

Area Cheered By Showers; .32 Inch Here

Showers as welcome as any ever to fall here quickened hopes in the parched, sand-lashed Big Spring area Saturday evening.

S. P. Jones Is Candidate For City Council

Deadline for filing for City Commissioner at midnight Saturday found one additional hat in the ring.

It belonged to S. P. Jones, who tossed it there Friday afternoon in filing his name as a candidate with C. R. McClenny, city secretary.

Until that time, only the three incumbents—Willard Sullivan, Jack Y. Smith and Cecil D. McDonald—whose two-year terms expire in April had asked for re-election.

Jones, a resident of Big Spring for nearly a quarter of a century, came here in 1928 to establish a lumber business he has operated continuously since.

For three years he served as a member of the Big Spring Independent School Board and for a number of years was chairman of the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church.

"In entering the race for the place on the City Commission," said Jones, "I do so in the belief that business and construction experience qualify me to serve if the people see fit to elect me."

"I certainly have no ill will toward anyone, and my whole desire is to offer my services. After these years I am slackening off my business responsibilities and will have and will give time that the job of Commissioner requires."

Weather managed to fit into its usual "normal" role. There was heavy spring and crisp cold on the one hand, snow and then dense dust on the other. Saturday evening's robust drizzle with a hearty clap of thunder thrown in rounded out the menu.

Condens Petroleum Corporation and associates announced plans during the week to erect a six-story office building at Second and Scurry. Such a structure has been a community objective for so long that it is almost difficult to grasp its realization.

This announcement, incidentally, came at the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet, an event of notable success. Those attending not only came away commenting on the address of Wm. J. Murray, State Railroad Commission chairman, but upon the meal—and favorably, too.

Inclusion of the Howard County Courthouse job in the government's third quarter Meel allotment was confirmed during the week. The Commissioners Court is expected to begin setting wheels in motion this week toward putting the project into motion once more.

City employees doubtless considered the week one of good news. The tentative budget under study by the City Commission contains an across-the-board salary hike of five per cent.

THE WEATHER

Reports from neighboring communities told of similar amounts. At Coahoma a "nice shower," including a hard downpour for a few moments, left a small lake near the post office. Roadside ditches were standing in water along U.S. 80 most of the way from Big Spring to Coahoma.

Mist showers received at Stanton Saturday evening was estimated at over a quarter of an inch. Most of it came in one shower that lasted for about 30 minutes.

A slow shower fell for an hour at Foran, and it was still drizzling there at 9 p.m.

The drizzle reached Colorado City before 5 p.m., following light sprinkles which fell intermittently through the day.

The Weather Bureau's measurement in Big Spring showed .31 of an inch for the evening shower, and .01 for a brief sprinkle at noon Saturday.

It was still sprinkling when the 8:30 p.m. measurement was taken.

The total of .32 of an inch almost matched the combined rainfall of January and February. The Weather Bureau's total for January was 1.4 of an inch, while February produced .23 of an inch.

GEN. JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT

War-Scarred Hero To Be Guest Of City Monday

A war-scarred old military cavalryman will be Big Spring's guest tomorrow.

Gen. Jonathan Mayhew Wainwright, USA (ret.), who stands at the pinnacle of the nation's esteem, will be here as an advocate of the Red Cross program, and to visit a group for which he has great devotion—hospitalized veterans.

He will be speaker at the Red Cross chapter's luncheon at noon Saturday, which marks the formal start of the 1952 fund campaign, and a capacity crowd of 300 is due.

Route of the review Monday morning, in which General Wainwright will be honored, has been announced as follows:

Enter business district from airport on West Third, and proceed eastward down Third to Johnson; north on Johnson to Second; west on Second to Scurry; north on Scurry to First; east on First to Main; south on Main to Fourth; east on Fourth to Runnels; and south on Runnels to Settles Hotel.

The review is scheduled for around 11 a.m. or shortly afterward. General Wainwright, with Mayor G. W. Dabney as his host, will ride in an open car.

To jam the Settles ballroom to hear him. During the afternoon he will visit the Veterans Administration Hospital, and then will be entertained informally by a group of business men Monday evening. He is to remain here overnight, then visit the new Big Spring Air Force Base Tuesday morning before flying back to his home in San Antonio.

General Wainwright is scheduled to arrive by plane about 11 a.m., will be met by Mayor G. W. Dabney, Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz of the Air Force and other dignitaries. He will be escorted through the downtown streets in a brief informal parade, on his way to the Red Cross engagement.

His luncheon talk, scheduled for 12:45 p.m., will be broadcast over both KBST and KTXCL.

Several local men who were taken prisoner in the Philippines will be honor guests at the luncheon, including Martin Binder, Elbert Fanning, Col. L. P. Noel, Major Robert W. Ingram, Capt. Donald M. Marsh and Lt. James M. Griffith. AR but the first two are attached to the Air Force Base here.

Wainwright has been retired from the military since August, 1947, but has remained active in various business efforts, including See WAINWRIGHT, Pg. 5, Col. 4

'KICKOFF' MONDAY 300 Volunteers In Red Cross Drive

More than 300 workers—by far the largest volunteer organization ever built up for any similar drive—will merge forces Monday in the annual Howard-Glassecock Red Cross campaign.

Their efforts will be touched off at a luncheon session at noon at the Settles Hotel, where one of the nation's outstanding military figures—Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright—will relate his interest in the Red Cross program.

Then, workers will be given working kits and prospect cards, with instructions to get the job done thoroughly and promptly. Some divisions will be expecting reports back by Thursday.

Everything is in readiness for what looks like a successful campaign, said General Chairman Adolph Swartz Saturday. "The response to our organizational efforts has been so gratifying that we are most confident that Howard and Glassecock Counties will be canvassed as never before," he said. "And we further are confident that all the people will recognize their responsibility to the great work of the Red Cross in giving without delay and with a generous heart."

The local organization's quota is $15,000. Activities with the new Air Force Base and the Veterans Hospital, call for a stepped-up program, along with all other phases of the Red Cross work.

Division chiefs under Swartz include Jimmy Beale, who is directing 15 teams (150 men) in a special-gift solicitation; Fred Keating, who is directing several dozen volunteers in the rural areas; J. F. Jones, in charge of the Glassecock County organization; Mrs. E. V. Swift, heading up the women's residential solicitation; Dick Simpson, in charge of a crew of business, industry and employ solicitors; and Truman Jones, first assistant to Swartz who is helping in the organization on several fronts.

All these captains' workers will make up the crowd of the luncheon. Organization was completed Friday in the business, industry and employ division, with these volunteers listed:

W. L. Mead, E. T. Tucker, Larson, Lloyd, Truett, Thomas, F. D. Rogers, Doc Wilkinson, Manley Cook, J. H. Dehen, Cecil Thixton, Mrs. Grady Duling, Joe Williams, Coy Nalley, Murph Thorp, Worth Peeler, Bob Henderson, Sam Mellinger, John Stanley and Ben Hodges.

This group expects to contact the people in 429 businesses, said Swartz. "Our goal is to see that every person throughout the chapter area has an opportunity to give to the Red Cross," he said.

Arrangements were in charge of the Eberley Funeral Home.

Truman Seeks Public Support In Fight On Foreign Aid Program

Pledge Of Aid To W. Germany To Be Sought

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—The Truman administration will ask the Senate in a few weeks to pledge help to Western Germany in case she is attacked.

The idea is to extend to the West Germans the security guarantees in the North Atlantic Defense Treaty.

The purpose of this action by the United States, and parallel actions by other Atlantic Alliance members, will be to give the Germans the security guarantees they have asked as part of their price for rearmament.

The guarantees would not become effective except on a reciprocal basis—that is, Western Germany would have to promise that it also would consider an attack upon any member of the North Atlantic Alliance as an attack upon itself.

The device for accomplishing this linking of West Germany with the Atlantic Alliance, officials said today, will be a protocol to the North Atlantic Treaty. The protocol will state in effect that the security provisions of the Atlantic Alliance are effective also for the members of the European Defense Community (EDC) provided they make the same commitment to the North Atlantic Treaty nations.

This is what Secretary of State Acheson was talking about last night in his radio report on the recent conference he held with Western European and North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) leaders at London and Lisbon.

Referring to the EDC and NATO, Acheson said "security guarantees between the two organizations now agreed upon will be presented to legislative bodies." This, he added, will tie West Germany into the whole defense scheme for Western Europe.

The deadlock was heightened by fresh disagreements on terms for prisoner exchange. The United Nations Command accused the Reds of "repudiating their agreement" to exchange supplementary data on war prisoners.

Despite their adamant stands, neither side showed any inclination to break off the talks, now nearing the eight months mark.

Negotiators scheduled another round of meetings in Panmunjom for 11 a.m., today (8 p.m., Saturday EST).

The Communists Saturday informed Allied staff officers they would "eternally reject" the Allied refusal to consider Russia as eligible for the six-nation Neutral Supervisory Commission to police a Korean truce.

Col. Don O. Darrow, U.S. staff officer handling the truce supervision talks, had notified the Reds Thursday that he had been instructed to turn down Russia "formally, unequivocally and with full authorization."

At Friday's meeting Darrow refused to withdraw his statement on the "demand" of North Korean Col. Cheng-Chun Sun.

"Your side doesn't demand anything from our side," Darrow said.

Chang then stated that unless one of two alternative suggestions proposed by the Communists were adopted by the U.N. Command "there will be no other solution."

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The President is going to nominate General Hoyt Vandenberg for a further one year term as Chief of Staff of the Air Force, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short announced today.

General Curtis LeMay will be nominated for the post of Vice Chief of Staff, Short said.

There had been published reports that LeMay, cigar-chewing, taciturn, head of the Strategic Air Command, was to get the top appointment.

Charged with homicide was Barry (Bernie) Robinson, 23. He had been questioned throughout the day after, police said, he admitted taking the girl's body to Connecticut in the trunk.

Robinson had been quoted as saying the girl mother of a 16-month-old daughter, had died in a Harlem apartment after a narcotics party.

Police described Robinson as a seller of narcotics.

They said the brief and checked life of Mrs. Joanne Barbara Scott included:

Use of narcotics. Marriage, motherhood and separation from her Milwaukee Negro husband, Gerald Scott, 20. A runaway trip to New York with another man.

Then death in a Harlem dive and the stuffing of her body into the battered old trunk.

Her quest for excitement was cited as a reason when the journey took her body to a palatial estate in Greenwich, Conn. The trunk was dumped over a wall onto the property of Dr. James C. Greenway, founder and retired director of the Yale University Department of Health.

ADDING INSULT TO INJURY

J. B. Henry suffered a shot wound in his leg Saturday evening, then got charged with carrying a weapon.

He was handling a .25 automatic pistol at the bus station when he dropped it and the weapon discharged, said police. The shot inflicted a leg flesh wound and he was given emergency treatment at the Cowper Hospital.

Officers then returned him to the police station and booked him on the weapons carrying charge.

Truce Talks Still In Tight Deadlock

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR MUNSAN, Sunday, March 2 (AP)—Communists and Allied negotiators locked horns Saturday in another unyielding struggle over Russian participation as a Korean truce inspector. Neither side gave an inch.

The deadlock was heightened by fresh disagreements on terms for prisoner exchange. The United Nations Command accused the Reds of "repudiating their agreement" to exchange supplementary data on war prisoners.

Despite their adamant stands, neither side showed any inclination to break off the talks, now nearing the eight months mark.

There were no marks of violence, except for bruises that might have been inflicted in cramming the body, head against knees, into the trunk.

But puncture marks on one arm led police to suspect immediately that narcotics were in the back ground.

Slates Radio Talk For Thursday Night

By RUSSELL BRINES WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)— President Truman will carry to the country his fight for a $7,900,000,000 foreign aid program with a nation-wide radio and television address Thursday night.

He is expected to appeal for public support in what may be a fight with a critical Congress.

At about the same time, Congress is expected to receive the President's program for new overseas military and economic aid, calling for about $7,900,000,000 in fresh appropriations.

The President will speak over all major radio and television networks between 10:30 and 11 p.m. (EST) Thursday, the White House announced.

He is expected to underline Secretary of State Acheson's contention that the foreign aid program "deserves our utmost support."

Acheson made the statement last night after concluding a broadcast summary of steps taken in recent weeks to hasten unified defenses for Western Europe.

The secretary's report brought some congressional predictions that the President faced a battle to get approval for his full program.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said "I believe reductions can be made in the foreign military program."

Mr. O'Mahoney, who has proposed a $10-billion slash in government spending, said he favored cutting foreign military funds ahead of economic assistance.

Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and delegate to the Paris U.N. conference, said the administration would be "doing well" to get approval for seven billion dollars in foreign aid.

Last year Congress cut $1,300,000,000 from the President's request for $8.1-billion in foreign assistance.

Both Democratic and Republican members of the committee expressed what one termed "cautious optimism" over Acheson's report of Europe's progress toward unification. The secretary briefed the committee Thursday, shortly after his return from Lisbon.

But legislators of both parties said they still wanted to learn how much the United States would have to pay for the defense blueprints drawn up at the Lisbon conference of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Mansfield, a member of the committee, told a reporter that this session year Congress is "thinking of economy" and will scrutinize the foreign aid requests closely.

Freight Cars Burn After Derailment

Nineteen cars of a Missouri-Kansas-Texas freight train burst into flame Friday night after they were derailed near Nocona and burned all night long.

Wearily firemen, who battled grass fires in Erath and Montague Counties Friday, confined the blaze to the train and kept it from setting dry grass.

The cars were part of a 123-car freight train. Twenty cars were derailed about 11:30 p.m. The train was en route from Wichita Falls to Denison. It was loaded with grain, butane and other petroleum products.

Bowie firemen, hundreds of volunteers and the Nocona fire fighters controlled the grass blazes which threatened the towns of Bluff Dale in Erath County and Montague in Montague County.

City officials of Montague called for help when the fire swept near the town after eating thousands of acres of grassland between Bowie and Nocona.

The blaze was halted at the city's edge.

Gusty winds from a norther that passed through during the day fanned the blaze across several ranches and farms. Ranches damaged included those owned by Duke McCall and Joe Benton.

High School Plant Is Accepted, Student Transfer Set Tuesday

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District accepted the new senior high school plant Friday evening.

This action, subject to a few odds and ends of cleanup and adjustment, put machinery into operation for transfer into the million dollar structure.

Unless weather and other conditions interfere, the change over for the top three grades of the high school is set for Tuesday morning.

Dedication of the plant, which covers more than three city blocks on Eleventh Place from Goliad to Owens, is set for March 23. Public inspection of the building will be held at that time, said Marvin Miller, board president.

Principal Roy Worley and his administrative staff were busy Saturday with moving chores. Files were being separated as to senior and junior high divisions and the records moved to the new building.

Previously, Business Manager, Pat Murphy and members of the maintenance staff had installed most of the furniture and furnishings for the high school as workmen completed various rooms and sections.

One of the big question marks upon which the actual transfer hinges is the topping of driveways around the building. Unless this is completed by Tuesday, W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, said that he might order the move held up. He said that he did not wish to run the risk of having students unintentionally track asphalt into the new plant.

Worley planned a series of familiarization tours for the senior, junior and sophomore classes Monday.

"We plan to take the seniors over Monday morning to inspect the new buildings and to learn the location of various utilities and rooms. Then we will escort the juniors through and in the afternoon the sophomores. In this manner we hope to reduce if not eliminate confusion resulting from looking around when we actually transfer, probably on Tuesday," declared Worley.

No time has been set for the transfer of numbers of seventh graders in the various elementary school buildings to the present high school building, which will become the junior high plant. This may be a week hence.

The board's acceptance was at a called meeting at the new building Friday evening. Olen Pickett, architect, prepared a list of the exceptions of minor items which the contractors will finish as promptly as possible.

Included in the new layout, which replaces the high school building erected 35 years ago and added to in 1928, are units for the auditorium; band and practice rooms; home, natural and business sciences; offices; conventional classrooms; library and study hall; music appreciation (choir room); industrial education shop and classroom building; gymnasium and dressing rooms; cafeteria-small auditorium; and power plant.

Several Traffic Crashes Reported To City Police

Police said Conrado Moreno Madrid, 209 N. Bell, and Charles B. Payne of Lubbock, were the motorists involved in a traffic mishap at the West Viaduct, Friday afternoon.

Another collision at 106 Scurry involved cars operated by Walter Judd Goodson, 805 Douglas, and Vera A. Mayers, Big Spring Trailer Courts, according to police records.

A third mishap reported to police involved cars driven by Ben T. Harris, 700 Abram, and B. S. Hubbard, 2206 Nolan, and occurred at 20th and Gregg.

Charles Coffey, 608 NE 9th, told police his car had been sideswiped while parked at that address. He said the car struck it left light blue paint marks on his car.

A 1949 Ford reported stolen by W. B. Neville was located near Stanton Friday night.

Ranger Might Be Suspended For Attack

HOUSTON, March 1 (AP) — Suspension of Ranger Johnny Kievenhagen was predicted today by a top member of the Texas Bar Association.

"I'll bet you Ranger Kievenhagen will be suspended," Attorney W. N. Bonner, chairman of the grievance committee of the Texas Bar Association said.

His comment came in the wake of the beating of Attorney Percy Foreman by Harris County Sheriff C. V. Kern and Ranger Kievenhagen in a San Angelo courtroom yesterday after the Diego Carlinio trial.

"An incident such as this will not be overlooked by the bar," Bonner declared.

He said as chairman of the grievance committee, his concern was chiefly with the conduct of attorneys — and not other public officials.

"However, I'll stake my reputation on the fact that this matter will come up before the State Bar meeting here on July 3, 4, and 5.

"It shouldn't happen — and that's all there is to it. A Ranger and a Texas sheriff should know better than to attack an attorney."

"It appears that this happened because the Ranger and the sheriff were not pleased with the verdict."

Carlinio was acquitted of the 1949 slaying here of Vincent Vallone,

Reds Too High In Sky To Accomplish Much

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Reporter

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP) — Red China's made-in-Russia air force is staying so high in the sky that it is failing to accomplish its mission in Korea.

That is the conclusion of Defense Department authorities, pilots and other experts recently returned from the battle area.

The Reds have 900 or more MIG-15 fighters in the theater. They roam the upper altitudes over the 100-mile-wide battle zone in great numbers. But only with comparative rarity—despite the advantage of attack from above—do they descend any more to the flight-level of the F-86 Sabre jet or other United Nations aircraft.

"The Red fliers don't attack our bases or supply lines, for they've been warned that we would be forced to retaliate with strikes into Manchuria," one observer said.

"They stay up there, trying to lure our planes up to 40,000 feet where they have much the advantage."

"Their mission is definitely defensive—they can't do anything decisive about our interdiction operations—the cutting of enemy supply lines—when they stay way up there."

The MIGs have forced B-29s to operate only at night, but have not seriously affected the U.N. tactical mission—the interruption of supply lines. The Reds have also failed in their attempt to set up air bases in Korea.

"What the Russians are doing, though, is training large numbers of pilots in jet flying and, to some extent, in jet combat," the observer said.

Recently America's greatest jet ace, Maj. George A. Davis, was quoted as saying that "the MIGs are so much better than the Sabres that something must be done."

"But we have jet engines of far higher thrust in production and development, as we must assume they have," said Vandenberg.

"All airplanes are a compromise of fighting characteristics. The MIG-15 and the F-86 are roughly in the same general area of technical development."

