fourth characteristic and the latest is that the youth are looking for a cause or mission in life. This is one of the reasons the Peace Corp is doing so well. Ravanelli pointed out that adults should not be pessimistic about youth but lend them a helping hand and direct them. This is all they want and they can handle the rest.

The decor throughout the room was in red, white, and blue, carrying out the Americanism theme. The challenge was Better Americanism.

The money received through this dinner will be used to give a deserving young lady a scholarship to help in continuing her education.

One Snyder Player Injured

Coch Keith Miles reports that one of his injured players, Rick Hall, a Wingback, may still not be ready for Friday night's game. He sat out last week with a knee injury. If Rick does not start, Rob Golden, usually playing the quarterback post will start.

It is now almost a certainty that cotton producers will be called on in a mail referendum during the week of December 5 to vote on whether to assess themselves $1 per bale to finance the Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Most are aware that the future of cotton both on the High Plains and elsewhere will depend on markets. Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has pointed out that "Government programs will be with us for a long time, and they will doubtless help to keep the industry alive during periods of stress, but they cannot be counted on to sustain it forever, and certainly not to build a bigger and better industry. That can only be done in the marketplace."

Few will argue with that statement. But, admitting that progress is dependent on markets, producers faced with an additional $1 a bale input on a crop already in a vicious cost-price squeeze are asking what the Research and Promotion Act can do about building markets, and how it can do it. The question is well put, and it deserves an answer.

It is not enough to say that the Act, if approved by producers, will raise $10 million or $11 million to be spent on research and promotion. Producers know that cotton has been under the weight of a 16 to 1 handicap in sales pressure. They know that cotton has lost ground, competitively, in 42 out of 48 of its most important markets, held its own in 2 and gained in only 4 during the five years from 1961 to 1965. And this is in spite of a reduction of about one-third in the domestic price of cotton since early 1964.

Even including direct payments as a part of the price of cotton, producers themselves have suffered about five cents per pound of that one-third price decrease, and that's one of the reasons they are intent on knowing whether their $1 per bale contribution to research and promotion will do the job before they put it up.

Research, naturally, is set to receive a significant part of the total funds raised under the Act -- research to cut the costs of producing cotton, improve the quality of both raw cotton and its end products, and to find new uses for cotton. Such research is vital, indispensable. No business can long survive without it.

But a big increase in research will require additional highly trained personnel and additional facilities, over and above those already being utilized. So this may take a little time to get up to full speed. Promotion, on the other hand, can be stepped up almost immediately, and it is in this field that plans are farthest advanced.

Here, substantial funds are scheduled to be used to reclaim and build markets especially in the area where synthetics manufacturers have cut deepest into cotton's markets over the past several years -- national advertising in newspapers and magazines, with much of it on a cooperative basis with retailers.

A year-round barrage of ads in magazines and newspapers will help cotton's markets in four ways. One, such advertising strongly and directly influences individual fabric consumers. Magazine readership tends to be concentrated in those sectors of the consuming public where education and disposable income are above average, so the effect on consumer buying and on consumption of textiles should therefore be above average. Newspaper advertising, on a cooperative basis with individual stores, doubles the funds available for cotton promotion in this sector, and has an even more direct effect on immediate purchases of specific items.

Two, national advertising will strongly influence the retailers themselves. Both in soft goods and other lines, retailers are naturally inclined to stock, display and push those items which have been most effectively presented to the public and those items which they themselves can advertise for half normal cost through cooperative agreements with the raw material producers.

Three, garment manufacturers and other fabricators of textile products will be induced to use more cotton constructions as the result of national advertising. Four, the demand built by such advertising will have its effect on the textile mills who spin and weave the fabrics for the manufacturers. In these latter two instances, the effect will be less direct, but no less beneficial to cotton producers. The basic job of both textile mills and textile manufacturers is to make and sell, at a profit, as much merchandise as they can. If consumers are influenced toward cotton, and if retailers are stocking and pushing cotton, fabricators will ask mills for cotton and the mills will certainly spin cotton. And the chain reaction on fabricators and mills does not stop there. With just the effect of major stores getting cooperative advertising funds, major stores call on the fabricators for cotton, and going to supply cotton, a result even the smallest who got no advertising from the cotton producer will find themselves happy because that's what manufacturers have in showrooms and in stock.

