Farmers Warned To Exchange Cotton Certificates By June 1

HOLDERS TO GET TICKETS ON NEW CROP, SAYS ADAM

Coupons Must Be Presented In Person At County Agent's Office

All farmers in Lamb county who have some excess certificates on hand left over from last year should bring them to the County Agent's Office at once and not later than June 1, in order to exchange them for certificates that can be used for the ginning of the 1935 crop, states D. A. Adam, County Agent. Farmers should appear personally for there is a form to be filled making application for this exchange.

All certificates that farmers have on hand from the year 1934 cannot be used for the year 1935 until they are exchanged, and it is very important that this be done. Mr. R. C. Reed, Assistant County Agent, will be in charge of this particular piece of work.

Veterans May Apply For CCC Camp Spots June 15, Says Oldham

Application of veterans of all wars will be received for CCC camp enrollment by O. L. Oldham at the city hall here after June 15, Mr. Oldham announced today.

A letter announcing recruiting of veterans for the camps was received last week by Mr. Oldham, interviewer for the county National Reemployment office. Under the new quota enlargement for Texas, any veteran may be placed in a camp this year.

WE THINK

What do you think

BY M. B. D.

FOR EVERY CONDITION THERE IS A REASON—

And for the absence of the "We Think" column from the Lamb County Leader there have been a number of reasons. What those reasons are doesn't matter a very great deal. In fact, the "We Think" column doesn't have any very great bearing on "The Pulse of the Plains" and territory here, there, any place.

But we do not mind giving a few of the reasons which have been assigned for the absence of the column

C. OF C. BANQUET TO BE HELD HERE JUNE 11

Many Other Important Issues Discussed At Tuesday's Meeting

J. W. Keithley, one of the delegation to Washington in the interests of the AAA program, gave the principal address at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Tuesday noon, when members of the booster group gathered for their regular weekly meeting.

Mr. Keithley reported a wonderful trip, gave the high points of the address by President Roosevelt, who assured the delegation he was 100 per cent for the AAA program, if some form, and that the Processing tax should be continued.

He mentioned the various farm group meetings in Washington, the banquet at which 706 Texas delegates attended, the speeches by Senators and 18 Congressmen of Texas who all endorsed the AAA program, and gave an interesting account of the trip home.

J. O. Garlington reported on the CCC Camp proposition, outlining the application submitted by the committee of which Mr. Garlington is a member stating they offered the government 20 acres of land adjoining the city with plenty of water available for 2 years, and that the government had accepted it.

Joe W. Hale, Secretary-Manager of the Chamber, also reported on the project, stating that it would represent an investment of $14,000; that 75 local men will be employed for 15 days in the erection of the building; that 200 boys would be stationed at the Camp with a payroll of $6,000 per month.

J. S. Hilliard, Chairman of the meeting, announced the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce

Work on Structures To House Over 200 Men Will Start Soon

Construction of a Civilians' Conservation Corps camp to be built for the purpose of putting 200 or more men to work on soil erosion prevention work in the Littlefield territory became a certainty early this week when federal CCC officers took an option on 10-acre tract in the city and laid preliminary plans for building quarters for the camp, Mayor L. R. Crockett revealed Monday.

Capt. Frank W. Halsey of the 9th Crops Area of Infantry, Ft. Sam Houston, and adjutant of the West Texas district of the CCC, told Mayor Crockett and the city commissioner that work on the camp would be under way, if not actually completed, within 40 days.

As quickly as Capt. Halsey's recommendations are approved by Maj. Gen. Thomas G. Jenkins, commanding officer of the West Texas District of the CCC, a construction officer will come here from Ft. Sam Houston to advertise for bids on the job, and actual work

Five to six thousand dollars will be spent by the Federal Government in Littlefield.

Large part of monthly payroll for 200 or more men will be spent in Littlefield.

Local labor and materials will be recruited in construction of barracks and buildings for the camp.

Cost of construction of camp will be about $14,000.

Construction will begin within a few days, according to Capt. Frank W. Halsey, Ft. Sam Houston.

will be begun as soon as the bids are opened and the contract awarded.

Soil erosion prevention work will be carried on by CCC campers, who will work within a radius of 25 miles of Littlefield in all directions, H. H. Fennell, regional director of soil conservation service said.

"This work will include land terracing, removal of sand drifts, work along highways, and possibly tree planting at a later date, if federal shelter belt project is undertaken here," Mr. Fennell told city officials.

"Five to six thousand dollars per month will be spent by the government in Littlefield for erosion prevention materials alone. This amount is exclusive of the payroll, a large part of which will also be spent locally," the adjutant pointed out.

CCC workers are required to send $22 of the $30 a month they are paid home to their parents, but out of 200 or more men, a large part of this is sent back, it was shown.

Preliminary set-up calls for erection of 12 wooden buildings, five of which will be barracks to house 40 men each. Other buildings will be a mess hall with kitchen attached, an infirmary, a headquarters building with supply house, a welfare building, a bath house and a structure to house officers and a technician.

Ten County Delegates See Capitol, Hear Talks During Trip

The goodwill farm delegation received every assurance at Washington last week of the continuance of the AAA program, possibly, however, with some changes, according to J. W. Keithley, Littlefield Insurance man, who made the trip as a representative of the local Chamber of Commerce and the citizenship of Littlefield.

This trip was participated in by over seven hundred Texas farmers, and farmers and representatives from 20 States, the purpose of which was to thank the administration for the assistance received by the farmers and to urge the continuance of the AAA program, including the processing tax.

Besides Mr. Keithley, the following farmers from Lamb county were in attendance in Washington: Wm. H. Cunningham and Mallard

WORK ON NEW ODD FELLOWS HALL ON PHELPS AVENUE IS UNDERWAY

Construction is underway in the building of an Odd Fellows hall on Phelps avenue, on the site of a duplex owned by Jack Henry, which burned about 18 months ago.

