W. Ratekin, of the Chamber of Commerce, Frank Phillips, of the "Woolaroc," being a personal friend of Mr. Ratekin for many years.

It will have a Wright Whirlwind engine.

BUY MAGAZINES CAREFUL

"Good morning! I am representing the...etc...." It's a young man speaking, and his line of talk soon reveals the fact he is a college student selling magazines during vacation time.

The job is O. K., for the lad must have money to return to college next year, yet it will pay Littlefield house managers to be a little careful in their patronage of some of these traveling representatives. Everyone is anxious to help the young folks get an education—they are going to need all they can get in fighting the future battles of life, but—buying magazines is just like buying anything else in the marts of business.

It might pay to investigate the credentials of the seller. It might not be out of place to be careful about the kind of orders one signs. Some have made initial payments on subscriptions and heard no more from them, others failed to get all the magazines which they were told would be in the club and for which they were given a special rate.

The lads need to sell the magazines, no doubt of that, but the buyer also needs to get what he pays for.

YEGGS BLOW TWO SAFES TUES. NIGHT TAKING CONTENTS

Sometime after Tuesday midnight yeggs entered the Walters drug store on South Main street, and the Magnolia oil station on State highway, blowing the safes in each place and making good their escape with the financial contents.

At the Walters drug store the combination knob and hinges had evidently been knocked off with a sledge hammer, after which a small charge of nitro glycerine had been inserted, blowing the outside door apart and from off the safe. About $85.00 in cash was taken. A tin document box inside the safe had been opened with a cold chisel and the contents strewn about the floor in front of the safe. The prescription department showed signs of having been pilfered, apparently in search of narcotics. A kodak, some films and probably some other goods were taken from the store.

At the Magnolia filling station the safe was opened in a similar manner. After knocking off the hinges and combination knob, indications pointed to the placing of a small charge of "soup" inside the outer door which jarred loose the retaining bolts, letting the door fall open and out on the floor. The inner door also being locked, had been forced open with a pinch bar. About $60.00 in money was taken. Checks in the safe were taken out and strewn on the floor, two checks for small amounts being found down the highway a little distance the next morning. Refreshing themselves after the job, the yeggs indulged in a couple of bottles of soda pop.

The outer doors of both safes were badly damaged from concussion of explosions. Entrance at both places was made by forcing open the front doors of the buildings with two pinch bars. Early Wednesday morning Sheriff Len Irvin and his force were on the grounds making investigation, but at this time report no definite clues regarding the robbers.

MRS. DONALD HOOBS TOOK AN OVERDOSE OF ARSENIC

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Donald Hoobs, young matron about 18 years of age, took an overdose of arsenic purchased that morning from a local drug store for killing rats, according to report of statement she made to the drug clerk at time of purchase.

A local physician was called, administering the proper antidote, and succeeded in removing the poison from her stomach, but it will be three or four days before final results will be definitely known, since arsenic poisoning works very slowly after its gets into the circulation.

She took about a quarter of a teaspoonful of the poison, according to her statement to the attending physician.

EMBERT MUELLER SOLD TO WICHITA FALLS BALL TEAM

Information was received here the first of the week that Embert Mueller who is playing short stop on the Ballinger baseball team, had been sold to the Wichita Falls team for a considerable sum.

Mueller, who is well known in this section as one of the coming big league players has been doing some excellent work this season on the Ballinger team and the many fans and friends of Littlefield will be glad to learn of his promotion.

It is probable that Embert will not be transferred until the close of this half, playing with Wichita Falls the last half of the season.

Ballinger in 11 games played this season, has won 10.

LITTLEFIELD DRUGGISTS MEET NEW LAW DEMANDS

In compliance with the new state law requiring that every drug store in which there is a registered pharmacist must display the word "Pharmacy" on or in front of the store, Littlefield drug stores have made application for registration in compliance with the recent mandate.

It is pointed out that today a drug store is just a drug store to most people. Most people do not realize the difference between a drug store that is in charge of a qualified pharmacist and one that is not—yet it makes a difference when it comes to having prescriptions properly filled and in avoiding mistakes which may sometimes become fatal.

Grow Leads In The Golf Tournament Being Played Here

The finals in the top bracket of the local golf tournament were played off this past week when C. H. Grow beat G. L. Collard 4 up and 3 out.

