DUGGAN DEFEATS LOCKHART 800 VOTES

ALL ADJACENT COMMUNITIES WILL BE VISITED

Entertainment and Fun Will Be Features of Weekly Good Will Trips

Plans are being made whereby merchants of Littlefield will furnish programs of entertainment for the various surrounding communities comprising the city's trade territory, according to announcement made by Dr. Ira E. Woods, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday morning.

"It is not our purpose to stage just ordinary trade trips in which the band plays a little, somebody makes a speech, and the crowd rushes on to another community in an effort to cover the entire territory in a single day," Dr. Woods said, "but the business men of Littlefield are planning to devote an entire night of each week to each community adjacent to Littlefield."

Plan High Class Programs

The programs, which have been discussed by a number of the leading business men, will be entirely free of any charge to each community, and will be strictly entertaining in their nature. Comedy skits, black-face and otherwise, will be put on. Littlefield's crack band will furnish a concert, as well as interspersing the programs with musical numbers. Much of Littlefield's home talent of various types will be used by the business men in seeking to supply high class enter-

GOOD PROGRAM BEING PREPARED FOR TRADES DAY

MERCHANTS SHOWING BIG ARRAY OF FALL GOODS

With the refreshing rains that have fallen in this section in recent days, and the bracy "norther" that is sweeping over the Plains country, the stage is set for another of Littlefield's Trades Day programs, Monday, September 5.

Many of the business concerns are taking advantage of this special day to offer extraordinary values in late summer and early fall merchandise. On the other hand, the change in weather and the approaching bad weather months makes the public even more interested in new wearing apparel and accessories. Merchants are beginning to display the very latest styles in fall and winter apparel, and are anticipating much interest on the part of the Trades Day crowds here next Monday.

As an added feature for the day, the Littlefield Band will play con-

Littlefield Saw a Part of This Eclipse Wednesday

New England states and Montreal, Canada, were the center of astronomical expeditions Wednesday as the sun made its infrequent disappearance behind the moon for a few minutes in what was viewed in Littlefield as one of the clearest eclipses ever seen. Photo shows Orestes H. Caldwell, president of the New York Electrical Society, pointing out the path of the eclipse. The eclipse was seen throughout the U. S. as a partial eclipse with varying degrees of obscuration.

Stanley A. Doss Defeats J. W. Hopping For County Clerk

Lamb county voters were of the opinion that the race for the county judgeship would offer a very interesting contest, but what happened was very much of a surprise. They expected that one or the other of the contestants would gain a safe margin over his opponent; they did not look for one of the aspirants for the office to have a lead of only one vote over his opponent. But that is what happened.

When all returns were received early Sunday morning the total showed that A. H. McGavock, who was seeking election to the office for the first time had a majority of one vote over his opponent, Simon D.

Although the precipitation, which ranged from one-fourth to more than an inch in places, came too late to much of the row feedstuffs, the remains, nevertheless, much to be helped by it. Reports indicate that much of the cotton had begun to suffer for want of moisture, and the recent rains will serve to retard the deterioration of the plant.

RADIO VS. NEWSPAPER

If you are not on hand to hear a radio broadcast at the moment it is given, can you "turn back" the radio and pick up the report when you want it?

No. But if you are not at liberty to read a newspaper the minute it is issued, the newspaper is available for your instant use at any time you want to pick it up.

If an important speaker gives a statistical report over the radio can you "turn back" the radio in order to compare the speaker's closing statement with his opening statement?

No, but your eye can compare the last paragraph of a newspaper's report of a public address with the paper's report of the speaker's opening remarks.

If you are listening to something you want to hear over the radio and neighbors drop in, can you ask them to wait until the broadcast is over, before you receive them?

Or, if the baby screams, or something boils over on the stove, can you holler at the announcer to "Wait!" while you investigate the baby or take the pot off the stove?

No, you cannot. But you can lay down your newspaper when a domestic emergency arises. You can attend to the duty required of you, return to your paper, and resume reading where you left off.

Can you file a radio talk for reference? Can you refer at will to information gained over the radio? Can you accurately quote from memory what you have just heard over the radio, even five minutes after you have heard it?

No, no, NO! Dozens of nos to all these questions. The newspaper will continue to serve, as it always has served, every citizen's need for a stable source of information and knowledge. It is readily available, it may be preserved for record, it may be referred to, taken up and put down, at will. It may be glanced at or pondered over. The section you wish may be singled out when and as you wish it.

