

SUPPORT OF CITIZENS ASKED IN PROMOTING TOURNAMENT

—Officials Attempt To Make Meet Pay For Itself—

(Editors Note: This article outlines the program arranged for the promotion of the South Plains Softball tournament. Included is information concerning finance, promotion, and why Littlefield should be proud to have received the tournament.)

Through the cooperation of the Lamb County Leader, the City Softball league officials secured the South Plains District Softball tournament, a division of the Amateur Softball Association of America of which the state unit is sponsored by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, for Littlefield over several more-strategic cities in this section of the state. Texas Amateur Softball officials selected Littlefield as the host city in the South Plains area because after investigating softball interest and facilities here they were convinced that this city would take a lead and the responsibility of financing and promoting such a venture and make a success of it.

In accepting the offer made to the local paper and league officials for the tournament site, the Texas Amateur Softball association, a non-profit amateur organization, pro-motivated by the leading sports figures and companies throughout the United States, asked for only one guarantee: that the team winning the district tournament would receive a designated amount of money to finance its expenses to the state meet at Fort Worth. That required amount, one hundred dollars ($100) has been assured by league officials and local citizens.

Not A Profit Making Venture
In sponsoring the tournament here, the Leader nor the league is to capitalize on the gate receipts. The tournament is being held here to get Littlefield and the South Plains before the public throughout the state. Through direct promotion by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram daily publicity about the sixteen district tournament sites, included the Littlefield tournament, information about the host cities, and methods of promoting the tournament will be given. Such publicity for a community is certainly worthwhile. Besides that, Littlefield is the smallest city that will play host to a district tournament. That alone is worth a great deal.

In explaining the tournament, tournament officials are not seeking any donations, favors, or courtesies. The tournament is Littlefield's and it is up to Littlefield to make it pay. But in order to put the tournament over in the way Littlefield should be able to do, cooperation from every individual is needed. Plans have been made by tournament officials to make the entire four day program pay for itself. A ticket sale is now underway. Each season ticket sells for one dollar ($1.00).

Plenty of Work To Do
There is plenty of work to do yet.

Bleachers are to be erected, adjusted, fences built, and organization of the tournament period. Certainly, one certain group can organize and promote a tournament that represents the efforts of one city. It will take the combined support of every individual. At least a dozen teams will be represented here from sixteen counties, fans will, more than likely, follow these teams here.

Will you lend your support if called upon?

MANCILL HALL TO HEAD WORK OF ORGANIZATION

Plan For Budgeting Finance Is Contemplated By Members Tuesday

Plans were discussed for a complete reorganization of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce at the luncheon meeting of the booster group Tuesday noon, which was presided over by Mancill Hall, president, recently elected at a meeting of the directors.

Mr. Hall outlined several changes he suggested for the betterment of the organization. Stating that the Chamber of Commerce should be operated on the same principles as a business institution, he suggested that a budget be adopted for the purpose of paying the expenses of the organization, including secretary's salary, office rent, postage, printing, etc., which should be handled by a treasurer; a proper accounting system installed, with all money to be deposited in the bank the usual way. He also recommended that the group meet once each week, as most of the work would be done by the committee system.

Urges Larger Membership

Mr. Hall also suggested that a membership drive be put on stating that in order to operate a successful Chamber of Commerce a larger membership than at present would be necessary.

He stressed the fact that he must have the cooperation of the business men, otherwise he would not continue as president, saying that if the business men would get behind him, that he believed that much additional work could be accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce.

He suggested that questionnaires be passed around among the business men not members of the chamber, and in this way secure their reasons why they were not members of the organization.

J. O. Garlington agreed with Mr. Hall in his suggestions, stating that the "first thing we need is a larger membership. If we cannot get more business men into it, it is hopeless. We have a number of leading business men in the town who are not in the Chamber of Commerce. The group here today cannot put it over by themselves. The membership should be double what it is."

He also recommended the budget system.

Pat Boone said that the Chamber of Commerce had accomplished considerable in the road building program in the county, and had a great

Stamford Man Here Tuesday On Business

W. B. Sandefer of near Stamford spent Tuesday in Littlefield looking after his business interests in connection with a farm he owns five miles southwest of this city, which is being worked by Herbert and Roy Dolle on a crop share basis.

Mr. Sandefer, who is very enthusiastic about this section of Texas, stated they had a fine crop on his land, and that with another rain they would make a big one.

He commented on the good water this section enjoys, and stated he might come here to live, as he said "I sure like this part of the country." After visiting Littlefield Mr. Sandefer went to Floydada, where he was going to spend some time with his father, B. P. Sandefer.