Collard sprang one of the surprises of the tournament by going to the finals, as he had been playing golf for a short time only. He was doped to go out in his first match against Chas. Harless, but beat Harless 1 up on 20 holes. He won his other two matches against Doc Miller and J. E. Barnes, but lost to Grow, who was shooting at his best. Grow shot the last round in 37, which is one over par.

The lower bracket is not getting played off as fast as the top, but Ross Mayhew and Everett Whicker are doped to play off, and the winner play Grow for the tournament championship.

WEEK'S DELAY IN THE CONTRACTOR'S PLANS

A representative of the Hobbs Reporter was at Lovington, Tuesday, and learned from the contractors on the erection of the fire-proof theatre structure for New Hobbs, who are now at work on a building there, that the delay in the local work this week is occasioned by conditions at their present job. They expect to get at the New Hobbs contract next week.

Max McClure, who will direct the construction of the C. & M. Theatre building here and manage it when ready for operation, advises The Hobbs Reporter that he will arrive here next week to advise with the construction management about the details of the building, which is to be 30x120 feet in dimensions, with a brick front and fire-proof material in its entirety.—New Hobbs, N. LFD. CATS HAMMER BALL TO DOWN THE CLOVIS, N. M. TEAM

Rushing upon the offerings of Moore, who started for the visitors from Clovis, N. M., in a baseball game played here last Sunday with the local Cats, Mick Ratliff, in the very first inning singled to right and the old reliable Hanks busted one for three bases, scoring Ratliff. That was the beginning of a game that was destined to a final scoring of 10-0 in favor of the Littlefield leather swatters.

The Cats were absolutely right, administering to Clovis its first shut-out game of the season. Herb Mueller, pitching his last game of the season for the Cats, was in fine form, his knuckle ball cutting all manner of curlicues. He had no great difficulty in holding the heavy Clovis nine to three singles and a triple, the ball taking a bad hop and going to deep center for the extra bases.

The visitors looked tough in their work-out, and, in reality, were a much better team than the score indicated, therefore, should be given due credit, though some of the breaks went against them.

In three different innings the Clovis team appeared to be in scoring position with men on first and third bases, and but one out, when a double killing Ratliff to Stone to McWilliams, topped them in their tracks. Hager, clean-up hitter, lined out to third and the next man was retired with ease. Just such air tight support and the superb pitching of H. Mueller, coupled with the timely hitting of the Cats, was the reason for the shut-out administered to Clovis.

Hanks lead the attack with two triples and a single in four trips to the plate. Mick Ratliff and Herb Mueller got two for three and two for four, respectively. Fly Thornton starred in the field and got a three-bagger in the second inning, scoring Herb Mueller from first base.

The Cats will go to Clovis next Sunday for a return game and will need the support of all the fans possible to make the trip. With Herb Mueller's last appearance for the season on his vacation, the team is to be perhaps, and Art Mueller also leaving bolstered by the addition of new players for this game and will go out to win. Don't fail to pull for the Cats next Sunday!

A. & M. EXPERT TELLS HOW TO KEEP THE CHINCH BUGS FROM OUT OF FEED CROPS

College Station.—With the approach of harvest chinch bugs usually migrate from heavily infested small grain fields into adjacent corn and feed crops, and where those insects are seriously present farmers should take measures to prevent this migration. Although the chinch bug has wings, explains R. R. Reppert, entomologist of the Extension Service, it does not use them in flying but into new feeding territory. A furrow plowed in advance of their line of march is an effective barrier. By dragging a log back and forth in the furrow a fine dust is created on the sides and in the bottom and this serves as a trap where they may be regularly killed by use of a blow torch or otherwise. Some farmers plow out two furrows side by side as a double precaution.

Another good protective measure is to spread a thin line of coal tar across the line of march of the chinch bug, applying the tar from the spout of a common watering pan. This may be run along a zone cleared of grass and weeds by scraping. The method may also be used effectively in combination with a double dust barrier. Two boards nailed together lengthwise and at right angles like a common hog watering trough, with a carpenter's quarter round nailed into the angle is inverted and dragged back and forth lengthwise over the separating the two furrows. This reduces the sloping sides to a depression at the apex of the furrow into which the coal tar is poured, throwing the two furrows, the coal tar barrier may be used as well as in combination. Mr. Reppert points out that there is no practical method for driving chinch bugs over a wide area of crops after they have gained access, and that control must be before they enter.

