DOWNPOURS ARE GENERAL OVER ENTIRE COUNTY

Planting Started; Farmers Enthusiastic Over Prospects

Rain and hail definitely broke the back of the drouth in Lamb county when needed moisture was received in several areas early Monday and Wednesday.

Farmers all over the county laid plans to begin planting feed and cotton while reports drifted in Wednesday of rain in every community, ranging from light showers to heavy downpours.

Three recent rainfalls have brought precipitation in the Littlefield area to 1.27 inches. A .42 downfall about 10 days ago, plus .33 inches Monday and the .42 inches Wednesday insured quick planting in the territory.

Here are reports for Wednesday morning's rain:

- Littlefield and area .52 inches.
  - Olton, about a half inch.
  - Fieldton, a half to one inch.
  - Sudan, about a half inch.
  - Amherst, more than one inch.
- In adjoining counties, Bula proper received about one and a half inches, ranging east and south 12 miles, and almost one inch north to Sudan. About a half inch fell in Anton and territory, while reports indicate that good moisture was received from Littlefield all the way to Lubbock. Muleshoe got a good rain. Pep got one fourth to one half inch and Enoch had well over an inch.
- Rainfall early Monday brought relief to Fieldton with from one-quarter to a half inch; Muleshoe got five-eighths of an inch. Whitharral about a half inch and Pep a light sprinkle.

Two Train Loads of Texans Pour Into Nation's Capital

About 3,000 farmers from some 25 states of the South and West, among which were two trainloads of Texans, poured into Washington Tuesday to voice a powerful defense of the administration's agricultural program.

The Texas contingent, largest of any state, was late, and pulled into the capital about noon. They began immediate preparations for two meetings with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and his chief AAA assistant, Chester C. Davis. Some 81 men represented 13

South Plains counties on the trip. Ten were from Lamb county, and one of these, J. W. Keithley, represented the Littlefield chamber of commerce, lone unit of its kind in the county to send a delegate.

Mr. Keithley was accompanied by his wife. She was the only member of her sex from the South Plains area, and on the 19 car section carrying the delegation to Washington there were only two other women.

Other Lamb county delegates are Wm. H. Cunningham and Millard Phillips of the local farm association, Vincent Peterson, Amherst;

P. E. Boesen, Sudan; J. Y. Jeffries, Olton; Oscar Woody, Fieldton; J. R. Kuykendall, Spade; R. R. Fulfer, Hart Camp, and Mr. Clevenger of the Earth-Spring Lake farm association.

Bronzed plainsmen of Texas combined business with pleasure of a sight-seeing trip while at Washington, and expected to hear an address by President Roosevelt on the south lawn of the White House Tuesday afternoon.

Delegation from Texas was expected to be back in the state late Friday, according to scheduled plans.

PROSPERITY IN JUNE

GENERAL CHARLES G. DAWES is still planning to pull a rabbit out of his hat and bring his "unexpected upturn" to prosperity in June, according to a news dispatch yesterday.

It is just like predicting that the world will come to an end in 1945—there is nothing definite upon which to base the assumption, other than just a guess.

With everybody studying the cause of depression, suggesting cures, attempting corrective measures and doing a thousand and one things to bring about prosperity, it is something for someone to be anticipating an "unexpected upturn."

Mr. Dawes evidently is looking so intently ahead that he is not watching the present. The upturn was started months and months ago. Everywhere improvement is in evidence.

But the term "prosperity" is a little bit vague. Personally, prosperity has not returned until a sizeable amount of money jingles in the pocket of the individual—but in many cases this was not true before the depression and will never be despite other conditions.

Whereas the Littlefield Area has moved forward rapidly during the past two years, it was prohibited from making greater strides by a sub-normal crop production. Here "prosperity" cannot be expected in the old sense until another crop is produced.

If Mr. Dawes would explain his meaning when he uses the word "prosperity" his prediction might be simplified. He doesn't need to explain what will cause his "unexpected upturn" because at most his prediction is only a guess and needs no vindication other than his own opinion.

Perhaps one of his hens laid an egg that had "Prosperity in June" written on it.

Fourteen South Plains Counties Are Represented

Saturday night 80 men from 14 counties over the South Plains left for Washington to confer with AAA officials, department of agriculture officials and others, on continuation of present AAA policies, particularly the processing tax.

Originated by Cliff H. Day, Hale county farmer with three AAA contracts, cotton, corn-hog and wheat, the plan has spread rapidly. Texas is expected to send between 500 and 600 farmers, representing nearly every county.

Southern cotton states joined Texas; middle-western wheat states followed rapidly as did other states. It is expected that two thousand farmers will be in Washington this week.

Lamb county sent nine farmers, and the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce voted to send J. W. Keithley, insurance man. Lubbock county sent 20, 18 farmers and County Agent P. T. Montfort, sent by the Lubbock commissioners court, and Chas. A. Guy, editor and publisher of the Avalanche-Journal, sent by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Other counties sending delegates are: Bailey, one; Castro, three; Crosby, two; Cochran, two; Dawson, three; Floyd, four; Garza, one; Gaines, one; Hale, 15; Hockley, three.

