OIL PLAY IN SOUTH PLAINS GROWS DAILY

With at least one well already "shot" and producing and thousands of acres of land under lease by major and minor oil companies, the South Plains oil boom has been gathering impetus daily.

Last Thursday afternoon, Duggan No. 1, Honolulu Cascade, the first really successful "strike" in Cochran county, was shot with 160 quarts of nitro glycerine. While putting in the charge, oil rose to a depth of 700 feet in the tubing.

Drillers on the Cochran county well said the well will flow and estimated that it will produce 300 to 400 barrels a day. The two 500 barrel storage tanks are now full and the company is now installing two more, which will give them a capacity of 2,000 barrels.

SATURDAY, NOV. 7 DESIGNATED AS POPPY DAY HERE

Five Hundred Poppies Made By Disabled Soldiers To Be Sold

Saturday, November 7, has been designated Poppy Day in Littlefield. Residents of this city are all urged to buy a poppy, and thereby assist in this worthy cause.

The drive is being sponsored by the members of the American Legion Auxiliary, who will sell the poppies on the streets of Littlefield Saturday.

Headquarters for the drive will be Phelps Avenue between Stokes-Alexander Drug and Piggly-Wiggly Grocery, where a table will be located and the Auxiliary members will work from that location.

According to Mrs. Arbie Joplin, there were 1000 poppies sold last year, but this year only 500 will be sold, the funds to go towards rehabilitation and child welfare.

The poppies, which will be offered for sale here have been made by the patients of the veterans hospitals at Legion. This provides work for the soldiers who have no other employment. The veterans who make these poppies receive no other compensation from the government other than their hospitalization.

TEXAS JOINS IN DEMO LANDSLIDE AS ALLRED WINS

Republicans Poll Only 8 Electoral Votes In Heavy Ballot

American voters marched to the polls Tuesday to return the New Deal to office for four more years by an electoral vote that promises to be the greatest in American history.

In a landslide that shook the nation, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Texas' Own Jack Garner were swept back into office carrying 46 of the 48 states. Maine and Vermont alone remained in the Republican columns.

Late Wednesday all other states had given the Democratic presidential ticket booming majorities in the electoral college and sent new recruits into the previously top-heavy list of Democratic senate and house members. The apparent election vote stood 523 for Roosevelt, 8 for London.

Republicans Crushed Not since the Taft debacle of 1912 when he polled 8 electoral votes; 88 had gone to Theodore Roosevelt and the rest to Woodrow Wilson, has the Republican party polled so small a number in the electoral college.

Not since 1820, when James Monroe was reelected with just one dissenting vote in the electoral college

WE STILL HAVE LIBERTY

The Statue of Liberty which stands on Bedloe's Island in New York Harbor and greets the incoming passengers on the ships from other nations, was fifty years old last week.

Miss Liberty is probably the most famous statue in the world. She was designed by the great French sculptor, Frederick Bartholdi, and given to the American people by the people of France, who raised a fund by popular subscription to cast that gigantic statue in bronze and set it up in the Port of New York. This was a testimonial of the 100-year-old friendship between France and America, a tribute from one great democracy to another great democracy. These two nations, almost alone among the nations of the world, stood fifty years ago as the great exponents of the principle of government of the people for the people by the people.

Under the pressure of economic stress and subversive doctrines France now seems to have receded somewhat from its ancient liberty-loving ideals, but she still remains as one of the bulwarks of popular government. The liberty which Bartholdi's statue acclaimed still remains the most precious possession of the people of America. This nation so far has successfully resisted every attempt to curtail or bridge individual liberty of thought, speech and action.

It is to be hoped that fifty years from now the spirit symbolized by the great bronze statue in New York harbor will still be the proudest possession of the people of the United States.

WE THINK

What Do You Think?

BY M. B. D.

ONCE AGAIN WE SEND FLOWERS TO THE LIVING

In fact, we are a great believer in flowers for the living. If we know something good about folks, we should tell it while they are alive.

Most of us folks in Lamb county know Roy Gilbert, our county tax assessor and collector. He is known far and wide as a very accommodating county official—and, too, he's exceedingly efficient in his work. AND, MOREOVER, ROY TAKES A GREAT PRIDE IN HIS WORK AND IN HAVING EVERYTHING IN GOOD ORDER IN HIS OFFICE.

Here's an example of Roy's efficiency: Year after year he turns in to the state comptroller's office a perfect current tax roll; in other words, when the state comptroller's office checks over the roll they don't find any errors. Such efficiency is a distinct tribute to Roy and something of which the citizenship of Lamb county has every reason to be proud.

Roy is a real West Texan; back there a few years ago he could work cattle and ride uncertain horses.

And here's something else that Roy did back there a number of years ago; he married a young lady who is well known for her ability to cook. That was about the smartest thing Roy ever did.

We have been promising ourselves for a long time that some day we will go out and sample the grub at the Roy Gilbert home.

P. S.—We hope that Roy will pardon us for getting so personal, telling all about as how he is a good tax assessor and collector, a former top hand, and an up and coming young man who added immensely to his worldly bliss by marrying a gosh darn good dispenser of vitals.

HERE'S A GOOD SUGGESTION FOR LITTLEFIELD

Tulip bulbs may be planted any time during this month to insure flowering plants next April. We think that Littlefield should have a tulip bulb planting drive with the thought in mind of making this city more beautiful next spring. In fact, every city in Lamb county should have such a campaign.