LITTLEFIELD CLERKS DIFFER IN OPINION AS TO CUSTOMERS PREFERRED JUST AS THE CUSTOMER HAS HIS LIKES AND DISLIKES

Bargaining and bartering is one of life's favorite pastimes as well as necessities. "They all do it," according to the old saying. Consequently there must be salesmen for all these customers.

Who likes to wait on who and who likes to buy from who? is sometimes a mooted question. Folks have their likes and dislikes, and this applies to both the masculine and feminine sex. Some women prefer to trade with women; some prefer men. The same is true of men customers.

Statistics indicate that women do 55 per cent of the family buying, and occasionally some clerk will intimate that she also worries about 85 per cent of the clerks in a given store doing this buying; others don't think so. It may be a matter of human nature on both sides.

A review of the customer and clerk condition in Littlefield reveals diverse opinions on the subject, the most of the clerks agree that the folks doing the buying here are a pretty good class. Men are the most desirable customers, according to some clerks, while others insist that women have shopping traits far superior to the opposite sex.

Men are less likely to hesitate about the price of an article, while women frequently are more particular about a particular brand or style.

The worse combination seems to be when husband and wife come to do the shopping together. They may be "duckie and dovie" at home, but each one wants the other to do the bargaining and deciding at the store. Bill tells friend wife to go ahead and get what he wants and he'll pay for it, while wife don't know just what to buy for fear it won't suit hubby Bill. Each of them shift the responsibility to the other, frequently resulting in no sale at all.

While Littlefield is favored with the average customer, the town may also boast of a good average of clerks. Given a good night's rest previous, and the customers not crowding in too rapidly, they generally wait on them with a goodly quantity of congeniality and satisfaction. Most of them are more or less skilled in the art of pleasing, and this plus the skill of salesmanship, together with the general receptive mood of the customer, goes a long way toward making the day profitable to both.

Most clerks agree that a man generally comes nearer to knowing just what he wants when he comes into a store than does a woman, tho this is not always the case. Women do more "looking around," and are frequently more susceptible to change of her ideas than are men, especially if when she starts out on her shopping tour, or if she sees something. Dame she is not positive just what she wants. Fashion has decreed as a little later vogue.

When a man wants a collar, he generally wants a particular style, tho he is not so meticulous about his shoes. Women, on the other hand, generally have a wider variety from which to make selection, and, while probably just as particular in their choice, are frequently easily satisfied.

"Window shoppers" are not a pest, as some might think. Salesmen here are just as glad to welcome the looker as the buyer, and, not infrequently, if they are advised by the visitor that they are merely looking, they will take extra pains to show them about, as this opportunity permits them to demonstrate their skill of salesmanship, frequently resulting in selling them something before they leave the store.

Confidence is a big asset in the mind of the customer. When they can trade with a salesman in whom they have confidence both as to his integrity and good judgment, it always results in better business. Clerks are frequently asked advice by their customers, and being able to give it in a creditable manner creates a firmer bond between buyer and seller. For it is the desire of every clerk to make sales that are satisfactory both to the customer and the store.

Best Treatment for Seed Grain

Copper Carbonate Favored for Preventing Smut of Wheat and Oats.

Copper carbonate is the best fungicide for preventing stinking smut of wheat and the smuts of hullless oats. Formaldehyde is the best fungicide for preventing smuts of hulled oats and covered smut of barley.

Formaldehyde should not be used for treating wheat. It prevents the covered smut, but it is likely to injure the seed severely, especially if the seed is dried after treatment, or sown in dry soil.

Copper carbonate does not prevent the smuts of hulled oats nor the covered smut of barley. It reduces the amount, but is not as effective as formaldehyde. Formaldehyde does not injure the seed of oats and barley and is therefore recommended.

Patent fungicides are not better than copper carbonate and formaldehyde. There are many patent fungicides now on the market, write E. C. Stakman and H. A. Rodenhiser in the Dakota Farmer.

How to Use Dust.
Get a good grade of fine, fluffy, copper carbonate. This light material is as effective as the more expensive heavier material. Any dust with a 20 per cent copper equivalent or more is satisfactory. Use two ounces of dust per bushel. If the seed is very badly smutted, use three ounces. For small quantities of seed mix the dust with the seed in an old barrel churn or a similar homemade device. Rotate the churn seven or eight times. This is long enough to mix the dust thoroughly. For treating large quantities of seed, it probably would pay to buy a smut machine. Treat the seed any time before sowing. Treat it now.

