New School Calendar Draws Humorous Pro-Con Exchange

'WE WOMEN' IN C-C NOW

"We The Women," only recently formed "to work for a better Littlefield," became an official part of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night.

Littlefield C-C directors approved a request from Lee Burnett, president of the women's organization, for "We The Women" to become a regular committee of the C-C.

In other activity, the board heard a report of 31 new members added in a recent membership drive, okayed printing of an industrial brochure and set the secretary's vacation for May 22-26.

Miss Burnett, in making the request for "We The Women," listed several projects under consideration by the group and got rousing approval from the board.

She asked for the C-C's help and cooperation on the projects her organization has under consideration.

The projects include a sidewalk art show exhibit about Aug. 24, a Littlefield Sing Festival in June, landscaping of school grounds, and the possibility of a model animal farm.

Set definitely is a July 4th "Safety Break" project in which various organizations in town would participate.

Miss Burnett said motorists would be stopped as they passed through Littlefield and given coffee and cookies.

Proposal to adopt an amended school calendar for 1967-68, presented by Board Member Buster Owens with obvious enthusiasm, drew jovial firm and humorous rebuttal from John D. Smith and Board President Jack Barton at a meeting of Littlefield School Board Monday night.

The calendar, approved by a five-to-two vote, calls for a week's spring vacation along with Easter holidays, dismissing school at the close of the fifth reporting period April 12 and resuming classes April 22.

Classes for the 1967-68 school year will begin August 31 (with faculty meeting Aug. 28 and registration and workshop Aug. 29-30) and closing date is May 29, providing 177 days of instruction.

Baccalaureate is May 26 and Commencement, May 30.

These last two dates drew an exclamation from Smith, "What about college starting dates?"

Instantly a board member threw in, "Yeah, my boy is graduating from high school this year (May 29) and he says he'll have to leave the stage in a dead run to make it to college on time!"

Owens quipped in defense, "Uh-huh, I told my mother that too -- and, you know, she still believes it."

Barton shook his head, Smith shook his head, Barton asserted, "I can't see turning school out a whole week extra." Smith asserted, "I can't see it either."

After several choice comments from defenders and disapprovers, Supt. Paul W. Manning calmly remarked, "The extra week would give us leeway in the event of a week's snow or hazardous conditions."

Smith, who had been chewing consistently on a stogie, pulled the cigar from his mouth, leaned back in his chair, spread his hands apart and exclaimed, "Well, all right! Why didn't you mention that in the first place?"

Meanwhile, Barton was aghast. Then he, too, leaned back in his chair. He chuckled, "Yeah," he said, "But who ever heard of a week's snow in Littlefield?"

Anyway, Owens got his calendar change -- and Smith and Barton? They got off a passing of good quips -- and the Board meeting closed in an atmosphere of wholesome chiding flavored with that priceless ingredient, hardy good-natured laughter.

Littlefield students were given a bonus by members of the School Board at a meeting Monday night. School will be dismissed Wednesday, May 24, two days earlier than previously announced.

Supt. Paul W. Manning told the Board the previous date provided 177 days of instruction, two days more than required, 175. He said by giving back the time added to the school year due to days classes were dismissed by unplanned circumstances, students would lose no academic benefit and the expense of operating buses, etc., could be avoided.

Baccalaureate and commencement will remain May 28 and 29, respectively.

Another gain was made for Littlefield students by the Board's approving construction of a proposed track at Wildcat Stadium.

The proposal, presented on behalf of a group of interested citizens by James Lee and Landon Grissom, calls for Littlefield Independent School District "to provide $1,000 or one-half, whichever is less, of the total cost; the remainder to be raised by private subscription."

An economical plan, not believed to have been tried by other schools, stipulates constructing the track from rock dust and one-half inch rock mix. Lee, who pointed out "a good track program might add a few scholarships each year for our students," said a rough cost estimate is $2,145.

Lee and Grissom explained to the Board they were convinced the rock dust construction was feasible after a broad jump run was laid with the mixture and proved satisfactory.

