

Sure 'Nuf Shorty, It's Straw Hat Day

The long and short of it is simply this—Friday is Straw Hat Day in Big Spring. R. H. (Shorty) Snyder, who towers all of 5 ft. 1 1/2 inches, impresses this fact on two men who normally move in a higher strata of atmosphere. Even up there, says Snyder to Neil Norred, left, measuring 5 ft. 4 1/2 inches, and Tom Rosson, only half an inch shorter, it's cooler with a comfortable straw. So bend down, brothers; take on a new chapeau; and cut across to comfort.

SEEK INJUNCTION TO REGAIN MILLS

Steel Industry Back In Court As Govt. Grants $3 Ton Hike

By NORMAN WALKER WASHINGTON (AP)—Private owners of the steel industry went back to the federal courts today seeking an order to force government surrender of their mills.

The action came on the heels of an order by Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam raising steel prices about $3 a ton—only a fourth of what the industry claimed it needs to pay for government-suggested pay boosts.

Lawyers for leading steel firms pressed for a preliminary injunction from Judge David A. Pine to end the government operation ordered by President Truman 16 days ago.

Justice Department attorneys were prepared to oppose the plea today. They had successfully staved off earlier industry efforts in the courts.

The industry felt its case was strengthened, however, by the fact that the government had since plainly stated it will override industry objections and impose a pay boost for Philip Murray's 650,000 CIO United Steelworkers members.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, declaring Truman violated three separate articles of the Constitution in seizing the steel plants, said the President may be "commander-in-chief," but this means command of the armed forces—"not the command of the people of the United States."

"If that were not true," said the chamber in testimony prepared for a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, "then the President could become a dictator overnight and every American, from the cradle to the grave, could be made to goose step."

The Truman administration was taking its time about ordering pay raises in the seized industry. The latest word was that this won't come until next week.

Putnam insisted that working out the pay raise was a time-consuming job. Neither he nor Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, government boss of the seized industry, would give a hint as to how much the expected pay boost will be.

Some quarters suggested Truman may be delaying the pay raise action in hope the furor in Congress over his seizure order may die down or that, by some chance, the industry and union may reach a contract agreement on their own. Neither seemed likely.

Congress was seething with argument over the seizure. The Senate had three investigations going on the steel situation by its Judiciary, Banking and Labor Committees. And the House prepared to vote today on a proposal by Rep. Allen (R-Ill) for a probe of the Wage Stabilization Board, with particular emphasis on its handling of the steel case.

The WSB proposed a 26-cent-an-hour "package" for steelworkers, including a three-step pay boost of 1 1/2 cents, and "fringes" such as improved holidays and vacations worth an added 8 1/2 cents, plus a compulsory union membership provision (union shop).

The prevailing opinion was that the government eventually will order these recommendations into effect, with the possible exception of the union shop.

The basic issues in the court case before Judge Pine were these:

The industry claimed government seizure of its facilities was confiscation of private property, lacking legal sanction either in the Constitution or laws; Truman claimed he had "inherent powers" as Chief Executive to seize an industry where a strike was threatened which would endanger national welfare.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce views were prepared for the start of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee probe of the steel seizure's legality. Representing the

KANSAS CITY IS READY

Dike Collapses At Kansas Air Base

By LARRY HALL KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City can take it this time.

That was the word from Army Engineers today as the wild Missouri River neared its crest here. They said their experienced flood fighters were ready to handle any emergency.

The note of optimism came from Col. L. J. Lincoln as a crest of around 31 feet bore down on the Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., areas. That level—expected late today—is some 10 feet less than the dikes were built to stand.

And it is far less than the devastating 36.2 crest that came roaring out of the Kaw (Kansas) River to spread destruction in the rich industrial lowlands last year.

Upstream, this 1952 flood from melting Dakota snow has been a record deluge. At Kansas City and on to the mouth near St. Louis, it won't equal the records set in the 1951 disaster, by present reckoning.

There was less water surging past Kansas City today than last July by more than 100,000 cubic feet a second. No new heavy rain was in sight.

One heart-breaking fight was lost last night. The Missouri's pounding crest had been reached when a dike collapsed at Sherman Air Force Field near Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Hundreds of sandbaggers had fought for 10 days to save the $4-million-dollar installation. But in 45 minutes a 10 1/2-foot wall of water swept over the field. Only a handful of men were on the dikes and all got out safely.

Eastward on the Mississippi, workers were exerting every effort to parry blows of a record flood there.

The little "island town" of Sabula, most of it below the river level, was the critical point on the river stage reached 19.25 feet. Officials were not too optimistic the dikes would stand the strain.

Downstream, about 40 blocks were flooded at Canton, Mo., and school was dismissed for the week as water lapped at the main building.

In the South, the Shreveport and Lake Charles, La., Weather Bureau predicted the Red, Cypress, Sulphur, Little and Sabine Rivers would exceed flood stages within the next few days. Engineers said there were no indications any of the streams would top their levees, barring further rain.

Many little lowland communities near Kansas City felt the flood's punishment. The nearby Parkville, Mo., waterworks was threatened with only inches of safety margin.

Little Wolcott, Kan., was cleared of people earlier this week. Riverside, Mo., a hamlet on the flood plain, was under water, too.

But the principal inconvenience to the metropolitan area was closure of the Fairfax bridge north of Kansas City. Flood water undercut an approach and dropped the concrete roadway into the river.

More than 2,000 troops were standing by in the Kansas City area, ready to go in a hurry wherever needed.

New Plan Is Offered Over Truce

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Truce negotiators twice recessed secret talks today, indicating they were studying a new proposal to break the deadlock on how to exchange prisoners of war.

Before the session began, Communist newsmen spread the word that a new development was in the offing. They gave no hint as to what it might be. Their remarks suggested, however, that the Reds had a new plan for ending the stalemate.

In the past, recesses have been called to study new proposals for settling disputes.

Thursday the staff officers recessed first for 15 minutes; then, 25 minutes later, each group met separately for an hour and a quarter.

As usual there was no official announcement of what happened at the 67-minute meeting. By agreement no news has been released on what happened in prisoner exchange talks for a month.

There has been no report as to whether progress has been made toward settling the key issue of voluntary repatriation. The Reds want no one against his will.

The indications of a new development followed reports from both Washington and Peking expressing pessimism over the chances of reaching an armistice.

Meanwhile, the Eighth Army reported that at least 15,000 prisoners of war and internees have been transferred from Kojin Island to six new camps on the Korean mainland. The camps ultimately will hold some 60,000 prisoners.

At Panmunjom a second group of staff officers reported no progress toward settling the twin deadlock bargaining agreement on how to supervise a truce.

Representatives of service clubs and other organizations will meet at noon Friday in the Settles to organize a steering committee to plan a community social event to welcome members of the Air Force and other recent newcomers to the city.

The event has been scheduled tentatively for May 17, which is the day before Armed Forces Day and the date set for dedication of the new Big Spring Air Force base.

Delegates from all men's lunch-club, the Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and all women's clubs of the city have been asked to send delegates to the Friday session.

Convicts Agree To End Bloody Riot As Warden Grants Their Demands

Talk Starts For Incentive Pay For Air Force Glamor Gone And Manpower Short, Say Sponsors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The glamor of combat flying has worn so thin in two wars that some top military people believe a new system of "incentive pay" is the only sure way to attract more youths into America's growing Air Force.

Such a pay proposal is knocking around the Air Force's top command. It is expected to emerge soon as a specific plan to be laid before Congress.

It is certain to run into trouble there.

Sponsors of a proposal to give combat pay to frontline fighters and others actually under enemy fire have been sharply critical of the special hazard and incentive pay that now goes to Air Force and Navy flying crews, submarine crews and Army paratroopers.

The combat pay bill—calling for an extra $45 a month for most Korean War veterans—was snagged today in a Senate-House conference committee, trying to agree on differences in bills passed by the two bodies.

The subject of hazard and incentive pay is under study not only by the Pentagon, but by a special Senate "task force" headed by Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo).

The Air Force was the "glamor boy" of the armed services in World War II. But today the Air Force admits the glamor appeal is not enough. There is a serious shortage of pilots, navigators, bombardiers and other qualified flying personnel.

Resignation of E. C. Dodd as president of Howard County Junior College was announced shortly before noon Thursday.

Dr. P. W. Malone, president of the board of trustees of the HCJC, said that he had received a letter, dated today, from Dodd, asking that the resignation be made effective June 30, 1952.

Dodd said he had accepted the presidency of the Southwest Texas Junior College at Uvalde and would report for duty there July 1. The college there is composed of a three-county district consisting of Zavala, Real and Uvalde.

While no formal action has been taken by the board, Dr. Malone said that the search for a successor to Dodd, who has headed the college since its creation, would begin immediately.

In his letter to the board, Dodd pointed to a number of the accomplishments of the college during the past six years.

"I had looked forward to a continued tenure as president of the college," he said. "Under the circumstances, however, it seems best for me to submit my resignation as president of the Howard County Junior College effective June 30, 1952. Up to now, I have made it a policy to work only with those boards of control from which I had unanimous support. It is just a little late to change that policy now.

"May I thank each of you and your predecessors in this office for numerous courtesies and kindnesses. I leave with no malice in my heart toward anyone. I have a pride in having had a part at least in the development of our junior college. Our brief history of the first six years duplicates the success of most colleges in their first 20 years. I wish both you and the college success.

Recounting that he had served as president of the college since March 16, 1946, which was only little more than four months after voters approved creation of a county-wide junior college district, Dodd referred to a growth that he believed was remarkable in every way.

"In spite of many mistakes which I have made," he said, accomplishments included temporary quarters at no cost to the taxpayers of the county; a modern permanent plant at an outlay of $700,000 (of which $125,000 was accumulated out of operations) and which had a replacement value of around $1 million; a constant enrollment of 400 or more per semester with a head count of at least 800 per year; accreditation with credits transferable at par ever since the beginning; a sound financial structure as revealed by annual audits. He said also that an enriched curriculum had been administered by a capable corps of instructors to meet the needs of this area. Many commitments had been paid the institution by the U. S. Office of Education, Texas Education Agency, Texas and the American Association of Junior Colleges.

Dodd took his Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts and his Master of Arts degrees from North Texas State College. For almost a score of years he headed the Brownsville schools, serving as both superintendent of the public schools and as head of the junior college. Later he was with the state department of education and then during the war years was with the Civil Aeronautics Administration to organize aeronautics instruction in schools of the Southwest.

Decision Means Safety To Nine Guard-Hostages Mutineers Wait Until Newspapers Confirm Deal

By ARTHUR E. EVERETT JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Tired, trigger-tense Southern Michigan Prison convicts agreed today to end a flaming four-day riot.

It cost one life and two million dollars in damage.

Their decision guaranteed the final safety of nine guards, still held as hostages by knife-wielding convict rioters in the world's largest walled prison.

With these hostages in mind, the state of Michigan humbly bowed to prison reform demands by the mutineers—and even threw in a steak dinner in the bargain.

Even then the last 169 desperate holdouts in the prison's isolation Cell Block 15 delayed final surrender. They demanded confirmation in today's newspapers of the state's agreement.

Thus their actual surrender of the grim, five-tiered cell block, with its solitary confinement holes, was not expected before Friday morning.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams gave in to the mutineers' demands, he said, "to affect the release of the hostages and the cessation of resistance."

The convicts' complaints alleged brutality, overcrowding of the vast prison, lack of proper segregation and medical care and inadequate parole procedure among other things.

A no-reprisal demand was modified by Gov. Williams to a pledge of no reprisals by guards or other personnel who operate Michigan's prisons for the State Department of Corrections.

The governor's capitulation came after tense hours when the guards' lives hung in slender balance against the mounting rage and frenzy of the convicts barricaded in Cell Block 15.

Personal effects — wallets and identification papers—of two of the guards were thrown from the cell block to the ground outside. The defiant gesture appeared to prison officials as an open threat of death to the guards.

The fear was heightened when Jack (Crack Jack) Hyatt emerged from behind-the-scenes leadership to take front-line command of the mutiny. The quick-tempered long-term convict once seized Gov. Williams at knife-point as an escape shield at another prison.

Trash Pickup Moving Into S'East Area

City garbage trucks will start picking up the trash accumulated in the Fire Prevention and Clean-up Week campaign in the southeastern part of Big Spring tomorrow and residents of that section are asked to have it stacked and ready to go late this afternoon or early tomorrow morning.

The pickup started this morning with eight trucks, including the three garbage trucks, in service. One of these garbage trucks is a new one that made its first run today.

The garbage trucks are making their regular runs, however, leaving it to the other five to gather up the trash that is being stacked by residents participating in the campaign.

City officials said the co-operation of some citizens has been splendid. They added that they hope the campaign will gain momentum today and for the balance of the week as the trucks are seen operating about the city.

Two youths charged with the beating of Francisco Villa last Saturday night were to be brought before County Judge Walter Grice for examining trial this afternoon.

Justice of the Peace W. O. Leonard was out of his office today, because of illness, and District Attorney Elton Gilliland said he probably would arrange for a hearing before the County Judge sometime this afternoon.