FOOT-BALL RE-VEW

We never expect to win any prizes as a sports writer; that is, in so far as football, baseball, soft ball, or any of those contests are concerned. BUT, we might be able to write a yarn about a dog fight, a rooster fight, or a horse race.

Leon Stansell is one person who apparently knows how little we know about FOOT-BALL. A few days ago he up and went and contributed to the "We Think" column in the following manner, to-wit, etc. and etc.:

There is a time in the year which the people hold dear--and, just to show up the song writers, it is not the good old summer time. It is when the whizz of the pass and the boom of the punt herald the fact that the mighty football army is on the march again.

There are half a dozen football teams in this district so closely matched that it is impossible to discern any difference. Viewing these squads with the naked optic reveals a wealth of manpower, expert coaching, and plenty of will to win. The unknown quantity is that which faces every football team,

SEEK TO OUTLAW SELLING SCHEMES

Littlefield has turned thumbs down on that great array of doubtful advertising schemes which each year are presented to the business men of this and other cities.

The promoters of such schemes are particularly active in the fall of each year. What they have to offer is most generally beneficial to only one person . . . the promoter.

These promoters come into a city bringing with them only an idea . . . and that idea is generally costly to the purchasers and virtually worthless. They collect their money and pass on to another city. Thousands and thousands of dollars are spent annually on such

IN ONE EVENTH INSTALMENT

MONOPSIS—Silas Spelle, high-minded, low-principled cattle baron, out to smash the local band and foreclose on the small ranchers of the Kanab desert country that he can seize their range lands. He is opposed by Ed Spurlock, president of the Cattleman's Bank, and by San Juan Delevan, prominent rancher who has been crippled by a fall from his horse, Johnny Clehoe and his partner, Tex Whipple and his partner, Johnny Clehoe, are cowpunchers employed by San Juan Delevan to fight the rustlers and protect his interests.

"Mama," chirruped Johnny, blowing on his knuckles. "That was shore a satisfaction, I been itchin' to do that all mornin'."

"Heh—heh!" chuckled Tex coldly. "Yuh shore rung up a bulls-eye that time, kid. Go on Pink, yuh stick to Miss Ronny."

Spelle was gulping with fury and dismay. While Lange had been unable to finish his statement he had let out enough to advise Spelle that something was radically wrong with this about the Delevan mortgage? "his thwarted greed a modicum of courage returned to him and he advanced threateningly into the room."

"What's this?" he rasped. "What's about the Delevan mortgage?" "Nothin' much," drawled Tex "ceptin' it's paid in full."

"What?" roared Spelle, his gaze working evilly. "I don't want it paid, I refuse to accept payment for it."

"Yuh're plumb out o'luck, hombre," said Tex imperturbably. "There's the money on the table—an' we got the mortgage. Jest let the fact sink in. We're gonna keep it 'n Johnny, the story's told, Let's rattle our hocks."

The two partners made their way to the street, Tex watching Spelle wairily over his shoulder. Down the street Ronny and Pink Crosby were waiting at the buckboard. Further on, tied in a line at the hitching rail before the Starlight Saloon, was a group of horses, all wearing the Double S Iron. Tex's face was furrowed and serious as he reached the buckboard.

"Pink, you an' Miss Ronny hop in Spelle leaped out into the street with a bawl of anger, shaking his fists above his head. Then he headed down towards the saloon at a clumsy run.

"Fork yore hull, kid," snapped

Tex and Johnny spurred after the buckboard.

that rig and light out for home. Them broncos have been wantin' to ramble all morning. Let 'em out. Pour the whip into 'em. Burn the hubs off'n them wheels gettin' there. That mortgage won't be safe until Jim Delevan gets his hands on it."

"Tex," said Ronny fearfully "You don't think there will be trouble do you?"

"Don't think a thing, Miss Ronny," soon as Spelle gets there," answered Tex. "I know there will, soon as Spelle gets through snapping' at himself he's gonna turn that gang o' his loose on yore trail to try an' haid yuh off fore yuh get home."

"B—but, you and Johnny," objected the girl, her eyes on Johnny's grim young face. "You can't fight them all off, you'll get hurt."

Johnny's face broke into a wide, beautiful grin. "Nemmine us, Miss Ronny. Me an' this ole sand rat been shot at before. We're jest too cussed onery to stop lead. Pink, shade them reins. See yuh while ago."

Pink spun the buckboard around on one wheel and turned the broncos loose in a wild run up the street. As the buckboard passed the bank

Tex crisply. "Lead's due to fly in a minute."