Vandenberg says the Reds have fighters superior to the MIG-15, but they have not yet appeared in numbers.

Most Sabre jet pilots believe their plane is of better aerodynamic design than the MIG. As evidence of this, they cite a number of instances in which an F-86 has dived away from a MIG or has pursued and caught a MIG and sent it out of control. The Russian-made planes, ruggedly built though they are, go out of control as they approach the speed of sound, the American fliers report.

Interdiction, fortunately, is a low-altitude job. Tree-skipping F-84 Thunderjets, F-80 Shooting Stars and other planes go on shooting up railroads and truck convoys while Sabre jets overhead keep an eye on the Comies upstarts.

In combat with the MIGs, the F-86s have been scoring better than 7 to 1. At the last count the Sabre jets had shot down 168 MIG-15s, at a cost of 23 F-86s. The burden of MIG combat has fallen upon the two fighter wings in Korea, about 150 F-86s.

The MIG-15 is equipped with pilot armor and ejection seats. MIG pilots have been seen using ribbon-type parachutes, a high-speed bail-out device developed by the Germans.

The MIG-15 was designed as an interceptor, presumably to knock down B-29s and other high-altitude bombers. It has a .37-millimeter cannon in the belly and two .25-millimeter wing cannons. But Vandenberg says:

"When you add large caliber armament to an aircraft, the number of rounds that you can fire is strictly limited. This requires increased accuracy, which is difficult at high speeds. To date, our 50-caliber machine gun has proved superior to the Russian-installed cannon of the MIG-15."

That's the view of the top ace, too. Shortly before he was shot down, Davis remarked:

"The radar gun sight and the rapid rate of fire of our 50-caliber machine guns makes the biggest difference in combat between 86s and the MIG."

"We need a heavier projectile and more range in our guns, but I wouldn't trade our guns for anything that fires slower."

"Until we can get the same rate of fire in a heavier gun, I'll stick with the 50-caliber."

31 New Casualties In Korean Report

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP) — The Defense Department today identified 31 more battle casualties in Korea in a new list (No. 511) that reported three killed, 23 wounded and five injured.

Among the new casualties were a wealthy night club owner and gambler.

Kern charged that Foreman, Carlinio's defense attorney, called him "everything in the books."

"I hit him just once," Kern said. Gene Morrow, a member of the jury that heard the Carlinio case, said he saw "nine or ten blows struck."

Another 'General M'Arthur' Put On Wisconsin Ticket

MADISON, Wis., March 1 (AP) — The name of General McArthur, Negro employe of a Chicago packing firm, has been filed as a Republican presidential candidate in the April 1 Wisconsin primary.

His name was filed yesterday by Lar Daly, also of Chicago, who described himself as a supporter of Gen. Douglas MacArthur for President.

Daly filed the names of only two delegate candidates instead of the full slate of 30 delegates allowed Wisconsin at the Republican National Convention. Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman accepted General McArthur's name pending an attorney general's ruling.

Under Wisconsin law, no one can be entered as a presidential candidate unless he files a statement of consent for the use of his name.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur has declined to file such a statement but his supporters have entered a slate headed by Grant Ritter, Beloit, as a favorite son candidate.

Daly presented a statement of consent signed by General McArthur who, he said, is 42 years old, married, father of eight children, and employed as a tank inspector for a meat packing firm.

Shivers Says Russell Might Be A Southerner Who Can Win

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, March 1 (AP)—Gov. Shivers said today a Southerner could win the Democratic presidential nomination and again hinted at a party bolt if President Truman is nominated.

He admitted it would be difficult for a Southerner to gain the nomination, but said Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) is one of the men who could turn the trick.

He said it would take "very unusual" circumstances to force him into a bolt, whether Truman's re-nomination would be enough to make Texas bolt, he would not predict.

He said Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) and Gov. Stevenson, Illinois, might be acceptable nominees if they would quit waiting for permission from Truman to run.

Shivers said he personally favors Russell, but he still wants an un-instructed Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

"If you stay un-instructed, you are free to do more trading," he said at a press conference.

Asked if he considered nomination of a Southerner improbable, Shivers replied:

"I'd say it makes it much more difficult—but not impossible. Certainly, it hasn't been in the realm of possibility in many years."

"Suppose Russell got all the South and a few of the other states. He might get 250 to 300 (convention) votes, for instance. That's a pretty sizeable bloc to go there with," he said.

A reporter asked if Shivers saw any truth in a charge by Fagot Dickson, executive director of the Loyal Democrats of Texas, that Russell is a "blind for the Dixiecrat movement."

"Oh, of course not," snorted Shivers. "Mr. Dickson, I'm sure, ought to know better than that. Just because a man wants to run against his (Dickson's) favorite candidate is no reason to brand him something he isn't."

(Shivers has described the faction headed by Dickson as "Trumancrats" but Dickson has insisted the Loyal Democrats will support whoever the party nominates.)

Dickson said today he will bring what he called the plot of the Dixiecrats to capture the Texas electoral vote into the open in a state-wide radio talk Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

He said his speech will be "the opening gun of the fight to elect Democrats rather than Dixiecrats and Republicans as your delegates x x x."

Shivers re-emphasized his opposition to Truman. He said he did not think Truman would ask renomination, and hoped he would not do so.

Military Spending Coming Under Close Investigation

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Four congressional committees have placed America's world-wide military structure under the closest public audit in recent years.

Investigators have probed everything from the cost of shoes to airplanes at the committees, often openly competing with each other, search for waste in the military establishment.

The legislators have made it plain they are just beginning.

The committees and their most recent sessions are:

1. The Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) Senate Preparedness Committee learned that workers for a super-secret airbase "near the North Pole" had collected three million dollars in pay before reaching the job.
2. The Hardy (D-Va.) House expenditures subcommittee reported that between 25 and 50 million dollars have been lost by waste, kickbacks and price-boosting in the construction of North African airfields.
3. The Bonner (D-NC) House expenditures subcommittee said that despite unification, the Air Force was planning to establish its own supply system and other special services at an added cost "running into the billions."
4. The Hebert (D-La.) House Armed Services subcommittee reported the armed forces were spending millions of dollars unnecessarily through competitive buying practices and "mismanagement" of supply systems.

In general, the Johnson and

Hardy groups are concerned now with exploring the cost and methods of constructing overseas airbases.

The Bonner and Hebert committees are probing the entire intricate system of purchasing military supplies. Both groups contend that vast savings are possible by establishment of a single purchasing agency to buy all military requirements.

Military officials, summoned to testify at public hearings, have countered some of the charges brought by various committees. But they have not answered all criticism directed at their management.

If And When The Rains Come

Butwarking against that happy day if and when rains again pour down, the City of Big Spring is raising two detention dams in foothill country in the southwest part of the city. Massive earthen embankments, 35 feet high and more than 300 feet long, are due to retard water and protect the lowland sections in western Big Spring. Note height of the west dam in comparison to the car and the 10-foot service outlet.

PROJECTS NEAR COMPLETION

Retention Dams Will Protect Lowlands When Rains Come

Now nearing completion are two massive earthen dams designed to plug off flash flooding of the lowlands of western Big Spring.

One of these two structures is finished, except for its emergency spillway, and the other is within five feet of its maximum height. At their present state, they probably could take care of any down-pour which might occur.

At service spillway level, the two detention dams will impound more than 25,000,000 gallons of water draining from the rugged terrain as far south as scenic Mountain.

The plan is to trap the water in the deep basins and let it out gradually. Formerly, run-off, aggravated by the steep gradient, rolled down through western Big Spring in regular torrents. Frequently traffic has been stalled on U. S. 80, occasionally homes and businesses have been flooded, and always extensive street damage has been inflicted.

Simultaneously with the construction of the dams, the City has covered the ugly scars of a deep and dangerous ditch on San Antonio Street, and other re-shaping likely will follow below the structures.

Cost of the two basins and facilities will range between $19,000 and $19,500. This is based on a 50-cents per cubic yard bid by Caldwell and Strickland for 35,300 cubic yards of wetted and rolled embankment, plus 1,160 cubic yards of excavated core trench, and around $250 for site clearing.

Dam No. 1, located at the south end of Galveston Street, is 35 feet high and 315 feet long. It is 180 feet wide at the base and eight feet at the top, calling for a 2-1 back slope and 3-1 front slope. Cubic yardage is 15,300. The site contains 5 1/2 acres and at service spillway level 5.39 acres would be inundated. This would impound 39.5 acre feet of water, or slightly in excess of 13,000,000 gallons.

Dam No. 2 is situated at the end of Magnolia Street, one street west of Abrams and immediately south of the Odd Fellows Hall. Dam proportions are identical with No. 1, except that it is of dug-log design and stretches 355 feet in length, therefore calling for 18,000 cubic yards of embankment. To this is added 3,000 cubic yards of embankment to protect property on the east side of the basin. It also would impound around 13,000,000 gallons at service spillway level.

Both projects have east iron outlets which function automatically. The opening on the basin floor is six-inches in diameter. When water attains a height of 10 feet, it pours down the 12-inch service spillway opening. Should run-off come faster than this outlet could discharge, the structures could hold back two or three times that volume of water before it cascaded around emergency spillway on the west and over the structure on the east.

The City has three other detention dams in operation. One is located at Main and 13th, another at Gregg and 14th, protecting the downtown area; and the old Bird-well dam north of 10th and east of Gollad to hold back flood waters from the eastern part of the city.

Race Develops In Mitchell Co. For Judgeship

COLORADO CITY, March 1.—Announcement of Ross Hargrove, 46-year-old stock farmer, as a candidate for county judge Saturday gave Mitchell County its first contested political race.

Hargrove is a resident of the Spade community south of Colorado City and has served that area as county commissioner for 10 years. The incumbent, Sam Bullock, is completing his second term and has announced that he will be a candidate for re-election.

Other Mitchell County officials who have announced for re-election, none of them opponents, are: Gilbert Leach, county clerk; Harry Pond, district clerk; Martin Dobbs, tax assessor-collector; Eldon Mahon, district attorney; Dick Gregory Jr., sheriff; Jim Bodine, W. N. Bacon, and J. C. Northcutt, county commissioners; W. J. Chesney, justice of the peace; and Louise Hardison, county treasurer. Chesney and Miss Hardison were appointed to fill unexpired terms and are seeking their first elective terms to their respective offices.

Another Losing Week In Market

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—The pressure of political troubles abroad and economic woes at home combined to keep the stock market depressed this week.

This is the fifth straight week that the market has shown a net loss since it attained a 21-year peak late in January.

The loss this week was comparatively small, only 30 cents as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks. The market was a speck higher today with the average advancing 20 cents to $98.10.

The five most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange this week were American & Foreign Power off 7-16 at 5-16, Northern Pacific off 1/4 at 70 1/2, Benguet Consolidated Mining up 1/4 at 1 1/4, United Corp. up 1/4 at 5 1/4, and American Telephone up 1/4 at 155.

State Construction Figures Below That Of Preceding Week

AUSTIN, March 1 (AP)—Non-residential and residential construction contracts ran neck-and-neck this week, with all building awards totaling $17,959,173.

Non-residential lettings totaled $87,852, reported the Texas Comptroller, trade journal. Residential contracts were only slightly less at $32,750. Engineering work added $200,021.

Construction activity dropped more than 30 1/2 million from the previous week's total of $24,625,063. The year's accumulative figure was $112,718,547.

Bertha Rene Timmons, Negro woman, was arrested by city police and charged with murder. She was being held on $4,000 bond after waiving examining trial Saturday morning.

Justice of the Peace W. O. Leonard said Hicks died from a stab wound in the heart.

Officers said the victim was brought to a hospital by two unidentified men shortly after 11 p. m., but Hicks was dead by the time a doctor reached him a few moments later.

Officers said the stabbing occurred at the Old Blue Moon Cafe located on Northwest Third Street, between Gregg Street and the T&P roundhouse.

Hicks' body was carried to Nalley Funeral Home.

County Sketch Included In New Texas Handbook

A brief historical sketch of Howard County is contained in "The Handbook of Texas," a two-volume work scheduled for issuance in the latter part of this year.

The material is being assembled by the Texas State Historical Association in hopes that the publication will be a basic starting point for information and bibliography on persons, places and events significant in Texas history.

If readers wish to report inaccuracies, they should write to the Managing Editor, "The Handbook of Texas," Texas State Historical Association, University Station, Austin 12, Texas.

The article as proposed for the book is as follows: "Howard County, created from Bexar County in 1876 and named for Volney E. Howard, remained connected with Mitchell County for judicial purposes until 1882. In the first election R. B. Anderson was elected county judge, J. M. Anderson, clerk, and R. M. Morrow, sheriff.

Howard County, with an area of 912 square miles, is at the southern edge of the Llano Estacado in West Texas. The altitude is 2,387 feet, rainfall averages 19 inches, and the mean annual temperature is 64 degrees. The soil is loam to sandy; crop land is devoted chiefly to cotton and feed. Minerals include pumice, sand, gravel, and caliche. The first oil test drilled in Howard County in 1920 was unsuccessful, but in 1926 Chalk Field wells, followed by other major producing fields, made the county a leading area in oil production. Cattle raising and feeding are major industries; some sheep, goats, hogs, and poultry are produced commercially. Other industries include railroad shops located at Big Spring in 1881, by the Fort Concho. Other early cattlemen include C. C. Slaughter, B. F. Wolcott, and F. G. Oyster. The Wolcott ranch is said to have installed the first windmill in the county. Other early settlers were L. F. McKay, who installed the pumping outfit for the railroad and remained to become a citizen of the county. M. E. Barrett who came on a buffalo-bone hunt and stayed, and the Earl of Aylesford, who bought 37,000 acres of land in the county in 1883 and built the first permanent structure in Big Spring. Dave Rhoton is credited with starting the sheep business in 1887 by building a wool storage place at his Iatan headquarters.

The first school in the county opened in 1882. The first newspaper, the Pantagraph began publication in 1883; later papers include the Enterprise (1886), the Daily Venture (1899), and the Big Spring News (1903). The Big Spring Daily Herald began publication in 1928.

Divorces Granted In District Court

Five divorces were granted in unopposed hearings before Judge Charlie Sullivan on Friday and Saturday.

The cases included: Carl E. Meeks, by and through his next friend, John Clark, vs. Barbara J. Clark, divorces granted; Mary D. Smith vs. Robert E. Smith, divorce granted; Susie Biffle vs. John Biffle, divorce granted and plaintiff's former name, Cain, restored; Eva Ruth Maloney vs. E. E. Maloney, divorce granted, with custody of two minor children to the plaintiff; Lois Madry vs. Gene Madry, divorce granted, custody of a minor child to the plaintiff.

was from the J. C. Sale herd. Howard County 4-H boys who made individual placings of their steers were: Jimmy White, 3rd and 4th; in the lightweight division; Woody Caffey, 5th; Donald Denton, 7th; James Cauble, 13th; Sonny Choate, 15th and Jerry Wooten, 18th.

The steer exhibited by Edgar Allan Phillips, was placed 5th in the heavyweight division. The grand champion steer of the show was a 960-pound Hereford entered by Leo Holloway, a Taylor County 4-H'er. This Hereford placed second in his class at Houston earlier this year.

The reserve grand champion steer was an Aberdeen-Angus, exhibited by John H. Owens of Goldthwaite. Owens had previously won an Angus championship with this steer at Houston, and a breed reserve championship at San Antonio.

Howard County steers going to the Abilene and Odessa shows are those fed out by Sue White, Donald Denton, Edgar Allan Phillips, Ronald Wooten, Sonny Choate, James Cauble, Jimmy White and Woody Caffey.

County Agent Durward Lewter says he has cancelled out the entries of Howard County steers at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show because of conflicting dates with the Abilene and Odessa shows, and because time and personnel cannot be spared to prepare them for the Amarillo show and to take them there.

All fat steers that have not already been sold on the show circuit are entered in the Howard County show and sale March 11th-13th.

Brother, Sister Slightly Injured As Auto Overturns

Eugene Virgil Burns, 23, and his sister, Bobbie Sue Burns, 18, both of Midland, escaped without serious injuries when their car overturned four miles west of town early Saturday.

Officers from the sheriff's department who investigated said that Burns and his sister were en route from Colorado City to Midland when their car apparently hit a soft shoulder and turned over twice. They were brought to a local hospital by a passerby.

Burns went on to Midland after receiving first aid for cuts and bruises about the head. His sister remained in the hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises, a bruised shoulder and shock.

Egyptian Premier Who Had Worked For Peace Resigns

By FRED J. ZUSY
CAIRO, Egypt, March 1 (AP) — Peace-bent Premier Aly Maher Pasha, on whom Britain had pinned hopes for settling her bitter squabble with Egypt, resigned unexpectedly today. Another independent, Ahmed Naguib Al Hilaly Pasha, 63, was reported named to succeed him.

Reliable informants said that, in accepting King Farouk's invitation, Hilaly Pasha immediately began consultations to try to form a non-party Cabinet.

Police patrols filled the streets of the Egyptian capital on the lookout for violence as news of the crisis spread.

Maher Pasha met for an hour with his Cabinet this morning. Striding out, he tersely told reporters he was quitting. He gave no reason, but political sources said his move may have been touched off by a dispute with the palace.

His son, Mohammed Aly Maher Pasha, said the 69-year-old leader resigned because of "inability to work due to mysterious currents behind his back."

Other informants said they believed the shuffle was prompted by an attempt to split the Nationalist Wafdist party, which holds a big majority in Parliament. Such a split could provide the basis for calling new elections in which Hilaly might get the backing of the Wafdist old guard.

March tossed a blustery greeting at scattered areas of the country Saturday. A storm plastered the East with up to 14 inches of snow and several Canadian border states shivered in sub-zero cold.

Nine Bands Take Part In Clinic

Nine high school bands took part Saturday in the fourth annual Big Spring Band Clinic.
Although most of the day was devoted to demonstrations of instrumental music, directors took time out to hear a Sul Ross College brass ensemble and the Big Spring High School band.
Joe Bellman, Sul Ross director, was guest instructor for the clinic. The clinic band of more than 100 pieces played league contest music in the AA, A and B classes.
The Big Spring band also devoted a generous portion of its time to contest overtures in the three classes. This was the first time that the band had appeared in its new uniforms and around 200 people were on hand to see the young musicians.

Winning cage titles is getting to be a habit with the Howard County Junior College boys. Friday night they clipped Amarillo in a play-off to win the Western Zone crown.

Traffic cases were drawing greater fire in city court last week. One speeding fine was levied on a $50 basis. Reckless driving and defective brakes along with other counts drew some sharp costs.

RAINFALL

made a dent in the drought which has gripped the area for a year and a half, the new moisture is expected to facilitate spring plowing. As a result, farmers may be able to get their land in condition to take full advantage of any future moisture which may fall.

By The Associated Press
Light rain spread across West and North Texas Saturday night as warm, moist air overran a cold air mass at ground level.

Weathermen said the rain area would move northeast overnight drawing more light showers into northern and eastern portions of Texas Sunday. No heavy rains were expected.

A sundown Saturday drizzle or light rain fell in Mineral Wells, Fort Worth, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Salt Flat, Amarillo and Childress. Earlier rain fell in Big Spring, San Angelo, Vernon, Del Rio, Presidio, Marfa and Midland.

El Paso had .82 of an inch of rain at the airport and an unofficial 1.32 inches at a downtown rain gauge.