The two youths, Enrique Ortega and Enrique Sanchez, signed written statements Wednesday in the office of Sheriff J. B. Bruton.

FBI Arrests Turk Dancers As Stowaways

NEW ORLEANS (U)—Two teenage Turkish ballet dancers who wanted to see the United States were arrested by FBI agents as stowaways when their ship docked here.

They were in the House of the Good Shepherd, a detention home, today under $1,000 bonds.

The two sailors who made their trip possible are in Orleans Parish Prison, also under $1,000 bonds.

All four were arrested yesterday.

J. M. Lopez, agent in charge of the FBI here, said a mystic dance staged at sea, with the accomplishment of war whoops, led to their discovery aboard ship four days out of Istanbul, where they had been smuggled aboard.

Lopez identified the girls as Aysel Kaynak, 16, and Nermin Ocunsal, 17.

He said the two seamen were Robert Eugene Presley, 21, of Memphis, Tenn., and Joseph O'Neill, 23, of Winthrop, Mass.

Lopez said the girls told him a chance meeting with the two seamen in Istanbul started the plan to visit America.

Methodists Warned Liberties Threatened

By STEVEN V. DAVID
SAN FRANCISCO (U)—The quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Church began legislative sessions today after hearing a leading bishop assert "reckless demagogues" threaten America's civil liberties.

The warning came from Bishop Paul B. Kern of Nashville, Tenn., in the traditional Episcopal address last night. He said "concentrated and often vicious efforts to regiment thought and curb freedom of speech" were being made in the political, educational and religious fields.

Delegates elected officers yesterday for the committees which will report on some 1,500 petitions to be brought before the conference.

One of the first motions adopted dealt with the most controversial issue of the conference—a three-year survey by industrial engineers aimed at streamlining church structure. The motion by Dr. Harold C. Case, president of Boston University and a member of the survey commission, called for discussion of the survey in plenary session tomorrow.

Gov. Earl Warren of California welcomed the delegates last night. He said that while the United Nations has not accomplished too much, "the lofty ideal is intact and most of the nations still envision a peaceful world."

In his address, Bishop Kern declared that "reckless demagogues" are exploiting a feeling of fear that is largely "groundless and neurotic."

"It is becoming more and more impossible," he said, "to shape foreign or domestic policies upon rational grounds. The democratic process cannot operate when disagreement is counted disloyalty."

The bishop said, "Demagoguery smears the names of honest men by unfounded charges of traitorous connections." Then he asked:

"Is character so unprotected that it may be assassinated by unchecked rumors uttered by party fanatics who, under the guise of superpatriotism, hold no truth in reverence if a lie will better serve their unholy purposes?"

He said the attack is being carried to colleges, with the aim "nothing less than the extinction of academic freedom." And in the church, he added, there are those who criticize anyone "who dares to think and preach independently and creatively upon the issues of the current social and economic order."

CLARK CRAMER

Classes Set On Operating Drug Store, Fountain

Big Spring drug store operators and employees will have a chance to go "back to school" next week. Arrangements have been completed with the Texas Education Agency to hold classes here in fountain and luncheonette service and in drug store merchandising, said J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager.

Instructor for the course is Clark C. Cramer, drug store training specialist of the University of Texas extension division. The Chamber and the high school Distributive Education Department are joining sponsors. On a state level, the training is co-sponsored by the Texas Pharmaceutical Association and the Texas Education Agency.

Cramer has had more than 2,500 drug store people in his classes within the past three years. Before joining the University staff, he had 15 years experience in the field.

Classes will be held morning and evenings at room No. 2 in the Settles to accommodate a maximum number of people. The morning sessions will be at 8:30 and in the evening at 7 o'clock. Sessions are one hour and 15 minutes long.

Information and advance registration may be had from the Chamber of Commerce office, or Ruby Powers, the high school DE coordinator. Most of the registration, however, will be at the initial class session.

Ike Strength Grows, But Taft Optimistic About His Own Vote

By The Associated Press
With Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's estimated 220 delegates pressing hard behind his own 228, Sen. Robert Taft said today he believes he can win the majority of the 60 GOP delegates at stake in the week ahead.

Referring to presidential preference primaries and conventions which will select delegates in Colorado, Utah, Delaware, Arizona and Arkansas, Taft said:

"We face a fight everywhere but it looks pretty good."

But Eisenhower's campaign managers were optimistic too. They predicted yesterday, in the wake of the general's victories in New York and Pennsylvania, that he will be nominated on the first ballot at the July national convention.

Latest reports from New York, where Republicans last Tuesday chose 90 of the state's 95 delegates to the Chicago convention, indicated that 81 were for Eisenhower, nine for Taft. But Taft disputed this, claiming 17.

New York's GOP State Committee will select six delegates at large May 7. All of these are expected to be for Eisenhower since Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is an Eisenhower man — and he's New York's Mr. Republican.

Although the political spotlight was centered on the neck-and-neck race between Taft and Eisenhower, there were rumblings in the Democratic camp which gave promise of stealing some of the headlines.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota is said to be more receptive to suggestions from "insurgent" friends that he seek the presidential nomination. These friends said privately Humphrey has not made up his mind, but recently has declined to say he would reject the nomination—as he had earlier.

And W. Averell Harriman, latest to announce for the Democratic nomination, touched off the possibility the foreign aid program may be drawn into politics by refusing to give up his post as Mutual Security director.

Sen. Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee — a backer of Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga) for the Democratic nomination — said Harriman should either resign his post or drop out of the presidential race.

Harriman replied it is a "common and well-accepted practice for men holding public office in this country to seek nomination for public office."

Today's activities find Taft speaking in and around Little Rock, Ark.; Harold E. Stassen, another GOP candidate, making addresses in Akron and Cleveland; Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the front-running Democratic candidate, in Steubenville, Ohio; and Russell going on the air with a recorded speech in Washington.

Spain Asks Control Of Tangier Police

MADRID, Spain (U)—Spain is pressing new demands for control of the police force and secret service in the international zone of Tangier, now governed jointly by representatives of eight nations.

Identical notes this week from Spain to her seven ruling partners—the United States, France, Britain, Italy, Belgium, Portugal and The Netherlands—renewed an earlier demand to return Tangier to its status in 1928, unofficial sources reported.

A 1928 agreement had neutralized and demilitarized the strategic North African seaport but left Spain in charge of the police and secret service in the territory, which is surrounded by Spanish Morocco.

New WE Strike Is Threatened

NEW YORK (U)—A new Western Electric strike threatened today even as mediators made another effort to settle the current one.

Five thousand employees in North Carolina were ordered to stop work at 6:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The strike call was issued yesterday by the CIO Communications Workers of America after negotiations appeared to have bogged down in Winston-Salem.

A few hours later, CWA President Joseph A. Beirne remarked in San Francisco that the current 28-day strike of 6,000 Western Electric workers may "last a long time."

Against this background, mediators planned a noon session in New York in another try at settling the 18-day-old strike that has tied sales, distributing and warehouse workers in 21 states.

States Righters Plan No Action For The Present

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (U)—Alabama States Rights leaders plan to withhold action until the Democrats and Republicans pick their candidates and write their platforms in July.

They announced this decision after a strategy caucus here yesterday. It was closed to all by the dozen or so who showed up.

There had been reports beforehand that the group might decide to put up an independent electoral slate against the candidates of the Democratic party regulars who are unopposed in the May 6 primary.

A U. S. Supreme Court decision recently knocked their unpledged States Rights opponents out of the primary. The Court said the party could require its candidates to take an oath to support nominees of the national convention. The States Righters had refused to sign it.

"We don't want an independent ticket, we're Southern Democrats," said two spokesmen of the group who declined to be identified by name.

Other sources said some who were present favored a third party.

Attorney Marion Rushton of Montgomery, Alabama's outgoing Democratic national committee man, served as chairman of the meeting.

Princess, Earl Take Jeep Ride

LONDON (U)—The freckle-faced Earl of Dalketh, squired devil-eyed Princess Margaret on a night jeep ride across country last night.

The ride revived the earl's lagging courtship, at least as far as the gossips were concerned, and before the motor cooled the buzz-buzz had another royal wedding in the offing.

It's against royal decorum for a beautiful young princess to take lonely night rides with a suitor and no chaperon.

Sister Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were along for the gay drive over the hills of West England.

The 25-year-old earl was a frequent escort for Margaret until a few months ago and marriage rumors were rife.

Mexico To Set Aside Immigration Law For Rotary Convention

MEXICO CITY (U)—Mexico is setting aside immigration laws for the 8,000 Rotarians expected here next month for their world convention.

The Interior Department said yesterday an active membership card in International Rotary will be sufficient to enter Mexico. Normally a tourist card costing $3 is necessary.

Our Sincere Thanks

... to the public for their patience and understanding during the recent telephone walkout

... to the telephone people who worked long hours around the clock to keep the service going

Thanks to you — our friends and neighbors — for your patience and understanding during the recent work stoppage. Your willingness to cooperate helped — more than you know.

The tone of your voice was friendly, your requests were reasonable. You gave your numbers clearly and distinctly, and when we made mistakes you were patient.

In the busy hours, when we asked you — unless it was urgent — to postpone your call to a less busy time, you complied graciously. For all of this we say, "thanks a lot."

Our thanks go also to supervisors and employees who stayed on the job. They worked long hours around the clock to maintain service and handle calls.

They prevented a breakdown of service to the fire and police departments, to hospitals, to doctors, to all the agencies which protect the health and welfare of the public.

Frankly, we're proud of the telephone people who served you during the strike ... proud of the way they lived up to the traditional telephone spirit of service ... proud of the job they did.

And to you, our customers, we are deeply grateful for the big boost you gave them with your cheerful patience and friendly support.

Cowart Guilty Of Taking Money In Aiding Claim

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—A federal court jury early today found Jack Cowart guilty of violating the law in accepting a $1,347 payment from a friend whom he helped collect a claim against the government.

Cowart had insisted the payment was made on a debt which he said the friend, Charles D. Bridgman of Brownsville, had owed him for a long time. The jury recommended leniency in Cowart's sentencing later this week.

Cowart was fired last August from a $10,500 job as assistant to the Production and Marketing Administrator.

He was charged with violating a law which forbids federal employees from accepting payment for services in a case in which the government is involved. Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of two years in jail and a fine up to $10,000.

At issue was a payment made by Bridgman a long-time friend of Cowart and president of Capital Prefabricators, Tyler, Tex. Cowart said he helped Bridgman collect a claim against the government in connection with freight charges on grain storage facilities.

Bridgman testified he made the payment—supposedly to an attorney—for expediting his claim, under arrangements made by Cowart at his request.

Shoes With Squeak -- That's Balkan Style

By WILLIAM L. RYAN LONDON (AP)—As you wander about Europe, you pick up all sorts of fascinating information about shoes.

There is the Balkan squeak. When you get your shoes repaired in a Balkan country, the shoemaker will offer to sew in a permanent squeak. This sets you apart from the common throng. As you walk by, people look after you admiringly—a man who is breaking in a new pair of shoes.

In Turkey, everybody's shoes glisten with a high polish. There are so many shoeshine boys everybody can afford to have his shoes polished regularly.

In Communist Budapest, people on the lookout for secret police look downward toward the feet. The people's police have the best shoes.

In Paris, most of the good French shoemakers are Greeks. In Scandinavia, shoes are a big problem. If you have a narrow foot, you might as well give up and send to Paris for your shoes. They make shoes in Scandinavia only for big feet. Conversely, a

Eisenhower Favored By Students At SMU

DALLAS, April 24 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower is the favorite presidential aspirant of students at Southern Methodist University.

The "I Like Ike" faction on the SMU campus polled 834 votes for the general yesterday while all other candidates got 727. Closest rival to Eisenhower was Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn) who received 295 votes.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) polled 218 votes in the balloting held in connection with the annual student elections.

Taft-M'Arthur Forces May Be Ganging Up On Ike In Texas

By The Associated Press A Taft-MacArthur combine seemed to be shaping up in Texas Thursday to defeat Gen. Eisenhower in the May 3 precinct conventions. With the grass-roots gatherings just eleven days away, and elections drawing steadily nearer, these developments stood out:

1. Chairman Bill Henson of the Demand MacArthur group in Texas said supporters of Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and persons backing Gen. MacArthur will meet in a few days to work out the alliance.

2. Jack Porter, Eisenhower's Texas campaign manager, answered the announcement quickly with the assertion that such a combine would be "just dumb politics."

3. The jockeying for precinct delegates—whatever the result—guaranteed a bitter battle May 27 when the Texas GOP split between Eisenhower and Taft, holds its state convention in Mineral Wells.

Until Wednesday there had been no announced effort by Taft or MacArthur camps to get together, although Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth has urged MacArthur for the vice presidential spot. Zweifel is a leader of Taft forces in Texas and also Republican national committeeman.

Henson said the campaign alliance was suggested by Walter Rogers of Dallas, who heads the state drive for Taft.

Porter said he could not conceive of the active workers for MacArthur taking sides in the controversy between Eisenhower and Taft "if they expect to have MacArthur named as a compromise candidate."