This property has a frontage of 80 feet on Phelps avenue and extends 125 feet through to XIT drive.

The Odd Fellows are building a one-story stucco structure, 28 by 40 feet. There will be a large lodge room and three anti-rooms one of which will be used as a kitchen. The structure will be completed within two weeks. All work is being donated, Bob Cox is in charge of the work.

The Rebekah lodge is assisting in the financing of the project, and immediately following the completion of the structure will carry out a number of events for the purpose of raising money.

Open house, under the direction of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, will be held in the near future in observance of the completion of the building.

This will be the first hall to be owned by the Littlefield lodge, which will have the distinction of being one of the few Odd Fellows organizations in this section to own their own home.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs acknowledge with grateful appreciation the courtesy of the American Legion, the Yellow House Land Co., and the Masonic lodge in permitting the organization to use their buildings at very nominal

We Do Our Part

TIMELY RAINS

With a prayer of thanksgiving to their Creator, the people of the South Plains go forward in their various walks in life, rejoicing at the rains of the past several days and preparing for the good months that are now before us.

Never was rainfall more timely. Moisture in liberal quantities came at plowing and planting time. With the coming of the much-needed moisture, the farmers are busy preparing the land for planting. Residents of the towns and cities are rejoicing with the farmers at the rainfall.

Not in many months have the people of the South Plains been more happy. The rains have seemed to open up a new world to all of us. There has been sunshine and joy in the black clouds. And the blacker the clouds the more sunshine and joy.

The coming months promise much. We will all be busy doing those things in the interests of our farms, our businesses, our communities, our counties, and the great South Plains. Busy people are happy people. And if you want to be really happy be with busy people.

If you are not now a resident of Lamb county we want you to come out and see us. You will like this country. And, no doubt, you will find in this section the favored land which you have been seeking . . . a wonderful place in which to work and live.

George Mahon Asks Allotment For Making Survey

Congressman George Mahon has called on Secretary Ickes of the Interior Department for an allotment of $100,000 from the Public Works appropriation for making a survey of the underground water resources of the high plains region. The funds would be used by the Geological Survey in completing work on this problem, a preliminary survey having been made last year. This preliminary report indicated some doubt as to the presence of sufficient underground water for extensive irrigation over a wide area.

Mr. Mahon also conferred with Dr. Mead of the Bureau of Reclamation in an effort to secure funds for making irrigation loans to individual farmers. Mr. Mahon has already secured an interpretation from the Federal Housing Administration officials which would allow that agency to insure loans made by local banks for this purpose. Dr. Mead is of the opinion that loans may be made possible through an allocation of funds from the Public Works appropriation. However, nothing definite may be determined at this time because the President has not announced his plans for administering the new appropriations.

Ford Truck Sales Show Increase Of Eighty Four Percent

Dearborn, Mich., May 22—Reflecting what appears to be a renewed interest among industrial and mercantile businesses in capital investment in motor transportation, truck and commercial car retail sales by Ford Motor Company dealers in the first four months of the year were reported today to be the largest in volume since 1926.

Sales of both trucks and commercial car units during the first four months were approximately 85 per cent greater than in the same period of 1934.

Truck sales in the first four months totalled 42,380 units, as compared with 22,910 units in the same period of 1934, an increase of more than 84 per cent. Commercial car sales in the same period totalled 30,889 as compared with parallel months last year, a gain of 86 per cent. Total sales of both trucks and commercial cars were 73,269 as against 39,485 in the same period last year.

SPADE

The junior and senior class spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday visiting Carlsbad Caverns. Everyone reported an enjoyable time.

The junior class of Spade high school honored the seniors with the annual junior-senior banquet Monday evening, May 13, in the high school gymnasium. The Japanese theme was carried out in the decorations and favors. A canopy of blue and white paper covered the tables which created a colorful appearance. Vases or roses and larkspur were distributed down the center of the tables which were lighted by tall blue and white candles. Favors were small Japanese dolls carrying lanterns, shaded by tiny parasols in pastel shades. White fluted nut cups with place cards attached to the handles with tiny blue bows marked the places.

Miss Sarah Smith presided as toastmistress. Doyle Dyer's welcome address was one to be long remembered. Miss Margaret Huston furnished music throughout the evening. Miss Sibyl Kieseck played a piano solo and Miss Frances Gay played a saxophone solo accompanied by Miss Allene Huston. As a fitting climax to the delightful evening the entire audience joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The juniors are indebted to the Telford Lumber Co., of Anton for the lumber for the tables. They wish also to thank the ladies of the Methodist church in Littlefield and Perry's Variety Store for the dishes used.

To prevent motor damage when you

...drive slowly

...pick up quickly

...drive over 50

...you must have oil of high film strength!

DID YOU know that idling along at 10 miles an hour or picking up suddenly can cause as much motor wear as high-speed driving?

All three put extreme pressure on your connecting rod and crankshaft bearings. If your oil does not have enough oiliness and film strength to withstand these high pressures, your motor parts suffer damaging wear. That's why you need oil with the greatest possible oiliness and film strength.

Straight mineral oils have no more oiliness and film strength than they had 10 years ago. Some, because of over-refining, have less!

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has more oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than straight mineral oils! The Germ Process—adding concentrated oily essence to highly-refined, paraffin-base oil—puts into this oil more film strength and oiliness than any oil possesses naturally, no matter what crude oil it is made from!