The party assembled in Longview going from there on a special train. Reports indicated between 30 and 40 pullmans were reserved. Leaving Sunday the delegates reached Washington Tuesday morning, and were scheduled to return Wednesday night.

C. H. Matthews, Eagle Lake, secretary of the Texas cotton advisory committee, was in charge of the Texas party.

Baileyboro Pupils Transferred to Bula High School

The High school at Baileyboro is being disbanded and the pupils transferred to Bula High school for the next term.

Mr. Darby, who was superintendent of the Baileyboro High school, will be coach of the Bula school for the coming year.

Bula has the only accredited high school in the southern part of Bailey county, and the reason for the transfer is to give the pupils of the Baileyboro school the benefits of a fully accredited high school.

Average speed—over 85 miles an hour for 1000 miles and beyond. Electrical timing correct to a millionth part of a second and every record certified by American Automobile Association.

Here's what it means to you. Probably you'll never care to drive a car five miles at 93 miles an hour. Yet, it means a lot to you to have a car that can go that fast—to shoot out of traffic tangos or flash you out ahead on the highway.

It isn't likely you'll want to drive a thousand-mile stretch at 85 miles an hour, but you do want a car with the fine engineering, power and ruggedness it takes to do this. Ordinary driving is no work at all for a car like this.

That's what it means to own a Hudson—smoother miles, more enjoyable miles—plus ruggedness and gasoline economy that make those miles cost less. You can see and drive an exact duplicate of this record-breaking Hudson Eight at any Hudson showroom. You can also see the complete list of these 36 new records, and scores of others held by Hudson-built cars. Take the wheel today and discover what this record-breaking performance means to you.

ON THE EVENING of May 23, a group of young ladies and gentlemen will file into the Littlefield High school auditorium to take part in a ceremony which will mark a turning point in their lives... the end of one important stage in their scheme of things... and the beginning of another period even more important.

Any one of these youngsters is a living symbol of the powerful strides education has taken in the past two decades. Pioneer Littlefield educators, visualizing what our youth of today would face, long ago laid a flexible groundwork upon which has grown the splendid preparatory system by which the coming generation would cope with life's problems... and out of which has emerged the splendid Class of 1935.

We folks of Littlefield, remembering our own high school days, extend to these forty-five young people a congratulatory hand and wish for them, with all our hearts, a future brilliant with success.

D. Agents To Meet in Canyon For Short Course

Six hundred women from the Demonstration Clubs of Districts One and Two are expected in Canyon May 6 for the sixth annual Short Course. This lasts one day and is put on through the cooperation of the West Texas State Teachers College with the Extension service of Texas A. & M. College.

"Changing Country Life" to be Theme Of Short Course

"Changing Country Life" will be the theme for the twenty-sixth annual Farmers' Short Course to be held at A. & M. College July 28-August 2, according to Roy W. Snyder, chairman of the central committee.

Phases of the housing problems facing the rural family; soil conservation with particular reference to emergency erosion work; and agricultural adjustment will furnish features of the program. Demonstrations in doing will be stressed rather than talks and lectures at this event, the largest rural gathering in Texas each year.

In addition to the programs planned for farmers, ranchmen, and rural home makers, conferences are scheduled for rural pastors and laymen of the State, agricultural editors, superintendents of rural schools, members of the bee keepers' association, producers of State registered and certified seed, and members of Epilepsy Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for Extension Service workers.

A newspaper staffed by 4-H club boys and girls as reporters will be printed daily during Short Course week. Neal Douglas, agricultural editor of the Austin American, will be managing editor. A small news sheet was mimeographed and sold on the campus last year, and because of its success plans have been made to enlarge and print the paper this year.

The central committee in charge of developing plans for the Short Course consists of Roy W. Snyder, chairman; R. H. Bush; Paul A. Curpus; O. G. Tumlinson; Miss Onah Jack; Mrs. Doris R. Barnes; and Miss Minnie Mae Grubbs. This committee expects to have noted speakers and leaders to bring information and lead discussion.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

LOST FAT Fooled Gossipers

Mrs. J. R. McCausland of Pittsburg writes: "I took off 8 lbs. in two weeks with Kruschen. I ate as usual and feel fine." You, too, can safely reduce as Mrs. McCausland did if you'll only have a mind of your own. Pay no attention to gossipers who wouldn't want to see you the slender woman you can be if you'll only take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a cup of hot water every morning. (Tastes fine with juice of half lemon added.)

Kruschen is SAFE—it's a health treatment and when your body abounds with Kruschen fitness—excess fat leaves. Jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle—any drug-store. Madden's Drug Store sells lots of it.

The motor car is a good customer of everybody..

