Cubs Outplay Antelopes To 12-0 Victory

Brownfield's Cubs continued an undefeated season at Post as they outplayed the Post Antelopes to a 12-0 victory, in a game that was slowed by fumbles of both teams.

The victory leave Brownfield in undisputed possession of the District 5-A, south half, conference lead, since Slaton was beaten by Levelland Friday. The Cubs have one more conference game, an Armistice day engagement with Slaton in Brownfield. A victory would mean the circuit crown for the Cubs, a Slaton triumph would toss the district into a three way tie between the two and Levelland.

Post held the Cubs close to the line of scrimmage most of the first quarter with the exception of a 30-yard run by Mullins, who intercepted a pass on his own 40-yard line. In the last part of the period Brownfield scored on a 19-yard jaunt by W. D. Warren after the Antelopes received two 15-yard penalties. Before the close of the quarter Delmo Gossett, Post halfback, made a 9-yard run and then tossed a pass to Laurence Sherrod for a gain of 26 yards.

In the second quarter, Charley Lutrell, Antelope halfback, got away for 30 yards immediately after entering the game. The Post boys stayed in Cub territory most of the second part of the tilt and with two penetrations threatened to score.

Brownfield scored a second time when Deverelle Lewis plunged from the Post one-yard line. The Cubs failed to convert on either touchdown.

Twice during the siege the Cubs bucked the Antelope line for less than three yards gain in the four downs.

Lutrell, the smallest player on the field, thrilled onlookers who stamped the sidelines with his flashing plays. Another outstanding Antelope star Ralph Dean, a boy hard to stop when he toted the pigskin.

Diversifying With COTTON.

We have been blamed for putting all our eggs in a cotton basket; but perhaps the blamers do not know cotton's stake in farm diversification. Cottonseed meal, stock feed, cotton sheets for seed-bed covers, cotton petticoats for garden and orchard plants, cotton quilts for beehives, and cotton linings for terrace outlets are but a few of the uses and markets the balanced farm opens to cotton. Cotton goes to market when the farmer diversifies; indeed, some cotton product is likely to be the tool he needs for other farm activities. Diversification to the cotton industry means more than a sharing of the burden of farm overhead; it means also new and enlarged markets for cotton.

Even if we are not farmers, we marvel at how many diversified uses we can find for cotton in our varied activities. No other crop can supply so many of our diversified wants, and at the same time generate the commerce through which we can earn the money to buy more.

Eligibility For 1941 Wheat Loans

A loan has not been offered on the 1941 wheat crop, but—
The wheat farmer who is deciding how much acreage to plant this fall should study the eligibility rules for obtaining a loan in 1941 if one is offered.

A producer's share of the wheat produced on a farm will be eligible for the loan only if a 1941 parity payment can be made with respect to that share of wheat in accordance with the eligibility provisions of the 1941 parity payment regulations, E. N. Holmgren, state AAA administrator, said in a statement issued from AAA headquarters.

Which all means that wheat produced will be eligible for a loan if none of the following provisions are violated:

(1) The acreage planted to wheat on the farm is not in excess of the wheat acreage allotment for the farm.

(2) The sum of the acreages of wheat and cotton for the farm does not exceed the sum of the allotments or permitted acreages for such crops under the 1941 program.

(3) The producers aggregate share of the 1941 acreage of wheat and cotton on all farms in the county does not exceed his aggregate share of the allotments or permitted acreages for such crops under the 1941 program on such farms.

(4) The producer's aggregate share of the 1941 acreage of wheat, cotton, corn, rice and tobacco on all farms in which he has an interest, wherever situated, does not exceed his aggregate share of the allotment or permitted acreage for such commodity under the 1941 program for such farms to such an extent as to offset substantially the performance on the farm with respect to which the loan might otherwise be made.

Eligibility for parity payments will be determined early in 1941, the administrator said, and, since those eligible for parity payments will be eligible for loans, only one determination of eligibility need be made.

Cannery Is Busy Place This Month

The Littlefield cannery has been a very busy place the past month, Mrs. J. D. Dodgen, supervisor, reported this week.

