LITTLEFIELD, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1927

NO. 33

LITTLEFIELD WINS MYTHICAL COUNTY FOOTBALL CHAMP.

The Littlefield High School football team won the fiercest game of football ever seen on the local high school ground Thanksgiving day from the Olton High School team. The game was a "battle royal," (if there is such a thing in football,) from beginning to end. Both teams played football but the Wildcats literally fought the heavy Olton huskies to a standstill. Littlefield has had older and more experienced teams representing her on the gridiron, but she never had one that fought harder than did this little team on last Thursday. The final score was 14 to 7.

The game was Olton's during the quarter and her team forced over a touchdown during this period but after it was a different story. Littlefield passing combination, Thornton, & Co. was working in perfection and it was responsible for many long gains. Captain Tim is a good passer and "Fly" Thornton is the fellow who can get out and in the long ones and the short ones. "Fly" has snatched at least one spectacular pass in every game and in nearly every game one of these long passes has resulted in a touchdown.

On a percentage basis, Littlefield won the mythical county championship with a percentage of .750 for games played against Lamb County teams. Olton is the nearest rival with a percentage of .666. This is the first year that Littlefield has ever been beaten by a Lamb County team. The regrets are over since she has been from behind and annexed the percentage.

The Wildcat team will be given letters and Mrs. Elena Kent Allen is coaching a splendid football play titled "Hold that Line, Jimmy" which should draw an auditorium full of people on Friday evening Dec. 9, which should furnish the necessary proceeds for paying for these sweaters.

Those who think the boys are due sweaters should patronize the play and enjoy themselves for one full evening.

Mrs. H. J. Gibbs and son, John B. are Thanksgiving with her parents, and Mrs. John W. Burleson, in Lubbock.

Misses Eula Neeley, Bessie Lee and Melton Marshbanks and Mel Stone, were Lubbock visitors Tuesday.

Misses Mercedes Allen, Emma Lou and Sibel Glenn, Leroy Womble, Lloyd Springer and Kenneth Phillips, of Lubbock, were home for Thanksgiving holidays.

AGED MAN DIES

Eckhard Schlottman, aged 71 years died November 21st at the home of his son, O. L. Schlottman, 10 miles west of Littlefield, where he had been making his home for the past three months.

He was born at Roundtop, Texas, where he spent the greater part of his life.

Funeral services were held at the residence of his son. Rev. Roy Kemp Baptist pastor of Littlefield, officiating.

Interment was made Tuesday afternoon in the local cemetery, with Burleson & Mason, Undertakers in charge.

LITTLEFIELD GINS 100 BALES DAILY OF BUREAU COTTON

Littlefield still leads in the marketing of Farm Bureau cotton, according to J. W. Hammock, county agent of the Bureau in Lamb county.

Cotton is coming onto the local compress platform, at the rate of more than 1000 bales per day, said Hammock.

"Business interests throughout the county," said Hammock, "are now becoming quite interested in the operations of the Bureau. They are beginning to appreciate the value of co-operative marketing, and not a few of the business men throughout the county are now urging farmers to join this movement."

"Drawing $70 per bale on cotton listens pretty good right now, but what sounds better than anything else will be the checks that are going to come in next spring, when everyone else is short of money. Then the Bureau farmers are going to have some cash that they can use right handily. It will keep many of them from having to go in debt again, and will be of material aid to ward helping the country generally over the dull financial period when crops are growing and money is becoming scarce," declared Hammock.

LITTLEFIELD FURN. BOUGHT BY SMITHS AND HAMMONS

Pryor Hammons and nephews, Foy E. and Roy E. Smith, of Amarillo, are this week purchasing the stock of the Littlefield Furniture Store, and will take charge the first of December, changing the firm name to the Littlefield Furniture and Undertaking Co. Mr. Hammons is well known in Littlefield, having been connected with Burleson-Mason Co., for the past two and one-half years, and is well liked in both business and social circles.

The Smith brothers, it is stated, have been in business in Amarillo for the past five years, and come to Littlefield highly recommended. They will move their families here at an early date.

N. B. Gustine, owner of the Littlefield Furniture for the past three years, has made no statement as to his plans for the future. But he has a host of friends who wish him success in whatever business he may undertake.

Harry Wiseman, Art Chesher, Charlie Harless, and Jess Mitchell left Sunday for ten days hunting trip in south Texas.

Mrs. J. M. Tonell, accompanied by her niece, Miss Anna Belle Lee, of Childress, spent last weekend with her brother, J. W. Arnn and family.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Stanley, of Snyder, are visiting their son, B. B. Halliburton and family, and daughter Mrs. Eugene Lattimer.

Dr. W. F. Merkle and wife, of Follette, Texas are here this week looking after their farming interests east of town.

J. W. Pace, of Kileen, who brought the W. S. Titus place a short time ago, was here last week looking after business interests, and was so favorably impressed with local conditions that he bought another 265 acre farm in this vicinity. He declared this country was a fine place for any one to live in and he would probably be moving out her in the near future.