Many Republicans believe Taft and Eisenhower will deadlock the national convention in Chicago in July and that MacArthur will step in as a compromise candidate. But Porter thinks otherwise.

"In the event of a deadlock," Porter said, "Senator Taft could not possibly deliver his delegates to MacArthur, and certainly by siding with the Taft forces, the MacArthur supporters could not expect the Eisenhower delegates to flock to MacArthur."

In Austin, Mrs. Emma Long spoke up for support of Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn). The wife of state Democratic committeeman Stuart Long, she said she backed Kefauver "because of his long fight against corruption, his devotion to world peace, and his voting record."

In the past the Longs have aligned themselves with Democrats supporting New Deal and Fair Deal candidates.

Rep. Poage Protests Cotton Rules Change

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Protests to two federal agencies against steps he said would be detrimental to cotton farmers were made yesterday by Rep. Poage (D-Tex.).

Poage asked the Production and Marketing Administration to make no change in existing regulations which permit farmers to sell the warehouse receipts showing that they have cotton in storage under the government loan program. The Waco representative is acting chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Poage said he understood an order to be issued later this week would require that the farmer redeem his cotton by paying off the loan before selling it to a prospective purchaser.

Any such change, he said, "would require a lot of time and in the last analysis could only cost the farmer money."

In a letter to the National Production Authority (NPA), Poage protested a proposal that tax amortization certificates be approved for the construction of some synthetic fiber plants.

He declared that the NPA more than a year ago assured the committee that unless the world fiber supply situation worsened there would be no fast tax write-off certificates granted for synthetic fiber plants.

The supply of both cotton and wool have improved to the point there has been a sharp decline in prices of both these commodities, Poage added.

A Bible Thought For Today

That is a pious wish, granted to few. But if we have a great trust the most difficult days may be tranquil.

Smith Amendment Would Shackle Nation in Its Defense Effort

The so-called Smith Amendment to the defense appropriations bill should in reality be called the screwball amendment.

As Congressman George Mahon, chairman of the Subcommittee on Military Appropriations, pointed out Sunday, the Smith Amendment would freeze defense spending for fiscal (starting June 1) 1953 at $46 billion.

It would be halved, after already having been whittled far below the Defense Department's budget, and after the general program had been stretched over five instead of four years.

This could be calamitous, in view of the fact that the really big threat from Russia is not expected until 1954, when Russia reaches her maximum of preparedness.

We can only rely on the good judgment of the United States Senate to refuse to go along with the Smith Amendment, unless the House itself cools off and undoes its amazing and crazy work before the Senate gets round to it.

American history offers few worse examples of unrestrained folly than this incredible performance of the House of Representatives in voting the Smith Amendment.

Election Law So Confusing That No One Knows What Is Intended

One provision of the state's new election law was discovered by the Orange Leader to read as follows: "No person... shall be present at such (precinct) convention until it is made to appear that he is a qualified voter in said precinct."

The newspaper wondered if this meant it could not send a reporter to the precinct convention except one who was a qualified voter in that precinct.

Also a teacher in Orange High had planned to take his class to a precinct convention, just to show the kids how the grown folks handle such grave political matters.

Weldon Hart, the new secretary of the Democratic State Executive Committee, said he did not think the Legislature intended to bar newspaper reporters.

of delegates; others are saying it was not. If the time has come when the public must guess at legislative intent lest it violate a law unwittingly, the times are indeed unjudicious.

Maybe the Legislature meant to say that no person not a qualified voter in a given precinct should participate in its convention, which would be fair enough.

The new election law is a mass of confusion anyhow. It raises doubts whether a newspaper may express an editorial opinion; makes a crime the giving of any service to a candidate without charging for it; and many other similarly crazy things.

Truman Said To Be Grooming Oscar Ewing For The Presidency

PARIS.—Biggest International guessing game on this side of the Atlantic—now that Ike has announced his date of departure—is predicting who will replace him.

Hazards of the game are increased by the fact that the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Eisenhower are at odds over the successor, Ike wanting his close friend, Gen. Al Gruenther, and Gen. Omar Bradley favoring Gen. Matthew Ridgway.

"Uncle Omar," as he is affectionately called in the Army, got a little peeved during the Lisbon conference when Ike did not come there himself but sent Gruenther—for the obvious purpose of letting the other nations get better acquainted with him and breaking Al in at the job.

Uncle Omar's private reaction was: "Ike ain't no kins-ma-ker." And he proceeded to get his back up and root harder than ever for Ridgway.

Pros and cons of the dispute are: 1. The Europeans like Gruenther, feel that he understands their problems; also consider Ridgway too much of a fighting man, that his name is linked with a most unpopular war, that even his paratrooper insignia and the hand grenade on his blouse link him—distastefully—with war.

2. The Joint Chiefs in Washington consider Gruenther too young, and handicapped by lack of combat experience; that Ridgway has shown great leadership not only in battle, but in handling Japanese political problems. They believe Europe needs his dynamic, energetic personality.

Compromise now being discussed is to appoint colorful Field Marshall Montgomery of England as Ike's immediate successor. This would please the British. Then, after the end of the Korean war, Ridgway would replace him.

Scare Wave Over Atomic Bomb Has Died Down Bit

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—America has learned to live with the atom bomb.

The final proof of this was the televising of the latest explosion in Nevada.

There was a mixed reaction to the A-bomb's video about. Taken purely in terms of sound, many viewers found it less awe-inspiring than the vocal chords of Milton Berle.

"It looks like a close-up of Jimmy Durante," one spectator commented. Others felt it still had a long way to go before it would seriously rival Arthur Godfrey. And some, who dined in the demonstration late, mistook the gigantic smoke puff for a new kind of cigarette ad.

But the mere fact that millions of housewives could sit in their living rooms and calmly watch an atom bomb burst shows how much the public has lost its fear of this frightful weapon.

Even five years ago a show of this kind might have stirred up a storm of protest. People had an unreasoning panic about the atom bomb then. Many parents objected to radio discussions of it, saying it created hysteria in their children.

At that time the bomb was actively feared as an instrument that could and might well be expected to wipe out civilization. It was interesting to know how many families bought remote mountain hide-aways, or secretly stored food caches in caverns against the possibility of the outbreak of a disastrous world-wide atom war. It was done.

But recently, despite the announcement of three atomic explosions in Russia, the national dread of atomic conflict has died down. The scare wave has subsided.

One reason is that five years ago every day.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

The naval personnel of the Republic of Texas were stirring briskly on this day in 1842.

For they were to set sail with the morning tide from Yucatan, bringing to an end a strange chapter in the Texas story. For months the Texas Republic had had its navy "under lease" to the Republic of Yucatan. The Mexican province seceded from the Central government and President M. B. Lamar readily rented the comparatively small Texas fleet to the revolutionists as seas protection against any effort to put down the uprising.

Sam Houston, starting his second term as president, ordered the Texas ships home. When Commodore Moore did not promptly obey Houston declared him a renegade and traitor and disclaimed any responsibility for his actions.

The Texas Navy came back to Galveston Island and lay in harbor there until after annexation. The United States Navy made no use of either ships nor men; the history of the Lone Star fleet ended with their return from Yucatan.

But at least one contribution to Texas development is worthy of listing. According to most sources it was the Texas Navy who bought the first big order of Colt's repeating revolvers, then a five-shooter. After docking in Galveston Bay the Navy apparently turned the revolvers over to the Texas Rangers, who used them against the Comanches four years later.

Action Talks Louder Than Words And Can You Do It Any Better?

Mebbe I talk too much about politics, but I'm always finding things that don't make sense. One reason I write about them is in the hope that perhaps someone can clear up the confusion in my mind. Especially when I read something like this:

"The concern of sincere Republicans must be not to try to get on a bandwagon... but to determine under whose leadership the Republican party will most forcibly and effectively challenge the increasing threat to the way in which most of us want to live."

In the words of my old journalism professor at the University of Missouri, this is just a "vague generality."

And, the speaker, a Maryland GOP leader for Sen. Robert Taft, would flunk that course if he persisted in such utterings.

In the first place, as a well-known adage goes, "action speaks louder than words." Mebbe the GOP stalwart is right, but what's Sen. Taft gonna do about it.

Another thing, when he says something about the way most of us want to live, he ought not to forget that whatever is done in the way of accomplishments by the present administration is merely what was offered the people in the Democratic platform. The majority rules, you know, and the majority appears to want some of these things secured by the administration or sought by it.

Furthermore, the tremendous increase in government personnel, widespread bureaucracy and continued federal assistance have all been as a result of state and local pressure.

When people seek something, it has to be the job of more than one man and as a result another bureau comes into being.

In other words, state and local agencies have come to depend upon the federal government for aid in virtually every undertaking.

Bridges, dams, flood control projects, farm price supports, old-age security, regulation of monopolistic tendencies, protection against interstate criminal acts, assistance here and there—all tend to force your government to increase in size as well as raise its budget to carry out these functions.

Too, no sooner do you increase the size of government than do you find a few wrong-doers. Perhaps there are more in higher places now. I'll not argue that. But, the fact remains, as long as we demand additional governmental services such wrong-doers shall exist in federal circles. And it can just as easily happen under any man.

If state and local government and the people, in particular, start doing more for themselves I believe we can not only cut out a great deal of the scandals, but we can slash federal expense by eliminating waste. A lot of this waste comes from both state and local elements doing the same things as is the national government.

We must learn to be more dependent upon resources in our immediate areas. National government is unfamiliar with conditions locally—in comparison to local government—and there is where the bulk of your waste lies.

But, getting back to what I was saying in the first place, if we MUST insist on these federal services as a people, let's ask the candidates to stop condemning their existence or their need and start telling us how they, themselves, would improve such services.

Study Of Over-Counter Prices Would Help Investors, Dealers

In his 93-page brochure, "Character and Extent of the Over-the-Counter Market," Prof. G. Wright Hoffman, of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, steers clear of controversial issues. Or rather, he lays the groundwork for them—in a later study under a grant from the Merrill Foundation for the Advancement of Financial Knowledge.

Hoffman points out that there are two over-the-counter markets. There's the so-called inside or dealer market. It's the market at which one broker or dealer will buy or sell stocks with another broker or dealer. A dealer will pay another dealer more for a stock than he will pay an outside customer; likewise, he'll sell a stock to a dealer at a lower price than to a customer.

As an illustration, a dealer will buy from a customer at 27% and sell to a customer at 29, but he'll buy from another dealer at 28 and sell at 28%. The difference between the price a dealer pays to a dealer and sells to a customer is his profit.

Hoffman says it's "loose thinking" to consider this a dual market. They're distinct markets. When a dealer trades with a customer, he's a retailer, with another dealer, he's a wholesaler. Some dealers however, act solely as agents—charging customers whatever they pay plus a commission for brokerage service.

The quotations printed in daily newspapers are a reflection of customer quotations rather than dealer quotations. Observes Hoffman: "This whole matter of publicity regarding dealer prices and price differentials has been considered at great length by the industry, many firms arguing that publicity of this kind would lead to misunderstanding and would set a precedent not found in many other lines of endeavor. The matter is a highly controversial one."

The controversy becomes clear when you analyze over-the-counter quotations in varying cities. Each locality seems to have its own method for arriving at prices supplied to newspapers. Some newspapers, like the St. Louis Post-Dispatch don't publish over-the-counter quotations. The argument is that they are not prices at which securities actually change hands, but only dealer judgments about the market.

Because it is the biggest and broadest security center in the nation, New York provides a rough measure of over-the-counter quotations in other cities. And as a rule the New York market is closer than the markets in other cities.

Take a recent market for Kaiser Steel. In New York the newspaper quotation was 11 bid, 11 1/4 asked, a spread of 1/4 of a point between the buy and sell prices. In Boston, the quotation was 11 bid, 12 1/4 asked, a spread of 1 1/4 points; in Los Angeles, 11 3/8 bid, 12 3/8 asked, a spread of one point; in Chicago, 10 7/8 bid, 11 7/8 asked, a spread of one point; in Philadelphia, 11 bid, 12 asked, also a one-point spread.

The differences in the level of prices can be explained in part by time differences or by market shifts. But the differences in spreads are a different story. Some brokers say New York is primarily a wholesale market, whereas other markets do more retailing—not only dealer-customer trading but also door-to-door selling. Hence the wider spreads outside New York.

Over-the-counter markets are kept alive by salesmanship. When securities dealers get interested in a stock they send salesmen out to sell it. The salesman needs elbow room between the bid price at which his firm can buy the stock and the asking price at which his firm can afford to sell the stock to the customer and make a profit, which includes the salesman's commission. This is really a third market.

Here's the way New York stacked up against Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Los Angeles on a particular day in terms of the number of instances of wider, narrower, and identical spreads:

	Wider	Narrower	Same
Boston	4	80	11
Philadelphia	13	53	47
Chicago	9	34	15
Los Angeles	7	34	9

York—wasn't too far off from New York—in the 37 instances in which quotations for the same securities were available. But the disparities in these quotations are sufficiently numerous to justify a study.

