

BOOM! BOOM!

Littlefield Jaycees are Booming Skipper Smith For Vice-President of Region 2

Littlefield Jaycees have taken into their hearts, into their arms, and onto their backs, one of their favorite sons, and solemnly pledge one to the other and to this entire cockeyed world that they are going to shove, bounce, slip, argue, or just plain toss him into the vice presidency of Region 2 of the state organization.

The candidate is Skipper Smith, immediate past president of the Littlefield Jaycees, and the head man of the boom for booming Skipper into a vice-presidency is J. D. Smith, new president of the local Jaycees.

Tower of Strength

Skipper and J. D. have worked together on frequent occasions in the labors of this world and in mental problems, and J. D. enthusiastically recommends Skipper as a tower of strength and a man eminently "fittin" to skipper Region 2.

There is a learned man at Muleshoe, one Dr. Putman, who practices optometry to attain the necessary with which to feed and clothe the body, who is reported to be a contender for the vice presidency of Region 2. But the locals declare that there is none more "fittin" than Skipper to skipper Region 2. Of course, the Muleshoe man is a fine fellow and all that sort of thing, but the Littlefield boys believe that Skipper will be able to skip along through the duties of a vice presidency as nimble, efficient and graceful as a ballet dancer.

May Bring Back Shamrock

This region vice presidency business is all going to come up at the state convention at Houston, April 12, 13 and 14, and the Littlefield Jaycees, accompanied by their wives, bless their hearts, are going to move into the ritzy, ritzy, swanky, swanky, Shamrock Hotel, and skip nimbly over the plush carpets, skipping along for Skipper and willing to bet anything from peanuts to millions that the country will not be safe without Skipper in the vice presidency of Region 2, and, who knows, they may just bring back to Littlefield the vice presidency and the Shamrock Hotel, too.

Some of the centers of habitation that go to make up Region 2, other than those already mentioned, are Lubbock, Levelland, Plainview and Brownfield, etc., etc.

Active Organization

Yards of type could be expended in telling of the achievements of the new president of the Littlefield Jaycees and vice presidency bound Skipper Smith; they, with their associates in the local organization, toil stupendously in behalf of numerous beneficial accomplishments, notably the annual Jaycee Rodeo.

Aged Pencil Peddler Finds Many Friends In Littlefield

The path strewn with the most roses is that course down which we pass in doing kindnesses for others.

When the old pencil peddler, known throughout the length and breadth of this and other areas, became ill in Littlefield men and women who knew him only by sight, went to his aid.

A man took him to the Payne-Shotwell Foundation, where his illness was diagnosed as pneumonia. Under treatment at the institution he became well, at least sufficiently well to leave the hospital.

Learning of the man's illness, and that he was without friends to aid him in his time of trouble, the County of Lamb, represented by Judge Otha Dent, and the Red Cross and the Salvation Army, all went to his assistance. Leaving the hospital, the man famous as a pencil peddler, was taken to the Salvation Army, where he remained for several days. Subsequently he was taken to a private home, where he is now convalescing.

The famous, bewhiskered pencil peddler gives his name as A. John Walker, says that he was born at St. Louis, Missouri, and declares that he is "159 years old."

At the Salvation Army he was looked after by Lieut. R. E. Hall, who is commander of the local unit, and Bill Scott, who has charge of the local headquarters of the army.

The pencil peddler, who, for the past many years, has moved with regular frequency through Littlefield and many other cities, his pack on his back, can go away back into history.

Walker tells of extensive travel, including South America and Europe, of having worked in a pencil factory in South America, and of having brought wild animals from Africa for a famous American circus. He tells of steamboating on the Mississippi and of being a cook on the Louisiana.

Asked if he remembered anything about Jesse James, he almost rattled off the names of those men famous as James' associates. Walker is short on talk, but no doubt, long on memories; his recollections of other days would be thrilling in the telling, valuable as history.

Watch Awards for 4-H Work

SOME gold-filled watches were awarded club members for their highest rating in Texas for work in the 1950 national achievement, frozen foods and leadership programs. A check of their records indicates they were active all-round 4-H'ers.

Ruby Schmidt, Jr., president in dairy production management has earned the highest rating for T. G. Herring, Jr., in the 4-H Dairy program. Dairy practices of animals learned from Herring have given him an understanding of the principles of animal health. Herring also has learned of teamwork and sports. A 4-H'er for eight years, his record includes 176 points and a substantial amount. Herring has won eight, eight junior, and five champion awards at three county fairs, one of the second highest in the world. Herring is a point man in dairy in the 4-H Club Round Up, served as director of the Dairy shows for 1949. Judges have named him Farmer of Texas, South Texas, and with two years' junior experience, young Herring has taken a deep interest in his work and helped to make a grade A dairy farm. Laboratories has provided no fuss or muss to serve on short notice in the family of New Ulm, since Ruby, 15, has learned all kinds of food. He did a first rate job in the eating, but also was the top state in the 4-H Frozen Foods contest. A handsome boy, Ruby is leader, has these activities are conducted under the direction of the Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA co-