Sweet potatoes, tomatoes, turnips, and turnip greens, catsup, chowchow, and hominy have been canned in jars and canned by farm women, as well as those living in town.

The season for canning will close November 9, Mrs. Dodgen said. However, there will be an opportunity for those wishing to can meat a little later on.

Those persons are asked to contact Mrs. Katie Green, at the County Welfare office, and provisions will be made to open the cannery.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

In an age of restlessness and unrest, when a prominent writer says that half of the people of this State will be living in trailers by 1960, it is not a misstatement what this status of affairs mean to a home. Can a trailer be a home and really fulfill the needs of a real home? Another way we are people on wheels, the trailer takes the place of a home with a large percentage of people, sure we shall be a people indeed.
In this condition what will we know of real and home life? We know it and as it has been in the past? Some new phases of life are to be appreciated in the Church school, the public schools when some trailer dwellers? The present is trying to get more to have homes and be perfect in the section where they are tied to something. We feel that this home instinct will ever pass from the minds of the people. Many of the trailer homes are not there as a matter of choice but it is a matter of necessity for a season

Germany To Soon Have 300 Submarines

Germany soon will have 300 submarines—the largest U-boat fleet in the world, naval circles disclosed Saturday.

According to these sources, Germany now has 120 submarines—allowing for war losses—and 180 building.

This information coincides with reports from abroad that Germany is launching a greater and more intensive undersea campaign against British shipping.

Completion of the current German naval building program would give that country a naval force numerically stronger than the present United States fleet of 316 vessels. But Germany's strength of the sea would be composed almost entirely of submarines and would be inferior to tonnage and battle strength to either the American, British or Japanese navies.

Completion of all the submarines would give to Germany a fleet of 370 vessels of all kinds. When Germany's entire construction program is completed, its fleet will be composed of eight battleships, two aircraft carriers, 13 cruisers, 47 destroyers and 300 U-boats.

The United States has the largest naval construction program. In various stages of building are 329 vessels—17 battleships, 12 aircraft carriers, 48 cruisers, 170 destroyers and 82 submarines.

LET US BE THANKFUL FOR THE AMERICAN PEACE that is the AMERICAN BLESSING

November 11th, 1918. The Marne, Ypres, Loos, Arras, Somme, Chateau Thierry, Verdun, Argonne, Belleau Wood ... all those famous battles were history and the men who fought them, living and dead, became an immortal memory. The monstrous armies were slowly sent home to begin the fight for peace. Let's honor those men who fought for a cause and, at the same time, use the memory of those terrible years as an object lesson of the blessings of peace.

CHAPTER VIII SYNOPSIS

Audrey Swan, nicknamed "Cygie," the only daughter of a highly respected horse trainer. His farm was the estate of Judge Castle, his only son, Jeffrey, has been Jeffrey's friend since childhood. Audrey marries Olive Cooper. Judge Castle has always wanted to see Jeffrey a partner, but Olive would not wish to bury herself in the city. During their long honeymoon, Vic Quinn, Jeff's friend in the Judge's office. Resigned from their trip, Jeff visits Audrey without Olive. He is told by Audrey that Olive's father is looking for a job in the city.

disaster. "Nice place," he managed dully.

"Do you think it will appeal to Olive?"

"To Olive?"

Judge George gave vent to a throaty chuckle. "This is your home from now on, my son . . . and Olive's. A little gift from your mother and me." The words seemed to be coming from some distance off. "We've always known that we couldn't keep you at home," Jeff heard dimly. "But it has been our pet dream to have you close by so that we could enjoy our grandchildren."

Jeffrey sat staring at his father with such a vacant expression that the Judge emitted an exasperated "Well, what ails you?"

"I . . . I wish I had known about that, Father. Wish you had told me it's perfectly swell of you and Mother. But it's like this. I'm

"But he will remain now?"

"He wasn't sure. Said he would have to think it over."

"He will stay here by golly," the Judge retorted explosively. "I do not intend to be let down by everybody."

Well, and how did you find everything down in the sticks?" Olive Castle smiled up at her husband from her breakfast tray.

