Prizes aggregating $2,500 are to be awarded West Texas farmers through the movement which it is hoped will promote cotton acreage reduction and raising of more live stock.

Fort Worth—The best informed men in Texas were invited to attend the meeting of the special committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to consider the question of cotton acreage reduction here Oct. 29. It is expected that the others who have not yet been seen by the Secretary will also fall in line in commemoration of this great national event.

HALLOWE'EN NIGHT QUIET.

Youngsters Show Respect for Law and Property.

Hallowe'en has never before been so quietly observed in Littlefield as was the case both Saturday and Sunday night, according to local citizens.

Unlike Hallowe'en of previous years here when the business men had difficulty in entering their places following Hallowe'en night, but Monday morning they found every loose article at the rear of their buildings unmolested.

Many social gatherings were held and girls and boys in gala costumes paraded the streets in the early part of Saturday evening previous to going to their respective places of entertainment, but a quiet solemnity prevailed throughout the town.

Official warnings appeared in last week's issue of the Leader from the mayor and sheriff which advised that any misdemeanor on that date would be treated in the same manner as any other like offense at another date which quite likely caused the occasion to go along so smoothly, yet in all probability the youngsters in Littlefield have acquired a higher regard for public possessions.

METHODIST MISSIONARY.

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday at the home of Mrs. C. A. Joplin.

Mrs. J. R. Cook led an interesting lesson on "A Christian Program for Rural Life," all present taking part in the discussion.

After the lesson Mrs. Joplin, assisted by Mrs. Arbie Joplin, served refreshments of salad, sandwiches, baked apples, cake and coffee to the following: Mesdames H. P. Maddy, B. L. Cogdill, A. G. Hemphill, E. G. Courtney, J. R. Cook, F. M. Burleson, H. G. Scoggins, C. C. Clements, W. H. Gardner and Miss Vivian Courtney.

All members are urged to be present next Monday at the church for the election of officers.

Mrs. Doc Miller, who recently underwent an operation at a Lubbock sanitarium, has returned to her home here and is fast improving.

SADLER BEGINS A TWO-STORY BRICK SOUTH OF BANK

F. G. Sadler this week began the construction of a business brick on Main street just south of the First National bank. J. H. Wells, of this city, is the contractor.

The lower floor of the building will be 25x80 feet, while the upper story will be 25x44 feet size, the south partition wall also being of brick formation and 13 inches thick as extra precaution against fire.

The work of construction began this week and, according to contract, is to be finished by December 15th. When completed it will be occupied by the Mecca Cafe, W. A. Vallis, proprietor. Mr. Sadler will probably occupy the upper story for residential purposes.

HAVE CONFIRMATION SERVICE.

Lutherans to Observe Festival Event Next Sunday.

The Lutheran church was filled to capacity Sunday evening at the Confirmation service which was conducted by Rev. C. E. Ahlbrandt.

After the sermon a very impressive service was held, wherein four members were confirmed, namely: Emanuel Kelm, Alex Kraushaar, Billy Beisel and Hattie Husse. As a benediction was made upon each one a verse of "Thine Forever" was sung by the choir.

The congregation is this week preparing for the Mission festival to be held in an all day meeting at the church Sunday. Rev. Seik, of Canyon, will be the principal speaker for the occasion. Services in German will be conducted at 10 o'clock in the morning and services in English will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Dinner will be served at the church at the noon hour.

LUMM-BARBER.

H. Barber, a prominent farmer of south of town, and Miss Audrey Lumm, accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Lumm, were united in marriage Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jeffries.

Rev. W. B. Phipps officiated with a beautiful and impressive ring ceremony. Only a few personal friends of the bride and groom were present.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Knoeler, and sons, of Artesia, N. M., were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Crockett last week.

OBLIGING COUNTY JUDGE DISMISSES COURT WHILE HE PERFORMS A WEDDING.

An unusual occurrence marked the Tuesday session of the Commissioners Court held at Olton, according to L. W. Wynn.

As the court was nearing a close a negro appeared before Sheriff Lon Irvin inquiring for the County Judge, who was busily engaged in the court room. The sheriff directed the negro, who with a license in his pocket and his colored bride-to-be at his side, descended the stairway and asked to see the judge. This being such an unusual occurrence in Lamb county, court was dismissed and the couple was united in marriage before a large crowd of spectators. After the ceremony the judge was awarded the sum of $1.50 for his services and the couple made their way from the court house, the groom having $1.50 in his pocket and his bride at his side, his sole possessions. He gave this information to the sheriff who asked him what he was going to be paid for so ably directing him to the judge.

HOCKLEY PLANTS WHEAT.

School Closed so Children Can Help Pick Cotton.