TRY THE WORLD'S TOUGHEST 2-DOOR

This new Chevy pickup looks so good you could call it a 2-door. (You could also call it the toughest Chevy pickup ever built.)

This Fleetside pickup's got a lot more than good looks going for you. It's got new construction to bring you more durability, working ease, comfort and safety. Check that new all-steel pickup box, for example. New full double-wall side panels and tailgate keep your load from leaving its mark on Chevy's good looks. And new measures have been taken to help keep out rust and corrosion. Like the one-piece wheelhousings that now protect sheet metal against tire splash. Inside, the color-keyed cab looks and feels like a pleasant place to work. There are a number of new safety features, too: an energy-absorbing steering wheel and a dual master cylinder brake system, to name two. And here's another thing the new Chevy pickup's got going for you: it rides better than some cars. Choose from 26 Fleetside and Stepside models now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Top-Ranked Midgets To Appear On Wrestling Card

Little Beaver, ranked second in the nation, and Sky Low Low, ranked tenth, will match skills Saturday night at the Littlefield Sports Arena.

The Lawman and Jack Cain will start the activities and the Batman and Alex Perez will finish them in a grudge match begun last Saturday night when both Perez and Batman were disqualified after a fall a piece, in what turned out to be quite a fracas. Perez unmasked the Batman, which in wrestling circles is quite unforgivable, so the return match has been arranged. In earlier matches, last Saturday night, Dory Funk Sr. and Wild Man Weeba came to a draw after fifteen minutes and then Dory went on to pin the Black Raider in two straight falls.

The Wildcat "B" Team kept up their winning ways to make it 4-1-1 for the season with a 51-7 thumping of Levelland at Wildcat Stadium Thursday night.

Six Cats took their turns at scoring with Roy Burk, Danny Bryson, Dennis Chambers, Harold Lowery, and Gary Pirkey scoring a touchdown apiece and Stephen Webb going over for two. Roy Burk kicked all the extra points and missed only one, besides starting the game off with a three point field goal.

The Cats rushed for 313 yards on the ground and completed four out of six passes for 26 yards.

They travel to Plainview for a game at 7 p.m. Thursday to seek another win.

The Liberal Point Of View

I can understand the "liberal point of view," can you?

HARVEY

As long as Americans applaud free enterprise but vote for Santa Claus, do you think any practical politician is going to vote against increased social security?

Also, conservatives always sound so anti-this and anti-that that young people, especially, come to see them as a bunch of old maid "antis."

The liberal says, "Look, the Russians want to be friends with us. Hallelujah!"

That is the kind of proclamation you can welcome, cheer, vote for.

The conservative Wall Street Journal cautions, "Don't let our guard down, don't celebrate yet, don't relax prematurely..."

What party poopers! Nuts to the joy killers!

One must back off a few chapters from the pages of contemporary history to recognize that the conservative "hand on the shoulder" has been a proper restraining influence in our nation's affairs.

Whenever the liberal has decreed, "Let everybody eat cake!", the conservative has cautioned that too much cake can make you sick.

That's right, but what's "right" is rarely what's popular.

An election ago, this column sought to interpret then-prevailing political philosophies. Rereading my words of August 25, 1964, I see nothing has changed.

The conservative says, "Balance the budget."

The liberal says, "Don't worry about it."

The conservative says, "Balance the military establishment."

The liberal says, "Let's all disarm."

The conservative says, "Inefficient farmers should do something else."

The liberal says, "Subsidize 'em!"

The conservative says, "We need a hard dollar."

The liberal says, "A little inflation won't hurt."

The conservative says, "Taxpayers need relief."

The liberal says, "The needy need relief."

The conservative says, "How about the next generation?"

The liberal says, "They can't vote yet!"

The liberal demands, "Everything equal for everybody."

The conservative demands, "Freedom to be unequal."

The liberal says, "Conservatives worry too much, they're old-fashioned, out-of-step."

The conservative says, "Liberals are reckless, extravagant, power-hungry, blind leaders."

And Americans will approve and may applaud the conservative's proposed "balanced diet."

But the politicians have learned that cake is better vote-bait.

On the eve of another election the President is recommending a vastly expanded Social Security program, more "welfare" with more "give" and "take" affecting everybody.