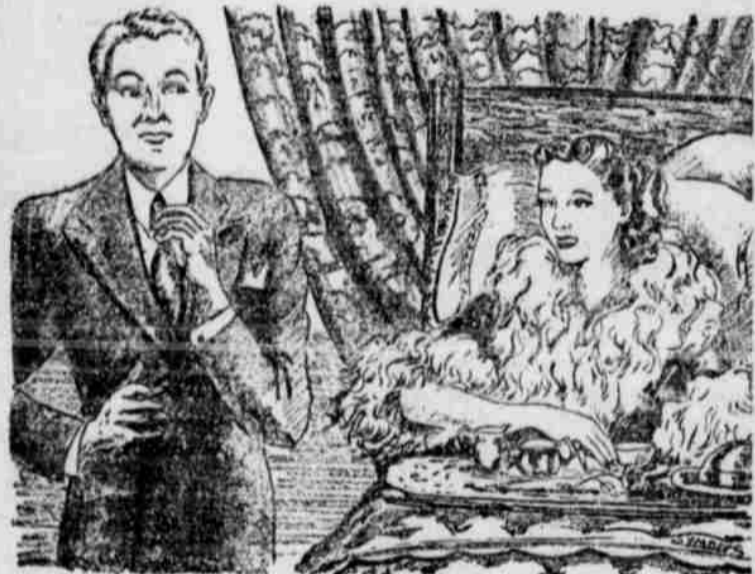

"Oh, fine," he assured her. "The folks are both well. Very much disappointed that you didn't come along. Had a chat with old Vic in the office. He looks like a million dollars."

"How's Audrey?"

The unexpected question caught him so off guard that he instinctively repeated Olive's last word.

"Audrey?"

Why, yes. You seem to have rounded up everybody you know

"You're so transparent and funny," she said.

not just sure how much of the time we'll be here in Parville after this. You see . . . Olive likes the city. She's never lived in a small town or in the country and the idea sort of gets her down."

"Interesting, really. May I ask where she does intend to live?"

"She wants me to take a position in her father's office. Mr. Harrison has been kind enough to . . . t arrange it."

"What sort of a position? What are your duties?"

"Oh, executive of some sort. We really haven't threshed out the details, naturally."

"Naturally. But you are thinking of allowing your wife to support you?"

"Of course I'm not. Harrison's is a huge concern. There is no reason why there can't be a future in it for a young man."

"But not for you, Jeffrey. You will learn that they have not the slightest need for your services. I wonder that you can accept that situation. We spoke of it once before, prior to your marriage. You were quite independent then. You led me to believe that you would settle down here as we had planned so many times."

"You don't quite understand, Father. I . . ."

"I presume," the Judge went on coldly, "that this was all arranged before you were married. Did you know it then, Jeffrey, or did you not?"

"I did not," Jeffrey turned appealingly to his father. "See here, sir," he exclaimed. "I can't let it stand like this, if there is any way out of it. I'm thinking about that house. I know that Olive was under the impression that if we came here we would live with you and Mother for the time being. A real home like the one you have given us may appeal to her. She could have the horses and all that sort of thing . . . don't say anything to Mother yet. I'll drive back tonight and have a talk with Olive tomorrow morning. Don't you think it would be a good idea?"

"You are a better judge than I, Jeffrey." The older man's voice sounded suddenly tired. "Did you tell Quinn that you were not going to remain here?"

"Yes. He was thinking about leaving."

in Parville. I took it for granted that you wouldn't overlook her."

"Oh, sure. Yes, I did see her . . . happened to bump into Audrey on the road. We had a little visit from the saddle. She looked very well, I thought."

"That was nice." There was nothing but innocent pleasure in his wife's face and words, but Jeffrey felt a sudden discomfort. Darn it all he had met Audrey accidentally—merely riding past when he saw her at a distance jumping that roan. It didn't sound so well as a story.

"What sort of a day did you have?" he countered amiably.

"Tiresome enough. Looked at two apartments and neither of them suited. We really don't need more than ten rooms if they are arranged right."