Uncle Ray's Corner

There are ants which actually raise plants! Scientists speak of these tiny farmers as Sauba ants and Attil; they have popular names such as leaf-cutters, harvesting ants and mushroom-growers. They live mainly in the Tropic Zone, but some carry on their work in warm parts of the North Temperate Zone. Many of them do their work in Texas and other states which border the Gulf of Mexico. They have been reported as far north as New Jersey, but the vast majority like a southern climate.

With their sharp jaws, these ants slice off pieces of leaves and carry the pieces to their nests. Hundreds of them may march in a column, each with a piece of leaf. A trail may be as much as 300 feet long. Often there are stops along the way, because the path is blocked, or because the ants become tired. One ant was observed to spend 70 minutes in taking a load to its nest.

Instead of eating the leaves, these ants chew them into pellets which are hardly the size of pinheads. The pellets are placed on the floor of an underground room, about the size of a basketball.

The chewed-up leaves make excellent soil for plants which are related to mushrooms. Queen ants place spores in this "soil," and from the spores come the fungus plants which supply food for this tribe of ants!

DESIGNING WOMAN Large Upholstered Sofa Offers Lounging Comfort

By ELIZABETH HILLIER The largest piece of upholstered furniture in the house today may not be a sofa at all, although it serves the sofa's purpose of multiple seating. Or it may be a true sofa but look very different from conventional, rather informal sofa types. Either way, this big and important piece of furniture changes to a look of greater lounging comfort and brings more lounging luxury to the room that it's in. The sofa purpose may be served by a new type of upholstered piece that is, or looks very like, a day bed. Pictured is one of the new ones which is called a lanai lounge. It was designed by Paul Mate to include an outrigger arm, which has the usefulness of a table. This, with the unusual low spread-arm sofa sketched, designed by John Keal, belongs to the new Pacific furniture which originated in California, where so many good ideas begin. The California idea of smart casual living which these new lounge pieces express is becoming more and more an influence on all furniture design.

Hubert Humphrey Showing An Interest In Demo Nomination

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota reportedly is cocking an interested ear to suggestions—described by friends as "numerous"—that he seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

These friends told a reporter privately that Humphrey has made

HUBERT HUMPHREY

Minnesota's March 18 Democratic presidential primary, Humphrey already is at least a nominal candidate.

When he entered that primary he said he was doing so at President Truman's request, and that he would throw the support of the Minnesota delegation to Truman if the President decided to seek another term.

When Truman bowed out of the race, Humphrey declined to say whom he would back for the nomination. He has said Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee would be an "excellent" choice.

Some Democratic leaders, reportedly less enthusiastic about Kefauver, are understood to have urged Humphrey to start tooting his own horn.

They are said to feel that on the civil rights issue, for example, Humphrey would be a much stronger candidate than the Tennesseean.

Humphrey led the move that nailed a strong civil rights plank into the 1948 Democratic platform—and widened the North-South split in party ranks.

Humphrey friends say they are willing to concede he almost undoubtedly would be without any support in the South, but that they believe he could be nominated despite that.

Yugoslavs Seeking Refuge In Italy

ROME, April 24 (AP)—Authorities reported today six Yugoslavs sought political refuge in Italy after crossing the Adriatic in rowboats.

Four men—two mechanics, a truck driver and a clerk—reached Fano yesterday after a fishing smack picked them up 18 miles offshore. Two others were picked up by another fishing boat and landed at Rovigo.

All six told police they had fled their country to escape from the Tito regime. They were sent to refuge camps.

This Here Roaming Has Got To Stop Now

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Dog's best friend is this man Hugh Stanley Jennings.

Twice Jennings has gone to jail for his dog, a 7-year-old Belgian shepherd named Kobe.

Kobe likes to roam. Last year he was picked up and put in the pound. Jennings climbed into the pound and released his pet.

The court took a dim view of his action and placed him on one year's probation.

Yesterday Kobe was loose again. Today he's in the pound, but his master hasn't been able to help him because he went behind bars for violating his probation.

FT. MACARTHUR, Calif. (AP)—Medal of Honor winner Joseph C. Rodriguez, 23, was sworn in as a second lieutenant here yesterday by Capt. Raymond Harvey, who also holds this nation's highest military award.

PROGRAM NEXT TUESDAY

SEES IKE WIN ON FIRST VOTE

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, director of national Eisenhower-for-President headquarters, said yesterday the general is on his way "to a first ballot victory in the Republican national convention."

The senator said in a statement the "tremendous sweeps" for Eisenhower in Pennsylvania and New York are "new evidences of his great popular appeal" to Republican voters.

In addition, said Carlson, "It should not be overlooked that town caucuses yesterday in Vermont assure a solid Vermont delegation for Eisenhower, while in Colorado, district conventions were giving Ike a big lead."

The senator predicted that Eisenhower will score a 13-2 victory in Louisiana "if the results of legal district meetings are recognized."

No Wonder Italy Thinks American People Are Lucky

LEGHORN, Italy, April 23 (AP)—People here are saying a thirsty American in the middle of a desert would probably find a bottle of champagne—"they're that lucky."

This is why.

The U. S. Army supply port command here was having trouble arranging for adequate water supply. Leghorn has limited drinking water, and the Communist city administration was hesitant to allow the Americans large quantities.

The American engineers dug their own well. At 170 feet they struck a supply yielding 1,000 quarts a minute. Then doctors examined it. They found it a healthy mineral water of a kind that sells in Italy for 20 cents a bottle.

Bank Debits Up, But It's Ghostly Proposition

AUSTIN, April 24 (AP)—Texas bank debits climbed 9 per cent last month but the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research called it a "ghost" increase.

Ordinarily there's an 11 per cent increase from February to March; thus, the 9 per cent gain last month was actually 2 per cent under expectations, the bureau explained.

Henderson led the list of cities showing increases for the month with a 18 per cent increase. Cisco followed at 18 per cent; Houston, 16 per cent; Midland 15; and Odessa and Abilene, 13 each.

Most impressive March-to-March gain, the bureau said, was in Odessa, up 41 per cent. Midland gained 30 per cent; Longview, 26.

Heaviest dips from March a year ago were in Lamesa, 28 per cent; Temple, 19 per cent; and Brownwood, 18 per cent.

no decision but, on the other hand, has shut no doors on the idea lately. Early this year he said he had no White House ambitions.

Asked whether he has changed his mind, Humphrey replied: "My position is simply this: It is imperative that the liberal forces of the Democratic party find out where they are going, and that they determine the policies and programs for which they stand. I am primarily interested in principles."

He declined to comment directly on reports he is being urged to bid for the nomination.

LOS ANGELES, April 24 (AP)—A Minneapolis song writer, Max Conrad, will try today to beat the coast-to-coast nonstop record for light planes.

He takes off at noon in a tiny Piper Paercr. It is the same plane in which he established an unofficial transcontinental record of 23 hours, 4 minutes, 21 seconds last May.

No maps, Conrad says he has comm: d terrain features and radio beams signals to memory, and has no use for maps.

LOS ANGELES, April 24 (AP)—A Minneapolis song writer, Max Conrad, will try today to beat the coast-to-coast nonstop record for light planes.

He takes off at noon in a tiny Piper Paercr. It is the same plane in which he established an unofficial transcontinental record of 23 hours, 4 minutes, 21 seconds last May.

No maps, Conrad says he has comm: d terrain features and radio beams signals to memory, and has no use for maps.

Scotland Has Worry Over Young Whiskey

By ALVIN STEINKOPF
GLASGOW (AP)—Scotland is debating a burning question: Is immature whiskey fit to drink? A related question is: Should young whiskey be allowed to go out into the world as a symbol of Scotland, like heather and tartans?

The answers produce a clash of opinions that ultimately may reach the Parliament in London. It is a little whiskey war between two camps of distillers and blenders.

The Scotch Whisky Association, old and orthodox, with its high command at Edinburgh, is lined up against the Independent Scotch Whisky Association, which is new, like the whisky its members produce, and maintains headquarters in Glasgow.

The United States, Canada and Britain itself are not directly concerned in the merits of the debate. These lands have their own regulations which say that Scotch whisky must have matured at least three years.

For a long time the distillers and blenders of Scotland's famous whiskies assumed and agreed that Scotch comes of age at three years, and for some years thereafter improves in cheerfulness and suitability.

After the war, when the United Kingdom began scrambling for foreign currencies, the harder the better, a number of experts discovered that many other countries are not as exacting. A number of enterprising exporters began shipping 18-month-old whisky to many lands at a rate of more than four million dollars a year.

About 40 firms set up the Independence Whisky Association to look after their interests in exploiting the new market. The 140 members of the old Scotch Whisky Association met at Edinburgh in March to denounce the new trade, and issue a heated statement that "immature whisky is raw whisky having none of the characteristics of the mature product with which the world trade of the association is concerned."

Then the government struck. Through the Board of Trade it issued an order that no immature whisky may be exported to any destination without a special license. That is now the situation stands. Law suits are brewing and members of Parliament are beginning to feel the pressure of the clans.

A spokesman for the old Scotch Whisky Association is William Birnie, who manages the Glen Albyn distillery at Inverness. "Whisky under three years old is a sick spirit," said Birnie. "Sick in spirit and violent in the throat of a man, and I personally should welcome legislation requiring five years of aging."

A spokesman for the Independent Scotch Whisky Association is its secretary, William Graham. "In judging any whisky, after it has been approved by a competent chemist, the customer is right," Graham said.

"It is a fact that after some years of selling 18-month-old whisky to many lands, we have not had one complaint as to quality."

Got Tough With Stalin, Says Truman In Defending Presidential Emergency Power

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—President Truman said today he once forced Premier Stalin to move out of Iran by sending him an ultimatum. The President also told a news conference that there was a time when Yugoslavia decided to take Trieste, but that he ordered the Mediterranean fleet into that area and there was no march on Trieste. Truman spoke of these incidents in discussing his powers generally and specifically his seizure of the steel industry.

He said the President has very great inherent powers to meet emergencies developing that require action. Coming down to more recent events, the President said there has been what he called a lot of hooey about seizure of the press and radio as a result of his last news conference.

On last Thursday, Truman was asked this question: "Mr. President, if you can seize the steel mills under your inherent powers, can you, in your opinion, also seize the newspapers or the radio stations?"

The President replied that under similar circumstances, the President of the United States has to act for whatever is for the best of the country. That's the answer to your question, he added.

In reverting to the matter today, Truman said the thought of seizing the press and radio never occurred to him.

He went on to say he seized the steel industry because this country is in the midst of the greatest emergency it has ever had.

It was then he told his news conference: "That in 1945 he had to send an ultimatum to the head of the Soviet Union to get out of Persia (Iran). They got out, the President said of the Russians, because we were in a position then to meet the situation in that area."

Later, the President went on, Yugoslavia decided to take Trieste. He said he thought that was 1946. He said he not only ordered the Mediterranean Fleet into that area, but told Gen. Eisenhower to send three divisions to Northern Italy.

Setting his jaw firmly, Truman commented there was no march on Trieste.

The President was asked whether he sent a personal message to Stalin in delivering an ultimatum on Iran. The President said the ultimatum went through regular channels. "Did Stalin reply to you in any written way?" a reporter pressed. Truman said, he (Stalin) got out of Persia.

Afloat in The Flood

A truck, used to haul materials to reinforce the private levee around the yard, is almost under water as the raging river takes charge. Note the materials piled on the deck of the boat at right. ## FOR PART OF U.S. Daylight Savings In Effect Sunday

By The Associated Press
Daylight saving time will start again Sunday for many millions of folks who will turn their clocks ahead one hour.

DST is popular in many urban areas—more time for golf and gardening and other summer recreation, and a boon to considerable industrial production.

But most farm folks refuse to tinker with the clock and disturb their dawn-to-dusk rhythm of feeding, milking and tending crops.

An estimated 65 million people

Shivers Fires New Blast At 'Loyal' Bolt

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN, April 24 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers today accused the "Loyal Democrats" of seeking to destroy the Democratic party of Texas by "bolting the legal precinct conventions."

He said they want to hand the party machinery over to the "boss-controlled, left-wing dominated political machine" of the national party.

The governor's prepared statement was apparently a reply to a speech by Fagan Dickson, chairman of the "Loyalist" group, at Dallas Monday.

Shivers' forces are expected to step up the tempo of their campaign to control the May 3 precinct conventions in the 10 days between now and that date.

Shivers said the "Loyalists" have now made it plain they will bolt the precinct conventions and hold rump conventions of their own "open only to those who agree with them."

"These are the same boys who have been hollering for six months that unless everyone agreed with them, they would bolt the party," Shivers said. "Their ambition is to destroy the Democratic Party in Texas."

Humble Attempts Completion Of Southeast Scurry Discovery

Humble No. 1 Davidson, south-eastern Scurry prospector, will set casing at present depth and attempt completion as an Ellenburger discovery.

By electric log the top of the Ellenburger formation was picked at 7,572 instead of 7,56. This gives the test 32 feet of section at present total depth of 8,604.

Baker & Taylor No. 1 Johnson, southwest Borden exploration, plugged and abandoned. Apparently, Staniland No. 1-D TXL, four miles southeast of Big Spring, was going to do likewise.