Few voices in Congress have dared protest.

I did see a bumper sticker in Indianapolis, which was probably printed by some interfering, obstructionist, conservative.

It said, "What do you mean, FEDERAL aid? It's OUR money!" (Copr. T-M, 1966 Gen. Fea. Corp.)

CITY BITS

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Holder of Amarillo, former Littlefield residents, were here for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bartlett of Lubbock spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Naylor.

Mrs. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Etchison and family also attended the Texas Tech football game last Saturday in Lubbock.

Two Minor Accidents Tuesday

Samuel Oliver, in a 1965 International truck and Charles Dee Burnett of Sudan collided at the intersection of Marshall Howard Boulevard and Highway 54 on Tuesday.

Later in the day George F. Albert of Baileyboro, Tex., in a 1966 International truck struck a parked 1957 Ford owned by W.O. Sanders of Anton. Mr. Albert was travelling the wrong way on a one way street.

less responsive to the desires of the people than if he must run for office every two years. RECOMMENDATION: We recommend you vote AGAINST this amendment. Amendment No. 5 -- S.J.R. No. 4 The proposed Amendment No. 5 adds a new Section 62-c to Article XVI of the Texas Constitution. This new section authorizes the legislature to enact laws providing for a system of retirement, disability, and death benefits for the officers and employees of a county, a political subdivision of a county, or other political subdivision of the state.

BACKGROUND In 1946, Article XVI, Section 62 of the constitution was adopted. Subsection (a) of this section authorized the creation of a retirement program for state employees, and subsection (b) authorized the creation of a retirement program for county employees. In 1962, the voters defeated an amendment containing provisions similar to those found in the proposed Amendment No. 5.

FOR: Participation is discretionary with the governing bodies. Officials and employees will match the amount of money contributed by the political subdivision. Retirement systems now in effect could be continued with local funds or merged into the system provided for this amendment without the loss of previous credits. The establishment of retirement programs attracts more competent people to public service and improves morale, thus increasing employee work output. AGAINST: Sound retirement programs require large membership and wisdom and prudence in financial operations. It is doubtful if many of the programs created under this amendment would meet this criteria. The multitude of separate retirement programs created is an undesirable situation. Some governing bodies of counties or other political subdivisions might choose not to establish a program which would leave those officials and employees without a retirement program. All employees of these governmental units are eligible for Social Security coverage so the need for an expanded retirement program is questionable. RECOMMENDATION: We recommend you vote FOR this amendment.

Amendment No. 6 -- H.J.R. No. 37 This proposed amendment adds a Section 51-d to Article III of the Texas Constitution. The new section authorizes the legislature to provide, by general law, for the payment of assistance by the state to the surviving spouse and minor children of law enforcement officers, custodial personnel of the Texas Department of Corrections, or of full-paid firemen who suffer violent death in the course of the performance of their duties. BACKGROUND Article III, Section 51, Section 51a, et seq., authorizes the granting of public money to individuals, thereby providing exceptions to the general prohibition against grants of this type, which is expressed in the first clause of Section 51. The proposed amendment would provide an exception in favor of the survivors of law enforcement officers, custodial personnel of the Texas Department of Corrections, and full-paid firemen.

FOR: Provisions should be made for the state to pay assistance to survivors of employees engaged in extra-hazardous duty. By leaving the amount of assistance to the discretion of the legislature, this amendment would insure a reasonable amount to survivors. AGAINST: Many of the employees coming under the scope of this amendment are city or county employees. Assistance to their survivors should be borne by the cities and counties and not by the state. The amendment should specify a limitation on the amount of assistance as the costs could be more burdensome than expected by the voters. This amendment is being unfair by singling out a certain class of public employees for special treatment.

RECOMMENDATION: We recommend you vote FOR this amendment. New School Legislation Proposed

The legislative committee of Texas State Teachers Association ended two days of hearings Saturday (October 22, 1966) and announced a six-part package of proposed new school legislation.

The suggested legislative action includes a method of providing increases in Texas classroom teachers' salaries to bring them up to the national average.

Texas now ranks 29th in the nation in classroom teacher pay.