"I foresee the time when industry shall no longer denude the forests which require generations to mature, nor use up the mines which were ages in making, but shall draw its raw material largely from the annual produce of the fields. . . I am convinced that we shall be able to get out of yearly crops most of the basic materials which we now get from forest and mine." Henry Ford

THE map above tells only part of the story—the little-known story of the inter-relation of the Ford V-8 car and the farm.

The figures in the map are based on what will be used this year if the Ford Motor Company reaches its intended production of 1,000,000 cars and trucks.

- WOOL goes into upholstery, floor coverings, lubricants and anti-rust preparations. LEATHER goes into upholstery—and in addition, gloves are made from cow hide, and from cow's milk. . . Other parts of cattle, through other processes, yield stearic acid, greases, glycerine (for shock absorbers and body enamel) and soap chips (used in washing machined parts and bodies before painting). HOGS furnish lard oil, oleic acid and brush bristles. GOAT'S HAIR (Mohair) goes into upholstery. BEESWAX goes into electrical imbedding compounds.

COTTON goes into tires, batting, cloth, battery box, timing gears, brake linings and, not least important, into Safety Glass. (Every Ford V-8 car built this year will have Safety Glass in every window, at no extra cost to the car buyer. . . Cotton, in the form of cellulose acetate, is the central part between the two sheets of glass that make up every finished sheet of Safety Glass.)

CORN yields butyl alcohol (for enamel finishes and other purposes) and starch (for stiffening cotton linings).

LINSEED OIL is the basis for paint—is used in foundry cores—and is one of the ingredients of the beautiful, synthetic baked enamel finish on a Ford V-8.

SUGAR CANE yields molasses for solvents, anti-freeze and shock absorber fluids.

CASTOR OIL goes into lacquers and artificial leather suitable for rumble seats, where real leather would be damaged by exposure to the weather.

TUNG OIL is part of the top material used in Ford cars and is also used in brake linings.

TURPENTINE is used in paints, adhesives and solvents.

SOY BEANS are used in making cores for metal castings in our foundry and are also an important part of the baked enamel finish of a Ford V-8 and of the plastic knobs and buttons in the car's interior.

LUMBER is used for packing purposes. It is not used for any structural part of the Ford car, which has a welded, all-steel body, reinforced with steel, for maximum safety.

The officers of the church report that G. A. Dunn, Jr., has returned from a very successful meeting at Alba, Texas, and will fill the pulpit Sunday. The subject for the morning hour will be "Is It I?" and for the evening, "Follow Me."

In view of the fact that Mr. Dunn will soon leave for evangelistic work in West Virginia the public is urged to attend each service. A welcome awaits you.

TABERNACLE BAPTIST CHURCH

Be sure that you do not miss the special evangelistic service Friday (tomorrow) night at 8:15, at which time the pastor, Evangelist Jno. R. Denning, is bringing "A Message Direct From Hell," which both saint and sinner will appreciate.

There will be a special program by a colored male quartette, in addition to the regular congregational singing.

Last Sunday was a great day with us. It was a day of re-consecration and souls seeking prayer.

Next Sunday morning at 9:15 the Sunday school studies the Seventh and Eighth chapters of Hebrews, with Heb. 7:25 as the memory verse. The subject of the morning sermon will be, "Righteous Men—Are All Men of a Depraved Nature?"

Sunday night's subject, "Heaven—A Complete Bible Picture of That Future Home."

At Amherst School Auditorium at 8:00 p. m., "The Ten Virgins."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, Pastor

We will remember that next Sunday morning is the Baccalaureate sermon at the High school building. Let's be on time for our Sunday school so that we may leave the church building about ten forty. We will not have our morning preaching service. Remember Sunday school will begin promptly at nine forty five.

7:30—B. T. U.—All branches will talk over the B. T. U. Revival.

8:20—Marshall and his singers.

8:40—Evening sermon.

The matter of our revival will be talked in the evening service. Let each member give some thought to the matter before the conference. Our Deacons will recommend that we begin the meeting on the third Sunday in August.

Visitors, we are always glad to have you with us. Make our church your church home while in Littlefield.

Rev. Denning To Speak at Amherst Sunday Afternoon

A most interested audience enjoyed the song and preaching service in the school auditorium at Amherst last Sunday afternoon, when Evangelist Jno. R. Denning preached on "The Christian in the Witness Box." At the conclusion of the service Dev. Denning was invited to return again next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, and also to speak at the same hour Saturday afternoon over the loud speaking system of the "Golden Rule" store, both of which invitations were accepted. The sermon subject for next Sunday afternoon will be "The Ten Virgins—A Message To All Christians." A special song service is also promised.

METHODIST CHURCH J. W. Hendrix, Pastor

The first thing that will occur on the Sabbath morning will be the opening of Church school. It will open at 9:45. The session will dismiss early enough for each attendant to arrive at the high school building for the service there. So rest easy and come on time.