FEEDING A WARM MOIST MASH

By F. W. Kazemier, Bryan, Texas

HAVE DEBATING CLUB

To hurry your pullets along, give a warm moist mash feeding about the middle of the afternoon. Use the mash you are feeding as a dry mash, and moisten it to a crumbly consistency with water or milk. Milk is preferred. Give all they will eat up clean in fifteen or twenty minutes, but no more. Do not feed this moist mash in the forenoon. Be sure and see to it that a good egg mash, dry, is kept before them in hoppers or troughs, all the time. This is very important. These hoppers must never be allowed to go dry. Plenty of hoppers also must be provided, so that they will not have to crowd to get all the egg mash they want. The more egg mash your flock consumes the more eggs they will soon be laying. To scrimp on feed, will surely decrease the egg-production.

Milk to Make Hens Lay

Milk is a wonderful feed for laying hens. It may be given in any form, sweet, skim, sour, clabber or as buttermilk. It should be given in addition to water as a drink, and may also be used to moisten mash to be given in the afternoon. The trouble is, that on most farms we have not enough milk for use on the table much less to feed to hens. One solution to this is to keep more cows. To show you how much many commercial poultrymen think of milk, you may be interested to know, that many are buying commercial milk, such as dried buttermilk and semi-solid buttermilk. We are using semi-solid buttermilk we buy in Houston, costing us about four cents per pound, laid down in Bryan. We mix this with seven parts water and give it as a drink for our baby chicks and we feed it pure, just as it comes from the barrel, at the rate of two pounds for each 100 hens. Milk in addition to being a wonderful feed, also is a good aid to the proper digestion of the feed, it aids and increases digestion. Give them plenty of milk.

Scratch Grain

Yellow corn heads the list of desirable grains for laying hens, it is much better than white corn, it is also better than milo, maize or kafir. Wheat comes next, then milo and kafir. Oats is not very satisfactory because most Texas oats is too light in weight and mostly hulls. Oats may be planted in the yards for green food, or germinated, or sprouted and fed as such. In this way you will provide a variety which is desirable. Any single grain is not as desirable as a mixture. Chickens like a variety, hence a mixture of several grains is to be preferred to a

A debating club has been organized in the Littlefield high school. There are three teams of girls and three of boys. Mrs. E. K. Allen will be the director of this club and there will be a tryout before the county interscholastic meet to decide who will represent Littlefield at this meet. It has not been decided when the subjects for debate will be given.

The debating teams are: Josephine Glenn and Mary Lee Carpenter; Dorothy Alford and Maxine Courtney; Lois and Geraldine Kirkpatrick; Emil Timiah and William Lowrimore; O. A. Woody and Clarence Kelly; E. S. Rowe and John Adams. Maxine Courtney was elected reporter and Burness Lowrimore elected chairman.

METHODIST SERVICES

As we approach the Christmas season we would do well to study the birth of our Saviour. "The Stars that Lead to Christ," will be the subject Sunday evening at the Methodist church. The pastor will preach on some event in the infancy of Jesus each Sunday through the Christmas season.

The Thanksgiving service was auspicious and the churches are showing a gratifying spirit of working in unity toward the keeping of the Lord's Day holy.

Have you signed the petition for a Sabbath of rest?

Wednesday is church night. Special music is promised in the near future by orchestra and choir.

—GEO. E. TURRENTINE, Pastor.

Circle No. 1 of the Baptist church, will have a food sale Saturday at the Star Meat Market. Each one in this circle is requested to bring cakes or pies.

single grain. Feeding too heavily on grains reduces their consumption of mash, hence also decreases their egg-production. As a general rule, we do not recommend feeding a scratch grain mixture in the morning, excepting on cold mornings when we recommend a very sparing feed. About an hour before sunset we recommend feeding all the scratch grain they will eat. We want them to go to roost with a full crop, especially on cold nights. In this connection it is well to remember however, that too liberal feeding of scratch grains in the mornings is very undesirable.

LITTLEFIELD TO BE REPRESENTED AT LUBBOCK MEETING

Chamber of Commerce presidents, directors, and secretaries will meet at Lubbock, Dec. 6 for the first meeting of the South Plains Commercial Executives Association.

Wm. A. Wilson, secretary of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, president of the organization formed at Crosbyton last Spring, is arranging a program that will be instructive to all interested in chamber of commerce work.

Joe Leopold, manager of the Southern Division of the United States Chamber of Commerce will be the principle speaker.

The association was formed last spring to better instruct not only secretaries but presidents and directors of all South Plains chambers of commerce regarding the commercial work. The meeting will convene at ten o'clock on the morning of December 6th.

There will be a representation from Littlefield to attend the meeting.

STANDARD PUMP CO. LOCATED A PLANT IN WICHITA

The Standard Pump & Supply Co., of Littlefield have closed a deal for a lot and building, 50x120 feet on the corner of 8th and Main street, Wichita, Kansas, which has been converted into a factory for the making of their pumps, compressors and accessories.

Sample pumps are now being manufactured, according to L. R. Crockett, president of the concern, and by the first of the year they expect to be turning out from 10 to 15 of these new type pumps, according to size. A complete pattern shop and foundry have also been installed in connection with the factory.

Mr. Crockett states that enquiries and orders are now arriving daily. By the first of the year the company expects to have advanced its arrangements to the point where territory assignments will be made and district salesmen appointed.

C. OF C. MEETING

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce will have a special meeting next Monday night December, 5th, at 7:30 in the law office of T. Wade Potter. All members and non-members who are interested in the activities of the Chamber are urged to attend.