BULL LAKE PHILOSOPHER EAGER TO SEE BUREAUCRATS PUT CEILING PRICE ON HIS INDEFINABLE COWS

Editor's note: The Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bull Lake is baffled over the prospects of ceiling prices on live cattle, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I found a copy of a paper which the March wind blew against my front door, of the two, March dust with March newspapers or no wind and no papers, believe I'd take the latter, don't like to be ignorant of what's goin on in the world but I put comfort ahead of learnin any day in the week, ain't seen a paper yet I hadn't rather be without than have dust in my eyes, and pulled it off the screen and brought it inside and shook the dust off and read where cattlemen throughout Texas are excited over the prospect of ceiling prices being put on live cattle.

Accordin to the cattlemen, this will ruin the cattle business, but I look at it another way. As I see it, it'll ruin the price controllers. That is, it will when they come out here and start puttin ceiling prices on my cows.

As you may know, I ain't never won no prizes at a fat stock show, and my cattle ain't what you'd call registered stuff, and I am lookin forward to the day when some bureaucrat comes out here and attempts to classify em. Would like to know what they are myself. I got one oow that was crossed with what I called a Jersey and a Hereford, but her mother was a cross between a Bramer and a Holstein, and her mother was a cross between a cross and a cross which is too complicated to enumerate. What the calf is, nobody knows, but when it comes to classifyin it in order to put a ceiling price on it, I believe it would be simpler if the government just asked me to put it in a deep freeze and say nothin about it, and I'm willin if the government will furnish the deep freeze.

Also, I'm wonderin what will happen at a cattle auction when the auctioneer reaches the ceiling price. Who gets the cow when half a dozen bidders is noddin their heads simultaneously at that level? Just don't see how it'll work, which may not be no stumblin block to the government. Any thing to the report they're Eight of these have already entered training for full-time service either at the Bible Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas or Bob Jones University, Greenville, South Carolina. The other four are making preparations to enter training in the future."

God Is A Spirit, Not Matter, To Be Subject of Text

The dire results of believing matter—instead of Spirit, God—to be substance are shown in the lesson-sermon titled "Matter" to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, March 25. The Bible plainly says that God is Spirit, not matter, and the Golden Text from Psalms, 81:9, 10, states, "There shall no strange God be in thee; neither shalt thou worship any strange God. I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt." Continuing in the same vein is this citation from the Lesso-Sermon, Psalms 44: 20, 21, "If we have forgotten the name of our God, or stretched out our hands to a strange God; Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart."

Irrigation on Plains Still in Infancy Declares Manufacturing Firm Owner

Irrigation on the South Plains, around Littlefield is still in its infancy with the surface yet hardly scratched in the opinion, backed up by substantial financial investment of G. A. White and his son, "Bob", associated with him in the ownership and management of the Plains Concrete Pipe Company, newly incorporated company. It is not altogether a new industry here, having been purchased February 3, from Roy Ferguson and Walter Gray, who have another similar plant at Farwell.

Make Cement Pipe
The company is primarily a manufacturer of cement pipe for irrigation purposes.

The new company has built a new 12x30 steam plant for curing of pipe after manufacture, and a new office building both located east of the cottonwood plant in Littlefield.

Come From California
White and son, were formerly located at Salinas Valley, California, where irrigation is conducted on a vast scale, and where he was engaged in similar business for many years.

The local plant has been operating here for about one and one-half years. Mr. White was only able to purchase it at this time, because of the fact that Roy Ferguson, one of the owners was called into military service.

There are now thirteen full-time employees, but they expect to double the number in the near future, due to increasing demand for the product.

Mr. and Mrs. White with a younger son, Don, make their home on Westside Avenue. His other son and partner, "Bob", with his wife and three children are at home on East Eight Street. Both families lived in Lubbock for a short time before moving to Littlefield.

Eddie B. Washington.

Re-elected Formerly
Those re-elected at an earlier meeting included: Troy Armes, J. S. Fikes, Don Hayes, D. C. Lindley, Paul I. Jones, William Brune and Joe C. Hutchinson.

Highlights Of Session
Another high-light of the session was voted resolution authorizing the hiring of an additional football coach, who will also teach in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades of Junior High School, which will become a reality, with the completion of the new High School building, which in turn will make the present new High School building available, and to be used solely as a Junior High School. This will give the schools a staff of four in the athletic and football coaching department. Coach J. S. Fikes gets a new title of "Head Football Coach and Athletic Director". Pat Patterson and Forrest Martin, present members of the coaching staff will also continue on the coaching staff, with the fourth member yet to be selected.