Read what the Floyd County Republican says:

"Exceeding their goal by several hundred bulbs, the Floydada Garden Club felt that their efforts to make Floydada tulip-minded had been successful, according to Mrs. Geo. V. Smith, president.

"Checking on results of the drive Monday afternoon, it was found that the 1000 bulbs hoped for had been ordered and that additional orders amounted to several hundred more."

GLAD TO HEAR FROM YOU, CHARLIE!

We have just received a post card from Dr. C. C. (Charlie) Clements, who, for a number of years, worked on the teeth of folks hereabouts. Charlie is living in Waco.

From the general wording of the post card we have every reason to believe that the said doctor is in good health.

Here's proof of his general satisfactory condition:

"Dear Morbid:

Armistice Day - - Nov. 11th

18 years ago, the signing of the Armistice brought to a war torn world the peace which we must maintain for future generations . . .

Their Choice Was Peace

For most of us, the signing of the Armistice is not yet history. It is not something of which we have read . . . something dry and dull and ponderous. It is, instead, a memory of boys returning home, of patient parents, of wives not daring to hope TOO much. It is the end of war, as we remember it. Whether future historians will take the same view, and put down November 11 as the end of world conflicts, or merely shrug and write it as the end of another war, is a matter that can be decided only by those of us who live today.

FORD DEALERS FROM UNITED STATES AND CANADA GATHER AT DETROIT FRIDAY FOR MEET

Dearborn, Mich., October 31.—For the first time since the Ford Motor company was founded more than 33 years ago, Ford dealers from all parts of the United States and Canada will gather here next Friday for a huge dealers meeting with Henry Ford, founder, and Edsel Ford, president, of the company.

Mancil Hall, manager of the Hall Motor company, Littlefield Ford dealers, left this city Tuesday night to attend the Detroit meeting.

Present indications point to an attendance of approximately 7,000 dealers. The influx will tax hotel capacities in Detroit and crowd to its capacity the huge coliseum at the State Fair grounds where the big meeting will be held. Preparations have been made to house the dealer group in various hotels and in pullmans parked in various railroad stations.

The purpose of the meeting is the unveiling to the dealers of new Ford V-8 cars for 1937, but the climax will come when the dealers present to Henry Ford in historic old Greenfield Village the 300-year-old Cape Cod windmill, built by the pilgrims in 1633, once a landmark of the Four Corners at West Yarmouth, Mass.

The windmill was purchased for Mr. Ford more than a year ago by a committee of dealers. It was carefully taken down, timber by timber, each numbered, and now has been re-erected in a new part of the historic old American Village here where Mr. Ford has spent so much of his time and effort recently in recapturing for generations to come some of the spirit and recreating some of the background of the pioneers who laid the foundations of American civilization and the American system of living.

The majority of dealers will gather here Friday morning. A fleet of 200 buses will be required to transport them to the State Fair grounds for the meeting. Traffic experts of the Detroit street railways have selected a number of routes from the downtown district to the Fair grounds, over which the buses will be operated in groups to insure the minimum of traffic congestion.

An address of welcome by Edsel Ford, as president of the company, will open the meeting. Information on the new cars and plans for the forthcoming selling season will be presented by W. C. Cowling, director of sales, and by J. R. Davis, his assistant.

The highlight of the session will be the presentation of the new cars. Their lines will be disclosed for the first time as the new cars, of all body types and in all colors, are driven into the coliseum and around the arena. A presentation of the new car features, carried out with the aid of giant models, in a setting designed by Walter Dorwin Teague, noted industrial designer, will follow. The meeting will be adjourned at noon for luncheon which will be served at the Dairy Building in the State Fair grounds.

At the conclusion of the meeting the dealers will be transported in the bus fleet to Greenfield Village for the ceremonies incident to the presentation of the Cape Cod windmill to Mr. Ford.

A special program has been arranged for newspaper and publication correspondents expected to attend the meeting.

The editorial guests will attend the opening session of the dealer meeting at the coliseum, where they will be seated in a special section. At the conclusion of the morning meeting, they will be transported to Dearborn Inn for luncheon. At its conclusion they will cross the street to the Ford airport for a demonstration of the new cars on the mile-long concrete runways and over a new Ford test track, construction of which will be completed in time for the preview. At the close of the demonstration, the press guests will be taken to Greenfield Village to attend the windmill presentation ceremonies.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right." Thousands of women testify Cardui benefitted them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

LOCAL FORD DEALER TO ATTEND EXHIBITION OF 1937 FORD CARS AT DETROIT NOVEMBER 5, 6, AND 7

Mancil Hall, owner and manager of the Hall Motor company of this city, Littlefield Ford dealers, left Dallas Wednesday night, November 4, with other dealers of the Dallas district on a special train for Detroit, where they will view at the Coliseum in State Fair Grounds, Detroit, the 1937 Ford automobile's on display.

There are 204 Ford dealers in the Dallas district. According to Mr. Hall, at this Ford celebration, which will continue through Nov. 5, 6 and 7, Henry Ford will be presented with the original Cape Cod Mill, which was taken down stone by stone in Massachusetts and removed to the Ford Museum, at Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

Also, at the meeting, Ford's 1937 program including all new plans for the coming year will be announced to the dealers.

In commenting on the 1937 Ford, Mr. Hall said: "It's really going to be a knockout," adding further—"Ford is going to have a car for every purse, regardless of price."

School Report Shows Increase In Pupils

The report of the local school system for the month ending October 30th shows some interesting facts for the patrons and tax payers.