More than 3,000 acres have already been planted to wheat in Hockley county, and it is estimated that at least another 3,000 acres of land is ready to receive the same kind of seed. The low price of cotton this year, is having a big effect in causing the farmers of Hockley county to diversify, according to report.

Nearly all the schools throughout the county are now closed so that the pupils may assist in gathering in the big cotton crop that now whitens the fields, the biggest in the history of the county.

DRILLING STARTS AGAIN.

82-LL. PUMPKIN ON DISPLAY HERE DRAWS CROWD

Some pumpkin! That is the common exclamation given by the numerous people who have been observing the big pumpkin on display this week in the show window of the Blalock Co., and it is indeed worthy of exclamation for it weighs 82 pounds.

The pumpkin was grown this year by A. Aggett, on his farm near Enochs, and from seed out of a 62 pound pumpkin raised last year by Yeager Bros., of this vicinity.

L. I. Austin, of the Blalock Co., who claims to be more or less of a wizzard at figures, has figured out that this pumpkin will make 133 1/4 delicious pies, which if sold over the counter at the customary price of 10 cents per cut, would bring the munificent sum of $53.30.

LUBBOCK BOY SHOT.

Odell Blackwell, 12, Victim of Young Hallowe'en Prankers.

The bullet entered the fleshy part of the leg near the hip, lodging about three inches deep. Doctors examining the wound say he will recover if infection does not set in.

SCHOOL TO BEGIN MONDAY; PUPILS URGED TO ATTEND

School will open again next Monday, according to decision of the Board, after a three week's vacation to enable the boys and girls to help pick cotton. Supt. B. M. Harrison urges that every pupil be at school next Monday so as to not fall in their grades. It is also stated that in order to keep in line for affiliation the school can not lose any more time, and the three weeks will have to also be made up during the nine month school period.

Members of the school board state that there has been nearly enough taxes come in during the past two weeks to meet the current expenses, but it is imperative that people pay their taxes promptly, otherwise the school can not continue at all.

The ones holding lucky tickets:

SILVER SPOONS vs. TIN.

The morning papers the other day carried dispatches telling how busy Queen Marie, of Roumania was over in Paris getting her fifty trunks packed and buying a few extra gewgaws to bring along on her visit to America. Now we haven't anything against the Queen. In fact, we don't know her at all. And it is news, we grant, when a Queen is busy.

But that same morning, perhaps, if the immigration quota isn't full, some other Roumanian women were busy getting ready to come to America to stay.

They probably didn't have any trunks to pack. They couldn't buy any trinkets, even the cheapest ones, because all their money was to be spent on their tickets. And they aren't queens, except possibly of their men's homes. So no newspaper space is wasted on them.

Here in America, some millions of women were busy seeing that Dad's eggs were fried just right, that Mary's tears didn't drop on the dishes she was wiping, and that Johnny washed behind his ears before he started to school.

Maybe some of these women stopped working long enough to read the papers, and to lament because they were wearing calico aprons instead of ermine robes.

But unless we know less about our community than we do about Roumania, 99 out of every 100 women here wouldn't trade their trials, including Johnny's troubles, Mary's tears, and Dad's complaints, for all Roumania—if it meant being separated from Johnny and Mary and Dad.

They may have been born with tin spoons instead of spoons of silver in their mouths, but by a process far subtler than any alchemists of old, their tin spoons turn to gold when the day's trials are done.

FARM ISOLATION VANISHING.

As long as there have been cities there have been paved streets, and asphalt, which we think of usually as a modern product, was used in ancient Babylon by Nabopolassar who was the first to use it for street paving.

His son, Nebuchadnezzar, followed his example, and upon one street which he was particularly proud caused to be placed a tablet upon his people to "traveler's street in joy" and wish him "age and well-being."

Pompeii built sidewalks of asphalt and was the first to raise the edges of her asphalt streets in order to drain off the water.

Modern highways are transferring farm life in many states, relieving its loneliness and placing it in contact with all that is going on in the world.

Good roads present more merely tourists zipping along highway, or trucks moving from town to town. The finer picture is rural homes linked together, women, women and children, farms brought nearer one another.

Social life in the farming community is possible today, because of the steadily increasing web of hard faced roads, and such life is making the envy of city folk.

Only a few years ago, there was little or no state highway construction that is now proving an consolidation of rural schools.

PROTECTING CARELESS AT EXPENSE OF CAR.

That compulsory automobile insurance would undoubtedly result in fewer accidents, is the belief of Henry Ives, of Chicago. In a recent address he said:

"We do not need a plan to prevent accidents, but a plan to prevent accidents. Compulsory insurance compels the careful and well-to-do drivers to pay for injuries done carelessly or the reckless. Those cars are owned by farmers, who own land and are entirely responsible financially, and drivers as well. Is it fair to them $30 a year or more for their own, to pay for the caused by reckless driving and congestion in the cities? The thing applies to the small country merchant, artisan or professional man."