Suits For Dunbar
The possibility of a football set-up for the Dunbar, colored school, was also given consideration, and colored football aggregation playing in 1951 may result, if a proposal to buy needed football equipment is finally approved.

Building Ready By Fall
Progress on the new High School building was reported satisfactory, and having unforeseen delays the building will be ready for occupancy next September 1, the Board was informed. All furniture has been purchased, some of it already in storage, and the remainder will probably be on hand by the time of the building completion.

Street Paving Considered
Paving adjacent to the new High School building was up for discussion. A proposal to open a street through school property between the Primary Building and the football field and to Highway 84, this in turn coupled with a proposal to make First Street a one-way street running west, and the newly proposed street, also one-way running east, was given some consideration. No action was taken, as it would be necessary to get approval of the city. The plan was suggested, to relieve traffic congestion and traffic hazards near the school and football plants.

The Board is open to suggestions from any and all citizens on this matter, and have contacted PTA officials, for their views and suggestions.

Seely Field Improved
Seely Field is going to get some definite improvement prior to the opening of the next playing season. The field will be plowed up, and freshly seeded to Bermuda grass at once. Levelling of the entire school grounds, and additional shrub plantings were also discussed.

New Lunch Room
The crowded and congested lunch room problem was brought into the forefront again, and members

Second to authorize the Board of Directors to lease bonds with maturity value of $40,000, and set aside the first $10,000 per month collected from dues to retire club bonds provided the total bond issue be subscribed and that one-third of all new memberships sold be placed in special account in reserve to retire bonds and that the dues be increased from $4.00 per month to $5.00 per month contingent on two-thirds majority of membership voting approval on proposition.

Farm Dinners Are Again Planned By Littlefield Chamber of Commerce

A meeting of the Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce was held at Hays Coffee Shop Monday morning at 7 o'clock to discuss Agriculture activities for the year.

The committee discussed at length the possibility of sponsoring a series of farm dinners to be given in the next few months. Tentative plans to hold a dinner next month was made. The time, place and exact date will be announced in the near future.

Harry Kline, committee chairman presided during the session.

were told that something would have to be done to relieve the situation. Previously talked-of plans to enlarge the lunch room, will likely be abandoned, and a new lunch room built. But final decision on this was delayed.

Summer Work Planned

With the close of the present school term only a few weeks away, plans for summer were made. These will probably include: refinish and oil all building floors, paint woodwork both interior and exterior, refinish student desks, repair screens and plumbing, some of which will be done by regular employed custodians. Extension of a sewer line to take care of the Dunbar School was approved, in conjunction with the city.

Dunbar schools was found to be crowded, and under consideration by the Board is a proposal to build an additional class room.

This is the first year that text books have been on a multiple list, Mr. Hutchinson said, and after careful study by the committee appointed to look into the multiple list, the following books were selected by the committee and approved by the school board.

A special program of Easter music will be presented by Amarillo High School's Del Canto Chorus, directed by A. M. Astrey. The singers will wear special robes for the service.

Choral groups throughout the Panhandle are being asked to contact John McCarty, Park Manager, in Amarillo. McCarty said the choral groups would take part in the program as a mass choir.

The ceremony will take place at Mesa Mesa just below Coronado Lodge. A 20-foot cross will be lighted for the service with devotional candles.

McCarty said the grade and drainage structure of the road should be completed by the road builders in time for Sunday's service.

Easter music will be amplified through the Canyon all day Easter Sunday.

Pfc. Edwin Weige In Hospital At Pusan, Korea

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weige of 4 miles south of Littlefield are in receipt of a letter from their son, Pfc. Edwin H. Weige, 14, received Tuesday, advising them that he is in a hospital at Pusan, Korea. The letter was dated March 18, and he told them that he had been in the hospital a days, and that he supposed by now that they had been notified that he was in the hospital.

Pfc. Weige did not advise his parents why he was hospitalized. He said he had been struck off the highest mountain that he had ever seen, by South Koreans. He said after they had started down the enemy started shelling them and that if he hadn't had a gun and forced them to carry him they would have left him there.

Weige who is 26 years of age, served as a paratrooper in the European Theatre in World War II. He was in the reserve and was called into active service in December.

Mrs. Lyle Brandon, Littlefield Red Cross secretary has wired National Red Cross headquarters in Washington, for further details.

Rep. Mahon Introduces Legislation To Amend Present Child Labor Laws

Legislation to amend the labor laws to permit children to work in the cotton fields during school hours was introduced Tuesday by Rep. George Mahon (D-Texas.)

Mahon said, the provision on child labor has proved unworkable; it has disrupted the work of many of the schools, slowed down the cotton harvest, and diminished the chance of the children of Mexican families to go to school by denying them the income they normally secure from the cotton harvest. Moreover, it is argued that the matter of child labor in agriculture and the question of school attendance are problems that can best be handled by the states and not the federal govern-

Mahon's bill provides that restrictions as to child labor shall not apply to the harvesting of basic crops. In introducing the bill, Mr. Mahon said, "We are being called upon by the government to produce 16 million bales of cotton this year in the interest of national defense. There is no use to try to produce a big crop unless we can harvest it."