Specifications call for the track to surround the existing football field and remain within the confines of existing fence and field house; a seven lane track, six lanes 36 inches wide with inside lane 41 inches plus a 90-foot straightaway in the southwest corner; base material (three inch) of rock dust and half-inch rock mix; running surface (two-inch) or rock dust minus 10; concrete curbs (four-by-eight inches) of four-sack strength.

A breakdown of first cost estimates shows survey, lay-off and stake-out costs at zero, with the same applying to track excavation. An engineer will provide the survey free, Lee said and a maintainer to be donated plus volunteer labor will eliminate excavation expense.

Curbs forms, to be laid one-fourth at a time, calling for 1,400 linear feet of one-by-eight is set at $100, with volunteer labor and professional supervision. Concrete curb four-by-eight inches, 2,800

Hospital Election Set For Earth-Springlake

An Earth-Springlake Hospital District election has been scheduled May 27, with voting place designated as Earth-Springlake High School Building.

Action was taken on the issue at a Monday meeting of Lamb County Commissioner's Court when petitions requesting a hospital district and bond election were presented to the court from the Earth-Springlake area.

County Clerk Charles D. Jones said the petitions bore signatures of approximately 160 qualified resident taxpayers, exceeding the required number of 100 signers.

An order was issued by the Court calling for an election with a two-part voting proposition;

(1) For the creation of the Earth-Springlake Hospital District and providing for the levy of annual taxes not to exceed 75 cents on the $100 valuation of all taxable property within the District.

(2) For the issuance of Hospital Bonds and the levying of the tax in payment thereof. Jones explained the early date and centralized voting places were set to expedite election procedure in order for the issue to be presented to the State Legislature at its next convening should voters approve the proposition.

In other business, the Court accepted a bid of $847.50 from Smith Municipal Supplies, Inc., of Dallas in accord with a request for a new radar timer for Lamb County to be used by the Texas Department of Public Safety at Littlefield.

The approved motion stated "that Lamb County purchase one Dominator Radar Timer Model 88 at the price quoted, $847.50. Upon delivery, acceptance and approval, the company will be paid from the General Fund."

Other bids were PEI Corp., Amarillo, $940; George F. Cake & Co., Berkeley, Calif., $965, and Safety & Enforcement Supply Co., Dallas, $845. R & R Electronic of Lubbock declined to submit a bid.

W. G. Finney of Olton was appointed Justice of the Peace for Precinct 1, effective upon his qualifying for office and taking the oath. County Clerk Jones said Finney qualified Tuesday morning and the appointment became effective at that time.

Other applicants for the position vacated effective April 30 by V. L. Smith of Olton were Dewey Dennis, Roscoe Thomas, David Maxey, W. B. Smith, Jr., C. C. Curry and Lindsey Dennis, all of Olton.

Jones stated Lindsey Dennis had requested "duly in person and through his attorney" that his application be withdrawn and therefore was not included in consideration for the appointment.

Approval was given to reports submitted for April, 1967, by Extension Service personnel, County Agent Buddy C. Logsdon, Assistant Agent Sam Kuykendall and Home Demonstration Agent Lady Claire Phillips. Also approved was payment of county bills.

The session adjourned as Commissioner's Court and reconvened as the Board of Equalization to organize the Board for 1967. Comprised of members of the Court, the Board includes County Judge O. J. Mangum, Precinct 1 Commissioner A. J. Spain, Precinct 2 Commissioner H. W. Lewis, Precinct 3 Commissioner J. L. Yeager, Precinct 4 Commissioner Hubert Dykes and County Clerk Jones.

Commissioners Court then reconvened to set the hospital election.

AMY'S ADLIBS

At Random

By Amy Turner

THAT SPECIAL day we set aside once a year to honor mothers will roll around again this Sunday and brings to mind the time when I thought I knew all about mothers.

They were that very extraordinary breed who had all the answers, never made a mistake and were as steady as the Rock of Gibraltar.

Of course, this was all before I joined the club and it suddenly dawned on me one day that I was supposed to belong to that breed and somebody must have made a horrible mistake.

I couldn't be a MOTHER because I found that I had more questions than answers, my mistakes were, to say the least, plentiful and, if I was supposed to represent the Rock of Gibraltar, I must be resting on quick sand.