That extra film strength and oiliness enable Germ Processed Oil to stay on the job and prevent wear under the most extreme pressure and heat. It helps Germ Processed Oil give long mileage with greater motor protection, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Germ Processed Oil protects your motor another way. Because it penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, it forms a "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and cuts down wear during the starting period.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the oil you need in this day of slow city driving, speed on the highway and sudden acceleration everywhere. It protects your motor and saves you money!

*MOTORISTS WHO KNOW THESE FACTS WILL SAVE MONEY!

Motor oils refined by the usual methods have some oiliness and film strength, but they may form carbon and sludge, which lead to expensive motor repairs.

Other oils may form almost no carbon and sludge, but are so over-refined that they are robbed of oiliness and film strength they need to prevent motor wear.

Germ Processed Oil is refined to eliminate carbon and sludge troubles and then the Germ Process adds extra oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than any straight mineral oil, as tests on Almen and Timken machines have proved.

FOURTH INSTALLMENT

OPIS: On the old side-wheeler George E. Starr, on its way to Yukon gold fields in the first of '97, Speed Malone, experienced gold-camp follower and blunderer, and young Ed Maitland, on first trip, trying to recoup his family fortune, struck up a friendship. Maitland left playing Solo with two other and wandered forward, to be recalled by the report of a shot and the news that his partner had been shot and had gone overboard. Ed jumped in after him, with second thought. But the cold water did not deter him, and in the end it was Speed who did the rescuing. Ed's head above water until they were taken aboard a little boat by a French fisherman from Seattle. Maitland, knowing the sea, took charge of the little boat when they headed Frunchy to take them to Skagway. After a hard journey they reached Skagway where they found ship unloading miners and horses.

W GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"See ye ashore," laughed Speed in the water. Hauling along the tail of the bronco's head, he caught it with the other hand, and steered it towards, while he swam along.

Maitland had been too interested in their progress to notice the steamer's approach to the steamer, which was now close abeam. The deck beneath her stern rail was the Willamette, San Francisco." Her name was now close abeam. Her outfit landed.

Oddly the first to observe that the Susette rode high and empty

Lady Took Cardui

When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefits them. If it does not benefit YOU, send a 5-cent trial.

was a short, fat fellow. "Hey, wit that boat!" he called out. "My outfit for how much you want to land it? Five dollars?"

This mention of Frunchy's favorite coin brought the fisherman out of a coma; he gave eager signs of assent. Simultaneously on the lighter, there was a general reaching for purses and bank rolls.

As Maitland ran under the ship's shadow and moored to the raft a tinkling laugh from the rail above caused him to look up. His eyes met the dancing dark ones of a very beautiful young woman who was looking down at him with an expression half amused and half-curious. He had an oddly confused sensation, with the Susette's lift and fall in the shadow of the immobile steamer.

A bangle on her arm struck a crystal flash from the sun, as she raised her hand from the rail and blew him a kiss mischievously from rosy finger-tips.

The gesture was noticed by a tall, heavily built man who stood on the rail directing the unloading of the horses—a man with the eagle poise of a leader and a masterful look of power under easy command. His handsome face had been burned by the sun to the color of saddle leather, and its swarthy features gave an insolent sharpness of blue black brows that ran in a bar across his forehead. He frowned thoughtfully at the new arrival.

The men on the lighter looked like veteran prospectors, and the skillfully corder packs told the same story. One of them—a meager, gray-haired but wiry old-timer, shifted a huge tobacco quid in his cheek as he took one end of a pack Maitland was unloading, and said:

"Pretty piece of herdin' you boys done out thar."

The winch roared just then, and the old-timer nodded toward the inner shadows of the lighter where a yellow-haired youth was leaning out to uncouple a horse from the slings.

"Pete, yer," he said, "figures your pardner could have rode the pinto in."

In the abrupt silence as the winch stopped, Pete heard what was said. When the horse was free, he threw back the bald hair that had fallen into his eyes and looked up casually at Maitland. "It's been done, Mister," said Pete.

"Shucks, boy," retorted the old-timer tolerantly, "you can't tell me what's been done with a horse. I say it's too fer, and I've seen riders in my time attemp' ever-thin' the ramblin' human fancy kin invent, with and without the aid of liker."

The young Nevada did not answer directly. He signalled to someone on the deck above, and a little later a black mare came down in the sling, her nose quivering at the brine below. She took it in a churn of spray, but quitted under the boy's firm touch. He unhooked her and held her for a moment by the halter, stroking her silky neck.

Then, with a move so swift that it was accomplished almost before it was seen, he left the raft for the mare's back, and they shot away into sunlit water.

A brandy-faced man in a sheepskin coat whom Maitland had not noticed before, came suddenly to life and crossed the swaying raft in two unsteady strides.

"Come back here, Pete," he called out.

The boy paid no heed. He was drenched to the belt but riding lightly, leaning forward to even the balance and guiding the mare with a loop of the halter over her nose. "Head him off with your boat," the man appealed to Maitland. "He'll drown himself."

Maitland left Frunchy to take in the Susette and her cargo, and cast off in the dinghy with a shove of an oar against the raft. Troubled by the tide swell, the mare was meeting every rise at an angle that brought the water to her master's shoulders, snorting and strangling in an effort to keep her nose out of the feathering crests.

Maitland pulled in closer. The boy's head was close to the mare's wet mane and hair was contrasting gold and black in the sunlight. The tension of his voice seemed to lift her. "The beach . . . on'y a little way now, sweetheart — over this one, Chiquita, over it . . . good girl, over it!"

The mare labored up another foaming hill but flagged with exhaustion at the crest. They were still some eight yards from shore and the beach was steep.

A few strong pulls shot the boat

JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED

- for the weather in your state

"IN the spring," says Mark Twain, "I have counted 136 different kinds of weather inside of 24 hours."