This report shows there are a total of thirteen hundred seventy-two (1372) original entries as compared to 1333 for the same period last year. This gain of approximately 40 pupils has been noticed from the beginning of the year. The school board foresaw the situation and provided for the increase. There is one teacher more in the system this year than last. This additional teacher was had for the purpose of adding another instructor in Home Economics.

The losses thus far are 106 in comparison to 107 last year. The big majority of the losses have occurred by pupils moving out of the district. In the high school however there have been several girls who have withdrawn for the purpose of matrimony.

There has been an average daily attendance for the second month of 1122 in comparison to 1031 last year. This increase in attendance is considerably more than the increase in enrollment and is encouraging. Attendance in school is the important thing. The pupils who fail are pupils who are not present, as a usual thing.

The school administration asks your cooperation in impressing the school youngsters with the importance of promptness. A habit of tardiness can grow on a person very readily. The school is attempting to call attention to the need for promptness and with the proper cooperation of the parents we can reduce it a great deal. This month in the system there were 159 tardies in comparison to 191 a year ago. This is somewhat encouraging to observe a reduction.

"Old Hutch" To Be Featured At Palace Saturday Midnight

Millions of readers roared at "Old Hutch" when the story appeared in a national magazine. They and additional millions will laugh when they see Wallace Beery in the title role of the film version opening Saturday midnight at the Palace Theatre and continuing through Sunday and Monday.

The "laziest man in the world" find $100,000 in stolen bills — and he can't find a way to spend it!

That's the predicament in which Wallace Beery finds himself in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Old Hutch."

Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker, the lovable romantic team of "Ah, Wilderness!" supply the heart interest for the production, which was directed by J. Walter Ruben, of "Riffraff" and "Trouble for Two" fame.

Elizabeth Patterson, who recently scored as Janet Gaynor's mother in "Small Town Girl," appears in the role of Mrs. Hutchins, Beery's wife.

The original story by Garnet Smith was hailed as a screen natural when it appeared in "The Saturday Evening Post." It was produced by Harry Rapf.

WILDCATS WILL JOURNEY TO OLTON FOR CONFERENCE GRID TILT FRIDAY

Their 3-B conference record as yet unscathed, Littlefield's championship-bent Wildcats will conclude their season's traveling this weekend when they tangle with Olton on the latter's gridiron Friday afternoon.

Leading the conference with a batting average of 1,000 percent, the Wildcats will journey to Olton heavy favorites—if comparative scores can be taken as any accurate measure of strength.

Last Friday saw Olton defeated 19-0 by Crosbyton, Littlefield, playing at top form here October 16, trounced Crosbyton 19 to 6. So putting two and two together, which oft times makes anything but four in football, the Wildcats should have easy sailing.

The Olton tussle will see the Wildcats operating at top form so far as veritable attack is concerned. Thus far this season, Littlefield has shown plenty of ground-gaining ability via the aerial route, but the Ralls encounter saw an equally powerful offense displayed by the local grid-ders in straight powerhouse plays.

Coach Bill Sanders will combine his offensive efforts Friday afternoon in an attempt to plant the Wildcats firmly in first place.

1936 EDITION OF LITTLEFIELD'S WILDCATS

Littlefield's Wildcats, shown above, are well on their way toward the 1936 3-B championship with two conference wins already to their credit in as many games played thus far this season. The players pictured above are: First row, left to right, McKnight, Bevers, N. Walker,

J. Walker, Graham, Wilson and Morgan; second row, Coach Bill Sanders, Moore, New, Smith, Lee, and Coach Jones.

Olton Man Dies At Local Hospital From Ruptured Appendix

Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist church, Littlefield, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, for Casper A. Welch, aged 52, of 8 miles northwest of Olton, who passed away at the Littlefield sanitarium Thursday at 1 p. m. Ruptured appendix was given as cause of his death.

Rev. Willis J. Ray, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated at the services, assisted by Rev. J. W. Hendrix, pastor of the local Methodist church, and interment, in charge of Hammons Funeral Home, took place immediately following in the Littlefield cemetery.

Deceased was born in Ripley county, Missouri, May 20, 1884, and moved with his parents at the age of six years to Arkansas, where he lived for a short time, then locating in Grady county, Oklahoma, where he made his home until five years ago when he moved to Lamb county. During that time he has lived in Hart Camp and Olton community, residing near Olton for the past year.

Mr. Welch married Miss Ola Truesdell at Russell, Oklahoma, July 1, 1903, to which union were born eleven children, three of whom predeceased their father.

He has been a member of the Baptist church for the past 16 years.

For sometime prior to his death he had been suffering from high blood pressure and heart trouble. Two days previous to his death he was admitted to the local hospital suffering from ruptured appendix, and although an operation was performed and everything possible done to save him, it was of no avail.

Deceased is survived by his wife and eight children; Jesse, Haskell, Willie, Claude, Homer, Marvin and Misses Odessa Faye and Audie Lorraine, all of near Olton.

Lamb County Gins 8,101 Bales Up To October 18, 1936

Warren Rutledge, Cotton Statistician for Lamb and Castro counties, has announced that there were 8,101 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Lamb county from the crop of 1936 prior to October 18, 1936, as compared with the 6,863 bales ginned to October 18, 1935.

Farmers of Castro county ginned 163 bales as of October 18, 1935, as compared with 259 up to that date this year.

Crosbyton Wins Over Olton Cowboys 19-0

CROSBYTON. — The Crosbyton Chiefs won a decisive victory over the Olton high school Cowboys here last Friday afternoon, 19 to 0.