So, what is a mother, anyway? Is she just a grown-up little girl, who is supposed to be made of sugar and spice and everything nice?

Well, maybe, but, personally I'd be betting on soapuds, detergent and flour.

Or, perhaps, being a mother is really a sort of kaleidoscope of changing pictures of minutes, hours, special memories, bits and pieces of this and that, all adding up to something rather special and indefinable.

WITH THESE inconclusive thoughts in mind, I have decided to entitle this column, in honor of Mother's Day:

Random Thoughts On Being A Mother. Like opening a bureau drawer and pulling out a snake...a toy snake, yes, but, to me, a snake is a snake is a snake.

Knocking on your son's door in the morning and watching him sleepily open one eye, stretch out his arms and say:

"Gee, I love you, Mom."

Buying band-aids by the carload and wondering where in the world they all go.

Cooking, cleaning, working, worrying and wondering if anybody really cares and the one comment:

"You're the greatest," and, suddenly, it's all worth while.

Sitting by a sick child's bed and wishing, oh, how you wish, that it could be you, instead.

Losing your temper and yelling at a child, only to find out later you were wrong and they have forgiven you too quickly for your own sense of justice because you know you don't deserve such love.

OVERHEARING a chance comment and realizing your child has deliberately snubbed another and you wonder:

Where did they learn that? Did they get that from me?

Seeing yourself measured in the eyes of your adolescent, who has suddenly realized you are a person in a world of other persons. Knowing, with relief, that you came out all right from a simple pat on the shoulder.

Watching your children grow and knowing the time is coming soon when you must be prepared to let them go and you hope your love is strong enough to push them out of the nest if you have to.

Making decisions...hundreds of decisions...and each one so important and you're not at all sure that you're right.

Standing silent with aching heart wanting to help them, to warn them, to tell them so much and then, knowing you can't suffer their hurts or make their mistakes for them without harming them more in the long run.

LEARNING TO play baseball, struggling with new math, buying your daughter's first pair of hose, wondering if your son will ever WANT to be clean.

Scrubbing fingerprints off the wall with annoyance and then feeling very glad they're there, after all.

Laughing, crying, hoping, despairing...this is all part of being a mother and, in the quiet moments of your heart, you whisper:

Thank you, God for loaning me these children and giving me this opportunity:

To be a mother.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

Intellectual Authority

By Larry Fuhrmann

Our State Capitol Correspondent

This has been one of those weeks -- the kind where you can go for days trying to find the right words to put thoughts down into writing; and two words, by no means original, came into focus this week in describing what a prominent portion of America's youth are experiencing in a big world made of little men.

You can call it "intellectual agony." It comes from the title of a talk given recently at the University of Texas by Bishop James A. Pike, an outspoken Episcopal churchman whose viewpoints have won disfavor among his colleagues. His talk was titled, "The Intellectual Agony of Christianity Today." In a nutshell, the famed theologian told students that authority is no longer the basis for truth or obedience. Today this respect for authority does not exist. (Bishop Pike was referring to intellectual authority, not necessarily legal authority.)

"Authority is gone. People today decide what is right or wrong on facts and data as viewed in the real world. We see changes taking place and this ability to see changes in the times leaves us fewer things to confirm, but those that we do confirm are seen in the reality of the world."

The most significant thing about Bishop Pike's address is that it can be applied to so many aspects of our entire American culture; intellectual agony does not apply only to religion. It pertains to sociology, to government, to history; more specifically, it involves the Vietnamese War, the Civil Rights movement, the War on Poverty, to name a few.

It is most unfortunate for our nation to be caught in a war that is costing in lives, money and possible economic progress at home. Adding to this is the tragedy that may be centered around the very ideals which American GIs supposedly are dying for overseas.

Facts stack up to show that "God isn't necessarily on our side." They also show that "God isn't necessarily on the side of the Communists, either." The United States may be right in its military commitment to Vietnam; but experts who have studied the problem sometimes proclaim we may be going at the situation in a manner exactly opposite to what is necessary to accomplish our intended ends.