Cloudy skies continued over southern portions of the state. Temperatures ranged downward Saturday from readings in the seventies in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Central Texas had temperatures in the fifties, with readings in the forties in the rain areas in North and West Texas.

Heavy Damage In Second St. Blaze

Property losses estimated at $5,500 and including 500 frying chickens and 200 hens, resulted from an early Saturday morning fire at the Big Spring Produce Co., and the Charles Engle Plumbing Mill at 703-705 East 2nd Street.
Firemen said the poultry company's loss was about 75 per cent, exclusive of the building, and that the loss at the plumbing mill was about 15 per cent.
The alarm was received 12:26 a. m. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Montana and the Lake Superior Region

A storm that roared into the Middle Atlantic states on strong northerly winds dumped up to 14 inches of snow on Pennsylvania and three to four inches in Southern New Jersey.
The storm glazed streets and sidewalks in New York City, hampering travel. New York City's Idlewild Airport was closed temporarily. LaGuardia Field was closed to incoming planes and takeoffs were banned intermittently. Trains and buses were delayed in the storm area.

Four inches of snow fell in New York City.
Maryland was blanketed with a snowfall of three to eight inches, and West Virginia had up to seven inches.

Central Illinois reported up to five inches of snow.
A surge of cold Canadian air brought these low overnight readings: International Falls, Minn., -16; Fargo, N. D., -15; Ellston, Mich., -11; Grantsburg, Wis., -9; Glasgow, Mont., -5 and Lemmon, S. D., -1.
Cooler air extended across the Southern Plains and eastward to Northern Florida.

Scattered light showers occurred from the Central Rio Grande Valley westward into California.
Mild weather prevailed in the far Southwest and far Southeast.
Workers cleaned up debris in Middle Tennessee and Northeast Alabama where hop-scotching tornadoes left two dead, 150 injured and damage ranging in estimates up to four million dollars.

Rioting Flares In Hong Kong

By FRED HAMPSON
HONG KONG, Sunday, March 2 (AP)—Communist-instigated Chinese demonstrators mauled foreigners and burned police cars and British Army trucks Saturday in a 40-minute riot that left at least 14 injured, including two American government officials, in this crown colony on the doorstep of Red China.
Violence broke out in Kowloon, mainland section of the colony, near the boundary of Red China, when the government banned the entrance of a Red delegation from Canton, bent on a propaganda "comfort" mission.
A government spokesman termed the riot "definitely Communist-inspired," while a senior police officer called it "certainly premeditated."

Police estimated the milling crowd, including thousands of Saturday afternoon strollers who were swept into the mob, numbered 10,000-40,000.
Police and firemen dispersed the rioters with tear bombs after an Army truck, police car and motorcycle were burned, numerous store windows and windshields smashed and a gas tank exploded.

Helgoland Again Under Germans

HELGOLAND, Germany, March 1 (AP)—West Germany's black, red and gold flag was raised for the first time today over Helgoland, former Nazi U-boat base used as a British bombing range since the war.
This 130-acre North Sea island became the first territory returned to the vanquished Germans by the Allies since the Nazi capitulation seven years ago. West Germans hailed it as a sign of new sovereignty.

Technically, the island was returned by the British last midnight. Celebrating Germans lit bonfires on the island and on the mainland, 28 miles away.

It meant for them the end of the rule barring them from the island and that once again North Sea fishermen could use the site as a base for operations.

Allied Positions Strafed By Planes

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, March 2 (AP)—Four unidentified Allied planes strafed and rocketed Allied positions on the Central Korean Front early today.

Frontline officers reported the planes appeared over Allied positions east of Kumsu about 7 a. m. (5 p. m. EST, Saturday). There were no reports of any casualties or damage.

But the attack again prompted speculation as to whether the Reds would attempt to use air power against Allied ground troops.

Independent Named Egyptian Premier

CAIRO, Egypt, Sunday, March 2 (AP)—King Farouk today appointed Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha, an independent, as Prime Minister of Egypt and heavily-guarded Egyptian.
The palace announcement said Farouk had accepted the resignation of Prime Minister Aly Maher Pasha, whose non-party government had ruled since Jan. 27 under martial law, which continues.

Smashed By Tornado

One of the many homes smashed by a twister that hit near Fayetteville, Tenn., is demolished by the winds. The tornado smacked into the town's downtown area, then cut its path of destruction through residential sections. Several persons were in this dwelling when the storm hit, but all escaped uninjured. Heavy Damage From Twister In Tennessee

By WATSON S. SIMS
FAYETTEVILLE, Tenn., March 1 (AP)—Red Cross disaster workers today counted 754 destroyed and damaged buildings and marveled that only two persons were killed by a savage tornado which ripped through this town of 6,000 yesterday.

A third person died today from the same tornado's blast 20 miles northwest at Belfast.
As State Patrol Chief W. T. Shelton reported damage estimates ranging up to four million dollars, the Red Cross said the tornado's awesome fury wreaked this loss:
139 homes destroyed; 152 others with major damage, and 182 more damaged.
23 barns destroyed; 15 with major damage, and 12 others damaged.
105 other buildings (including business structures) destroyed; 58 with major damage, and 68 with other damage.

Lincoln County Memorial Hospital admitted another victim today. It brought to 13 the number still hospitalized. The hospital said it was unable to count the number it treated last night. The Douglas Hospital for Negroes, which treated 30, was evacuated today because of damaged walls. Shelton said that altogether an estimated 160 were treated for injuries.
Red Cross disaster workers attributed the small death toll at least in part to a community effort in which neighbors went quickly to the rescue of families in stricken homes.

Accused Of Rape, Man Asserts He's Done No Wrong

RICHMOND, Ind., March 1 (AP)—A church official accused of raping a 15-year-old mother says "he has done no wrong."
John H. Campbell, 45, who preaches in the Apostolic Truth Mission in Richmond, said, "I have heard from God, and this is all right."
He was released under $2,000 bond.
The statutory rape charge was filed after Glen Reece told police he found Campbell had persuaded his wife Harriet to live with him as his "angel." Reece said he was in Kentucky at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Reece have a young child.

NO, IT AIN'T UNUSUAL AT ALL

VERNON, March 1 (AP)—"If you don't like Texas weather, just wait. It will change."
Monday it snowed and temperatures dropped below 20 degrees.

Headings Tuesday and Wednesday were in the eighties.

A dust storm Friday was one of the worst in years. Rain fell all day today.

An oldtimer said: "It ain't unusual. It's just Texas."

WAINWRIGHT

an insurance company which he now heads.

But it is as a fighting man that the General commands the honor of all the people, and the deathless legend of Wainwright will stir patriotic citizens as long as this nation remains cohesive and unconquered.

It has been a noble career for the man whose valor-quickening leadership rallied his worn troops to withstand for weeks the assault of tremendously superior Japanese forces in the Philippines.

Who refused to leave beleaguered Corregidor "because my conscience would not let me."
Who bore in quiet dignity the bestiality of brutal Japanese guards (they slugged him with their fists, starved him on rice and watery soup, and forced the aged, worn campaigner to perform rigorous manual labor and to herd goats) and

Who, in spite of his abominable treatment, could still show a measure of mercy ("No Japanese should be forced to endure what many of our men went through," he said after his liberation).

The lean and tall general is in reasonably good physical shape, although he has physical disabilities incurred as a result of combat injuries and a subsequent combat life.

Both eardrums were punctured by the explosion of a Japanese shell on Corregidor, leaving him deaf of hearing, and malnutrition induced arthritis in his knees and back.

Wainwright carries a cane, but that is because he got into the habit while clambering over Bataan's hills.

It seems incongruous and a little absurd to him now, but back in 1940, Wainwright raised hoo because he was sent to the Philippines. He believed that if trouble came, it would be with Germany, and he was afraid he'd miss the war.

The general now is a confirmed Texan, having been declared officially by the Texas Senate to be a native of this state, and lives in San Antonio, where he has bought a home.

"I was born in Walla Walla, Wash., but that was because my father, an army man, was stationed there. Now I'm a 'native' of Texas; and I like it."
The Senate, in its resolution making Wainwright a Texan, declared that hereafter, he should be known as Tex.

Wainwright's army nickname of Skinny first came to public attention during maneuvers in Louisiana back in 1916, when the general hid his spare frame behind a filling station pump to escape capture by an enemy tank unit. A reporter, marveling that anyone could be so thin, wrote the incident substantiated Wainwright's army nickname.

General Wainwright took command of American Forces in the Philippines after General MacArthur's secret departure for Australia March 11, 1942.
He was forced to surrender to the Japanese when Corregidor fell May 6, 1942.
The Japanese held him prisoner until August, 1945, when he was liberated. Then he had the privilege of witnessing the Japanese surrender on the battleship Missouri.

Wife Still Insists Jet Ace Kept In Korea Against His Wishes

LUBBOCK, March 1 (AP)—The wife of a jet ace said today she isn't satisfied with an official Air Force explanation that her husband stayed in Korea at his own request until he was shot down.
The report on Maj. George A. Davis, 31, was in the form of a memorandum from Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief, to Air Force Secretary Thomas J. Finletter.

"They told me nothing new," Mrs. Davis said. "The Air Force still insists that my husband wished to remain Korea, and I still insist that he didn't."
Major Davis was shot down Feb. 10, the same day he shot down two MIG fighters to run his string to 14 enemy planes in Korea. In World War II he shot down seven Japanese planes.
Davis is listed as missing, but pilots with him said they saw no parachutes when his jet fighter went down. The major was the leading ace in the Far East.

Uruguay President Yields To A New Governing Council

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 1 (AP)—Uruguay's President, Andres Martinez Trueba gave up his job on schedule today and was replaced by a nine-man Council patterned after the government of Switzerland.
The 67-year-old President, who helped Uruguay straighten out her finances and pushed for friendship with the United States, was elected chairman of the new Council.
He is a member of the Colorado party which has controlled the executive power for more than 50 years.
This republic recently voted to set up the Council in place of the presidency which had operated since Uruguay attained independence from Spain in 1830.

Rep. Mahon told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal by telephone the report he received was in the form of a memorandum.
Mahon said that while Major Davis had the right to be rotated, he did not insist upon his right.
"There is no doubt in my mind," said Mahon, "that Major Davis had the right to come home under the rotation system in effect at the time he became an ace. I do not believe the Air Force would deny this: Further, the investigation has convinced me that Major Davis wanted to come home, but, being a patriot and realizing the need for his continued service in Korea, did not aggressively seek rotation."
Mrs. Davis said: "I feel that the Air Force should issue a full explanation of the facts."
She insisted her husband was asked to stay in Korea.
The memorandum informed Mrs. Davis would be informed promptly on receipt of any additional information concerning her husband.

See 56 Pct. Vote For The Democrats
NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—Under Secretary of Labor Michael J. Gavin today predicted that not only would President Truman run for re-election this fall but the Democratic party would run up 56 per cent of the popular vote.
He told a luncheon meeting of the National Democratic Club that Democrats would capture at least six—and perhaps 13—Republican seats in the Senate.

ACTIVITY ON FRONT

Allied Tanks Push Into Red Territory

By DON HUTH
SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, March 2 (AP)—Korea's 155-mile-long battle front quivered with sharp, uneasy action Saturday as new and old controversies tightly deadlocked the armistice talks.

Allied tanks for the second straight day forayed into Red territory. The Chinese responded with heavy artillery fire and a spatter of infantry raids which were beaten off.

Laverne V. Redfield, told officers that the safe was hauled from his 15-room mansion yesterday while he was playing roulette in downtown Reno.

Civilian Goods 'Pinch' May Be Getting Easier

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Washington officialdom is revising its prophecies about that long-heralded "civilian pinch."

Predictions that consumers would be pinched by shortages of supplies lasting well into 1953 gave way today to expressions of belief by some officials that the situation is now at its "worst" and will ease off through the spring of 1952.

A dramatic letup in the demand for aluminum and some commercial types of steel prompts the shift in outlook, but production chiefs have agreed on a policy of proceed-with-caution in de-control.

Mobilization director, Charles E. Wilson, whose January report forecast shortages lasting into 1953, was said by his aides to find the situation "much more optimistic" today.

If official hopes are borne out, and if no new military emergency arises, it appears the average consumer may escape entirely the long-predicted mobilization squeeze—except the squeeze on his pocketbook exerted by high prices and high taxes.

Defense Production Administrator, Manly Fleischman, having ordered a fresh survey of metals outlook, is preparing a report to clarify the confused picture, not only for the public but for officials who, in many cases, are puzzled by the slackening of demands as anyone else.

Your RED CROSS needs your help!

A Statement by Robert A. Lovett, Secretary of Defense

The mission of the American Red Cross is entirely dependent on the support of our people. We all have a stake in the Red Cross and especially the Armed Forces. This is particularly true today as so many of our men are engaged in a vital struggle for peace.

High morale is essential to our Armed Forces. It is preserved by the unique service of the Red Cross to our servicemen, their families and hospitalized veterans.

The Red Cross coordinates blood procurement for the Armed Forces. The need today of whole blood and its derivatives is greater than ever, since the stockpile has been depleted by the Korean conflict and must be rebuilt without delay.

Millions of Americans are being trained by the Red Cross for self-protection in any national emergency. This has required a considerable increase in personnel and the organization will grow larger still as our Armed Forces expand.

America needs the Red Cross and I hope that everyone will support it to the extent of his ability.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

Broadcasts Slated During School Week

Student participation, largely via radio broadcasts, will highlight observance of Texas Public Schools Week here.

While patrons are always welcome to visit, they are especially invited to look in on their children at work during the week, said W. C. Blankenship, superintendent.

However, usual emphasis upon visitation will not be until later after the move has been completed to the new high school and the transfer of the junior high level to the present high school plant.

Moreover, the Big Spring Independent School District this spring is observing a series of special programs designed to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the creation of the district.

Parents are invited to attend a special assembly of senior high at the new school auditorium Thursday morning when Bobbie Robertson will be presented in a special musical program featuring percussion instruments. Robertson, a young professional, is making a regular school assembly circuit and there is a 10 cent charge for his program.

Radio station, KBST has lined up a series of programs at 3:30 p.m. each afternoon, Monday through Friday.

Leading off on Monday will be Supt. Blankenship, who will keynote the observance with a talk on the theme, "Our Schools, Democracy in Action." Monday evening the high school choir, directed by Harry Lee Plumbley, will be presented in half an hour concert at 8:30 o'clock.

Tuesday afternoon Park Hill school pupils present the program and on Wednesday there will be a panel from the Parent-Teacher Council headed by Mrs. W. N. Norred, discussing the need of support for schools.

Thursday afternoon the Lakeview (Colored) School children will have charge of the program and at 8 p.m. the high school band, under direction of J. W. King Jr., will be heard in a special transcription made for the occasion. High school speech department pupils will present the final program of the series on Friday afternoon.

BRANNAN GIVES VIEWS

Opposes Raising Cotton Supports

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan opposes raising government price supports on the 1952 cotton crop above current 90 per cent of parity. That's about 31 cents a pound.

He said corn, wheat and other major crops are under 90 per cent support and that, if cotton supports are lifted, the same demand would be made on other major crops, "as well as some classes of livestock."

Parity is a computing price based on what the farmer pays for his purchases in relation to farm produce prices.

Brannan told the Senate Agriculture Committee yesterday the price of 34 to 35 cents a pound at the start of the current cotton marketing season was too low.

He said cotton growers had been encouraged to withhold cotton from the market, through price-support loans and other methods, and that as a result prices went up "some five cents or better from the low point" of last November. Brannan said his department would take similar steps this year to push prices up.

The proposal that cotton supports be pushed above 90 per cent of parity was made by growers in the face of government requests for increased plantings to meet defense needs.

The secretary said his department expects the planting goal of 28 million acres this year to produce about 16 million bales. Current marketing demands this year, he said, total about 15 1/2 million bales from 28 million acres.

Brannan said the loan rate next Aug. 1, when the new crop marketing year opens, will be "not less than 90.91 cents per pound" for middling 1-1/2-inch cotton, from present indications.

Should parity for cotton be raised, he added, the loan rate will be raised accordingly.

Texan Lands In A British Unit, Finds It Very Nice

WITH THE U. S. 45TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA, Feb. 23 (AP) — (Delayed) — Cpl. Marion King may be a Texan but he's got a warm place in his heart for England.

In one of the war's strangest Army mixups, the Texas soldier found himself assigned to a British Army unit. Before the error was discovered, he was issued a British uniform and drew British whisky rations.

King's unexpected transformation into an Englishman started when he was sent to a hospital from Company E of the 45th Infantry Division's 179th Infantry Regiment.

He was dismissed from the hospital after two and a half weeks and was handed orders by the hospital assigning him to a British reserve tank unit.

"There was nothing to do but play along with the orders," King said.

He reported to the English tankers and before he could explain that he was in the American Army, they whisked him to supply and issued him a British uniform. He climbed into the outfit and cocked his new tank to one side.

King found life with the British a real pleasure. In their reserve area, they sleep on beds with springs instead of cots and receive whisky rations, he said.

"It was too good to last," he admitted.

And it didn't last. On his third day with the British, American military policemen came by to pick him up and deliver him to 45th Replacement Company — the unit the hospital should have sent him in the first place.

He turned in his British uniform at replacement for a U. S. uniform. All but the tank, that is.

"I had the tank in my duffel bag and I'm going to keep it for sentimental reasons," he said.

Now he's back with Company E with the tank, as one reminder of his short tour of duty in Her Majesty's Army.

King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. King, Rt. 2, Cleveland, Texas.

Little Change In Communicable Illness Report

There was little difference in the number of cases of communicable diseases reported, last week and the week before, by Big Spring physicians, according to the weekly list released yesterday by the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit. Six cases of pneumonia were reported each week.

This week there were 17 cases of chicken pox as compared with 16 the previous week; 102 cases of influenza as compared with 106 the week before, and 11 cases of virus pneumonia as compared with the previous week's 17 cases.

An increase was noted in the number of cases of gonorrhea which increased from one to six. A decrease in measles was noted from 18 cases to three, and 10 cases of whooping cough were reported last week as against none the week before.

Other illnesses reported include one case of syphilis, two of scarlet fever, four of virus infection as against five for the week before, and 13 cases of acute strep throat as compared with 12 for the previous week.

Job Applications Increased By 150 During February

There were 2,467 visits to the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission during the month, according to Leon M. Kinney, manager.

He said that during the month 150 new applications for jobs were made, bringing the total active applications on file to 225. Two hundred and 66 persons were referred to jobs during the month, and of these 206 were placed in employment.

Fifteen initial claims for unemployment compensation were made, and 52 continued claims were listed.

Agricultural employment is at a very low ebb, Kinney said.

Vocational Club Gets Candidates For State Office

The Vocational Industrial Club of Big Spring High School will have two candidates for state offices when the Texas meet is held in Fort Worth March 21-22.

At the district session in Sweetwater on Friday afternoon, Calvin Jones was advanced as a candidate for reporter and Charles Bonner as candidate for sergeant-at-arms.

In the ball-toss contest, part of the entertainment, W. D. O'Donnell, another Big Spring, romped off with first place. There were 11 members of the club under sponsorship of Joe B. Neely who attended the district parley.

Hawks Seek 2nd State Title

Locals Defeat Badgers, 45-40

Coach Bennie Rutherford and the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks, newly crowned basketball champions of the Western Zone, head for Waco today, where Monday night they open their bid for the school's second straight Texas Junior College Conference championship.