DAIRY SHOW WILL BE IN LUBBOCK; 25 COUNTIES IN

Tulia, Texas, Nov. 22.—Preliminary plans for an annual Spring Dairy Show for the Panhandle Plains were perfected here, Nov. 19, when 40 breeders, county agents, chamber of commerce officials and others met at the call of D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county agent.

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock was elected president, H. A. Ferguson, Amarillo, vice president, and Bob Anglin, Tulia secretary of the organization which was formed to promote the show.

W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department at the Texas Technological College was appointed chairman of an organization committee that will meet at Lubbock Dec. 8 to form plans for the organization and the show and outline policies that will be followed. Representatives from all counties in attendance at the meeting here were appointed on this committee and the secretary was instructed to invite other counties on the Plains to select a representative to attend the organization meeting at Lubbock, Dec. 8. Counties represented at Tulia are as follows: Lubbock, Floyd, Hale, Swisher, Potter, Randall, Gaines, Garza, Crosby, Lynn, Dawson, Yoakum, Terry, Dickens, Hockley, Cochran, Bailey, Lamb, Briscoe, Hall, Motley, Deaf Smith, Castro, and other counties are expected to be represented at Lubbock in addition to the ones represented at the Tulia meeting.

The organization committee will outline a plan for the organization that will promote the show. It will suggest premiums, rules of the show, entry lists and classifications and other details.

A second general meeting will be held at Tulia Dec. 16. At this meeting, as many representatives of breeders, and others from each county as desires to attend will be present to receive the recommendations of the organization committee and to pass on them. The location of the first show, the date of the event and other matters will be taken up at this time.

Entries in the show for the present will be restricted to the Panhandle Plains section. The show will have two purposes, first to advertise the quality of Plains dairy stock to outside buyers and second to encourage local breeders to improve the quality of their herds and to increase the number of dairy cattle on the Plains.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Geo. J. Irvin, superintendent of the Presbyterian Home for Children, Amarillo, Texas, will fill the pulpit at the Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning, December 4th.

BROWNIE'S WINTER TRIP

"I'M GOING on a winter trip today," said Billie Brownie to Peter Gnome.

He had just met Peter Gnome right on the edge of the woods.

"What are you going to do, Peter?" Billie asked. "I'm going to be out on my adventures."

"I have a meeting of the Every-Day Is Nice Club," said Peter. "Sorry you cannot come to the meeting. But, of course, you don't need to come! You'll be out there, anyway."

"Sure, too," said Billie Brownie. "I'm taking so many things with me."

Then Billie Brownie met groups of winter birds.

to know so many of the children of dear old Mother Nature.

"Today she suggested that I should take a winter trip and meet some of the winter birds, I believe. Couldn't you come, too?"

"I don't believe I possibly could," said Peter Gnome. "But when you come back from your trip, will you come and give us a talk about winter birds?"

"Gladly, gladly," said Billie Brownie. "And then they shook hands, hugged each other and went in different directions, each shouting after the other: 'Then I'll see you soon again!'"

HOW TO BAKE A HAM

The Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, suggests the following as a good method of preparing a ham: Select a nine to ten pound ham and scrub it thoroughly. If it is very salty, soak it overnight. Allow at least one quart of boiling water to each pound of ham, or enough to completely cover it.

Place it in the hot water and for this sized ham, add one carrot sliced, two stalks of celery, one teaspoon of celery salt, three sprigs of parsley, one onion sliced, two or three bay leaves, and one-half cup strong vinegar. Cover and then simmer for four or five hours, counting the time from the beginning of the simmering period. Twenty-five minutes to the pound will be approximately right. Test by using a skewer, or a fork, with long tines. Turn the ham so it will cook evenly on both sides. Add more hot water as the liquor evaporates. The ham should be covered with water during the entire cooking period. After it is tender, let it stand over night in the liquor, or if you wish to serve it hot, remove the skin at once, wait until the surface of the ham is cool, then cover with the following mixture: 3 cups brown sugar, 3 cups fine soft bread crumbs, one-half teaspoon mustard, cider or vinegar moisten.

Mix these ingredients and spread over the top of the ham until entirely covered. Press long-stemmed, whole cloves into the coated fat, at intervals. These help to hold on the paste, and also to season the fat. Place the ham in a hot oven to form a crust quickly, then reduce the temperature and baste frequently with a mixture of ham liquor and cider or vinegar, until the ham is evenly browned.

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

SEARCH FOR HAPPINESS

FAUST hears at Easter dawn the music of cathedral bells. Thoughts of the immortal life bring him no joy. With suicidal intent he presses a vial of poison to his lips. Satan appears promising him happiness if he would be his subject. Satan enabled Faust to drink deep from the cup of power, only to leave his heart adamant and his eyes like balls of steel. The world of pleasure with abundant opportunities for happiness is next offered Faust, but he retires from it, satiated, tired and disappointed with Satan defeated. Faust now decides not to live for himself, but for others. He reclaimed a wide stretch of land from the ocean, which he made into a beautiful park where artisans could rest and children play. Thus Faust discovered that happiness was found in service, "in the merging of the interest of self into the general good." Through service, Faust found his way to redemption. Margaret in shining apparel awaits him as angels bear his soul to heaven.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

THE LUCKY AGE

NO VISION of the millennium formed in the fifteenth century could have equaled the realities of 1927. A great part of the things which people were most hopelessly trying to accomplish then has been done today. People who talk about "the good old days" are either ignorant or silly. Civilization has been set back in its progress from time to time.