In addition to the bill by Mahon, bills of somewhat similar nature have been introduced by Congressman Fisher and Rogers of Texas. The problem is to devise a measure that can win the support of a majority of the Members of the House and Senate.

BROTHERS SHOW TOP BARROWS AT BAILEY COUNTY FAT STOCK SHOW

Rain, snow and a biting north wind injected vigor into the Bailey County Fat Stock Show held at Muleshoe Saturday.

Immediately after the judging was completed by Ray Mowery, head of the animal husbandry department at Texas Tech, many of the animals were loaded into truck and trailers to be taken to Lubbock. They were entered in the South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show which opened in Lubbock Monday and lasted through Wednesday.

It began raining and then snowing shortly after judging began at 1 p.m. Officials started to move activities inside, but lack of space kept the show outside. This did not stop the 4-H club and FFA boys from exhibiting their animals. The sun was shining before the end of the show.

Brothers Win Honors

Marlon Ingram exhibited the grand champion fat barrow and Jerry Inman showed the reserve champion. The boys are brothers. Marlon showed a Poland China and Jerry showed a Duroc.

The grand champion calf was exhibited by Jim Prather. The calf, winner in the heavy weight division, was bred by Lewis Brothers of Bailey county. Joe Wheeler showed the reserve champion calf, the winner of the light weight division.

Olton Paving To Start About The Middle Of April

Unloading of rock and gravel for Olton paving project got underway this week as Kerr and Middleton prepared to commence work sometime near the middle of April.

Project Engineer Julian Smith, in Olton last week, said that the caliche base had stood up under winter weather much better than expected.

He anticipates only minor drainage problems, most of which can be handled when ditches are completed.

Smith predicted that the paving will progress rapidly after it is begun. He believes it will take less than a month from the time the contractor starts laying of rock and asphalt to complete the project, pending good weather of course.

This would give Olton residents their long hoped-for paving before June 1.

Groom Your Flower Garden

Flowers are loved and desired by almost everyone and they can add to the landscaping of your home if they are chosen carefully and their location wisely selected. Sable Hatfield, specialist in homestead improvement with the A. and M. College Extension Service, says that good grooming on the lawn and in the flower garden is just as necessary as it is for the person.

Perennials are recommended by the specialist because they have been tested and proved reliable and hardy. Plants giving a long season of bloom are preferred, but the specialist warns against growing plants that will turn into a pest. For instance, hollyhock seeds are scattered about sometimes and they take up a lot of space that could be used for other plants.

Perennials grow in beds, rock gardens, in front of shrubs, along walls, or in the vegetable garden. Miss Hatfield suggests that plenty of room for each plant and variety be allowed. If perennials are grown with a hedge background they should have three to five feet of space between them and the hedge.

Annual flower perennials, the specialist says, belong in the service area or private area just as much as they belong in the front yard, which is generally considered more of a public area. To insure neatness she suggests making a plan on paper so each variety will be placed properly.

Some of the perennials which thrive in almost all parts of Texas and require relatively little water are the Aster, Chrysanthemum, Dianthus, Barbatna, Linum, Gaillardia, Grape Hyacinths, Gypsophila, Helianthus, Hollyhock, Hemerocallis, Iris-bearded, and Sedum spectabile, and the Yucca. These plants may be left in the ground during the winter months.

When the Showdown Comes, Do Not Underestimate Turkey

AP Newsfeatures

Turkey could be tough for any aggressor seeking control of the Balkans.

Traditionally some of the fiercest fighters in Europe, the Turks could put a well-trained army of 2,000,000 into the field. They have been strengthened ever since World War II by considerable U.S. equipment and their air force now is regarded as modern.

In defending their country, they would be favored by terrain. They approach Turkey from the Balkans are hilly, heavily timbered, and have only a few roads which can easily be defended. Still farther east are more formidable mountains—terrain made to order for a prolonged defense.

Turkey holds a strategic position in relation to the Kremlinized Balkans and to Russia herself. Her air bases are modern, well-equipped—and easily within striking distance of such prize targets as the Ploesti oil fields, Bucharest, Budapest, Sofia and other important industrial cities. Turkey is only 250 miles from Russia, across the Black Sea.

Although difficult to invade,

Turkey is in a good position to move against the Balkans. Her borders touch on Bulgaria and Greece at a 150-mile wide corridor that served as an ideal invasion avenue during the Middle Ages when the Ottomans poured through the Balkans up to Vienna.