For Rutherford and many of the Hawk players, this will be a maiden voyage. Harold Davis guided the team to a TJCC crown last year. Most of the players with him at the time have since departed the school.

Only veterans on the team are Howard Jones, Harold Rossow, Dick Gilmore and Bill Thompson and Howard Washburn.

The Big Springers play Lon Morris of Jacksonville at 7 p.m. in the Baylor University Gymnasium. If they win that one, the Hawks will meet the winner of the South Texas JC-Allen Academy game on Tuesday night for the championship.

PLAINVIEW—Forced into a playoff with Amarillo for the second straight year, the HCJC Jayhawks showed championship class in belting the Badgers, 45-40, here Friday night to claim their second Western Zone basketball crown in history.

The Big Springers trailed by five points at the half but rallied through the third period to gain a seven-point advantage in that round.

Amarillo pulled to within a point of the locals in the final moment of play but Dallas Williams and Casey Jones hit successive field goals that put the game on ice for the Hawks.

It was a thriller from the time that Harold Rossow hit one from the side in the early seconds to send the Hawks to the fore.

Bobby Maines and Warren divided time guarding Bobby Patterson, the Badger scoring wizard, and Patterson wound up with only five points. Maines found time to score 11 points himself, Casey Jones had 13 for high scoring honors.

Dick Gilmore turned in a brilliant game for HCJC, controlling the backboard with Williams.

Jim Burris and Red Erwin each had nine points to top the scoring for the Badgers.

The Hawks took only four penalty shots and made good on three of them. Most of the time, they were content to take the ball out of bounds.

Howard Jones, injured HC player, took a warm-up prior to the game but his arm was still giving him trouble. As a result, he didn't try to play.

The win was the second in three tries for HC over Amarillo this year, their fourth in six games in two years against the proud Badgers.

KBST Will Air Cage Playoffs

Eighteen stations of the Texas State Network, including KBST, Big Spring, will air among 29 radio outlets which will broadcast the Texas high school championship basketball games Saturday, March 3, from the University of Texas' Gregory Gymnasium at Austin.

Final for Conference B will be aired at 2 p.m. The Division II championship game, featuring winners of the AA and A conferences, will get underway at 3:30 p.m. and the Division I battle, with contenders from 4-A and 3-A conferences, will be broadcast at 9 p.m.

Play by play announcers will be Charlie Jordan, TSN and KFMZ spotcaster and vice president, and Ves Bux of KRLD. Fred Kendrick, Paris, will handle the color.

Magnolia Petroleum Company is the sponsor. Texas high school basketball championship games are played under the direction of the University Interscholastic League.

Weber Is Signed

ODESSA—Charles Weber, second baseman acquired from Brownsville, has come to terms with the Odessa Oilers.

Weber comes to Odessa highly recommended. Red Davis, manager of the Corpus Christi club last season, said he was the best second baseman in the Gulf Coast League in 1951.

The 1951-52 Garden City High School Girls' Basketball team (above) has reached the end of the trail. Most of the lasses will return to competition next season, however. They are, back row, Coach Richard Dodd, Retta Stephens, Bertie Robinson, Helen Cunningham, Annie Hilliger, Doralee Schafer, Clara Ann Halfman, Ruby Overton and Imogene McNew. Front row, Jan Burns, Carol Ann Miller, Teresa Lynch, Theora Calverley, Bonnie Cox, Betty Dolan, Jenny Gandy and Emma Stephens.

BURKE 2 STROKES BACK

Bolt, Takes Lead At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La., March 1 (AP)—Temperamental Tommy Bolt fired clubs and angry words and below-par golf to take a two-stroke lead in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Open Tournament here today. His third round total was 208.

Jack Burke, winner of the Texas and Houston Open, shot even par in third round play to remain second with 216.

Bob Duden, Portland, Ore., shot a four-under-par 68 to couple with a 145 for a 213, and moved into third spot.

Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N. Y., and Felice Torza, St. Charles, Ill., smashed par to finish the round in a tie for fourth with 214.

Bearkats To Open Workouts Monday

GARDEN CITY—Track and field workouts will begin at the local high school Monday, Coach Targo Lindsay has announced.

Several youngsters have already donned running gear but serious drills haven't started due to the fact that several athletes have been showing animals in fat stock shows in this area.

Jerry Scott Paces Golfers To Victory Over Lamesans

Jerry Scott, a standout on the Big Spring High School basketball team the past season, changed games Saturday without missing a step.

Scott paced the Steer golf team to an impressive 13½-4½ victory over Lamesa in Lamesa Saturday.

In beating Koonce of Lamesa, 3-0, Scott fired an even par 72 on 18 holes. He had a 28-33. Four birdies were included in the round.

James Underwood, former Big Spring player now performing for Lamesa, defeated Luke Thompson of Big Spring, 2-1, in the number two match but Thompson teamed with Scott to win doubles over Koonce and Underwood, 3-0.

Ray Andrew defeated Anderson of Lamesa 3-0, and Gene Reynolds turned back Mitchell, 2-1, for other Big Spring victories in singles matches. In doubles, Andrew and Reynolds also won, 1½-1½.

Fem Netters Book Forsan March 11

GARDEN CITY—The Garden City High School Girls' Volley Ball team, which is entered in the Big Spring Tournament next weekend, will play its first home game Tuesday, March 11, at which time it hosts Forsan.

First team spikers are Clara Ann Halfman, Theora Calverley and Carol Ann Miller. Set-ups are Jan Burns, Doralee Schafer and Bonnie Cox.

Other girls out for practice include Annie Hilliger, Theresa Lynch, Betty Dolan, Lynda Smith, Imogene McNew, Jenny Gandy, Memory Shoofstall, Helen Cunningham, Bertie Robinson, Emma Stephens, Retta Stephens and Ruby Overton.

Justice To Play

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Charley Justice signed a one-year contract today to play football for the Washington Redskins.

Justice, who was an All America half back at the University of North Carolina, played in eight games of the Washington pro team of 1950.

Future Bright For Bearkats

GARDEN CITY—Winner of seven of 15 games the past season was the Garden City High School Girls' basketball team.

The Bearkats, who resumed the game only last season after a lapse of several years, won runner-up honors in the Ackerly Tournament, gained the Sportsmanship Trophy in the Water Valley Tournament and was defeated by one point in the consolation finals of the Merton Tournament.

Coached by Richard Dodd, the club has only three seniors on it. The leading scorer in a sophomore, Theora Calverley, who won all-tournament honors in every meet the Bearkats entered this season. She was a unanimous choice for all-district honors and scored a total of 272 points for an average of 15 a game.

Bonnie Cox, a senior, proved a ball control artist and passer. She is small but fast.

Fastest girl on the team is Teresa Lynch. A senior, she counted 96 points.

Betty Dolan, a sophomore, has the height to become a fine player. Ruby Overton and Doralee Schafer are Juniors who saw a lot of action during the season.

Clara Ann Halfman was named to the all-tournament team at Water Valley. She is a guard.

Other members of the club are Carol Ann Miller, a soph; Jan Burns, speedy soph; Imogene McNew, soph; Jenny Gandy, junior; Emma Stephens, soph; Retta Stephens, freshman; and Bertie Robinson, freshman.

The girls will receive letter jackets similar to those given annually to the boys' team.

Keglers Level On $150 Prize

Bowler's from over a wide area are due to converge on Big Spring today to try and wrest Hardy Oaks' lead in the ninth annual Couden Sweepstakes.

Oakes was on the firing line last week and posted a four-game score of 769. If he wins, he will earn $150 in prize money.

The entry list is due to top 90. One of the keggers active today is due to be Herman Gerber of San Angelo, last year's champion.

Some of the better pin-toppers of Big Spring are due to treat the maples, too.

Eiton Lewis of Odessa currently is in second place with a score of 723.

A rag-time doubles meet is being conducted in conjunction with the sweepstakes.

San Angelo Rookie Camp Is Underway

VICTORIA—A total of 26 youths have reported to the tryout camp of the San Angelo Colts, which began here Friday.

The camp is under the supervision of March Christman, new San Angelo manager, and Garland Bush, business manager of the team. Helping with the school are Fabian Kowalk, former Chicago White Sox hurler and Hank Severeid, Boston Red Sox scout.

Browns Are Not The Same Team, Says Hornsby

Locals Entered In Reg. V Meet

Howard County Junior College's Jayhawks return to Amarillo next week for the Region V Basketball Tournament, winner of which goes to the National JC Tournament at Hutchinson, Kansas.

The tournament gets underway Monday, March 10, and continues through the following Wednesday. Amarillo and HCJC will compete in the Amarillo show, along with two Oklahoma clubs, possibly a New Mexico quintet and Decatur Baptist, Cisco, Clarendon and Frank Phillips of Borger.

Amarillo, defending champion of the meet, will be short-handed in that three Badgers—Jim Burris, Smiley Burnett and Jim Hutchinson—will not be eligible for the show.

Dick Prahm May Score In Shot

The Big Spring High School spike brigade probably would have entered the Border Olympics in Laredo next weekend but for the fact that no coach is available to make the trip with the athletes.

Bert Brewer, who has been overseeing the Steers in practice, leaves Monday to begin a job in non-school work in Amarillo. Accompanying him will be Earl Crawford, who has been helping with the football team.

Other coaches are involved in spring grid workouts.

The Steer thinlins probably will see their first action on March 14-15, at which time they go to the Southwestern Recreational Meet in Fort Worth.

If he continues to improve, Dick Prahm is going to pick up some points in the sbout for Big Spring. The husky is looking good in practice.

Big Spring had a state champion in that event last year. He was Bobby Jack Gross, who is now in Texas A & M.

The Steers are also going to be strong in middle distance races and in the longer relays.

Eagles Retain Bowling Lead

The Eagles Club retained a firm hold on first place in the Men's Bowling League standings by defeating Big Spring Herald, 2-1, in a match last week.

In other tests, Gregg Street Health Clinic won over Cabot Carbon, 3-0; Phillips Tire Company edged out Lee Hanson's, 2-1; and Clark Motor copped a 2-1 verdict over Team 5.

E. B. Dozier, Jr., led individual scoring with a 224 while Tom Campbell had high total with 690.

Other 200 games were rolled by Milas Woods, Fay Trent, L. B. Andrew and E. B. Dozier, Jr.

Eagles Club now has a won-lost record of 45-27, followed by Clark Motor and Phillips Tire, 33-31; Gregg Street Health Clinic with 29-33; Lee Hanson's with 37-45; Cabot Carbon with 34-38; Team 5 with 26-46; and Big Spring Herald with 25-47.

Bovines Settle For Chalk Talk

Coach Carl Coleman tried to outguess the elements Friday and the steers won.

Coleman had planned a full-dress scrimmage for his Big Spring High School footballers but the wind started acting up about noon.

Conditions looked bad, so Coleman settled for a blackboard drill, only to watch the wind blow down later.

The Steers will be back at it on the practice field Monday, at which time they begin their third week of work.

Seven Sign Pacts For Odessa Club

ODESSA—Seven additional signed player contracts have been received in the business offices of the Odessa Oilers of the Longhorn League.

All are from rookies. They include Roberto Fabian, infielder; Raul Esquivel, catcher; Octavia Garcia, pitcher; Raul Dieppa, infielder; Carlos Lorenz, pitcher; Rogelio Bupero, pitcher; and Jose Ferrer, pitcher.

The first six named are from Cuba, while Ferrer hails from Mexico.

Efforts were made to bring Ferrer here last year but his papers were not in order and he couldn't cross the border.

Legion, Forsan Vie Monday In YMCA League Headliner

The championship of the YMCA City Basketball League goes on the line at the HCJC Gymnasium Monday night when American Legion tangles with Forsan. Game time is 7:00 p.m.

Each team has suffered only one defeat in circuit activity. T & P surprised Legion early in the season while Forsan was outclassed by Knott.

Knott was in the running for the flag until recently, when it suffered successive defeats at the hands of Legion and Dibrell's.

Monday's other game will pit Gulf Research against Dibrell's. That one is down for 8 p.m.

Three games are on tap for Wednesday. Ackerly and Dibrell's have it at 7 p.m. At 8 o'clock, Forsan clashes with Humble Oil and at 9 Garden City tests Dibrell's.

Fowler Seeks Cuban Talent

A third Longhorn League official has gone to Cuba in search of baseball players.

He is Chet Fowler, boss of the Vernon Dusters, who flew to Havana earlier this week for conferences with baseball officials there.

Previously, Pat Stacey of Big Spring and A. D. Ensey of Odessa had made similar missions to the island.

Stacey signed more than 20 players, Ensey nine.

Fowler says he is seeking a double play combination and a catcher in Cuba.

Unheralded Miche Wins Top Money In Santa Anita 'Cap'

Intent Rider Is Penalized

ARCADIA, Calif., March 1 (U)—A little grey horse from South America, Miche, scored the second and most memorable upset in his seven-year career today when he captured a disputed decision in the 15th running of the famed Santa Anita Handicap.

With the heavy favorite of the race, Hill Prince, a badly beaten horse and listed fifth at the finish, Miche was handed the front place over a Maryland colt, Intent, in a ruling by the stewards that held up the official outcome for long, anxious minutes after the race had been run.

Intent, with Jack Westrope in the saddle, was disqualified from first and placed second by the stewards because of interference in the stretch — blocking the road as Jockey John Covall and the Argentine horse came up through the mud and stop on the rail.

Miche is owned by Mrs. John Payson Adams of San Francisco. Be Fleet, racing for Andrew Cevelin of Los Angeles, rounded out the surprises by taking third.

The payoff found Miche rewarding his few backers to the tune of $55.40, $22.00 and $13.30. Intent paid $7.50 and $5.00, and Be Fleet $13.40.

Defending Champions

Bulldogs Beaten By Evant Five

BROWNWOOD—Coshoma's Bulldogs were eliminated on the first round of the Region 11-B Basketball Tournament here Friday by Evant, 34-37. Evant subsequently was ousted by Bronte.

Billy Joe Cramer collected 15 points for Coshoma.

Pro Grid Card Is Completed

DALLAS, March 1 (U)—The Dallas club of the National Football League today announced its schedule which includes an opening game, Sept. 28, with the New York Giants.

Other home games are Oct. 18 with San Francisco, Oct. 28 with Green Bay, Nov. 8 with Los Angeles, Nov. 24 with Chicago Bears, and Dec. 14 with Detroit. All the games will be Sunday afternoon except the Green Bay game which will be Saturday night.

On the road the Texans play the Bears Oct. 12, San Francisco Oct. 26, Los Angeles Nov. 2, Detroit Nov. 16, Green Bay Nov. 23 and the Philadelphia Eagles, Dec. 7.

Brooke And Pagan In Golf Finals

MIAMI, Fla., March 1 (U)—A college boy from Philadelphia and a fireman from West Palm Beach, Fla., advanced into the finals of the Dixie Amateur Golf Tournament today.

Joe Brooke, 23-year-old University of Miami student from Philadelphia, defeated Lloyd Ribner, New York, 2 and 1, and Dub Pagan eliminated Jimmy Paul, Daytona Beach, 3 and 2 in today's semifinals.

Brooke and Pagan will decide the championship over the 36-hole route tomorrow at the Miami Country Club.

MANY AWARDS TO BE MADE Seventh Annual Volley Ball Tourney Begins On Thursday

One of Big Spring's biggest sports shows, the seventh annual Girls' Volley Ball Tournament, gets underway Thursday of this week in the new high school gymnasium.

Original plans called for an 18-team field but applications for entry have been so heavy that Tournament Director Arsh Phillips expanded the field to 24.

Big Spring is the defending champion and one of the favorites to be up there at the Saturday night finish. The Steerettes are unbeaten in 42 starts now.

Part of the games must necessarily be played in the old high school gymnasium, because a consolation bracket will be conducted, along with the title games.

Grandfalls subbed in for Seminole this week end while Garden City has replaced San Angelo. A first round game between Winters and Paint Rock will be played in Winters, rather than here.

The trophies to be proffered winners will be the biggest and best in history. There'll be cups for first, second and third place teams, along with one for the consolation winner. Desk fountain pen sets will go to the best spiker and set-up player. Twelve gold-filled miniature volley balls will go to members of the all-tournament squad.

Ted Phillips, local business man, is again sponsoring the tournament and furnishing all the awards.

A beauty queen will also be selected in the tournament for the perial vs. Pecos, 1 p.m. Friday; Friday: Big Spring B vs. Andrews, first time will be announced at the conclusion of the meet. All competing lasses are eligible.

First round pairings (game in new gym unless otherwise designated. Listed in order of draw): Antelope vs. Levelland, 11 a.m.

A Rare Event
PHOENIX, Ariz., March 1 (U)—The New York Giants put in two hours of practice today before they were stopped by rain. It was the first interruption since the team arrived for training almost two weeks ago.

Bob Hawkins, Lamesa, Will Run Half Mile For Raiders

LUBBOCK.—Coach George Scott figures his Texas Tech track team at least will have quantity, if not quality, this season. A turnout of 45 is believed the largest in Tech history, but Scott doesn't see any "big meat" first place winners.

"Just like in football, we're in a building stage as far as track is concerned at Tech," Scott maintains. But, he hastens to point out, results this spring are likely to be far from the Border Conference championship the "building" Red Raider football team turned up with last fall.

So far, no outstanding times or marks have been compiled. Leading candidates, by event, for the Border Olympics in Laredo, Mar. 8, are:

100-yard dash—Bobby Cavazos of Kingsville, Jerry Fairley of Pecos, and Earl Hutcheson of Lubbock.
220-yard dash—Fairley, Cavazos and Billy Killough of Edinburg.
440-yard dash—Ronnie Cordell of Oklahoma City, Lowell Richardson of Lorraine, and Maurice Mullins of Eden.

880-yard run—Bobby Hawkins of Lamesa, Ben Wilson of Lubbock, and Mullins.
Mile run—John Weaver of Edinburg, John Thompson of Brownfield, and Bill Fulton of Globe, Ariz.

120-yard hurdles—Albert Stanford of Eldorado and Jim Farrell of Amarillo.
220-yard low hurdles—Hutcheson, Jim Odum of Alvarado, and Cordell.

440-yard relay—Killough, Hutcheson, Cavazos, and Fairley.
880-yard relay—same as 440-yard relay, with following available for replacements: Paul Stewart of Paris, Mack Patterson of McCamey, John Matlock of Dalhart, Elhoma, Bryan Close of Shamrock, and Spencer-Norwood of Alvarado.

Mile relay—Hawkins, Williams, Richardson, and Cordell. Replacements: Mullins and Killough.
High jump—Cavazos, Paul Erwin of Odessa, and Richardson.
Broad jump—Foy Don Covey of Idalou and Odum.
Pole vault—Erwin.
Discus—Pete Rinaldi of Orange, N. J., and Dick Witte of Berger. Javelin—Rinaldi and Witte.
Shot put—Bobby Lambert of Nixon, George Thacker of San Antonio, and Bob Green of Burk Burnett.

Other short fielders such as Lou Boudreau and Joe Cronin, have been paid larger salaries but they served as managers for their teams as well. Rizzuto joined 47 other players as the complete squad of the champions — excepting Bobby Brown — reported to Manager Casey Stengel this morning. Brown has not signed his contract because he is expecting a call to military duty.

D. GEHRMAN DEFEATED IN HALF-MILE EVENT

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK, March 1 (U)—Roscoe Browne of the New York Pioneer Club, assistant dean of men at Morgan State College, gave Don Gehrman a lesson in holding on in the stretch and won the half-mile run in the Knights of Columbus games at Madison Square Garden tonight in 1:54.2.