The Dark Ages succeeded the grandeur of Rome, which, after all, was only the grandeur of the ability. The common people of that city did all the work, got all the cuffs and kicks, and shared all the poverty.

But children born today find the world on the upgrade, and, as far as opportunity for enjoyment is concerned, getting better and better.

We are not yet free from war, or sure that this plague has been exterminated.

But the busy inventors of war machinery are arranging for the next war to extend far behind the battle lines, into the interior cities, and into the meeting places of the statesmen who usually make wars.

And when that is possible, wars will become fewer and fewer.

The son of a poor man today can get a better education than could the son of a king in the days of Louis XIV. He can also get better food, and better medical care, and more sensible, although not such elaborate clothing.

One of the greatest of all accomplishments is the doing away of superstition which made fear one of the most dreadful burdens of life in the days of witchcraft and black magic.

Poverty there will be as long as there is idleness in the world. Crime there will be as long as rascality exists, and rascality will be long in exterminating.

But the general standard of conduct is higher today than it has ever been, and more safeguards are thrown by the nations around the foolish people who fall easy prey to designing schemers.

The hours of labor are much shorter than they ever were, and the wages are better.

We still have much to learn about the cause of financial depression and the means of removing it, but panics occur with less frequency, and even great shortages of crops do not affect the people of a nation as they used to.

Mothers used to pray that their children might be born under a lucky age.

And this age, while it is capable of improvement, is the best age that the world has ever known—more filled with opportunity, and more rich with the fruit of human labor.

What's New In Salads

By CAROLINE B. KING

Culinary Expert and Lecturer on Domestic Science

A SALAD may be either a refreshing interlude between the main course of the dinner and the dessert, or it may be a dish substantial and delicious enough to serve as the piece de resistance of the meal itself. The latter type of salad is now very popular, and the materials for its making are selected very carefully with due regard to their food values, as well as their fitness. Switzerland cheese in a salad adds immensely to its tastiness as well as to its nutritive qualities, particularly the genuine Swiss product made in the Alps, which has an aromatic Alpine flavor peculiar to itself. This type of cheese is rich in Vitamine A, and has a high caloric value. Its content of fat and other properties make it especially adaptable for blending with other food products.

Stuffed Tomato Salad:

Scald, chill and peel six ripe, firm tomatoes of regular size, and hollow out. Cut into dice four stalks of celery, two dill pickles, one hard cooked egg and enough genuine Swiss cheese to make one-fourth cupful. Moisten well with boiled dressing or mayonnaise, and fill the tomatoes. Serve on lettuce leaves with thin whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches.

Pineapple, Pear and Cheese Salad:

Arrange slices of pineapple on lettuce leaves on individual plates, and on each place a halved canned pear from which the core has been cut, leaving a boat shaped opening. Prepare a mixture of thin strips of Switzerland cheese, mixed with thin strips of canned pimientos, and shredded green pepper and fill the pear boats. Top with whipped cream salad dressing and arrange segments of green pepper on the pineapple slices. Serve with Boston cracker toastwiches.

Boston Cracker Toastwiches:

Split hard Boston crackers and spread with butter, rather thickly. Place in the oven, cover with thinly sliced Swiss cheese, brown delicately.

Alpine Salad:

Boil four unpeeled potatoes, cool, peel and cut in cubes. Add half a cupful of chopped walnuts, four sour gherkin pickles, chopped, and one-half cupful diced Switzerland cheese, also a grating of onion. Mix all together well, moisten with boiled dressing, and serve on lettuce leaves, accompanying each serving with a slice of boiled ham and a large stuffed olive.

Improvised Salad:

Quarter three dill pickles lengthwise, and mix with enough of genuine Swiss cheese to correspond. Arrange on lettuce leaves or lettuce leaves and garnish with strips of canned pimientos. Serve with French dressing.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The sleep of a laboring man is sweet.—Ecol. 5:12.
 Genius begins great works; labor alone finishes them.—Joubert.

GAME IS DWINDLING

It is not uncommon along about this time of year to hear Littlefield hunters complaining that "game isn't near a plentiful as it used to be." So it may interest them to know that the complaint doesn't apply to this particular section alone, but that game is scarce all over the United States. In fact, recent government investigations show that only about 2 per cent of the game that existed in the country 60 years ago can be found today.

All our wild game, ranging in size from the tiny sandpiper and red squirrel to the wild turkey and moose, is rapidly diminishing in numbers. They have an unequal chance with the vast army of hunters equipped with the latest in guns, ammunition and well-trained dogs. Every year the wild life grows scarcer while the army of hunters grows larger and their guns more deadly and effective. At the present rate, it is claimed, before the year 2027, the United States will be swept as clean of wild life as though it had never existed. The few small game refuges are considered insufficient to save it.

Some of the American game species that face early extinction are the woodcock, jacksnipe, golden plover, antelope, California grizzly bear, wild sheep and mountain goats. The early passing of the wild turkey and grouse has already been pretty well accomplished.

The way of the transgressor is not only hard but it is usually full of detours.

GIVE THEM AIR

Littlefield parents who feel that it is enough to permit their children to play outdoors two or three hours a day have a false impression of what is best for the child, according to a statement now being broadcast by health experts of Columbia University.