At the morning hour of worship—11 a. m.—our church will cooperate in the Commencement service. This pastor greatly appreciates the invitation by the graduates to deliver the Baccalaureate sermon. The subject will be, "Is God Retired?" It will endeavor to ask and answer a number of vital questions. One: Is God as active now as when he was engaged in laying the foundation of the earth?

The leagues and the evening service will be back in the church at their regular hours. The Leagues at 7:30; evening worship 8:15. The subject of the sermon will be given later in the week. We rejoiced over the large attendance of last Sunday evening. Why not attend? The auditorium is comfortable in every way, well lighted and ventilated, and offers the opportunity to become a part of a happy group. The singing is always good. The sermon is open for your own estimate.

CHURCH OF CHRIST 9th Street

Rev. N. O. White will deliver the sermons Sunday. We will be honored to have Rev. White, who is pastor at Anton, preach with us at the 10:30 a. m. service and again at 8:30 p. m.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the services.

Bula Science Club Go to Carlsbad Caverns May 3

The members of the Bula Science Club, of the Bula High school, went to Carlsbad Cavern in New Mexico, Friday afternoon, May 3, for the following purposes: to help members of the club to become more conscious of and acquainted with the natural factors around them, to study the formation of rocks, the formation of soil through the weathering of rocks, and to study the effect of erosional processes in nature.

The personnel of the club included Mary Lee Tidwell, Wilburn Vanlandingham, Clarence Grimsley, Weta Lowe, Clairence Rice, Bonnie Mae Fort, Neoma Strickland, E. J. Calloway, Jr., Pauline Alford, Wylie Seifres, Clifford Walden, Clio Middlebrook, Francis Blue, Dorothy Pollard, Ross Jackson, and Leo Alford. The club was accompanied by their sponsor, Mr. J. W. Mallard, Mrs. J. W. Mallard, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stickland and two guests, Pauline Medlin and Bertha Hubbard.

The club members had the trip well planned. They planned to make the trip through the Cavern on Saturday, and visit the museum at White City afterward. The group left Bula school Friday afternoon at 4:00 p. m. and arrived at White City about 12:30 the next morning.

The next morning before time to go through the Cavern, the members of the group went to see Jim White, the Cowboy who discovered the Cavern. They saw a sign-board with these words on it, "To The Old Spring," on following the trail, the group found the "Old Spring" which proved to be unmistakably old, so old that it was rusty. The trip through the Cavern was begun at 10:30 a. m. The members found the vari-colored, fantastically-shaped formations beautiful beyond description, and they were greatly impressed with the complete darkness of the Cavern when the lights were turned out. They came out of the Cavern at 4:00 p. m. and went to the museum. There they saw several mummies of Indians who had in the past lived near Carlsbad, and many of the implements that they had used.

The night was spent on the banks of the mysterious Black River, and at 10:00 a. m. the next morning they reluctantly left Carlsbad. They had seen many examples of the formations of rocks, stream erosion, and all the other things that it was their purpose to see.

District Judge Joiner Addresses Ministers Monday

The Ministerial Alliance of Lamb and Bailey counties held their regular meeting in the Methodist church at Muleshoe last Monday morning, with a woody number of the ministers holding membership in the Alliance present, also several laymen were present for the morning session. Rev. R. L. Butler, pastor of the Methodist church at Texico, conducted the morning's devotion and was voted a member of the Alliance. We were honored with the presence of District Judge Joiner, who addressed us at the regular hour for the morning inspirational address. Judge Joiner spoke on the problems of the present day, pointing out the many changes we now face, and led his listeners to see clearly that responsibilities for good government clean living and good citizenship rested on the shoulders of every man alike.

The question of the August prohibition election was given quite a little time and discussion by the Alliance in their business meeting and a motion passed making the matter a major project until the day for the election. A special committee will map out the territory and direct speakers and rallies throughout the two counties and see that each voter has the proper information regarding the issue laid down before him or her before they cast their ballot. Lunch will be served by the Mother-allCafe, after which the ministers returned to the Methodist church for an executive session. The next meeting will be held in Littlefield Monday morning at ten o'clock, May 27.

Cooking School—

eral patronage of the advertisers who made possible last week's 30-page edition announcing the three events—the Cooking School, the Automobile Show, and the Oil and Gasoline Show. Last week's Leader was probably the largest edition which has ever been issued by a West Texas weekly newspaper in connection with a cooking school and other events.

One of the special features of the cooking school was the great array of prizes for each of the three days, and in connection the Lamb County Leader gratefully acknowledges the assistance of local and national concerns. They were very liberal in donating prizes, and the Lamb County Leader fully realizes how much their donations contributed to the success of the cooking school and the other events.

The Littlefield school band, directed by A. B. Taylor, contributed in a big way to the success of the three shows by playing a program each afternoon. This band is rapidly developing into a wonderful musical organization, and Mr. Taylor is worthy of high praise for the success which he has achieved.