Marquis wheat seed need not be treated more than once every other year, because Marquis is somewhat resistant to stinking smut.

How to Use Formaldehyde.
There are three general methods—the dip, sprinkle and spray methods. For the first two, use one pint of formaldehyde to 50 gallons of water. Either dip the seed into this solution, or sprinkle the solution onto the seed by means of a sprinkling can, while one person shovels the seed over. In either case, one gallon of the solution will be enough for about 50 bushels of seed. After treatment, the seed should be sown as soon as possible, preferably while it is still moist, for the best results.

The advantage of the spray method is that it does not wet the seed. Mix one pint of formaldehyde with about a gallon of water and spray this onto the seed with a compressed air sprayer—not a sprinkler. Use exactly one pint of formaldehyde to 50 bushels of seed. It can even be used without water. The exact amount of water does not make any difference. It is used merely as a carrier for the formaldehyde to 50 bushels of seed. After treatment cover the seed with sack or canvas for five hours. Then sow immediately, or spread out to dry.

Various Tools Required for Handy Repair Shop

According to Arkansas College of Agriculture authorities, the farm shop will pay for itself many times in money and time saved. Care, however, should be exercised in choosing the equipment for the shop.

Woodworking tools should be chosen first. The following will make the basis for a good kit: a medium weight claw hammer, a 24-inch framing brace and bits of 1/4, 3/8, 1/2 and 1-inch in diameter. The above list of good quality can be bought for from $10 to $15. As needs demand the following tools may be added: 25 1/2 point rip saw, a 24-inch wrecking bar, a 24-inch level, a 1/2 and 3/4-inch wood chisel, and an 8-inch draw knife.

A very satisfactory wood for a bench vice can be made by using a 1-inch by 16-inch screw and using a well seasoned piece of hard wood for the vice face. For metal and pipe work a bench or leg type vice which has a removable set of pipe jaws will come in very handy.

Miscellaneous tools to be included very profitably are: a 14-inch pipe wrench, a 12-inch adjustable wrench, a 10-inch hack saw and a dozen extra blades, two cold chisels, a machine punch, a 2 1/2 pound ball peen hammer, a pair tin snips, and 1/4-inch, 3/8-inch and 1/2-inch drill bits, with square shanks.

Agricultural Hints

With a big crop of beans, farmers will find this crop valuable to use in feeding swine.

When soy beans are fed to hogs they should be accompanied by a good mineral mixture.

When there is a creep in the pasture for feeding grain to calves, lambs, or colts, it is a good plan to keep the salt box near the creep.

When soy beans are used properly as a supplement to corn the danger of soft pork is practically eliminated, according to Purdue specialists.

Stacking is a very satisfactory way of storing soy bean hay. Soy beans will keep perfectly in the stack if thoroughly cured before being put up.

Texas will soon have the largest single rock salt mine in the world in operation when the new mine a mile south of Grand Saline, Van Zandt county, is opened up for work. A solid salt structure more than 1,000 feet in thickness was discovered by borings made by the Morton Salt Co. of Grand Saline, and a 30-foot shaft 200 feet deep will be sunk to the salt formation. The vein is known to exist over an area of several miles of hills and valleys in the vicinity.

Texas' death rate in 1928 was 9.51 per 1,000 population. The average for the United States in 1928 was 12.1 per 1,000.

For a short time we are going to make such drastic cuts in some of this fine merchandise that you will readily realize it is cheaper than first wholesale costs.

Why We Do What We Do
by M. E. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE HAVE PAIN
PAIN is the signal of danger. Something is wrong. Without this warning we might persist and get hurt or killed. If you felt no pain by coming in contact with fire you might burn up before you realize what was happening to you.

Pain is not a feeling. It is a sensation. The distinction is that in case of a feeling you have a vague notion of pleasantness or unpleasantness whereas in pain you have a distinct sensory experience. Feelings are not localized and have no specific organs. Pain, like every other sense such as seeing, hearing, etc., is localized in pain cells mostly on the skin and scattered throughout the body. They are mostly found on the surface because there is where they are most needed as watch dogs of our health and safety.

Another reason why pain has been confused with feeling is that most pains are unpleasant and unpleasantness is a feeling. Feelings of pleasantness and unpleasantness are the accompaniments of all sensory experience of everything we see, hear, feel or touch. Some colors look good to us, others look ugly; musical notes are pleasant; scraping, shrill, loud noises are decidedly unpleasant; soft, smooth, velvety objects are pleasant to the touch; clammy, cold, ragged, sharp, uneven surfaces are unpleasant.