Radios were originally designed for entertainment, and as a successor to the talking machine in providing music in the home.

It ably fulfills these purposes, but as an advertising media, as a news source, it is a breath upon the window, here this minute, then gone, forever. —Orsi, (Calif.) Courier.

EIGHT YEARS AGO IN LITTLEFIELD

(Exerpts from Lamb Co. Leader)

B. B. Moulton, one of the progressive farmers of this section, residing about one and a half miles east of town, brought in last Monday a fine bundle of Sudan seed, the finest in the head ever seen in this part of the country. Mr. Moulton has 60 acres of this Sudan, which his neighbors estimate will go from 450 to 600 pounds per acre.

Armistice Day, November 11, has been selected as the date for the corner stone laying of the West Texas Technological College at Lbbock.

Herb Mueller, Littlefield's famous twirler, won the Labor Day game at Lubbock last Monday, played between Lubbock and Lamesa, the score being 6-5.

The Thompson Land Company, formerly of Tahoka, are this week opening an office here in the building just north of the Gold Star Cafe. They are specializing just now on the Newsome Lands, a tract comprising 24,000 acres, lying in Lamb and Bailey counties.

East and West Texas cotton will fall short of eight or ten percent below the average condition of sixty-one percent normal, as announced by the United States Bureau of agriculture, according to the district estimate compiled by H. H. Schultz, federal statistician for Texas. A Texas crop of 4,435,000 bales was forecast

C. J. Duggan, now of Dallas, but formerly one of the pioneer citizens of Littlefield, arrived here Saturday for the purpose of putting on an addition to the city of Littlefield. This addition comprises 40 acres of fine land well situated, adjoining the town proper on the south side, and within the recently prescribed city limits. The addition will be known as "Southmoor."

Prospects for a railroad through Hockley county grows brighter every week, according to reports recently obtained from citizens of Levelland. Every week new signers have been received, and at present there have been about $140,000 worth of land that has been put on the dotted line. It is also reported that a bonus of $250,000 has been subscribed for the project.

Miss Vesta Brannen has accepted a position in the Littlefield schools, taking the place of one of the teachers who resigned. She will teach in the third grade.

Collis Doose of Ballinger is here this week on business. It is the first time he has been here for nearly a year, and he freely expressed his wonderful surprise at the great growth of the town and magnificent development of the country.