Thus Browne, one of the top middle distance runners in the country, squashed Gehrman's effort to score a double in the games. The skinny Wisconsin whi also was scheduled to run the mile against Fred Will.

Gehrman held back too long, and was coming on fast in the end. Had the race gone another lap, he probably would have won it. Browne took over with two laps to go, after Reggie Fearman, a Pioneer Club teammate, had led from the start.

He opened up light over Fearman going into the final lap. But then Gehrman, who was wallowing in fourth place, made his bid with just about three-fourths of a lap to go. He did manage to get past Fearman.

In the consolation game, the Far East All Stars were in command all the way to down Memphis Air Force Base, 66-47, for third place. The 33rd Air Division is the Colorado Air National Guard unit stationed near Tinker Field, Okla. It will represent the Air Force in the National AAU Basketball Tournament in Denver.

The 33rd led Sheppard from the first. The halftime mark was 28-18. The 33rd's play was smoother in every department than Sheppard.

Tribes Is Idled

TUCSON, Ariz., March 1 (U)—For the first time in six years of spring training here the Cleveland Indians lost a day's workout today because of rain.

Keller Heads PAD Refiners

By CHARLES HASLET
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—The principal chief of the Cherokee nation today became director of the refining division of the Petroleum Administration for Defense—without pay.

William Keefer, Bartlesville, Okla., in private life is vice president and assistant to the president of Phillips Petroleum Company. He is serving the Great White Father without compensation.

A native of Dalhart, Tex., Keefer attended the University of Kansas, leaving there in 1933 to work for Phillips in several technical positions. Then he became vice president of refining and last year was named general vice president and assistant to the president.

While oil tests drilled last year were about the same as in 1950, the number devoted to exploration or "wildcatting" increased more than 20 per cent. A. P. Frame, acting PAD director, told a House Small Business Subcommittee this week.

The committee was investigating PAD methods of allocating available steel pipe.

Frame told the committee that were drilled in 1951, an increase of 25 per cent over the 1950 total of 8,529.

Exploratory activity, he added,

WEEK'S REVIEW

Spraberry Pools Linked In Reagan

SAN ANGELO, March 1—Linking of the Aldwell-Spraberry and Weiner-Floyd Spraberry fields in Reagan County, completion of an Ellenburger discovery in Andrews, more pay in an Ector County discovery and an indicated San Andres strike in Tom Green County took major headlines in West Texas oil activity this week.

The link well in Reagan County is Sun No. 3 Lottie Jalonick, completed for a daily flowing potential of 111 barrels of 39.4 gravity oil, plus 20 per cent water, production being from open hole between 7,725-30,799 feet, the total depth in the Spraberry. Location is 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 9-C-14 TV 1/4-mile west-northwest of lower Spraberry production and 1/2 mile north of upper Spraberry production in the Aldwell field and 1/4 mile southeast of lower Spraberry pay in the Weiner-Floyd field.

The Aldwell-Spraberry field was also extended in two other directions: east with completion of Fred W. Shield No. 3 J. A. Robey for 454.2 barrels daily and a half-mile northeast by Humble No. 3 Eva Woods, completed for 66.22 barrels daily.

The Texas Co. completed its third shallow discovery in Tom Green County, No. 1 Ike Funk estate, 30 feet out of the southwest corner of the north half of section 10-5, H&TC. The well pumped 29.08 barrels of 34 gravity oil in 24 hours from San Andres lime pay at 853-855 feet, the thickness of which was undetermined. No. 1 Funk is 9/4 miles southwest of Carlsbad.

An Ellenburger discovery in Southern Andrews County, Gulf No. 1-NNN University, finished for a daily flow of 1,015 barrels of 49.1 gravity oil, production from perforations at 12,520-575 feet following acidization. Location is 1,980 feet from south, 660 feet from west lines of section 21-9-U, two miles south of the Fahrman-Mascho multipay field. During the well's drilling, a 19-year-old youth was killed and $3,000 damage was caused to the rig three weeks ago.

Additional Bend pay section was logged in the V. A. Brill No. 1 Sallie Ratliff and others, indicated Ector County Wolfcamp and Bend discovery. The project recovered 3,500 feet of oil and mud cut 90 pe. cent oil, no water, on a two-hour, 15-minute test between 10,821-849 feet in the Bend of the Pennsylvanian. Earlier, it recovered 360 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and 120 feet of gas-cut mud on a four-hour, four-minute test between 10,700-796 feet in the Bend and still earlier flowed oil at a rate of 100 to 150 barrels oil hourly on a Christmas Eve test between 2,640-704 feet in the Wolfcamp. Location is C NW NW 11-42-14-T&P.

Recovery of free gas in drill pipe along with some gas-cut mud was logged on an Ellenburger drillstem test by Texas No. 148 P. L. Fuller, section 1, J. A. Kuykendall

Hobo Field Venture Hits Reef Top, Coring Ahead

Standard of Texas No. 64 T. L. Griffin, C SE NW 25-25, H&TC, known as another Hobo Field producer in Southeast Borden.

Top of reef was picked at 7,051 and operator set the 7-in. string at 7,054 with 600 sacks. When pipe is drilled, operator will core ahead 40 feet more before trying for completion. No elevation was given on the test, but the reef top is presumed to be about on a par with others in the field and could be slightly higher.

Water To Oil

Flooding In Sooner Pools Adds 33 Million Barrels

AMARILLO.—Approximately 33 million barrels of oil were recovered in Oklahoma by water flooding up to December 31, 1949, according to a Bureau of Mines report released today by Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman.

The report supplements a previous Bureau of Mines report issued in 1943. It describes water-flooding activities in Oklahoma from July 1, 1947, to December 31, 1949, and contains detailed information and charts on Nowata, Rogers and Craig Counties. A similar report covering counties other than these three already has been released. Dr. C. W. Seibel, Regional Director, Region VI, Bureau of Mines, pointed out.

The survey released Thursday was written by John P. Powell and Kenneth H. Johnston, petroleum engineers of the Bartlesville, Okla., Bureau of Mines experiment station.

Water flooding, the report declares, is a valuable conservation measure, not only preventing premature abandonment of stripper leases but also reviving interest in many areas previously abandoned.

The use of waterflooding as a means for recovering oil from partly depleted oil-bearing formations was first tried in Oklahoma in 1931. Early water-flooding operations were confined to the area of the shallow Bartlesville-sand formations in Nowata and Rogers Counties. The results of these operations stimulated activities in other pools in Oklahoma, and by the end of 1949 water flooding had been tried in 25 of the 49 oil-producing counties in the state.

Many of the properties affected were developed more than 40 years ago, and have had several owners. Consequently, complete production records were not always available. The production records from the

Another Well In The Williston Basin

WILLISTON, N. D., March 1 (AP)—Amerada Petroleum Corporation Friday brought in its sixth oil well in the Tioga area—the Josie Knutson No. 1, seven miles south of Tioga and one mile west of the Palmer Dillard No. 1.

The announcement was made here today by the Amerada production department.

A 36.5 barrel-an-hour flow of 40-gravity crude, accompanied by 117,000 cubic feet of gas, came in a drill stem test at 8,438-496 feet.

The new well is on the Beaver Lodge Madison pool.

Gas Rockets Into Two Billion Trade

By LARENCE N. ELDRED
CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—A product which was mostly burned as waste not many years ago is likely to sell this year for two billion dollars. It goes to some 17 million customers in the United States, travels far enough in reaching them to girdle the earth more than 13 times.

Briefly sketched, you have there the gas-rich saga of natural gas, by almost any measurement one of spectacular growth. Production, demand, known reserves, dollar value, and geographical spread—all have zoomed at a startling rate.

And George F. Mitchell, president of the American Gas Association, says no limit is yet in sight. In forecasting the immediate future, he said that by the end of 1955 the industry expects to spend around 4 1/2 billion dollars to expand facilities.

Natural gas already is being piped to nearly all the states. Maine, Vermont, and the Pacific Northwest still are not covered, but lines are aimed at those areas too. The Pacific states may also get some from newly developed fields in Alberta, Canada.

By contrast, a quarter-century ago natural gas sales were about a tenth of the total sales anticipated this year. The number of customers was about a fourth as many as now, many of them getting part natural, part manufactured gas.

Back in 1926, too, proved underground reserves of the fuel in the 25 trillion cubic feet, mostly under the Appalachian Mountains. Today proved reserves are estimated at close to 200 trillion, more than three-fourths of it in the Southwestern part of the country.

In the intervening quarter-century about 75 trillion have been consumed.

As of now, we're using more than 7 1/2 trillion cubic feet a year, but every year, more new reserves are being found than the amount used. Indications are there is enough in sight to last for 30 years or more.

In contrast to the big present and future fuel usage of natural gas, 35 years ago it was "flared off" at oil wells in the Southwest as a nuisance because it interfered with the production of oil. Or it wasn't being lost by flaring it was being pumped into the air at a rate estimated by one spokesman as some two billion cubic feet a day.

Then came the great cross-country pipelines, snaking out from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and most recently from the Texas Gulf Coast. California started to produce, too, and the play moved far away from West Virginia and Pennsylvania, then the big producers, mostly for local use.

Natural gas experts emphasize

Standard Stakes Dawson Prospect

Standard of Texas is to project a rotary exploration in Northern Dawson County to a depth of 11,500 feet.

It will be Standard No. 1-2 L. L. Huddleston, 660 from the south and west lines of section 1-11, EL&RR.

The location is four miles southwest of O'Donnell and half a mile north of production in the Smith Spraberry pool.

Parking Ticket Prompts Lawyer To Become Poet

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, March 1 (AP)—Harry Brokaw, a veteran attorney and former Municipal Court judge, handed in this poem today while paying a $1 parking fine.

The watchful cop was on his beat. He walked with gentle tread: He straightway saw my limousine.

And this is what he said: "You failed to feed the meter here. You'll have to pay for this. A tag upon the windshield now. I think is not remiss." The moral that we get from this, Is not so hard to see; These parking meters must be fed.

By folks like you and me.

Caught On Ladder

INDIANAPOLIS, March 1 (AP)—Police called to a North Side home arrested James Ensor, 27, charging him with peeping into a second-story bedroom. They caught him on a ladder, they said.

HEARINGS SLATED FOR SHUTDOWNS

AUSTIN — Operators in the Von Roeder pool of Borden County and the Vealmoor area of Howard County were ordered Friday by the Railroad Commission to show cause why the pools should not be shut in to prevent gas waste.

A hearing was set for March 19 on both pools. The commission said it desired further study of programs now in effect as compared with those planned by operators after a hearing last Nov. 15.

NW Sterling Test Going To Ellenburger

An Ellenburger wildcat has been staked in Northwestern Sterling County.

Humble No. 1 W. L. Foster Jr., the venture projected to 9,500 feet, will be located 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 4-21-45, T&P.

This puts it 20 miles northwest of Sterling City and 2 1/2 miles east of the west line of the county. Honolulu No. 2 Herbert Cope, et al, which is waiting on seven-inch string to set at 5,045 before drilling into the Spraberry, is an east offset to the Spraberry discovery in the Wedell field in Southwest Sterling, Honolulu No. 1 Cope. Location is 1,980 from north and 1,915 from the west lines of section 28-A TCCR. This puts it 15 miles southwest of Sterling City.

Nolan Outpost Has Ellenburger Water

A northeast outpost to the Hylton-Spraberry pool in Nolan County apparently had failed in drilling to the Ellenburger.

Continental No. 1-248 Earwood, C NW SE 248-64, H&TC, was bottomed at 6,158 in dolomite and chert. It had a drillstem test from 6,151-6,158 with the tool open an hour and a half, during which period there was a fair blow. Recovery was 180 feet of sulphur-cut mud and 310 feet of sulphur water with no shows of oil or gas.

Tentative top of the Ellenburger by samples was 6,125, and the elevation was not revealed.

Gusher Puts Heat On Alabama As Oil Producing State

By HENDRIX CHANDLER
MOBILE, Ala., March 1 (AP)—Alabama has been quietly developing as an oil state for eight years. It took a gusher well on Allen Moyer's cotton farm near Pollard to awaken people to the fact.

Some 77 other wells brought in at two fields north and west of here since 1944 caused little excitement because all had to be pumped and the oil was comparatively low grade (13-18 gravity).

But when Humble brought in the Allen Moyer well at a 539-barrel free flowing producer of comparatively high grade (30 gravity) oil two months ago, the oil industry took notice.

The discovery was near Pollard (pop. 250), 80 miles northeast of here, and six miles north of the Florida line.

A free flowing well is usually a good indicator of a major pool. State Geologist Walter B. Jones estimated the pool was five to six miles long and would support at least 35 wells.

It was the most exciting new territory oil news in the Southeast since the Mississippi discovery in 1939. It continued the gradual eastward oil development along the Gulf Coast region.

Major oil companies and independents alike rushed in leasing crews to this undeveloped area.

Oil sources said prices skyrocketed in the first three weeks to as high as $300 an acre for leases and $500 an acre for owner royalties in Alabama.

Leasing was just about as heavy in Northwest Florida. There was same leasing in Southwestern Georgia, a non-producing state.

Residents of Pollard erected a highway sign which says: "Pollard, Alabama's greatest oil field."

Now that the frantic initial leasing spurge is tapering off, oil men are catching their breath. They're wondering now if they over-evaluated the Pollard discovery on the basis of one well.

A second well put down by Humble one mile southeast of the Moyer well has been discouraging. A third test has been started nearer the Moyer producer.

Oil men familiar with eccentricities of oil formations said dry holes could be expected because of irregular fault lines.

Jones said he looked for heavy

Israeli Watchmen Are Shot To Death

JERUSALEM, March 1 (AP)—Two Israeli watchmen guarding a water pipeline southwest of Jerusalem near the Jordan frontier were shot dead early today by what police believed marauders from Jordan.

Quakes In Sicily

CATANIA, Sicily, March 1 (AP)—Residents of half a dozen villages on the slopes of Mount Mount Etna fled into the streets today as four separate earth tremors shook their homes. The shocks were felt minutes apart at noon, but there was no new eruption.

Greatest Mother of them all!
True in 1918... True Today!

The Red Cross is a volunteer organization made up of millions; remembered by millions as "The Greatest Mother of Them All."

Yes, the Red Cross is that... and more.

It is a helping hand to those made homeless by storm and flood.

It is plasma for the wounded, cheerful hours for the disabled veteran, a touch of home for soldiers on foreign fields.

It is a symbol of American compassion and warmth and generosity.

It is you... doing what you would do if you were there.

Unrestricted Trade Freedom Distinctive Asset For Tangier

By HOUSTON HARTE
TANGIER.— This 100 square miles of freedom is an oasis in an old world, ruled so long by expediency, that unrestricted economic progress has created a magnificent new city on a few low hills which fade away into the desert. Here is a breath of the best of an old world as it was before Lenin, Hitler, Mussolini, Primo de Rivera, or Blum. Here you can buy anything made in any part of the world and pay for it in any money of national coinage.

Tangier has a population of only 100,000, but it reminds you of a miniature New York without Tammany and without taxes. Here in the last 10 years has risen a modern city in front of the old town which for protection was built about a fort on the top of a hill. Its gleaming modernistic buildings provide business space on the ground floor for every major corporation in the world, while above are the spacious apartments of the men who are here to trade or to find a haven of refuge where they could light in their flight from the old world.

The international zone is a little over 8 by 12 miles square. It was created by a joint treaty of the so-called "great powers" in 1906. The treaty was revised in 1926. There are eight nations whose consuls, generals, or as in our case a minister, make up a governing board. The chairmanship of this committee rotates between the seven participating powers each year. The chairman has such unusual authority that he has the power to nullify the acts of the whole committee.

There is a local legislative body, but this assembly's acts are subject to ratification by the governing committee. This means the local people have little more than the power to pass resolutions. The Sultan of Morocco is represented in Tangier by a Mendoub, a sort of viceroy of the Sultan. A new palace is being built for him by the Sultan which looks like it might cost several million dollars.

The peculiar international character of the government of this North African city is responsible for its growth and activity. Here a change in the government of any of the participating nations does not change Tangier. Governments may fall. Dictators may take over. Dictators may rise... but Tangier is undisturbed.

As the waters of the Atlantic rush through these straits down to the lower level of the Mediterranean, so does the trade and gold of every continent gravitate to this city which produces nothing, but offers a free market for the world.

Here a stable government untrammelled by minority groups inspires business confidence. A sort of "Curb Exchange" where all currencies of the world are quoted in terms of each other is a fact of great significance. The common denominator usually is the dollar. In the narrow streets of Tangier, and they like it. This is a sort of "King's X City." Wouldn't it be wonderful if there were more hope for the rest of us that we would have more freedom, lower taxes, and less paternalism?

Four large banking houses handle the bulk of the trading in money.

They stay open long hours. Their places of business are constructed to resist fire and theft for their merchandise is entirely the currency of the world. This is one place where your check is better than cash. A check on London, Paris, or New York will get more money per pound or franc or dollar than the actual money. You save the insurance and the cost of protection.

Attracted by this free market for money and ample warehouse space, the merchandise of the world drifts to Tangier. There is no barter here. Once you get your steel or linen or perfume or refrigerator in a warehouse you can sell it as you did two decades ago and take your pay in any currency you desire.

There are no income taxes in Tangier. There are ad valorem taxes and import duties, some excises, but you do not have to keep books on your business for any government. It has become a sort of Delaware as a favorable home for foreign corporations. Its advantage over any other country in the world is that you can move your money in or out of the country at will and in any currency you prefer. The big New York banks have substantial local correspondents here that maintain large balances in New York and Canada as well as European centers.

Sanctuary is another of Tangier's assets. The political exiles of many countries have moved in here. Those who fear Communism or Fascism, those who want to have an investment outside their own country that they can reach in a few hours by plane or a day by boat, have made Tangier an escape from the whole gamut of political change which besets Western Europe.

Here Spanish, French, Italian, Greek, Belgian and English capital has sought investment in Tangier's skyline. Here Tangier banks have become the depository of the ready cash for the well-to-do of Europe, "just in case." In the lock boxes, in the vaults of Tangier's financial institutions can be found precious stones and jewels of many a European family.

There are 8,000 French, 20,000 Spanish, 2,500 English and less than 500 Americans here. The other 70,000 are native Arabic and Moorish people who have been attracted by the growth of the International Zone.

In Spain, Portugal and Morocco you see soldiers everywhere. They are the best dressed and the best fed people in the country. But all these soldiers and police cannot stop stealing, robbing and murder. In Tangier there is no sign of anything but traffic police, and there is little crime, less than in any city of Africa.

Here many nationalities are living together in peace and freedom and they like it. This is a sort of "King's X City." Wouldn't it be wonderful if there were more hope for the rest of us that we would have more freedom, lower taxes, and less paternalism?

TEXAS BRANDS

By JOHN M. HENDRIX
There were many Hat brands in Texas and New Mexico but it is doubtful if any passed in size and importance the one founded by Colonel McKenzie and later owned by Winfield Scott and Sug Robertson, whose range was upon the southern plains of New Mexico with ranch headquarters near Monument, New Mexico.

The Hat cattle ranged from the Pecos eastward to the Texas line, south to the state line, and north just so far as a long driving south-east drizzle lasted. They closed out with the advent of settlers upon the New Mexico plains.