Dr. Joe B. McNeil, chairman of the TSTA legislative committee and superintendent of Wichita Falls schools, said the new salary proposal is "the most immediate practical solution to a serious statewide teacher shortage that is hurting those we can least afford to hurt -- the school children of Texas."

McNeil's committee opened hearings Friday morning and concluded deliberations Saturday afternoon. It heard viewpoints from every TSTA-affiliated group, from classroom teachers, superintendents, principals, and from education-oriented groups such as Texas Congress of Parent-Teachers Association and Texas Association of School Boards.

The salary proposal features monthly raises in teacher pay ranging from $61 to $100 with beginning teachers and teachers with few years of service receiving the larger increases to compensate for the small increases provided them in the last salary raise.

These raises, McNeil emphasized, would be in the minimum salary schedule operated under the state's Minimum Foundation Program.

Also proposed are increased benefits to retired teachers, a minor change in the Teacher Retirement System of Texas, clear legal status for voluntary teacher-school board consultation agreements, sick leave benefits, and a proposal for "continuing contracts and professional employment practices."

McNeil said the final approval of the proposals would come from TSTA's policy-making delegate body which meets November 5. If approved, the proposals will be submitted to the Texas legislature which convenes in January.

Cost of the pay program was figured at $85 million for the first year of operation. Of this amount the state would pay $68 million and local school districts $17 million.

Under the pay proposal the minimum state salary for beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree would be $5,004 annually. Nine annual increases would be provided with the annual salary for bachelor's degree teachers reaching $6,057.

For the beginning teacher with a master's degree the starting salary under the Minimum Foundation Program would be $5,310. Fifteen annual increases are provided to reach $7,065 on the minimum schedule.

Many local school districts pay above this minimum schedule.

Under this plan, McNeil said, all teachers would benefit. But the greatest increase would come for younger teachers. "Too many college graduates prepared for teaching careers go into other professions to earn more money," said McNeil. "This loss contributes heavily to the teacher shortage. We think our proposal will make the beginning and younger teacher's position more attractive."

Provision for keeping teachers at least at the national average by providing a $35 per month increase for each succeeding biennium remains a part of the program. However, the committee expressed its intention of recommending to the TSTA House of Delegates that this be eliminated to assure that recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education could receive full consideration by the 61st Legislature meeting in 1969. The TSTA panel felt confident that the Governor's Committee recommendations would be better than the proposed future adjustment.

McNeil said TSTA's stated goal of bringing classroom teacher salaries up to the national average is now altered by the new pay proposal.

"But our plan does provide a more effective way to attain the national average and at the same time hit the teacher shortage an effective blow," declared the veteran school administrator.

He predicted that unless immediate action is taken on teacher salaries the present shortage of more than 5,000 teachers will swell to "10,000 when school opens next September."

Another proposal with implications of helping solve the teacher shortage is the committee's suggestion for a continuing contract and professional employment practices law for teachers.

This provides that after a probationary period teachers would be protected by continuing contracts which could be terminated for cause. It also provides for hearings and appeals, as well as for teacher responsibility in keeping contracts.

While giving teachers security in their jobs, the proposal maintains the full powers of local boards of education.

A "professional consultation" bill is proposed by the committee. McNeil explained that this merely legalizes a growing trend toward written agreements of cooperation between teachers, superintendents and school boards.

The proposal will not require written consultation agreements, said McNeil, but will remove any shadow of doubt that such voluntary agreements are legal. Fort Worth and El Paso have such agreements now.

Other areas should be free to adopt such agreements if they so desire, McNeil said.

The proposed change in the teacher retirement system is minor. It would permit teachers to contribute on the basis of their total salary. No retroactive provisions are included and each member will benefit only to the extent of his increased deposits.

A state sick leave minimum program will be introduced. Benefits for retired teachers provide for an increase of $1.50 per month for each year they have been retired. A teacher retired 10 years would receive $15 a month increase in retirement benefits.

The committee members, in addition to McNeil, are: Dr. John W. McFarland, El Paso, vice chairman; Mrs. Barbara Bigham, Snyder; Mrs. Betty Jennings, Muleshoe; Mr. J. W. Nixon, Laredo; Mr. Leslie S. Pfeiffer, San Antonio; Mrs. Kathryn C. Townsend, Victoria, and Mrs. Wendell Watson, Pampa.