ward the south. Policemen, flattened in doorways, took him for a home-bound watchman, or night worker, running to escape the rain. As he neared the Bowery, a strange fatigue came over him. He slowed to a walk. Chills seized his frame. His teeth chattered. He began to run again; pain in his joints filled him with torture. He continued his pace, doggedly, passing below the deep shadow of Cooper Union, where he had spent such marvelous nights, where his soul had glimpsed the big-ness of the universe. For a while he for got the shooting pains and rushed ahead, wild with sudden desire. It was after one-thirty when he passed the Clothing Emporium. He searched for the name of LIPVITCH in faded letters. He thought of knock- ing at the door, stopped for a mo- ment, and then in new gilt letters he saw the words, Aaron Levy, Success- or, beneath the old sign of the Em- porium—New and Second Hand. His bearings were gone. Where was Channon Lipvitch? Where was he? Now the city was driving him back again to the slimy waters of the har- bor. The whole world began to tot- ter, the dark span of the Brooklyn Bridge towered like a massive threat, magnified by the wet mist as he had seen it once before. Cars clanged, vessels bulked high above him. He walked across the wide river-front street. He was playing a game with himself, and in it he forgot his mis- ery. Suddenly John Breen stumbled. His hands shot out before him as he fell, something yielded, and in an agony of realization he clutched desperately as he plunged head foremost through the door of a night-owl lunch car, backed against the head of a slip. Light instead of darkness, warmth, and the steaming aroma of a coffee urn, not the slime and cold of the river! With a bound his senses came to him. A look of terror froze upon his face. "Wodelyouhave?" The sleepy lunch car watcher roused himself suddenly and removed a pair of brogans from the counter. He eyed John suspicious-ly. "Coffee," John uttered the word in a hollow voice. His head felt queer. The stuffy warmth of the car was grateful. The man in the lunch car rubbed his eyes, shuffled over to a small cup- board, took out a heavy china mug without a handle. He dashed some white fluid into this from a can with a spout, and placed the cup under the tap of the urn, running it full. Suddenly John realized that he had on an old suit, saved for evening study, that he had left his room with- out a cent in his pocket. Even his vest, in which he sometimes carried change, and his watch, had been left behind. "Wodelyouhave, doughnuts or pie?" the man asked. "Hold on," John hastened to warn him, "I'm flat. Haven't a red cent with me. But—" "Thought so," interrupted the man behind the counter, "but see'n yer so damn honest, have a couple sinkers," and he passed the rings to John. "Thanks," John munched the doughnuts ravenously. "Don't mention it. Keep the change." The sleepy lunch car man settled comfortably on his perch. "I'll send the money down tomor- row." "Send it? Rats! I took this job at supper, an' I'm quittin' at breakfast. The guy what owns it's married an' home sleepin' wid his wife. Damn glad you wa'n't no stick-up. Get the hell out o' here an' let me sleep." John Breen again went into the wet. He looked at the river. A shud- der of terror came over him. He turned and ran westward, the warmth of the coffee gradually wearing away. But as he chilled he knew that he had to keep going, he caught his second wind, he knew that he was heading for the dorms. It was ten o'clock in the forenoon when the grayhaired dormitory maid entered John Breen's room. Damp clothing hung over the chair near his bed, and John, in fevered slumber, tossed in his blankets. He had re- turned at daybreak and throwing off his clothes and rolled into his bed half dead with exhaustion. Harboard, on his way to an early seminar, stopped to investigate. John's door was open, the maid was talking volubly, the hall superintendent and a young doctor, a great bulk of a man, bent over the bed. "Bad?" asked Harboard anxiously. "Fever and exhaustion." The doctor, a famous football coach, turned to Harboard, adding with non-profes- sional candor, "I can't make him out." He held a stethoscope in his hand. "Heart and lungs O. K. Know him?" the doctor asked. "Well, we are rather good friends. He was all right last night, but—" "Here, you mean?" The doctor tapped his forehead knowingly. His swift eye took in the disorder of scat- tered textbooks and papers. "Engineering," explained Har- board. "'Applied science.' Rotten- est cramming system in the world. Kills them off quick, or, if they hold out, nine out of ten are mentally strained. Come out with case-hard- ened skulls that crack if they get ideas. Few of 'em ever crack," he added dryly. "What about him, doc- tor?" Harboard asked anxiously. The maid was tucking John in, and one of the hall attendants come up with some warm milk. "Needs rest, I should say; nursing—a change. But what a body! Best all 'round specimen I've come across in a long while. Nothing overdone; smooth as silk. What is he, any- how?" "Been a scrapper. A regular knock- 'm-out," Harboard explained, lower- ing his voice. "Something fine about the boy, though. He has ideas, that's the trouble with him. We were talking last night. I never realized his state, or— Well, thank God it's no worse. Anyhow he's got to quit for a while." The doctor looked about. "Right. Complete rest, and a change. Get him out of this." He nodded force- fully at the room and its furnishings. "Have you Mr. Van Horn's ad- dress?" Harboard asked of the super- intendent. "I think he had better be advised."

Josephine Lambert was enjoying one of her periods of retirement, times when she sought seclusion, times when she took herself with elab- orate seriousness. It was past ten in the evening she was absorbed in the life story of Marie Bashkirtseff. Her long lashes, dark in contrast with her hair, gave her an air of study, a bare knee peeped from the white folds of her gown, a pink roguish knee. Her feet were doubled under her. Josephine was reading the strange will of Marie Bashkirtseff. "I do not think I have ever had any base, in- terested, depraved thoughts. It is rarely that one can say this, but in my case it is true." On the night Josephine was read- ing Bashkirtseff, and later on leis- urely preparing for bed, John Breen was coming to the breakaway with his overload of study. Josephine lingered in the warmth of her bed- room, a fire burning in the grate. Aunt Wen had gone to bed but Josephine was very much awake. She had taken John Breen's photo- graph from Van Horn's room, the one in short fighting trunks, his right fist guarding his abdomen, his left advanced, his eyes straight ahead, a stiff pompadour rising from his fore- head. John had a look of the most insolent confidence on his determined face. Josephine looked at John's picture. She smiled. Putting it on her dress- er she dropped her robe and stood before the tall mirrors; for a mo- ment she assumed the pose of the fighter. "I strip neat, myself," she murmured, coloring. And then she slipped into her pajamas and jumped into the big bed under the canopy. Van Horn motored down from Greenbough, tearing at a wild pace, Pug Malone at his side and Judge Kelly in the back bouncing about like a rubber ball. The heavy Rolls took the road with smooth workmanlike speed. A telegram, from Harboard, had located Van Horn at the farm. John was sick. The thing was in- credible. In the meantime the house in the middle fifties was astir, Josephine in a flutter. Had she dreamed this, or what?