That gives you a hint, though it is humorously exaggerated, of the reason why so many cars run erratically in May. Drivers know that motor performance depends directly on the weather, UNLESS the gasoline is adjusted in advance to anticipate climatic changes.

Of all such motor fuels, Phillips 66 is the outstanding leader. Phillips 66 is the trail nine years ago. Originated CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, the revolutionary process which broke the vicious connection between changes in weather and changes in motor performance.

This scientific control of volatility has one purpose only:—To make Phillips 66 deliver unchanging, money-saving performance at any and every temperature from way below zero to over 100 in the shade. Spring . . . summer . . . winter . . . they're all the same to your motor if the tank is filled with this greater gasoline.

Find out how you can get more power and more miles, snappier pick-up and smoother running; all without paying a penny extra per gallon. And find it out easily by stopping for a trial tankful of high test Phillips 66 at any Orange and Black 66 shield.

Phill-up with Phillips for GREATER MILEAGE forward till it topped the same well.

Maitland meant to run along a foothold. The boat caught the impact of one hoof on the prow. It rocked crazily as Maitland spun it within reach of the boy's arm. But Pete was tugging at the halter rope, to turn the mare's head.

"Keep that damned boat out of my way," he swore, "or by—"

The words were rudely stifled by a comb that smoked over his head, rolling him and his mount completely over. The mare came up riderless. Catching the halter, Maitland pulled her astern, afraid that her hooves might strike the boy's head. Seeing a gleam of gold in the green water he reached for it; tangled his fingers in a mop of hair and pulled the head above water.

Pete gasped, and held the rail a moment to get his breath. Then he swung over as easily as if he were vaulting into a saddle, landing with a splash in the water that washed along the floorboards.

He raised himself to the thwart, shaking the wet hair from his eyes, which were blazing.

"You—" he began.

"Grab that baling dipper," said Maitland shortly. He had pushed an oar into the stern groove and was holding the mare's halter with his free hand while he sculled shorewards. After a look at the rising water, Pete complied. It was slow work, but they beached in advance of other boats that were coming in from the ship. As the mare climbed the gravel and shook herself, her master jumped lightly ashore. He was draining the water from his boots when Maitland pulled up the dinghy.

The sudden landing on still ground made the sailor conscious of the effects of a week's starvation. He felt the beach reel, and had to steady himself against the boat. Then he tipped it on its side to examine the injured seam.

A pair of trimly shod feet presently appeared on the sand beside him and he looked up.

"My name's Pete," the boy volunteered. "The man with the woolly coat is my pardner, Bill Owens. The girl that throwed you a kiss's name is Rose . . . But I reckon you don't care about women?" he inquired, undismayed by the silence that greeted these amenities.

"My partner," said Maitland at last, "thinks they're a hot bolt in dynamite."

"Ain't it so," Pete concurred judiciously. "It's deafenin' to think of what might happen if Rose really cared about any man. Unless maybe me. But she don't." He looked inside the boat to note the effect of this. "How'er, I don't care a hoot in hell for Rose—not me," he chanted, snapping his fingers lightly skywards. "I'm a man among men."

"You swear like one," his hearer admitted.

"Why don't you cuss me out and get it off your mind?" the boy demanded. "I mean it. Say what you're thinkin', man to man."

Maitland considered him while cleaning his hands on some shreds of rope. "Well," he said, "man to man, you make a lot of noise for your size. It's a pity you squawk when you lose."

Pete winced. "That's a hard cuss," he murmured. "What else?"

"That's all," said Maitland, surprised by a glimpse of sensitiveness under the boyish swagger.

With the mare's halter rope, Pete threw a skilful hitch over her nose, and mounted almost in the same movement.

"If I don't lose easy, Mister, I don't quit easy either, or forget. Maybe some day you'll know it's so." And with no visible urge from him, the mare sped down the beach. Maitland stared after them, held by the grace of the picture they made, and by wonder at the quick moods of this amazing boy.

He was still watching him when he saw Speed coming over the beach toward him.

"We got the Jew's outfit ashore, and he's stakin' us to a feed. Chuck's on the fire now. Hungry, Bud?"

The banquets of Lucullus are said to waft a pleasant aroma down the river bank of time, but one exquisite collation which that gastronomy never enjoyed was baked beans, bacon, soda biscuit, canned fruit and coffee, after a two week's diet of fish boiled in sea water.

It was nearly sunset, and the season, like the hour, seemed to condense the freshness and glory of the closing day. The air had a crisp tang that tingled in the nostrils of the hungry travelers like a dry champagne, giving a good deal more poignancy to the savor of broiling meat.

Shivering over the camp fire, Steiner thoughtfully appraised the appetites of his guests.

"I could use you boys, maybe," he said, referring to some point he had discussed with Speed, "but ten dollars a day each, and grub . . . I ain't king of the Klondike."

"This isn't Seattle," said Speed. "It's a gold camp. You'll see wages go to twice that and more."

The Jew's look was one of sincere unbelief. "A man would be crazy to pay it."

"The scenery is covered with crazy men," Speed observed impassively.

Steiner dropped the subject and said to Maitland, "I notice how Lucky Rose has a mash on you. Seen her throwin' you kisses from the ship?"

Speed had been about to lower a nicely browned slice of bacon into his mouth in one piece. He paused now with this viand suspended.

There had always been a vague hope in Maitland's mind of tracing the outfit he had left on the George E. Starr. Since this seemed an opportune time to look for it, he asked the fisherman's permission to use the Susette for a short run to the Dyea beach a few miles up the gulf. Frunchy, in a better humor than he had been for a week, absently mumbled his consent.

He stepped out to the Susette over some boats and a scow that rocked in the wharf's vague shadow, and made sail. It was only six miles or so from Skagway to the camp of Dyea. When he arrived there the camp was almost empty, because of an interval between steamers. He was therefore to learn with discouraging promptness that there was no trace of an unclaimed outfit on the beach.