American home, labor, industrial and business life today is upon the highest plane it has ever been, and is the envy of all the rest of the world.

Our young people are satisfied to remain in their own country. Our laboring men have turned down flatly pleas of Russian agitators to encourage or extend the Russian system of demoralization to the United States. Our corporations, our churches and our newspapers are rendering greater service to the public, dollar for dollar, than has ever before been enjoyed. Our people are better informed on public questions, and for that reason are less easily fooled by political side-shows which react to the detriment of prosperity and government stability.

Don't be disappointed with mail order houses.

A New York man went to a lawyer the other day and said that his wife had called him names, beat him with a pecker, soiled the parlor furniture and eloped with a vaudeville actor. "I just wanted to ask you," said the husband, "if you can't think up some grounds for divorce?"

TRICATE WEB OF MATRIMONY SPUN ABOUT LAWRENCE

When is a man married, and when is he single? That is a question that has been considered by one young Lubbock man, two women who claim to be his wives, and the sheriff and district attorney. The grand jury has spoken, and their verdict came in the form of an indictment for bigamy. Grand Juror No. 1, and Lonnie Lawrence, 25-year-old man, is in a Lubbock hospital recuperating strength for the battle which is scheduled to take place in the district court on Monday, November 8th.

A few years ago young Lawrence married a girl in Oklahoma and for some time lived with her as man and wife. Later she sued him for a divorce, and the decree was granted. In Oklahoma laws are different from Texas laws, and it was stated in the decree that neither could marry for a period of six months. But Lawrence is alleged to have taken a 15-year old girl (wife No. 2) to Texas where they were married. He lived with her, she says, for a period of almost two and one half years and then deserted her and their two babies and came to the West.

Wife No. 3 lives at Littlefield, and she says she met her husband on or about the 18th of July, this year. On August 28th they were married. The two wives met in the office of County Attorney Owen McWhorter yesterday and are endeavoring to find out just who is legally married and who is not. Wife No. 3 says she and her husband are legally married as her husband married wife No. 2 before the six month's decree ended, and that in truth No. 2 was never legally married but that wife No. 1 was his lawful and wedded wife until the end of the six month's period. Then her husband was free—he had no wife at all.

Wife No. 2 differs from her point of view and contends that young Lawrence, the father of two babies is her lawful husband. She even went so far as to ask wife No. 3 if her babies do not favor the father and wife No. 3 said "the little boy does favor him, but the girl does not."

Statements made seem to indicate that all three women married the man in good faith, but wife No. 2 feels that because of the babies she has a stronger claim than the others. She is only 18 years old and her babies are seven and 21-months of age respectively.

Lawrence is in a local hospital, though the county health officer says he is not sick enough to be there at the county's expense, but may be sick enough to be there if he is willing to pay his own bills. He agreed to do this.

Wife No. 3 has returned to her home in Littlefield, while No. 2 and her babies will go back to Oklahoma and await the outcome of the trial. Lawrence refuses to make any statement as to his guilt or innocence.—Lubbock Journal.

Lawrence was arrested in Lamb county by Sheriff Len Irvin more than a month ago. He gave bond for appearance at court; but upon discovery that the last marriage was performed in another county, according to report, the bond was invalid, and his incarceration in Lubbock resulted accordingly.

Following Lawrence' arrest his father came to Lamb county, employing an attorney to defend him, the consideration being $300 and payment was made by check, which check it is alleged, was duly returned by the bank on which it was drawn, giving as reason lack of funds.

Maybe it is better to be right than to try to be one or the other.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hendrix were trading in Littlefield Tuesday.

ELECTRIC GIN AT YELLOW HOUSE IS READY FOR WORK

The Yellow House cotton gin is now completed and ready for service to the farmers of that vicinity, according to report of the manager.

This new gin, located about five miles southwest of Littlefield, is of the Murry, one of the best type gins to be found in the South, and is the only electrical equipped and operated gin on the South Plains. Manager R. E. McCaskill, of the Texas Utilities Co., last week finished the wiring and setting of motors and pronounced the power sufficient for all demands that will be made upon it.

The gin is a 5-80 stand type, has three electric motors, one of 140 h. p., capacity, one 35 h. p., and another 25 h. p. It will turn out 70 bales of cotton per 12 hours run. It is also equipped with a "Hancock bollie machine, the last word of its kind.

The gin is to be operated under the firm name, "Taylor Gin Co., with W. T. Browning in charge. Mr. Browning is a successful ginner of 30 years experience.