Admission Charges At South Plains Fair Reduced

Admission prices to the Panhandle South Plains Fair, September 26 to October 1, have been cut in half, the fair catalog, now being distributed, announces.

In spite of this cut in admissions, reducing the gate fee to 25c for adults and 15c for children, the same good show will be offered South Plains folks, W. G. McMillan, president, has assured the public.

Real agricultural exhibits are expected with better crops being produced this year than for several years and with a number of people over the section at work now gathering products for county and individual agricultural exhibits, McMillan says.

The John T. Wortham Shows, one of the largest moving carnivals in the world will be here for the six days.

Four good will trips will be made about the middle of September by Lubbock people, traveling more than 1,000 miles to tell the people of the Plains of the plans for the fair this year. A band will accompany and novelties for the children will be given away.

Relieves Women's Pains

Here is an example of how Cardul has helped thousands of women: "I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. F. H. Scott, of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. My mother had taken Cardul, and on seeing my condition she advised me to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I took three bottles and it built me up. CHURCHES

Occupies Pulpit At First Baptist Church

Dee W. Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Cobb, who is studying to become a Methodist minister, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church Sunday morning.

Mr. Cobb was graduated from the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, and will leave Wednesday to enter Asbury College, a Methodist institution located at Wilmore, Kentucky.

Mr. Cobb has just completed a tour with the male quartet of the Bible Institute.

He assisted in the singing at a revival which Rev. Joe F. Grizzle, pastor of the First Baptist church, has just concluded at Spade.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH Sunday, September 4.

9:45—Sunday school. Several new officers and teachers will be in their places Sunday. We are expecting a record attendance to meet them, and to start the new year's work.

11:00—Revival services continue. Song services directed by L. W. Jordan with Mrs. J. H. Lucas at the piano, and Rev. J. F. Nix of Clovis bringing the morning sermon.

7:15—B. T. S. We shall expect all branches to meet on time so as to finish their programs by the preaching hour.

8:15—Revival services conducted by Rev. J. F. Nix.

We are anxious about this Revival. The church needs a revival. The town and community needs an old time revival of religion. We invite the public to join with us in these services. You will enjoy the fine sermons of Rev. Nix, and we know we will all be made better by giving our support to the Lord's work.

Last Sunday closed the third year for the Pastor, and though we will be preaching for Brother Nix in Clovis church next Sunday it will be the starting of our fourth year. The three years have been years of perfect harmony and Christian fellowship in the First Baptist church. We are praying that such fellowship will never be broken. Not only have we enjoyed the fine spirit of fellowship in this church, but that of the public, for which we are thankful. We again invite all to take part in the Revival now going on in the church.

Joe F. Grizzle, Pastor.

Brother Cobb will soon leave for further College work, in Asbury College, which is one of the sanest, best Colleges to be found anywhere.

There will be no evening service, as we gladly give way to the revival meeting at the Baptist Church and we urge that all our people may attend these services.

This Woman Lost 45 Pounds of Fat

"Dear Sirs: For 3 months I've been using your salts and am very much pleased with results. I've lost 45 lbs., 6 inches in hips and bust measure. I've taken 3 bottles—one lasting 5 weeks. I had often tried to reduce by dieting but never could keep it up, but by cutting down and taking Kruschen I've had splendid results. I highly recommend it to my friends."

—Mrs. Carl Wilson, Mantion, Mich.
To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drugstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

ENGINEER GETS NEW ROUTE OF HIGHWAY NO. 70

Supervising Engineer H. N. Roberts, in charge of the permanent improvement work on State Highway No. 7 and U. S. Highway No. 70, has received a map from the state highway engineer, giving the proposed new location of U. S. highway from Olton into Muleshoe.

The Muleshoe Journal last week said:

"This highway, which is to be paved from the south line of Hale county, comes due west out of Olton on the present location to Center, all the jobs being eliminated, thence on to the community of Earth, where it takes a slight angle toward the northwest to eliminate some more turns in the highway as at present. Contacting again with the east and west line of the highway, it runs due west toward Muleshoe, until the first south turn is reached, where it begins a gradual curve toward the south and west, coming into town at the present point just north of the Panhandle service station and connecting with State highway No. 7 on the south side of the Santa Fe railroad.