Phillips No. 1 Moeller, C SE SE 10-37-5s, T&P, was at 7,831 in shale and sand and was coring.

Arencibia Rights Cayuse Machine With 7-Hitter

Locals Defeat Angelo, 5-3

Aramis Arencibia blazed a trail for the Big Spring Braves here last night, fanning the San Angelo Colts on seven hits as his teammates ambled to a 5-3 win. An estimated 1,000 fans looked on.

The triumph was the first of the 1952 season for the homelinks after two straight lickings suffered at the hands of the Colts.

Arencibia's knuckler was working to perfection. He walked only one batter and usually had the Colts hitting into the dirt or lifting rain makers for easy outs.

Cotton Russell picked one of Arencibia's pitches in the sixth with the bases empty and otherwise made himself conspicuous by driving in a first inning tally with a single.

Most of the scoring was confined to the first round. Angelo went to the fore with a two-run outburst but the Steeds came right back for three tallies and should have had more.

Young Perry Ellis started on the mound for Angelo but couldn't get anyone out. He walked Al Costa and Rick Gonzalez in succession. Lefty Willy Quintana singled and then forced in a run by passing Pat Slasey.

Buddy Grimes tied the score by rolling out to Mark Christmas at first. Jesus Marino hit what appeared to be a double play ball at Ellis' successor, Mario Sakiana, but the Colt hurler threw erratically to Wally Arbuckle at the plate and Quintana sped in with the third run.

The locals added a run in the third on successive hits by Pat Slasey and Grimes and an infield out by Ossie Alvarez. Their fifth run came when Gonzalez' single with one out in the fourth, went to third on a misplay by Ken Kowalik at third and romped on a long fly by Slasey.

ROUNDING THE SACKS—Straw Hat Night, held at the park last night, perhaps could have been more aptly called Latin American Night, for Latin friends of the club copped most of the prizes given away by the merchants. Steve Follett, the Colts' best hitter, made his first appearance of the season as a pinch hitter in the ninth but popped to short left. Follett is due to be in there regularly this week end. Aramis Arencibia's fifth inning single almost tore off Pletcher Mario Saldana's leg. Jesus Marino, a disappointment in the field the first game, came up with the most sensational catch in the young season in the eighth when he took Mark Christmas' drive off his shoe-laces, turned over and over but held onto the ball.

Tiffin Timing Device Will Be Used At Angelo Meet

Spectators at the Texas Horse Breeders' Association sponsored "Texas Futurity" to be held in San Angelo, will get a preview of a timing device which bids to revolutionize the clocking of horses, according to Association President J. R. Dillard, Big Spring. It has been perfected by L. H. Tiffin, Cuero, whose patented strip cameras are widely used to register photo finishes.

Tiffin, who also invented the camera, has worked for the past four years in perfecting his electric clock which works in conjunction with the camera. Heretofore timing has been by hand stop watches or by independently operated electric clocks and accuracy was limited to the first horse across the finish line. The Tiffin invention gives the absolute time of each horse in the race and records the times on the photo finish picture.

Now definitely past the experimental stage, the Cuero inventor who is a charter member of the Association, will give it its first public introduction at the "Texas Futurity" meet in San Angelo, May 10, 16 and 17.

Dillard, a veteran horseman, said that in actual tests against hand watches and electric clocks the Tiffin clock has proved its superiority and witnessing horsemen

Odessa Bashes Midland Again

The Longhorn League gets wilder and woolier with each day—last night's action is a good example: Sweetwater smashed Vernon in the wildest game winning, 16-4, on 16 hits; Roswell beat Artesia, 12-9; Odessa tripped Midland, 12-4, and Big Spring clipped San Angelo, 5-3.

Vernon defeat came before 1,002 fans attending the home opener. Sweetwater jumped on three Vernon pitchers and sewed up the victory with a nine-run eighth inning. Ed (Boho) Norton, the second Roswell chunker, doubled in two runs in the sixth to break up a 9-all deadlock with Artesia and register his own win.

Three Midland pitchers were the victims of Odessa's 16-hit attack with Starter Israel Ten given the loss. The night's results left San Angelo, Roswell, Odessa and Sweetwater on top the loop with identical 2-1 records.

Chickasha Leads

TAKES LEAGUE LEAD

Bob Cain Hurls Browns To Win

By JOE REICHLER

What is going on with those refurbished, revitalized, Hornsbyized St. Louis Browns?

One night they vamp the Cleveland Indians' seven-game winning streak and the next they shove the Tribe out of first place and take over the American League's top rung themselves.

BOB CAIN

Following on the heels of the splendid eight-hitter by Tommy Byrne Tuesday, Bob Cain unfurled a one-hit masterpiece last night as he pitched the rampaging Browns into first place with a brilliant 1-0 triumph over the Indians' Great Bob Feller.

Cain had to pitch the best game of his life in order to win, for Feller was magnificent too, pitching a one-hitter himself. That lone Browne safely, a triple by lead-off batter Bobby Young, proved Bob's undoing.

Marty Marion followed Young's first-inning triple with a grounder to Al Rosen. When the third baseman fumbled the ball, Young scored the only run of the game. The lone tally was ruled earned since the official scorer was of the opinion that Young would have crossed the plate fumble or no.

The Browns now have won seven games against a lone defeat, not including the unfinished game with the Chicago White Sox in which St. Louis trailed, 10-2 at the end of seven innings. They own a won and lost percentage of .875 to the second-place Boston Red Sox' .800 percentage for an 8-2 record. Cleveland dropped to third with a 7-2 record.

It was the first time since Oct. 1, 1944, that any Browns team ever occupied first place. The Browns won their only pennant that year. They finished in last place in 1951 with only 52 victories and 102 losses.

The only hit permitted by Cain was a harmless single.

Dukes Shatter Lamesa Jinx

By The Associated Press

Albuquerque's Dukes broke a six-year jinx at Lamesa Wednesday night and won an opening day game as the West Texas-New Mexico League started action.

The Dukes won 10-6. Tommy Munoz homered as the big batsman for the winners.

Red Dial pitched and batted Cleveland to a 6-5 win over Lubbock in a 11 inning game at Lubbock. Dial's triple in the 11th broke up the tie.

In other games, Freddie Schmidt hurled the only shutout game of the night, as Ahilene stopped Amarillo 3-0. Borger beat Pampa 12-1 with Eddie Carnett batting in four runs.

The clubs play the second game of a two games series at the same sites tonight. They change tomorrow night for the other four home-upten clashes.

Panthers Add To Loop Lead

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Rain abandoned the Texas League Wednesday night allowing for seven games to be run off. But it didn't help the pursuing clubs gain on Fort Worth.

The Cats made it three wins in a row over Tulsa, triumphing 6-2 to widen its lead another half game over second place Beaumont.

Beaumont now stands a full two games back. The Roughnecks split a double-header with Houston, nabbing the opener 2-0, and dropping the nightcap 4-2.

Dallas divided two with Oklahoma City's Indians as Dave Hoskins, the league's only Negro player, won his second start. He pitched four-hit ball to give Dallas a 5-0 victory in the second game.

The Indians took the seven-inning starter 5-3. San Antonio clipped Shreveport 6-5 in the twilight game and the second tilt was tied 4-4 when the Sports ran to catch a train after six innings.

Rookie James Melton scored his third consecutive pitching win as Fort Worth stopped Tulsa. Gene Cough, another rookie, led the eight-hit Fort Worth attack with a single and two-run triple.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The Big Spring Broncs' prime needs in the Longhorn League race seems to be (1) more punch by the bunch, (2) outfielders wired with radar or magnets, and (3) at least a couple of more durable hurlers, in that order.

It takes a lot of things to make a well-rounded ball club but few ever succeed without power. At the moment, most of that power seems to be wrapped up in Manager Pat Stasey who, of course, can't do it all.

Witty Quintana will improve with the stick. Al Costa can be counted upon to handle his share of the load. Rick Gonzales can meet the ball but may be a bit slow in coming around.

Juan Visteur, who is coming in here, should help to stabilize the outfield. Visteur, they say, has come along well since the 1951 season, when he was released here to Geneva of the Border League. He's speedy and he hits consistently, if not hard.

Concessions, of course, must be made to both Buddy Grimes and Jesus Marino, who were on the picket line for Big Spring here Monday night. Grimes is going to make a ball player in time. He never professed to be an outfielder. He came here as a shortstop and catcher and should stick as a reserve backstop.

He's not power and when he learns to uncoil he'll give the opposing hurlers a fit. Right now, he's tied up and apparently as tight as a wound-up spring when at the dish.

Marino will improve as an outfielder, though he may never be a Felix Gomez. The lights give him trouble, as they do all pasture-tenders new to the plant. Sometimes you see two balls where there is only one.

Someone needs to plant the fly balls dropping in the infield or shallow outfield, too. The Alfonso-Gaston acts which occurred Monday night don't contribute to a hurler's good humor.

Gil Guerra is going to win a lot of games for Big Spring. Angelo rapped him for 18 hits but nearly half were banjo blows that probably should have gone for outs. He made only one mistake and that was in throwing a home run ball to Johnny Tavoan.

If he's given some help in the hurling corps, and help is on the way, then the Broncs should again be salty.

Guerra's long bash over the left field wall the first time he went to bat Monday night broke a two-year hitting drought for him. He got not a blow of any kind in 24 appearances at the plate for Havana in Florida International League last year.

Just to show he is serious about his hitting, Gil came up later in the game and hit a solid single through second base.

Vernon staged a pre-season ticket drive this year and total sales amounted to 7,000. Apparently, the Dusters are in for a better season, financially. They lost heavy sugar last year.

MUFFLED, TOO

Holmes Has Woes With Bostonians

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Even when Tommy Holmes is healthy, his high-pitched voice is little more than a chirping "attaway to riddle" to his Boston Braves hitters.

Muffled by laryngitis and strangled by lefthandedness, Holmes quietly suffers the tortures of the Braves' staggering start.

After all, what can a fellow say when his club is flat on its back? He just hopes things will get better quick.

Take a look at some of the Boston batting averages before they went up against another southpaw—Max Lanier, who was slated to start for the New York Giants today. They're enough to drive a man mad.

Ed Mathews, .300; Sid Gordon, .167; Jack Cusick, .214; Ebba St. Claire, .167 and Sam Jethros, .195. And the club was batting .299. Not a regular was up to .300 after yesterday's 9-5 defeat at the hands of the Giants.

Leo Durocher tossed lefthander Roger Bowman against the Braves. They got rid of him on five hits in 2 1-3 innings, then got six more off Hoyt Wilhelm, a righthander. Finally, Durocher brought lefty Dave Klo from the bullpen and the Braves couldn't do anything for the last inning and one-third.

"They may beat a southpaw

Walker W. (Sonny) Jones, former Wyoming star football player, is a lieutenant in the Army assigned as a member of the Honor Guard attached to Gen. Ridgway's staff in Tokyo.

but got many more favoring it. One man, whom Burnett knew, wrote to cancel his box. Burnett wrote the man, asking him why he opposed a Negro playing baseball when Negroes had worked for him for years. The man telephoned: "Gimme that box."

Hoskins is a hustler and fighter. He figures just because he's a pitcher is no reason for him to loaf at bat. He works hard, gets along with his teammates and says: "I don't care what the fans do so long as my teammates are for me. And they've been swell."

Burnett met with the Negro press the other day. He said someone had telephoned him wanting to know why Hoskins hadn't been at a banquet and in a parade. "It is up to you," Burnett told the Negro press, "whether or not he stays with the Dallas club. If you agitate things like that, it will mean he'll be sent away."

Negro fans turn out by the thousands when Hoskins plays. There has been no perceptible fall-off in attendance of white fans.

There was speculation over what might happen if Hoskins hit a batter. He almost hit Jim Kirby of Tulsa but Hoskins was the only nervous person in the park.

Saigh Surprised

Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was indicted in St. Louis on charges of income tax evasion in the amount of $49,620 is shown at the Cincinnati baseball park where the Cards opened a two-game series. Saigh told newsmen he knew his income tax was being investigated but "I thought it was in the process of being settled. This came as a surprise." (AP Wirephoto).

Gene Smith Wins In A Close One

By ART EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gene Smith, a hot article in the lightweight ranks, still is unbeaten, but he racked up his 31st victory last night by the narrowest margin possible—exactly one point.

The 26-year-old Smith, rated fifth among the world's lightweights by the National Boxing Association, went into the ring a 4 to 1 favorite over Fabela Chavez of Hollywood. After 10 fast rounds, here's how he came out of it:

Judge Charley Buck thought Smith won by 96 points to 92. Referee Harry Volkman pointed to Chavez, 97 to 90. Judge Harry Childs kept Smith's record safe but shaky, 97 to 96.

Many of the customers booted the decision, and there were yelps that Smith, a Washington boy, was the beneficiary of Washington officiating.

But it was a tough one to call. There were no knockdowns, and in no round did either fighter roll up much of an advantage.

Smith had to work under one tremendous handicap. In the third round Chavez belted him one under the left eye. It swelled so rapidly that it looked as if he literally wouldn't see the finish.