Russia eyes Turkey hungrily because the Turks command the Dardanelles, the only Soviet direct water route from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean. As long as the Turks control Turkey, Russia's dream of an outlet on the Mediterranean seems likely to be thwart-

The Balkans - World "Trouble Spot"

"Cockpit of the Balkans"

It was during these centuries of the Turkish drive that the powers of Europe began to eye the "cockpit of the Balkans." It was the period of the formation of the European nations as they are known today. They feared the Turk. But that did not prevent some of them sometimes working with him.

Even after the 1683 peak the Turks were driven back slowly. Greece did not gain independence until 1829. Serbia emerged in 1839. But the Balkans continued to be the cockpit and the powers continued to watch uneasily. Sometimes they even did things about it. On occasion their edicts forced Balkan nations to give up areas they had won by hard fighting.

Balkan Wars Cause Trouble
In modern times, the Balkan wars of 1912 and 1913 was the most spectacular Balkan trouble. In the first of these wars, Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece and Montenegro combined to drive the Turks out of all but a tiny section of Europe around Constantinople. In the second, the Bulgarians fought with their former allies and the Romanians and Turks intervened.

But in 1914, the impact of the Balkan wars was dwarfed by the dispute with the Austro-Hungarian empire that triggered World War I after an assassination at Sarajevo.

After the war some populations were exchanged between the Turks and the Balkan nations. Yugoslavia was set up as a nation.

Nazis Sweep Through Balkans
The pattern of trouble continued through World War II and after. The Nazis drove down through the Balkans, as northerners had for thousands of years. Again the people took to the hills. Tito and Mihailovich fought the Germans, but it was charged they preferred to fight each other. That, too, followed the pattern: Balkan peoples always have fought each other.

After World War II most of the area was taken over—in effect—by the Russians, another northern people moving down. Then American aid to Greece stopped a nasty little war and checked the movement. Yugoslavia broke away from Russian influence, creating a new

NEW 'SURVIVAL' RIFLE DESIGNED FOR OUR FLYERS

AP Newsfeature

OMAHA—A light weight "survival rifle" is the latest aid for aviators who find themselves forced down away from civilization.

The weapon, so small when disassembled that it'll fit into the pocket of a flying suit, is being mass-produced for use in survival kits issued to bomber crews of the Strategic Air Command.

Bombers of SAC, the advance striking arm of the U. S. Air Force, range day and night over much of the world on long distance training flights. Survival kits are issued to help keep the fliers alive should they crash land or parachute in wild areas and have to fend for themselves while awaiting rescue.

A 22 With Bolt Action
The survival rifle, .22 caliber with a bolt action, can kill small and medium game. This could be the only food supply available.

Ordnance experts and sportsmen-hunters of the Strategic Air Command pooled their skills to develop the rifle under the watchful eye of the SAC commander, Lt. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, an experienced hunter himself.

The rifle weighs only 3½ pounds and makes up into a flat package 14 inches long and two inches thick when disassembled. The over-all length with stock extended is 35 inches. The rifle holds five cartridges, four in the clip and one in the chamber, four in the clip and one in the chamber.

It's Not for Bears
The rifle is not ideal for hunting because of its small caliber but, properly used, can kill small deer, gazelle and antelope, besides small game and fish which are most tension. The Balkans remain one of the most important tension areas. A new clash may be decisive in the conflict between Communism and the West.

often encountered. It is fairly accurate up to 150 yards.

A pamphlet packed with the rifle gives tips on aiming and advises against shooting bear and other large animals which become enraged when wounded.

The equivalent of eight sacks of 20 per cent superphosphate and two and one-half sacks of 60 per cent muriate of potash are required for the production of 100 bushels of corn.

FILM HONORS BRITISH INVENTOR

By SYDNEY MIRKIN
AP Newsfeatures

LONDON—Britain's movie industry, kicking up its heels for the 1951 Festival of Britain, is aiming a brick bat squarely at an invention of Thomas A. Edison.

Ever hear of a man named William Friese-Green? You will.

British researchers say—and unlike the Russian claimants to modern inventions they offer documentary proof—that Friese-Green invented and patented a motion picture camera two years before Edison did.

So the industry as a cooperative effort is making a biography of Friese-Green as a "prestige" picture for the festival.

All concerned with the production of the film, "The Magic Box," are working at half pay—with the remainder to be paid if and when the movie is a box office success.

Some of the most famous stars of the British stage and screen will make guest appearances gratis as their contribution to the "Festival film."

Robert Donat is cast as the luckless inventor and Margaret Johnston as his wife.

Big Parts for Others
Among the guest stars who have volunteered for bit roles are Sir Laurence Olivier, Sir Ralph Richardson, Alec Guinness, Margaret Rutherford, Glynis Jones, Valerie Hobson, Sheila Sim—and one lone American, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. The script by Eric Ambler is a dramatization of a biography by Miss Ray Allister, "Friese-Green, Close-up of an Inventor."

Miss Allister, a visitor on the set, explained that neither she nor the makers of the film wanted to deny the genius of Edison or the French Lumiere brothers, all of whom were working on a movie camera at about the same time as Friese-Green.