"No," Jeff agreed smilingly, able to keep out of each other's way "that's five apiece. We ought to be . . . on clear days. Speaking of abodes, darling, have you ever thought it would be nice to have a country place of our own?"

"Hardly. Dad has his hunting lodge in Maine, the place in the mountains and the one down at the shore. They're almost always empty."

"I was thinking more about . . . well, not exactly a farm, but a modern house near town with good stables. Enough to handle half a dozen horses. That sort of thing."

"I see." She broke a bit of toast between her fingers and smiled provokingly. "You're so funny and transparent, Jeff dear. What is up your sleeve now? Come on and tell Mummy."

"I was merely asking if you wanted a country place because . . . well, because we have one. Got the deed over in my room."

"Jeffrey Castle, whatever are you talking about?"

"A gift. From your Parville in-laws." He was smiling broadly. "How's that for something pretty nice in the way of a late wedding present?"

"Tell me about it. Everything." Olive's dark eyes met his in a level gaze. "You didn't know anything about it before?"

"Cross my heart and hope to die, darling. You could have knocked me over with a feather. Just after lunch, Father asked me to drive him on an errand and we went to this place. After I had admired it sufficiently, what did he do but tell me that its a gift from him and Mother to us."

"They shouldn't have done that. Sweet of them, of course. Listen, Jeffrey. I hate to be tiresome, but you're making me wonder if you made it clear to your folks before we were married that you were not going to settle down in Parville."

"Well, I figured perhaps we'd better think it over further before we came to a really definite conclusion. Now that we actually own that place, I'd like to see it. It's just the idea of you letting the folks down you know."

"Apparently that's more important than letting your wife down. I took it for granted that I married you instead of your family. I still want to think so." Olive did not raise her voice, but Jeffrey caught a quiet determination in her tone that he had never heard. Her dark eyes were fixed unwaveringly on his face. There was no suggestion of a smile in them.

He shrugged his broad shoulders. "I don't believe it's necessary to put it that way. And we certainly don't have to be dramatic about things. I want you to be happy and nothing else counts with me. How and where we live is for you to decide."

Olive flashed him a smile. She reached for her husband's nearest hand and patted it softly. "You're sweet, Jeff. About everything. Come on, kiss me and don't let's be tiresome any more. If you'll run away now, I'll dress. Oh, Jeffrey . . . as he was starting for the door. . . . I was wondering. Why wouldn't it be simpler if you wrote your father a nice letter about that house? You can be appreciative in your explanation. If it will help,

I'll write my thanks, too."

"No, he said quietly, "that wouldn't do. I'll run down and see him and see it . . . through. He wouldn't be satisfied otherwise and neither would I."

"I'm sure you can smooth everything over. Will you offer to give him back the place?"

You don't know Father. If he is willing, I'll try to sell it and reimburse him. I doubt if he will want to do that. It's a little hard to say, but . . . this is the end of a good many things in Parville."

"Quinn." Judge George Castle's voice called brusquely from his room a very few moments after he had arrived at the office.

Victor entered and stood waiting. "Yes, sir?"

"Shut the door. Sit down." Quinn obeyed both orders.

The Judge appeared to be in an ill humor. "Jeffrey was down. He returned to the city last night. He won't be back here."

"Not coming back. But I thought . . ."

Mrs. W. C. Lackey Passes Away At Lubbock Hospital

Last Rites To Be Conducted Today At Church of Christ, Spade

Mrs. W. C. Lackey, aged 42 years, passed away at the St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, Texas, Wednesday at 7:50 a.m. Deceased had been in ill health for about a year and had been in the Lubbock hospital a week.

Mrs. Lackey had lived in the Spade community for the past 14 years, moving here from Lockhart, Texas. She was married to W. C. Lackey in 1916, and had she lived, they would have celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary soon.

Survivors are her husband, W. C. Lackey, a son, Howard Lackey of Spade, her mother, Mrs. T. C. Klingsmith, a sister, Ida Belle Klingsmith, both of Dale, Texas, Three brothers also survive, Tom Klingsmith of Pettit, Alva Ballard of Dale and Luther Ballard of Houston, Texas.