In a moment Tex and Johnny were spurring after the rapidly disappearing buckboard. As they cleared the edge of the town the dim roar of voice reached their ears. "Shows on," yelled Johnny. "Whoopie! Look at that boy Pink drive will yuh. If that buckboard had wings it'd fly."

A half mile from town Tex looked back. He could easily see the black blot of hard riding horsemen.

"Slow up," he snapped. "We're pullin' on Pink. We're out here to hold this gang back instead of hau 'em up. Git yore Winchester loose, kid."

Johnny pulled the rifle from the boot beneath his left thigh and levered in a cartridge. Then he and Tex hauled their nervous mounts down to a leisurely lope. The horsemen in the rear came up fast and Tex watching them closely, measured the distance.

"Four hundred yards," he announced finally. "Fan 'em a couple, Johnny."

Obediently Johnny turned and slammed five shots to the rear. It was hard shooting, twisted thus on a running horse, but the following band made a big mark and at the fifth shot a horse went headlong, throwing its rider spread eagling into the dust.

"Bueno," cried Tex "That slowed 'em up."

"Yeah, fer a minute," answered Johnny, feverishly plugging more shells through the loading gate.

"Nemmine, Pink's almost opt o' sight—an' that's the main thing."

As Johnny had said the pursurs had spread out and no longer presented a solid mass to shoot at, From now on any fire Johnny might give through his rifle would perfor-

be merely haphazard as for a hit very small. His own horse was in motion. The dull thudding of gun-shots sounded in the rear but only one lone bullet sang past. Tex, quick to read this sign smiled grimly. "Lucky fer us they ain't any o' them got Winchester. They can plug away all day at this distance with their six-guns without doing any harm. Kin yuh see Pink "

"Nope, Plumb outa sight. Reckon we done put a crimp in Mister Spelle today, Tex."

Then Johnny gave a yell of alarm. "Look et comin' in ahead an' on the right, Tex. Two riders comin' in to haid us off. Now how'n hell did they git up there?"

Tex turned and followed Johnny's pointing arm. Sure enough two riders were spurring in at an angle to the southwest, from the rim of the desert. They were coming fast on big, gaunt horses and each of the riders carried a rifle loose in their right hands.

"Hell snapped, Tex. 'We're in fer it, kid. Pull up. You go after those two hombraes with the rifles. I'll keep this other gang back. My ole hawk-laig will throw lead just as far as theirs. Now le's see yuh do some o' that high-toned shootin' yuh've been braggin' about."

"If yuh'd only pack a Winchester," wailed Johnny as they drew their plunging broncos to a halt. "But yuh're so danged bull-headed yuh never will. Jest think what yuh could do with a 30-30 now."

"Nemmie me," snapped Tex. "Get busy—those two jaspers are within range."

Johnny slipped from his horse and threw up his rifle. It weavered, steadied, but when it crashed flatly the bullet went far and wide. Just as Johnny pulled the trigger Tex had leaned over and swept the barrel up.

"Fer gosh sakes," blazed Johnny. "What in hell did you do that fer? I was holdin' daid center."

Tex paid no attention. His kennel old eyes were fixed on the two newcomers with a mingled expression of doubt and joy.

"Kid, yore eyes are better'n mine. Look close. Ain't that leadin' hoss a star face black "

"Yeah it is," snapped Johnny, raising his rifle again. "An' I'm gonna put me a slug right in the star."

But Tex shoved his rifle aside again. "Kid," he burst out delightedly. "That's ole Utah Lynch an' Al Burrows from the Bar B outfit. I telegraphed 'em to come arunnin' an' shore they're doin' it. You fan hell outa Spelle's crowd. I'm goin' out to meet Utah an' Al."

The somewhat bewildered Johnny whirled on the rapidly nearing Double S crowd and with his first shot downed one of the leading riders. His second shot brought a horse screaming to earth and the rest broke and rode back out of range, where they gathered in a council of war. It did not take them long to realize that this time at least they were outmaneuvered, for they saw Tex spur out to meet the newcomers and pump their hands delightedly; Two more rifles added to Johnny's deadly one were too much to face so they turned and rode back toward Carillion with their dead.

Utah Lynch, lank, dark-faced, saturnine, chuckled grimly as a shamesfaced Johnny pumped his hand.

"Kid," he drawled. "Yuh ain't ferget how to throw a lot o' mean lead, have yuh? I kinda thought you was goin' to open up on me an' Al."

Al Burrows, chunky of body and craggy of face grinned and spat emphatically. "By gollies yes," he chimed in. "Tex, this dang cub o' yores is shore developin' his claws."