A seed house, with 12 stalls, has also been built for the accommodation of farmers storing wet cotton. It is stated that cotton is also bought and shipped from that point, all of which should be a great accommodation to the farmers living in that vicinity east of Littlefield.

DUGGAN TO HOUSTON.

Will Attend Christening of West Texas Ship.

Arthur P. Duggan, president, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, left Thursday night for Houston where he will attend the dedication of the new freight steamer, "Miss West Texas," Saturday, November 6th. Mr. Duggan will make the principal address on that occasion.

He will return via San Saba, where he will attend their annual pecan celebration, making an address at the meeting that afternoon, also speaking at the banquet that night.

2,221 BALES GINNED.

First Frost and Snow of the Season This Week.

With the past three weeks of clear weather, with the exception of a few days that pickers could not be in the fields, the cotton in this vicinity has been coming into the gins rapidly, however, there is a large acreage that has not yet been touched on account of shortage of help.

As this paper goes to press a total of 2,221 bales of cotton have been ginned here, according to local ginners.

A light rain fell over this section Tuesday afternoon, but despite the fact farmers were in their fields again Wednesday harvesting their feed stuff and some picking cotton.

The first frost of this year fell over this section Wednesday morning and a light snow Thursday morning.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.—Prov. 22:6.

If a boy is not trained to endure and to bear trouble, he will grow up a girl; and a boy that is a girl has all the girl's weakness without any of her regal qualities. A woman made out of a woman is God's noblest work; a woman made out of a man is His meanest.—Beecher.

THAT JUNK PILE.

The attic, the cellar, and sometimes a corner of the hay-mow are half-way places in most homes around Littlefield for articles that have been fit only for the junk pile. Just now housewives are getting everything ready for the winter season, and as they come across articles they will not need they put them away—just take up more room—instead of stopping to consider whether they will ever really need them again or not. As a result each year finds the attic, or the cellar, or the hay-mow or the coal house packed a little tighter. And with stuff that is of absolutely no value.

Why carry this stuff over to the spring season, when you know it will be necessary to get rid of much of it? If you've some old clothes you do not need, why not pass them out to someone worthy, who would be glad to have them now that chilly weather is here? If you have articles of furniture still in serviceable condition but rendered useless by the recent purchase of other pieces, why not spend a few pennies to run a little ad in the paper? Someone may be glad to get what you are offering, and willing to pay a fair price for it. Toss the clean rags into the garage instead of the attic or cellar. They are dangerous in those two places, but in the garage they come in handy in wiping off the car, or in drying it when it is washed.

Don't build a fire-trap in the house with junk that ought to be thrown away or given away or sold. Don't leave it where a stray spark may ignite it or spontaneous combustion may set it in flames—and burn down the house with contents that are worth something. Get rid of the junk now that the time for building fires is here again.

Try to keep a good man down as about as hard as trying to keep a good for nothing one up.

GOOD NEIGHBORS.

We came across an item in an exchange a few days ago that struck us as containing pretty strong evidence that the old spirit of helpfulness to others is not dead in the land. The husband of a Kansas woman died and left a 75-acre field of corn standing, and across from it a field of oats—10 acres, and ready to cut. Everybody was busy in the neighborhood—but they were not too busy to lend a hand. Word was passed around following the burial of the owner of the little farm, and the next day twenty-seven able-bodied men, with corn knives and a reaper, made quick work of the crops. By dark they had saved them for the widow.

Sometimes we see things, or read about them, that lead us to believe that the old neighborly spirit is dead. And then we run across an example similar to the one in Kansas. Or we learn of a Littlefield citizen being ill, and quickly see the old spirit revived through visits of neighbors to the bedside, along with frequent inquiry as to the patient's condition by those on the street. And it cheers our heart, and makes us glad. It convinces us that there are still a lot of good people in the world, and that the place to find them is in the small town and the rural districts. It is good to know that the spirit of the old neighbor who rushes in with a glass of jelly whenever anyone in the family is ill has not vanished from the earth.

Sometimes talk is cheap and sometimes it isn't. There are times when a little of it costs a man a lot of money.

HALLOWE'EN NIGHT.

The Leader has always boasted of the character quality of its citizenship and rightly so. That good quality was demonstrated again last Halloween night, and in a manner that showed the young folks were a wee bit better than their grown up forebears.

While other towns surrounding Littlefield report considerable deviltry perpetrated in the destruction and misplacement of property, and at least one town where a lad was shot, Littlefield passed the night in very orderly manner. Of course the youngsters were out for a good time of fun and hilarity, which was all right, and there were a few instances of misplacing of various small articles; but on the whole they conducted themselves in perfect keeping with the desire of their parents—and the peace officers. It is just another tribute to the fine quality of boys and girls being reared here.