Petition Hearing—

bonds are voted, the state highway department will build the road, and eventually pay off the bonds.

The petition was circulated last week by officials of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce. It was necessary that the petition be signed by only 50 property owners and tax-paying voters.

Signed by 128 Citizens

Since the petition was signed by 128 property owners when presented to the Commissioner's Court, the extreme interest in the forming of a new road district and building the proposed highway was manifested by citizens in this part of the county.

The east-west highway was planned several years ago, when officials from Floyd, Hale and Lamb counties asked the state highway department to survey and designate the road as a state highway. State engineers made a survey but the road was not designated as a state highway. However, if bonds are voted for the building of the road, the survey will be changed.

The proposed highway in Lamb county will start at the east county line, four miles due east of Spade, continue through Spade and will include Oklahoma Avenue, into Littlefield, west on ninth street, and continue on the Pep highway, reaching the west county line several miles north of Pep.

Details are meager as to the list of officials for the game, but it is reported that Clyde Hilbun will be referee, Clint Griffin, umpire, and Lon Smith, head linesman. Referee and umpire will be required to ride.

Pryor Hammons will be water boy.

"I'm not going to carry water to all those mules," protested Pryor. Ed Seely, president of the Touchdown club, will coach his fellow club members. The starting lineup for the touchdown club is not complete. Men for only two positions on the team had been decided up to a late hour Wednesday night. They are Carroll Blacklock, quarterback, and Carl Arnold, fullback.

VICTOR IN THE Sourpuss SWEEP STAKES?

It's HARD to tell... but EASY to pick a winning

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1 may well have been a smiling, gurgling baby. And by the same token, there is no reason why this screaming, yowling, sad-eyed child should not end up as a radio comedian.

Only a rash man thinks he can predict a child's future. But any car owner can readily foretell which is a winning oil for his motor.

He has no question or doubt because the integrity of the great Phillips organization is back of this direct statement: If you want our best oil, remember we specify that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality... the highest grade and greatest value... among all the oils we offer.

When you make the seasonal change to lighter lubricant, or the 1,000-mile replacement which every engine needs, pick a winning oil. Refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil at the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Texas Aids Landslide

Traditionally Democratic Texas, with 23 electoral votes, given President Roosevelt approximately 81 percent of its 674,992 votes counted Wednesday morning.

The count stood: Roosevelt, 546; 355; Willkie, 128,379.

Returns included 230 counties, with 23 complete.

Some Texas Democrats voiced their disapproval of Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald's support of Willkie by giving the write-in candidate against him, W. N. Corry, former member of the Texas House of Representatives, a 141-697 votes. But it wasn't strong enough to overcome McDonald's 216,496 total.

Willkie, on the basis of the incomplete returns, had carried only six counties, all rather traditionally Republican counties in the Southwest part of the state. The four amendments to the constitution was passed by varying majorities.

For authorizing legislative appeal, 124,530; against, 61,693.

For secretary of state appointing notaries, 120,054; against 70,194.

For removing municipal appointments term limitation, 110,763; against 69,702.

For Red River county tax, 94,390; against, 88,356.

During the past year, a great deal has been printed and said in automobile circles about new kinds of "drives" for the 1941 model cars. As a result, many people have come to Oldsmobile with natural and pertinent questions:

"Are the 'drives' that other manufacturers offer similar to Oldsmobile's Hydra-Matic Drive?"

"If not, how does Hydra-Matic Drive differ from the others?"

In order to clear up any confusion or misunderstanding that may prevail in the public mind, Oldsmobile takes this opportunity to publish the statements of fact at the right!

ONLY ONE KIND OF DRIVE eliminates the clutch! . . .
ONLY ONE KIND OF DRIVE eliminates gear-shifting! . . .
ONLY ONE KIND OF DRIVE has a completely automatic transmission! . . .
ONLY ONE KIND OF DRIVE gives full accelerating power without manual shifting. . .
HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE*
built and backed by GENERAL MOTORS
Offered in OLDSMOBILE!

WHY OLDS' HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE* IS SO DIFFERENT AND IN A CLASS BY ITSELF!