Ed Ramsay, range manager and now of Sweetwater, Texas, received a telegram one day to ship all the Hat heifers to Montana, which suddenly ended one of the greatest cow outfits in New Mexico. The exact date of the founding and operation of this gigantic ranch and the date upon which it finally ceased to exist are not available, but it is supposed that it originated in the '80s and ceased operations in the late '90s. That Hat was registered prior to 1890 and was at its greatest importance between 1890 and 1895 when more than 30,000 cattle carried the brand.

AIDED THE COMMUNISTS

Greece Sentences A Dozen As Spies

By DMITRI TRAVLOS

ATHENS, Greece, March 1.—A military court today condemned eight Greeks to death and four to life imprisonment on charges of radioing Greek military secrets to Communist nations. One due to die is a woman, defiant in her final words before the court.

Eight other persons were sentenced to lesser prison terms and seven were acquitted at the climax of a sensational two-week trial.

The prosecution had asked the death sentence for a dozen of the ring, accused of sending highly secret information by underground radio transmitters to Cominform headquarters in Bucharest, Romania and other Red stations over a period of months.

Those sentenced to death were Nicholas Beloyannis, reputed mastermind of the ring; Mrs. Elli Ioannidou, Elias Argyriades, Nicholas Caloumenos, Philaretos Lazaridis, Dimitrios Batis, Miltiades Hishianos and Haralambos Touliatos. Life terms went to Dimitra Kartrivanou, Catherine Triantaphyllidou, Dimitrios Prodromides and George Chryssis. Stavros Michalis and Constantine Triantaphyllides got 20 years. Four were sentenced to 15 years, two to 10 years and two got one year.

Defense lawyers said they would appeal the death sentences to the Supreme Court and would ask the military governor of Athens for a reprieve.

The crown prosecutor said the executions would not be carried out within the usual five-day limit set by law, because tomorrow and Monday are Greek holidays. This alone would stay off the executions until next Saturday.

The court deliberated three and one-half hours. Before passing sentence, the presiding judge asked the defendants if they had anything to say.

Mrs. Ioannidou replied "I don't want any leniency or to segregate my activities from other members of the Communist party."

Several defendants pleaded with the court to believe they had repented.

During the trial government witnesses produced codes, radio equipment and copies of wireless messages seized in their case against the ring.

One of the prosecution witnesses, Brig. Gen. Peter Nicolopoulos of the Greek general staff, said suspicions were first aroused last fall when events which had happened in Athens were broadcast by Cominform stations the same day.

The general staff then ordered monitoring of unidentified secret Greek stations and soon found they were sending out highly secret military information. Two such stations were traced to an Athens suburb. The authorities closed in on them in November. They seized the equipment and arrested the 29. Among those hauled in were a doctor, two engineers and a lawyer.

Nicolopoulos said the messages seized showed the ring had been collecting political and economic data as well as military secrets and aimed at weakening the Greek public's morale by propaganda.

This material, the prosecution said, was being used by Moscow and satellite radios in Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania which are continually attacking the Greek government as a puppet of the United States.

Pedroze Radzitis, a police official testified 30,000 Greeks are being trained in neighboring Red nations for an attack on Greece.

$3,625 Verdict In Damage Suit

COLORADO CITY, March 1.—A jury Friday night awarded Mrs. Jack Wright $3,625 in her suit against the Tri-Service Drilling Co.

The suit, which required two days for trial in 32nd District Court, arose from a mishap on Dec. 10, 1949, when a truck belonging to the defendant clipped a low-hanging electric wire near the Watson Barber Shop on East Hill. The wire struck the car driven by Mrs. Wright and pulled it into a curb. She said her back and neck had been injured, and had asked for $62,000 in damages in her petition.

The jury took the case at 8 p. m. Friday and returned its verdict at 11:30 p. m.

The "talent test" was advanced 3 days due to a conflict with a meeting planned for the auditorium on Tuesday night.

MOVED FROM COLORADO CITY

Second Arson Trial For Hotel Owner To Open Here Monday

A second trial of J. S. Rogers, Colorado City hotel owner who is charged with arson, will begin here Monday.

The case was transferred from 32nd District Court in Colorado City to 118th District Court in Big Spring following the first trial last October when a Mitchell County jury was unable to reach a verdict.

Rogers, owner of the Gosnell Hotel in Colorado City, was charged following a fire last June 16 which caused an estimated $30,000 damage to his hotel building.

The first trial required six full days.

District Attorney Elton Gilliland of the 118th District, who will assist District Attorney Eldon Mahon of the 32nd District in the trial here, said "a good truck load" of evidence would be shoved here from Colorado City.

Included are over 80 glass jars, or jugs, containing inflammable liquids which were allegedly found in the hotel building at the time of the fire. Blazes broke out almost simultaneously in the basement and near the roof of the building, and Colorado City firemen and peace officers said that holes had been bored in the floors of pantries and closets and that jars of the liquid were found at various places in the building.

Originally Leroy Lewis, a porter at the hotel, was charged as an accomplice, but charges against Lewis were dismissed on the first day of the first trial.

In Rogers' first trial, which attracted widespread interest throughout West Texas, the hotel owner disclaimed any knowledge of the jars of inflammable liquids. Furthermore, he declared that he knew nothing about the holes which had been bored in the closets and pantries.

Judge Charlie Sullivan has called a jury panel to report at 10 a. m. Monday to begin the trial here.

GOP Will Squawk If Probe Of Tax Office Isn't Pushed

by B. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON, March 1.—Republican tax investigators threatened today to "yell like hell" over any attempt to soft-pedal a pending inquiry into the New York Internal Revenue office.

At the same time, the resignation or removal of Secretary of the Treasury Snyder was demanded by Rep. Reed (R-NY), senior GOP member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

He charged in a statement that Snyder "winked" at irregularities he knew to exist in the New York Internal Revenue office as long as two years ago.

Republican tax probes spoke out against possible soft-pedaling of the New York inquiry as back-stage differences within the House Ways and Means Investigation Subcommittee reached its showdown point.

Some Democratic members of the committee were reported opposed to further investigation by the committee of the New York

Internal Revenue setup, now under a grand jury investigation completed by the Justice Department.

They were reported to be arguing that the committee is not a law-enforcement agency, and should not attempt to take over grand jury functions.

The New York investigation has involved the names of a number of former top Internal Revenue officials—some from New York City.

Among them are former Commissioner Joseph D. Nunan, the target of special-privilege charges by Sen. Williams (R-Del); and James B. E. Olson, former supervisor of the New York alcohol tax unit.

Chairman King (D-Calif) was standing firm, meanwhile, for going ahead with the inquiry. In the event of a showdown, King was expected to side with the three Republican members.

With the committee scheduled to meet early next week to decide its course, GOP members told newsmen they would insist on pressing the inquiry.

DR. AND MRS. NATHAN P. FROLKIS AND CHILDREN

Tropical Fish Are Newcomers' Hobby

There are as many individualists in the family of Dr. Nathan P. Frolkis as there are members of the family, but they have one hobby, originally Dr. Frolkis' own, upon which they all agree. That is the raising of tropical fish.

Dr. Frolkis, in private practice for 15 years, is now associated with the VA Hospital, and the newcomer family from Akron, Ohio, includes besides his attractive and vivacious blonde wife, Lois Marilyn, 13, Carol Jane, 9, and Joseph, 4. They reside at 706 Birdwell Lane.

Dr. Frolkis is a graduate of Adelbert College in Cleveland and she is a graduate of Western Reserve in the same city. Lois Marilyn, an artist and pianist, inherited her talent for art from her mother, also an artist and former school teacher.

Although the hobby of breeding and raising tropical fish originated with the doctor, Mrs. Frolkis now is an authority on her own, pointing out and naming the individual species and their particular characteristics with the same enthusiasm she approaches every other aspect of life. The water in the aquarium is kept at a constant and rather warm temperature by a special electrical device and is continuously circulated through a purifier that keeps it fresh.

After living with the Akron smog for so many years, Mrs. Frolkis had eagerly anticipated their removal to Big Spring, where she thought housekeeping would be so pleasant. She admits that, alas, she reckoned without sand.

The first aid course sponsored by the Shell Pipe Line Oil Company was completed Thursday afternoon after four two-hour lessons which began Monday and me' daily.

The instructor, Lester W. Fisher, safety instructor engineer for the Shell Pipe Line, taught and demonstrated the new type back pressure arm lift method for giving artificial respiration. The method, which has been used by some foreign lands for years, was only adopted by safety organizations of the USA on Nov. 16, 1951.

It is considered better than the old type pressure method in that it not only forces air out of the lungs but also pulls it back in. It is also considered less tiring on the administrator than the old method.

Mr. Fisher issued safety cards from the Shell Pipe Line Corp. to those taking the course and in March a representative of The Bureau of Mines will be here to test those who took the course and he will issue first aid cards from the United States Department of the Interior.

Registering for the course were Mrs. J. H. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Geiger, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Scudday, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Rich, Myrtle McMaisters, Mrs. Fred Raliff, Mrs. Jerry Cosmer, and Arvie Clark.

Parents Of Blind Children Are Helped At Institute

DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT, Chief of Children's Bureau Federal Security Agency

A little boy, not yet of school age, found a broader horizon for his world through an ear of corn. He studied the ear, shelled it, and then took its seed home with him to plant in his own garden.

The little boy is blind, but his parents, and other parents, who have blind children, have learned that blindness need not put rigid limits on their children's future.

This knowledge was strengthened when the parents, all residents of Illinois, attended an institute for Parents of Pre-School Blind Children at Jacksonville, Ill.

The institute is sponsored by the Illinois State Department of Public Welfare, the State Department of Public Instruction, the University of Chicago and the Jacksonville Board of Education.

It was started because these groups believed parents of blind pre-school children could benefit by learning about practices that would help them make their children feel as secure as possible while growing up.

At the sixth annual Institute, held last June, the parents asked consultants questions like how to introduce toys to the child who will not play with them. Parents wanted ideas on adopting common household objects for play. They wanted to know the meaning of blindness, how to accept it, and when a child is likely to realize he is blind.

They wanted to know how blindness should be explained to a child and how parents can get the public to let a child help himself when he is able to do so.

Group discussions, led by trained nursery school people, one of whom also was a trained social worker, gave parents a chance to discuss their problems. The parents also learned how to experiment with clay, finger and brush painting, blowing soap bubbles.

They learned how these materials could be fashioned from equipment found in almost every home.

Parents were asked to bring with them such things as empty coffee cans, old wooden bowls, spools and buttons—a part of an old inner tube. They were shown how these materials can be converted into simple toys.

The parents also saw what their children were doing in nursery school. The staff explained to them why a certain activity was planned—how play experiences can have some meaning to the child.

Children were grouped in the nursery school according to their needs, age and experience. A professional nursery school teacher, assisted by volunteers and kindergarten and primary teachers for the Illinois School for the Blind, supervised the program for the 30-odd children who attended.

The children were taken on two trips to a large, well stocked farm. They were introduced to the animals, the produce and the machinery. Some children rode a pony for the first time.

Every afternoon, the school swimming pool was opened. Water level was lowered to the point where children could paddle in chest high water. Several parents gave their youngsters swimming instructions. A lifeguard was in attendance at all times. Many of the children had never been in the water before.

When the Institute was started in 1946 it was the first limited to mothers and to their children who were between two and five years of age. A minimum of 15 and a maximum of 20 mothers and their children were planned for the institute.

In the 1951 Institute, a total of 110 persons attended, including fathers, mothers, grandmothers, one foster mother and an aunt.

NAPPERS HAVE LEAP YEAR BABY

It will be four long years before one little boy born this week in Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital will have a birthday, for he was born on Leap Year Day.

He is Larry Don, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Napper of 611 Johnson. Born at 9:10 p.m. Feb. 29, he weighed 5 pounds, 9 1/2 ounces.

The Nappers have one other child, Gary Glen, who is 2. The grandparents are Mrs. Pat Patrick of Big Spring and Mrs. W. J. Napper of Lamesa.

Dallas Symphony Last In Fine Arts Series

The Dallas Symphony Orchestra will be presented by the Big Spring Fine Arts Group, as the last in this season's series. Thursday at 8 p. m. at the City Auditorium.

Walter Hendl will conduct and the program will consist of five numbers, including the Overture to "I Vespri Siciliani" by Verdi.

This composition begins with low and somber mottos—in the strings. The tonality changes to the parallel major and a flowing woodwind melody is introduced. A stormy section follows and this is succeeded by a beautiful tune in the violincelli.

Prelude to Act II of "Lohengrin" will be the second number. The Prelude is very animated and, at the same time, rather pompous. Allegro. It has a middle section which is related to the music sung by Elsa in her scene with Ortrud in Act II.

At its premier in 1875, the opera "Carmen" by Bizet proved to be a bomb-shell and the "Gypsy Dance" that the orchestra will play is the dance-song that Carmen sings at the inn.

Immediately before the intermission the symphony will play the Polka and Fugue from the opera,

"Schwanda," by Weinberger. These short and tuneful orchestral excerpts have achieved an incredible number of performances over time. The irrefragable gaiety of the Czech peasant spirit is recognizable here in all its appealing earthiness.

The program will be concluded with the "Symphony No. 3 in E Flat Major (Eroica), Opus 55," by Beethoven. In many ways this is the noblest and grandest song of the man, who was probably the greatest master in all music of nobility and grandeur.

The first movement is titanic in its concept; its duration is not far from twenty minutes. The first funeral march to appear in a symphony, that of the second movement, is tremendous, an epic of grief of an entire nation. Its two subjects are announced by the strings; they are developed and there is a sort of trio in the relative major, introduced by woodwind voices. After a fugal passage, the two principal themes return.

The entire third movement is built around a single subject followed by a trio, the chief interest of which is sustained by the horns.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Jan Masters

The HCJC Jayhawks tied for first place in the Western Zone by winning over the Clarendon Bulldogs 77-71 Saturday night, Feb. 23, in Clarendon.

The Jayhawks were lagging behind and with the help of Bobby Malone, who broke Clarence Jones' scoring record by 33 points, rallied in the last periods, and won the game. Clarence Jones set the record earlier in the year in the game between the Jayhawks and Schreiner Institute.

On Tuesday night, the Clarendon Bulldogs played the Amarillo Badgers. Amarillo won the game. The Jayhawks were to play Amarillo in Plainview Friday night, Feb. 29. This playoff was to determine which team goes to the state meet to be held in Waco Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Some of the HCJC fans making the trip were Pat Lloyd, Jan Masters, Beverly Jones, Marilyn Miller, Lou Ann Nall, Shirley Riddle, Jimmie Jennings, Chester Cluck, Judy Lawson, Anita Forrest, Jo Nell West, Elizabeth Cope, Jean Stratton and others. Fine school spirit was shown by all. This was a very good game.

The third shipment of the Jayhawk for 1952 was sent to the Stock Company in Austin Feb. 27. The last shipment of the annual will be sent in March. The annual will arrive sometime the latter part of May.

Harry Plumley, director of the Big Spring High School Choir, visited the rehearsal of the HCJC Choir Tuesday.

The HCJC Choir sang for the ABC Club on Friday. The choir sang "Cindy," "Soon Ah Will Be Done," "Almighty God of Our Fathers," "There is a Balm in Gilead," featuring Jan Masters as soloist; "Home," "Were You There?" "Homing," "The sextette sang a selection of numbers: "I'll See You in My Dreams," "Be My Love" and several others. The sextette is composed of Pat Lloyd, Jo Nell West, Evelyn Arnold, Anita Forrest, Lou Ann Nall, and Jimmie Bennett. They are accompanied by Jean Stratton.

The HCJC Choir also sang for the World Day of Prayer on Friday. The choir sang "There is a Balm in Gilead," featuring Jan Masters as soloist and "Almighty God of Our Fathers."

The choir is under the direction of Elizabeth Cope and is accompanied by Jean Stratton. Several new members have been added to the choir since last semester.

An assembly was held Thursday morning for the purpose of discussing plans to go to Plainview for the basketball game between HCJC and Amarillo JC Friday night.

An assembly program was presented to the student body and faculty of HCJC on Friday morning by the elementary schools. This program was enjoyed by all. The assembly program was followed by a pep rally. Good spirit was shown by all.

Marilyn Miller and Wanda Petty, who are attending Baylor University, are visiting at home this week. We are always glad to see the college kids home for vacation.

Many new books for the departments of science, biology, English, history and others have been placed in the HCJC library. Among them, these are very interesting: "Introduction to Atomic Physics" by Otto Oldenberg; "Peace Can Be Won" by Paul G. Hoffman;

"Ceramics and Pottery-making for Everyone" and "How to Make Tiles, Pottery, Jewelry, and Gifts" by Carol Zaraway, two books for beginners in the course of ceramics; "Fundamentals of Electricity" by McDougal, Dunlap, and Ransom; "You and Your Heart" by Dr. Marvin, Wright, Page, Jones, and Rutecki; "Modern Science and Christian Faith" by thirteen members of the American Scientific Affiliation; "The Eleven Religions" by Champion; "On Being a Real Person" by Harry Emerson Fosdick; "The House Divided" by Ben Ames Williams; "Winning Your Way With People" by K. C. Ingram; and "Treasury of Religious Plays" by T. S. Brown.

The basic night classes of HCJC taught by Cano Martinez and Mrs. Dorothy Davis visited in the library Monday and Tuesday evenings to continue their orientation lessons.

The study of words and their use in one's vocabulary will be stressed in the series of lessons this coming Monday and Tuesday evenings in the library. The ten things to be obtained from the use of a dictionary about a word will be one of the objectives. These lessons are under the instruction of the librarian, Mrs. Taylor.

Several HCJC rooters who made the trip to Amarillo to see the game between the Jayhawks and the Badgers last Friday were Jean Stratton, Beverly Jones, Judy Lawson, Jo Nell West, Anita Forrest, Evelyn Arnold, Elizabeth Cope, Jimmie Jennings, Chester Cluck and many others.

There have been numerous visitors to the campus recently. L. J. Thompson of Big Spring visited the library with Bruce Frazier to look over the books of astronomy.

Mr. Thompson is to receive his Doctor's degree in English at Tech in the near future. He is the new instructor in the English department at HCJC. He is also a graduate of TCU in Fort Worth. HOURGLASS FIGURE

Herbert Sondheim Designs This Built-In Cape Dress

Hourglass figure for a timeless you. Yes, we say timeless, because Herbert Sondheim's built-in cape dress is something you'll be able to wear any hour of the day, knowing that you look every inch of the woman Sondheim wants you to be.

Perhaps you gather from this that we like Mr. S. Well, who doesn't like to wear clothes that are the last word in classic, well-bred design—clothes that make you look like a lady whether you're one or not? Who doesn't like to be known for the company she keeps—especially if, with or without a calling card (label, you know) her good taste is in evidence?

So we ask you to peruse this basically right dress, commending to your nimble fingers its oh, so new cape that points West. Its tailored severity is relieved by the magnificence of the full skirt (which can be crinoline, if your state of mind decrees).

If you're a business woman where being well-dressed shows up in your paycheck, we especially commend Pattern No. 1087 to you. The white pique over-collar is removable, leaving a plain collar underneath. In the original, this basic dress was fashioned of black wool faille, but it could be adapted to taffeta, faille, linen, cotton—in a word, the choice of fabric is strictly yours.