Validity of the statement that the "hottest spots in hell are reserved for those who in times of moral crisis maintain their neutrality" is today being questioned. And there are those Americans who will militantly insist upon absolute endorsement of the Vietnamese War, claiming dissent to be immoral, unpatriotic, un-Christian and tantamount to treason. These labels are prices people have to pay for what today exists as intellectual agony. Dissent does not equal abandonment of American society; perhaps it can be seen more in the light of "growing pains" as generations come to learn that sometimes there is no "right" or "wrong" but only arbitrary standards. Intellectual agony shows itself in an up-and-coming outlook on our country's position in a world of many nations, tongues and philosophies whose existences have as much justification as our own. It is a problem of determining -- without cultural bias -- just who is legitimate and who is not.

This is a question some attempt to answer; and some answers do not always make Americans look like God's chosen people. When a college student, a college professor or a United States Senator, for that matter, questions his country's motives in a war whose origins include no direct assault on American citizens, he is not being unpatriotic. To some minds, such testimony (which takes a lot of guts to stand behind) is tantamount to the highest ideals and morals to which our nation can adhere.

Here is a statement that has the possibility of making some bloodstreams run hot:

"There has never been a just one, never an honorable one (war) -- on the instigator of the war. I can see a million years ahead and this rule will never change in so many as half a dozen instances. The loud little handful -- as usual -- will shout for the war. The pulpit will -- warily and cautiously -- object -- at first; the great, big, dull bulk of the nation will rub its sleepy eyes and try to make out why there should be a war and will say, earnestly and indignantly, 'It is unjust and dishonorable and there is no necessity for it.' Then the handful will shout louder."

A few fair men on the otherside will argue and reason against the war with speech and pen, and at first will have a hearing and be applauded, but it will not last long; those others will shout them, and presently the anti-war audiences will thin out and lose popularity. Before long you will see this curious thing: the speakers stoned from the platform, and free speech strangled by hordes of furious men who in their secret hearts are still at one with those stoned speakers -- as earlier -- but do not dare to say so.

And now the whole nation -- pulpit and all -- will take up the war-cry and shout itself hoarse, and mob any honest man who ventures to open his mouth, and presently such mouths will cease to open. Next the statesmen will invent cheap lies, putting the blame upon the nation that is attacked, and every man will be glad of those conscience-soothing falsities and will diligently study them, and refuse to examine any refutations of them, and thus he will by-and-by convince himself the war is just and will thank God for the better sleep he enjoys after this process of grotesque self-deception."

These words were set down by Mark Twain before the turn of the century; the devil is speaking to an American, showing him how easy it is for him in this world. He calls the American a sheep: "What mutton you are, and how ridiculous!"

Despite one's own personal views on social upheavals on the home front, neither the hawks nor the doves should be so bigoted to call their positions the only justifiable way, the only way of true patriotism.

If patriotism includes a responsibility not only to our fatherland but to our world as well, perhaps we are advancing. It is the fair exchange of ideas that creates a better world -- exchanges in lower grades in schools, in high schools, in colleges, in society as a whole. And a fair exchange includes unpopular as well as popular views.

LITTLEFIELD got some favorable mention in the Dallas News lately via the column of Frank X. Tolbert, who calls Littlefield "one of my home towns."

Frank says Phelps Avenue is a "loafer's paradise."

At any rate, I'm turning this space over to Frank today, with a few excerpts from a column he ran in recent days. He says:

"Anyway, a genuine loafer would love Phelps Avenue. Some years ago, without governmental finance, the citizenry spent a half million dollars turning the downtown into a shopping mall with canopied 'rest areas,' about six of them to a block. These rest areas are like miniatures of the roadside parks along Texas highways. There are flowers, with roses in bloom now, and trees in these main street parks. Soft music is piped all over downtown. Utility lines were placed underground and ornate new sidewalks, gutters and street paving were laid. It's all very restful. And there are no parking meters, and acres of off the street parking.

"LITTLEFIELD is a city of 8,000 about 30 miles west of Lubbock. It is surrounded by lush irrigated farmlands. The multhead pumps of many petroleum wells nod in fields on the outskirts. And there is even one producing well just off Phelps Avenue near the Santa Fe depot.

"When my family moved from the north Panhandle to Littlefield before World War I it was raw, prairie hamlet of a 100 or so inhabitants. And the rangelands of Maj. George Washington Littlefield's 285,000-acre Yellow House Ranch encompassed the village.