But the earnest little lady wants to see justice done. And she feels justice in this case hinges on the fact that Friese-Green applied for a patent on his camera in June 1889 and it was granted in May 1890.

Edison patented his camera in 1891 and the Lumieres took out a French patent in 1895.

The tragedy in the case of the Bristol-born inventor was that he bankrupted himself in working on his camera and sold the patent to a London financier who put it in his safe and did nothing more about it. The patent expired in five years.

"An ironic touch was that in 1891—when Edison took out his patent—Friese-Green's monetary difficulties had landed him in debtors' prison."

He said he made a temporary exception while filming "Good-by, Mr. Chips," because "But after two weeks up my courage and to leave," the actor said. Home-grown grain can usually be marketed through cattle.

Other Side of Story
Friese-Green has his detractors, however, even in Britain.

Egon Larsen, author of a book entitled "Spotlight on Films," says "poor Friese-Green cannot by any stretch of imagination, be called the inventor of cinematography as we know it today."

Larsen said Friese-Green's movie film was four inches wide, which meant he could not get more than a few feet lengths nor shoot more than eight frames per second.

Larsen plumps for the Lumiere brothers—their first films can still be shown in modern cinemas, Friese-Green's amateurish efforts can't.

Production Is Speeded In The Building Of B-36 Bombers

March 20.—(AP)—Quietly stepping up the B-36, the world's largest bomber, Convair engineers here in the experimental building of the giant atomic bomber are working here in the present six propeller engines and four jets produce the drive of nine locomotives.

Development of the plane has been a long-term project. It began in the early days of World War II before atomic bombing entered military strategy. Convair engineers produced the best design in an air force competition for a plane to fly 10,000 miles lugging five tons of bombs half way.

This order actually amounted to a combat radius of 4,000 miles—enough to strike across oceans. The Air Force likes to get its bomber crews back and allows gasoline reserves for poor weather and evasive combat action. The actual operational radius of any plane is about 40 per cent of the distance it can fly.

Operational figures on the B-36 remain top secret, but it is probable that the relatively light weight atomic bomb, previously delivered in smaller B-29, has plenty of elbow room in B-36 bomb bays. There may be extra room for gasoline to stretch the range. Recently six planes tested an advance base in England by landing outside the United States for the first time.

For its size, the B-36 probably has grown faster than any other airplane. The first order for two strategic bombers was placed just before Pearl Harbor in 1941. Wind tunnel testing and a full-sized wooden model were completed the following year. Late in 1942, the project was moved from San Diego, Calif. to Fort Worth. Priority went to B-24 Liberator bombers urgently needed on all war fronts. Only a handful of the 30,000 in Convair's plant here worked in the experimental building of the first B-36s by hand.

On V-J Day, consumer demand for bombers fell to zero. The first B-36 roared down the runway on its maiden flight on August 8, 1946. Behind the flight was five years and $20,000,000 worth of research. Another year passed before the first production model flew.

Like all good airplanes the B-36 air frame has a tremendous growth potential which keeps both Air Force and Convair engineers busy at their drawing boards. They've made hundreds of changes. Currently the company is test flying a new model with even more powerful propeller engines.

The most important power increase has come from jet engines in pods suspended from the wings. They produce extra boost for take off and increase speed in the target area. Per pound, the jets give more thrust than propeller engines. But piston engines use less fuel.

Crewmen like the B-36. Its safety record is impressive. Only three have crashed.

The old Air Force joke about the bomber boys "flying a house from the front porch" is outdated by the B-36. The plane is as glib as three five-room houses. The pilot sits way out in front of a wing 230 feet long. It's a little like flying a football field from a seat on the fifty-yard line.

Convair assembles the B-36 from 68,000 manufactured parts.

Engines, guns, and electrical equipment are made at other factories.

If Washington calls for all-out B-36 production, the company is ready to expand rapidly. Machine tools are being made for other firms so that 25 per cent of the basic air frame can be made in smaller, scattered factories.

Like the main plant, many of these will be in the Southwest. The region is far from the industrial heartland of the nation. Distance helps protect it from enemy bombers.

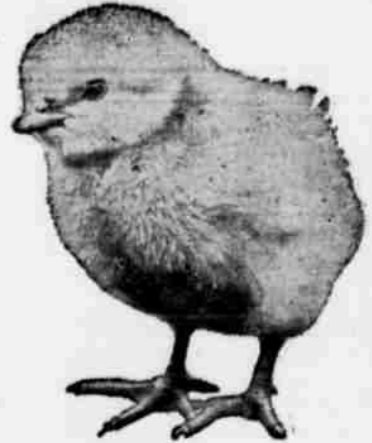

Popular Recipe for Parties

Here's a smart, easy way to entertain. Invite your friends over for a game of Rook and surprise them with a real chef's treat, spaghetti served with a canned spaghetti sauce, made with either meat or mushrooms. Dish it up in individual casseroles while the Rook enthusiasts are adding up the score. This makes a winning recipe for repeat parties, too, because with a pack of Rook cards you have a choice of 150 different exciting games. For variety, try serving your spaghetti topped with a grated parmesan cheese flanked by bread sticks and raw vegetable appetizers.