Coming back to Skagway the fires on the flats had died to their embers, but as he tacked in to the Susette's mooring, he noticed a small fire in the lee of the wharf, just above the surf. Here he found his partner nursing some driftwood into flame.

Mrs. J. T. Collins
First Year Wardrobe Demonstrator
"I am prouder of my ironing board than anything I have except my new closet," says Mrs. J. T. Collins, first year wardrobe demonstrator of the Westbrook Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Collins took her old ironing board which she used across the backs of chairs, and attached one leg which clamps it onto a table and holds it in place. There is no more slipping and sliding of chairs when she irons.

Mrs. Collins has also made a sleeve board which rests on the ironing board and makes the ironing of shirts and coats much easier.

"I'd be glad if I could win first place on my room, but if I don't I have my room, and anyway, I have learned a lot while improving it," says Pauline Nix, bedroom demonstrator of the Amherst 4-H Club.

Pauline has improved the rest center in her room by adding six slats, a spring cover made of old cotton sacks, a mattress cover, a mattress pad, pillow protectors, and a tufted bedspread to her bed and by reupholstering and refinishing her rocking chair. She has improved her dressing center by replacing her chiffonier with an old dresser which she refinshed, and by adding shelves, hat racks, a shoe rack, a long rod, and by papering her clothes closet. Pauline replaced a quilt box and an old trunk with a study table made from an old victrola, a study chair brought in from outside, mended and refinshed; and a bathing center.

"We have 350 feet of tile made and laid," says Mrs. W. E. Bentley, farm food supply cooperater of the Spade H. D. Club, and Mrs. R. C. Roberts, 2nd year demonstrator of the Spade Club, has laid 320 feet and Mrs. Roy McQuatters, 1st year farm food supply demonstrator of the Spade Club, has 150 feet of tile made. This garden tile is made by adding one part of cement to four parts of sand, adding enough water to make the mixture stick together, and moulding it into pipes. It is placed in a level ditch eight to ten inches below the surface. It has been found that this tile will water two feet on either side of the row.

THE WOMAN'S ANGLE

By NANCY HART

At a meeting of the Safety Conference in New York last month, the kitchen was characterized as the "most dangerous room in the house," with thirty-four per cent of all home accidents occurring there. The chief threats to safety in the kitchen have been found to be rag rugs hot dishes, electric washing machines, gas ranges and sharp knives.

Instead of washing a hardwood floor, wipe it with a cloth dipped in a bit of kerosene, and rub it hard with a dry cloth after cleaning.

COOL STREET FROCK Pattern 8469—For summer afternoons at home or strolling down town, a frock cool and simple is needed, but one that does not look like a house frock. Just such a desirable type of frock is shown in the sketch—nice enough to wear on the street and equally appropriate in the home for afternoons.

There is nothing more satisfactory or becoming in warm weather than the capelet sleeve—in this instance stitched down along the shoulder on the outside. V necks have never gone out of style for the larger woman and they are now being worn again by everybody. The yoke in the skirt is slenderizing and the skirt flares comfortably at the lower edge.

Printed silk or cotton would be effective in this style.

are not welcome, go to the back door." The guests all wore tacky clothes, and were greeted by such signs as "Take your hat and go home when you want to, we don't care," in the bedroom; "Help yourself if you have the nerve," in the dining room, and other such expressions.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keithley Enjoy Washington Trip

J. W. Keithley, who represented the local Chamber of Commerce on the Washington goodwill trip, was accompanied to that city with Mrs. Keithley.

They report a wonderful trip.

While in Washington they spent sometime with their son, J. W. Keithley, Jr., who is in the marine Corps Institute, Marine Barracks, of that city; and also were joined by another son, C. L. Keithley, who is a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, stationed in the Supply Division, Clothing Department of the Navy, Brooklyn, N. Y., who visited their parents Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

They visited many points of interest on the way home, en route to Mr. Keithley, who stated the road made four stops between Littlefield and Cincinnati for the purpose of allowing the passengers to see the historic and interesting sites. Mr. and Mrs. Keithley returned to the Boston-St. Louis ball game at St. Louis, when the Boston Red Sox battled the St. Louis Cardinals home team winning by a score of 6-2. They had the pleasure of seeing Babe Ruth who played for Boston Braves, in action for the first time in many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Keithley returned home Monday morning.

Maturity Date Of 12-Cent Cotton Loans Extended

A six-month extension of the maturity date of the 12-cent cotton loans from July 31, 1935, to Feb. 1, 1936, has been announced by the AAA.

The announcement said direct loans by the commodity Credit Corporation on eligible cotton under the 12-cent loan plan will be available to producers until July 31, 1935.

The AAA explained the extension granted today means that producers who have obtained the 12-cent loans on the 1934 crop may repay, obtain the release of pledged cotton warehouse receipts, and secure the advantage of any increases in the market between now and Feb. 1, 1936.

It was said that no cotton pledged as security for 12-cent loans will be taken over or sold by the Commodity Credit Corporation before Feb. 1, 1936, except as provided under the terms of the iron agreement.

WHEAT FARMERS TO VOTE NEXT SATURDAY

Referendum Is To Obtain Sentiment Towards 1936 Program

The vote of the farmers of Lamb county and all other wheat counties of the United States in the nation wheat referendum will be taken on one day, Saturday, May 25, between 9 o'clock in the morning and 8 o'clock at night, county agricultural agent D. A. Adam said.

The referendum is a commitment of wheat farmers toward a 1936 adjustment program, will involve signers of 575,000 wheat contracts in 37 states. A separate vote of non-signers will be taken.