Instructor Praised A cooking school is only as successful as the lecturer is efficient, and in this connection too much cannot be said in praise of Mrs. Johnetta Howard, lecturer for the Happy Kitchen School of Cookery. Mrs. Howard is an outstanding authority in the preparation of food and in home management, and she gave liberally to the Littlefield school of her extensive knowledge. She was enthusiastically complimented by the large number of women who attended the school.

The beauty and arrangement of the stage is one of the special features of a progressive and outstanding cooking school. Local and national business concerns presented their merchandise in attractive arrangements on each three days of the school and in this pleasing, happy setting Mrs. Howard cooked and baked, and demonstrated the best and the latest in cooking and in home management.

Women from miles in every direction came to Littlefield for the cooking school, many of them accompanied by their husbands, who desired to look over the latest in automobiles and the best in oil products.

Each session of the school opened at 2 p. m., but on each day the Palace theater auditorium was more than half filled shortly after one o'clock. There was a daily average attendance of at least 700 women. The school was officially opened at 2 p. m. Monday by Mayor L. R. Crockett, and the welcome on behalf of the local and national concerns participating in the school was extended by Mrs. T. S. Sales. Mayor Crockett and Mrs. Sales expressed the pleasure of Littlefield and Littlefield business concerns at the large gathering of women in attendance at the school, many of whom came from considerable distance. They also were enthusiastic in their praise of the Lamb County Leader, sponsors of the cooking school and other events. Special mention of the large attendance and the progressiveness of the Lamb County Leader in sponsoring the cooking school, and other events, was made on several occasions by Mrs. Howard and by representatives of national concerns.

Largest School in W. T.

"Everybody was so nice and so co-operative; it is a pleasure to put on a school where everybody is so willing to co-operate," said Mrs. Howard at the conclusion of the school. "I have been conducting schools in West Texas for the past several months, and there was a larger attendance at the Littlefield school than anywhere I have been in this section of the state; in fact, the Littlefield school had three times as large an attendance as the other schools I have conducted in West Texas," Mrs. Howard said. Representatives of national concerns in attendance at the school said that the Littlefield school had a larger number present each day than schools they had attended in Houston, San Antonio and other large cities.

Automobile Show

The Automobile Show, which was staged in the street in front of the Palace theater, is believed to have been Littlefield's first automobile show. Local automobile concerns presented a large display of the 1935 models. This display of cars expressed in no uncertain way that Littlefield automobile concerns offer a selection in cars the same as is available in cities very much larger than Littlefield. The Automobile Show was a distinct credit to Littlefield automobile concerns.

Oil and gas concerns presented a fine display of their products, and further established Littlefield as a leading center in the wholesaling and retailing of gasoline, oils and greases. One of the outstanding features of the cooking school and the automobile show was the awarding of free prizes by Littlefield and national concerns.

Many Prizes

There were so many prizes given for the cooking school and the automobile show that possibly some names may be omitted in error. If such should happen to be the case, the Lamb County Leader presents its apologies at this time.

Among those who gave prizes for the cooking school were the following:

KC Baking Powder, Admiration Coffee, Mrs. Tucker's shortening, Palace Drug Store, W. J. Aldridge Grocery & Market, Madden Drug Store, Stone's 1c to $5 store, Piggly Wiggly Grocery and Market, Stokes-Alexander Drug Co., Odessa's Beauty Shop, Myrick Feed Mill, Renfro Bros. Grocery & Market, Ware's Department Store, Home Furniture Co., Cuenod's Dry Goods Co., Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., Littlefield Floral Co., Roy Byers, Singleton's Dry Goods, Texas Utilities Co., Replin's Dry Goods, Grand Drug Store, Lamb County Leader, and Littlefield Broom Co.

Among the concerns who gave prizes for the automobile show were as follows:

Littlefield Motor Co., Griffin-Pass Motor Co., Vinther Motor Co., and Garland-White Auto Supply.

Several special street attractions were carried out in connection with the automobile show. One of these attractions was the towing of an oil truck by Ray Williams "the human tow chain," of Chickasha, Okla.

The truck was furnished by the Panhandle Refining Co. The attraction was staged on Monday and Tuesday. On the first day the automobile used in connection with the event was furnished by the Vinther Motor Co., and on the second day by the Littlefield Motor Co.

The Lamb County Leader management expresses special appreciation to a number of young women who assisted in the conducting of the school: Miss Bessie Bellomy, Mrs. Quinton Bellomy, Mrs. Bill Thomas, Mrs. W. J. Chesher, Mrs. Leonard Theford, Miss Pauline Courtney, Miss Marjorie Sanders, and Miss Lillian Vannoy.

That pleasing little miss, Willene Ishmael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Ishmael, assisted the publisher of the Lamb County Leader in giving the prizes from the stage.