If it takes all kinds of people to make a world then this world is certainly well made.

WHEN TO BOOST.

Boosting is best in moderation. There can be such a thing as overdoing it. But never to our knowledge has there been too much of it in Littlefield.

Sometimes a knock of the right kind is all right—if it serves the purpose of waking up the community to the point where it will start in boosting to overcome the knock. But always it takes more boosting than it takes knocking to improve conditions. So let's lay aside the hammer we have been hiding behind our backs and pick up a horn. We are nearing the end of a very good year. Let's do whatever we can find to do to make the few remaining weeks of 1926 prosperous. Let's pay off a bill here and a little on another one we owe there. Let's try buying every dime's worth here at home for the next two months and see if it doesn't brighten things up still more. That's the best way to boost. And it's also the best way to get rid of the knocker.

It takes two to start a fight or a family, and very often there isn't much difference.

HE'S STILL HERE.

Here are some new figures to convince the Littlefield man who feels that electricity and gasoline are putting the horse out of business, that he is wrong.

Canada reports a million and a half more horses today than she had 20 years ago. Uncle Sam's newest statistics show that there are four million more horses in the United States than there were 25 years ago. Most of the countries of the world are reporting an increased number, and even though thousands met death during the World War, Europe reports more horses today than she had in 1914, before the war got well under way.

This is not only interesting, but there is a good moral in it. It proves that things are never as bad as they seem. It also means that from the progress of the horse we can learn a valuable lesson. And that is that as long as you've got the goods there will always be someone in the market for them.

Business men of Littlefield during the past two weeks have enjoyed good trade, and evidence of the money that is being turned loose in the country thru the present cotton crop that is now rapidly coming on the market.

After wondering thousands of years how to fix their hair women finally decided to cut it off.

Those who planted wheat in this vicinity early in the season say it is coming up to good stand and looking fine. Present indications are that the crop is going to turn out nicely besides furnishing plenty of good winter pasture.

We never expect to see the day when a girl wearing a heavy petticoat would be almost as out of date as one wearing hoopskirts.

Littlefield farmers are discussing seriously the matter of cutting down cotton acreage here next year. Already many of them have declared themselves in this particular, while many others have asserted their intention of doing more diversified farming the coming year.

United States citizens are now beginning to understand why European nations fight so many years. It's the easiest way to open a charge account.

Littlefield is being honored this week by having the privilege of entertaining the South Plains Music Teachers' Association. It is indeed a privilege to have these refined and cultured people in our midst and local citizens should take advantage of the discussions and programs of art being put on this week.

We have often wondered why it is that some Littlefield women would rather have their own way than to be happy.

Wouldn't it be fine if the farmers around Littlefield could take the tons of advice they receive and use it for fertilizer?

The few folks in Littlefield who really have nothing to worry about seem to worry about the 24 hours a day.

Our tip to the Littlefield man who is just getting married is to buy his wife such fine china that she'll never trust him to wipe the dishes.

No man in Littlefield can be classed as an old bachelor until he begins to worry for fear some woman will marry him.

THE PROGRESS OF TEXAS AS MEASURED BY PUBLIC UTILITIES

A glance backward and a look ahead which business men always take at the beginning of a year shows that Texas has been making progress during 1925. It shows that the prospects for further advancement during 1926 is good.

And in every phase of the review and prospect is seen the progress of the several essential public services upon which growth and achievement have depended.

The service of the telephone in this community is one of the items that have made for development here and without which the development of the past year could not have been accomplished. In the outlook for the present New Year this company is expected to be a major factor in the building of this community still better service to the people.

The service of the Panhandle Telephone system and the growth of this community go hand in hand. Our aims and ambitions, if they are right, are identical.

It is just as much your duty to provide for their future as their present, and every advantage and every aid you can give them will make their life's path smoother and brighter.

Take education for example. You from your own experience can see how valuable a good education is, even today. The world makes room for brains, pays well for intelligence. Tomorrow's college education will be absolutely essential to success. Just as essential as a high school or grade school education is today.

It is your duty to provide the necessary financial means for higher education. By starting a savings account now, and making small deposits you will be astonished how it will grow into funds—and make your children's future a guaranteed success.

PLANS ARE BEING PERFECTED FOR 1927 COTTON ACREAGE REDUCTION AND STABILIZING OF THE NEW CROP

Executive meetings of relief committees held throughout the southern cotton producing states unanimously agree that at least a 25 per cent reduction in acreage is necessary for the protection of the growers. State executive officials are this week being asked to issue proclamations designating Monday, November 1st, as "Sign Up Day," at which time all farmers contemplating raising cotton the coming year will be asked to make signed statements to definite acreage to be planted in 1927, such acreage to be at least 25 per cent less than that planted this year.