"Yeah," nodded Tex his eyes twinkling. "He's gettin' to be mean medicine with a Winchester. Trouble is his brain ain't developin' like it should. If he could think as straight an' fast as he can shoot he'd be all right."

"Aw—g'an," snorted Johnny. "Wouldn't o' been no loss if I had leaded you two ole highbinders. Jest the same I'll admit I was glad to know it was friends droppin' in. How's Bud an' Barbara an' Nevada an' all the rest o' the gang back at the ole Bar B."

"Finer 'n frawg's hair," grinned Utah. "They's a new boss at the ole spread now. But, the second."

"Naw?" exclaimed Johnny delightedly.

"I'm telin' yuh." Utah nodded. "Fattest, happiest lil' geezer yuh

Banded, Manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, daily visitors ranging from 5000 to 8000 persons, residents of 25 different states, registered at the W. T. C. of C. booth at the Fort Worth Frontier celebration the third day after the opening, and that 8000 pieces of literature had been distributed to interested parties at the All-West Texas Resource and Community exhibit.

Mr. Banded further states in his communication as follows:

"We now want our West Texas cities to secure for themselves the maximum benefits from our building and exhibit. It is our plan therefore, to give our West Texas building for one day to each of our West Texas cities. On this day we will arrange, without cost to you, the following services:

"A large lighted sign will be run up on the top of our building announcing your town's day.

"A fifteen minute radio program over WBAP and by courtesy of the Star-Telegram will be given to your city on that day. Merle Tucker, Radio Director of the Frontier Centennial will contact you relative to details for this program.

"Your panel exhibit, motion pictures and souvenir literature will be majored on your day.

"Your lady sponsor for your town if you choose one, will be introduced at Casa Manana by Paul White-man, or the leading man performing at the Casa Manana.

"Your hostess for your day, if you choose one, may have general supervision of our information booth.

"Those cities which are now participating in our all communities exhibits have been designated special days. We will go ahead with our end of the above arrangements for your special day and the sign and radio program will appear for your town as scheduled. Minimum benefits to your city, however, will depend upon your own participation and effort. Please let us know as soon as possible what your activities will be, so we can serve you best. Address all communications to our office 416 Worth Hotel, Fort Worth.

By the time they rode up to the corner of the Box D ranch. Utah and Al had the whole story and had jointly expressed their satisfaction at the opportunity of sitting in on things. When Tex attempted to thank them for their prompt response to his messages they waved him off.

"Why thank us," scoffed Al Burrows. "Shucks, Tex we're the ones to render thanks. After you an' Johnny left our neck o' the woods things got so danged quiet Utah an' me began to offify. This looks like one swell chance to take the kinks outa our trigger fingers an' keen up our eyes a little."

"You danged ole war-dogs," chuckled Tex.

Pink Crosby and Pod Fortune were unhooking a pair of meek, sweating broncos from the buckboard when the four riders drew up. After introductions were over Tex turned to Pink with twinkling eyes.

WATSON'S CLUB GIVING LEADERS TROUBLE AGAIN

IN ONE WEEK M&E, RENFRO STILL CLING TO TOP PLACE

Producers Gradually Nearing Top Position; Gassers Play CCC Tonight

There's just no rest for the ambitious, and the Renfro Bros. Grocery-men will tell you so. After putting the Littlefield P&P back in second place Friday with an easy victory, their hold on first place lasted over the weekend.

Tuesday night, the ten players who made up Pop Watson's tricky aggregation skidded the Poultrymen back into a tie with the Grocers by pouncing out a 9 to 3 win. So everybody's right back where they started.

Slowly getting back into the running once more is the Watson Producers that upset all dope in the first half by dethroning the top teams. Pop's club is in second place and only one game behind the leading Grocers and Poultrymen. But Watson's team isn't slated to play the Grocers any more this year, but they are carded against the P&E team next Thursday.

The Grocers nemesis, the CCC's and the West Texas Gassers, are still waiting their turn in giving the loop leaders more trouble and anything is liable to happen before the last half champ is finally crowned.

Tonight, the Gassers meet the CCC boys in a game that will have little bearing on the league race. A win over the Gassers, however, would put the CCC in a tie with the Woodmen for the cellar. Friday's game pits the Renfro club against Woodmen, who haven't turned any tables this year. But should an upset occur, it would be a sad ending for the Grocery-men's chances for the league title.

SEASON TICKET SALES OPEN FOR TOURNAMENT

Officials Attempt To Make Tournament Pay For Itself—Maybe

In attempt to finance the expense of the South Plains District Softball tournament here August 26 to 29, officials placed 150 season tickets on sale yesterday at $1 each. The tickets are good for all tournament games.