In connection with the Cooking School, Automobile Show, and other events, the Lamb County Leader last week issued a 30-page edition. Among the advertisers in that edition were the following:

Thaxton Bros., Jack Henry, Griffin Pass Motor Co., Littlefield Motor Co., Vinther Motor Co., Texas Motor & Fuel, West Texas Gas Co., First National Bank, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Western Drug Co., Olton, Cuenod's Dry Goods Co., Renfro Bros. ### Homestead Exemption Turned Down In Final Session

The Senate refused Saturday to submit a constitutional amendment to exempt $3,000 value of homesteads from all taxes except for local school support and retirement of debts. The vote of 16 ayes to 10 noes was five short of the needed two-thirds majority.

Since the adjournment of the Legislature had been set for noon, but the clocks in both houses were turned back to permit completion of important unfinished business, including passage of the remaining major appropriation bills.

As finally passed, the departmental bill appropriated $13,134,423 for the next biennium, an increase of 13 per cent, and the educational bill, $10,786,865, an increase of 15 per cent. Previously approved were the eleemosynary and judiciary bills, appropriating, respectively, $10,405,260 and $3,898,258.

The legislature wound up its program in certain counties, to impose a tax on coin operated marble machines, estimated to raise between $500,000 and $1,000,000 annually, and to try miscellaneous claims totalling $27,901.

A bill was also signed by Gov. Allred, passed overwhelmingly by both houses, defining and regulating the practice of dentistry.

In a statement, Senator John S. Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, estimated the Legislature had appropriated approximately $13,000,000 more than the previous Legislature, but that figure included $3,000,000 for the Centennial celebration and $5,500,000 for retirement of a portion of the $20,000,000 relief bonds.

Roosevelt Opens New Field In Power Business

Authority to do an electric power business—so broad as to appear unlimited at first study—has been vested by President Roosevelt in a "rural electrifying administration" he created under the $4,000,000,000 work relief program.

The executive order over Mr. Roosevelt's signature generally was interpreted as opening a new field of direct federal activities in power. Observers saw only one immediate check on this development—the amount of cash available.

Aid Rural Areas

In so many words, Mr. Roosevelt directed the new electrification administration to initiate, formulate, administer and supervise a program of approved projects with respect to the generation, transmission and distribution of electric energy in rural areas.

Designed in Sizes: 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 years. Size 12 requires 3/4 yards of 35 inch material.

GIRLS' SUMMER FROCK
Pattern 8451—It is the wise mother who has her children's clothes well under way by the time summer arrives because one can never tell when they will be needed.

The little frock sketched is so utterly charming and gay in its simplicity that it appeals at once. The popularity of round yokes, gathers and sashes is shown in this style, so simple and easy to make, so cool and becoming and so easy to launder. The round yoke trimmed on each shoulder with gay buttons, opens on the left shoulder only. The so-called sleeves are merely little ruffles which hang free from the yoke.

A center seam in the skirt in front and back allows for a graceful flare, while a wide sash and big bow complete the alluring feminine effect.

For PATTERN, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired), your NAME, ADDRESS style number and size to Lamb County Leader, Pattern Dept., 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Spring Grid Training To End Under Lights Saturday

SPORT WORLD

By BILL NORRIS

Something in the way of a grudge fight should give football fans some rough entertainment Saturday under the lights when Cat meets ex-Cat in the climax of spring grid training. . . An earlier game brought out plenty of scrap on both sides, and a snappy settlement of what is known as "feelings" will no doubt result Saturday. . . You'll probably see every trick in the bag worked. . . And all for a thin dime. Come on out.

Littlefield's new athletic council convened Monday night, quickly named Ed Seely chairman and E. C. Cundiff vice-chairman, perused W. T. Hanes' many-pointed program for 1935, oked him as secretary-business manager, said "yes" to his plan to lay a tentative council budget before the school board Tuesday night, then broke up to witness a good double-header at the lot.

Sounds nice and smooth and harmonious, doesn't it? It was. . . but there is more beneath the surface than appeared at the meeting. On the fact of things, it looked like a new council had merely met and set to work. But in this case, a tense purpose you could almost feel was in the air.

In short, you'll probably see a better equipped and better publicized athletic teams in Littlefield next year than ever before, if the far flung program now imminent materializes. These new councillors, every one of which will have a definite duty under the new setup, mean business. So you can look to 1935 for an athletic season as yet unparalleled here.

Three school board members, President J. W. James, M. G. Vinther and P. S. Hanks, met with the councillors Monday. New council includes Chairman Seely, Vice President Cundiff, E. S. Rowe, Secretary H. Carl Arnold, of the school district, Supt. A. B. Sanders, Business Manager W. T. Hanes, W. H. Madden and Mr. Hanks Coach Brack Barksdale, while not a member, will meet with the council each session. A good lineup, any way you take it.

To Past Chairman C. O. Stone of the council, good cheer for a good job well done. This position, while more or less thankless, calls for plenty of application which, in turn, drains heavily on the officer's spare time. . . Good work, Chairman Stone, and good luck, Chairman Seely.

The big chiefs that control the destinies of our athletic-minded youngsters have put the Indian sign on the future of Interscholastic league hopes. . . insofar as good football teams, at least, are concerned.