Size 12 requires 5 7/8 yds. of 39-inch fabric, with 1/2 yd. of 39-inch fabric being required for contrast. Patterns are available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. To order Pattern No. 1087, send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc. Dept. 164, 23 East 22nd St. New York 10, N. Y. For air mail handling, enclose 25 cents. To order our new pattern booklet, send 15 cents.

General Federation To Name Woman And Man Of Year

WORTHAM—Texans were today invited to help choose the United States' outstanding man and woman of the year.

The invitation came, fittingly enough, as the state celebrated Independence Day with tributes to those forefathers who won Texas its freedom.

Mrs. Van Hook Stubbs of Wortham, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, explained that the honor of "Man and Woman of the Year" will be bestowed by the General Federation in May as a highpoint of the national convention in Minneapolis.

The award is to go to the two selected by the nation's clubs and clubwomen. Recommendations must be based on service in the community, state, nation, or world. Either individuals or clubs may nominate candidates by mailing their choice to Federation headquarters in Austin by March 25. The federation's executive committee will select the one to be the state's nominee for each honor.

Sorbent, silent, snug . . . they fit most any glass . . . adding an attractive note, as well as serving a practical purpose. At $1.95 a set, these super-silent coasters would make an appreciated gift for self or friends for any occasion.

FUN IN THE SUN . . . comfort from a cool wind blows . . . that's what you have with Shenanigans sportswear's 3-piece ensemble at ZACK'S OF MARGO'S. The halter top and full skirt with soft unpressed pleats are styled in dashing plaid accented with a glittering metallic thread, and they're topped with a solid color linen bolero jacket. It's a dress to wear smartly under cover—or bare to the sun as the weather warms. It's smart to choose this 3-in-1 wardrobe wonder, because it's a dress that plays more than one role . . . mix and match to your fancy . . . a change with your changes of mood . . . and it's pure drama when the jacket disappears to show off the sun-gathering glamor of the dress.

GALA, GLITTERING JEWELRY . . . There's no need to spend a king's ransom for glamour, when you can put a twinkle in your spring wardrobe with the distinctly different costume jewelry at HARDESTY DRUG. They have just received a group of Ippel pins, scatter pins and earrings that are sure to inspire your imaginative flair. There's nothing like sparkling accessories to make you stand out in a crowd, to add a certain alertness to your clothes . . . and you'll find all sorts of patterns in bright and shiny rhinestones, lustrous pearls, and brilliantly enameled pieces. All are backed with sterling silver or gold plated sterling, and they're all priced at a rarely-to-be-found low of $1.29 plus tax. You'll want to see these costume enhancers—you'll find their low prices irresistible.

TRADITIONALLY . . . nothing but the best will do. Tradition and weddings go hand in hand, and now that spring is upon us, many weddings of the season are being planned. The tradition of the wedding reception is a most important point, and the best in food is a must. Mr. Bowen at the DOUGLASS HOTEL will do the catering for your wedding with all the beauty and dignity that the occasion deserves, and he will plan, prepare and serve the choicest of fare. In keeping with all the loveliness of Lohengrin and Lace. Preparing for a wedding is a busy time, and the assurance that your reception will be planned to perfection is a calming influence when you need it the most.

DRESS PARADE

By Jen Wieser

At the tea given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. G. T. Hall, Mrs. Alfred Collins, a guest, was attractive in a silk suit of teal gray fallie with red cuffs on the three-quarter length jacket sleeves. A white all-silk scarf striped in gray was tucked into the neck and at her shoulder was a huge red cabbage rose. Her red straw hat was trimmed with velvet and white violets, and her beaded earrings were white and red. She carried white gloves, a black patent bag and her black pumps were of mesh and patent.

At the same party Mrs. Lewis Price was a lovely figure all in red and navy. Her red crepe dress with bell sleeves was splashed with a brush print in navy, buttons down the front to the waistline with navy bone buttons, and the brim of her navy straw was faced in red. Navy kid shoes, a navy fallie bag and white gloves completed the ensemble except for a glittering rhinestone pin at the neckline.

Carol Lane, the travel expert who spoke here last week to a large audience of clubwomen and homemaking class girls, fascinated her listeners with some of her clothes tricks. Among other things, she buys a basic velvet cloche that fits her head closely and then transforms it into chapeaux to fit a number of occasions. For a flowered, dressy hat, she buys an ordinary mesh hatnet at the dime store, sews artificial flowers all over it, fits the net over the hat and presto! she has a spring bonnet. For evening wear, she pulls an ordinary Choro Girl (gold colored metal) used for cleaning pots and pans apart, and fits it over the basic hat in the same manner. To prove this was not a flight into her fancy,

Exhibition Chooses Best Of Modern New Designs

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

When a furnishing of yesterday's home was said to belong in a museum, it was old, costly and rare, often one of a kind. But any home today can boast many items that are actually shown in a great museum, and that are new, mid-dling to low-priced and made in quantity.

This all began with the Museum of Modern Art in New York decided to give showings of low cost objects that were outstanding for their good design. Then, two years ago, the Museum of Modern Art joined with Chicago's Merchandise Mart to give a perpetual exhibition called Good Design in both cities, for which the Museum committee, every January and June, chooses the best designed home furnishings that were put on the market during the previous six months.

The best designed home furnishings, according to Edgar Kaufmann, Jr., of the Museum and his selection committee, may be refrigerators, dishwashers, furniture, fabrics, wastebaskets, dinnerware or door mats, carpet, wallpaper or portable saws — all are in the show now. The new winners run to furniture, fabrics and decorative accessories, some of which are sketched, and include breathtaking Siamese silks now being imported and glassware that ever ystore will soon have at $1.20 for eight.

More wood furniture and less wrought iron is shown this time, although the iron base table sketched at lower right is outstanding and wrought iron is frequently seen in the candelabrum. The table, with a white linoleum top, and the candelabrum were designed by Darrell Landrum. The chair by Allen Gould at lower left combines black steel with natural saddle leather. The wood furniture sketched is a fashion chair in natural birch by Donna Rosen and an 88-inch coffee table in walnut, a sycamore and walnut coffee table and a maple and walnut dining chair, all in natural finishes and designed by Finn Juhl.

Britain's Elizabeth II Possesses All Qualities Desirable In Queen

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff

If specifications were drawn for the qualities desirable in a Queen, none could come closer to filling them than Elizabeth II.

By birth, temperament, inclination and attitudes, the new brown-haired, blue-eyed monarch is as British as Yorkshire Pudding. At 25, this slender, poised and dignified girl has become the empire's best salesman and shows her adult understanding of the relationship between the throne and the people.

Elizabeth has behind her years of a secure, uncomplicated and close-knit family life which, until her adored Uncle David's abdication, was not too different from other children of wealthy English families.

Her father, Albert, Duke of York, was a second son. He married for love, a commoner, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Scottish Earl of Strathmore and a descendant of Macbeth. Through her mother, Elizabeth becomes Britain's first sovereign with a shot of American blood in her veins, for a maternal ancestor was Robert Porteous of Virginia. (Porteous' wife was a cousin of George Washington's father.)

While her Uncle David, the Prince of Wales, was the gay bachelor, her father was a fireside-living, domestic man. The Duke, and his pretty, charming wife, were perfectly content living a simple life largely devoted to their children.

The little Princess' earliest years were largely in the hands of Mrs. Clara Knight, invariably called "Aiah" by the entire family, who also had been her mother's Nanny.

The nursery, which soon included Margaret Rose, three years Elizabeth's junior, also demanded an under-purse and a nursemaid. These were two sisters, Margaret—called "Bobo"—and Ruby MacDonald, who later became the personal maids of the two sisters. "Bobo" accompanied then-Princess Elizabeth on her recent visit to Canada and the United States.

A governess, Marion Crawford, was added to the nursery menage when Elizabeth was five and it was time to start lessons. Miss Crawford remained an intimate of the family until after the birth of Prince Charles some three years ago, and recently wrote a warm, intimate book of the childhood of the two little princesses.

She recalls her arrival at the Duke's home, with curly-haired "Lilibet" sitting up in her bed, "driving her team of horses." The reins consisted of the string of her bathrobe, and the horses were the two bed-posts. Horses, it turns out, were Elizabeth's first and abiding interest in life.

While still a toddler, Elizabeth was asked by a guest what she wanted to be when she grew up, and gravely responded: "I would like to be a horse." She has turned out to be a superb rider.

Elizabeth was quick at learning and had a good memory. Her mother taught her to read, and her governess carried on with the usual required subjects.

Even as a little girl, Elizabeth showed clearly the qualities which today shine clear on her face and reflect in her every movement. She also gave evidence of a healthy temper when crossed, but usually controlled it, even when small. She had a real stubborn streak — and a mind of her own.

Quite remarkable all through her life has been her sense of responsibility, and her constant desire to do the correct thing at the correct time. She has an almost amusing maternal attitude about her care-free, mischievous younger sister. This didn't change much over the years.

After Edward VIII's abdication, the family moved from its simple, unpretentious home at 143 Piccadilly to Buckingham Palace. Even though their parents assumed many more responsibilities, the little girls continued to lead a secluded, private life. George — whom she called "Papa" — began to talk to her frequently about state matters. It was obvious that she would probably inherit the throne, but until she was almost 18, no one mentioned it.

The major part of the war years were spent at Windsor, while the King and Queen continued to remain at Buckingham Palace. Life went on much the same — a round of lessons, Girl Guide troop meetings and play times. They experienced the same shortages as everyone else.

Elizabeth always had a sweet tooth — like her mother. She never drank, except an occasional sip of champagne, nor did she ever take up smoking.

She always has been a serious girl, concerned with the earnest things of life. But she is not without a dry sense of humor. Elizabeth is practical, thorough and hard-working. Everything about her, from the top of her dressing table to her approach to her daily schedule, is simple, neat and orderly.

Her favorite pastimes remain riding and swimming. She loves the theatre and dancing. She is quite musical; plays the piano a bit, and has a sweet, true and small singing voice. To the dismay of that fabulous needle-woman, her grandmother, Elizabeth knits badly and hates sewing. During the war — and against her father's wishes — she joined the British equivalent of the W.A.C. and learned to dismantle and put together an automobile.

Her marriage to Prince Philip was a real love story, made more remarkable that Elizabeth picked as the object of her affections a young man suitable in every way to sue for her hand.

She first met him — and was immediately attracted to him — when she was in her early teens and the war was going on.

When the announcement of her engagement came after her return from the Royal African tour, it surprised practically no one. As a marriage, in addition to being made in heaven, it was made to order for the British empire, once Philip dropped his Greek citizenship in favor of British.

Soon Elizabeth continued her faultless career as a proper heiress to the throne. Her first child was a boy, Prince Charles. Her second was a girl, Princess Anne.

Expert Says Interior Decorating So Much Hokum --- Anyone Can Do It

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
Dorothy Draper, appraiser-upsetter of the decorating world, says American women, known as the world's best-dressed, produce some of the world's worst-dressed homes.

She holds that most of the mysterious aura surrounding the science of interior decorating is so much hokum, and insists that anybody can do it.

Mrs. Draper is living proof of her theory. Though she has been responsible for changing the whole current concept of decorating, she admits lightly she never studied the stuff at all, knows nothing of period furniture and "really never went to school."

A brief skirmish with a young ladies' finishing school constituted most of the formal education of this light-hearted tycoon, who now turns out whole housing projects, luxury hotels, modern apartment buildings and private homes in gay, unorthodox colors and functional furnishings.

Mrs. Draper, who gives off enough energy to run an atom-busting machine, says dressing and decorating are two halves of the same apple. She explains:

"Thanks to our fashion magazines, the average 16-year-old girl nowadays is a wizard at planning her own clothes."

"But when this same girl gets married and starts buying furniture, rugs and draperies for her new home, she often goes haywire. She starts out with no definite plan in mind, buys a bed here, a chair there and a lamp someplace else, puts them all together and then wonders why nothing looks right."

Mrs. Draper has some practical advice for the woman starting out to decorate a home or an apartment.

"First she should go out and buy some big brown envelopes—one for each room she's going to furnish. In each envelope goes all the data she has gathered up on the kind of effect she wants—color scheme, fabric swatches and so on."

"Then she should buy a six-foot rule, a supply of soft pencils and some big sheets of paper, which she marks into one-foot squares. On each sheet of paper she locates the necessary items of furniture, and with crayons she blobs in the colors."

"Next she lists the things she must buy. For the living room she will need one divan, two end tables, two lamps, two arm chairs, a coffee table, a rug and pictures for the walls."

"She shouldn't try to economize too much on the main pieces of furniture. She shouldn't buy anything that later she will want to throw away. It's better to splurge on handsome lamps, for instance, and save on such things as the end tables."

"Her color scheme can be one of three things: (a) sharp contrasts, such as white walls, a red carpet and black accents, for instance; (b) all one color—such as walls, rugs, drapes and furniture all the same tone of light blue; (c) blended tones of various colors. This is the thing most women try to do, and is by far the most difficult."

The amateur decorator can't go wrong, however, says Mrs. Draper, if she takes the suggestions of the manufacturers of rugs,

Making Bedspread

If you are making a separate coverlet style bedspread, measure from the top of the bed to a point down on the sides and foot where the drop should end. Allow at least three inches more than actual depth of the mattress. A separate skirt or dust ruffle should be measured from the top of the box spring to the floor, also allowing for hem.

The oil from a Brazil nut, black walnut or castor oil will sometimes effectively cover scratches and scars on furniture, according to experts. Cut the nut meat in half and rub well into the scratch. Iodine works well on mahogany, and brown shoe dye is good on walnut.

drapes and such, on coordinated colors, textures and fabrics. These companies are hiring top designers to work out complete room plans that are almost fool-proof.

Mrs. Draper, who believes that everybody needs some color in his life, does everything on a big scale, hates dinky things, doesn't care how many periods are combined, just so they are in scale—and look right."

At Rent Control Parley

Three members of the Big Spring rent advisory board confer in Dallas with Tighe E. Woods, director of the Office of Rent Stabilization. Left to right are J. D. Elliott, W. D. Berry, Woods, and H. L. Shirley. The three Big Spring men, along with similar groups from throughout a four-state region, participated in a special rent clinic arranged by Woods. Similar clinics will be held in other regions of the country.

Rent Stabilization Kept On Local Basis Of Control, Director Tells Conference

DALLAS, March 1—Local rent control advisory boards are empowered to give their respective communities rent control tailored to their own needs, Tighe E. Woods, director of the Office of Price Stabilization, told board members at a four-state rent clinic in Dallas Friday.

The boards, which serve without pay, can "do anything I can do," Woods said in describing the broad framework of the law under which they work.

The advisory board acts somewhat as a jury in hearing both landlords and tenants on controversial matters, and the law gives the board power to act on its own, Woods explained.

"We who are trying to stabilize rents, particularly in overcrowded military and defense areas couldn't do our jobs without the wonderful assistance of the rent advisory board members," Woods added.

Meeting with the board members in Dallas were military housing officials and OPS staff members from the four-state region. Advisory board members from Big Spring who attended were J. D. Elliott, W. D. Berry and H. L. Shirley.

The clinic was the first of a new series being held across the country by Woods and eight members of his Washington staff.

AIRMEN ARE HAPPY

AFB Is Now Paying From Its Own Office

Love of money may be the root of all evil... but just try to convince the Airmen at Big Spring Air Force Base of that! Especially now that they have their own Finance Office operating on the base.

Captain John R. Wood, Base Finance Officer, said Saturday that "pay-by-mail for base personnel and civilian employees is practically a thing of the past."

Friday was the first time since the re-activation of the Big Spring installation that base personnel were paid in cash by their own finance office. Until then, all personnel were paid by check issued from the Finance Office at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock.

In the future, all matters pertaining to finance, as well as payrolls will be computed and settled right on the base by qualified Air Force and civilian personnel. Captain Wood in his statement Friday estimated that when the base is up to full strength, (sometime in April) the total pay roll for military and civilian personnel at the base will be approximately $600,000 monthly. However he pointed out that this figure is actually only a small part of the total Air Force money which will circulate into the Big Spring area. The estimated expenditure at the base for supplies, services and pay rolls will be approximately $1 million monthly. This money will find its way into the hands of all types of business concerns in the Big Spring area, from landlords, grocers, banks and clothing stores to movies and bus companies, and even the paper boys who deliver the daily paper.

The Finance Office, operating under the Wing Comptroller, is under the experienced guidance of Captain John R. Wood, Collinswood, N. J. Captain Wood is a graduate of the Air Force Finance School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

Immediately prior to being ordered to his present assignment, Captain Wood was stationed at Ellington Air Force Base in Houston where he served as Finance Officer there.

A veteran of eleven years of active military service, Captain Wood includes more than four years of foreign service in his tour of duty. He is the holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with 2 Oak Leaf Clusters and the Asiatic-Pacific Theater Ribbon with 4 bronze battle stars.

Glasscock Co. Organized For Red Cross Work

GARDEN CITY, March 1 (Sp)—A group of workers for the Howard-Glasscock Red Cross chapter is ready to join in the annual fund solicitation which gets under way next week. J. F. Jones, superintendent of schools, will head the drive, and has ten people working with him to cover the entire county.

The group includes: R. C. Newell in the schools, Wilburn Bednar at St. Lawrence, R. C. Dodd in the far southwest part of the county, T. M. Lindsey on the Sterling City Route, Mrs. A. M. Nunley in the Atlantic Camp; Wayne Nance in the Continental Camp; Mrs. Lorin McDowell in the Lees Community, Mrs. A. Geiger and Mrs. I. L. Watkins in and around Garden City, and Mrs. John Priddy in the Line Community.

Glasscock County contributed over $700 in last year's campaign, and volunteers are hoping the sum will be larger this year. Donations will be received by Jones or any of the solicitors.

Peru Approves Bill For Oil Exploration

The measure was returned to the Chamber of Deputies today for approval of minor amendments.

Money In The Vault?

THE 'GOLDEN' YEAR

Special Events On Calendar For Schools' Anniversary

Dates for several events connected with the 50th anniversary celebration of the Big Spring Independent School District have been confirmed.

Still tentative but probably a firm date for the dedication of the new senior high school is March 23.

Mrs. W. N. Norred, president of the Parent-Teacher Council and general chairman of a special Golden Anniversary observance committee for the district, said that the committee had announced these firm dates:

The annual spring concert of the high school choir and the women's chorus under direction of Harry Lee Plumley on April 18.

Annual spring concert of the junior and senior high school bands under the direction of J. W. King, Jr. on April 25.

Annual girls physical education program under the direction of Arsh Phillips on May 2.

The traditional all-elementary school May fests and musical pageant coordinated by Mrs. Bill Griese on May 9.

Finale for the celebration will be the commencement, due to be set the week of May 18-24. Plans call for securing the services of some outstanding Big Spring High School

MIG Advantages Revealed By Ranking AF Officer

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 1 (U)—The Russian-built MIG-15 fighter plane "can fly at higher altitudes and maneuver better" than U. S. jet planes now in combat in Korea, according to a high-ranking Air Force officer.

Brig. Gen. A. Robert Ginsburgh, special assistant to the Secretary of Defense, speaking here last night, added:

"But our jets dive better, we have better pilots, our jet plane machine-gun fire is superior to the MIG's cannon in rate of fire... The aerial combat score is the answer."

"To date, we have knocked down 225 MIG-15s. We have lost 23 of our jet fighters. This is today's actual air-to-air combat figure. It's about a 10 to 1 ratio," he said.

In respect to total aircraft lost in the Korean fighting, Gen. Ginsburgh said that "400 planes of ours have been knocked off... 250 of theirs have been knocked off."