Although most pains are unpleasant, some are neutral and a few are positively pleasant. If you cannot think of a pleasant pain recall the sensation of poking a sore thumb to enjoy the pain.

Pain, then, is not a feeling. It is a sensation. It is usually accompanied by a feeling of unpleasantness but may be neutral or pleasant at times. We have pain to warn us of approaching danger and harm. Pain is our greatest friend in the struggle for existence. In avoiding pain we are compelled to remove the deadly causes.

What Does Your Child Want to Know?
Answered by BARBARA BOURJAILY

WHAT ANIMAL IS MOST LIKE MAN?

The monkey family's most like man. And some folks think that we have some relation long ago to monkeys in a tree.

You Know His Type.
Blinks—What kind of a fellow is he?
Jinks—Well, if he was as big as he thinks he is he would need double doors to get in any place, and if he was as small as I think he is he could slip through the keyhole without touching on either side.—Cluciana Enquirer.

Mother's Cook Book

"Superstition is what prompts some people that a horseshoe over a door has more value than a lock and key."

SEASONABLE FOODS
TO SERVE three attractive meals for seven days in the week the house mother must plan ahead to avoid monotony and be able to use up all food advantageously.

Chicken Au Lait.
Take a five-pound fowl, one quart of milk, one tablespoonful of flour, one egg, one stalk of celery, one-half a bay leaf, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one-teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper, one-half cupful of cream. Put the milk, bay leaf, celery, onion into a saucepan and simmer for twenty minutes, then remove the seasoning vegetables. Add salt, pepper, two tablespoonfuls of butter and let stand where it will keep hot. Stuff the fowl for roasting, brown in a deep pan in a hot oven, then pour over the seasoned milk, cover and cook until the fowl is tender. When done remove the fowl, add flour to the gravy in the pan, cook until well blended, add egg and cream and serve with the fowl.

Macaroni Scallop.
Put layers of cooked macaroni into a baking dish with layers of finely cut or chopped cold meat, adding any gravy, or lacking that, add a cupful of tomatoes. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake until thoroughly hot.

Scalloped Fish.
To any leftover fish add a few diced potatoes, peas and a cream sauce. Cover with crumbs well buttered and bake as usual.

Lettuce for several days may be prepared and wrapped in a piece of old lace curtain. Many cooks make bags of curtaining to drain washed lettuce; this may be tucked away into the ice chest and the crisp, clean, dry lettuce is always ready to serve.

Some time for supper or luncheon make sandwiches for the family and serve them with a hot drink of cocoa. This with a lettuce salad will make a satisfying meal. For the sandwich filling try this: Allow one hard cooked egg for each person, chop coarsely, add chopped red pepper or stuffed olives, minced parsley and mayonnaise dressing to moisten. Serve on buttered whole wheat bread.

Often bits of leftover meats which are not enough to serve alone when chopped and added to other ingredients make fine sandwich filling.

Autumn Leaf Cookies.
Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar and one egg well beaten, then add three tablespoonfuls of milk, two cupfuls of flour sifted well with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Chill and roll as thin as possible. Lay on a pressed maple or oak leaf and cut out around it. Bake on a greased tin in a hot oven.

Date Souffle.
Beat three eggs until light, add one cupful of granulated sugar slowly, beat well to dissolve the sugar, add two large tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of walnut meats, one cupful of dates cut up. Mix well and bake twenty-five minutes in a shallow tin. Cut into three and one-half inch squares and serve with whipped cream. It is better baked the day before serving.

WHY JUST THE P. O.?

President Hoover is reported to be much agitated over a shortage of $95,000,000 in the Post Office Department. He is said to have ordered a survey of conditions with a probable view of asking for an increase in postal rates as a remedy for the situation. In accordance with custom, indications are to the effect if a new and higher rate is ordered newspapers and magazines will bear the brunt of it.

Apparently the President's idea is that the Post Office Department should be self-supporting. Looking at the question in a purely offhand manner, perhaps so; but when viewed from the standpoint of its particular features and functions, perhaps not. Probably never in the history of this country has the mail system paid for itself, nor is such true in any other country, and just why this department should be set aside as the one self-supporting department of the government we know of no particular reason. True, there is plenty of room for the administration of better business methods in governmental affairs, and we believe Mr. Hoover is more capable of putting the Government on a better business basis than any of his predecessors, but when it is considered that the post office comes in closer contact with the people than any other branch of the Government, and should postal rates be increased the increase would hit practically every man, woman and child, we doubt very seriously the advisability of tampering with it too greatly to the exclusion of other departments.