Crosbyton scored in the first, third and fourth periods. The score sheet gave Crosbyton 10 first downs to the Cowboys' one.

WILDCATS TROUNCE RALLS 23-0 TO MARK UP SECOND CONFERENCE WIN

RALLS.—Resorting to a powerhouse attack here last Friday afternoon, Littlefield's raging Wildcats trounced the Ralls Jackrabbits 23 to 0 in a 3-B conference tilt.

The Wildcats scored touchdown in each of the first three quarters. Clyde Lee, Wildcats freshman halfback, paved the way for the opening score in the first period when he romped 43 yards to the Jackrabbit five-yard marker from where Neely, fullback, scored.

Moore marked up the second marker in the second period when he tripped over the double line in the second period. Neely scored from the same place in the third.

V. Smith, Ralls fullback, stepped over his own goal line in attempting to punt in the last quarter for a safety.

The Ralls win marked the second straight conference victory for the Wildcats to keep them in the 1.000 per cent column.

back, is well now but with his broken collar bone he is definitely out.

Olton has not played a good game the whole season but it is hoped by the local fans that the boys will play super ball and hold the Littlefield club to a few touchdowns.

Olton's pass defense was considerably better last week but Crosbyton gained through the line at will in spite of the muddy field.

The game will be called at 2:30. Admission 10 and 35 cents.

Performance, Beauty and Safety Mark Chevrolet's Completely New Cars

Chevrolet's 1937 engine is completely new, but adheres closely to time-proved Chevrolet engineering principles. It is of six-cylinder valve-in-head type, smoother, more powerful, more economical, and lighter.

A representative model from Chevrolet's new line, typifying its beauty and grace—the Master De Luxe Sport Sedan with trunk. Note the distinctive "speed line" extending back from the side of the hood.

Unisteel construction joins the floor, cowl assembly, panels, and Turret Top of Chevrolet's all-silent, all-steel body, to form one integral structure, welded in all joints, and reinforced and braced for permanent silence and safety.

Beauty and utility mark the new Chevrolet instrument panel. The windshield is of greater area, with narrow corner posts, affording better vision.

Luggage capacity in Chevrolet's new trunk models has been greatly increased, as has interior luggage space in other models.

New power, economy, durability, safety and comfort, coupled with striking new beauty, characterize Chevrolet's new models for 1937. They are offered in two series, Master and Master De Luxe, virtually identical in appearance.

Chevrolet's fully-enclosed Knee-Action is furnished at no extra cost on the Master De Luxe models; and new Syncro-Mesh transmission, and safety plate glass all around at no extra cost, feature all models of both series.

Celebration Planned On Piggly Wiggly Birthday

FOOD SALE ADVERTISED; TO GIVE FREE GROCERIES DURING SALE

Marking its fifth year in Littlefield, the local Piggly Wiggly Grocery & Market is planning a huge 8-day celebration for the people of the Littlefield section. J. O. Garlington, owner of the organization, is announcing in a double page advertisement in this week's issue of the Leader.

The celebration is scheduled to open Friday morning and will run through Saturday, November 4.

J. O. GARLINGTON

Mr. Garlington announced that much time has been devoted to the preparation of this annual event. The entire store has been gone over by his capable staff, rearranging stocks, and marking down many of the prices as a special inducement to the people of this section to visit the store during the celebration.

To Give Groceries

In the advertisement it is announced that 12 sacks of groceries will be given away during Friday and Saturday, November 13 and 14. Starting at 1 p. m. Friday a sack will be given each hour until six are given away. The awarding will start again Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and a sack will be given each hour for six hours; the last one will be awarded at 3 o'clock. No purchase is necessary to be eligible for the awards. It is only necessary that those visiting the store register and be present at time of awarding.

Has Remarkable Record

Considered as one of the most successful and progressive grocery stores in West Texas, the local Piggly Wiggly store was presented with a trophy the latter part of last year for the highest percentage increase in business of any Piggly Wiggly store in the United States in organizations of from one to ten stores during the last three months of 1935.

Modern Market

One of the leading features of the store is their large, modern and sanitary market.

The market, under the management of K. Houk, is noted for the high quality pen fed baby beavers that furnish the homes of this section choice meats at nominal prices. In most instances the market purchases their own pen fed calves, fatten them, and have them slaughtered by a government inspected packing concern.

Employees Well Trained

Largely responsible for the high degree of service offered by the local Piggly Wiggly store is the fact that every employee is a Lamb county boy, carefully chosen, and taught the grocery business from the ground up.

Cloyce Knowles, manager, received his first training in this business in the local Piggly Wiggly. Other capable employees carefully trained to render courteous and helpful service are: Vernon Roberts, Eugene Yeager, Nick Towes, Bennie Wright, "Runt" Edwards and Mrs. Roy Young, bookkeeper.

Roosevelt—

has there been so close an approach to unanimity of electors.

Texas Stays Democratic

In Texas as in the rest of the nation, the president and other Democratic candidates delivered a crushing defeat to opponents as voters in this traditionally Democratic state demonstrated their adherence to the party.

The latest tabulation of votes cast in Tuesday's election gave Roosevelt and Garner, 356,388 votes, while Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, Republican candidate, trailed with 48,281.

William Lemke, the Union party nominee and the socialist, Norman Thomas, were trailing feebly late Wednesday, the former receiving but 1,190 votes and Thomas only 434. These figures represented returns from 186 out of 254 counties, including nine complete.

Allred Re-elected

Gov. James V. Allred was re-elected by a wide majority. He was credited with 307,487 votes while his nearest opponent had only 21,631.