"The reason is," he said, "we're actively engaged in supporting our ground troops. The Communists are not." He added that the Red anti-aircraft "has improved immensely."

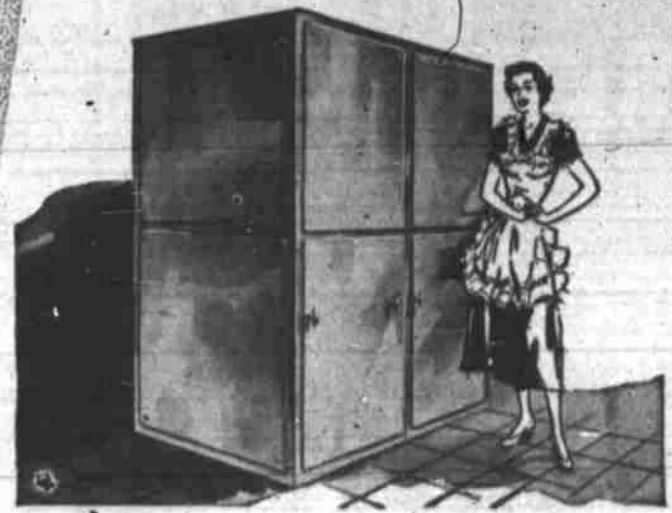

As to wartime cooperation of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force, Gen. Ginsburgh emphasized that the three commands "may not be working out so well in the Pentagon but anybody who comes back from Korea will tell how well they are working out together over there."

PURGES HAVEN'T HIT HIM YET

Eisler Must Be Pretty Rough Since Deputy Turnover Heavy

By TOM REEDY
BERLIN (AP)—It takes an expert to keep up with the purges in Gerhardt Eisler's propaganda shop for the Russian zone of Germany.

The 50-year-old Eisler apparently is too good at rough-and-tumble Communist politics to be snared in the periodic cleanouts, despite persistent Western reports that he is on the way out.

Only one man has survived the fight for political existence in Eisler's information setup. He is Albert Norden, a Communist with a long record of devotion to the Kremlin. Norden says, because he has been smart enough to avoid aspirations to Eisler's position.

JAYCEES SPONSOR

'Talent Test' Set Here On March 21

'Talent Test' time, sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce, promises to offer a lively entertainment evening when the show is put on March 21 in the City Auditorium.

Local talent will have a chance to vie for cash awards as well as an appearance with Slim Willitt and his band on the Big State Jamboree program from Abilene. Winners will get an all-expenses paid trip in order to fulfill that engagement.

Willitt, himself, will assist the hunt for local talent with an appearance here the night of the show to provide background music and to act as master of ceremonies.

Talented Big Springers are being urged to attend a meeting Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m., in the City Auditorium in order to assemble the acts and schedule them for appearance in the show.

Besides Willitt and his aggregation, two local bands will be on hand to lend variety and to aid entertainers.

Jaycee sponsors urge that all persons interested attend the Tuesday meeting and they stress that no act will be turned down because of lack of adaptability to radio. If it is an act that has to be seen, then cash awards will be presented instead. Of course, if the acts are able to appear on radio, then cash awards will also be presented.

If you cannot attend the Tuesday night meeting but wish to appear on the program March 21, a phone call to 3300 will put your name on the list of performers.

If this program proves to be a success, Jaycee sponsors expect to make it an annual affair.

Tickets are priced at $1 for adults and 40 cents for children. They will go on sale shortly.

Hearing Authority Here For Clinic

Mr. F. A. Fischer a recognized authority on hearing, will show the amazing BELTONE at the Crawford Hotel on Monday, March 3 from 1 to 3 p.m.

Mr. Fischer is a representative of Fischer's Beltone Hearing Service of San Angelo and Abilene and will have a complete stock of batteries for most makes of hearing aids.

Come in and have your hearing tested without any obligation and tell him about your hearing troubles.

JAYCEE MEET IS CANCELLED

Monday's luncheon meeting of the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce has been cancelled, officers of the organization said Saturday.

The meeting is being dispensed with because of the Red Cross luncheon meeting at the Settles, to be addressed by Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright. Many Jaycees will be at the Red Cross affair.

In predicting the weather, the forecaster generally tries to determine the distance and direction of travel of high and low pressure areas in the atmosphere.

Riding THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

M. H. King of St. Jo, Texas, and Pete Cook of Muenster, recently took delivery of nine young purebred Hereford bulls from the Ed Martin herd.

Cook and King bought some bulls from Ed Simpson and other Howard County breeders earlier in the year and then planned to return here for the annual Howard County-South Plains Association sale, Feb. 11th.

They weren't able to get back for the sale, but they liked the Howard County bulls so well they returned afterward and made a deal with Martin.

The Grub Liner, riding here and there, from place to place, looking for the handout of an interesting news item, hopes the Herefordmen won't hold it against him that he changed the head of the column from Hereford Herd Talk. Naturally, it will continue to be predominantly Hereford in its livestock coverage, since more than 95 per cent of the cattle in Howard County are Herefords.

And, the Grub Liner will need the help of friends. If you have an interesting agricultural news item please let him have it. He will always be hanging around, as near as your telephone or your mail box.

The supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District tell the Grub Liner that the site for a stock pond has been located on the D. H. Snyder Ranch, southeast of Coahoma, by Ray Swann, ranch manager. They say Swann plans to build an 8,000-cubic yard pond in order to get better distribution of grazing and water in the southeast pasture.

They also report that Raymond Kelly, a new co-operator with the district, who farms three miles northwest of Big Spring, has about 40 acres of shinnery sand on which he is going to try to establish grass. Kelly has recently received a sack of Buffel Grass to try on this 40 acres.

Eighty-three head of purebred Herefords sold for a total of $34,985 at the Oklahoma-Kansas Hereford Breeders Association sale at Blackwell, Okla.

The top bull sold for $1,200. The 20 top bulls averaged $650 and the 10 top females made a $632 average.

L. J. Davidson, co-operating with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, is plowing down and leveling his old graded terraces and plans to build new ones with broad bases, in order to hold more water on his land. Davidson, whose farm is located seven miles northeast of Big Spring, plans to construct the terraces himself with a Whirlwind terracing machine.

J. W. Elrod has had a little more than three miles of terrace lines run on his farm, five miles south of Vealmoor. Part of this farm was already terraced and these lines will complete the system of terraces on his farm, technicians of the Big Spring office of the Soil Conservation Service said.

A record number of 519 purebred Hereford bulls went to buyers from 19 states at an average of $768 in the 26th annual American Hereford Association's Roundup sale at Kansas City this week. Hereford breeders from 13 states consigned the bulls and 23 females

Ivy Hill Farms, Forest, Virginia, for $35,000. Another son of the 43rd, CIP Larry Domino 64th, went on a bid of $31,000 to the Countess Hereford Ranch of Elaine, Arkansas, and he top female, a daughter of the 43rd, brought $3,900 on the Circle J Ranch of Johnson City, Tenn.

At the Fowler Hereford Farm's dispersion sale at Hattiesburg, Miss., during the week, the purebred Herefords drew an average investment of $1.27 per head.

The 112 females averaged $1,097, and the 14 bulls averaged $2,862. The top price of the sale was $25,000 paid by Carl Frierer of Hazlehurst, Miss., for HG Royal Mixer 2108.

This picture is playing at the Ritz Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, as part of a Texas-wide premiere showing—in tribute to General Oliver P. Smith, a Texan who sounded the classic remark, "Retreat, hell! . . . we're just attacking in another direction."

Crucial Moment

Sheldon Leonard gets the rough treatment from James Cagney, in this scene from "Come Fill The Cup." This Tuesday-Wednesday feature at the Ritz puts Cagney on the law's side in an action story of a city's war on crime.

The Samaritans, age-old enemies of the Galileans, greet their professed friendship with violence, and Philip begs the Master's vengeance. AT RITZ TODAY
Doris Day Starred In Musical Comedy

It's gaiety time at the Ritz theatre again today and Monday, with the screening of the musical comedy, "I'll See You In My Dreams." Doris Day, the current favorite songstress o' movies and radio is starred, along with Danny Thomas, a star of the night club and stage circuit.

The story is based on incidents in the career of Gus Kahn, one of the country's noted song writers, and this gives opportunity for presentation of dozens of hit tunes which have been favorites through the years.
Among them, in addition to the title song, are "Makin' Whoopee," "Ain't We Got Fun," "It Had To Be You," "My Buddy," "Nobody's Sweetheart," "The One I Love Belongs To Somebody Else," and "I Wish I Had A Girl." There are numerous others.
Danny Thomas appears in the role of Kahn. He happens to be a

James Cagney Takes A Role On Law's Side

Along screen career of James Cagney is said to touch a new high with an unusual portrayal in the drama, "Come Fill The Cup," the Tuesday-Wednesday feature at the Ritz Theatre.

Cagney started in show business as a hooper, then rose to fame in films as a tough guy, but in "Come Fill The Cup," he is on the law's side.

He is a city editor of a large metropolitan newspaper, and undertakes an unusual assignment in behalf of his publisher, one for which he is peculiarly adapted and competent by reason of his life up until he had become a top newsmen.

There is strong suspense and an electric dramatic air in the unfolding of the adventure surrounding the newsmen's activities in the big city.

Raymond Massey, Gig Young, Jimmy Gleason and Sheldon Leonard are in support of Cagney, and Phyllis Thaxter plays opposite him in the leading feminine role.

Strange Episode In History Told In 'Tall Target'

"The Tall Target," on view tonight and Monday night at the Terrace Drive-In, proves that fact is stranger than fiction. This picture, with Dick Powell and Paul Raymond starred, provides a suspenseful mystery, in dealing with a much-disputed page in American history. This is the page that tells of a plot to assassinate President-elect Abraham Lincoln enroute to Washington for his inauguration in 1861.

Photographed almost entirely on a railroad train running from New York to Washington, "The Tall Target" stars Powell in the role of a New York police detective who resigns his post with the force in an attempt to foil the plot single-handed.
Miss Raymond plays a Southern belle innocently involved in the intrigue. Adolphe Menjou is seen as a colonel who believes the inauguration of Lincoln will mean ruin for the country. Marshall Thompson is another in the cast, as Miss Raymond's brother who has a fanatic hatred for Lincoln.

"Little David," perhaps the largest gun ever built, was a U. S. Army siege mortar that could hurl a shell weighing nearly two tons to a target more than five miles away.

Errol Flynn In Familiar Role As Adventurer

The fabulous New Orleans of 1860, a colorful and robust town, is brought to life again as the locale of an adventure story, "Adventures of Captain Fabian," playing at the State Theatre today and Monday.
Errol Flynn is starred, in one of his familiar swashbuckling roles. It's a stirring story of family intrigue, sultry romance and violent action which rages from a flaming ship to lynch-mob hysteria.

A newcomer, Micheline Prele, plays opposite Flynn, and other players include Vincent Price, Agnes Moorehead and Victor Francen.
The story concerns the famous ruling family of New Orleans, the Brissacs, who ride rough-shod over everything that stands in their way. They encounter fierce opposition in the person of the daughter of a harmless old woman who had been hanged for witchcraft, and she fights an unjust accusation of murder. It's the cocky skipper of a vessel, Captain Fabian (Flynn) who saves the girl through the threat of revealing what he knows about the Brissac family. Action develops at a fast pace, to iron out all this bitterness and intrigue.

TEXAS PREMIERE SHOWING
Marines' Valor At Pusan Is Glorified In 'Retreat, Hell!'

Texas Rangers' Adventures Told In Lyric Picture

The glory-filled story of "The Texas Rangers," relentless enemies of the outlaw gangs that once terrorized Texas, plays today and Monday at the Lyric Theatre.
The outdoor drama co-stars George Montgomery and Gale Storm. Others in the cast are Jerome Courtland, Noah Beery Jr. and William Bishop. The film was made in Supercolor.
"The Texas Rangers" concentrates on the story of one Ranger, played by Montgomery, who was one too many for the toughest gang in the West. An ex-outlaw himself, Montgomery goes gunning for Sam Bass and his vicious killers when they ambush his younger brother, a Ranger. Miss Storm plays a crusading publisher who is Montgomery's romantic interest. Courtland is the younger brother, Beery is Montgomery's sidekick and Bishop plays Bass.

A film epic of the Marines in action in Korea last year comes to the Ritz Theatre for three days beginning Thursday.

It's called "Retreat, Hell!" and gets its title from the famed utterance of General Oliver P. Smith at Pusan, when the Chinese Reds pushed into North Korea. General Smith's observation was: "Retreat, hell! We're just attacking in another direction!"
And, in tribute to Smith, who happens to be a Texan, the picture is getting a Texas-wide premiere. The screening here is a part of the state presentation, being done up with special fanfare. Gen. Smith is a native of Menard, and a veteran of more than 31 years of Marine Corps service.
Gen. Smith is now the Commanding General at Camp Pendleton, California, where "Retreat, Hell!" was filmed with the cooperation of the Marine Corps. Frank Lovejoy, Richard Carlson, Rusty Tamblyn and Anita Louise have the starring roles in the motion picture. Hundreds of Marine veterans of the Korean fighting participated in the battle sequences depicted in the production, for which Captain Benjamin S. Read, a Purple Heart survivor of the Chosin action, was the technical adviser. Included in the cast were Peter Ortiz, a Colonel in the Marine Corps reserve and one of World War II's most decorated fighting men, Mort Thompson, a Marine captain in World War II, and Joseph Keane, who was mustered out of the Marine Corps just in time to put the uniform on again as an actor.

Milton Sperling, who wrote and produced "Retreat, Hell!" was also a Marine captain during World War II and is now a major in the Marine Corps Reserve.
The Texas premiere showings of "Retreat, Hell!" launch the nationwide presentation of the motion picture. The action shown in the film covers the Inchon landings, capture of Seoul and the North Korean campaign in which Gen. Smith led the 1st Marine Division.

Atom Energy Builds Bomb For The Flies

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., March 1 (U.P.)—Atomic energy is helping build a bomb for the wicked screw-worm flies.

The plan is to sterilize male flies with X-rays from radio-active cobalt, then let them loose to enter into sterile marriages with unsuspecting female flies.

Result, if things work right, will be a reduction or even a wiping out of the type of flies which eat living flesh of cows and other animals.

The plan is related by R. C. Bushland, entomologist in charge of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's field laboratory, Bureau of Entomology and plant quarantine, at Kerrville, Tex. Bushland now is attending a course on use of radioactive atoms at the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.

Female screw-worm flies lay their eggs in open wounds of any warm-blooded animal. Even a tick bite gives them a chance. One female's 200 eggs hatch into maggots which eat living flesh. One such brood can eat a hole the size of a lemon. Other flies come along and lay eggs, and the animal often "is literally eaten alive," Bushland said.

Cowhands on Texas ranges seek out infected animals and treat their wounds. Agricultural officials figure the screw-worm flies cause up to 15 million dollars loss annually in that range region alone. In Florida, the worms are blamed for losses of five to 10 million dollars annually.

The female fly mates only once. If she lays sterile eggs, nothing happens.

Experiments at Brooke Army Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., showed X-ray machines would sterilize male flies. X-rays are expensive, though, and Dr. C. W. Shepard, biologist of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory here, found radioactive cobalt from the atomic furnace would sterilize them.

At Kerrville, Dr. R. D. Radeleff, Bureau of Animal Industry veterinarian, can raise the screw-worm flies by the barrel-full, Bushland said. He uses tubs containing hamburger and blood.

The insects are X-rayed while they're in the pupal stage of their life cycle. Males and females are sterilized at the same time. Later, when they're flies, it's easy to pick out just the males—their eyes are bigger—and release just the males.

Sterilized males will be turned loose in heavily infested areas. A good time for a good blow is spring, when the fly population is small.

March Weather May Be Below Normal In Western U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 1 (U.P.)—The Weather Bureau expects March temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the western half of the country except for near normal along the California Coast.

It said in its 30-day outlook yesterday.

780 Horses To Single Auto In 1902 When AAA Was Founded

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, March 1 (U.P.)—Horses outnumbered horseless carriages by a ratio of 780 to 1 and autos were much more important than gasoline when the American Automobile Association was founded 50 years ago next Tuesday.

In that spring of 1902, traffic laws limited automobiles to a speed of 8 miles an hour in New York and some other cities and 15 miles an hour out in the country. Such restrictions, the demand for better roads and the scornful refusal of livery-stable keepers to garage "devil wagons" prompted auto enthusiasts to form an association of motor clubs.

Fifteen representatives of nine automobile clubs met at Chicago March 4, 1902, to organize the American Automobile Association. There were two clubs from Midwestern cities—Chicago and Grand Rapids; and seven clubs from the East—Automobile Club of America, a New York organization; the New Jersey, Rhode Island, Long Island, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Utica clubs.

The new association sponsored national legislation providing for a federal bureau of highways, worked for protection of the legal rights of motorists, and "the development and introduction of the automobile."

The first Cadillac automobile, a one-cylinder runabout, came on the market in 1902. It had 6 1/2 horsepower, a speed range of 5 to 30 miles an hour, and sold for $750 FOB Detroit.

In 1902 Henry Ford also produced his famous racing car, 999, and the Studebaker Company came out with its first automobile—and electric car.

The engine of Ford's 999 had four big noisy cylinders but the car had no body—just wheels, frame, engine, and a single seat for the driver. Ford himself said the roar of the engine "was enough to half kill a man."

Barney Oldfield, famous race driver, drove 999 to a speed record of 91.4 miles an hour in 1904.

The motor clubs at the beginning of the century were largely social organizations. Members told one another of their motoring adventures, organized Sunday "spins" and worked out snappy retorts to the jeers of "get a horse" hecklers.

A New York City ordinance made it mandatory for the driver of an automobile to stop his car at the request of any driver of a restive horse. The speed limit on bridges in the city was 4 miles an hour.

The ultra-gallant male motorist of the era would stop his car when he met a lady driving a horse. He would get out of the car, lead the horse past the auto and, doffing his derby or driver's cap in farewell, resume his motor trip.

In March, 1900, Miss Annie Rainsford French, of Washington, D. C., obtained a license as a steam engineer to drive a locomotive steamer. According to AA evidence, Miss French (now Mrs. Walter M. Bush of Concord, Mass.) was the first woman in this country to obtain a driver's permit.

In 1902 wireless telegraph inventor Marconi rigged up a wireless apparatus on his auto and communicated a distance of 30 miles. Marconi said at the time that in case of a car breakdown it would be useful to telegraph for assistance.

Cars with tops as standard equipment did not appear until 1907. Auto bodies were not equipped with windshields until 1913 so driving in a strong wind was often a sand or mud-in-your-eye experience.

NO PRISON, BUT A BRIDE

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 1 (U.P.)—Donald Gale walked into court fearful of a prison sentence—and left with a bride.

Gale, 19, pleaded guilty in State Supreme Court yesterday to a charge of second degree grand larceny in the theft of an auto. Justice Philip Halpern listened to a promise by Miss Loraine Smith, the youth's bride-to-be, that Donald henceforth would walk the straight and narrow.

Halpern interrupted court to perform a marriage ceremony. He suspended sentence.

THEN THEY RETIRE INTO THE SMOKE WHERE THE SALMON ARE CURING, TO WAIT UNTIL THE CHILL NIGHT WINDS DRIVE THEIR TORMENTORS AWAY.