Ordinary "new drives" are based on the principle of fluid coupling. Oldsmobile's exclusive Hydra-Matic Drive is a combination of fluid coupling and completely automatic transmission. It eliminates clutch and clutch pedal. It does away with the gear shifter. It provides a special fourth speed for cruising. It gives you a special fourth speed for passing other cars and climbing steep hills. The "no clutch, no shift" Hydra-Matic Drive is optional at extra cost on all Olds models for 1941. Try it... there's nothing else like it in the world!

FASHION for today

BY PATRICIA DOW

Pattern 8783—This fall is a wonderful season for large women, with the emphasis on column-slim lines that look better on them than on anyone, and here's a dress (8783) that proves it! All the lines are straight up and down and clean-cut, the skirt is slim-hipped with controlled fullness for comfortable walking. The collar is finished with a deeply notched collar, and the two waist points at the waistline do their bit toward enhancing the slenderizing effect.

Trim and simple enough for housework, in its short-sleeved guise, this dress can be made formal enough for street wear by cutting the sleeves in wide three-quarter fashion and knotting an Ascot scarf at your throat, as shown in the small sketch.

Pattern No. 8783 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires with short sleeves, 5 1/2 yards of 39-inch material; with three-quarter sleeves, 5 3/4 yards. 1/2 yard contrast to face cuffs and collar, if desired.

The new bakery will feature the "Supreme" loaf, in brown and white bread, and will specialize in the baking of pies and cakes.

Mr. Graham has been a resident of Littlefield for the past 7 years, and connected with a local bakery for four years.

Mrs. Graham is connected with the Mary Edith Beauty Shop as operator.

Cowhands Beat Tahoka's Bulldogs

TAHOKA, Nov. 4—Lubbock's Cowhands, led by their driving full-back, Jack Pipes, bounded out from under a six-point first-half deficit to whip Tahoka's Bulldogs, 19 to 6, here Thursday night.

Tahoka opened the scoring with a 45-yard touchdown pass from Rusty Waldrep to Earl Adams, and led at the half, 6 to 0.

Early in the third quarter, Pipes broke loose for 55 yards and the tying touchdown. A few minutes later, he untied it with a 45-yard scoring jaunt. Then he added another with two minutes to play. Wayne Odom kicked the point after the second score.

Tahoka's Sonny Robert's, a sophomore backfield man, suffered a broken arm during the game and will be out for the rest of the season.

Allotments For Vegetables Sent To Most Counties

Commercial vegetable allotments under the 1941 AAA program have been sent to most of the 52 counties in Texas which will have such allotments.

The allotments are determined on the basis of the 1936-37 average acreage or the average of a later period adjusted to the 1936-37 level.

No attempt is being made to reduce the acreage planted to commercial vegetables, he explained, but only to stabilize production in those areas in which the acreage planted has shown decided increases in recent years.

Must Classify Men By Nov. 18 For Selective Service

Quota Not Received Yet; Numbers To Be Posted At Local Office Friday

As announced by Otto Jones, chairman of the local Selective Service Board, the "master" list containing names of all those drawn at Washington, was received here Monday, on which the personnel of the local office are at work, and all numbers relative to Lamb county men will be posted on the bulletin board at the draft office by Friday.

Work got underway Wednesday in the mailing out of eight-page questionnaires to registrants, and 25 were mailed that day, but it is expected that about 50 will be mailed daily thereafter.

The questionnaire, which must be executed and returned within five days from date thereof, also contains the following stipulations: "Failure to complete and return your questionnaire is an offense punishable by imprisonment and fine."

"Any registrant whose order number is included above and who seeks a deferred classification, may, within five days from the date hereof, submit proper affidavits to this Local Board. He may submit such will make the trip on a chartered bus, from Lubbock.

affidavits in the space provided in his questionnaire or submit them separately. Any other qualified person seeking deferred classification for the registrant shall use Form 42 (Claim for Deferred Classification by Dependent, Employer, or Other Person), or other applicable forms available at the office of this Local Board.

"Failure of the registrant or any other person concerned to exercise any right or privilege within the time authorized by the Selective Service Regulations or within an extension of time granted by the Local Board, may constitute a waiver of such right or privilege."