If the sales goes over as officials expect, the tournament will commence August 26 debt free and with additional money on reserve for any other expenses that should arise. Dr. Ira E. Woods, president of the local softball league, is in charge of the ticket sale, and he expressed hope that "no soliciting of money from the local merchants is going to be necessary."

Throughout the promotion of the tournament, members of the committee in charge have expressed hope that the merchants will not have to share in the expense of the tournament; and if the ticket sale goes over, the tournament will be able to take care of all expenses.

At a meeting yesterday morning, officials set the price of admission at the tournament at 25 cents for the double-header attractions and 15 cents for single games. No rates will be made for parked automobiles.

Stands are to be secured from Lubbock in time for the tournament, officials said. Sufficient stands to accommodate approximately 500 people will be available.

Collier Parris, District czar, announced in a telephone conversation with tournament officials here yesterday that seven teams are already signed up. These teams are the Post Centennials and Grasshoppers, Floydada, Lubbock (two teams) and the two Littlefield entries. Deadline is August 10.

TOURNEYS, HAVE FANS IN TWIRL

(Around These Parts)

Covering the tournament trails: In the community of Littlefield and Amherst, people are tournament ga-ga. . . . The next four weeks will see plenty of baseball and softball entertainment for the customers of both towns. . . . And we'll bet you can't find another community in this section of the state that is so sport minded; and it looks as if both ventures are going to be highly successful, if we are permitted to make such a prediction.

Amherst's business manager, Herschel Tapley, hasn't announced the exact dates of the Reds invitation tournament, but it won't interfere with the South Plains Softball tournament that is being worked-up here. The opening day of the baseball tournament, more than likely, will be August 16, a week or more before the softball meet is slated here.

Collier Parris' Lubbock Avalanche-Journal tournament proved plenty to the fans of the South Plains. The old gag that baseball was washed up in the Lubbock territory was proved wrong, and all of the credit should go to Parris who, after six years of trying, has proved to the baseball fans that baseball is not a thing of the past. In one week, Parris built a swell new baseball plant, and the next week paid for it. (Want someone please take a hint). The crowds that ganged into Parris Park put the old baseball heads to nodding approval, and the results will be amazing. The success of the Lubbock tournament will have lots of bearing on the Amherst turnout and entry.

After becoming so interested in the Lubbock tournament, the fans that did not witness the Lubbock games, will lift the remaining debt that hangs over the Amherst park and put money in the players pockets. Of course the crowds won't be as large as those that turned out for the Lubbock meet, but there'll be many hoes left in the fields and cultivators unhitched until the tournament has been completed.

Yes, sir, Amherst owes Parris a big "Thank You." He created a hotbed for baseball in Lamb County by broadcasting and advertising the Lubbock tournament. Manager Tapley should have a very successful event.

AMHERST CLUB ELIMINATED IN FINAL GAME

Gaut And Mates Were Right But Five Games In 3 Days Is To Many

Lubbock, Aug. 3.—Manager Earl Huffman's crew of "forgotten baseball men" tossed a ringer around the first money hopes of the Amherst Reds Monday when they split the final double-header with the Lamb county entrant, thus eliminating them from the Lubbock Invitation tournament.

Rated as the pre-tournament favorites, and never thought otherwise, the under-dog Tip-Toppers composed of a band of old timers who probably hadn't had a bat or glove in their hand for ages and who entered the tournament just to fill out the card, gave the Lubbock fans and Amherst a Frank Merriwell fete. Piloted by Earl Huffman, chunky Texas Tech freshman and varsity basketball coach, the Tip-Toppers, sponsored by Jimmy Williams—formerly a boxing and wrestling promoter, but never a baseball mogul, —the Tip-Toppers breezed through the first round with comfortable ease and slid under the Reds for biggest upset in tournament history.

Win 5, Lose 1

Going into the final double header with the Reds with four victories against no defeats while the Reds had 5 wins and one reversal, the Cafe team coasted to a defeat in the first game, 10-4. But in the second melee, they gave the Amherst team tit-for-tat. It was a remarkable victory, the Tip-Toppers took from the Reds, it was a score and unheard of. But the old men a dozen different styles and shades of uniforms played every ball and strike as if it had been the World Series. In fact, they won the tournament on guts and hustle.

The victory in the final game was at the expense of three Amherst hurlers who went in, order named: Mynyard pitched the first three innings of the second game after winning the first; then Hambright took a turn on the mound, but he was ineffective due to a very sore arm; Guy Aldridge finished the game, but the Tip-Toppers still hadn't been stopped.