Chambers of Commerce are being called upon to take the initiative in this acreage reduction pledge. Ministers are asked to announce and urge it from their pulpits, picture show managers are requested to display a notice on their screens, and the public in general is urged to co-operate in disseminating the news in general.

Plans for the retirement of a portion of the present crop are also being effectively worked out. Every element in the South economically will be brought into co-operation with the plans for the market stabilization plans. Bankers, merchants, cotton and cotton oil men, planters and all persons concerned in the cotton industry will be urged to join in the movement.

Backed by a fund of $8,000 which the Southern delegates subscribed to initiate the ambitious plans, and as a pledge of their sincere purpose of effecting organized relief, the conference proposals call for the formation of long-time pools for handling the cotton which growers desire to withhold from the current market. These pools, according to the plan, are to be set up on the initiative of the cotton co-operative organizations "and such other cotton associations as are equipped for marketing purposes, now in existence or hereafter formed."

Drafted by a subcommittee under the chairmanship of A. F. Lever of South Carolina, joint author of the national Smith-Lever Extension Act, the conference plan declares that the situation is not so grave as to justify the "indiscriminate dumping" of cotton on the market, without regard to cost of production, or of the "existence of machinery, both Federal and otherwise, to market the present crop in a systematic and orderly manner."

Operation of the pools for retirement of the present surplus is governed by these provisions: It is recommended that the several cotton co-operative marketing associations of the cotton producing states and such other cotton associations as are equipped for marketing purposes now in existence or hereafter formed, shall be requested immediately to establish long-time pools of cotton which the growers thereof desire withheld from the market.

Such pools are to be conducted in principle as follows:

(a) The pools to be under the management of the board of directors of the above-named cotton marketing associations or organizations with whom it is suggested there will be associated in advisory capacity ten of the leading bankers of each cotton producing state, to be appointed by the presidents of several state bankers' associations.

(b) Such pools are to run for 24 months unless a portion or all of the cotton thus withheld from the market, in the discretion of the board of directors of the above-named cotton marketing associations or organizations with their banker advisory councils shall conclude to sell all or any part of such pooled cotton.

(c) That upon all cotton so pooled, from 65 to 75 per cent of the then market value of such cotton is to be advanced to the producer thereof upon delivery of his cotton, if such advances are desired.

(d) That no cotton shall be accepted in any pool referred to herein unless the producer thereof shall sign an agreement to reduce his cotton acreage during each of the years 1927 and 1928 on all lands owned, controlled or farmed by him at least 25 per cent under the acreage planted by him in 1926.

(e) That every commercial or intermediate credit bank advancing monies upon cotton held in such pool referred to above is hereby earnestly urged to use all legitimate methods in co-operation with the cotton producers to bring about the 25 per cent reduction in acreage above mentioned, and that such banks are requested to check up on the cotton acreage of those to whom advances have been made; and it is further recommended that no loans shall be made by such bank for crop production in 1927 and 1928 until it has satisfied itself that the person to whom such advances are made shall have planted or shall agree to plant sufficient acreage to food and feed crops to insure an ample supply for his own needs.

Providing for immediate supervision of the pools, the conference requested officials of the several state bankers' associations to name ten leading bankers in their states severally to sit with the directors of the various cotton marketing bodies as an advisory council with regard to the handling of the pools and methods of bringing about the acreage reduction.

104 Bales of Cotton Burned at Amherst Monday of Last Week

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed 104 bales of cotton and the cotton wharf, at 8 o'clock Monday night.

The cotton numbering over 200 bales had been prepared for shipment, empty cars already placed for loading, and bill of lading already obtained and sent through the local bank in the afternoon. We do not know who will stand the loss, but suppose the insurance companies will be the heaviest losers. Some think the railroad company is responsible, but we do not know who is responsible.

When the fire was first discovered only about twelve bales were on fire next to the east end of the platform, and was burning on top of the bales. A large crowd soon gathered and near 100 bales were thrown from the platform and saved. The box cars were moved to safety.

The fire boys done all they could under the circumstances, as no city fire plug is near the station and the small tank nearby and a lake south of the depot were resorted to, but without avail.

On first thought we supposed that we were only joining the State-wide movement of "Buy a bale, burn a bale," but when we discovered that no bales had been bought, and there were more than one burning, we gave up that idea.

The loss will total about $5,200 on the cotton, besides the several trucks and cotton platform.

We understand that the wharf will be built back immediately.—Amherst Argus.

STUDY CLUB PARTY.

The members of the Child Study Club and their husbands enjoyed a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCaskill on last Friday evening.

As each costumed and masked guest arrived, a fairy touched them with a wand changing their names and led them into a new world.