"The proposed permanently improved road follows the old location most of the way from Olton to Muleshoe, only such changes being made as are necessary to eliminate the undesirable turns. The right-of-way throughout will be widened to 100 feet. Mr. Roberts states that all the required right-of-way for No. 70 has now been acquired in Lamb county, and work of securing such in Bailey county will be started soon. Engineer Roberts and his crew of assistants started this week to run out the center lines of this highway for engineering purposes.

"Engineer Roberts has completed the necessary surveying preliminaries on Highway No. 7 from Muleshoe to the Parmer county line and it is understood that agreements for the 100 foot right-of-way have been reached between the county officials and property owners, with the exception of one owner.

"Work of establishing the center line of Highway No. 7 from the east Parmer county line into Farwell will be started by Engineer Roberts the latter part of this week.

About two and one-half miles of the rough grading on State Highway No. 7 have been done by the contracting company out of Muleshoe running east. In another week another crew will be put to work digging out, hauling and spreading the caliche base on that part of the highway where the grade has been formed. Two water wells have been dug on the right-of-way of this road, one about two miles east of Muleshoe, and another four miles east of town. These wells will be placed under pow-

"AMERICAN MADNESS" TO BE SHOWN FRIDAY AND SATURDAY AT PALACE

One of the most compelling screen dramas of the 1932 season will make its bow to Littlefield, when Columbia's "American Madness" is shown at the Palace Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Considered tremendous in scope and of sweeping power, "American Madness" is a film that strikes at the vitals of present-day America.

Walter Huston, whose reputation as one of the greatest actors on the American screen is unquestioned, has the feature role of a strong, clear-thinking banker whose courage and faith in people leads him successfully through a run on his bank and an attempt to break up his home.

"American Madness" has a superb supporting cast, headed by Constance Cummings, one of the most talented and charming of the younger screen actresses. Pat O'Brien, who made the role of Hildy Johnson in "The Front Page" an unforgettable one, plays the part of an ex-convict whom Huston has given a chance to make good in his bank. Kay Johnson, noted for years as one of the most popular stage actresses on the West Coast, and remembered for her great performance in "Dynamite," is cast as Huston's wife. Popular, talented Gavin Gordon is the heavy.

Critics all over the country have praised "American Madness" for the timeliness of its plot, bringing to the screen, as it does, the dramatic situation that has touched the lives of everyone in the world in the last two years or more.

Robert Riskin, the author of the original story, is considered to have done a superb job of weaving against the complicated background of a great bank, the poignant story of a man who forestalls the ruin of his bank and of his home, by his definite, courageous vision.

The picture was directed by Frank Capra, known to the movie public for his directorial work in such popular successes as "Dirigible," "Flight," "Submarine," "Ladies of Leisure," "Forbidden" and "Rain or Shine." The entire picture reflects the movement and power that always stamps a picture of Capra's talented efforts.

Not to be ignored is the fact that "American Madness" is mounted in a spectacular fashion, with the largest sets ever built at the Columbia studios and the largest number of "extras" ever seen on the lot at one time. More than 1000 "extras" participated in the stirring scenes of the bank run. Columbia officials consider this picture the greatest dramatic spectacle they have ever made.

Building of Bridge Important Step in New Road Project

The Muleshoe Journal, of which Jess Mitchell is the editor, recently announced an important development in connection with the creation of a north and south highway through the western tier of counties.

Mr. Mitchell has taken a very important and active part in advancing the building of the proposed new highway.

The Muleshoe Journal says: "With authorization last week by the State Highway Commission of the building of a bridge across the Canadian river in Oldham county the north and south highway through the western tier of counties in the Panhandle area of Texas becomes earlier probable of construction.

"The cost of this particular bridge construction, which is estimated at not less than $200,000, was given by the Commission as one of the reasons for deferring construction of the north and south highway at this time when a committee representing 11 counties of this western tier went before the Commission a short time ago.

"About two months ago Hartley county citizens voted a bond issue of $150,000 to be used in paving the highway from Channing, the county seat, south to the Oldham county line, this highway being permanent improvement on what has been known for years as the "Tascosa trail." The permanent improvement of this particular trail will furnish a link of improved road in the north and south highway along the western border of the Panhandle desired by citizens of the 11 counties interested.