SCENES OF UNIQUE TEXAS EASTER SERVICE

1. Live-oak tree marking geographical center of Texas. 2. Site of Easter worship, audience occupying amphitheatre in front of Cross. 3. Speaker, Dr. E. R. Bertermann. 4. Chorus.

All Americans will have an opportunity to hear—and all Texans to participate in—the fourth annual Heart of Texas Easter Sunrise Worship at the generally accepted geographical center of the greatest State in the rugged, rocky hills near Mercury, McCulloch County.

The program, in which Governor Allan Shivers of Texas and the Springfield Seminary Lutheran Hour Chorus from Springfield, Ill., will participate—will be heard on 440 radio stations of the Mutual Network from coast to coast and the stations of the Texas State Network.

The visible audience will occupy seats hewn out of the steep walls of a natural amphitheatre above an old rugged cross planted on the ranch of Fred Thormann, Mercury, president of the operating committee for the Easter Worship program.

"Dedicated to the risen Christ, this program, like His saving grace, is free to all who wish to come and to those who, unable to be present in the flesh, will arise with the sun on Easter morning to worship with us beside their radios," Thormann said.

Heard on the program, in addition to the Texas Governor and the famous choir, will be Dr. Eugene R. Bertermann, St. Louis, Mo., director of the International Lutheran Hour radio program.

anything. They remain, however,

For all formal occasion the fitted top coat in redingote style is favorite, with further emphasis on the torso line.

Charles Creed's "Dandy" still is a favorite for the sophisticated town suit. Creed's topcoats have a new bloused back achieved by a softly gathered waistline. He repeats the success of his reversible winter coats by introducing a summer suit of reversible design.

Norman Hartnell's collection provides a surprise because his usually brilliant colors are replaced by sober blacks, greys, navy and soft browns; only an occasional touch of color, such as mimosa yellow, as introduced in printed silks.

A symmetrical detail is followed on coat frocks and on taffeta day dresses. Taffeta has returned to fashion in a big way this spring, both for afternoon and evening.

Slim evening dresses are highlighted by bouffant overskirts open at the front, by loose panels or by stoles.

Lachasse, new to the big ten this year, shows silk suits to take the place of printed silk dresses for garden party or smart race meet wear. They are strictly tailored in lace and chiffon, pure silk cloque and shantung.

Jackets remain short, with a natural shoulder line and discreet padding at the shoulders and hips to emphasize a small waist. Skirts are midcalf length, straight fronted with hidden pleat movement at the back.

Mattil opens his collection with a classic suit in canary yellow and clerical grey—the jacket of small check and the straight wrapover skirt of plain grey.

He shows a striking straight-backed coat of rich black corded silk with elbow-length cuffed sleeves and a vivid emerald grosgrain lining.

Silk Dinner Dress

Mattil uses one of his favorite materials—fine silk jersey—for two dresses. One, in black, is a dinner dress heavily embroidered on the bodice in aquamarine and dull silver beads, and in dark periwinkle blue for a Grecian draped dinner dress.

Points of interest in the Digby Morton collection include jackets two inches shorter than last year and skirts 15 inches from the ground.

His formal suits have a side flare on jackets over straight skirts. There is a return of fringe on black silk afternoon dresses, and he shows bodices made entirely of plaited raffia to give a flower basket effect.

Peter Russell shows a contrast in topcoats in a figure-bugging number with almost knee length fastening and a voluminous silk coat for formal occasions. A new detail on suits is the contrasting shade of grosgrain.

Three Evening Favorites

His three main lines for evening are slim and tucked in satin or chiffon, a figure fitting tunic with flounced hem, and a double decker dress of crystal-pleated flounces in thunder-grey taffeta.

Stiebel follows the slim tailored line but the basques of his suits have a more emphasized "bell" shape, standing away from the hips. On what he calls "conservative stuffs and colors," he introduces an extremely gay note in accessories. These vary from starched linen collars decorated with a cluster of strawberries or apples to a bunch of onions or carrots at the waist of a tulleur.

Romantic Evening Wear

Michael Sherard shows romantic and beautiful evening dresses, with an especially noteworthy one in soft dark green with fitted long bodice and a skirt of fine sunray pleating. It is lightened by petunia pink and green sequins, embroidered to carry out the lines of the dress.

Worth shows soft, wide necklines and easy skirts. There are many "young" dresses, obviously aimed at the royal presentation parties in March.

Skirts still are short and waists as small as possible. Shoulders

Flavored Lipstick.