And since Chavez diligently applied himself to closing it altogether, the eye was in sorry shape indeed by the time the bout ended.

In general, Smith punched hard, but Chavez had the best of it in the in-fighting.

Investment In Negro Lad Paying Off For Burnett

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, April 24 (AP)—Dick Burnett, the oil millionaire who set records for spending money and packing in the fans, came up with another Texas League first this season—a Negro player.

He is Dave Hoskins, 27-year-old pitcher - outfielder who credits Satchel Paige with teaching him much of his baseball. And now Hoskins is hurling and battling Dallas to victory to the delight of the Negro populace. And he's proving popular with the white fans, too.

Last night he spun a four-hitter against Oklahoma City and got four hits himself, driving in two runs. His work brought a 5-0 win. Previously he had beaten Tulsa 4-2 win an eight-hitter. He got two hits.

Burnett explained why he brought the first Negro into the Texas League like this:

"First, I thought he could help my ball club. Second, Negroes have worked for me for years. In the depression days, when I was running a sawmill, they kept me from starving to death. I like to help them. Of course, I figured it would aid my attendance but that was of least consideration."

Burnett said he had gotten 14 letters opposing the use of a Negro

U.S. Movie Will Open Cannes Film Festival

CANNES, France (AP)—Hollywood's Oscar-winning musical, "An American in Paris," will open the fifth annual Cannes Film Festival tonight.

America's "best film of the year," starring Gene Kelly, was chosen to lead off the 20-feature-length movies and 40 short subjects to be viewed by the 1,000 movie people and journalists attending the festival. It runs through May 9.

A total of 20 nations have entered movies in the competitions for the festival awards, but the Iron Curtain countries are not represented.

News Agencies Are Being Investigated By Argentine Police

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Federal police are putting all news agencies and foreign correspondents in Argentina through an unexplained investigation.

In a surprise move, agents from the labor section of the National Police called on newsmen last night and demanded written lists of employes, news sources, and fellow correspondents elsewhere in the Americas. They told them also to name their banks and describe their methods of sending and receiving news.

Police agents said they did not know the reason for the investigation.

Soviet Chemist Dies

MOSCOW (AP)—The death of Nikolai Chizhevsky, 80, a specialist in the chemistry of coal and metals, was reported today. He designed the Soviet Union's coke oven system and his researches helped expand raw material resources for the metallurgical industries.

Upstream Dams Could Have Prevented Flood Along Missouri River

KANSAS CITY (AP)—If upstream dams now in the works had been completed, Brig. Gen. D. G. Shingler says, the 1952 Missouri River flood wouldn't have amounted to much.

Reservoirs now building or authorized, he said in a speech here yesterday, were designed to hold 15 million acre feet of flood control storage. The present Missouri River flood he estimated at around eight million acre feet.

MUSIC SHOULD MOLD CHARACTER

Too Much Stress On Making Children Into Pro Musicians

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The whole world is out of tune on musical education, one of the nation's leading musical philanthropists said today.

There's too much emphasis on trying to make children "pseudo professionals," instead of teaching music as a molder of character, declared Henry S. Drinker, a Philadelphia attorney whose avocation is music.

He also sounded off on professional musicians who "have made skill in performance an end in itself, instead of the means of discovering the beauty of the music."

Further, he said most professional music critics and regular patrons of concerts had failed as arbiters of good taste in music.

Calling for the training of more "educated amateurs"—people whose primary interest in music is prompted by the mere love of it without thought, necessarily, of a performance career—Drinker told the American Philosophical Society's annual meeting:

"If music is to be restored to the essential function of molding character which it once occupied, it is primarily the educated amateurs who will bring this about."

Drinker is the founder of the Drinker Library of Choral Music (DLCM) at Princeton, N. J., from which many choral societies throughout the nation get copies of music of the masters on loan.

He also is director of a 100-voice amateur choir in Merion, Pa., and takes pride in the fact that "we not only have never given a public performance, but have never even considered giving one."

Criticizing "current methods and objectives in music education," Drinker told the society:

"Our young people are taught music not in order that they may understand it and make it a potent influence and inspiration in their normal daily lives, but with a view toward making them able to sing or play a few pieces, as pseudo professionals, for the pleasure of an audience and the gratification of their parents."

"The important function of music is molding the character of those who understand and participate in it is overlooked and neglected. Instead of being a mere form of amusement it should be a potent influence in promoting culture."

"Intelligent and musically educated amateurs x x x may be the most effective critics in molding beneficially the development of musical taste and in preventing the foisting of cheap musical products on the public. This is not now being done by the professional music critics."

Reece Lashes Out At Ike Campaign

BOSTON (AP)—Former Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece told a news conference tonight that the campaign to elect Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower President "should be shown for what it is—a part of the Democratic attempt to dictate the Republican nominee in 1952." Reece, a supporter of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), said: "Every slightest development in the Eisenhower camp is emphasized by extravagant language by a propaganda apparatus aided by the Democratic administration."

Cancer Crusade Set To Open Drive Here

The 1952 Cancer Crusade opens here Friday with a kick-off breakfast set for 8 a. m. in the Settles Hotel.

Matt Harrington, Howard County Crusade chairman, said something over 20 workers will begin canvass work in the city immediately following the breakfast.

The slogan for this year's Crusade is "Cancer Strikes One In Five — Strike Back!" Harrington said workers in the campaign will distribute educational leaflets explaining the Texas Cancer Crusade, important facts about cancer and the warning signals which the disease gives.

A considerable amount of informational material already has been brought to the attention of the public in Big Spring this year, Harrington said, and the crusade will enable local residents to help the American Cancer Society continue educational and research work designed to help control the disease.

The Howard County goal this year is $2,600, while the State of Texas has a goal of $600,000.

"I believe our objective is reasonable, and that Big Spring and Howard County citizens will continue to support this vital program," Harrington declared.

The campaign chairman said volunteer workers hope to reach everyone during the drive. However, those who wish to contribute by mail may do so by simply forwarding their donation to CANCER, in care of the Big Spring Postoffice.

The campaign here will climax local observance of Cancer Month in Texas.

Harrington said the volunteer workers hope to complete their canvass work within a few days.

Cancer Centers Tour Leaves Idea Great Discoveries Near

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK, April 24. — The outlook against cancer is getting brighter. Truly great discoveries might come unexpectedly.

These are impressions after a two-week tour of cancer centers in nine cities, meeting with nearly 200 specialists. The tour was sponsored by the American Cancer Society, to help tell the public what their research dollars are doing.

I saw some people well and happy, for a time at least, who would have been dead months ago. New treatments had brought new life.

These treatments, surgical and chemical, work only in some forms of cancer and then only for some people. Nowhere does anyone have any magic bullets to kill cancers surely. But some drugs are doing some good, here and there.

The best solid good news is more cures from X-rays and surgery. These two old weapons are being used much more effectively to save thousands of lives.

They work best when cancers are detected early and early detection is improving. There are new blood tests to spot cancer and some experts say they're good enough to be used now in routine health checkups.

There are improved tests for cancer of the cervix and prostate gland; better X-ray methods promise early detection of tiny lung cancers; an electrical skin test for cancer is being developed; cancer detection clinics are spreading.

Surgery cures by cutting out localized cancers. But surgeons now are doing far more. One man is living and well five months after surgeons removed his pituitary gland, the body's master gland. He was dying of widespread prostate gland cancer. Adrenal glands have been taken from 30 men and women, with far advanced breast or prostate cancers. About half improved immensely, one is well and active a year later.

Arteries from artery banks are making possible operations in which great arteries, involved by cancer, must be cut out. Plastic windpipes and bronchial tubes are promised by animal experiments.

Pain is being fought by brain surgery that cuts nerve fibers. A new prospect is of destroying, by electric needle, a pain crossroads deep in the brain for pain-free life.

X-rays are knocking out cancers they couldn't reach before. One technique is to put the patient in a merry-go-round chair, so the X-ray beam concentrates on his internal cancer with fewer rays hitting any one part of the skin. A 26,000,000-volt betatron is firing

More Critical Materials Due To Be Available

Builders of primary and secondary schools and public roads will be permitted to authorize themselves more critical materials without government approval, beginning July 1.

A. C. Jackson, district manager of the National Production Authority, said that school builders will be allowed to authorize up to 50 tons of carbon steel. Of that amount seven tons can be structural shapes, and 1,000 each of copper and aluminum.

The increase for public roads will be up to 25 tons of carbon steel, of which 12 tons may be structural shapes, and 200 pounds of copper.

Amounts allotted on all projects will be on a per project basis, and not per quarter.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

DAVIS & HUMPHRIES OWNERS & OPERATORS

Warren Is A Fine Fellow And Also A Seasoned Campaigner

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 24 (AP)—The Earl Warren that most people know is a big, hearty man with a personality that seems to reach out and say "Howdy" to the folks.

There's no doubt the popular Republican governor of California has a way with the voters of both parties in his native state.

Behind the bland good looks and pleasant manner stands a seasoned campaigner who seeks the Republican nomination for President on a platform of social progress and an election record unmatched in Golden State history.

After all, you don't win three terms as Republican governor in a state which registers Democratic only because you have a warm smile, a hearty handclasp and a handsome family of six children.

Nor do you become your party's nominee for vice president, as he was in 1948, and get talked about for the White House on the basis of being a political charmer.

In 32 unbroken years of public service, the 6-foot-1, 215-pound Warren has taken care to back up this affable front—and has never lost a state election.

At 61, his blond hair turned to white but energetic as ever, he treasures a reputation as a vigorous prosecutor, a crusader against crime and an able chief executive of the nation's second largest state.

People don't always agree whether Warren, the practical politician, has tailored his "progressive" policies to the peculiar political shape of California, but whatever the motive, it has paid off with unusual success for this self-made lawyer son of Scandinavian immigrants.

In 1946 Warren swept both Republican and Democratic nominations for governor in the primaries under California's crossfiling system. No other candidate for that office had ever done that.

GOV. EARL WARREN

Two years ago he outpolled Democrat James Roosevelt by over a million votes to become the state's first third-term governor, despite the fact there were three Democratic voters for every two Republicans.

Critics call Warren an opportunist playing to the heavy Democratic vote. They think some of his policies smack of socialism and a favorite complaint is that President Truman has twice spoken of the Californian as a "fine Democrat."

Warren scoffs at these assertions. Although people in a neutral corner incline to rate him as a middle of the roader, he sees himself as a progressive Republican trying to keep up with the times.

He has urged the party to repudiate "extremists of the right" who yearn for the good old days.

"I am convinced the American people are not Socialists and will not tolerate socialist government," he said in one speech, "but they are definitely committed to social progress."

Warren is an advocate of social security — including compulsory health insurance, eff favors collective bargaining and upholds labor's right to strike.

He insists upon "one law for all men," he is for the United Nations, world co-operation, bipartisan foreign policy and aid to "our friends of the free world."

As governor of 11 million Californians, he prides himself on his balanced budgets and pay-as-you-go financing. In some respects, though, he is a big spender. New programs, California's vast growth and inflation have pushed the annual state budgets beyond the billion-dollar mark. Much of the money goes for improved state highways, prisons, hospitals and schools.

Warren demands "rugged honesty in every department of government." His own administrations have been free of scandal.

Probably more than anything else, Warren has been known as a racket buster throughout his career. His California Crime Commission, created in 1947, antedated similar state and national investigations. He prodded the legislature into outlawing slot machines and enacting laws designed to tax the profits out of crime. He was instrumental in closing down wire services to bookmakers.

He has failed at times, too. He pleaded with three legislatures to accept his prepaid health insurance plan over forceful opposition of the American Medical Association. The lawmakers refused. Nevertheless the governor and the lawmakers get along surprisingly well. He has no floor leader in either house. He tells his own staff members to stay away for fear they might be accused of eavesdropping.

In public, Warren greets people

wherever he goes with his cheery political trademark:

"Hello, there! How ARE yuh? Glad to SEE yuh!"

Yet few persons call him "Earl." One aide who has been with him since 1925 addresses him formally as "Governor." He has few intimate friends—certainly no poker cronies.

In his office, he is cordial with his staff but is hard-driving. There is no inner circle, no "palace guard."

Warren says, "I like people," and anyone who has been around him at all gets the idea he means it.

His own six children are robustly good looking and unquestionably a political asset. His blonde wife, born in Sweden 38 years ago, is a charming woman who prefers to "remain in the background."

Warren was born in Los Angeles on March 19, 1891. His father, Methias, came from Norway, his mother from Sweden. Methias Warren worked as a railroad car repairer in Los Angeles and Bakersfield, where young Earl spent his boyhood.

A law graduate of the University of California and an Army lieutenant in World War I, Warren got his start in politics in 1924, when he was appointed district attorney of Alameda County, California's third largest, at the age of 33. He carried every precinct in 1926, was re-elected in 1930 and 1934.

A man who moves slowly and deliberately, Warren can act when aroused. As district attorney, he prosecuted crooked bail bondsmen, sent the sheriff to prison for grafting, and convicted just about the entire city government of Alameda for bribery and theft.