"Major Littlefield is said to have made $10 million in cattle in the last decade of the 19th century. And Lord knows how many more millions when most of the ranch was carved up into farms. Yet when the late Stuart McGregor, editor of the Dallas News' Texas

Almanac, asked Major Littlefield to comment on this progress, the old Confederate cavalryman said sadly:

"I wish it was all back in grass." "THE LANDMARKS of Littlefield which I knew in my childhood have been almost completely erased. Even the frame 2-story house where we lived in the early 1920s has been completely remodeled with masonry walls and new wings. It's a funeral home. The old town lake is now called Laguna Park, and among its attractions is another producing oil well.

"THE YELLOW HOUSE ranch headquarters is under a 100-foot-high bluff. And to catch the wind in the old days there was a windmill with a 125-foot tower. I was told at the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce that there are plans to build the 'world's tallest windmill' some place downtown as a tourist attraction."

THE SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

(Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm does some house cleaning this week, he claims.)

Dear editor:

I was cleaning out a stack of old newspapers which had accumulated in a corner of my work room out here and while I was at it the thought occurred, why not clean out some of the old ideas which have stacked up in a corner of my mind, so I thought I would, I will send them to you and you can stack them in some corner somewhere around your office, or throw them out entirely. I'm through with them.

For example, here's one: man is taking the long way around to blow up cities. Instead of developing missiles that'll hurtle halfway around the earth and come down on top of a city, why not drill holes through the earth to fire rockets through and let them explode underneath? Avoid air pollution that way.

Or, why hasn't some insurance company come out with a policy to insure you against not being able to make enough money to pay for the policies you already have?

Los Angeles now has 7 million people and 4 million cars. It's predicted that in a couple of decades it'll have 14 million people and 28 million cars. Ought to be a fine place to find parts for a second-hand car.

I heard a politician in Washington on "Meet the Press" say he was just a country boy trying to get along. Don't city boys ever try to get along?

Casius Clay says he'd rather farm than fight. I'd advise him to wait till his first crop is in before he decides permanently.

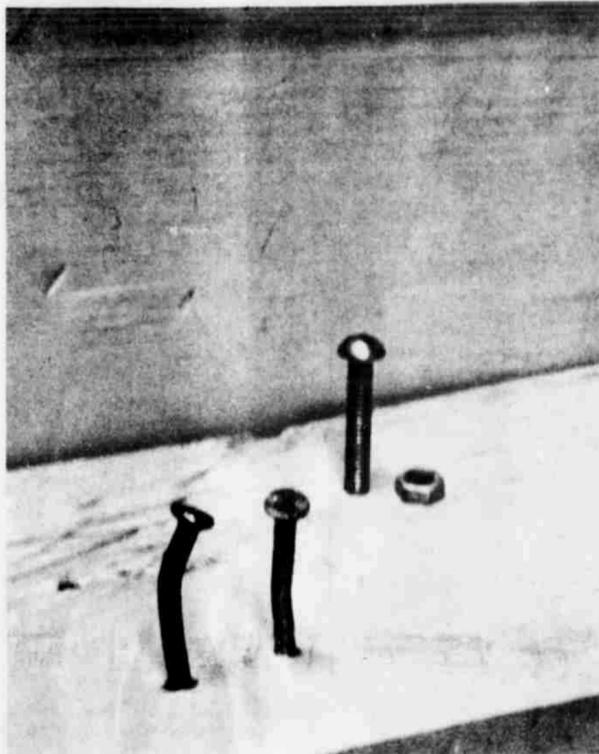

How do you get in touch with the company that makes phonograph records to pay off your debts with?

Since every President nowadays has to have a Presidential Library erected when he retires, have you ever stopped to think how many libraries this country will have 10,000 years from now?

If we get two tax increases for every tax cut, how long will it take a frog to get out of a well?

I could go on, but I'll finish my cleaning some other day.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

I THINK HE'S GOT A SCREW LOOSE!