They argue that children should live both day and night in fresh air. Poor ventilation in their bedrooms gives them sluggish digestion and causes them to be listless and indifferent. Overheated rooms have an ill effect on the youthful nervous system; they are apt to feel the effects of it during later years. "Indoor air to be fresh," declare these experts, "must be in gentle motion rather than still. It must be moderately moist, rather than dry, and it must be free from dust and odors."

In other words, indoor air must be as fresh as the outdoor air of ideal weather, and parents who do not see that sleeping rooms are well ventilated are not looking after the health of their children as they should. See that bedrooms are well ventilated during these winter months.

A Wisconsin girl has killed a bear with a rolling pin, but we doubt that the fact will bring her a single offer of marriage.

CIVIC SLACKERS

Recently at a meeting of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, a very able speech was made on the subject of "Civic Slackers." In this speech a comparison was made between the business man who, openly in broad daylight and with no apparent shame, takes the benefits which come from the work of his fellow townsmen, in civic affairs; and the sneak thief who taking articles of far less real value and assuming the chance of forfeiting his liberty if caught.

The comparison may appear far-fetched, yet there is more than a grain of truth in the conception. Prosperous communities, large and small, have been made by an enthusiastic themselves to making their town or city a good place in which to live and a profitable place for business enterprise. This has meant months of work for the general welfare and, quite generally, this work falls on the shoulders of a few men, who often cannot hope to reap any personal benefits commensurate with the time and money they have invested for the public good.

To bear a fair share of the burden of progress and development is every business man's duty. He cannot escape his part of the benefits, and, therefore, is morally bound to pay for these in the coin of interested co-operation.

A Vermont man is reported to be the father of 32 children. It looks like it is about time for him to join the League of Nations.

GIVE THEM THE GATE

We've no objection to our neighbors in other parts of the state, or even in other states, selling goods. But we enjoy buying what we do buy from people we know, or from salesmen who represent people and concerns that are not strangers to us. We can't see just wherein there can be much satisfaction in buying from those we never heard of before and will never meet up with again.

This is inspired by the fact that more and more, as the roads get better and it is possible for more autos to travel them, the community is being visited by canvassers and peddlers who offer most everything under the sun. We are opposed to this kind of merchandising for many reasons, chief among which is the fact that we have here in Littlefield established houses that we can turn to when we need anything. And if they haven't it in stock they can very easily, and without loss of time, get it for us.

Where does anyone profit through buying from a peddler something, that, when replacements are needed, cannot be secured here at home? And whose tax money pays for the roads over which these peddlers and canvassers travel? They can only exist so long as doors are opened to them and they are permitted to pour forth their sales arguments. "Give the peddler the gate" would be a good slogan for every community to adopt.

Our idea of a lifetime job would be serving on a congressional committee for providing farm relief.

WHO SPENDS MOST?

Regardless of whether the husband or wife is head of the house, the wife is the purchasing agent, and therefore the biggest spender. Some of our lady friends around Littlefield may disagree with us, but here are a few figures compiled by Uncle Sam to prove it.

Husbands produce approximately 70 per cent of the American family income; wives spend 85 per cent of it. Uncle Sam estimates the spending value of women at $20,000,000,000. Our 23,000,000 housewives, he finds, buy more than $1,000 of goods each minute. They purchase 50 per cent of all merchandise bought for family use and have a voice in buying 25 per cent more.

And if our gentlemen friends think they picked out the car they are driving they are all wrong. Uncle Sam says women select more than half of the total number of autos sold. Is it any wonder that the wise merchant directs the bulk of his advertising toward the women of the community?

Russians are said to be buying American razors, but we will never believe they are on the road to civilization until they commence ordering American soap.

UP TO THE DRIVER

The U. S. Supreme court rendered a decision a few days ago that every Littlefield motorist ought to become acquainted with if he wants to keep on the safe side. It was in a case brought by an Ohio family that had sued a railroad company for damages when the father had been killed while driving across a railroad track.

The Supreme Court holds that railroad companies are not to blame for the death or injury of a motorist hit while driving across its tracks during the daylight hours. The blame rests entirely on the auto driver, declares the highest court in the land.

It may not be a popular decision, but it ought to be a helpful one because it ought to make drivers still more careful at grade crossings. It is sad enough to be killed or injured, but now that the court has decided the railroad company doesn't have to pay damages such an act is rendered still more deplorable. The engineer's skirts are clear in future accidents at grade-crossings—it's up to the auto driver now.

Scientists say the moon is traveling at a faster rate now than ever before. It has to keep up with the pace set by the world.

JOBS FOR "OLD TIMERS"

Littlefield citizens who listen to the old argument that a man's usefulness is ended when he reaches 50, and who may have been inclined to believe it, can now take new hope.

Many of recall the statement made by Dr. Osler a few years ago that all men over 60 should be chloroformed for the good of the race. Now, "Doc" is shown to have been an alarmist. A New York firm is advertising for male and female help "above 40 and under 70." The head of the concern says they get better work from middle aged people than from youth; that those of mature years take their work more seriously and turn out a better product, that not only brings more money but that gives greater satisfaction.

The action of this company may set other concerns thinking, with the result that before long there will be plenty of work for those who have been led to believe that they are "old timers" and unfitted to longer hold up their end in the game of life.