Voting was favorable on five of the six proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Teachers' retirement pension received 146,311 favorable votes, as compared with 126,630 against. Workman's compensation for state employees—for, 161,547; against 101,790. Revision of pardoning system—for, 193,933; against 73,357; salary increase for state officers—for, 150,010; against 116,607; limitation to seven house members—for, 159,142; against, 97,497.

Liquor Proposal Defeated

The proposal to give the state full control of liquor was running behind in the voting, it having received only 117,631 favorable ballots. Voters against it were 156,231 by the latest count.

C. O. Harris, Republican candidate for governor, picked up only 21,631 votes against Gov. Allred while minor party gubernatorial candidates made faint showings. Carl Brannin, socialist, had a meager total of 430 and Homer Brooks, communist, only 139.

Maverick Has Race

In only one race of national importance was there anything like competition—Rep. Maury Maverick's campaign for re-election against Ernest W. Clemens, in the San Antonio district.

Reports from San Antonio gave Maverick a four-to-one lead in returns from 64 out of 163 precincts. Senator Morris Sheppard and other Texas Congressmen had only to go through the motions of running to achieve re-election.

New Deal Plurality

The New Deal plurality of popular votes throughout the United States appeared likely to approach 9,000,000, reports from over the nation indicated late Wednesday.

Carrying a heavy electoral vote, California came to Roosevelt by half a million; Illinois by 600,000; Michigan by 100,000; New York by more than a million; Ohio by 300,000; Pennsylvania, the Republican strong-hold, by 500,000.

Democratic Senate

In the senate, the Democrats bade fair to hold 75 of the 96 seats. Senators, Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, independent Republicans, appeared to be escaping the landslide.

More Democratic house members instead of fewer seemed in prospect. In many states the issue was still in late yesterday, however.

Landon Sends Congratulations

While President Roosevelt, smiling happily, received the plaudits of supporters at Hyde Park, a telegram was received from the defeated governor of Kansas congratulating him on the victory.

The President termed the Democratic victory "one of the largest sweeps" in history.

County Vote—

the communist failed to register.

Two years ago there were approximately 1,200 Democratic votes cast, but no presidency was at stake.

South Littlefield, which voted at the city hall, gave the Democratic party 543; Republicans, 53; and Socialist, 1. There were no votes cast in the other columns of the ballot.

North Littlefield, voting at the grammar school, gave the Democratic party, 154; Republicans, 6.

Amherst gave the Democratic party, 218; Republicans, 18.

North Sudan registered 29 Democratic votes and 12 Republican votes.

South Sudan gave the Democrats 255; the Republicans, 60; and the Union party, 2.

Olton cast 355 Democratic votes; 69 Republican and 1 Union party.

Sunnydale cast 87 ballots for the Democratic party; 17 for the Republican.

The 14 of the 16 voting precincts in the county gave the following totals on the six amendments:

No. 1, State control of liquor traffic—for 706; against, 689.

No. 2, Teachers' Pensions—for, 953; against, 776.

No. 3, State employes compensation—for, 628; against, 665.

No. 4, Pardon Board—for, 849; against, 386.

No. 5, State Officers' Salaries—for, 525; against, 775.

No. 6, Legislature of 7—for, 850; against, 415.

Make-Believe Bride

by Ruth Harley

NINTH INSALLMENT

SYNOPSIS: Maris Trevor is discouraged because Rod O'Rourke spends all his money developing an invention which he hopes will provide an income so that they can marry. Maris thinks they should enjoy the present rather than deny themselves for the future. She becomes uncertain of her love for Rod. Perhaps there would be more happiness with someone else.

That was soon after she'd met Rod, and he was perfect in her eyes. How she had wished then that one day he'd ask her to marry him, for then she thought surely it would be heaven to have a husband like him. She smiled in the dark. Now Rod had asked her to marry him, and she had refused. Had she made a fatal mistake? Was it better to marry within your own class and rise or sink together? But, worn out with all the strain, she fell asleep, a smile on her lips as though she were still at one with Rod, loving him with all the fervor of her youth.

"Say Maris, I guess you made a tremendous hit last night. Look what the papers say about you." Maris was entering the correspondence room, and Milly darted to her side with the morning papers.

Maris' cheeks were rosy as the different salesmen came up and told her what they thought of her presentation. But all their words of praise meant nothing to her, for she felt that what Stan might say to her would make a big difference in her life.

Presently Miss Riggs hurried down the aisle. "Mr. Stanley wants you in his office right away," she said breathlessly.

"All right," answered Maris nonchalantly, but beneath her apparent calm, her heart was beating like a sledge hammer. What would he say to her? Had those girls aired their opinions to him, or did they despise him and blame him as they blamed her?

She opened the door of his office, and he rose up quickly, and, taking her hand in his, shook it enthusiastically. "Well, Maris, you put it over big and I'm mighty proud of you. But where did you vanish to last night? Didn't you know I was going to take you home?" the caressing note in his voice seemed to blot out all the harsh accusations that the girls had made against her. "Oh, I never thought of that. It's very kind of you to have thought of such a thing, but I'm sure you'd plenty to see to, and I got home all right."

"Well, there was quite a lot to see to, but I did think after the affair was over I might have a chance to tell you how splendidly you'd done. But maybe you'll let me show my appreciation tonight? How about having dinner with me and then dancing afterwards?"

The color dyed Maris' cheeks and she could not keep the sparkle out of her eyes as she said, "You don't have to feel you must reward me for what I did. I had a good time wearing the lovely gown. I enjoyed the affair immensely," she added as though she would convince herself she was really speaking the truth.