"Two short crops and the adjustment program have reduced the surplus of wheat in the United States so that by July 1, 1935, the carry-over is expected to be down to normal," according to N. F. Cleavinger, chairman of the Lamb County Wheat Production Control Association.

He went on to say that wheat prices in the United States have been maintained above world levels, and American wheat farmers have enjoyed higher prices than farmers in the other major exporting countries.

Statistics gathered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration show that wheat consumption in the United States is relatively stable and the potential wheat acreage in this country is still capable of producing a burdensome surplus.

The world wheat situation has shown little improvement since the spring of 1933. World prices are still very low, and the export trade is extremely limited.

"Acreage and production base periods will remain the same under a new wheat program and adjustments required under the contracts would be limited to a maximum of 25 percent of the base acreage," according to John R. Edmonds, special wheat compliance agent for Texas at College Station.

"A heavy vote is essential to indicate to the country that the wheat farmers really are interested in their own program," George E. Farrell, director of the division of grains of the AAA, said in an address at Enid, Oklahoma on April 30.

Fort Bliss Calls For One Thousand Cavalry Recruits

Fort Bliss, Texas, which is now calling for one thousand recruits from all over the Southwest, is one of the oldest army posts in this section and is now the largest post anywhere west of San Antonio.

The present post of Fort Bliss, on the mesa five miles northeast of El Paso Post Office, was first occupied in 1893. It is the last of a long succession of camps, cantonments, and posts that started in 1848 when a detachment of the First Dragoons camped for some months in what is now El Paso, then the Coontz Ranch. Later garrisons occupied Magoffinsville, Concordia Ranch, and Harts Mills, names now no longer remembered but by the oldest citizens.

The present post of Fort Bliss was built in 1893 to hold only one battalion of Infantry and was then garrisoned by part of the Eighteenth Infantry. Today the post contains the Headquarters and the larger part of the troops of the First Cavalry Division.

Maintained initially for protection against Indians, Fort Bliss saw its greatest activity during the border troubles a few years ago. Today the post has horse cavalry, field artillery, armored cars, and much new equipment which furnish fine opportunities for training and development work.

Recruits are needed for all the organizations at Fort Bliss, the largest requirements being for the Seventh Cavalry, Eighth Cavalry, and Eighty-Second Field Artillery. A few men, generally with special qualifications, are required for the Armored Car Squadron, the Quartermaster Corps, the Medical Department, the Ordnance, and the Signal Corps.

nical advisory staff. Cost of construction of the buildings will total about $14,000. Materials will be bought locally, and labor which will include work for about 75 men for from 12 days to three weeks, will be recruited locally insofar as is possible.

Plans call also for a baseball diamond and a field for other athletic games, which the CCC training program emphasizes in every camp the adjutant said.

The welfare building, rapidly taking on a new importance in CCC camps all over the nation, will perform a more worthy service than was customary in the past, Capt Halsey said.

"A large auditorium and a canteen will make for wholesome entertainment," the adjutant pointed out. "Indoor games will be recommended, and the recruits will be united in a closer and cleaner type of recreation."

Trophies for outstanding men in fields of education, religion and athletics will be awarded, he went on. "Clean living will be the order of the camp life and leadership will be stressed."

Mr. Finnell, will be in charge of the local camp. Two lieutenants from either the regular army or the R. O. T. C., and a medical officer will more than likely comprise the federal staff. A superintendent, several foremen and advisors in education, religion and recreation will complete the staff. Exact number of men to be in charge has not been revealed.

The camp, to be financed under the President's 5 billion dollar relief program, will be of one year's duration, with an extension of time optional, Capt. Halsey said.

Recruiting for the 50 Texas camps will be held again June 15 and a major part of the men and boys aged 18 to 25 years to be stationed here will come from other points in the nation. Only about 17 Lamb county lads, apt at agriculture and highway work, will be stationed at the Littlefield Camp.

Lieut. F. W. Halpin of the Medical Corps, who is connected with the camp at Temple, Tex., was here Monday as an inspector and an aid to Capt. Halsey. Capt. Halsey, Lieut. Halpin and Mr. Finnell left Monday after a conference with the mayor, Commissioners Pat Boone and H. Carl Arnold and City Secretary W. G. Street.

Washington Trip—

Phillips as delegates of the Littlefield Farm Association; Vincent Peterman from Amherst; P. E. Boesen from Sudan; Olton's tripper was J. D. Jeffries; J. F. Woody from Fieldton; Spade's delegate was J. R. Kuykendall; R. R. Fulfer made the trip from Hart Camp, and Mr. Clevenger from Earth.

During the morning, selected farmers from the states adopted a resolution condemning critics of the AAA and calling on congress for continuation of the farm program. It declared that "powerful organized groups are attempting to destroy the agricultural adjustment administration," and that the AAA has "lifted the producers from a state of bankruptcy into one of hope."

Series of Articles On Washington Trip Are Being Prepared

A series of articles on the Washington trip and the outcome of the various farm meetings at that city and their accomplishments, are being prepared in detail by the delegates who represented various communities and cities of Lamb county, which series will begin in next week's Lamb County Leader.

taining a united farm front, the farm group decided the AAA was all the organization they needed.

C. H. Day of Plainview, Texas, unofficial chairman of the assemblage, said that "in our AAA set-up, with our little local community committees, and our state and district organizations, and our national united organization headed by our Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and our great president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, we have the finest farm organization we could Arriving four hours and 30 minutes late in Washington, the delegation missed hearing Secretary Wallace, who spoke in the morning, but attended a meeting in Constitutional Hall Tuesday afternoon, when the heads of the various Farm Departments spoke including Chester A. Davis, AAA Administrator, Congressman Marvin Jones, and others, assured the group they were 100 per cent behind the AAA program, and that the program would be continued in some form.