Lefty Depm Webster held the Reds in comfortable check although he was nipped for eight bingles in various innings. But throughout the game, when the going was tough, the southpaw clamped down on the Red's attempts to come from behind.

serium and his foot lanced Monday morning.

out money for a permanent stand. Paying for the stands should be the easiest question. Within the next two weeks, the league playoff will be on deck. A three game playoff series should more than pay for the cost of the short stand. . . . Of course the present softball field sight is only temporary, but we'll bet the high school officials would appreciate the use of the stands during the football season. . . . We use their poles and reflectors during the summer. . . . Even if this argument has been all for naught, it's worth considering.

Playing eight games, five within three days, isn't anybody's picnic, and the Amherst club deserves an armful of roses. . . . The breaks were against them in the last game Monday, and even at that they gave the Lubbock fans a fair demonstration of good baseball. . . . And the doings of Gaut, have been recorded substantially in the Avalanche-Journal columns for us to add anything further. . . . It was a brilliant demonstration Gaut, and your running mate, Minyard, fared even as well.

FLOYD PINKERTON'S CONDITION IMPROVED; TAYLOR NO BETTER

Home Demonstration Notes

By Miss Bernice Westbrook

Border Planting of Lemonade Sumach

Out of eleven lemonade sumach bushes transplanted by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. B. Roberts, Yard Demonstration Club, ten are growing. These plants commonly known as skunk bushes were taken from the sand hills and transplanted to form a border planting on the west side of Mr. and Mrs. Robert's yard.

Sodding The Lawn

"It is lots of work, but it is worth it," remarked Mrs. C. A. Thomas, Yard Demonstrator of the Westbrook Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Thomas was referring to her newly sodded lawn. Mr. Thomas plowed, leveled, and pulverized the soil early in the year. They then sowed and sodded the front inside and outside the fence and are now sodding the yard. The grass is rapidly covering the ground and by keeping it mowed and watered Mr. and Mrs. Thomas expect to have a well sodded yard before fall.

Enlarging The Yard

"The fruit trees that we moved from the yard all lived," stated Miss Mavis Terrell, Yard Demonstrator of the Blue Bonnet Home Demonstration Club. These trees had been planted along the fence on the south side of the front lawn. With the orchard bordering the yard on the north and shade trees on the west, the yard seemed shut in and crowded. So the furist trees which were three or four years old where moved into the orchard and grass planted where they had been. Now the front yard looks a great deal larger and one does not have the feeling of being shut in.

Famous Automobile Racer At Ft. Worth Frontier Celebration

Fort Worth, August 4.—Mable Strickland of rodeo and movie fame who was champion all-around cowgirl for more years than any other woman, is again riding in "The Last Frontier," that fast moving spectacle of the Fort Worth Centennial which has recaptured the favor of the old west.

Miss Strickland, who was kicked by her horse during a rehearsal was unable to appear during the first week of the show but is now back doing her part with the cowboys, soldiers, and Indians.

"The Last Frontier" with its covered wagons, stage coaches, herds of buffalo, bucking horses, and longhorns is a colorful dramatization with music and comedy of the settling of the cattle country with a stepped up rodeo and square dance on horseback. It is what visitors from the north and east associate with the west, and at the same time it fascinates those of the southwest because it rings true. Music ranges from the simple melodies of pioneer days to the pulse stirring rhythm of "Buffalo Bill," a new song hit that the Frontier Centennial has given to the nation.

Barney Oldfield, most famous automobile racer of all times is the official host of the Frontier Centennial. Now noted as a speaker on highway safety, Oldfield was the first man to drive a car at a mile a minute.

"Arkansas Day" set a new attendance record when the throngs were augmented by 300 visitors from the neighboring State led by the 50 piece Fort Smith band, the delegation included Mrs. J. Marion Futrell, wife of the Governor; Harvey Couch, chairman of the Arkansas Centennial Commission and Congressman John McClelland.

Meanwhile, Casa Manana—most dazzling production ever seen, according to critics—and Jumbo, the Broadway spectacle, continue to play to great crowds. Sunset Trail, the village street of half a century ago, was given a further touch of verisimilitude when a vesper service was conducted Sunday in the little chapel. The Will Rogers room and the West Texas displays in the old railroad station have been viewed by visitors from 38 States.

The Old Pipe

Lutheran Minister Inveterate Pipe Smoker, Gives History and Pipes. He Has Collection of 22 Pipes.

In history one often sees pictures of the old American Indian with his peace pipe, or sitting by the fire enjoying an evening smoke. And I believe the old Indian from whom we have tobacco knew the best form in which this weed can be enjoyed.