"But surely you won't deny me the pleasure of having you as my guest tonight? There's something else I want to talk over with you, and, well, there never seems to be time for anything but conferences and so forth in the office. Tell me I may call for you tonight." His eyes seemed to burn into hers, and quickly banishing all Patsy's words of warning and her own new antagonism against his set, she said, "Very well, I'll be glad to go with you."

"That's right," he said, but something seemed to jar her. Had she been too ready to acquiesce to his wishes? As she returned to her desk, she had a strange sort of disturbed feeling. She'd never noticed his lips before. Were they smiling at her? But she shook herself. She was getting fanciful. That surely showed she wasn't accustomed to late nights!

Well, she must change all that. As Maris opened the door of her apartment, she heard the murmur of voices, and when she crossed the threshold Patsy called out, "Is that you, Maris? Come on in."

"Oh, hullo, Rod!" she said as he rose. "What's new?" A little shadow

ing. I want you for my wife, but—well, I guess I've made a big mistake. I thought you loved me just as I love you. I suppose there's no use saying any more. I'm sorry I intruded." Picking up his hat, he started for the door. "There's no need to go away like darkened her eyes.

"Say, Maris, I guess you made a tremendous hit last night."

"Gosh, Maris, aren't you going to kiss your boy friend, and congratulate him? He's put his gadget over and soon he'll be rolling in wealth."

"That's fine," she said, but she remained standing at the other side of the table, while the light that had leaped to Rod's eyes as he heard her enter, seemed to be extinguished.

"Well, you're sure a queer pair. I was just telling him what a hit you made last night. But there, I guess I'm in the way. I'll go in the kitchen so you love-birds can have a chance to make things up."

Quickly Rod took a step toward Maris. "Oh, sweetheart, I know you refused to marry me, and maybe there's someone else, but now that I'm going to be well fixed financially, won't you change your mind? Won't you marry me, darling?" And he held out his hands to her.

For a moment, looking at him, Maris wished that she might rush to the security of his arms, might pillow her head on his breast and tell him all the bitterness she had endured—but—no, it would never do. She could not meet his ardent gaze. Her glance dropped to the tablecloth and she nervously pleated and unpleated the snowy surface. Why had Rod to come to her this night of all nights?

She loved him, and yet something seemed to be urging her on to this adventure with Stan. Surely there was no harm to it. Anyway she would never want Rod to think that she had changed her mind and was ready to marry him just because he had made some money.

Then as he ceased his pleading, she glanced casually at him. "Oh, Rod, why talk about marriage all the time? If only we could be friends like we used to—"

"You know that's impossible. I love you with every inch of my be-that. Stay to supper with us," she urged although she was feverishly hoping he would go before Patsy could add her voice to her rather half-hearted invitation.

"No thank you, Maris, I'll be going," and before she realized it he had opened the door and vanished.

Once more Maris felt disturbed by something in the expression of his lips. Then she shook herself. She was getting horribly critical. Stan was a good fellow. He'd show her a good time.

As he handed her into his smart limousine, she wished that Milly or some of the other girls might see her, and listen to the line she was

EIGHTEEN years ago whistles sounded and bells rang. There was jubilation, rejoicing for those who lived, and, underneath, keen sorrow for those who helped make the celebration possible, yet could not join in it.

Time has mellowed our thoughts for them, but has brought forward their place in observance. Through them we have come to realize the futility of warfare, to keenly appreciate the significance of peace. Their part has been played; our part must lie in remembering it.

MAY THE EFFORTS OF THOSE WHO FOUGHT AND DIED ASSURE EVERLASTING PEACE.

We pause on November 11 to observe the close of a tragic phase in the world's history, to remember those who cannot celebrate its close with us. The significance of that minute lies not only in all that happened, but in all that might have been as well.

Time has softened the keen sorrow of 1918, but time can never alter the broken plans, the heartbreak of those times. We cannot change them, but we can remember, and in remembering hope for a lasting peace.

The Courtship and Marriage of Inez and Rundell

The following is a poem composed and read by Mrs. M. G. Vinther at the shower given honoring Mrs. J. R. Foster at the home of Mr and Mrs. Luther Wynn recently.

Oh listen, dear friends, and I shall soon tell,
Of the courtship and marriage of 'Nez and Rundell.
The story's a long one, but I'll try to be brief,
And not keep you waiting—for your own relief.

Inez had a donkey that she drove to a cart,
And swore every day that they'd never part;
Each day about sunrise, the maiden you'd see,
Out driving that donkey—serene as could be.

She drove him out early, she drove him in late,
Till I began wondering what would be the beast's fate;
But one balmy evening in April or May,
Inez met her Waterloo—what a day, what a day!

She stopped her brave beast, just dead in his tracks,
For right there before her stood a man wearing slacks.
She thought for a moment the man wore a wig,
But ye gods, what a sight,—he was leading a pig!

He took off his hat with a cute little bow,
And said, "Howdy-do, how're you, anyhow?"
Inez sized him up, and with a little grimace,
Said, "I'm just swell, how're you, Funny-face?"

The man was Rundell—and he said, "By your eyes,
I've a jolly good notion you've had a surprise;
Won't you please move over and give me a lift?
I'll give you this pig as a generous gift."

Inez moved over and they started to town,
But the blamed donkey balked—would not pull a pound;
So, out Rundell got, and the donkey led,

Till his heels were both blistered—and the pig nearly dead!