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor. Lipstick can taste good, too, that is if you like mint.

A new mint flavored lipstick is said to lend a nice sweet taste to the mouth without departing of its rosebud shade.

"This said, also, that its cool fragrance is a treat after lunch dinner or smoking, and helps to up-drowsy lips in the morning might be difficult to decide whether to eat it or wear it.

Mint Flavored Kiss

It should appeal to the boys who always complain about "that lipstick taste." What could be sweeter or more romantic than mint-flavored kisses.

On the other hand, it may create problems on the romance scene. Just supposing your sweetheart is allergic to mint and you do not know it—all he knows is that your kisses give him an uncomfortable sensation, maybe even before the eyes.

Then, too, if the mint lipstick experiment is a success, what are we letting ourselves in for. You'll probably hear about orange juice lipstick, so that you do not set off to work on an empty stomach. There will be butterscotch or dextrose lipstick for that "letdown 4 o'clock ting."

London Spring Styles Said to Accent "Eager" Look

AP Newsfeatures

LONDON—London designers accentuate the bustline in their spring collections, to attain what Hardy Amies calls the "eager look."

The silhouette, showing little change from last fall, is slim, with nipped waist and rounded lines above and below.

Femininity is stressed in fabrics as well as line, as designers use downy soft wools, chiffons, gossa-mer laces and the new "alpaca muslin."

Yellow and navy blue are the top colors. Lavish touches of white pique will mean nightly washing and ironing.

"Big Ten" Fashion Leaders

The "big ten," who dominate London's fashion world are: Hardy Amies, Charles Creed, Norman Hartnell, Lachasse, Mattil, Digby Morton, Peter Russell, Victor Steibel, Michael Sherard and Worth.

Hardy Amies endorses the torso line and his mannequins have been so fitted with bras that they achieve the "eager look."

The strategic area in suits is from the bust to the hips. Collars are long and narrow, but low, triangular revers exaggerate the bust. There has never been less padding in the shoulders. Jackets of town suits are longer. Skirts are smooth fitting over the hips; below that, they can do practically straight in suits with fin-like additions at the back and sometimes all the way round.

FOOTBALL MAY "IMPROVE" -- DESPITE DRAFT

Former Wayland Student Will Be One Of All-American Basketball Team To Tour South America This Spring

PLAINVIEW, Tex., March 8.—Mrs. Irwin Van Blarcom today notified Wayland College authorities that Miss Cleo Brooks, last year's All-American women's basketball player, has been invited to be a member of the team of women basketballers who will tour South America this spring. Cleo was one of the first to be chosen to make this trip. Two of her traveling companions will be Misses Eckie Jordan, and Jimmie Vaughn, of the Hanes Hosiery team from Winston Salem, N. C.

All of the other teammates will be selected from the All-American players chosen at the National A. U. Tournament in Dallas, March 19-23.

The South American Federation of Sports sent this invitation for a group of women basketball players to tour South America, and it was immediately accepted by Daniel J. Ferris, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

Miss Van Blarcom, chairman of the women's A. U. basketball, will accompany the team, and act as business manager and chaperon. Virgil Yow, coach of the Hanes Hosiery Team, will be coach.

Miss Brooks enrolled in Wayland in the fall of 1949 and made the All-American team the first year that she participated in the national tournament. She has been one of the mainstays on the Wayland team for the past two years and has helped to lead her team to victory in many games, reported Sam Allen, business manager of the Hutcherson Flying Queens.

When Sam told Cleo of her selection, her statement was, "No! I can't believe it!" When she was asked by another student if she AP Newsfeatures TUCSON, Ariz.—The draft isn't going to hurt the quality of play in the American League during 1951. In the opinion of Ellis Ryan, president of the Cleveland Indians, Ryan feels the brand of baseball will be as good, or better, as in 1950.

The Cleveland proxy puts it this way: "We have lost all the players we are going to lose, unless there is a change in the draft regulations. I think all the other clubs are in the same position."

Ryan feels that the American League, as a whole, may even be stronger. "There was an excellent rookie crop in the league last year," he says. "Now that they have had a year of seasoning, they should be in a position to help a great deal."

Just look at our Cleveland infield. A year's experience for Luke Easter (first base), Bobby Avila (second base), Ike Obone (shortstop), and Al Rosen (third base), as regulars will certainly make 220 yard dash: Tommy Meers, first, and M. C. Northam second.

Mile Relay: third, Keith Streety, Don Wilson, Lloyd Williams and Douglas Perkins. High jump Bill Womack won third.

Discus: R. L. Rhoten won fourth. Friday afternoon the local team met at Seelye stadium with Dunbar track team.

Today the team will enter in a track meet with Morton. Coaches for the teams are Martin and Patterson

And incidentally, Ryan thinks his Indians have a mighty good chance to cop the American League pennant this year.