We have never heard it suggested that the services of the Department of Agriculture should be paid for by the farmers, and yet this department is maintained to aid agriculture for the benefit of the country at large.

The Department of Commerce does not charge "big business" for gathering important information for the advancement of trade, nor do business houses have to pay for the data gathered by consuls in all parts of the world.

There is no charge against individual citizens for the services rendered by the Treasury Department nor the Department of Justice. The Labor Department does not ask laborers nor labor organizations to pay for its services rendered, nor has it ever been suggested that the Army and Navy should be put on a strictly paying basis.

The Post Office Department being a part of the Government, it would seem but right and natural that a part of the expense should be borne by the taxpayers just as they pay the bills of other departments. President Hoover is to be commended for his business like administration, but as a matter of good business equity if the Postal Department needs readjusting then apply similar methods to the other departments.

Maybe the reason there are so many churches is that people have to have somewhere to worship when they get mad at their preacher.

GO EASY ON SWEETS

There's an old adage, familiar to most residents of Littlefield to the effect that the average man digs his grave with his teeth. The common sense and truth of this statement is emphasized by a bulletin being sent out by one of the country's largest insurance companies.

In this bulletin, and we refer to it because it touches on the important subject of health, it is stated that there has been an unusual increase in the death rate from diabetes in the last three years. And it is attributed to the richness of the American diet.

Since 1906 the consumption of cereals has increased more than 26 percent. We eat 26 percent less corn than we being water 26 years ago, and the consumption of wheat is not as great by 26 percent. There has also been a big decline in the amount of beef consumed each year.

On the other hand there has been a big increase in the amount of sugar consumed; far more candy, cake, ice cream and pie is eaten now than ever before in our history, and to this is attributed the startling increase in deaths from diabetes. The bulletin offers no hint for lowering this death rate, other than a suggestion that we return to a diet of beef and vegetables and forgo an over-indulgence in sweets. In view of the fact that thousands are dying every year from a disease that was rather uncommon 20 years ago the warning contained in the bulletin is worthy of the consideration of everyone.

Maybe the reason manufacturers get more from congress than farmers is because the manufacturers can agree on what they want.

HUSBAND PERFECTION

Times change. Here comes Professor Charles C. Peters, of Pennsylvania State College, advocating the following type of husband as the ideal for whom women are to look:

One who must be able to repair gas or water pipes, fix things generally, manage the furnace, know how to dress and care for children, keep the home sanitary, maintain peace and harmony, tell stories, answer questions and "be prepared to sell at a maximum advantage old clothing and old furniture."

These are pretty stiff requirements for a man.

Time was when a woman was required to know how to sew, cook, and perform several of the duties Professor Peters recommends to men before being considered an ideal wife. Now the burden is shifting. Men no longer care very much about the domestic abilities of women, because of the reign of labor-saving devices, and if they did, it wouldn't do them much good as so many women the country over are devoting themselves to business and social rather than domestic arts.

Now the women are liable to take Professor Peters seriously, in which case a lot of young men had better brush up on their knowledge of the useful arts if they don't want to remain bachelors.

London never knew what a fog really was until Ambassador Dawes got his old jimmy-pipe to going.

IT'S YOUR PROBLEM

Many people around Littlefield seem to think that while accidents are rapidly increasing they will never happen to mishaps, or that accidents are always going to befall the other fellow and that they will come out all right.

This is a poor way of thinking. It leads to loose safety practices and really causes accidents. These days one needs all the power of observation, carefulness and judgment; there's too much reliance on the other fellow to do his part—and a bit more—to prevent accidents. The cash value of human sacrifice each year is placed at $3,200,000,000. Fatal accidents alone run close to 95,000 annually. Of these, autos account for nearly one-third. And since safety experts say that 98 percent of all auto accidents can be avoided it is not hard to see wherein we waste the vast sum of over three billion dollars yearly.

One human being is killed in an accident every six minutes during the

GUIDEPOSTS TO Health and Happiness

By Bernarr Macfadden

REST AND RELAXATION

A man hounded to me not long ago that he never took more than four hours' sleep out of twenty-four.

"Why should I give up a third of my life to unconsciousness?" he asked. "Life's too short. Think of all the fun you miss while you're asleep!"