They finally made the long trip in to town,
As the stars were all twinkling, and the moon big and round.
They made a great caravan, that went over big,
Rundell and the donkey, Inez and the pig!

When the donkey was safely put up for the night,
And the pig was given a pen warm and tight,
Rundell said to 'Nez, "You're the girl of my dreams, I've always loved you—that's the way it seems."

"Let us get married, and live by the sea."
"All right" said Inez, "It's O. K. by me;
But first, I suppose," said the thoughtful Inez,
"We'd better find out what Mom and Pop says."

They were both simply shocked, and said, "No, no!
If you take our dear daughter, our hearts fill with woe!
To your own home town, young man, you be gone."
But he merely sat down on the grass on the lawn.

So early next morning, before it was day,
Rundy hitched up that donkey and made his own way,
To Inez's window where he tapped with his gun,
Then out through that window she came on the run.

Out to Tahoka, that donkey then sped,
But just as they got there, he crumpled down dead!
The ceremony over, 'Nez broke out to crying,
And to dry up her tears, poor Rundy kept trying.

"Don't cry, my poor darling," he said soft and low;
"I'll buy you a donkey much better than Joe."
"That's not why I cry," she sobbed long and big,
"But we clear forgot, to bring along our PIG!"

Make Believe Bride—

giving her young boss. He hadn't a great deal to say, a few stock phrases, a few snappy come-backs, that, had Maris known it, had done duty many times before. At last, however, they swung into Park Avenue and Maris was thrilled at the speed at which they went. "Say," Stan said, "you've got to pose in the wedding dress for I don't want to send out cuts of Rowene's picture to all our customers, and they're all writing in raving about it. You didn't know you were in the movies, in the newreel, did you?" "Why no, how exciting!" cried Maris. "Oh, you don't know what you've started. But say, here we are! We'll have dinner here, and then take in a night club or two. You'd like that?" "Sure I would." "Well, little girl, there isn't a thing I wouldn't do for you after you were such a peach helping me out the way you did." "Oh, it was nothing," Mr. Fayson.

To Ease a Headache Fast

Get Real Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving Bayer Aspirin

See How Genuine Bayer Tablets Work

In 2 seconds by stop watch, a genuine BAYER Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work. Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating. What happens in this glass . . . happens in your stomach.

Virtually 1¢ a Tablet Now

If you suffer from headaches what you want is quick relief. Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets give quick relief, for one reason, because they dissolve or disintegrate almost instantly they touch moisture. (Note illustration above.)

Hence—when you take a real Bayer Aspirin tablet it starts to dissolve almost as quickly as you swallow it. And thus is ready to start working almost instantly . . . headaches, neuralgia and neuritis pains start easing almost at once.

That's why millions never ask for aspirin by the name aspirin alone when they buy, but always say "BAYER ASPIRIN" and see that they get it.

Try it. You'll say it's marvelous.

LOOK FOR THE BAYER CROSS

"Say, how do you get that way? I'm 'Stan' to you now and always, and don't you forget it, you little bit of sugar."

"You mean I should call you 'Stan'?" asked Maris. "Sure, I don't want any 'mistars' around here, and just remember that," he announced as they entered a hotel together.

"Now," he said, after they were seated at a rather inconspicuous table, "what do you like, Maris? Anything you want is yours for the asking."

"Oh, why don't you order for me?" she answered, amazed at the magnificence of the jewels and dress of the women around them.

"Well, if you'd like me to, I will. I rather pride myself on knowing how to order a swell dinner."

"All right, I love surprises," Maris answered, relieved that she had escaped that ordeal, for never in all her life had she dined at such a sumptuous hotel.

"Well, that little thing's attended to. What brand do you smoke?" Maris named a popular brand.

"Here they are," replied Stan, taking a jewel-studded cigarette case from his pocket.

"That's one thing we have in common," and he laughed rather vacuously as though he had got off a clever crack.

"Like to dance now?" he asked as the crooning call of the orchestra was luring people from their tables.

"No, not yet," answered Maris, realizing all too well how out of place her simple little frock would look amongst the gorgeously dressed women who were on the floor.

"All right, little one. Well here comes the eats," and Maris surprised an almost wolfishly-hungry look in Stan's eyes as the waitress put the food before him. Somehow the picture of Rod rose before her, but quickly she banished it.

The very novelty of her experience intrigued Maris as the dinner proceeded from course to course, but she was glad when, about ten o'clock, they decided to seek amusement elsewhere.

"This whole street's full of speak-easies," Stan said as he cruised on. "I wonder which you'd like best," and he turned to her with a rather foolish grin on his face.

"Oh, the one with the best orchestra," she answered quickly. "I love to dance!" "You do? Well, here's the place," and, drawing his car to the curb, he stepped out and helped her onto the street.

When they entered the "speak" Maris had a strange feeling that she had left herself outside and that it was another person who crossed the threshold in her clothes.

Engine is already oiled to start
IT'S OIL-PLATED

"Morning Drag" is unknown in this heatless garage. The car inside has its engine Oil-Plated for Winter. The owner outside is still six strides away from the starter button. But already his Oil-Plated engine is oiled to the top by its slippery Oil-Plating.

No waiting!

The Oil-Plating was left on last night, all over each part, from bottom bearings to topmost piston. This complete piling IN ADVANCE that kills starting risk, comes only from the Germ Process—patented.