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

Courtesy Counts

Even though it seems one of the casualties of the times has been common courtesy, there are many persons who still practice and respect this element of human behavior. In the midst of the daily rush of life, and the accompanying strain and stress, there is great need for courtesy. Whenever and wherever people do remember to be courteous, it is obvious to all that courtesy counts. One of the most interesting features about the effects of courtesy is that most of the recipients will respond in kind.

Take Time For Courtesy
Some people feel that they don't have time for being courteous, but this is certainly a faulty conclusion. All of us have time for this very desirable and helpful action. In fact, such general behavior as a constant practice would be a time-saver. Emerson said, "Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy." There are people who seem to fear a rebuff of some sort. They want to be courteous in their associations with others but feel a reluctance. This is a source of much loss to all concerned. If all of us would be courteous as a general rule of action, most of the reaction would be exactly what it should be. There may be a few instances of rebuff, but these can be overlooked. The point is, all of us should follow our good impulses.

Courtesy Lessens Friction
Courtesy is one of the most useful and helpful of all graces and all of us have the capacity and the time to be courteous. The value of courtesy is well expressed in the statement, "Courtesy is to human relationships what oil is to machinery." As oil lessens friction of moving parts in a machine, and improves its operation; courtesy lessens friction that would otherwise exist in human relationships. This is one of the great needs in the operation of our very complex social machinery. Bovee said, "The small courtesies sweeten life; the greater ones ennoble it."

Courtesy Is Christian
When we take a look at the pattern for Christian behavior, which is the highest level of human conduct, we are not surprised to find courtesy has been given a prominent place. The Christian is never rude; never discourteous or impolite. The Divine injunction is given in two words: "Be courteous." This element of human conduct is one of the distinguishing marks of a Christian. It is of great practical value from the standpoint of meaningful human associations. It should begin at home, and be maintained in family relationships.

Basically, courtesy is the way we show our concern for others and for their well-being. There is no justification for rudeness. It is detrimental to all persons concerned; it is a great loss to all of us. It is perhaps one of the most common characteristics of little people, and clearly reveals immature feelings.

Courtesy Can Save Life
It is significant that safety experts tell us common courtesy among motorists would do much to decrease loss of life and property on our city streets and our highways. This conclusion is, obviously, indisputable.

Courtesy Is Important To Personal Success
The importance of courtesy is further emphasized by the conclusion, "personal success is about 5% talent, and 95% ability to get along with others." This is success in private and public life, and is all on the good side of living.

The Countrywoman

By LIBBY MUGGETT

She smells the fresh plowed earth and stoops to run her hands through its richness and cover her feet with its coolness. And she feels very sorry for those people who refuse to ever get a little dirty.

She watches the seeds go down the plastic tube from the planter box into the waiting land. As the warm soil is dug over the top of the row, she thinks how many great hopes, big dreams and pleading prayers are also going into the good earth along with those tiny, tiny seeds.

Dear Editor:
I know you said to tell in 25 words or less why my mom is the greatest, but it takes more words than that to really describe my mom. I took a few lines from a poem I wrote about her two years ago when we were making poetry books and put them on the entry blank, but I thought you might like to see the whole poem.
MY MOM
By Ferris Foley
My mom is just about the greatest gal,
And she is my very best pal;
For when in trouble on her I can depend
To stick with me to the very end.
She plays ball with me and my friends,
And when we're all tired she often sends
To the store for candy and pops;
So you can see why I say "My Mom is tops."

OLTON'S DALE DeBERRY crosses the finish line to nail down the state championship for the Mustangs in the half-mile run last weekend at Austin. DeBerry, who began running the 880 only in mid-season this year, exploded final 100 yards to win easily. His time: 1:55.8.

Olton Takes Top Win

Dale DeBerry of Olton took top honors in the 880-yard run to capture a state victory Saturday as his final 100-yard sprint carried him to a 1:55.8 time.

Fred Koontz also added highlights to the state competition with a third place in the pole vault. Koontz's 13-6 was the highest vault but the two top spots had fewer misses than the Wildcat.

In an interview before the weekend meet, Olton Coach Don Beck stated he thought DeBerry had a good chance to take top spot in the meet. "He has never really been pushed," Beck said.

"and he has a tremendous final kick."

Prior to meeting the state competition, DeBerry ran a 1:57.8 in practice action at Lubbock the preceding Saturday.