Now comes a new League ruling that a lad who is 18 years of age before Sept. 1, 1935 can no longer compete in Interscholastic league contests of any kind.

This, as any observer will tell you, is no potatoes. By the time a high school boy has reached his playing prime, he is at least 17 years of age, or older. . . And under the new ruling, the playing careers of a great number of good youngsters will be cut off just before the peak.

The quality of the game, from the fan's standpoint, will get the stiffest jolt. Gone, in a very few seasons, will be the color and snap which makes today's gridfare something to do hand-tic stands about. . . Interest in the game is bound to fall off. . . Briefly, that good old stock, Interscholastic Football, will tumble to an unheard of low. . . And you can trace every atom of it back to this blunder perpetrated by our learned League heads, who have straw voted our high school athletics virtually into the discard.

True, the former age limit of 20 years seemed a little high to our intellectually-bent League highshots. Also true, it kept lads on high school football teams who by the cards, should have graduated earlier. . . But setting the limit at 19 or even 18 years would still have been within the bounds of reason, without half the damage to either the student or the game.

A great number of superintendents didn't vote on the rule at Austin. Had they, the rule probably would-

INSTALLMENT

On the old side-wheeler "Starr," on its way to the fields in the first rush of Malone, experienced flower, and gambler, and atland, on his first trip, scoop his lost family up a strange friend—left Speed playing with other men and wanted to be sharply recalled to the partner had been shot overboard. Ed jumped without second thought, and waters got him, and it was Speed who did holding Ed's head above they were taken aboard by a French fisherman. The big ship went on. NOW GO ON WITH ter ain't spoiled her accent none." Though torn by the struggle and perspiring, Frenchy made a labored refusal. "Too far," he mumbled. "I lose ze feesh."

Speed began to rake in the scattered coins, leaving out three fives. "All right," he said pleasantly. "There's fifteen, if you land us near a man with a boat who ain't weak in the head and knees both. We'll take some other fisherman to the Yukon. To the golden river—" and he hummed a song which that phrase recalled to him.

"Gold?" echoed Frenchy. "Stickey with it." The gambler detached a damp cigarette paper, and became engrossed in the delicate task of rolling a smoke.

"You goin' there?" "Goin' there!" Speed had a look of having been asked an outlandish question. "Does the stiff live, Frenchy, pannin' an ounce of sense to the ton, who'd work out a life term for a stake he could dig up in a week? Not even you, if you knowed the layout. Take this range of yours—a tough one to ride. I should reckon, with the storms and fog, broken lines, raw fingers and busted bones. And when you cash in, what's the figure? Frenchy's pickled carcass bobbin' up and down the dirty water of some cove, and the Susette a smashed tubful of mud and seaweed on a stack of rocks."

Frenchy nodded sadly. Speed, who had been watching Frenchy with a speculative eye, gave all the money before him a sudden brusque shove to the center of the table. "It's yours!" he said.

With an impulsive grab, the fisherman clawed it toward him.

The gambler lit his cigarette and spoke to Maitland through a lazy vapor of smoke.

"Unwind the verdict, Judge. Is it legal?"

Maitland had been considering the proposition as it took shape. The chart in the cabin was sketchy, but he had sailed broken coasts before with less to go by. He liked the feel of the boat. Anything seemed better than turning back. The fisherman was being well paid.

"I can't pay my share," he began. "Sink me, Bud," protested the Westerner. "If you ain't so unexpected as a parson's mule. The money was won on your staks, and half of it's yours. Also, you're the deep-sea shark. Bonts is a branch of knowledge I'm free of, and I don't figure Frenchy for no oceanic scout. So we'll owe you for gettin' us there."

The boy pulled on his clothes and went out to look at the Susette. She proved to be a strong, deep-keeled boat with the remains of a cutter's rigging, and a look of having known better things before Frenchy turned her into a smack.

Having had to overstay several watches, Maitland was glad when he found the open sea at Dixon's Entrance, and was able to shove the tiller into Frenchy's unwilling hands and go below.

He ate a mulligan Speed had compiled from the "tailin's" of the previous meal, and tumbled into the bunk for a sleep. Awakened hours later by a thud of running seas, he had just caught a drowsy glimpse of his dorymate playing solitarie with Frenchy's cards under the swinging cabin lamp, when a sudden lurch sent player and chair sprawling.

"Pitchin' cayuses!" the gambler mumbled ruefully. "Am I goin' to ride this critter before we hit Skagway?"

Mention of Skagway reminded Maitland of a question he had wondered about. "Why do you choose that camp instead of Dyea?" he asked.

The other rearranged his cards with some care. "They's no call for a covered play between you and me, Bud. It don't suit my hand to meet the George E. Starr or her passengers till they have time to forget where they seen me last. There's no wires to beat in the North, and gettin' passed up for drowned is a good alibi."