Personally pipe smoking is the most healthful and economical form of smoking. Men who have learned to smoke the pipe will, while indulging in an occasional cigar or cigarette prefer their pipe. To them it brings contentment and enjoyment.

It cannot be denied that any form of smoking is injurious to the growing youngster, usually affecting his lungs. However, to an adult, who does not overdo the matter of smoking by incessantly keeping his pipe lit, smoking can be a pleasure and help as it serves to quiet the nerves and to make concentration in study easier and deeper.

Naturally, as with other things, so also with the pipe, one finds a variety in types and shapes. One thing which in late years has greatly influenced the making of different types of pipes is the attempt to prevent flakes of tobacco and drops of nicotine from entering the mouth. Hence we see the old pipes with such extremely long stems. Today various little gadgets are placed in the stem to prevent anything but smoke to enter the mouth. Some pipes have a double bowl for that purpose. The best type found today is the type which uses a filter in the stem, which when dirty can easily be removed and replaced with a clean one. These filters are inexpensive and certainly add to the pleasure of smoking a pipe.

Naturally, to find the greatest enjoyment out of pipe smoking I have examined many kinds and bought many types to try them. At present I have a small collection left having given a number of them away.

In my collection I have a bowl of a Swiss porcelain pipe. The bowl is four inches long without the covering or the extension to fit the stem. The stem was approximately twenty inches long. The pipe is about forty years old.

Number 2 is a pipe made in Europe of the wild cherry wood. The wood of this pipe, when warm, has a peculiar sweet odor. The bowl is two inches wide and three inches long. The stem is about twenty inches long.

Number 3 is a wooden pipe made here somewhere, with a bowl four and one-half inches long and one and one-fourth wide. The stem was originally twenty-six inches long.

Number 4 is the underslung pipe of the Dawes type with the bowl in two sections, the lower half serving as a retainer for nicotine, etc. It is a fairly good smoking pipe.

Number 5 is the type with a wooden or composition bowl with a clay or composition insert.

Number 6 is the filter type which I have found to be the best and cleanest type of pipe to smoke.

Besides the above I have naturally a collection of different other pipes such as corn-cobs, cheap brier, etc. I have a total of 22 present.

Forecasting The Election

An important phase of every Presidential campaign is the number and variety of efforts to forecast the result of the election. Ever since politics began to be our greatest national sport, the taking of "straw" votes before election day has been one of the most exciting elements of the game.

This year every known means is being used in the efforts to determine in advance whether Mr. Roosevelt will be re-elected. Taking "straw ballots" on railroad trains is one of the old familiar devices, more often indulged in for pure amusement than for any real value in predicting the outcome. One method which has proved surprisingly accurate in some recent campaigns is that of sending scouts to the motion picture theaters to record the applause or lack of it when pictures of the candidates are thrown on the screen.

The most reliable forecasts of recent years, however, have been those based on actual polls of large numbers of voters conducted by newspapers and magazines. The surprising accuracy of the polls conducted by the "Literary Digest" is well known. We understand that the Digest will send out twenty million "straw ballots" this year. A newcomer in the field, the American Institute of Public Opinion, operating through a syndicate of daily newspapers, will test out its "cross-section" or "sampling" method for the first time in a Presidential election.

So far as the rural and small-town vote goes, however, none of these has reflected the future more accurately in the past than the poll conducted by the weekly newspapers of the nation in cooperation with Publishers Autocaster Service. This poll, which registers the Presidential preference of hundreds of thousands of voters in every part of the country, is now being taken. With it and the rest of the polls already referred to, it may easily be possible to foretell by mid-September whether the White House will have a new tenant in 1937, or renew the present lease.

Revolution In Europe

The turmoil in which the world, more or less, has been involved for twenty years and more, finds its latest manifestation in the bloody revolution now in progress in Spain. From all reports, France, too, seems to be on the verge of a popular uprising.

It is difficult, from this distance, to place a proper value upon the news that the cables bring. We have nothing in our American temperament, our methods of life or our political system, with which to compare the situation in Europe.

Apparently the conflict in Spain is between two conflicting concepts of government, neither of which has gained much headway in America. It seems to be a struggle between Communism and Fascism, complicated by strong anti-church feeling and by an effort of the monarchists to bring about a situation that would result in King Alfonso being restored to the throne.

The only thing certain is that armed forces on both sides are killing people by thousands, and looting the churches and the big estates of the nobility. The situation has been likened to that which existed in Italy before Mussolini took charge; with the exception that no strong leader has yet appeared to seize power and restore order.