He won after biggest game as the state's attorney general—a post to which he was elected in 1938 when other state offices went Democratic. He drove gambling ships off the California seas and closed down illegal dog-racing tracks.

As Warren tells it, he sent word to one Blackjack Jerome, who operated the largest dog track, that he was going to close his place. Did he want to do it the easy way or the hard way? Blackjack consulted his lawyer and quit. Other tracks followed.

By 1942, with the war on, Warren felt he was being stymied by Democratic Gov. Culbert L. Olson on civil defense activities. Without a political machine and no campaign war chest, he recalls, he launched a non-partisan drive for the governorship and defeated Olson by 342,000 votes.

Warren says he has thought at times of leaving public service to earn some money for his family. He credits Mrs. Warren with being a thrifty wife and making it possible for them to get along.

Does Man Get Dice Back? That's Up To High Court

AUSTIN, April 24 (AP)—The Supreme Court will decide whether or not Sammy Habeeb of Houston gets back his crooked, and straight, dice.

Habeeb sued Police Chief L. D. Morrison of Houston for recovery of a case of 506 pairs of dice of assorted sizes, colors and dimensions which testimony showed were "both straight and crooked."

Habeeb was upheld by the Harris County Court at Law and by the Court of Civil Appeals.

City Attorney Will Sears of Houston, pleading for a review, told the Supreme Court that these lower court decisions made a laughing stock of the law.

The case of dice—now is custody of the Supreme Court's clerk—were seized by Morrison when the police recovered a car stolen from Habeeb. Habeeb got his car back, but the chief kept the dice.

Sears said that while the law must show careful regard for property rights, "It does not compel anyone in this case to violate common sense in presuming some nebulous and undisclosed use for the tools of the despised trade of the crooked dice gambler."

The lower courts held that the dice were Habeeb's personal property and not a public nuisance, that they were not exhibited for gaming purposes. They ruled that the legislature had never banned property rights in dice, "but merely betting on dice games."

"An unconsummated intention to use certain property as gaming paraphernalia is not enough to make it property denominated as a public nuisance," the court of civil appeals ruled.

Habeeb testified in the original trial of the suit that he collected crooked dice as a hobby.

COMMITTEE HAS A TOUGH JOB Parliament Soon Must Fix Queen Elizabeth's Salary

By ROBERT F. S. JONES
LONDON (U)—Some time soon Parliament will have to decide how much to pay Queen Elizabeth II and her family.

Royalty's annual wage bill, the Civil List is voted by Parliament at the beginning of each reign—within six months of the last sovereign's death—to maintain "the honour and dignity of the crown and royal family."

It cost Britain $1,625,000 a year to do this properly during the lifetime of George VI. George himself got $1,148,000 of this. The rest was divided among his mother, daughters and other close relatives. In each case, the money was tax free.

But although George didn't have to bother with income tax, he wasn't a rich man. By the time he had paid the wages and salaries of his royal households, he was left with only $308,000 to call his own, which isn't much for a monarch, considering his other expenses and the importance of the job.

The task of working out how much Elizabeth will get will fall to an all-party committee of 21 members of Parliament.

The committee's job won't be an easy one. The chill wind of rising prices whistles through the royal corridors of Buckingham Palace just as uncomfortably as it does through any other British home. There will be plenty of arguments in favor of giving Elizabeth a wage hike, and in these days of austerity, there could also be plenty of arguments in favor of leaving the Civil List as it is—or even of reducing it.

venues brought in a net of $291,000 a year.

The old list provided that Queen Mother Elizabeth would get $196,000 if she survived her husband. This is the same as Queen Mary was given when George V died in 1936.

One person almost certain to get a raise is the Duke of Edinburgh. At the moment he gets $28,000 a year, but as the queen's consort, he will have more to do—and presumably needs more money to do it with.

Another increase may go to Princess Margaret, who as the Queen's sister has extra duties to perform. At present she gets $16,800 voted her when she became 21.

Almost certain to be missing from the list is the Duke of Windsor. He did not figure in the 1937 list and there seems little to suggest that he will be included this time.

Like her father, the new Queen probably will find at least three-quarters of her income earmarked for housekeeping.

It cost George VI $427,840 a year to run the state households at Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle. Salaries of secretaries and court officials swallowed another $375,200.

In addition to these expenses, Elizabeth will have to set aside a slice of her salary for the "royal bounty." This provides—among other charitable payments—for a gift of $14 to the parents of every set of triplets born in the Commonwealth.

With what she has left, Elizabeth will have to keep up her estates at Sandringham and Balmoral, pay for her racing stables, and buy her own clothes. When she travels she will have to pay full rail fare for herself and her staff and a surcharge for a special train.

Soviets Say Hitler Wanted British To Escape At Dunkirk

MOSCOW, April 23 (U)—Russian raiders got the Soviet dope today on the British evacuation from Dunkirk.

Neither heroism nor skill got the British troops off the sands of France—Hitler let them get away on purpose, wrote the Russian Navy newspaper Red Fleet.

The Fuehrer issued orders to let the British troops get away, the paper explained, in hopes this would speed up an Anglo-German agreement on a joint war against the Soviet Union.

Red Fleet said further: "The myth of the 'heroic feat' of the British fleet at Dunkirk was needed by the English falsifiers of history in order to conceal the truth from their own people and the world public."

MORALE

Morale for the men at the base reached a new height this week as announcement was made of the 300 rental housing units to be built in Big Spring. Many married airmen have hesitated to ask their wives and families to accompany them to the base because of the critical housing situation.

Others have either commuted between the city and points in the area, such as Snyder, Stanton, and Lamesa or made periodic week-end visits to their families in other parts of the state.

ACCIDENTS

The first major accidents to occur since the activation of the air base some six months ago have caused considerable concern among personnel stationed here. Warnings have been issued by the ground safety section to proceed with extra caution on well-traveled US Hwy. 80. Both accidents, an auto collision and a hit-and-run injury, occurred on this highway.

GUESTS

Two VIPs (very important persons) were among the list of guests this week. Mr. Alwinus van Nierkerk, consultant to the Secretary of Defense, Union of South America, made an inspection of airfield and runway construction, and Col. Leon W. Gray, twice winner of the jet division of the Transcontinental Bendix Trophy races, stopped off for a visit on his way from California. In case you wondered about the new jet in the sky Monday, it was the F-86 Sabre jet.

BAND

It won't be long before Big Spring AFB will have its own military band; to be exact, the 509th Air Force Band, scheduled for activation about June 16, the band may possibly be ready to participate in the graduation exercises of the first cadet class.

RAINS

Officials at the base have prepared for the worst should it come—no rain. In the event that the current series of showers should not continue, base personnel are planning to help conserve the city's waning water supply by banning washing of vehicles and keeping all faucets off except during actual use.

AF DAY

A series of meetings between civilian and military organizations resulted this week in further plans for the double observance of Armed Forces Day and the air base dedication, May 18. A variety of exhibits displaying various Air Force aircraft, Army and National Guard weapons will highlight the dedication ceremonies. Several high-ranking Air Force representatives have been invited to the Armed Forces Day activities which will be attended by several thousand civilian guests from Big Spring.

MARS

Big Spring AFB now has its own amateur radio facilities, known to the service as MARS (Military Amateur Radio System). The rig, presently in operation on a limited scale, affords "hams" at the base an opportunity to call anywhere in the continental United States.

Three Cities Join To Retain Airlines Service To Coasts

DALLAS, April 23 (U)—Three cities were combined today in a plan to intervene in a suit which seeks to halt transcontinental service by three airlines.

Airlines involved are Braniff International Airways, Eastern Airlines, and Trans-World Airways. Dallas yesterday joined Houston and Amarillo in the fight against National Airlines' suit to stop the coast-to-coast one-plane service.

National says it did not have sufficient notice of a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing which authorized the three lines to set up the service.

The base MARS is also used for official use, in cases where other means of communication are not available.

SPORTS

Softball competition at the base has captured the attention of all sports enthusiasts. Fifty-three men are competing for positions on the base softball team, while many more have gone out for berths on the squadron teams.

Inter-squadron handicap bowling leagues began matching strength last night at the downtown bowling alleys. Leagues are scheduled to go at each other every Wednesday and Friday night.

When Elizabeth was heiress presumptive, Parliament voted her $16,000 a year. This was raised to $42,000 when she became 21, and to $112,000 when she married the Duke of Edinburgh in 1947.

Prince Charles, the 3½-year-old heir apparent, won't get any of this. In theory he's a rich youngster in his own right as Duke of Cornwall. He automatically became duke as the sovereign's eldest son and is heir to the revenues of the duchy. When the last Civil List was passed in 1937, these re-

STUDY IN CONTRAST

... Bo Bowen, who prefers the hearthside, studies a recipe, while roommate, Mazie Roberts, the outdoor-type, checks to find the best fishing dates.

Nurses Find Contrast Makes For Harmony

Combine an outdoor type person with one who prefers the hearthside. Add different hobbies and contrasting personalities and the result might be chaos.

But with Bo Bowen and Mazie Roberts, both nurses at the VA Hospital, the result is harmony.

The pair shares an apartment at 1014 Nolan.

Bo is a native of San Angelo and came here four years ago from Corpus Christi.

While in nurses training at Lubbock, she often passed through Big Spring en route to her home.

"I always said that I'd like to live in Big Spring and finally I made up my mind to get away from the sticky climate of the coast and come back West," she commented. "And I haven't regretted it a minute."

Mazie is a native of Douglas, Ga., and is active in the work of the Assembly of God Church.

Her main hobby is fishing, or doing anything out-of-doors for that matter.

Bo likes to paint, mostly floral designs, and sew. Her burning ambition is to attend a complete World Series in baseball. Each spring and summer she keeps one ear glued to the radio to await the outcome of her favorite team, the Yankees.

The nurses have had had little trouble with their food tastes. Both like okra in any form including boiled.

"The hardest thing was learning to cook for two after living alone or in a nurses home for so long," they agree.

One of their favorite desserts is Butter Pie which can be prepared quickly and is very rich in calories. Their recipe:

BUTTER PIE

Ingredients:
1 stick margarine
6 rounded tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup top milk or light cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Method:

Crumble margarine, flour and sugar together. Add milk or cream and vanilla. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake in very slow oven until done. Serve while hot and for best results re-heat each time before serving.

Crunchies Are Energy Pick-Up

The cookie jar is the most popular spot in the kitchen—so always have something good waiting inside of yours. Accompanied by a glass of milk, cookies make an excellent after-school energy pick-up to tide children over until supper. Peanut crunchies are a favorite for the cookie-box.

Peanut Crunchies

1 1/4 cups margarine
3-4 c. sugar
1 1/4 cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup chopped salted peanuts
Cream margarine. Add sugars gradually and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add vanilla and eggs one at a time, continuing beating. Sift together flour and soda and add to creamed mixture. Mix until flour disappears. Stir in rolled oats and chopped peanuts. Drop the batter from a teaspoon onto a well-margarined cookie sheet. Bake in a 400-degree oven for 10-15 minutes, or until light brown. This recipe makes 100 two-inch cookies.

Cauliflower Has New Lift With Mushroom Sauce

1 large head cauliflower
1 10%-ounce can condensed cream of Mushroom Soup, undiluted
1/2 cup grated American cheese
2 tablespoons fine toast crumbs
Cut bottom of cauliflower stems off smoothly about an inch from head so cauliflower will stand upright. Rinse head thoroughly. Place in deep sauce pan containing 1 inch of water. Cover and steam 15 minutes or until tender. Drain, cut away remaining leaves and lower stem, and place cauliflower in center of heated serving dish. While cauliflower is cooking, combine soup and cheese in saucepan. Heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted and sauce is very hot. Pour over cauliflower; then sprinkle crumbs over top. Makes 6 servings.

Light Destroys Flavor Of Butter

Light destroys the flavor of butter. Research at the universities of Minnesota and Wisconsin shows that light from today's modern display cases can cause flavor loss in butter within a day or two. Butter packaged in a paraffined carton with parchment inner wrap kept perfectly under the same light tests.

HOT CROSS CASSEROLE IS THRIFTY ... good dish for spring, but don't forget to serve it later, too

Hot Cross Buns Spell Low Cost Elegance

Hot cross buns—pans of them, plump and currant-filled and wearing crosses of white icing—are show stoppers at any baker's window.

The unique appeal of this bread specialty, so fresh from the oven it hasn't had time to get cold, has carried through the centuries.

Using the same recipe, the homemaker can make the "uncrossed" variety to include in any meal-time bread basket. If she bakes at home occasionally, she will find the buns easy to shape as they rise to bake to fluffy shapes filled with spices or chopped candied fruit.

Hot Cross Buns
2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
1/2 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup currants or candied orange peel (if desired)
1/2 teaspoon allspice
5 cups sifted enriched flour
Confectioners' sugar icing.
Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Add softened yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add currants, spices and enough flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). When light, punch down and let rest 10 minutes.

Shape into small buns and place on greased baking sheet, or in pan. With knife or scissors, cut a small cross in the top of each bun. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Make crosses with confectioners' sugar icing following the cross cut in the bun. The recipe makes three dozen.