Following this farm meeting, the entire group proceeded to the White House grounds, where Secretary Wallace as Chairman, made a talk stating the purpose of the farmers at Washington and introducing the President, who made a wonderful address.

President Roosevelt cordially welcomed the visitors to Washington, stating that the entire administration appreciated their presence; that he was 100 per cent for the AAA program in some form. He stated that it was the first time in history that a group had ever come to the White House to give thanks for what had been done for them; that continually ever since the Government was established groups had been coming asking concessions even making threats if they did not get what they came for, but never before had any group gone to express their appreciation for what they had received.

President Roosevelt also said

"We know that we have made mistakes, and many of them, but with the cooperation of the people we will perfect the organization to such a degree that it will be a lasting benefit to the producer of raw materials"

"Every since the beginning of industry in America the manufacturers, textile mills, etc. have been protected by the tariff. The raw material men are just now getting their protection through the processing tax. I know it is rather natural for a fellow to take care of himself in his own business, and I feel that as the "high and mighty" group have had protection of their industries all these years that they ought to be willing to sit or the shelf until the government could perfect the AAA program."

President Roosevelt stated the gathering in Washington would go down in History as one of the great meetings that was ever held in Washington. He stated that the processing tax should remain in force indefinitely, assuring them that he was in favor of the AAA program 100 per cent and invited the farmers' cooperation and suggestions in all matters pertaining to the AAA program or processing tax.

At 7 P. M. a banquet was held at the Mayflower Hotel, at which the entire Texas group, numbering 700 assembled. H. G. Lucas of Brownwood, President of the State Agricultural Association, was toastmaster. Secy. Wallace, Chester Ravi, AAA Administrator, and C. H. Day of Plainview, Chairman of the Cotton Advisory Committee, made Senators Connally and Sheppard and eighteen of the 19 Congressmen of Texas also spoke, all heartily endorsing the AAA program 100 per cent.

Wednesday was taken up by various group meetings, including corn-hog, wheat and cotton gatherings.

The balance of Wednesday and Thursday were spent in sight-seeing.

The delegation left Washington at 12:45 Friday morning; passed through the scenic part of the Virginia, and the Alleghany Mountains during the day. The train made four stops between Washington and Cincinnati, and the group spent eight hours sightseeing in the latter city.

Sometime was also spent in St. Louis, a number of the group attending the Boston-St. Louis ball game.

The delegation arrived in Fort Worth Sunday morning. Leaving there at 10:20 that night they arrived home Monday.

Sam Lewis, that illuminating writer of the Avalanche-Journal newspapers, said that "We Think" had apparently stopped thinking.

EIGHT WOMEN FROM LAMB COUNTY ATTEND SHORT COURSE AT CANYON

(Special to the Leader)
Canyon, Tex., May 22—"Women have to hold up the morale of the family in hard times," said Miss Mildred Horton, home demonstration agent of College Station, when she began her address on "Women As Pioneers," before approximately five hundred women who had met here for the annual Home Demonstration Short Course, May 16 and 17.

Eight women, all members of the Home Demonstration Clubs of Lamb County, attended. This course is put on each year through the cooperation of the local college and Texas A. and M. The Lamb county club members who attended were: Mrs. C. Terry, Earth; Mrs. L. C. Halliburton, Earth; Mrs. T. H. Cupp, Mrs. J. L. Dow, Littlefield; Mrs. H. F. Myer, Sudan; Mrs. W. T. Attaway, Sudan; Miss Bernice Westbrook; Mrs. A. C. Barton, Springlake.

Miss Horton told of the contribution of Mrs. Dickinson at the Alamo, of Mary Austin Holley during Texas colonization period, and pointed out to the women present that they, as home demonstration club members, were also pioneers. Said Miss Horton, "One hundred years from now the things you are doing will be as interesting and important as the things that are related in the letters of Mary Austin Holley."

The speaker reminded the women that home demonstration work in the United States is only twenty-four years old and that in Texas it is less than twenty years old. "At the present time," said Miss Horton, "there are 50,000 women in Texas home demonstration clubs."

At the forenoon session today Miss Laura V. Hamner of Amarillo gave the principal address, centering her remarks around the women who were early settlers of the Panhandle-Plains area. She cited as typical pioneer women Mrs. Charles Goodnight, Mrs. Cape Willingham, Mrs. T. S. Bugbee, Mrs. Carter of Dimmitt, Mrs. W. W. Wetzel of Amarillo, Mrs. Jim Pottinzer and Mrs. Ruttrill of Claude. In closing, Miss Hamner said, "The Texas Panhandle is a hard country on women's beauty. The old women of this region do not have lovely skin and dainty hands; they have faces which are lined and brown, but in which are shown strength of character, courage in the midst of hardship, and the traces of much laughter. These women were working for their husbands and children; they suffered, but they were so busy that they had no time to realize."

Miss Ruby Mashburn, Home Demonstration agent of District No. 1 and Miss Lida Cooper of District No. 2 were presiding officers. The singing was led by Mrs. J. R. Hodge of Amarillo and special music was furnished by the Buffalo Band, conducted by Mr. C. E. Strain, Miss Marion Nornination, Miss Elizabeth Cox and Miss Orpa Dennis of the Home Economics department of the Canyon college had made local arrangements for the short course, and college students of home economics assisted throughout the day.

MAY RAINFALL TOTALS OVER TWO INCHES

Residents of Littlefield and the South Plains in general are jubilant over the recent soaking rains that have fallen here the past week, which have assured good crops for this territory.