That man hadn't the slightest conception of the meaning and purpose of sleep. To him, it was a "dumb" way of putting it away. But he is not alone. There is an appalling number of people who feel the same way about it.

Science has not yet solved the mystery of sleep. Experiments are still being made. But the most we have found out: Sleep eliminates the poisons which are generated in the body during the day. It gets rid of the ash, from the combustion of brain and nerve and muscle. It revitalizes and refreshes and rejuvenates the billions of cells that go to make up the marvelous structure of our bodies. A kind of glorious anaesthetic that has no unpleasant after-effects.

And in the morning we have the feeling that we have been born again. The discouragements and weariness of the night before have been replaced by new hopes, new plans, new ambitions, new strength, determination.

Considering the marvellous sleep accomplishes—why is it that so many people begrudge the time given over to it? Every hour they cheat sleep they feel is that much gained, but I never knew anyone to consistently steal time from sleep and not lose out in the end. If one is young, he can get away with it for a time, but sooner or later the time comes when the eyes grow dull, the face has a haggard look. There is no spontaneous reaction. The mind is stupefied. Sometimes loss of sleep leads to serious brain disorders and nervous troubles, often ending in insanity or suicide.

But all sleep is not of the right sort. A man may go to bed at eight o'clock in the evening and not get up until eight the next morning, but unless his sleep has been normal it does him little good. The sleep of exhausted nerves and troubled dreams is of little value. American sleep is inclined to be such a sleep, and for that reason we must train ourselves to sleep rightly. The average American business man lives and works under a terrific mental strain, so that when he retires there is too much anxiety in his brain to permit it to rest. His sleep is fitful, he wakes often, he tosses in his bed, he dreams continually—or so it seems to him.

For this kind of troubled sleep there is only one cure. Leave your business worries behind when you leave your office. Lock the office door on them. Of course it's not easy especially if for years you have been in the habit of taking them along home with you and letting them share your bed. You must train yourself to do this.

It's simply a matter of habit. Change your thoughts just as you do your environment and your clothes and your associates. A hobby is a splendid thing to turn to in the evening. A good brisk walk after dinner will help. So will an interesting book.

Be the master of your mind. Get the most out of Nature's greatest gift to humanity. Learn how to sleep!

THINGS THAT IT WILL TAKE TO MAKE A TOWN GREAT

"A little more praise and a little less blame
A little more virtue and a little less shame
A little more thought for the other man's rights,
A little less self in our chase for delights;
A little more liking, a little less hate
Are all that is needed to make the town great.

"A little more boosting, a little less peering;
A little more trusting, a little less fearing;
A little more patience in trouble and pain;
A little more kindness worked into strife,
Are all that are needed to glorify life.

"A little more kindness, a little less greed;
A little more smile, a little less greed;
A little more smile, a little less frown;
A little less kicking a man when he's down;
A little more laugh and a little less cry;
A little more flowers on the pathway of life,
And fewer on graves at the end of strife.

"A little more honor, a little less greed;
A little more service, a little less creed;
A little more courage when the pathway is rough;
A little more action, a little less bluff;
A little more kindness by you and by me,
And oh, what a wonderful town it would be!"

A SUCCESS STORY

"Twenty-five years from now I want to be worth at least $50,000," said a young man one day.

So he opened a bank account, and saved about $90.00 out of each month's income. Part of his money was kept in the bank and part of it was wisely invested otherwise under the direction of his banker.

He really saved from his pay check only a little more than $20,000, yet at the end of the 25 years he had almost $60,000. Such is the power of interest in behalf of money that is wisely kept at work.

This bank will be glad at any time to assist in your investment and other financial problems.

EXPLAINS HOW TO GET REFUNDS ON GAS FOR FARMS

The state comptroller's department is now prepared to receive reports of exemptions from the new four-cent occupation tax on the sale of gasoline according to an announcement by State Comptroller of Public Accounts Sam Houston Terrell. Gasoline used for any other purpose than that of propelling vehicles on public roads, streets and highways of Texas is exempt from taxation. Fuel used in farm tractors, stationary engines, aircraft, and motor boats, therefore, is exempt.

However, the tax must be paid on ALL gasoline. Refunds will be made to those exempt. The tax is placed directly on wholesale distributors of gasoline at the rate of four cents per gallon, but the consumer eventually bears the burden of the tax. The new rate was in effect July 16, having previously been two cents.