The local board had been notified by the state board at Austin to have men classified and ready by November 18 for selective service, but Mr. Jones said this county's allotment had not been received.

The chairman of the local board also added:

"Several men have volunteered for service, and if we get enough volunteers to take up Lamb county's quota, we will not have to make a drawing during the month of November, as each county will be given credit for their volunteers. Men may volunteer through the local office of Lamb County Board for a period of one year. A recruiting office cannot take them for less than a three-year term, but if they want to volunteer they can sign up at the local office for a year. Drs. C. E. Payne and J. R. Coen are serving as examining doctors for Lamb county at no charge to the volunteer."

All those interested, therefore, in knowing their Washington numbers, may see them on the bulletin board by Friday.

Their District Assembly convened in Lubbock last week. They come to us from Denver City, having had a very successful ministry there. Miss Jackson is a native of Kentucky, and a graduate of Asbury College, Wilmore Ky. She is a school teacher and nurse having recently resigned duty at the Haire Hospital in Denver City, Texas. Mrs. Farmer is a native of Tennessee and attended Ruskin Cave and Trevecca Colleges, Nashville, Tenn. These ladies are ministers, musicians, singers and children's workers. We are looking forward to a great year in the church under the leadership of these ladies. Plans are already being made to enlarge the church building. We welcome them to our city and as our pastors.

LEVELLAND TO SEND SPECIAL TRAIN FOR FOOTBALL GAME HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Latest reports from Levelland are that Levelland is planning to send a special train carrying its football team and fans to Littlefield for the game to be played here Friday evening, November 8. For years, Littlefield and Levelland have had their annual game on or about November 11, and this game has come to be a spirited affair because of keen rivalry between the two teams and cities. The game has been announced for 7:45 p. m., at Seely Field. Admission prices will be 35c for adults; 20c for students.

The Levelland Lobos defeated the Slaton Tigers last Friday, and in the two games before last Friday's, the Lobos scored 80 points to their opponents' two.

So—Abe Murphy's boys need the support of every person in Littlefield and territory. The Wildcats rallied for a victory last Friday defeating the Sudan Hornets, 14 to 13, so let's go!

The Wildcats have played stellar football this year, in spite of the fact that most of the boys were a bit green at the first of the season.

Future Farmers Start Thrift Bank' Project

"Saving money" goes into the Thrift Bank in vocational agricultural classes at the Littlefield high school as members of the local Future Farmers of America save their nickels, dimes, and dollars for future use. The "Thrift Bank" project is the first thing among these boys, and they have already deposited $50 in the bank. The goal is set for January 1.

The money will be used to improve already-started projects, or start new projects, T. J. Jones, vocational instructor stated.

Deposits will be made at the First Thrift Bank, in Littlefield, and Jones said that one main cashier had been appointed to handle individual accounts, and a cashier had been appointed in each of three classes to help keep the bank.

Each boy must have as much as a dollar to open an account through the Thrift Bank, but after the account is opened, the youths can deposit as little as that nickel they have spent for soda pop! Jones stated that the Thrift Bank project would help give the boys experience in handling bank money, and bookkeeping, and prepare them to be better citizens as they go through life.

Compulsory School Attendance Period Starts November 25

Law Provides Heavy Penalty, Imprisonment and Fine for Parents

At the regular monthly meeting, November 4, the school board of Littlefield Independent School District declared that the compulsory school attendance period would start on November 25, 1940. This decision is on the part of the school board in the execution of the law of the State of Texas which says that every child aged 6 to 17 inclusive, must attend school not less than 120 days each. Since this law also provides a heavy penalty—a fine and imprisonment—for the parents of children who do not attend school 120 days, it is important that all parents of children of these ages give consideration to the board's ruling at once.

The excuse that children are no longer able to attend school because of lack of proper clothing is not acceptable because there are sufficient welfare organizations in every community to provide clothing to enable children to attend school.

The board of education further ruled that a truant officer would be appointed to enforce the law in the district and that a careful check would be made from time to time to see that all children, ages 6-17, are complying with law. Patrons interested in information concerning the ruling and law may contact the local superintendent of schools, F. A. Hemphill.