According to L. C. Cawthon official weather reporter, a total of 2 18/100 inches of moisture fell last week. Beginning Monday, May 13, 33/100 inches fell. Wednesday 52/100 moisture fell between 3:30 a. m. and 4 a. m., or in half an hour. Thursday 1/10 of an inch was reported; Friday there was a steady downpour all day from 6 a. m. until 9 p. m., which measured 1-5/100 precipitation, and which weather authorities claim was equally as beneficial as a three or four inch rain that fell in sheets.

In reporting Friday's moisture, Mr. Cawthon said, "It was cloudy all day Friday; it rained all day and there was thundering and lightning all day; That is something remarkable for this part of the country. I have been here 10 years, and never have I seen that before."

The total rainfall for May so far is 2 62/100 inches.

Value to vegetation in Thursday and Friday downpours here was enhanced by warm sunshine Saturday and Sunday.

Nearby cities and communities report moisture as follows: Pep 1 3/4 inches Thursday and Friday; Morton 2 1/2 inches with a light sprinkle Sunday; Amherst 2 inches including a quarter of inch Sunday; Sudan 1 1/2 inches including three-quarters of an inch Sunday; Anton 2 inches with a light sprinkle Sunday; Muleshoe 1 1/4 inches, including 1/4 inch Sunday; Fieldton 3 inches; Enochs and Bula 3 inches; Morton 2 1/2 inches and a light sprinkle Sunday; Olton about 2 inches, including 1/4 of an inch Sunday, and Earth about one inch.

In an interview with the Leader Monday, C. E. Wendt, salesman for the Coca Cola Bottling Works, Lubbock who covers Lamb, Hockley, Cochran and Terry counties for his company, reported all the lakes full of water, stating that the water in the lakes is higher than it has been in five years.

Other sources reporting moisture were Plainview, an inch; Crosbyton, 1 1/2 inches; Brownfield two inches; Lamesa three inches; Dimmitt, Bledsoe and Levelland over an inch; Songraves over 2 inches; Tahoka, 2 inches; Slaton, inch and a half; Sweetwater two inches; Ropes, 3/4 inch; Meadows 1 1/2 inches; Wilson, 3/4 inch.

METHODIST CHURCH
John W. Hendrix, Pastor

Next sabbath day will mark the first of the summer season. The schools will be out. The churches always dread that period. The schools have a tendency to establish a program in the town. At least, people get up in time to get them off to school and get the habit. The Church urges your continued loyalty. With all departments, in full activity, it goes on the year around.

It will open with Sunday school at 9:45 a. m.

At the eleven o'clock hour there will be public worship, the efficient choir will render select music and the pastor will deliver a sermon. The subject will be, "The Elements of Contentment."

At 7:30 the Leagues will meet and each in its place have a session. All the young people are invited. You will enjoy it.

At 8:15 p. m. another period of public worship will come on, the Choral club will sing. The pastor will deliver a sermon, clear cut and to the point, subject, "A Thing God Wont Dislike."

The fact is, we are holding open a pew for you next Sunday. Does it not occur to you to make some effort to show your gratitude to God for his wonderful kindness to the children of me. Show it by taking the cup of salvation and calling upon the Lord. Begin Next Sunday!

TONIGHT a group of young ladies and gentlemen will file into the Littlefield High school auditorium to take part in a ceremony which will mark a turning point in their lives . . . the end of one important stage in their scheme of things . . . and the beginning of another period even more important.

Any one of these youngsters is a living symbol of the powerful strides education has taken in the past two decades. Pioneer Littlefield educators, visualizing what our youth of today would face, long ago laid a flexible groundwork upon which has grown the splendid preparatory system by which the coming generation would cope with life's problems . . . and out of which has emerged the splendid Class of 1935.

We folks of Littlefield, remembering our own high school days, extend to these forty-five young people a congratulatory hand and wish for them, with all our hearts, a future brilliant with success.

A review of the softball week finds the Legion ten still at the top, not having played since last week. The Businessmen, Sunnydale and Producers moved up a notch in League circles, and Watson's laddies handed the railbirds a surprise by out-willow-ing the men from the city hall.

SPORT WORLD

By BILL NORRIS

Rain again came last week to soak county land and make planting possible... but it threw a couple of fast-breaking curves into the local softball schedule. Only two nights last week found the lot dry enough for playing, and team managers are getting wrinkled pates trying to set likely dates for postponement play-offs. What's sauce for the goose, etc., etc.

But sport fans saw a football game Saturday night which amply filled out the short softball week. Despite a soggy tarmack, both crews went through the motions with fair accuracy. Coach Barksdale's boys showed promise of smooth grid entertainment next year, while Coach Hobbs' lads provided some very, very salty opposition. All in all, it was well worth the dime, fans declared.

And now comes city softball's crowning achievement... the Kid League.

Oldsters who have viewed past league games with an I-can-beat-that-easy expression are going to get their chance when four church teams, now being organized, begin play about June 1.

Only requirements thus far are that you must be 35 years of age, or older, and that you can't be any good at softball... Good players are positively taboo. Furthermore, if you're signed with a city league team, you can't play with these enterprising churchsters. In short, to be good enough for the Kid League, you gotta be pretty bad... sorta paradoxical, as 'twere.

Still, you'll probably get a new slant or two on how the game was played in ye good olde daze. "These young whippersnappers put on too much dog to play good ball," snorts the Old Timer grinning pertly to cover up a twitch in his shoulder after a practice wind-up. "Now in my day..." And there, we'll leave him, and await with rusty anticipation the first ball pitched in the 1935 Kid League season... But how about matching the winners of the City League with the victors in the Kid League? This ought to prove something or other... or at least provide some spiffy entertainment.

WE REGRET... very much a slip made by us last week in "Standings". We had Faculty softballers credited with 2 wins, 2 losses and a .500 average, when it should have been 2 wins, 3 losses and a .400 standing. We're mighty sorry.