After all the ghosts, clowns, country boys, Spaniards, Irishman, Japanese and pirates had arrived, games were played, fortunes told by a witch and a palm reader, and each guest was led through a chamber of horrors.

At a late hour refreshments of hot tamales, sandwiches, doughnuts and hot chocolate were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bills, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Pate, Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Dugger, Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Scoggins, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Maddy, Mr. and Mrs. Pryor Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Burleson, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Stone, Messrs. Otto Jones and Thurman, Mesdames H. W. Wiseman and Bessie Baze and the host and hostess.

A casserole dinner is one of the most satisfactory to serve when one is both cook and hostess. It can be cooked in the morning, and reheated at dinner time for half an hour or so. In this way the housekeeper is free to finish the other details of her dinner and is spared that flustered and tired feeling that results from having too many last-minute foods on the fire. Chicken, veal, beef, sweetbreads—any combination of meats and vegetables which go well together can be cooked in casserole.

To get rid of rats or mice, mix one part of powdered barium carbonate with 4 parts of different selected food such as meat, vegetables or fruits, rolled oats, bread, or corn meal—whatever these pests have attacked. Distribute several different baits in portions of about a teaspoonful in the places where the animals run. Keep the barium carbonate out of reach of children and domestic animals. Use fresh baits each night until the rats or mice disappear.

HOG CHOLERA WORSE IN FALL.

Hog cholera destroys about 80 per cent of all hogs dying from disease in the United States. No specific cure for the disease is known. All so-called hog-cholera medicines are a snare and a delusion. The "anti-hog cholera serum," evolved by the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, is the only reliable preventive agent. This serum is now manufactured by several State institutions and by private licensed firms by the Secretary of Agriculture for the purpose. The disease attains its greatest height during September, October and November, dying down rapidly after this time, particularly after snow falls, and reaching its lowest point during February.

Reports from the field which reach the Department of Agriculture indicate that there are outbreaks of hog cholera at present in a number of states and that owing to a scarcity of anti-hog-cholera serum many hogs are dying of the disease. During the past five years there has been comparatively little cholera in the country and as a result the hog growers have not been immunizing their hogs as in previous years. Now a large proportion of the hogs that are being fattened for market are susceptible. Serum producers are doing everything possible to meet the demand for serum.

CROP BOUND.

The disorders of fowls known as "crop bound" or impacted crop is an overdistended and paralyzed condition of the crop, generally caused by overeating or by swallowing coarse and indigestible substances, such as feathers or tough vegetation. The first symptom is a loss of appetite or an effort of the bird to swallow without being able to do so. If permitted to continue, the condition becomes aggravated, the breathing difficult, and death may result.

The contents of the crop, which are more or less firmly packed, may sometimes be removed by forcing the bird to swallow a teaspoon or more of sweet oil, then massaging the lower part of the gullet if it contains food, or, if not, the part of the crop nearest to the gullet, until a part of the contents is softened and may be pressed toward the head. This is made easier by holding the bird head downward. By continued manipulation the most part of the material may be removed. The bird should not be permitted to eat for several hours after it is relieved.

If this treatment fails, with a sharp knife make an opening in the crop not more than one inch in length. Through this opening remove the contents, using for this purpose a coffee-spoon, a buttonhook, small forceps, a bent wire, or other suitable instrument. Then wash out the crop with clean, warm water. Close the opening with 3 or 4 stitches in the wall of the crop and an equal number in the skin. Tie each stitch separately. Coarse white silk thread is best for the purpose. If this is not at hand, ordinary white cotton thread may be used. For a day or two feed on milk and raw egg beaten together and gradually change to soft mash.

And it is a boom that will bring good things of a permanent character. When the oil boom subsides, it will find a land whose permanent population has been vastly increased, whose cities and towns will be bulging with workers who have come to stay, and there will be people all over the country who are being attracted to the Panhandle by the oil boom who will know more about that country than they ever dreamed of before.

Because the Panhandle—unlike many oil boom territories—is a country rich and valuable within itself, overflowing with the fundamentals of a lasting prosperity.

From now on that big, broad land will play an infinitely more prominent part in the affairs of the South-west than ever before.

RADIO ADVICE FROM A RADIO EXPERT.

Herbert E. Metcalf, Radio Engineer of the Magnovox Co., Oakland, Calif., gives some simple yet sound advice to all radio fans who wish to get the best results from their sets, when he says:

"Everyone knows that the one cardinal virtue of a first-class radio set is soldered connections. The fact that every point should be carefully cleaned and then securely soldered, has been brought forcibly to our attention in practically every written article about radio set building. We are also continually being cautioned about soldered antenna joints and proper ground clamps.