This law is applicable to white, Negro, and Mexican children, alike.

Cotton Ginnings Below Those Same Period Last Year

Lamb County Gins 4000 Bales Less Than By October 18, 1939

Total cotton ginnings for the 19 counties on the South Plains, are still below those of the corresponding date for the 1939 crop, according to the report of the bureau of census.

Ginnings this year were 123,239 bales, or 68,567 bales under the 191,806 bales reported a year ago. However, an increase for the Oct. report was noted over that of Oct. 1.

Six counties showed increases over the 1939 figures, four of them being west of Lubbock and in the area generally considered as having the best crop prospects in several years.

Harvesting in Bailey, Cochran, Gaines and Hockley is just getting underway and should show large increases this year over last in final ginnings.

State totals show a decline of 125,000 bales from 1939. Port Bend county leads the state with 59,834 bales; Ellis is second with 59,318; Collin third with 55,659; Neuces fourth with 53,039; Wharton fifth with 52,640, and Hunt sixth with 51,051.

Five other counties have more than 40,000 bales each: Fannin 47,728; Hidalgo, 42,935; Navarro, 42,359; Hill 41,682 and Williamson, 40,545.

Shortage of cotton pickers for this area, together with the lateness of the crop to mature, have been factors in the delay in harvesting.

Ginnings to October 18 as compared with the 1939 crop, were:

County	1940	1939
Bailey	6,003	2,564
Briscoe	1,233	1,315

"BRIGHAM YOUNG'S FRONTIERSMAN" IS STIRRING ENTERTAINMENT TO BE SHOWN AT PALACE THIS WEEK END

Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Brigham Young," by Louis Brockfield, is one of the most stirring films ever to come from Hollywood. The 20th Century-Fox film coming to the Palace Theatre. Tyrone Power is starred Linda Darnell and Dean Jagger, as Brigham Young, head a brilliant featured cast.

Magnificent in scope and spectacularly filmed, the picture tells the epic story of the Mormons and their courageous 1800-mile trek from Nauvo, Ill., to Great Salt Lake in 1846.

When Brigham Young realizes the Mormons must escape from the intolerance and persecution that has beaught them at Nauvo, one of the greatest mass migrations in history begins. 20,000 people go on the march across endless miles of trackless wasteland, until their search for freedom ends at what is now Salt Lake City.

Undaunted by the frontier wilderness, they manage to bring crops out of a barren and salt-filled land. Then comes a thrilling climax as unconquerable hordes of crickets swarm in to ravage their crops—but are devoured by millions of sea gulls that sweep in 500 miles from sea.

Cast as the chief Mormon scout, Tyrone Power has never been better. Lovely Linda Darnell excels in the role of the "outsider." Handsome, rugged Dean Jagger, from the New York stage turns in a sensational performance in the difficult role of Brigham Young.

Other featured players who give excellent performances are Brian Donley, Jane Darwell, John Carradine, Mary Astor, Vincent Price, Jean Rogers and Ann Todd.

"Hired Wife," Gay Comedy Comes To Ritz This Week End

Comedy intermingled with romantic intrigue is the high-light of Universal's "Hired Wife" which co-stars Rosiland Russell, Brian Aherne and Virginia Bruce.

Especially designed for the three stars, this picture coming to Ritz Theatre, Saturday midnight, is crammed with unusual and unconventional situations.

The story deals with a girl who marries her boss, for whom she is in love, merely to get him out of a business jam. And the comedy rises out of the situations she creates by trying to keep him from the girl she loves.

Robert Benchley heads the large supporting cast. The picture was produced and directed by William Seiter. Glenn Tyron was associate producer.

School Children Observe Armistice

An impressive program celebrating Armistice is being planned for the students of the Littlefield public schools, and will be conducted during the regular school day, Monday, November 11. The program is to consist of musical numbers by the school band, patriotic singing, and speeches by local Legionnaires.

School authorities feel that this will be a more impressive and constructive way to celebrate Armistice than an unplanned holiday.