THAT TAX CUT

Although details have not been worked out; Washington reports indicate that congress will lop off about $250,000,000 in federal taxes when it convenes next month. The committee in charge of tax reduction will it is reported, probably favor the corporations. However, there is a rumor that a bill will be introduced providing for a new method of computing incomes, and if it goes through the taxpayer with children depending upon him will benefit.

Not many around Littlefield are making $5,000 a year and yet one has to be making that much or more to share in any further reduction that might be made in income taxes under the present schedule. But a lot of people around here do have dependents that cost them far more than the $400 exemption allowed for each in figuring the income tax return. And that is why they are entitled to hope that not only the tax cut but the revision of figuring out incomes will go through.

LITTLE LEADERS

What a Littlefield man thinks about another man doesn't count for much—unless he happens to be on a jury.

The only reason some Littlefield families don't own an elephant is that they have never seen offered an elephant for a dollar down and the balance on easy payments.

Nobody has ever been able to explain why it is that a Littlefield mother has to call her small son nine times to get him to go on an errand, but only has to call him once to get him to dinner.

A 100 per cent optimist is the Littlefield man who believes the thinning out of his hair is only a temporary matter.

There are all sorts of men around Littlefield including the one who doesn't know any better than to argue with a woman, book or hosiery agent.

What has become of the old-fashioned Littlefield boy who used to play "Listen to the Mocking Bird" on a mouth-organ?

We have frequently observed that while most of the older Littlefield women are trying to secure a schoolgirl complexion, most of the older men are yearning for a school boy stomach.

There are some fellows in and around Littlefield who can forecast the weather for a full year ahead, but can't tell five minutes in advance when a tire is going to blow out.

Again, we sometimes wonder what has become of the old-fashioned Littlefield woman whose dress bosom used to look like a pin cushion.

This Week's Poem

"LITTLE DROPS OF WATER"

Little drops of water,
 Little gobs of mud,
 Make the swellest motor
 Look just like the "dud."

Little smells and noises,
 Little jolts and jars
 Keep your "bug" from seeming
 Like big, expensive cars.

Little wires and buzzers,
 Little wheels and cogs
 Make the mighty auto
 That runs down little dogs!

Little writs and summons,
 Sentences and fines,
 Make the naughty speeder
 Mind the traffic signs!

CHARITY
There are many kinds of charity as well as many ways to give. Gifts can be harmful as well as helpful; actuated by selfishness as well as by generosity. Oftimes a donation is made because the donor knows that it will be given a large amount of publicity, and a good deal of pleasure obtained from the fact that many people will look upon the giver as generous, charitable and unselfish. Thus hospitals are founded, schools endowed, with the stipulation that they be named after the person contributing the money. Too often when making a gift is considered, it is from the standpoint of how much good will I get out of it rather than how much benefit will it be. Of course, money given in this way is beneficial but how much more laudable if the spirit of unselfishness and generosity were present. What a wonderful state when one can enjoy giving because he sees others made happy and not because his conscience dictates that it shall be done, or that a certain amount of publicity and material gain is to be derived from the act.

Then, it is not necessary, as it is sometimes considered, to have financial means in order to be charitable. The best of gifts are often just a little brotherly and personal interest—a word of advice and encouragement, a smile or a slap on the back. In many cases where a man has gotten into the rough of life's course and considers himself to be out of the game, the knowledge that someone has confidence in his ability, is taking a personal interest and backing him for a winner, renews his confidence in himself and he starts down the fairway with renewed ambitions, whereas an impersonal donation of money, while it might help, stands a chance of further depriving him of his feeling of independence and confidence. A visit to a sick man helps a lot more than a bunch of flowers; word of cheer from a friend is often the best of medicine.
In the modern day rush for wealth and material gain the meaning of the word "brother" is fast being forgotten. The tendency is to become a group of mechanical beings, devoid of all but selfish thoughts, striving for wealth and display. One might well pause a moment and remember that after all life is short; it is better to have one's memory perpetuated by friends and kind deeds than by hoarded treasures. Along this line it has been said:

The thing that in this life is the most worthwhile,
That costs the least and counts the most,
Is just a friendly smile.

COUNT THE SMILES
It matters not how many years
Of life I chance to see;
It matters not what unknown fate
The future holds for me—
It matters not if every day
I find some task to do,
That sows the seeds of happiness
Where pain or heartache grew.
We should not measure life alone
By checking off the miles,
But where we live our little day
Let's count the friendly smiles.
That mark our path, and let's be so
Considerate and kind,
That love will shed its radiance
On those we leave behind.

Cookies for Children Nice With Nutty Taste

When oatmeal is used in place of part of the flour in making cookies, it gives them a particularly good, nutty taste. Cinnamon flavor and raisins make oatmeal cookies especially acceptable to the children. These cookies are easily made and wholesome, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

Oatmeal Drop Cookies.

1/2 cupful shortening
1 cupful sugar
1/2 cupful milk
1 cupful raisins
1/2 cupful chopped nut meats
1 1/2 cupfuls fine oatmeal
1 1/2 cupfuls flour
1 egg
1/2 teaspoonful salt
1 teaspoonful cinnamon
1/2 teaspoonful soda dissolved in 1 teaspoonful water

Cream the butter and sugar, and add the beaten egg. Sift the dry ingredients, except the oatmeal, together and add with the milk to the egg, sugar, and butter mixture. Add the soda which has been dissolved in the water, and then the oatmeal which has been mixed with the nuts and raisins. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet and bake to a golden brown in a fairly hot oven. Remove from the pan while hot.