"When we buy any set of good quality, we naturally take it for granted that all joints are secure, because they are most carefully tested before being sent out. We then install our set, solder all antenna joints, put in a good ground clamp, scrape and carefully apply all battery connections, and everything is fine, until some day we hear a noise such as caused by a poor connection somewhere. Perhaps the noises get worse and worse, and upon investigation find all joints still secure—what then?

"The fact is that there are at least 22 contacts in a 5-tube set which cannot even be soldered. Twenty of them are tube prong contacts, and the other two are the battery switch and the rheostat. Dirt on any one of these will be a fruitful source of noise. Many tubes have solder (lead alloy) on their base prongs. This solder rubs off onto the socket contacts, oxidizes, and makes a high-resistance, noisy connection. The battery switch is often liable to 'dirty up' after continued switching, and must be cleaned. The same with the rheostat. Imagine trying to run an automobile and never cleaning the distributor or timer. A dirty distributor contact in a motor causes missing—a dirty switch or rheostat contact causes noise in a radio set.

"The remedy is of course—cleaning. Keep the tube prongs bright and shiny—solder will oxidize and blacken more quickly in some climates than others. It is not enough to clean the prongs—clean the socket contacts also. Clean the battery switch contact as you would a distributor in an automobile. If the rheostat needs cleaning any movement of the knob will cause the noise to change. Fine sandpaper may be used, or even a pencil rubber—but never use a file or hard emery cloth. It's just the very surface that's oxidized, and a light cleaning until the metal is bright is sufficient.

"The next time the set gets noisy, try cleaning the contacts—or better yet, why not do it regularly and not have to apologize for a dirty contact during a concert?"

MISS BAZE ENTERTAINS.

Miss Carmileta Baze entertained Saturday evening with a party honoring Miss Nadine Hailey, who left on the midnight train for Dallas, where she will make her future home.

The party went to the Palace theatre where a feature was enjoyed.

MUSIC TEACHERS WILL MEET HERE FRIDAY AND SAT.

Plans have been completed for the South Plains Music Teachers Association which will meet here Friday and Saturday with Mrs. Arthur P. Duggan as hostess, and a large number of representatives of this association are expected to be present for the occasion.

The sessions, which will be held in the Presbyterian church, will open Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will close Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

Some of the very best talent of the South Plains will be represented on the program as well as a number of instructive talks will be made along this phase of art, principally on music appreciation.

Mrs. John L. Ratliff, who for a number of years has been a teacher of music in the Lubbock High School and a teacher of private classes, will make the first talk on the program, using as her subject, "The Most Outstanding Gains From the Spring Festival," at 2:30 o'clock Friday. She has also been a member of the South Plains Music Teachers' Association since its organization. It is greatly through her efforts in assisting other members of the Lubbock music club that some of the world's most famous artists have appeared on program in that city during the Spring Music Festival held there annually.

Miss Margaret Huff, of Lubbock, who will be in charge of the program is also a very talented musician and has been very active in musical development in Lubbock and the South Plains. She has studied under some of the greatest teachers of this country and also abroad. She will also respond, in behalf of the visitors, to the address of welcome which will be made by Jess Mitchell.

Other names appearing on the program are teachers of rare ability among whom appears the names of Mrs. W. H. Dallas, of Brownfield, who has as her subject, "Methods for Obtaining Co-operation of Parents;" Miss Jenette Ramsey, of Slaton, will talk on, "How to Awaken Ambition in Pupils," and Miss Grace Bailey, also of Slaton, will discuss the public school orchestra. Each of these talks will be 15 minutes in length.

A business meeting will open Saturday's session at 9 o'clock in the morning which will be followed by a talk on public school music by Miss Louise Ocker. At 10:30 o'clock Miss Pauline Brigham, head of the piano department of the Canyon Teachers' College, will give a lecture on "Piano Playing."

W. R. Clark, director of music at the Canyon Teachers' College, will open the Saturday afternoon session at 2 o'clock with a lecture on "Music Appreciation."

The first honor examination will be given by Miss Brigham at 3 o'clock Saturday, which will conclude the program.

The most outstanding feature of the occasion is an organ recital to be given Friday evening at the church by Prof. W. R. Waghorn, head of the music department of the Tech College at Lubbock, assisted by other members of the association.

No admission will be charged at any session or program and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Luncheon will be served to the visitors Saturday in the church basement by the ladies of Littlefield.

WHY LOCAL TAXES INCREASE.

In our Federal Government, the President and Budget Commissioner make a constant fight to keep down and, wherever possible, reduce the national tax burdens.

The Federal Government is working for direct reduction of taxpayers' burdens, while most state and local politicians seem unable to retrench, and can only think up schemes to increase official functions and heap up new burdens of taxes and debt.