That Speed had had a serious tangle with the Law before boarding the ship Maitland already suspected. He now saw that the security of the strange alibi lay in his own hands. Little as the fact appealed to him, he appreciated the other's confidence that he would not betray it. "I was wondering," he said, "whether the White Pass from Skagway is a better trail."

"It's a horse trail. Where there's horses the pay is better. My special reason for choosin' it—" the Westerner's face hardened a little—"it's that a man I'm lookin' for is liable to choose that route. . . . What's your plan in makin' for Dyea?" "I thought I might get a long-shore job of some kind till I earned an outfit."

"You can do better. If you tied in with a horse outfit on the White Pass, they might pay for help and throw in the grub."

"But tools," Maitland objected.

The gambler's mouth twisted humorously, as he studied a card. "If you mean picks and shovels, Bud, the hist'ry of prospecting learns us they's mighty little satisfaction in a shovel and none at all in a pick. You can pick them up anywhere off the landscape."

From the chart in the cabin Maitland discovered that they were north of the fifty-fifth latitude and actually in Alaska, though the map did not mark the lower boundary of that long strip of Coastal Islands called the "Penhandle."

Through one of these channels Maitland turned a course west of Zarembo Island into a long sea gorge, which proved to be easily navigable, but slow for sailing. When fish had followed fish as an unvaried menu for days, the idea of fish became by degrees more sinister than hunger, even to Frenchy.

The cliff shadows had melted into the glamour and mist of a wider channel when they heard the faint whine of a steamer's siren, passing southward by another course. It sounded queerly, in that solitude, a far echo of the world with which they had lost contact.

Speed wound in his line. "How'd you come to choose this route, Bud?" he asked.

"It isn't a course the steamers would take," Maitland answered after a pause. "I thought, if the George E. Starr were to pass us in the narrows, going back, someone might get the idea you weren't drowned."

The reflection of a wave to which they were rising illumined the other's face but left his eyes obscured. "That's a long way to go for a stranger," he said.

Maitland shook his head. The word "stranger" hardly applies to a man with whom one has been drowned and brought alive again. "I was thinking as we came up the gulf," he said, rather hesitantly, "of how we started this trip together. It's a fresh start for both of us, in a way. Why couldn't we see it through as partners?"

The gambler twisted the line in his hands. "It says a whole lot to to, Bud. I've always wanted to square you for that lost outfit, and I could steer you some in the gold camps. But as for partners—you don't know who I am."

"Forget about the outfit. And the other trouble too. It's a new deal, isn't it?" "Meanin'?"

"If you'll agree to respect the Law while we're partners, your word's good with me."

The law in his proposition appeared to Maitland during the silence that followed. While Speed might have left his record behind him, he had come north with a purpose he wasn't likely to forget. The Westerner's reply, however, took an unexpected form.

"Suppose I copped against a forced lay by sayin' I'd pull out and leave you clear if I had to tangle with the Law. Would that go?"

He looked up with a misty question in his eyes, and two brown hands locked on the bargain.

From the outer waters of the Lynn Canal, a great marine corridor contracted toward their destination. Vast walls of rock loomed on either side to heights of a thousand feet or more, sheer out of the sea, casting a half-mile shadow into the gulf. On ledges of these canyon faces, spruce and jackpines perched like window shrubs. Above them, in the upper air, snow-crowned peaks glistened with a molten splendor, and in the deep, brooding shadows at their base, gigantic boulders lay sprawling in the seaweed that wavered and streamed with the ground swell.

When the Susette traversed the shadow of these ramparts, late one afternoon in August, sunlight was falling in shafts into the fjord, pearling the mists that hung like webs between the canyon heads, and dazzling the smoky fall of mountain streams which cascaded into the gloom and rose again as rainbow spray.

At a bend in the narrowing sea gorge a sudden echo among the shore rocks set the travelers' ears tingling, and shortly afterwards they emerged on a dazzling vista of bright water in which a cargo steamer lay at anchor, some two hundred yards from shore.

The landing beach shone gold in the sunlight, shelving steeply down from graveled flats, where a river canyon opened its broad delta on the flats, and the snowy crest of a bald peak, which glittered high above the canyon, warked it as the outlet of the Skagway river and the base camp of the White Pass.

"Landin' horses," said Speed. The heads of the swimming animals bobbed at several points between the ship and the surf.

As they drew nearer, a gaudy pinto flashed into the air and took water in a smother of diamonds. The broncho swam off—not toward shore, however, but in blind panic down the gulf.

"Might buy us a feed if we round up this cayuse," Speed suggested. "See if you can turn him, Bud."

Cutting across the runaway's course, Maitland skillfully matched the frightened zigzags with which it tried to evade the approaching sail, till they could see its opal-blue eyes, flaming with terror. As the boat came close, a rope sang from the Westerner's hand, neatly ringing the pinto's head. To avoid dragging its nose under water, Speed played out his line. The Susette luffed but was a little heavy for such delicate handling, and a few inches late in bringing to. Rather than release the line, Speed jumped in after it. (Continued Next Week)