INDEPENDENCE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WE USED to dream of merry days,
The lands to see, the things to do—
And then so suddenly we grew
So busy in so many ways
Youth slipped away before we knew.

So many things our hearts concerned,
So much of toil, so many cares,
To build the house, to sweep the stairs—
Returning tasks with day returned
And life slipped by us unaware.
But now we dream of other years,
Of later years, of quiet age—
Ahead we see the final page—
And yet how fair that page appears,
No more concerned with work or wage.

For now we put a little by
So when we weary we may rest;
And, though the sun is in the west,
We still are dreaming, she and I,
And often think this dream the best—

Of days when we may take our time,
Together face the fading light,
And have a little fire at night,
A coffee where the roses climb,
When limbs grow weary, temples white.

And none shall say, "They're very old,"
And none shall say, "They're quite a care."
We've saved a little here and there,
And just as high our heads we'll hold
As in the days when days were fair.
(As by step-by-step newspaper syndicate.)

FOR THE GOOSE—

BEIN' free with your knives is like goin' in the automat and puttin' a nickel in the slot marked "Coca" without first gettin' yourself a cup.

A woman always changes her mind.
A fool never.

A theater ain't the only place where you ought to be sure and spot your exit first.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"OUT OF DEBT, OUT OF DANGER"

HERE is a rather platitudinous little saying which would seem to the user of trite phrases, to have been coined perhaps by some one in a witty mood and to have lived because of its aptness and the "catchiness" of its alliteration.

The fact is, however, that "Out of debt, out of danger," is found to be several hundred years old, having had an auspicious beginning in English literature:

"But they much more marvel and detest the madness of them whyche to those riche men in whose debt and daunger they be not, do give almost divine honoures, for none other consideration but because they be riche."

And Shakespeare, in the "Merchant of Venice," makes use of the expression in only slightly different form from our modern phrase when he speaks of a debtor being "within the danger of his creditor."

"Maldens still have the reluctant feet that Tennyson sang about," said Sophisticated Sophie, "but they don't get that way until time to go home."

POINTS IN FITTING A ONE-PIECE DRESS

Using a Skirt Gauge in Fitting a One-Piece Dress

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The points on which attention is centered in fitting a one-piece dress are the shoulders, the under-arm seams, the sleeves, the neck, and the hemline. Any decorative features must be planned with care so that they are of the right size to harmonize with the entire costume and the build of the wearer, and they must be located with reference to the other lines of the garment as well as to their use. For example, the length of the front opening, or the depth of set-in platted sections, or the size and position of pockets, are matters to be decided for each individual.

Shoulder Seam Acts as Anchor.

A properly placed shoulder seam acts as an anchor to a well-fitted garment, says the bureau of home economics. It influences the set of the waist and sleeves and the hang of the skirt. Therefore it should be located most carefully, and the shoulders should be the first part fitted.

The under-arm seam in a one-piece dress should be perpendicular to the floor. If it tilts backward or forward, the back or the front of the dress will swing out correspondingly at the bottom. Sometimes this defect is corrected by taking darts in the front section below the armhole and at the hip line, and sometimes it may be necessary to raise the back of the dress at the shoulders and trim out the armhole, rather than to turn up the hem at points where the bottom necks to sag.

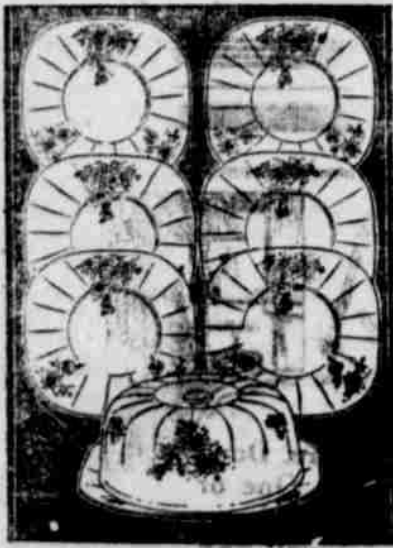

When ready to turn up the hem, help to place the dress on a form on a table, so that the fitter can measure the distance accurately to the level surface of the table. It is cross is to have a belt, a tape-line, other means of confining the waistfulness it should be correctly placed. The form before measurements from the floor are begun, or the finish dress will be shorter than was intended and possibly uneven. A right skirt gauge is a help, either one made especially for the purpose or a rule, but not a tape measure. The height of the skirt from the floor is partly a matter of the height, weight and color of the person who is to wear it, and partly a matter of the season's styles.

Basting, Sketching and Pressing.

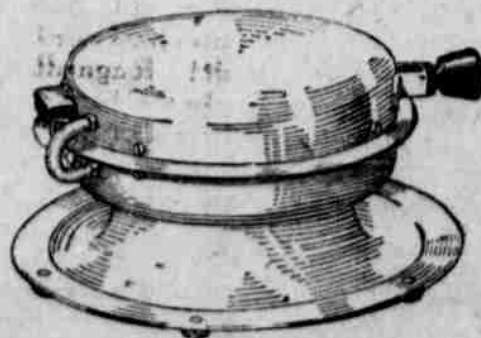

Accurate basting and stitching and careful pressing are essential in well-fitted garment. Stitching should follow near enough to the line of basting that the size of the garment will not be altered. Press each seam as it is finished, especially when working with silk or wool materials. Good pressing will not produce the same results. Turn the shoulder at under-arm seams toward the front; they are not pressed open. Turn the armhole seam and shoulder darts toward the neck. Many other fine points about fitting and making a dress were found in Farmers' Bulletin 1530, "Fitting Dresses and Blouses," which may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY

The Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church were hostesses to a birthday party given at the home of Mrs. R. W. Steen, Tuesday afternoon, honoring ten ladies whose birthdays came during the months of September, October and December.