Koontz's efforts at the state meet clashed with some tough competition with the first four places being decided by fewer misses at the 13-6 mark. Fifth place man cleared 13-0. In previous meet action Koontz had seen the 13-6 mark but no higher. In practice his vaulting had risen above this mark to a 14-foot effort.

Danny Bench of Amherst took a fifth position in State with a 15.1. In the practice meet he turned 14.5. He qualified for final a 15.3 Friday.

LITTLEFIELD'S FRED KOONTZ prepares for his next attempt in competition at the state track meet last weekend. More than 3,000 were on hand at this time, early in the first afternoon of the meet. Koontz went 13-6, the three others in AAA pole vaulting, but to settle for third place when the top two fewer misses.

SUDAN MILE RELAYERS pass the baton during their race to fourth place in the state track meet at Austin last weekend. The time was 3:27.4 and members of the team were Larry Morgan, Jerry Bellar, Billy Gore and Bellar.

When you look for the most room and the smoothest ride and the best value, you'll end up with a Chevrolet wagon everytime.

Prolet Impala, roomiest in its class. While extra business is perhaps the best reason for buying a Chevrolet wagon, consider, also, these bonuses: Body finish, Chevrolet dependability, flush-and-dry rocker panels and Magic-Mirror finish. Chevelle Malibu, smoother, quieter ride. A Malibu not only gives you coil suspension ride, but the body mountings are shock-cushioned. And Chevelle carries plenty. It opens 54.6 inches, to be exact, 28.5 inches high. Flip the seat down and you've got 86 cubic feet of cargo space for all your gear. Chevelle was built to take a lot. Prolet Nova, best equipped for the money. Vinyl upholstery is standard. Flush-and-dry rocker panels that clean themselves are standard. Separate floor mats beneath each fender to inhibit rust are standard.

Mono-Plate rear suspension to smooth the ride is standard. Price? Below standard.

linear feet of local ready-mix, is estimated at $350.

A liberal figure of $1,500 is listed for approximately 660 yards of rock dust, delivered, with volunteer maintainer and labor. Packing and finish work will be done by volunteers at no cost. An additional 10 per cent for leeway costs of $195 brings the total to $2,145.

Suggestions for possible whittling of rock dust cost, the major expense item, were made by Board members and Lee and Grissom stated they would investigate the possibilities and present more specific figures at a later Board meeting.

Lee commented the track would be "good community business," adding a track meet can bring 400 or 500 people into the city.

He and Grissom explained they are relatively sure unforeseen problems in the rock dust track could be corrected by the use of oil. The track is expected to be almost maintenance free, they explained, requiring only watering and packing at intervals.

Should unsatisfactory aspects be revealed with usage of the track, Lee and Grissom commented nothing would be lost as the rock dust mixture would provide excellent base for a cinders topping. Ample depth for additional finish would be available due to the eight-inch curbing.

Approval of the school's portion of construction cost gave a green light for a fund-raising campaign of private subscriptions to begin.

In other business, the Board agreed to begin proposed summer maintenance projects with the exception of two items tabled for more specific data and cost estimates. Supt. Manning is to present the requested information at the next regular meeting set June 20.

Maintenance items pending are construction of a patio at the high school and replacing switches on six light towers at the athletic stadium.

A Board of Equalization was appointed pending acceptance of the appointees. Names of the members will be announced upon completion of negotiations. First meeting date was scheduled June 21.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Opal Lavender, fourth-grade teacher, Elementary I; Mrs. Barbara Alexander, 6th grade, Elementary II, and Mrs. Patricia Bean, P. E., high school.

Teachers hired were Mrs. Georgia Fay Thompson for 1967-68, elementary grades; James Duncan, high school basketball coach, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Trees. Mrs. Trees, who was graduated from Texas Tech last year, has been teaching at Ralls and will be a sixth-grade teacher. Trees will be graduated from Tech in May and is to be eighth grade coach.

Mrs. Thompson has been employed with Littlefield schools in prior years but is not on the staff this year. Duncan, age 35, currently is basketball coach at Mt. Pleasant High School.

Securing a science teacher, math teacher and an additional principal was discussed and further information on the proposal is expected to be available at the next meeting.