Quit believing that a process means nothing but refining or over-refining to make an oil winter-THIN. Although perfectly free-flowing, Conoco Germ Processed oil is not needlessly thin—and weak. For in addition to just enough of the most approved modern refining this oil is alloyed! Or speaking still more scientifically, a patented "hyper-oily essence" is added. Nothing else lets oil join up direct with metal, to Oil-Plate your engine, pep your starter, and keep every quart hoarded. Continental Oil Company Immediately Stan secured a table, then ordered some drinks. For a moment Maris hesitated as she glanced at the cocktail before her. She had rarely tasted liquor.

As she hesitated, Stan said, "Better try some of mine," and asking the waiter for a glass, he poured out a generous drink from his monogrammed, silver flask. "It's the Grand MacNeish. How d'ye like it?" Maris raised the glass to her lips, and took a sip. "I guess it's okay," she said uncertainly.

"Sure it is," he answered, filling his own glass again and drinking the liquor in one swallow.

At last, when they left, Maris wondered how he could drive after all he'd drunk, but the night air seemed to have a sobering effect on him. When they neared home, he seemed to be perfectly level-headed. As he quickly broached a new plan he had for stressing the style end of the business.

"How'd you like to work with the stylist?" "I'd love it."

"Better than typing?" "A thousand times better," she declared, glancing at him with sparkling eyes.

"Then we'll have to see about that tomorrow—or, I guess today."

"I've had a wonderful evening, Stan. I've enjoyed every minute," she said as he walked with her to the door of the apartment house.

"Well, we'll have another, sweetness," and before she realized what he was doing, she felt his lips on hers.

"Oh, Stan," she said, the color dyeing her cheeks. Quickly he took her in his arms and raised her face to his. "you're not angry with me, are you, love-liest!" She shook her head slowly.

PONTIAC ENTERS 1937 SEASON WITH TWO LINES OF CARS—NEW FEATURES

Following on the heels of two highly successful years, Pontiac enters the 1937 automobile year with two lines of cars (deluxe six and deluxe eight) that are longer in wheel-base, roomier, lower, even more pleasing in appearance, improved in comfortable riding qualities, with larger and more powerful engines, faster acceleration, higher top speed, additional economy and an all-around performance that is more brilliant in every way.

Master Six models, with their conventional springing and not quite so many refinements, have been discontinued so that the economics of engineering and manufacturing can be concentrated on a single line of deluxe sixes and deluxe eights of equal quality.

The gain in value thus offered is reflected in the prices of the deluxe six which are lower than the 1936 deluxe six.

Many Improvements
Although most of the basic characteristics of Pontiac engineering have been retained the chassis has been re-designed where necessary to meet the trend toward longer and lower cars. There has been no effort at a make-shift or compromise with the 1936 design for 1937.

Artistic engineers have grouped together the elements of contour, lines, sparkle and color into a unit of personal transportation that has an undeniable appearance appeal. Hood line is higher, radiator narrower, fenders are a split pear shape with horizontal windsplit heads. Rubber covered running boards join front but not rear fenders. Steel wheels have large diameter shallow chromed hub caps.

The crowned instrument board is of burled walnut finish. The chromium bound rectangular instrument panel on the left balances the glove locker door on the right.

Engine Improved
The emergency brake lever has been moved from the right to the left of the driver under the cowl, thus providing more space in the front compartment.

Retaining the basic features that have contributed to the satisfactory operation of Pontiac engines in the past, a number of improvements, largely in the nature of refinements, have been incorporated in the 1937 product which add to its performance, economy and reliability.

These fine motor cars may be seen on display in Littlefield at the Littlefield Motor company, Pontiac dealers.

Plans are underway by the members of the First Baptist church, Morton, to build a new church building.

CHURCHES

LUTHERAN CHURCH NEWS

Next Sunday as all-English Sunday both the morning and the night service will be held in the English language. Holy Communion will be celebrated in the morning. Announcement for the same on Saturday or immediately before Sunday school in the morning. May every member remember that God has also a special message for him, which he needs to hear.

Last Sunday night the choir assembled again for the first time in months. Several numbers were rehearsed, among which was "Unto Us a Child is Born" by Kessel. It is hoped that a few more voices may be gained for the tenor and bass sections. Mr. C. Boriack our day-school instructor is directing the choir this year.

All members of our Bible class are to remember that Sunday night we will consider that doctrine which distinguishes the true Christian churches from all pretenders or false churches. So be sure to attend.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Were you in Bible study last Lord's day? If not, be present next Sunday promptly at 9:45. We have classes for all ages, with competent teachers. Remember our goal is 200.

The writer was absent from services here yesterday being out of town. But we were told that there was a good attendance in all services. Bro. Kimmel preached in our absence. However, we plan to be here next Sunday. Will you be present? A welcome awaits you at all times. Morning worship begins promptly at 10:45; evening service at 7:45.

J. D. Rothwell, Minister.

NEWS FROM TROOP NO. 25

By J. G. West, Jr.

That old scouting spirit is getting started in earnest now in Troop No. 25. We are now better organized than heretofore and really mean business.

On October 27 we met at the regular meeting place with most of the boys present (only two or three absent) and turned over a new sheet. We organized three patrols with six in each patrol. Upon electing patrol leaders we elected a senior patrol leader, Hall Rowe.

There is a contest between the patrols as to which will fill the patrol first and a liberal prize is offered.

The patrol leaders are Olen Walker, John Foust, and J. G. West Jr.

and names have been selected for John Foust's and J. G. West's. They are Eagle and Indian, respectively. The other patrol will be named in their first patrol meeting.

The Indian patrol has received one new member, Stephen Payne and several more are expected to join the troop. When the patrols are filled a new one will be formed.