The new law does not make it easy for the consumer to secure refunds on exemptions. Comptroller Terrell has outlined the necessary procedure for the exempted customer as follows:

The purchaser must fill out an invoice, at the time of the purchase, giving amount, price, purpose, etc. The regular price is paid for the gas. Forms will be supplied by dealers and filling stations.

Before the 25 of the month following the month of purchase, the buyer must report to the comptroller the number of gallons bought and the amount of refunds expected. Claims reported later than the 25 of the following month will not be honored.

On receiving the report, the comptroller's department will mail the claimant an affidavit-account form, on which will be recorded information as to the amount and use of gasoline purchased. This information must be sworn to before a notary public, and filed with the comptroller not later than two months from the date of purchase. This document must be accompanied with a filing fee of $1, which must be paid each time that a claim is filed. These fees will be used to enforce the law.

The claim will be investigated and if considered valid, a state warrant will be issued for the refund. This warrant must be cashed within 60 days.

No refund shall be made where gasoline is used later than six months from purchase.

Persons believing themselves to be entitled to exemptions should write to Comptroller Sam Houston Terrell, Austin, Texas.

EXPERIENCED ECONOMICS TEACHER TELLS OF SHORT CUTS NEEDED BY HOUSEWIVES IF LIFE'S GREATEST PLEASURES ACCRUE

"A home-maker must take short cuts to the necessary three meals a day if she has time left to enjoy her family, her friends, her church and club societies and have an occasional pleasure trip," said Mrs. Jimmie Brittain the other day to a Leader representative. Mrs. Brittain has for several years been teacher of Home Economics in the Littlefield schools, and gives some good advice upon this subject.

"Experience has taught that the use of labor-saving utensils and tools, such as fireless, pressure and waterless cookers, double boilers, dish drainers, food choppers, light weight egg beaters, measuring cups and spoons, casseroles, toasters and broilers are all of inestimable value to the modern housewife. It is also important that tools and fixtures be kept as close together as possible and convenient to the places where they are most needed. Trays and wheel stands are step and time savers in carrying food to and from the dining room.

"One dish dinners are becoming popular among many housewives, since they are easy to prepare, simple to serve and require little dish washing and clearing away afterwards. A casserole dish of meat and spaghetti, or beans, or beef hash and tomato sauce, or Irish stew, or corn chowder make a complete meal when combined with a fresh salad, tea, coffee, milk and bread.

"Meats, vegetables and fruits canned in season can be made ready for the table in a few minutes, and with this in mind hundreds of women are this year arranging emergency shelves in their pantries. They stock them with assortments of food for use when company comes, when illness interrupts the routine, or on wash days. Gift shelves and picnic shelves are appropriately stocked by some women, and many are writing out several quickly prepared menus to hang in the pantry for reference.

"Other time and health savers recommended are a high stool to sit on to save tired feet and back; right height of working surfaces to save backache and fatigue; a small, soft, washable rug in front of sink to help tired feet; a hinged shelf for extra space; sharp knives; and the discarding of useless tools such as egg beaters that won't beat and sifters that slip.

President Duckworth Of Littlefield College Outlines Purpose of the Institution

In a little booklet, entitled, "Why Littlefield College," President R. L. Duckworth has the following to say regarding the "purpose" of this institution:

"Parents who have such ambitions for their children, who are instilling into their minds and hearts the great ideals of citizenship and service to humanity and to the God who made them, will find that in the Littlefield College these qualities will be engrafted as the education and development of the mind enables the boys and girls to see with quicker, deeper and broader vision the great possibilities for themselves.

"When you have sent your boy or girl to us, we shall endeavor to send them back to you with a healthy growth and development, and in every case shall try to keep them from getting into narrow, selfish conceptions of their duties and responsibilities.

"We will try to teach them in such a way as to fit them for whatever occupation they may have in life, fit them that they may go into the homes of the very poorest or unlearned and act with such consideration as to lessen or eradicate the embarrassment of their host; while at the same time, we will try to develop them that they may go into the most fastidious homes of the wealthy or educated, and act in such a way as not to embarrass their host.

"We will try to qualify them to press for principle, for fact, and to stand unyieldingly for well-grounded, conscientious, convictions without being discourteous, rude, or disgusting to those they would try to influence. The Littlefield College is not in any way a religious institution. The teaching of the Bible is not its function. It is a secular institution and claims no place among religious institutions."