Spain differs from most other nations in that it has no general commercial middle class. Its population consists on the one hand of laborers and peasants and on the other of the so-called upper class of nobles and grandees. The upper class supplies the officers of the army, but the rank and file come from the lower class, and the present situation began with a revolt of soldiers against their officers.

It is possible that the other European nations, particularly Great Britain, may seize this opportunity to step in and "pacify" Spain. It is hardly likely that any of Spain's neighbors will be happy to see a new Fascism or a new Communist nation develop so close to them.

Miss Dalene Gray Candidate For B. A. Degree

Belton, August 1.—Miss Dalene Gray, Littlefield, is a candidate for Bachelor of Arts degree at Mary Hardin-Baylor on August 3. Already the campus is a whirl with commencement plans and entertainments honoring the seniors. One of the major events will come Monday when the juniors entertain the seniors.

Dalene is majoring in English and her unusual work in that field won her membership in Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity. Her minor subject is Spanish, and she is a member of Sigma Delta Pi, National honorary Spanish fraternity. Dalene was recently given recognition for her general excellence of her scholastic work when Dean E. G. Townsend announced his list of those making no grade below B for the entire spring term.

Active in all class projects, Dalene helped the seniors present the spectacular rodeo with which they won first place for Stunt Night. It was a magnificent exhibition. Bright bandanas waved and hats flew off as the daring cowboys rode their wild horses. With a large band, mostly combs, to furnish music and a beauty contest for variety, it was small wonder that the judges awarded the seniors first place.

On August 3, these seniors will march for the last time. Hugh Orton Davis, M. A. of Winthrop, Mass, and Harvard University will deliver the commencement address. Rev. Vernon G. Miles, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cameron will preach the baccalaureate sermon on August 2. The Baptist Student Union will conduct vesper services on the campus that evening.

Those unable to attend but sending gifts were: Mesdames Roy Wade, C. C. Tremain, Quinton Bellomy, Oscar Wilemon, Ray Timian, Homer Baker, Dennis Jones, Ben Lyman, Avis Cook, W. G. Thornton, J. E. Chisholm, Royce Lewis, G. M. Shaw, B. L. Cogdill, and Misses Irene Hobbs, Regna Crow, Ina Belle Wharton, Mary Helen Smith and Pauline Courtney.

Why Gulf is the Gas for August

WHY NOT BEAT AUGUST HEAT by driving someplace for a swim? And if you want to keep your gas bills down, don't forget you need a fuel with a formula that fits hot weather. Otherwise your gas doesn't burn completely—part of it escapes through the exhaust unburned, wasted. Stick to That Good Gulf in August—it's "Kept in Step with the Calendar"—specially refined for summer driving. All of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste. Try Gulf and see!

Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Roberson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

cept by only a very few persons. To drive this distance without even scraping a fender seems almost an impossibility.

Yet B. W. Gibbs, a Gulf salesman of Collingswood, New Jersey, has just completed such a record. During nineteen years of driving motor vehicles in his work for Gulf Mr. Gibbs has covered over a million miles, over all kinds of roads, regardless of surface condition, without a single accident of any kind.

This unusual record is all the more remarkable because Gulf tabulates as chargeable accidents even such minor mishaps as damaged fenders.

Gulf is deeply interested in safe driving, and is especially active in promoting safety ideals among the motoring public of America. It wants every motorist to be a safe driver, and in order to put into practice what it urges upon others, it insists that all employees who operate Gulf vehicles do so carefully and awfully.

Do your share to reduce the number of automobile accidents in Littlefield. Follow the example set by Mr. Gibbs. Drive carefully, observe all traffic laws, and above all, give the other fellow some consideration.

No mail will be in evenings, but will not take mail out. However, the bus will take in all daily papers and mail each Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Peace—Time PATRIOTISM Individual, Community, National Prosperity

We hear a lot about the increased prosperity of the nation.

But the first step toward national prosperity is community prosperity, and this is made possible largely through co-operation among its residents.

Every citizen should strive to do his part toward making the community a better place in which to live. Our community pride and progress will not only benefit the country as a whole, but will give us, as individuals, a greater measure of comfort and happiness, which is the goal of human existence.

It has been pointed out by well known civic authorities that communities are not built through mass effort, but through the combination of individual efforts—and co-operation.

To benefit our community, we must put forth our very best individual efforts every day in the year. Successful and faithful individuals make a prosperous community.

Next to love of home and family should come love of community, state, and nation. In time of war we call love of country patriotism—in peace it is none the less.

We are prompted to sponsor this message to the people of Littlefield and vicinity through our interest in community welfare.