"At the meeting of the committee before the Highway Commission in Austin a few weeks ago the Commission looked with decided favor upon this designation and construction, stating it really completed the skeletonized system of Panhandle highways and would be built as soon as funds were available. If these funds had been available at the time of meeting, it was stated by Judge Ely, chairman of the Commission, that official designation would now be given."

LITTLEFIELD TURNS OUT WEDNESDAY TO OBSERVE UNUSUAL ECLIPSE OF SUN

Littlefield people had the opportunity of viewing one of the clearest eclipses ever seen here, and many were seen with their "smoked glasses" out observing the unusual occurrence. Even the business houses kept a supply of hastily smoked bits of glass which were furnished incoming customers, who retreated to the streets for a brief observation.

The eclipse, which became visible in Littlefield at about 2:30 Wednesday afternoon, is one of the most unique astronomical occurrences ever known to science. It is the last eclipse that will be visible in the U. S. until 1970; it actually began on Thursday and ended on Wednesday; and began in September and ended in August.

Protracted Meeting In Progress At Church of Christ

The protracted meeting being conducted at the Church of Christ at 9th Street and Park Avenue, by Evangelist Leland H. Knight, of Booneville, Ark., continues with increased interest, though weather conditions have been somewhat unfavorable for two or three days for meeting outdoors.

While the weather is damp and unfavorable meeting will be conducted in the house, and as soon as it clears up and warms up, it will again be conducted under the arbor outside.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend every service possible, and drink in the great lessons of divine truth being so efficiently expounded by this eloquent and scholarly teacher.

Anyone in doubt as to the Bible teaching on any divine subject, and who is interested in finding a scriptural solution to the same, is urged to present it for consideration, to the end that the meeting may do the most good for the most people.

Services at 10:00 a. m., and 8:15 p. m. Come.

tainment to their many friends and customers in tributary communities.

"We are elated," Dr. Woods said, "over the prospects of the venture, because we not only hope to entertain our friends with these programs, but we anticipate the very finest relationship among our own business men in going on these regular weekly 'fun trips.' We expect to get a real 'kick' out of them ourselves, and at the same time have the opportunity of meeting and mingling with our friends outside of town."

Committee Appointed
A committee composed of J. O. Garlington, chairman, A. R. Hendricks, F. G. Sadler, and T. S. Sales is at work seeking to arrange the details relative to the dates, programs, and schedule. Suggestions made at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday at noon indicate that the trips will likely be made on Friday nights, and, according to Mr. Garlington, a number of the business men have already expressed themselves as being anxious to immediately begin the entertainment excursions.

Trades Day

cerpts throughout the day at various places over the city.

Interest in Littlefield's Trades Days has been in evidence every month, and, according to leading merchants, it is expected that the advancing prices of various farm products and the present crop prospects will contribute much to the success of the city's future Trades Days. While no definite forecast is available on the county's 1932-33 cotton production, the fact that the market is at present affording a premium of from fifteen to twenty dollars a bale above last year's price is of much encouragement locally.

City officials, members of the various organizations, and each merchant extend a very urgent invitation to their many friends in the trade territory to plan now to be in Littlefield Monday, September 5.

Magnolia Petroleum Introduces Climatic Control Gasoline

"Climatic Control" is being made available for the first time to local motorists with the introduction of "Mobilgas" by the Magnolia Petroleum Company, according to L. R. Crockett, wholesale agent for Magnolia products in Littlefield. This new gas goes on sale today at the Magnolia Service Station; Littlefield Service Station; XIT Service Station; Howton's Service Station, Southmoor; and the Dixie Camp Service Station.

This new motor fuel, Mr. Crockett said, provides an entirely new quality in gasoline, which has been designated as "Climatic Control," descriptive of the fact that Mobilgas manufacturing specifications have been preadjusted to meet variations in climatic and driving conditions.

Every car owner has observed how sensitive the engine in his automobile is to changes in the weather conditions. We have all experienced difficulty in starting on cold mornings, or loss of power from a "starved" motor in hot weather, Mr. Crockett said. These symptoms indicate that the gasoline used is not adapted to the climatic conditions in which the car is being operated.

Climatic conditions cannot be controlled, but Magnolia has succeeded through the preadjustment of manufacturing specifications to produce a gasoline which will assure the highest usable level of performance under all driving conditions and changes in the weather. This is being done at Magnolia refineries in the manufacture of Mobilgas.