The afternoon was spent in contests, games and stunts also sewing. Each lady finishing up articles for the bazaar, which will be held in the Gardner building next door to the old Theatre building, Saturday Dec. 3rd, also making arrangements for the Turkey dinner which will be served in connection with the bazaar.

There will be four booths first the fancy work in charge of Mrs. Brittain and Mrs. Bills where you can buy lovely articles for gifts. Second the novelty booth in charge of Mrs. Miller Mrs. Steen and Mrs. Speaker, where you can buy gifts for your Christmas boxes.

Third, the kitchen booth in charge of Mrs. Mitchell, and Mrs. Rutledge, will be worth your while to visit. Besides the necessary things for your kitchen you will find home made fruit cakes, etc.

Fourth, the Christian Endeavor booth, and Christmas tree, in charge of Miss Hubbard, and the Christian Endeavor members. There you will find candies, etc.

The bazaar will open at 10:00 o'clock. The dinner will be served from 11:30 to 2:00 o'clock and with the turkey will be served candied yam dressing, scalloped corn, giblet gravy, chanterelle sauce, apple salad, bread, butter, pie and coffee.

At the close of the afternoon, Mrs. Steen assisted by Mrs. Speaker and Miss Hubbard placed two angel food cakes, candle lighted in the centre of the dining table and the honorees: Mrs. Bessie Baze, Mrs. K. F. Albright Mrs. J. S. Hilliard, Mrs. Jess Mitchell, Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. T. T. Garrett, Mrs. Speaker, Mrs. W. O. Stockton, Mrs. A. C. Chesher, and Mrs. E. A. Logan were asked to cut the cakes, which was served with sandwiches and cocoa to 24 ladies.

W. M. U. ENTERTAINS

Rev. and Mrs. Roy Kemp and members of the school faculty who have allied themselves with the Baptist church were complimented with a dinner Tuesday evening in the dining room of the church.

The long tables were made attractive with vases of cut flowers and plates were served to about 150 guests.

Mrs. Lna Howard was chairman of the gathering and proved herself a very capable and charming leader.

The welcome address to the new members was made by Mrs. Pat Boone. Rev. Kemp in a very few earnest words, filled with the spirit of service and whole hearted zeal for the advancement of the church responded to the welcome. Mr. Poles on behalf of the teachers also made a response in which he expressed his wish that all who are engaged in the educational work of Littlefield, should offer themselves for service in some church in this town.

Miss Fledgie Dunagin was the happy winner of a box of stationery presented by Mrs. Howard for giving the best answer to a contest. A piano solo was beautifully rendered by Miss Ellen Crockett. Mrs. J. M. Stokes gave the well-known and well-loved reading by James Whitcomb Riley, "That Old Sweetheart of Mine." Jake Hopping sang "So I Can Wait," and Kiplings "On the Road to Mandalay."

Sue Brannen gave a reading on "Friendship," by Edgar A. Guest and as an encore another of Guest's poems

"A Friend's Greeting."

The program closed with everybody singing "God be With You till we Meet Again."

METHODIST MISSIONARY

The Ladies Missionary society of the Methodist church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. E. G. Courtney, for a Missionary Voice lesson. Mrs. M. P. Reid was leader assisted by Mrs.

Kirk and Mrs. Williams.

The Society is invited to attend the District Zone meeting at Lubbock, Dec. 7th. We hope a large number of the members will be present.

At the close of the afternoon lovely refreshments of sandwiches coffee and cake were served to a large number.

The society will meet with Mrs. W. W. Gillette next Monday.

"WHAT IS A CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENT?"

This question is often asked, and "How does it cure disease?" A short explanation may not be amiss. A Chiropractic Adjustment, is a simple thrust given by the hands on the small bony segments of the spine to replace to normal any segment that may have become slightly out of alignment. This is done with the bare hands, no appliance of any kind is used, and

"HOW DOES IT CURE DISEASE?"

No reputable Chiropractor will claim that there is any curative power in a Chiropractic adjustment. The adjustment itself does not cure.

What it Does Do

It DOES readjust the small spinal bones to their proper positions, so as to open the foraminae (Small openings between the bones) to their full extent, and take off the pressure on the nerves that go thru these openings to the different section of the body. It requires a human mechanic who has had the proper training in anatomy and in the art of adjusting, to do this efficiently. A Chiropractor is a human mechanic. Often a comparatively few adjustments accomplish great results in disease conditions, while in other cases longer time is required to restore the maladjusted member. No one is competent to tell how many adjustments it will require to get results. This depends entirely on the recuperative powers left in the body to rebuild tissue surrounding the vertebrae, as well as the reconstruction of the diseased condition, which was the result of the life force being partly shut off at the openings along the spine. When this tissue has been built up and reconstruction of the diseased organ has taken place, then