Old Tradition
For centuries, special breads, rolls and cakes have been associated with spring. Some of these unusual foods have been adopted by homemakers in this country, keeping alive a healthy tradition of giving meals elegance at thrifty prices.

Another dish symbolic of the season is Hot Cross Casserole. The thrifty one-dish recipe combines peas and canned tuna with baked mashed potatoes. The mixture may then be placed in a square casserole in the form of a cross.

Hot Cross Casserole
1 1/2 cups water
2 1/2 cups diced potatoes
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Paprika
1 one-pound can peas
Milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
1 7-ounce can tuna, flaked
Bring water to a boil; add potatoes. Drain; add 2 tablespoons of the butter, parsley, salt and pepper. Mash. Press into corners of a greased 8-inch square casserole. Sprinkle with paprika and dot with remaining tablespoon of butter. Bake in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes.

While potatoes are baking, drain peas. Measure liquid; add enough milk to make 1 1/2 cups. Melt butter; add flour, onion salt and celery salt, stir to a smooth paste. Add liquid and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add peas, pimiento and tuna; heat to serving temperature. Pour between potato cakes. The yield is 4 servings.

A meal-in-one treat Fish Fillet Pie serves inexpensive fillets in an attractive manner. The tender crust takes on a main dish look with rolled oats for texture and heartiness. Inside, a tangy, rich tomato sauce blankets the tender fillets.

Fish Fillet Pie
1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup quick rolled oats, uncooked
1 1/2 cup shortening
4 to 5 tablespoons water
4 to 5 tablespoons Filling
12 to 16 ounces fresh or frozen fish fillets.
3 tablespoons margarine or butter
1-3 cup flour
1 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup drained peas (fresh, frozen or canned)
Sift together flour and salt; add rolled oats. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water, a little at a time until mixture will just hold together. Roll out to fit an 8- or 9-inch pie pan. For the filling, separate fish fillets and wipe dry with cloth or paper toweling. Melt margarine; stir in flour and onion. Add tomato juice, salt and Worcestershire sauce and cook until thickened, stirring frequently; add chopped parsley and peas. Lay fish fillets in pie shell; add the tomato sauce. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer. Ingredients are enough for six servings.

Meatless Dish
Right from the cereal shelf comes the basic ingredient for still another meatless piece of pastry. The Italians call it "Polenta." With the addition of cheese and lots of seasoning, the dish is a tempting one. Served with a tossed salad, Italian bread, steaming hot coffee and some fruit for dessert, it makes a nourishing meal at very low cost.

Wheat Meal Baked Polenta
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped pimientos
1 bay leaf
6 whole cloves
3 tablespoons olive oil
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup wheat meal
1/2 cup grated American cheese
Sauté onion, pepper, pimientos, bay leaf and cloves in olive oil 3 minutes. Add tomatoes, salt and sugar and simmer 2 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaf and cloves.

Stir in cereal gradually and cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Spoon mixture into greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. The recipe is for 4 or 5 servings.

Drink A 'Posset' Before Retiring
Drink a "posset" when you're reading late at night or just before going to bed. Sounds old-fashioned and soothing, and it is. A cup of hot milk with a tablespoon of un-sulphured molasses stirred in. Grandma of the penoir days made sure the molasses was sweet and spicy.

When chicken livers are bought the day before using, some cooks like to cover them with cold water before storing in the refrigerator.

Economy, Elections Make For Trouble In Getting Aid Funds

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Congress must decide soon whether it wants to continue spending as much for the world-wide military buildup as it did to fight World War II.

That, in effect, is the proposition the lawmakers are studying in this election year when the buildup is near the halfway point. The answer will come when the Senate considers the military budget for next year and when both chambers vote the new foreign aid program.

Both aspects of global preparedness are meeting more opposition in this Congress than in the past two years. What is decided now may set the tone for the rest of the program, now stretched out until the middle of 1955.

The administration has received or requested $174,700,000 for military spending in the period between the start of the Korean War and June 30, 1953.

That amounts to about $1.165 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Four years of World War II cost this country an estimated 330 billion dollars. In another two years the military expenses of the present hot-cold war will exceed two years Administration spokesmen say one reason is that the cost of war's tools has increased from three to eight times. If the buildup prevents further hostilities, they say, today's investment will be cheap.

But congressmen are talking more loudly about economy, with elections imminent.

The House reflected this mood early this month by chopping $4,700,000,000 from the administration's military budget. It sent a final total of $46,200,000,000 to the Senate for action, probably in one month.

Congressional critics have said repeatedly the nation's economy cannot stand continued high taxes and an unbalanced budget. Administration spokesmen agree but contend that security must come first.

And five congressional groups are investigating what they say is military inefficiency and waste. Against this background, Congress is still asking these main questions:

How much has the military buildup cost so far?

Military budgets since the start of Korean hostilities total 1090 billion, says Chairman Mahon (D-Tex) of a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

In addition, President Truman reported that the Defense Department received 9 1/2 billion for purely military assistance abroad from the middle of 1950 to next June 30. He requested $5,300,000,000 more for next year.

Where has the money gone? A large slice, the administration says, goes to buy the tanks, airplanes and even socks that armed forces need. Charles E. Wilson, in his final report as defense mobilizer, said military procurement will take 132 billion of the 1784,000,000,000 either received or requested by the Defense Department to date.

The Korean War is costing five billion a year.

The administration requested 11 billion to feed, clothe and pay the 3,600,000 officers and men who will be in American armed forces next year. These costs have gone up because about half the Army will be rotated out of service and replaced with recruits during the year.

It costs about 12 billion to maintain and operate the American military machine for one year.

Military research will take 1 1/4 billion for next year, the purchase of real estate and construction over two billion and retired pay $330,000,000.

A host of other expenses range from stimulating war production to maintaining the reserves.

Why does it cost so much? War, says the administration, has grown from a national luxury to a super-luxury. A medium bomber which cost 402,000 in World War II now costs $3,476,000; a medium tank has increased from $81,500 to $244,000; a destroyer from $9,000,000 to $27,500,000 and even the rifle, from $41 to $95.

The American military machine, disbanded after victory, and Allied armies, battered heavily during the last war, have to be almost completely re-equipped with new arms to reach fighting strength and to replace obsolete war tools.

Why appropriate more money when the Pentagon still has unspent billions?

Mahon said the Defense Department had $38 billion in unexpended funds last June and will wind up with $57 billion this June. This is unspent but "it is not unused money," he said. It was pledged for the guns, tanks, and airplanes which will not be delivered for two or three years after work begins on them.

"This $7 billion dollars cannot be used to buy food for soldiers, to pay salaries to officers and enlisted men," Mahon told the House. "It cannot be used to buy fuel for airplanes. It cannot be used for any purpose except to pay for the military hardware which has been ordered."

And additional funds are necessary, he added, so military officials can contract for more equipment.

What defenses have been bought with this money?

Secretary of Defense Lovett testified before Congress that American fighting strength has about doubled since June, 1950. The Army has gone from 10 to 20 planned divisions; the Navy from 380,000 men and 238 ships to 790,000 men and 400 combat ships; the Air Force from 411,000 men and 48 wings to nearly 900,000 men and 90 wings.

Wilson said American industrial capacity, the foundation of Western power, has doubled since 1940 and the total Allied defense mobilization effort "has already altered the balance of power in the world."

Lovett testified that requested foreign aid funds would finish equipping the 50 divisions pledged by European allies for the end of this year and would provide some reserve supplies. American military officials reported that Western Europe, which had virtually no combat forces last year, now has "substantial" strength. When will this heavy spending end? Administration spokesmen say neither the United States nor Europe is yet secure, and the military buildup in both regions has been slowed for reasons of economy. But Lovett said, without war, American expenditures should remain about at their present level until the middle of 1955, at the earliest. Then he said material reductions could be made, because much of the necessary equipment would be available. Mahon told the House that even at this cost, the United States is taking a calculated risk. "If we positively knew that a major war was somewhat imminent," he said, "we would double the pending (48 billion dollar) appropriation bill" and immediately convert all industry to war production.

Roy Phillips, who lives in Big Spring but who has a farm in the eastern edge of Martin County, plans to do a really top job of soil and water conservation.

Phillips has carefully studied the capabilities of his land, according to the Soil Conservation Service technicians, and has also become well acquainted with its tendency to blow when moisture is short and the winds are high and long. He now plans to tie it down tighter than a rodeo calf and at the same time add to the organic matter content of the soil. This year he plans to plant the entire cultivated acreage in a close-growing feed crop and then leave a good stubble mulch when the crop is cut.

Such a farming program as this is going to make a tremendous difference over West Texas through the years, and the news that a man plans such a program gives an encouraging boost to those who have had reason to become a little discouraged.

Another man who is planning on doing something to keep his topsoil from blowing away is Frank Hope, who farms two miles west of Ackery. He plans to practice stubble mulching on 25 acres of his sandy land.

Five registered Hereford bulls and eight females have been added to the exclusive Register of Merit.

Among the bulls are: MW Larry Domino 83, calved in 1946, and bred and used by Milky Way Hereford Ranch of Phoenix, with 119 points.

MW Larry Domino 133, calved in 1947, bred by Milky Way and used by Circle A Ranch in Illinois, 116 points.

HG Proud Mixer 579, calved in 1945, and bred and used by the Hardy Grissom Hereford Ranch of Abilene, 107 points.

Among the females are: Miss John R., calved in 1946, bred by John R. Black of Dallas, whose produce was shown principally by Johnston and Johnston of Madisonville, Texas, and Folsom, N. M., 36 points, and owned by W. J. Largent of Merkel.

HG Proud Amy 621, calved in 1945, bred by Wyoming Hereford Ranch of Cheyenne and used by Hardy Grissom, 26 points.

Rosie Ture, calved in 1942, bred by F. A. Neeland of Nebraska and used by the Hardy Grissom Ranch, 26 points.

Among the older bulls on the Register, Larry Domino 50 held his position at the top of the list with 899 points. None of his calves were exhibited during the last show season.

Crowding the 50th for first place is CW Prince Domino 21, used by W. J. Largent and Roy R. Largent of Merkel. Sons and daughters of the 21st picked up 182 points during the year to advance the sire to a total of 781 points. He is the highest living Register of Merit bull.

Bulls must have 100 points earned by five or more sons or daughters to be eligible for the Register. Females must have 25 points on two or more calves.

Register of Merit shows include the American Royal at Kansas City, the Grand National at San Francisco, Eastern National at Timonium, International at Chicago, National Western at Denver and the Southwestern at Fort Worth.

Willis Winters is doing some excellent terrace maintenance work on his farm in the Vincent Community, according to Soil Conservation District reports. He has been using an elevator-type terracer to widen his terraces which makes them easier to farm and which also puts a complete block on one system to hold every drop of rainfall on his land.

From Coahoma comes the conservation news that Thad Hale's alfalfa patch is making a good growth in spite of the lack of rain. He says the alfalfa, which he planted several years ago on his farm northwest of Coahoma, is providing good grazing for his cows.

And, Ray Swann, who manages the Mrs. D. H. Snyder Ranch, southeast of Coahoma, will rest all his rangeland this year. He plans to move all the stock off the ranch to give the grass a chance to recover from the drought. The agricultural future of Howard County looks better all the time.

CANCER

X-rays and electron beams at hidden cancers.

Neutrons from the atomic pile have been beamed into several patients' brains, to make boron atoms in the brain radioactive, and give off cancer-killing rays. Radioactive atoms are being used as fighters in thyroid cancer.

Thousands upon thousands of chemicals are being tested for anticancer activity. The promising ones are being tried in humans.

A new kind of drug is chemicals that resemble the basic chemicals which cancer cells need for life. Some of these drugs have fooled cancer cells, been accepted by them and then jammed the cancer's machinery. For a time, such drugs have shrunk some cancers, relieved pain in humans. Better ones are being sought.

Hormones and other drugs are giving children with leukemia a few months more of a healthier, happier life. But there are no cures. The antibiotic aureomycin steps up the anti-cancer punch of nitrogen mustard against some cancers. Together, they shrink a few cancers so people could have operations.

Viruses are being trained to enter cancer cells and kill them, without harming healthy cells. Antibodies, the natural disease fighters, perhaps can be made to enter cancers, and carry radioactive atoms right into the cancers.

Hormones are being used more efficiently for temporary benefit of some forms of cancer. In a few women, the male sex hormone has altered cancer cells so they become vulnerable to X-rays. Four women treated this way are well a year afterward.

There are clues about how cancer cells manage to migrate so easily, and start new cancers elsewhere in the body. These clues may produce medicines that would keep cancers localized, for treatment by knife or X-rays.

In the quest to whip cancer, teams of specialists are delving into life's own secrets. They are learning more now about what makes a normal, healthy cell tick, how cancer cells differ, how cancer cells escape from biologic controls to grow wild. They are studying genetics, hormones, the amazingly complex life chemicals in the nucleus of a cell, they are studying whether cruises of fungi can cause cancer, what X-rays and chemicals do to cells to start cancer or halt it. They are working for answers in humans, animals, and plants in an amazing mobilization of talents, skills, imagination and laboratories.