Financial statement was presented to the Board and approved.

Paul I. Jones, assistant administrator, distributed copies of an Education Media Center report of the Joint Committee's first meeting at Lubbock, stating Nat Williams, superintendent of Lubbock High School, was elected chairman. Troy Armes of Littlefield is one of seven men to be recommended as a director of the Center.

Take courage and wait on the Lord

And winning shall be my reward."

The day came when Mrs. Poteet determinedly told her husband, "I must get well. I must take care of my children."

A discussion between husband and wife resulted in the decision to try a series of therapy treatments. That same month, October, treatments began.

Meanwhile, daily Mrs. Poteet read her poem which now had become a vital part of her existence.

After several treatments, she was able to sit up for brief intervals.

Her husband, who is associated with Farmer's Fertilizer Chemical Co. at Spade, was away from home most of each day doing the duties of his job. School was underway and the children were in classes. Mrs. Poteet was alone with no way to pass the time and plagued with a need for accomplishment.

The poem had said, "Let me be strong and do my best."

So — although she could sit upright only a few minutes at a time, she began to sew, making the needed school dresses for her two daughters.

By April of 1967, Mrs. Poteet was improved to the degree that she was able to drive her car short distances and tend to more and more of her family's needs. But still she could not swallow. Only liquids could pass through her throat.

But each day strengthened her courage and faith — and in turn, the courage and faith gave her added strength.

Now, at last, the long, hard fight has come to a close — it ended last Sunday, to be exact, with the delectable squash.

And what is Mrs. Poteet's immediate reaction? "At last I'm alive again! And I'm so anxious to begin teaching again!"

You see, Mrs. Poteet is a homemaking teacher and loves her profession dearly.

Mrs. Poteet, who earned her B.S. degree from WTSU at Canyon, began her teaching career at Spade in 1943. She then taught four years at Springlake and returned to Spade after her marriage in 1947, resuming her teaching at Spade another four years.

Born at Earth May 7, 1921, she moved with her family to Lazbuddy at the age of eight where she later was graduated from high school. Mrs. Poteet, whose given name is Hortense, is the daughter of Mrs. Nora Hudnall of Lubbock and the late Delbert Hudnall.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.H. Poteet of Spade. The "Queen for a Day" and her husband have three children, Tony 14, Dagnar 12 and Regina 11.

Regina, who wrote the honor winning letter, is an active youngster with a pleasant, laughing disposition, her mother says.

"She loves school," Mrs. Poteet said Regina characteristically wants to share with others, always wants to help. "If she buys a penny's worth of candy, she will share it."

Her mother said Regina "reads a lot. She writes stories and poems and loves to tell the stories." Recently Regina wrote a one-act play which her fifth grade presented for the other fifth-graders in Elementary II.

The trials and tribulations of twelve years of schooling and especially four years of high school, are many and varied. To meet each challenge with knowledge and to meet each deadline with punctuality requires more than the efforts of a group of students. It requires the help and support of someone willing to give unselfishly of himself and his time that others may benefit. Just such a person is W. C. Risinger.

Sung Jae Chyo Speaks To Youth For Christ

Sung Jae Chyo, a West Texas University graduate student from Korea, was the guest speaker at a breakfast on Sunday morning at the Crescent

House given by Youth for Christ of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Chyo is from Taegu, Korea. After completing his secondary education he came to America by way of a freighter. Without outside assistance whatsoever, he worked his way through West Texas University, receiving his BS degree in Economics in May, 1966. At present he is working toward a Masters in Economics.

Mr. Chyo's subject on Sunday morning was the effect of Christian missions on the culture of a country. He himself is a product of American missions, his parents having been converted to Christianity by Presbyterian missionaries before his birth. Growing up in a Christian home, he is well grounded in the principles of Christianity and feels they do more to impart the American way of life... especially American democracy... than any other policy. His conclusion was that Christians should support missions much more zealously since other philosophies, notably Communism, are exerting a greater influence year by year.

Mr. Chyo and Miss Pricilla Herrera, a junior student at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, whose home is Espanola, New Mexico, were weekend house guests of the Ralph Nelsons.
